Rehearsal Set For Oratorio

The first rehearsal of the Manchester Oratorio will be Monday at 8 p.m. in the band room of Manchester High School.

Albert Pearson, head of the high school music department, will direct the chorus.

Members are asked to bring their music books Monday night. The date of the production has been tentatively set for Sunday, Dec. 16, in Bailey Auditorium of the high school.

Stamps in the News

The first Christmas stamp issued by the United States Postal Service was designed by the artist, designed the stamp. It was designed by George A. Payne. It is regular stamp size, measuring 0.9375 inches, to be issued in series of 10. The initial printing on the 10-cent stamp is 500,000,000 from six plants.

For first day cancellations, send addressed envelopes, with return stamps to: "First Day Covers," Postmaster, Pittsburgh, Pa. Requests must be postmarked no later than Nov. 1. On upper right hand corner of day cover, mark in pencil the number of stamps to be affixed. Place medium weight enclosure in envelope. Turn flap in or seal. Do not include requests for unannounced stamps.

U.S. CHRISTMAS STAMP

Design of the first Christmas postage stamp was announced today by Postmaster General J. Edward Day.

The green, red and white stamp goes on initial sale in Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 1, in conjunction with the annual convention of the National Association of Postmasters of the United States. Nationwide sale begins Nov. 2 and continues through Dec. 31.

The new stamp, intended for use on season's greeting cards, depicts the traditional holiday symbols—burning tapers and an evergreen wreath adorned with a red bow. Lettering is in Old English.

Issuance of the stamp ties in with the Post Office Department's "Shop and Mail Daily" campaign. The stamp will serve a double function, the Post Office Department pointed out. It will supply a colorful fill to greeting cards, and this in response to heavy public request. It will also encourage the use of first class postage for greeting cards, providing preferred handling and more convenient service to the event of non-delivery.

The stamp is intended for general postal use, and plans are to release a Christmas stamp during active holiday season. It will replace the 10-cent stamp.

Parents to Follow Bennet Schedule

Parents of Bennet Junior High School students will go through a condensed version of a typical "school day" Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the school.

After reporting to their child's home room, parents will continue on from class to class, each lasting ten minutes.

Teachers will give brief explanations of the course of study and plans for the year. A printed outline of each course will be distributed.

PTSO membership will be available from representatives in the various rooms and information concerning the proposed Community College will be given out.

Post Office Department has loaned the use of its parking lot on Hartford Street. Parents are reminded not to use the lot behind the church property.

Big University Rising

ANKARA—A new technical university intended to accommodate 22,000 students is being planned in Ankara, Turkey, already spending on a temporary campus in Ankara and four departments.

ONE VOTE FOR CASTRO

FALSBURG, Alaska (AP)—When somebody votes for Fidel Castro, there may have to be a second runoff election for a seat on the city council.

In the runoff Tuesday, ex-deputy mayor Edward Alexander got 407 votes for 406 for Stanley Baller, an assistant school principal, and one for the Cuban officer.

Because of that one vote, if it counted, Alexander doesn't have a majority. City Atty. Barry Jackson said Thursday the council might not count it, however, on grounds it was a joke instead of protest.

EXPERT'S PRIDE
LOSES CONTRACT

When this hand was played in one of my favorite Los Angeles bridge clubs, South gave it the "expert" treatment. I hate to write the whole on him, but he was offstage.

South won the first trick in dummy with the ace of diamonds and counted his tricks: two hearts, two diamonds, and four clubs. He needed one more trick for the contract.

South saw that he could develop a spade trick if West had the ace of the queen or both. The odds were 1 to 1 that West would hold at least one high spade, and South was sure he would guess the right suit if the spade honors were split.

Don't you feel just a bit sorry for South? He got to his hand with a club and led a spade toward dummy. West and King and South went into an impressive trance.

No Way To Guess

Unfortunately, there was no way to guess right. East had all of the top spades, and South was doomed to defeat.

Declarer did not give himself the best chance for his contract. After winning the first trick with the ace of diamonds, declarer should have led one round of hearts.

South is sure of his ninth trick if the queen or ten drops, or if West shows out on the first or second heart.

If only low hearts drop on the queen or ten drops, or if West shows out on the first or second heart.

If only low hearts drop on the ace and king, South may well decide to abandon the suit and lead the spades. But it must be right to lead one round of hearts first.

As the cards lie, South is home. The ten of hearts drops, or if West shows out on the first or second heart.

Daily Question

Partner opens with one spade, and the next play passes. You hold: Spades, A-K-Q-J; Hearts, 10-4; Diamonds, Q-8-8; Clubs, 8-3.

AP Special Report Connecticut Politics

By REYLMAN MORIN

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—The political landscape in Connecticut is being reshaped by the results of the recent gubernatorial election. Richard D. Levine, the Democratic candidate, has won the governorship, while the Republican candidate, Rep. Horace E. Brown, Jr., has won the lieutenant governorship.

Levine's victory is seen as a significant shift in the state's political balance. He is expected to bring a more liberal approach to the state's administration. Brown, on the other hand, is expected to continue the conservative policies of the previous administration.

The election results reflect a growing dissatisfaction with the current state of affairs. Many voters are looking for change and reform. Levine's campaign focused on issues such as education, health care, and economic development. Brown's campaign, in contrast, emphasized fiscal conservatism and traditional values.

The political process in Connecticut is known for its complexity and the influence of various interest groups. The upcoming administration will face numerous challenges, including budget cuts and the need for legislative reform. The state's political future remains uncertain, but the election has set the stage for a period of significant change.

Plans Started On Waterline Thrall Asked

The water and sewer department is drawing specifications for one of the water system improvements recommended by Fred Thrall, former superintendent of the department, just before his retirement last week.

The main is a 12-inch one to run from Charter Oak St. through the west branch of Gardner St. and Gardner St. itself to Spring St.

Installation is planned this fall. Other projects Thrall recommended for the department's consideration are a 10-inch water main in Spruce St. from Edridge St. to Charter Oak St.; the clearing of the 16-inch main from the Lane St. filler plant to S. Main St.; and a 10-inch water main in Spruce St. from Edridge St. to Charter Oak St.

Thrall also proposed construction of a new filter plant for the water department. He said that the town adopted and enforced an ordinance prohibiting the introduction of storm or ground water into the sanitary sewers.

Lawrence Wittkoff, acting superintendent of the water and sewer department, said the department has not been able to learn where the water is entering the sanitary sewer system, or how much.

"We know it gets in," he said, "because in the spring the water in the pipes in the city creeps considerably."

Improvements made by Thrall are a new 600-gallon-per-minute pump and motor for the Parkside station, and a new sanitary sewer to increase the capacity of the Thompson Rd. trunk line "to at least Charter and Newman Sts."

He said, "Later, this needs to be done."

Deaths Last Night

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Clark Hangerford, 62, chairman of the board and former president of the St. Louis-San Francisco Railway Co., died Thursday of cancer.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Barney Hartsford, 64, a former New York policeman whose career included a television series, died Thursday of heart attack. Hartsford retired from the New York City Police Department in 1941 after 20 years of service.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Maria Romero, 82, mother of actor Cesar Romero, died Wednesday of heart ailment. Mrs. Romero, a former actress, was the daughter of Jose Marti, Cuban patriot and poet.

BATES (AP)—James L. Bates Sr., 62, a designer of U.S. Navy uniforms, died Thursday of heart ailment. Bates was a former director of the technical division of the U.S. Marine Corps and served in the U.S. Navy during World War II.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Rev. John L. Madden, 81, an assistant professor at Catholic University's school of Sacred Theology, died Thursday. Father Madden was well known as a Shakespearean scholar.

Cadet Gets Pilot Wings at UConn

Gary Kosak, 174 Greenwood Dr., a senior in the Air Force ROTC program at the University of Connecticut, received his "Cadet Pilot Wings" recently from Col. John W. Dwyer, professor of air science at the university. Kosak was the first to complete 30 hours of flying this year and is one of 17 students enrolled in the flight program.

He will enter regular flight training as his first duty assignment when he enters the Air Force after graduation, (UConn Photo).

13 Fewer Claims Filed by Jobless

The unemployed in Manchester filed a total of 670 claims for a week ending Oct. 13, a decrease of 13 claims, or 1.9 per cent, from the week before.

Of the total claims filed in Manchester, 140 were from Rockville residents. About 45 per cent of the total, or 302 claims, were filed by women.

Manchester ranked fourth in the state for the number of claims filed. First was Bridgeport, including the Milford area, with 1,215 claims, followed by New Haven with 1,334, and Hartford with 2,880.

In contrast to the town, the number of claims in the state increased to 25,169 from 25,064 the previous seven-day period.

According to the State Labor Department, most of the increase was due to the start of a new benefit year for claimants whose benefits had run out.

Medal Century Old

WASHINGTON—The Medal of Honor was established by Congress 100 years ago this year. The 2,000th medal was presented to Abraham Lincoln to issue 200 of the medals for distinguished service "during the present rebellion."

A total of 37,993 persons used the tent camping facilities in West Virginia during the 1862 campaign. The state recently tripped its tent camping facilities, making 962 sites available to campers.

why we are getting so excited about Berlin, because in exploration of some pleasant scheduling of a most-modulated "showdown" to be staged during a Khrushchev visit to the United Nations.

One might sum all this up, if one dared presume such a vast and knowledge, by saying that Khrushchev seems rather frantically concerned to find some "showdown" which will be the accelerator for a crisis whose pace and intensity Russia expected to control all by itself.

Sanity By Stealth... One hates to take and applaud such a thing as sanity by stealth, even when, perhaps, one knows there might be no other way of obtaining said prize package—sanity.

Perhaps, however, one can begin by saluting the technique employed by those in Congress, those in the White House, and those in some of the nation's higher institutions of learning as they quietly shepherd through the session of Congress a measure repealing the law which had required all college students receiving government assistance under the defense education program to sign a non-Communist oath.

This repeal, as it came through Congress, and as it was signed by President Kennedy the other afternoon, also provided strong legislative aid against the possibility that Communists would actually get their schooling on federal dollars. It is this bill that has been provision, setting a fine of $10,000 or five years in prison or both for any proven Communist or subversive who fails to use federal scholarship funds.

That still takes care of any Communist, more strongly than the previous position.

But Washington began to produce a series of warnings about the urgency of a new Berlin crisis. The White House itself had some of its more obvious channels of public information and comment, began to build the crisis up, even before the election.

Although this trend seemed obvious enough, the reasons for it are not clear, by any means.

It could be that the White House and the State Department are genuinely concerned with what may happen any moment, on the issue of Berlin.

It could be that the White House, watching an American election out of one corner of its eye, finds it good political strategy to build up the Berlin crisis, where the American commitment is simple and clear and where our performance seems subject to little criticism of any kind, so that it holds the public spotlight against the crisis in South Vietnam, where we are actually fighting a war without naming it war, or the crisis in our relations with Cuba, where our hotheads want us to be fighting.

Whatever the motivation of the White House, realistic foreign policy, or convenient domestic politics, Washington's actual build-up of the Berlin crisis has had a somewhat surprising effect, which may, of course, have been the real object of some super-duplex intelligent White House strategy after all.

Instead of waiting for Khrushchev to upset us by turning on the heat over Berlin again, we ourselves have turned the heat on the issue. And, apparently, we have upset him by doing so. He apparently is suddenly concerned that the Berlin crisis may be getting out of hand, may be running a little too close to the kind of showdown that everybody knows must never really take place, if there is to be a Berlin, or anything else, for the world's tomorrow.

And what we have on the surface, at any rate, is a series of developments indicating that instead of us trying to calm Khrushchev down and restrain him, he is anxious to reassure us and persuade us to relax. In the perpetual and recurrent game of who-frightens-whom we seem to have frightened him for a change, so that, for the moment, he is reacting to us, as if we had somehow appropriated the psychological initiative in this crisis.

As a result, we have a long Khrushchev meeting with our own ambassador to Russia, who has taken the Russian news agency reported as follows: "The conversations proceeded in an atmosphere of trust, friendliness and mutual understanding."

Meanwhile, in East Germany, the middle-road Communist leader of Poland, Wladyslaw Gombulski, was expected to make a speech which contained what may have been a deliberate clue to the "mutual understanding" that might have been present in the conversation back in Moscow. He came out with a proposition that a settlement of the Berlin issue could come if a Russian treaty of peace with East Germany, which no one can prevent, should be accompanied by new international guarantees of freedom of access to West Berlin for everybody. This, always depending upon the details, that is, in Russia is willing to cut down and qualify its recognition of East Germany by such a limitation on its actual sovereignty.

And next, of course, there is Foreign Minister Gromyko's seeking yesterday's special audience with President Kennedy, perhaps with some reassurances along the line of

The Word Is... SERVICE! As a newspaper we want to serve you with our advertising. We strive to bring reliable, daily information on the available fruits of our civilization to make your homes attractive, your lives pleasant.

A Thought for Today... The people of God once set the patterns for life in many areas of our social order. Today there is very little apparent difference in customs and habits due to religious convictions, except for the groups who are distinguished by some uniformity of attire or identifying garb. When those who profess to be the people of God seek their national and social level, participants in the same unethical financial practices, as those who profess no religious faith, the skeptic says, "Why be bothered with anything so meaningless as religion?" Little to what God said to his people: "I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world, but be transformed by the renewing of your mind; that ye may prove what is that good and acceptable and perfect; will of God." Who is different from the people who live for this world alone and for this life only? Their affections and interests should be God-centered. Their unshakable attitudes and convictions for the needs of others should be reflected in their daily living.

God's instructions, obey His precepts, return to Him, and preserve our country from the same sad fate of every nation that has rejected Him and gone down in defeat and ruin!

Rev. C. E. Winslow, Church of the Nazarene, SHOW VETERAN NEW YORK (AP) - Broadway Playhouse has been seeing Joseph Papp's in the theater for 30 years, but she's never once set foot on the stage.

Mr. Papp, a 56-year-old widower, has been ushering patrons to their seats six nights a week for three decades.

How can we, as a nation, recognize and spend four per cent of our personal income for tobacco, five per cent for cosmetics, and seven per cent for alcohol beverages, and only one per cent for all other things? The total cost for Americans (1 John 3:17), "How could anyone believe that love of God remains in a man who possesses this world's goods, and sees his brother in want but shuts his eyes and his heart—against his own sense of right—refuses him from their government. To actual Communists, taking a false oath means nothing. To loyal Americans, the idea of having their own government require from them such pretensions of loyalty has often been repulsive. And 12 of the nation's leading educational institutions, including such as Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Wesleyan, Amherst, Bryn Mawr, Mount Holyoke, Vassar, and Wellesley had taken the extreme decision that they would not participate in the federal loan program so long as the oath requirement remained a part of it.

Now the compulsory oath requirement is out of the law. That is no boon to any Communist anywhere. It is some assistance to the self-respect of Americans, and to the creation of true patriotism and loyalty, which are never things required by law, or enforced by edict, or established by oath, but product of intercourse between the country and what it symbolizes and means, and the heart and intelligence and idealism of the individual.

It's too bad the repeal had to sneak itself through Congress, so bad senility didn't dare show its face openly until Congress had done its work.

Some day, when we are really free, we may be able to pass such a measure right into the open, as if we were proud of it.

When your doctor prescribes medicine for you it is for your own good. It is like a custom-tailored suit. It fits the person it is made for but is never quite right for anybody else. So, if a remedy of your family or a friend becomes sick, it would be of course, unwise to give your prescription to them.

Medicine prescribed for an adult even in a reduced dose, could be dangerous for a child. On the other hand, medicine prescribed for a child may be ineffective for an adult even when the dosage is increased. The person taking someone else's medicine may be lulled into a false sense of security which could permit the illness to get worse.

World Community Day Set By United Church Women

World Community Day will be observed Friday Nov. 2 at Trinity Covenant Church, 14 Thorne St. "Deepen the Channels to Peace. There will be a coffee hour at 9:15 a.m. and worship service at 10 a.m. World Community Day has been celebrated on the first Friday in November each year since the early forties by United Church Women all over the world. Women join in worship and give an offering to provide training opportunities in the field of nutrition, social welfare, and Christian citizenship for women in the developing areas of the world. Support will be given to the United Church Women's program for peac education action.

Members of Manchester area churches are making sewing bags, children's outfits and arange and houses for women. These will be sent to Southeast Asia. Cotton yard goods will also be acceptable. A portion of the offering for World Community Day will benefit a new project in Indonesia. Assistance will be given to complete a center for nurses and the training of village health workers at Madras Hospital, Surabaya, Java.

Help will be given to Miss Jose Almazan, nutritionist, for a program of Ayuda Christiana Evangelical, and additional programs in community development in a social center at Santiago, Chile. Support will be continued for women living in favelas around Rio de Janeiro. The offering will make possible an expanded program at the United Nations and continue the United Church Women's program of education and action.

his stomach," Utlitz said. "He had a cigarette in his left hand and his right hand was concealed from view under his body."

Utlitz ordered Ziska to bring his right hand into view. But, said the trooper, "he just kept on smoking and kept his eyes trained on me. Upon my second order to bring out his hand empty it came out with a revolver in it. He pointed it at me and I fired."

In the next instant another shot rang out. Ziska had put his revolver to his right temple and fired. Two broken bottles of vodka.

In the Ziska apartment were broken bottles of wine, whiskey and gun and wild disorder. The official Czech statement said:

and that he will commit suicide. According to all persons who have known them, the Ziskas' family life was happy and quiet.

"And this tragic event can be explained only by a sudden mental breakdown," the statement said.

Vejoda claimed that police were notified immediately after the discovery of Mrs. Ziska's body, between noon and 1 p.m.

Manhattan police said they first heard of Mrs. Ziska's death through the U.S. mission to the U.N., which asked the department for a foreign mission report about obtaining a death certificate.

It was at 7:30 a.m. that police reported that Ziska's auto side-swiped one car and failed to stop. Zisk was picked up at 52nd St. and York ave., when blocked by traffic. As a patrolman approached Ziska, "veered around him and crashed into another car, striking it a red light."

Ziska was let go after producing diplomatic papers and saying he was on a mission duty to Idlewild Airport.

After finding Mrs. Ziska, Czech officials made no attempt to interfere with the city police investigation, despite the diplomatic immunity enjoyed by the mission.

Regarding the slaying, Deputy Chief Inspector George W. Gallagher said: "No police action is planned, there are no charges to be made. The incident occurred on foreign territory. We have no jurisdiction. There will be no autopsy. The body will be taken to the morgue."

The Ziskas came to this country three years ago. They left their

LVW to Give Fact Sheet on State Race

Nearly a hundred members of the Manchester League of Women Voters will distribute 8000 copies of the "scoreboard" state League information sheet on Connecticut candidates and issues Tuesday and Wednesday next.

Summaries of the views and backgrounds of candidates of both parties for Governor, U.S. Senator, Congressional-at-large, and U.S. Representative from this district as well as information on the five proposed state constitutional amendments appear on the fact sheet. The local League's work is to distribute fact sheets giving information on the proposed community college.

Mrs. Mitchell Hedges, 50 Chatham Dr., is chairman of the distribution, assisted by Mrs. John Knoviton, voters' service chairman. Committee members working with Mrs. Hedges are Mrs. Lawrence Handley, Mrs. John Davis, Mrs. Charles Maxson, and Mrs. Thomas Orlitz.

Also leaders are Mrs. Ralph Bellard, Mrs. Fred Geyer, Mrs. Harry St. Malmed, Mrs. Robert H. Smith, Mrs. Philip Sumner, and Mrs. Allan Walsh.

The League women will work from the low list of registered voters, leaving the materials at are running into stiff opposition from foreign shippers who figure they would be hit hard by the U.S. penalties.

Although merchantmen continue to stream into Havana and other Cuban ports, the close U.S. surveillance of Cuba's sea lanes has slowed down Soviet supply ships entering or leaving the ports, sources report.

Moscow sends warships on patrol, shore-based vessels to foreign ports, including those in some non-Communist countries, but apparently is refraining now from such demonstrations for Cuba.

U.S. experts believe that the new port in Banes Bay, near the eastern end of Cuba, which the Soviet Union is building, may be used primarily to supply and service the extensive trawler fleet the Soviets keep off the Atlantic coast of the United States and Canada. Reports indicate the facilities would be unsuitable for handling combatant or large merchant shipping.

Martin Tells Employees to Beware Gifts

General Manager Richard Martin has notified employees he expects them to use "discretion and common sense" in accepting gifts.

He declined to say, but he did refer to the definition by a United States source said that while the majority of Soviet travelers seemed to be on legitimate fishing work, some obviously were designed for spying on U.S. military ships, radio communications and operations. These travelers are rigged with elaborate electronic detection gear, including radar and radio interception devices.

"No indication of an employee prompted the ruling, he said."

"I had a reminder to myself in the file to do this sometime this fall," he said.

In the memorandum to employees he said: "Most municipalities and private corporations are making a conscientious and sincere effort to minimize the extent of giving or receiving gifts from persons of concern with whom they do business during the year."

Lutz Junior Members

Mrs. Madeline McAuliffe, director of Lutz Junior Museum, has announced that 1340 junior memberships have been received for this year. This she said, was the result of a membership drive conducted in Manchester public schools recently. Last year's junior members numbered 800.

The director also said that the demand for fall classes at the museum was so great that many applicants will be refused. Additional classes will be conducted at a winter and spring term.

Crosswalk Fall Results in Claim

Elizabeth Jane Everett, 274 Summit St., has notified the town of injuries she sustained Aug. 24 at the intersection of Main St. and W. Middle St.

She claims through her attorney, Leonard P. Foster, that that day she fell within the boundaries of a marked crosswalk on the west side of the intersection.

She said she was walking north, was a depression around a manhole cover, and her injuries included various strains and bruises of her left arm.

Submit Low Bids

Albany, N.Y. (AP) - Connecticut firms have submitted low bids on three State Highway projects, the Public Works Department announced yesterday.

Construction Corp. of Meriden, Conn., was low bidder for $2,200,000 on a contract for construction of 2.78 miles of the north-south expressway in Jefferson County.

The Co. of North Haven, Conn., was low bidder for construction of 3.1 miles of the Western Expressway near Rockville, Conn., for $1,610,000 for paving 4.25 miles of a new section of the Taosic State Parkway from Rt. 203 north to the intersection of Rt. 203 and the New York State Thruway.

Rigney Overwhelming

Third Position Finish Gained Annual Honor

INDIAN WELLS, Calif. (AP)—There was a tinkling of cocktail glasses and happy talk in the background as Bill Rigney was called to the telephone in the lounge of the Indian Wells Country Club.

The call advised Rigney that he had been named the 1962 Manager of the Year in the American League in the annual poll by The Associated Press.

The vote was overwhelming for Rigney, who finished third in the American League in 1961. His vote was 105,000, with three other candidates receiving less than 10,000 votes each.

Rigney, who was named the 1959 manager of the year in the American League, had a record of 394-210 in two seasons.

He is the first manager to be named manager of the year in the American League since 1950.

'Boy, Am I Glad to Get Outa There!'

Bauer to Coach Baltimore Club

BALTIMORE (AP)—Frank Bauer, former manager of the Kansas City Athletics and veteran of 12 World Series with the New York Yankees, was named coach of the Baltimore Orioles today.

Bauer, 63, resigned his position with the Athletics at the end of last season. He had managed the team since 1953, when he replaced Joe Judge.

The Orioles' record last season was 100-64, the best since 1955. Bauer's record with the Orioles was 309-187 in two seasons.

Bauer, who was named the 1959 manager of the year in the American League, had a record of 394-210 in two seasons.

He is the first manager to be named manager of the year in the American League since 1950.

Small Strategy Change Paying Off for Wings

Detroit (AP)—An obscure little change in strategy is a major reason for the Detroit Red Wings' happy start in the National Hockey League. It's a switch in attacking style and a tie in four games. The unbeaten streak has led the Red Wings three points ahead of the pack in the early NHL race.

"We're doing something different with your back should be easy," Bauer explained. "I'm using a camera bug rather than a ball bug. You want shots coming from over your head, not from over your shoulder, or from over your side. They're different. The camera bug, but simply because they are from a different angle."

Here's a basic principle to re-emphasize: "Picture taking is a good old-fashioned trick. But if you're too candid, they're not typical, and that's about as best as you can get. The camera bug is the easiest. There's no need for it. It's a camera bug. It's a camera bug. It's a camera bug."

Lucrative October Spills

Nice pickings for Rolfe Shelton, former University of Connecticut athlete, the past two World Series. Although he threw a ball either in the bullpen or any game against either Cincinnati or San Francisco, the right hander received full shares as his series split, a tidy sum of over $20,000. That's pretty good money for a non-active performer for less than a week's time a year ago.

Before the start of the 1959 season in New York, I was against the Braves, 2-1. In the first home night game at Shea's, Rolfe pitched five innings, one loss and one win. Rolfe pitched five innings, one loss and one win. Rolfe pitched five innings, one loss and one win.

Homecoming Day Bill of Fare A Sports Gourmet's Delight

The Homecoming Day bill of fare is a gourmet and his sophomore brother are rubbing up at that spot. Tom has completed 18 of 28 games for 194 yards and a TD. Detroit Picked to Win Against New Yorkers

NEW YORK (AP)—Doubtful and questionable status of Hank Paul Dudley, plus the existence, has begun to show itself in both the National and American football leagues.

"Naturally," Rigney led off. "I consider it a definite honor to be named manager of the year in the American League. I consider it a definite honor to be named manager of the year in the American League."

Changes Promised In Football Scene

NEW YORK (AP)—There's only one thing certain about this weekend's major college football games: There'll be some changes made. Four of the nationally ranked teams test each other in a couple of Saturday games that could have a vital bearing on the No. 1 spot in the nation, the Southwest Conference title and the Big Ten championship.

The best passing attack, TVH Buckeyes rank as a one-touchdown favorite. Alabama (40) the defending national champion, will need to regain the top spot, and Tennessee, which is over 500 yards from a title, will need to regain the top spot, and Tennessee, which is over 500 yards from a title, will need to regain the top spot.
