FW Corp. Gets New President

Rumored changes in the Fairbanks Whittier Corp. management, both asserted and denied in the press during the past month or more, have finally materialized.

George A. Strachan, now president of the ITT Kellogg Division of International Telephone & Telegraph, will take over as president and chief executive of Fairbanks Whittier. His appointment was confirmed by a vote of the Fairbanks Whittier directors yesterday.

Strachan will replace David Karr, who is now president of the Hartford holding company. Karr will become chairman of the board, and present chairman Aaron L. Jacoby will take over as chairman of the executive committee.

Manchester Atty. George C. Leamer, at odds with the Fairbanks Whittier board since his August resignation from a position as director of Pratt & Whitney, a West Hartford tool firm and Fairbanks Whittier subsidiary, has been seeking Karr's ouster as part of a move to clean up the firm's management. He is also asking for removal of the present directors and the cancellation of high paying consulting contracts for retired officials.

"Now that Fairbanks has a new president, what do we need with directors with fancy fees?" Leamer said today. "The board should resign and apologize to the public for their bad faith. What we do need is a board comprised of industrialists, technical experts and management people, competent to handle the firm's affairs."

Leamer said the board has still not answered the charges of mismanagement he leveled against them last August.

According to Fairbanks, there has been no change in the terms of Karr's employment contract, which provides an annual salary of $72,000 and a consulting fee of $40,000 annually after his retirement.

EXCITING! GO '63 CHEVY II

SPUNKY NEW WAGONS THAT LEAD LONGER, HAPPIER LIVES

What a new kick you'll get out of going places in this one! And what a solvent feeling you'll get as the savings on upkeep mount! There's a full line of models, including three wagons. Basically, we've kept Chevy II's line and roominess and easy loading ways. Kept its crisp looks, too, with a bit of freshening here and there. The changes we've made weren't for change's sake, you see—but for yours. Just for a sample: the brakes are self-adjusting. The new Delco-Remy generator gives you more electrical reserve power and helps your battery reach a vigorous old age. The Body by Fisher beauty lasts longer, too; air pushes rain and wash water down through the rocker panels (where most rust begins!) in a clever new flush-dry system. The ride is smoother and quieter because of a large number of small improvements we've made. And things are a lot plusher inside. Now you've read this far, haven't you? Isn't that good evidence that Chevy II is made for you? The clincher will come when you take the wheel at your Chevrolet dealer's. the man who puts paper on it

Ribicoff Seen Test For New Frontier

By GEORGE BAZAN

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Abraham Ribicoff's race against Congressman Horace Sney-Brown is being conducted in a way that has been viewed by many as a test of the new frontier in the Connecticut elections Nov. 4.

Democratic Ribicoff resigned as secretary of health, education and welfare to make the Senate race, "as a running as an administration supporter and, in particular, as a champion of Kennedy's controversial Social Security medical care program.

Connecticut is also the home of Democratic National Chairman John F. Bailey, who has been state chairman here for the past 10 years.

Ribicoff and Bailey are closely associated with Kennedy and were among his earliest supporters for the presidency.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower carried the state by more than 80,000 to 1952. Kennedy by more than 24,000 in 1960.

Ribicoff won a second term as governor four years ago by a record vote plurality of more than 24,000.

Normally, voters in this state would be concentrating on the gubernatorial contest between John A. DeLoach and the Republican John Altop, but so far that campaign has not generated any real excitement. State issues are blurred. It's a "we-and-do-it-better-than-you" campaign—on both sides.

Sney-Brown, a former congressman, says he will concentrate his attack on what he calls Ribicoff's "one-and-a-half" record. Sney-Brown is a self-described and liberal Republican who is basing much of his campaign on his 15-year "Connecticut One" congressional record.

He is conducting his usual, energetic, folksy, house-to-house drive, giving housewives thousands of post cards he has used as a campaign gimmick in previous elections.

Ribicoff, always impeccably dressed and barbered, is another vigorous campaigner and hands-on politician. He covers a lot of ground while appearing unburdened and very much at ease.

While less than a month to go, the Democrats are favored to win a one election. But there are many impediments.

The number of unaffiliated voters—more than 400,000—is larger than either party's total: both Dempsey and Altop, an insurance company president, are untested as gubernatorial candidates.

Republicans have overturned Democratic administrations in an impressive number of municipal elections in the past two years; they are likely to regain many of the traditionally Republican areas that went for Ribicoff in 1958.

Connecticut moves ahead

106,300 more jobs

These Connecticut newspaper headlines give the facts—

- "ELECTRIC BOAT SEEKS 1,000 NEW WORKERS" —Aug. 9, '62
- "UAC PROFITS UP SHARPLY; SALES, BACKLOG ALSO RISES" —Aug. 9, '62
- "NEW INDUSTRY HAILS HELP IN MOVE TO STATE" —Aug. 24, '62

- "DONNELLEY HAS HIGHEST SALES PERIOD" —July 27, '62
- "BUSINESS ACTIVITY BOOMING IN STATE" —Aug. 31, '62

Despite automation and its curtailment of industrial jobs throughout the nation, our total employment in Connecticut has increased by 106,300 jobs since January '54. In the same period, factory output is up by 47%, and the total payroll for Connecticut's workers is up from $3.4 billion in '54 to $4.8 billion in '61—an increase of 41%. Under Democratic leadership, Connecticut has a thriving and growing economy for both industry and labor. Let's keep it that way!

Pull Republican Lever For Me, Urges Ike

By JUDITH ABELMAN

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower asked a crowd of an estimated 25,000 persons in Hartford yesterday to do for him what he is unable to do—pull the Republican lever in Connecticut to elect Horace Seely-Brown Jr. to the U. S. Senate and John Altop to the governorship.

"The state would get more vote, were I a resident here," he said.

"Because I cannot do that direct and personal bid toward a better, stronger, more responsible and more secure America, I have stopped here today.

"I have stopped with the purpose of asking of those who know me, who through two national elections warmly supported me, that they once again vote Republican."

The crowd responded with a tremendous cheer, balloons were sent up, confetti whirled around a great show of emotion built up in the hour and twenty minutes the former President spent in the Hartford area.

Eisenhower's plane landed at 11:30 a. m. at Rentschler Field in East Hartford and took off at 12:30 p. m.

He was greeted at the plane by Seely-Brown, who handed him a campaign poster, and by Altop.

After a three-minute session of picture taking, Eisenhower was hurried into a limousine car, which he didn't like, and said no to Altop and Seely-Brown.

He was escorted to the Rentschler Field terminal building by a group of officials in charge of the parade and he was informed that he must ride in a closed car.

Leading the line of cars were nine motorcycle policemen, mostly State Troopers, a State Police car, and a state body truck carrying photographers. Also in line were charter buses, one for photographers and one for reporters. A loudspeaker car brought up the rear.

Hill Noon Traffic

The parade was into the noon lunch traffic in Hartford, although it was not so bad as it could have been, because the department stores are closed in Hartford Monday.

On Pearl St., Trumbull St. and Asylum St., office workers tossed confetti from windows.

Workers in a stock brokerage three blocks away, were seen to be making a run for it. One man, apparently caught in this way out to lunch, stood at a window on Trumbull St. with his hat on and a cigar stuck in his mouth dumping confetti from a little bag. Another man a couple of windows away was dumping the contents of a paper bag into a dustpan full of something.

On Asylum St. one store owner was already sweeping the confetti from the sidewalk by the time the parade passed, although this was only a few seconds after the Eisenhower car passed.

Some bystanders pointed and waved hysterically at the wrong car.

"Welcome Ike" signs hung from a couple buildings.

Ike's Speech Boosts GOP Hopes in State

HARTFORD (AP)—Connecticut Republicans resumed their campaign today after a rousing, shot-in-the-arm political speech by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

GOP leaders said Eisenhower's strong attack on the New Frontier in his address to 15,000 persons in Bushnell Park yesterday will give their efforts a big boost.

Rep. Horace Seely-Brown Jr., the senatorial nominee, said Eisenhower's "vigorous campaign assistance" was "most welcome and will be most helpful."

State GOP Chairman A. Seate Finney said Eisenhower's "righting remarks" will rally Republicans "as they grid for the final push."

John Altop, the gubernatorial candidate, said Eisenhower's presence definitely will help the campaign.

"Deficit spending is a sophisticated thing," he said, "presents a picture of confusion, indecision, timidity in everything except in spending your money."

"The economists who dominate the administration," said Eisenhower, believe "living within your income is an antiquated and outdated concept."

"The United States needs more Republicans in government," he said, "and Eisenhower's presence is a definite help."

His face serious, the 72-year-old Eisenhower flared away at one-party government, deficit spending and the "sophisticated nonsense" of Democratic liberalism.

Manchesters Town Chairman John F. Shea Jr. shakes hands with 72-year-old former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. Next to Shea is GOP gubernatorial candidate John Altop, and next to the President is Horace Seely-Brown, candidate for the U. S. Senate. (Herald photo by O'Hara).

Marylou Walkinshaw of East Haven, Miss. Connecticut in the Miss World beauty pageant, will make a guest appearance at the Rockville-Vernon Exchange Club's benefit dinner to be held at 8 p. m. Oct. 27 at Rockville High School.

The show, to benefit the Rockville Exchange Club scholarship fund, will feature Gene Pitney of Rockville as master of ceremonies. Pitney, who sings and writes music, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Pitney of 41 Hammond St.

Some of his music has been recorded by Ricky Nelson, singer and actor.

Miss Walkinshaw is a physical education major at Southern Connecticut College, in New Haven.

She was selected a runner-up in the United States' trials for the Miss World beauty pageant held in West Virginia.

Water's Fine
 Once again, it is being suggested for the attention of the world's curious, for the puzzlement of the world's puzzled, that the United States and Russia really have been talking and understanding on some things, and in certain directions.
 This is a circumstance which has sometimes catches our headlines and interpreting of the news by surprise. When the other day, for instance, Russia revealed that it was planning to conduct a series of new long range rocket tests down an area of the Pacific Ocean close to the area where we were in-tentedly planning to see what new mischief might cause up among the radiation belts by additional high altitude nuclear explosions, the routine reaction was to regard this as a potential conflict, which might bring out new ugliness between the United States and Russia.
 But quite the contrary, in the actual event, if Russia objects to having us present a certain portion of the Pacific, which is supposedly an international ocean, for our own poisonous experiments, that is ugly and troublesome on the part of Russia. But if Russia merely wanted to exercise, in the Pacific, the same questionable right of eminent domain we exercise,
 that is fine by us.
 In such cases, we see no conflict between the explosion of Russian rockets and American nuclear bombs into the same general area;
 we are quite polite to one another;
 we find ourselves in the beautiful fact agreement that nothing should be allowed to interfere with our jolly mutual present and perspective and bigger weapons for use against one another.
 This is, of course, a special and limited cooperation, or coexistence, between us, and applies only to occasional specific situations such as that now apparent out in the Pacific.
 All this beautifully instinctive cooperation between our two nations disappears the instant the proposition becomes one of trying to find some way of cutting down and restraining, rather than expanding, our experiments in weaponry, which both of us like to conduct in at least moral, if not legal,
 distance of the right of the rest of mankind. We bow to each other courteously and welcome each other to use the international waters of the Pacific. But each of us would resent it fiercely if the other should attempt to quarrel with our right to prevent the international ocean, for our purposes of weaponry.
 So far as we can remember and judge, there has actually been this beautiful kind of agreement all down through human history. Men and nations never really quarrel over the procedure and tactics and privileges and necessities of the institution of war; they concede each other everything willingly and graciously. But the possible-use and technique of peace divide them; in this field they are surly and suspicious of one another; here they have no mutual courtesy or understanding.
 For practical proof of all this,
 consider the heart-warming agreement between the two of us, right now, on the proposition that both of us have the right to use the international Pacific for our experiments of big national weapons, and then contrast that with what we can imagine would be the reaction if either of these same two great nations should make the proposition that both of them acknowledge they have no right to use the Pacific for such purposes.
 Again, That Threat
 Disappointingly, but perhaps for all we know, inevitably, at least

Connecticut Yankee
 By A. H. O.
 For a contrast with the interior psychological drama of the current state campaign, we invite our readers to mount with us to the happy unshuffled heights where the southwesterly of each party commanded specialists in reading the crystal ball.
 This is a different atmosphere.
 Where we, down in the psychological muck, imagine that this campaign could be a grimly close one, to our view, something to be kept off at arm's length for two good reasons:
 First, nobody is ever going to allow the New Haven to abandon its commuter passenger service; no matter what the government agency that comes from private management, or from bankrupt trustees, remains nonplussed which crystal ball conclusions, so we shall designate the headquarters by letters A and B, pledging our solemn honor that this designation is purely happenstance and not in the least related to the position the parties happen to hold on a certain instrument for registration next Nov. 6.
 In the headquarters of Party A, according to our grapevine information, the crystal ball reasoning goes something like this:
 1. Things do look fairly dark in the Hartford County region.
 2. But things get brighter and brighter as you get away from the madhouse confusion of state headquarters and travel out into the saner, more dependable regions of the state. Hartford County may be doubtful, but the rest of the state will come through for Party A.
 We suggest that our readers, before they spend too much time analyzing what the crystal ball holds for Party A, or trying to figure out which party Party A really is, proceed with us to what the crystal ball reports for Party B.
 1. Things are not going too smoothly in Hartford County.
 2. But things are still pretty bright everywhere else.
 So, in summary, both Party A and Party B find themselves in

A Thought for Today
 Sponsored by the Manchester Council of Churches American civilization is the by-product of Christianity, but we are embarking today on a dangerous voyage by ignoring our spiritual heritage. We have become apathetic by our prosperity and are pursuing a life of pleasure and ease and satisfaction at the sacrifice of the very commodities which made our nation great — faith in God, and love for our fellowmen.
 The Connecticut Constitution in its preamble, written in 1836, pledged the settlers to help preserve the liberty and purity of the Gospel of the Lord Jesus. What are we today? What are we doing in Connecticut and in America? Are we committed to God?
 Are we determined that we will preserve the liberty and purity of the Gospel of the Lord Jesus? Our educational system is interested in teaching, anti-God, anti-Bible philosophies and we are accepting this. Taxpayers are paying the money to have these philosophies taught, but what about that pledge to preserve the liberty and purity of the Gospel of the Lord Jesus?
 It is time the people of this state stand up and be counted, to resist the forces that are invading our civilization, attempting to obliterate the sacred principles upon which our nation was founded. Our hope of survival is not to be found in a superior armament stockpile of nuclear-powered missiles, and rockets, nor in winning the race for space. There is no reason for us to expect that we can leave God out of our calculations and escape the fate of all other great civilizations and be relegated to the scrap-heap of nations. Our only sure hope is in returning to the Lord in humble confession, penitence and faith.

 with our right to prevent the in-
 of weaponry.
 So far as we can remember and
 beautiful kind of agreement all
 and privileges and necessities of
 them; in this field they are surly
 and suspicious of one another; here
 understanding.
 For practical proof of all this,
 of us have the right to use the international Pacific for our experi-
 sition that both of them acknowledge
 they have no right to use the Pacific for such purposes.
 Again, That Threat
 one of the trustees of the New Haven Railroad has begun to talk just

 Once again, it is being suggested
 curious, for the puzzlement of the world's puzzled, that the United
 things, and in certain directions.
 This is a circumstance which has
 for instance, Russia revealed that
 it was planning to conduct a series of
 an area of the Pacific Ocean close
 high altitude nuclear explosions,
 the routine reaction was to regard
 might bring out new ugliness between the United States and Russia.
 But quite the contrary, in the actual event, if Russia objects to
 tion of the Pacific, which is sup-
 our own poisonous experiments,
 part of Russia. But if Russia merely wanted to exercise, in the Pacific, the same questionable right
 of eminent domain we exercise,
 that is fine by us.
 In such cases, we see no conflict
 bombs into the same general area;
 we are quite polite to one another;
 we find ourselves in the beautiful
 use against one another.
 This is, of course, a special and
 limited cooperation, or coexistence,
 Pacific.
 and restraining, rather than expanding, our experiments in weaponry, which both of us like to conduct in at least moral, if not legal,
 distance of the right of the rest
 other to use the international
 of weaponry.
