

City of Contrasts Scene of March

EDITOR'S NOTE — The nation's attention focuses Wednesday on Washington when thousands of civil rights advocates mass to dramatize the struggle for Negro rights. The city that awaits them is sketched in the following article.

By STANLEY MEISLER
WASHINGTON (AP) — The civil rights marchers may not see it all, but this is a city nerved by power, lined with marble, vibrant with areas of beauty and blighted by contrasting areas of squalor. To the 100,000 or more civil rights marchers expected here Wednesday, Washington will appear a symbol of national power, a capital where men and women petition for redress of grievance. They will gather at the base of the soaring Washington Monument, the center of a vast complex of greenery and marble, a monument that looks east to the Capitol, north to the White House west to the Lincoln Memorial and south to the Jefferson Memorial and the Tidal Basin rimmed with cherry trees. Then they will march a few blocks down huge avenues and across parklands to the Lincoln Memorial, a temple in the style of the Parthenon of ancient Greece. These are the symbols of government and beauty and history that draw almost 5 million tourists to Washington each year. But Washington has other faces, too. In the last decade, Washington has become the only major city in the nation that has more Negroes than whites. During these years, 200,000 whites have rushed into the nearly all-white suburbs of Virginia and Maryland. Their places have been taken by Negro migrants from the South, many forced into slums. A rise in crime has come at the same time. Although the crime has received wide and often lurid publicity, it differs little from crime rates in other big cities of America. Washington is ninth in size with a population of 764,000 but 13th in crime rate. Some observers see signs of discontent among the city's Negroes and evidence of rising tension between the races. Last Thanksgiving, a riot, bristling with racial overtones, erupted at the high school championship football game. Negroes say there is job discrimination in the city and housing discrimination in its suburbs. The people who live in Washington do not rule themselves. They now have the right to vote for president but, since the 1870s, they have not been allowed to elect their local officials. The ultimate power lies in the hands of Congress — specifically in the committee that handle District of Columbia money and problems. Most of these committees are ruled by Southerners. Some residents say these congressmen have no sympathy for a 57 per cent Negro city with integrated schools and restaurants and stores. As they drive through the city, the demonstrators will see very little industry, and it is industry that usually yields mass tax revenue for a city. To make up for this, Congress appropriates a lump sum each year and hands it to the city. The city always complains it is far less than the amount that would flow in if federal property were taxable. The marchers likely will find a hot and muggy city on Wednesday. That's usually the way of the city in late August. In 1963, Rufus King, a senator, said, "No one, from the North or the high country of the South, can pass the months of August and September there without intermittent or bilious fever." Like India's New Delhi and Brazil's Brasilia, Washington is a city created as a capital, with no other reason for life. It does not have the vitality and culture of Paris or London or Rome or even Mexico City. Washington has had many episodes of demonstrators marching on the city and pleading for special causes. None has been as large as Wednesday's march promises to be. Some have ended in violence. In 1894, "General" Jacob Sechler Coxey of Massillon, Ohio, announced a march on Washington. The nation was in a depression, and Coxey wanted the federal government to print $500 million in paper money and put the unemployed to work building roads. Coxey said 300,000 would march with him, but only 400 came when

Students Put Down; Lodge, Diem Meet

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge met with President Ngo Dinh Diem today in the wake of a massive student revolt smashed by armed police and troops in full battle gear. The newly arrived American diplomat presented his credentials to Diem and the two exchanged pleasantries in a 15-minute ceremony. They put off until later hard talks on the Viet Nam crisis that flared to new heights Sunday when thousands of university students were arrested and several were injured. As fears of an attempted coup subsided, Lodge was expected to confront Diem for the first time with U.S. views on the internal strife and determine just where the Vietnamese chief stands. Lodge arrived Thursday, the day after Diem cracked down on Buddhist opposition and placed the country under martial law. University students took over from the Buddhists on Sunday the leadership of the mushrooming mass movement against the Diem regime, touching off fears of a full-scale revolt.

They converged on the University of Saigon to protest what they call the government's harsh rule, but never had a chance to demonstrate. Police hauled students off bicycles, scooters and motorcycles, threw them into trucks and drove them away. Rifle fire wounded two teenage girl students. One unconfirmed report said police shot and killed a 15-year-old girl attempting to flee the roundup. The army stationed anti-aircraft batteries around the presidential palace and at scores of strategic intersections in the capital, indicating they feared elements of the Vietnamese air force might attack the palace as they did in November 1960, in another attempted coup. The Communist Viet Cong have no air power to threaten the government. More than 30 truckloads of students were hauled off in the first

March Directors Meet; Fund Rally Falls Short

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Phillips Randolph, director of Wednesday's big civil rights march on the capital, meets here today with key members of his staff to iron out plans for the demonstration. Bayard Rustin, Randolph's deputy, arrived here from New York Sunday night with members of his administrative staff and set up march headquarters at a downtown hotel. A civil rights leader predicted that the number of marchers might reach 200,000. The Rev. Stephen G. Spottswood, national chairman for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, made the prediction Sunday at Howard University where Mrs. Medgar W. Evers was guest speaker at a civil rights rally.

Mrs. Evers is the widow of an NAACP leader who was slain by a sniper in Mississippi. Civil rights leaders who appeared on the program with Mrs. Evers urged Washington residents to join the demonstration, titled officially "March on Washington for Jobs and Freedom." Earlier, Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive secretary, said he would be surprised if 10,000 of the capital's Negro residents joined the march. More than half of the capital's 764,000 residents are Negroes. Leaders of the 10 organizations sponsoring the demonstration directed hundreds of the 2,000 march marshals here today to make last-minute plans for con-

Antibiotics Peril: Might Slow Growth

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer
AMHERST, Mass. (AP) — Prolonged and copious use of some antibiotics—wonder drugs—may present an overlooked hazard of growth retardation in humans. This possibility is suggested by new evidence of growth-inhibiting powers of at least some antibiotics in plants—and previous evidence of the same thing in animals—said Dr. Edward G. Follock of San Fernando Valley State College, Northridge, Calif.

State News Roundup

Three Escapees Remain at Large

ENFIELD (AP) — Three escapees from the Osborn State Prison Farm remained at large today. State Police twice received tips during the weekend on the whereabouts of the three, but each time the leads fizzled. The men are Raymond Pelletier, 22, of Litchfield, and Harold Dayton, 22, of Thomaston, both serving time for breaking and entering and A. Z. Smith, 38, of Winsted, serving a term for risk of injury to a mining official at assault and furnishing liquor to a minor. The first tip came from an East Windsor Hill farm worker who told police he spotted the men on the H. Days Inc. tobacco farm. A searching party, using bloodhounds, found only a sock that apparently belonged to one of the escapees. The search turned yesterday to a Hartford diner where employees spotted the three men, who resembled the descriptions of the convicts. Photographs of two of the fugitives were identical, but no trace of them was found. The three had left after paying their checks with a $10 bill. The convicts skipped off Friday night after climbing a fence at the medical security prison. They hitchhiked into the Windsor area police said.

Find Marijuana Patch

SOUTH WINDSOR (AP) — Police did not find three prison escapees they were looking for in a tobacco field over the weekend. But they did find a patch of blooming marijuana. State Trooper James Zeeptel, a member of the search party, said he was looking for the driver of a marked truck in the Consolidated Tobacco Co. fields when he came upon a man picking marijuana. Arrested was a Jamaica, Conn., 41, an employee of the company, who was charged with illegal possession of narcotics. Weston told police he was making tea from the plant, described by a trooper as a green odorless bush with fern-like blossoms. Commenting on the discovery, one trooper said, "Marijuana grows real good in this part of the country."

Giant Drill Bit Reaches Bottom Of Escape Hole

HAZELTON, Pa. (AP)—The drill bit today broke through the first part of the escape hole for Henry Throne and David Fellin. News of the break came when Throne shouted into his microphone: "Something came down." "Asked what it was, he said, 'Some clay.' " "Good. That's a good sign," said Gordon Smith, deputy secretary of mines. "It means we have drilled through the concrete plug and are pushing the wooden plug ahead of us." Once the escape hole enlargement is completed, the men will be brought to the surface one at a time—in a specially designed steel capsule that is almost as big around as the 18-inch hole. That could be sometime tonight. Once the hole is finished, the drilling rig will be moved back and a winch put in its place. Then there will be a couple dry runs with the capsule. Throne, 58; Throne, 28, and Lou Bova, 42, have been trapped more than 300 feet underground for 13 days. Bova has not been heard from since last Tuesday. He was trapped some 25 feet from the others and separated by tons of debris. "Don't look up the hole," Smith warned, "and don't look up the hole when we are pulling it steel. Don't look up the hole at all." Smith said, however, that Fellin could look up the hole later, when it is clear. "In fact," he said, "we want you to. You will have to tell us what it looks like." Smith asked Fellin if the coal around the bottom of the hole looked solid. Fellin said it did. Smith told Fellin that three capsules were ready for the final rescue, but it was undecided which capsule to use, if any. Smith had asked whether Fellin and Throne were getting much dust and Fellin answered "not too much." Then came Fellin's electrifying shout: "Something has come down." Churning away steadily, with time out only to attach an extension bit every 30 feet, the 65-ton drilling rig passed the two-third mark at dawn and at 10:30 a.m. was at the 263-foot mark. It was stopped then while rescue officials discussed the next steps. The pace will be slowed appreciably in the final stages to forestall any possibility of a cave-in. Fellin and Throne remained in good spirits. They could be heard talking to each other through the microphone which provides communications to the surface through the six-inch lifeline hole—and saving wood. A rescuer asked what they were doing and Fellin replied: "We're putting up shoring." The escape hole, successfully drilled Friday, originally was 12 inches. The giant drill dumps tons of material down the hole in the enlarging work, thus the concern of Fellin and Throne to brace their tiny chamber. After the 12-inch hole was opened, Fellin and Throne helped close it with timbers lowered through it. A giant plug, prepared on the surface, then was lowered.

and concrete poured in to seal it. This plug eventually will be drilled out, just as rock is. During the 10:30 a.m. lull in the drilling, rescuers checked with Fellin on conditions in their chamber. One asked if they had enough air and Fellin said yes. "How's Hank?" Fellin was asked. "Okay." Throne has been little heard in conversation between surface and the chamber today. Fellin said said Throne will be the first man up. Fellin was asked: "Are you getting any dust?" "Just a little bit." After a few moments of consultation above ground, Fellin was asked again about the dust, and he said again, "There's not much." "Where's the dust coming from?" he was asked. "I can't tell. It's coming from all over. It's not coming from around the plug." Rescuers told him it probably was sifting down the six-inch lifeline hole, or perhaps was shaken from the walls by the vibrations of the drill. He was told then that the drill had been stopped while the next step was being considered. Fellin asked about his wife, and was told that she and Throne's wife were on top of a nearby slope, watching. Throne and Fellin had been asked earlier whether they were room for a third man to go down in the chamber if necessary. Throne said he thought so, but there was no official announcement.

Word Soft By Israel On Clash

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP)—Prime Minister Levi Eshkol told Parliament today that if peace does not return along the Syrian border Israel "will be duty-bound and entitled to take steps to defend itself." He made only scant and relatively mild mention of the sharp exchange of fire between Israeli and Jordanian border troops in this divided city Sunday. "I hope the Jordanian authorities will do their duty in order to punish the guilty persons and restore peace in this sector," he said. An Israeli soldier was reported killed in the clash and Jordanian Ambassador Anis Doubrin said "despite all the Syrian provocations we have restrained ourselves in a desire to prevent bloodshed and have refrained

Kennedy Ends Weekend Rest

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy, fresh from a weekend rest at Cape Cod, Mass., flew back to Washington today to confer with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin on what the White House described as "a number of matters." The President's daughter, Caroline, 5, and his son, John F. Jr., 2½, flew by helicopter over from the summer White House to Otis Air Force Base to see their father take off. Dobrynin spent more than a month on leave in the Soviet Union. He hasn't seen Kennedy since the signing of the limited nuclear test-ban treaty. The talk was the only business on Kennedy's calendar today. Kennedy spent a drizzly Saturday with his family, close to their summer house on Squaw Island.

BEULAH WARNING
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Small craft around Bermuda were warned today to stay in port as hurricane Beulah's winds began to move within range. The hurricane, packing peak winds of 100 miles per hour near the center, was expected to pass well to the east of the British colony.

JEEP DESIGNER DIES
DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Karl K. Probst, 79, "father of the jeep," was found dead at his home here early Sunday of an apparent overdose of sleeping pills. He had been ill for several weeks. Plans for the jeep, which he drew in 1940 as a consulting engineer for the Beniam Car Co. of Butler, Pa., were found at his bedside.

Injured Father of the Brides Kept Vow

George Kopp, seriously injured Aug. 13 in an automobile accident, vowed that he would attend his daughters' double wedding "if I have to crawl down the aisle." Instead he rode in a wheel chair Sunday, the cast on his crushed left leg decorated with white chrysanthemums and sprigs of greenery. Here, his wife and his daughter, Janet, 20, kiss him after the ceremonies. His other daughter, Susan, 22, looks on. (AP Photofax).

THE WAY I HEARD IT by John Cruber
Seldom have I ever encountered such a bitterly biased account of a musical event as the one in the Aug. 23 issue of "Time". It purports to concern itself with the annual Wagner Festival at Bayreuth, now in progress, but it resolves into a diatribe against the composer.

Obviously the unknown author of the article does not understand Wagner, and doesn't want to understand him. This is his privilege, of course, but it scarcely qualifies him as a critic for a periodical with such a large circulation on his private life at this time. His music is what is important. Wagner's greatness as a composer is thoroughly established.

Rizy-LaBarbera

Miss Lorraine LaBarbera of Manchester and Lizzy Edwards Rizy of Bridgeport were married Saturday, Aug. 16 at the Church of the Assumption.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Leonard V. LaBarbera of 19 Foley St. and the late Leonard LaBarbera. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Rizy of Bridgeport.

The Rev. Daniel Sullivan of Fairfield University performed the ceremony. Baskets of white gladioli decorated the sanctuary.

Recorded by her uncle, James Trivino of Manchester, the bride wore a full-length gown of white tulle with a scooped neckline, short sleeves, scooped neckline, sleeveless and chapel train. Her veil of French illusion was arranged from a headpiece of pink and white gladioli.

Miss Diane Rizy of Bridgeport, sister of the bridegroom, wore an aqua floor-length gown with a wreath of yellow baby carnations in her hair and carried a colonial bouquet of yellow and white gladioli.

Democrats Appear Split On Rail Jobs Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — With little time remaining on the Senate to take up legislation calling for compulsory arbitration of the work rules dispute that threatens to touch off a nationwide rail strike early Thursday. In advance of what will be a lengthy and bitter session, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois forecast strong Republican support for the measure. Democrats appeared divided on the issue, while withholding comment on the legislation, pro-ceeded to post job eliminating work rules changes to go into effect at 11:01 a.m. Thursday — a voluntary settlement by the carriers and the unions evaporated last Wednesday when negotiations under the eye of the Labor Department failed. No sessions have been held since.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinking) took place. Most amazing of all — results were so thorough that sufferers made startling statements like "These hemorrhoids have been a problem!" The new healing substance (Bio-Tyrene) — discovery of a world-famous research institution in supplementary of ointment form under the name Protoproct 99. At all drug centers.

Jim Brown Better Than Ever, Passes a Piff for Touchdown

NEW YORK (AP)—It may be the dirtiest trick since the invention of the mousetrap, but Jim Brown has the all-in for five or six or seven or 10 to run up and shove it enough of you get there you can knock him down. Maybe.

But when you start clumping up there by platoon fronts, he's throwing the ball absolutely unfair.

The 200-pound ball of a fullback for the Cleveland Brown, probably the most feared runner in the National Football League, picked up 68 yards on 13 rushing attempts and ran for two touchdowns in the Browns' 24-7 exhibition rout of the San Francisco 49ers.

That's just the sort of performance for the five-time rushing leader. He also tossed a pass to first yard Brown that went 30 yards and another touchdown. He also caught three passes for another 19 yards.

The Browns' performance is unusual for the hard-running Brown.

Markowski Repeats As ERCC Champ

It was the same old story yesterday in the club championship tournament at Ellington Ridge Country Club. For the second straight year the pair battling for the title were Stan Markowski and Jim Gordon.

Markowski won the 1962 championship in a playoff with Gordon. This year the champion wasn't determined until the final hole of the 36-hole match play tournament.

Pott 'Pots' Pot In Akron Open

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—"Arnold's done it to me so many times that I know it was my arm and had to win," Johnny Pott said after turning back the challenge of Arnold Palmer and winning the $50,000 American Golf Classic.

Pott started the classic with a 67 for a first-round tie with U.S. Open champion Julius Boros and Miller Barber. Another sub-par 69 Friday put him on top alone and a 69 Saturday gave him a one-stroke lead over Palmer, who had a 69 Saturday and a 70 Sunday.

Schoolteacher Golf Winner Decision by Husband Paid Off for Champion

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass. (AP)—Third-time champion Mrs. Anne Quast Weiss had her victory against teen-ager Peggy Conley, hadn't even planned to enter the 1963 Women's National Amateur Golf Tournament.

Ms. Weiss, 34, a schoolteacher, had a 67 on Saturday and a 69 on Sunday to win the 36-hole tournament. Her husband, Dr. J. Edgar Weiss, 36, a physician, had a 69 on Saturday and a 69 on Sunday to win the 36-hole tournament.

Miller Progresses in Season, Loser in 1962, Winner in 1963

NEW YORK (AP)—For a time reliever two weeks ago and over the Giants 5-1, and Houston's Edouard Ramirez, who had a 10-1 record in 1962, Miller was a loser in 1962, but he has progressed in the season, winning 10 games and losing 10.

Miller came on in the ninth inning against the Braves and pulled into a tie against Sandy Kousser, got the third out, and became a winner when Doug Clendenen, who had a 1-1 record in 1962, struck out in the ninth.

Al Downing's Pitching Philosophy: Try for No-Hitter Every Game Extra Innings Truggles Feature American Play

NEW YORK (AP)—"Actually I try for a no-hitter every game I pitch. That's the way you win, by not letting them hit."

That's Al Downing's pitching philosophy, and the 22-year-old New York Yankee left-hander lives by it religiously, and even practices it at home.

Downing finished with two out in the seventh inning before giving up the seventh run in the seventh-inning stretch. He had a 1-1 record in 1963, but he has progressed in the season, winning 10 games and losing 10.
