Sheinwold on Bridge

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD
It's dangerous to step into the auction with a silent partner and two balking opponents. Unless you have good distribution, it is usually wise to keep out as silent as your partner.

Both sides vulnerable
Opening lead—Queen of Diamonds

South thought his trump overall would show balanced distribution and about 17 or 18 points. This was quite true, but the information did North no good at all.

West's opening bid showed at least 12 or 13 points in high cards, and East's response showed at least 8 points. South therefore knew that the opponents had at least 18 or 19 of the missing 22 points, and they might even have them all. What was the advantage of bringing about his own 18 points?

When South was doubled, he might well have tried to get out at two clubs. If North had only one or two clubs he might have a long diamond suit and rescue at two diamonds. As the cards actually lay, South would have escaped virtually scot-free at two clubs.

Bad Result
At notrump South didn't get away unscathed. West held the first trick with the queen of diamonds, and East won the second trick with the king. This gave East the chance to lead a heart through the king.

South was lucky to win four tricks, but this still cost him a penalty of 400 points. If South had passed, the opponents would have played the hand at

Deme, Agent Defendants in Damage Suit

The absence of balking because of contract, which is the basis of a civil suit for $20,000 in damages brought against John Deme, former owner of Radio Station WINF, and his agent, Ronald Wright, of 299 Cooper Hill St.

Clarence T. Nicholson of South Windsor claims in a writ filed with the town clerk, that Deme, through his salesman, Wright, fraudulently represented the 14.7 m. s. under which Station WINF would act as promotion agent for Nicholson's A-frame cottage, at a charge of $2,500, plus $100 for each cottage sold.

Under the alleged terms, Nicholson was to build a model cottage and place it for view on the property of Plantation, on Tolland Tpke.

In return, Nicholson claims, the radio station was to erect a swimming pool display (complete with authentic bathing beauties), provide a motor boat and sports car display, adjacent to the A-frame cottage, provide 500 picnic baskets (valued at $5 each) to be passed out to prospective purchasers, and originate radio programs from the site, as well as provide and pay for $1,500 worth of spot advertising on television.

In addition, Nicholson says that WINF was to provide 11,000 worth of radio spot advertising of 30 seconds each.

Nicholson further alleges that,

India Missionaries at Zion

The Rev. Samuel G. Lang, veteran Indian missionary, and Mrs. Lang, missionary and nurse, will speak Sunday at the annual Mission Festival at Zion Evangelical Lutheran Church. They will present an illustrated lecture at 9 a.m. for the Sunday School, and will speak at worship services at 10 and 11.

Mrs. Lang will appear in a sarri, the native costume of the women of India, and will display articles from that country.

Missionary Lang will present in German at the 11 a.m. service, when Communion will be celebrated.

The missionaries both served in India for 37 years and plan to return there next year. They are presently on furlough in this country. The Rev. Mr. Lang was a next-door neighbor in New York of the Rev. Paul G. Proctor, pastor of Zion Church. They both attended Concordia College Institute, Brookville, N. Y.

Missionary and Mrs. Lang have lived in Bangalore, South India, since 1902. This is a large industrial city with a population of one and one-half million. Together with Indian co-workers, the missionary serves three congregations of more than 800, and a small congregation of German settlers in that city.

DEATH EXAGGERATED
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Betty Davis and several other unnamed persons are being sued for $1.5 million by former actress Claudia Dell, who says she was falsely reported to have died by suicide in Miss Davis' autobiography.

Mrs. Dell said Friday the account was in Miss Davis' book "The Lonely Life." Miss Dell said she is a director of a modeling school in Beverly Hills.

bill of Rep. Walter Rogers, D-Tex., that says the FCC has no authority to make any rules about commercials.

Actually subcommittee members may be less concerned with pushing the bill than in demonstrating a show of opposition to the FCC. Passing a bill is a long, involved legislative process. It may be simpler to persuade the FCC to hold back.

Whether the broadcasters and congressmen succeeded will not be known until after Dec. 9. That is the day the FCC will begin its own hearings on the proposal to regulate commercials.

American Education Week

NOVEMBER 10 to 16

Education strengthens the Nation

The American system of free public education is a most vital force in equipping this nation's children and youth to meet the many challenges of the future. Our nation's schools...the schools of Connecticut and Manchester...are essential to preserving the American way of life. A rapidly changing world requires education change to meet new challenges without diminishing the traditional American appreciation of the supreme worth of the individual.

The moral support of all citizens is necessary in the great task of educating young people for their roles as responsible citizens of the future. Won't you do your part by visiting Manchester schools next week. They'll be observing Open House just for you!

The Temptation

There was enough of a civil war pattern in the various election returns Nov. 5 to suggest that the Republican party is not so much as it once was.

What happened on Nov. 5 was a gain in strength for some candidates in large cities or in border states—who made a special point of taking the anti-Kennedy, anti-Supreme Court, anti, what, etc., line.

These candidates who took their places on the segregation side of the fence managed to achieve, for their part, a new kind of division in the allegiance of white voters in their constituencies.

Where the candidates who took this kind of stand were Republicans, as was the case in the case of the Democrats, were intimidated, the Democrats still won, but by reduced margins.

There are, it was noted, in the North, instances and areas where the Republicans can pick up votes merely by discussing the racial issue in openly aggressive, but not in the vague and elusive, but still segregationist, obtuseness of a Gold-water.

As they look toward 1964, it is possible for Republicans to realize such a prospect. The counterproductive is that they could get such votes merely by managing some attitude half-way receptive to them but without ever asking for them ever openly declaring definitely for segregation and against integration.

When you rationalize such a position and such a tactic, you do it by saying that of course you yourself do not hate anyone, or share certain extreme views, but that you can hardly be expected to be responsible for the views of all the people who may happen to vote for you for one reason or another.

But either such a position, if it can be managed, or the pick-up of votes which it might accomplish, are dangerous and perhaps suicidal things for a party to try. It could even be argued that it might be better, even for the most selfish interests of the party itself, for it to lose by clearly rejecting such temptations and opportunities than for it to win by accepting them.

There is no doubt that the spectacular argument against such tactics on content-free with the probability that such tactics would do much more to lose any particular election than to win it. For any party playing this game, and caught in it, would be certain to lose a portion of its own original strength and then, in the area where it would be really critical, lose heavily in its standing among those independent voters who habitually think most keenly about principles and issues and who usually decide every national election.

One has to feel sure that, to put the issue and the prospect in its simplest, most melodramatic form, the party which was born in 1854 to oppose the extension of slavery and which won its first presidential election with Abraham Lincoln as its candidate is not going to enter its last presidential election opposing an extension of freedom and holding its side door open to the segregationists and this nation's current crop of apostles of malice.

No Joy In Kennedyland?

Another of those statistics that seem to embarrass the Kennedy administration more than they please it comes up now, in the record rate of $85.2 billion a year for our Gross National Product, attained in the third quarter of this current year.

This is, as would be natural for all normal times, something of a new high. Even more significantly, it represents a faster rate of growth for the GNP than we have known for several years.

One of the big Kennedy campaign calls, back in 1960, was for some kind of dynamic new frontier which would pop up our annual rate of increase in our Gross National Product. But now we have a spurt of rapid increase along the lines that Kennedy tried to make the case for.

There is no denying that the fact that the Kennedy administration has done so well in the past is no proud preening on the part of the administration. It is, in fact, a fact that the Kennedy administration has done so well in the past is no proud preening on the part of the administration.

One thing that has happened, we think, is that the Kennedy administration, in power, has stopped being quite so glib about a good many things, like GNP growth rates or mislabeled.

Perhaps, also, the Kennedy administration has come to some sober recognition that the fact that the Democrats are not so much as it once was, is not so much as it once was.

It is true enough that, even in its apologetics, the Kennedy administration has not been so glib about a good many things, like GNP growth rates or mislabeled.

But the real gap, the gap it would be disastrous for it to be without, is the usual peacetime gap between what we can use and what we actually do produce.

Or, to look back at old times, the fact that the Democrats are not so much as it once was, is not so much as it once was.

There are, it was noted, in the North, instances and areas where the Republicans can pick up votes merely by discussing the racial issue in openly aggressive, but not in the vague and elusive, but still segregationist, obtuseness of a Gold-water.

Connecticut Yankee

By A.H.O.

Had the Democrats been able to place former Congressman Donald Irwin, a candidate who habitually happy disposition always seems, in advance of elections at least, insurance against anything so unpleasantly realistic as a defeat—had the Democrats been able to get him a few hundred more votes and elect him as the new mayor of the city of New Haven, the Democrats would have been able to tell themselves they had done just about everything anyone could have expected or hoped for in the Connecticut out city elections last Tuesday.

They arrived party split in the midst of their own celebration. They were, in fact, defeated in what probably should be rated the best Republican opposition they had in the Connecticut out city elections last Tuesday.

Stagecoach Once Again's Only Link with News

By ANTHONY CHEMASH One of Manchester's village churches, back when it was not much more than a village, was an isolation broken only by a stagecoach. The coach brought passengers to the village, and the village brought passengers to the coach. The coach brought passengers to the village, and the village brought passengers to the coach.

Giants Need Help from Pittsburgh As They Try to Overtake Browns

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Giants could use a little help from Pittsburgh as they try to overtake the Cleveland Browns in the race for the NFL championship.

The Browns, who are second in the AFC, have a 10-2 record and are favored to win the championship. The Giants, who are third in the AFC, have a 9-3 record and are in a tight race with the Pittsburgh Steelers.

The Steelers, who are fourth in the AFC, have a 7-5 record and are in a tight race with the Oakland Raiders. The Browns have a 10-2 record and are favored to win the championship.

Lott Starter For Boston In AFL Tilt

BOSTON (AP)—Billy Lott will be the starter at Boston's troublesome left halfback position in the AFL game tomorrow.

Lott, himself only recently off the injured list, was given the nod over John Crawford and rookie Tom Neuharth.

Crawford and Neuharth are expected to be available for some duty against the Chargers but neither will be in top shape.

The Patriots' left half back has been hurting since Ram Burton was lost to the club before the season started.

San Diego leads the Western Division and its 6-2 record is the best in the division. The Chargers have the top offense in the league.

The Patriots are in a tight race with the Oakland Raiders. The Raiders have a 7-5 record and are in a tight race with the Oakland Raiders.

Pony Raider Leaders

Kickoff will be at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon at Memorial Field when the Manchester Raiders meet the Vernon Ponies in a battle of the undefeated.

Leading the locals into battle will be Co-Captain Bill Haver, a quarterback, left, and tackle Peter Benson. Each team has won six contests this fall in the Charter Oak Conference.

Chief attention on the local football scene this weekend will be distributed between Mt. Nebo and Memorial Field, only miles apart, when Manchester's five entries in the midweek and pony category play important games.

The championship of the Midweek League will be at stake at Mt. Nebo with the Smokestacks (4-0-1) battling the Ponies (4-0-1) in the nightcap of an attractive doubleheader.

An "Eater" win will wrap up the 1968 season with a brighter triumph for the undefeated Ponies.

No doubt the biggest attraction will be the clash of undefeated entries from Vernon and Manchester in a Charter Oak Conference pony division battle at Memorial Field.

The kickoff has been advanced from 2 to 1 o'clock and a crowd of 1,000 is expected. Both clubs have averaged better than 30 points per contest.

Bringing in the visiting Ponies from neighboring Vernon is Jimmy Roach, head coach of the Ponies, a former high school coach.

At the other hand, the Ponies have a high school and prep school football player—and they must be, great game in prospect.

Roach started at Manchester High and set all kinds of scoring records at the Military Academy before moving on to Auburn where he became a star.

Behind Joe Adams, during the last All-American year, a broken nose this week while running back for Vernon.

Beach, he was struck in the face by the beam of a searchlight while making his last appearance in the All-American game.

The contest will be a battle of high-scoring clubs which also feature rugged defenses.

The Ponies have rolled up 219 points in winning all six games, a 36.5 point per game average, while holding the opposition to eight points.

With both local high schools on the road today, Manchester High at Westford, and the Catholic at Ridgefield, football fans are looking for independent action.

Manchester High is scheduled to play at Westford, and the Catholic at Ridgefield.

Fourth Straight Win for Oakland As Flores Stars

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Coch Al Davis waxes at the mention of his Oakland A's four-game winning streak and talk of its title chances in the American Football League.

"These kids are unbelievable," Davis said. "I don't know where they got it from, but they're playing like champions."

The A's, who are leading the AFC West, have a 10-2 record and are favored to win the championship.

American Education Week will be observed all next week in schools and communities throughout the nation under the auspices of the National Education Association and their local teacher affiliates. Here in Manchester, activities will be sponsored by the Manchester Education Association, Parent-Teacher Associations, and the American Legion Auxiliary. Mrs. Constance Adams, MEA vice president, is chairman of the local observance, which has as its theme: "Education Strengthens the Nation." Interviews on educational topics of general interest will be conducted at 1:40 p.m. daily on WTNF's Pat Turner Show. The schedule is as follows: Monday, Veterans Day: "Values of Free Men," Kenneth Yeomans, commander, American Legion Post; Tuesday: "Learning Opportunities for All," Dr. William Curtis, superintendent of schools; Wednesday: "Quality Teaching," Mrs. Thelma Woodbridge, elementary teacher, Bentley School, and Gilbert Hunt, English teacher, Manchester High School. Thursday: "Goals for Tomorrow," Dr. Frederick W. Lowe, dean, Manchester Community College; Friday: "Financial Support," Mrs. Katherine Bourn, chairman, board of education. Manchester schools will conduct individual activities and programs for the observance. In one of these, a group of fifth grade pupils at Verplanck, under the direction of Mrs. Adams, will present at an assembly a playlet, "The Greatest American," its theme is that any American boy or girl can become great through the aid of education. Clergymen have been asked to use education as the theme of their sermons Sunday. The American Legion Auxiliary is providing booklets with information about education week to Manchester libraries and when civic groups meet during the week, they will use place mats and napkins with appropriate inscriptions; and lapel tags furnished by the Keeney, South and Washington School PTAs. Working with Mrs. Adams on the various projects are Mrs. Robert Heins, representing the PTAs; Mrs. Edward Walters of the Legion Auxiliary; Verplanck Principal, Catherine Shea; and teachers Nancy Jensen, Dorothy Zeno, Judith Campbell, and Kim Shirer. In a proclamation designating Nov. 10-16 as education week in Manchester, Mayor Francis Mahoney urges that "all citizens acquaint themselves more fully with the programs and needs of education, and rededicate themselves to strengthening and improving this essential safeguard of our nation."

WESTWARD HO!
The days of the covered wagon may be long gone, but the adventure of traveling west, in a man-made moving van, can be just as exciting and thrilling today.

Walter B. Perrett and his wife, Pearl, of 517 Vernon St., last month pioneered to the west in such a vehicle while en route to Carlsbad, N. M. Perrett drove the van, a 1945 GMC model designed by its former owner, the late Newton R. Taggart Sr., as the Perretts transported a shipment of electronic, radio and television equipment to John Deme, founder of WTNF radio here in 1954, who in August left the Manchester scene to become president and general manager of TV-Radio station KAVE in Carlsbad. "We traveled some 2,300 miles, through 15 states, during leisure days of pioneer travel to the west," Perrett said. Deme hired Perrett to make the trip west, a first for both Walter and his wife, who at the last minute decided to go. "Her parents and in-laws thought she was crazy to make such a long jaunt in the old rig," Walter said, "but the decision was hers and everything worked out fine." The couple started their westward trip on Sept. 30. The van got to Greenwhich where a generator burned out. Luck had it that a garage man, in the town, had a used generator, installed it, at a minimum cost, within two hours, and the Perretts were off again. By the time they got to New Jersey, a 10-year-old year tire blew out on the Jersey Turnpike. It took several hours and an nominal fee for a replacement tire and service before the Perretts were back on the highways. Rolling countryside through the southern and central states were an adventurous sight, the Perretts said, as they traveled westward. When they reached the growing metropolitan area of Dallas, Texas, a hydraulic brake line broke and caused several hours delay. In fact, Perrett was unable to call Deme and have another trucking firm take over the delivery of the load. Fortunately, the truck could be repaired, for an outlandish price, and the van was again on its way. One might mention here that, when the Perretts returned to their Vernon St. home last month, a check for $38 was waiting in the mail box, from Cities Service for overcharge on the haulage. On their arrival at Carlsbad, Deme greeted the Perretts and had them as guests in his brick, air-conditioned ranch home. Taggart's man-made van, which he sold to Perrett years ago when the latter bought the Manchester Moving and Trucking Co., was purchased by Deme who turned said he was going to sell it to one of the cotton farmers in the Carlsbad area. "Acres and acres of even-lined cotton fields are spread out in New Mexico," Perrett reports, "and herds of geese, called 'old timers,' trample through the cotton plantations and eat the weeds for the cotton farmers," he added. During the couples stay at the Deme house, Deme said "your going to get the surprise of your lives." He then took them on eight-seating tours and a walk over a beautiful bridge which crossed the Rio Grande River. The oddity of the walk was the river bed was bone dry and hadn't had water in it for several years. Climax to the trip was a Sept. 7 two-hour return trip, by jet airliner, back to New York and Manchester, all paid for by John Deme.

'Three Sons' Show Gets Girl Interest

By RUTH E. THOMPSON

Something new has been added to brighten the fourth season of ABC's "My Three Sons" family comedy starring Fred MacMurray. . . it's a prospective daughter-in-law portrayed by Meredith MacRae, (brown-eyed, honey-blond daughter of Gordon and Sheila MacRae) who had to become a college dropout to take the job. It's her only time of regret, though.

Otherwise, she's as starry-eyed and valuable as becomes a 19-year-old who's landed a plum in a major series. "I just love our show," she keeps bubbling. "I'm so lucky."

But it isn't just luck. And it certainly wasn't pull either. . . because on audition-day she brainwashed herself not to mention her parents, not an easy thing for her to do because she looks up to them so.

"Look, I'll prove I'm lucky," she said. "It can be tough for a girl who wants to be an actress and thinks it's all glamorous clothes and dates every night. Coming from a show business family I know it's no bed of roses and that you have to work."

Then a smile sparkled around her lovely young rose-gold face, molded like her mother's, slender but heart-shaped. "Why last night Daddy sent me home before midnight because he knew I had to be busy this morning." She'd come to New York to catch their act at the Waldorf-Astoria. They were currently on supper-club hours, work late, sleep late. "They were going out afterwards with the Jack Carters and Steve Lawrence and Edyle Gorme."

"And I had no choice but to wear mink last night," she giggled "but only because I hadn't realized it would be so cold and I borrowed mother's. But I wouldn't be caught dead in it in California. I love clothes, yes, but I like to be suitably dressed, and in my crowd 19-year-olds just don't wear mink. I did get a white fox stole for Christmas, but that's my only fur." Her two Borgana coats ("an old light one" and "a new short dark one") fill the bill nicely, thank you.

"No I'm not wearing rouge. It's my own color. I just wear pastel peach lipstick and eye makeup. At home we live an outdoor life. The whole family goes in for skin diving."

You quickly realize that when she's leary of the word "glamour" it's just that she herself has a pretty sound set of values is leary of superficialities.

Meredith goes into "My Three Sons" with a pretty good list of credits. In addition to appearing on Dinah Shore's Show with her folks, and in a record album with her father, she's appeared on stage in "Annie Get Your Gun" (when she was 10) and the last two summers in stock, "Bye Bye Birdie" with Andy Williams and "Wild Cat" with Martha Raye.

"But you just can't imagine how nervous I was the first day on the set," she recalls. "If you drop in on the show you'll see what a wonderful group it is, completely professional, but relaxed. . . with Bill Frawley trying to break us up all the time. But I didn't realize that the first day and here were no general introductions as there are in the theatre. You just go right to work and my scenes were with Fred MacMurray. Luckily about all I had to say was 'yes Sir, and no Sir.' And he was so kind!"

Most of her scenes, however, are with Tim Considine whose fiance she plays. "It was Tim who tricked me into a valuable insight. I was trying too hard to be too good when it was my turn. I didn't realize I wasn't listening to the others until he slipped me a total nonsense line. I didn't even hear him but just went on with mine! After we'd laughed it off, though, I realized I'd learned something very useful."

What about the day when she has to think of marriage versus career, and as a matter of fact does she have any plans?

"I don't feel ready for marriage yet. No, I don't really go steady. But Rick Berger (a former UCLA classmate and a non-professional) is, well sort of special. I date him weekends. Most of my friends are non-professionals, a few actors but for the most part they're too self-centered." Among friends, or buddies, (and she stressed we shouldn't infer "boy friends") some I have dinner with but they're not really dates' who she puts on the "not-self-centered list" are Tim Considine; Don Grady who plays the second son on the series ("Don and I are both currently enrolled for evening classes at Los Angeles City College"); Bill Bixby (he works on the next set) and Doris Day's son, Terry Melcher.

"I do want to return to UCLA, too. And with our crazy schedule it might work out for next semester." "Sons" works around the clock a couple of months of the year to do all scenes with Fred MacMurray, then shoots around him the rest of the year. "It might break down to only two days a week work for me. Then I could do it."

"Another thing, right now I play second-mother (to one younger sister, two younger brothers) when the folks are on the road. I order the groceries and check all the bills. My parents are never away for longer than a month. Usually they limit engagements to a couple of weeks."

"But when I do marry, you can bet I'm going to emulate my mother. She's always put her marriage first. When we were all small she was home. She only resumed her career five years ago."

I took a good look at Meredith. Fresh and pretty as she could be in the harsh morning light. And glamorous—but on her own wholesome terms with plenty of sound values underneath.

Miss Peggy Lee sings the blues, and Buddy Hines dances, on NBC-TV's "The Andy Williams Show" in color Tuesday, Nov. 12 (10 to 11 p.m. EST).

The new girl on ABC-TV's "My Three Sons" is brown-eyed Meredith MacRae, who's playing Tim Considine's romantic interest. Off-screen they're just good friends. She credits him with giving her a good tip on acting.

CAROL'S CALAMITY

Effulgent Carol Burnett brings her lively talents to the title role of "Calamity Jane," a 90-minute musical comedy over CBS-TV Nov. 12. As "Calamity Jane," Carol portrays a swaggering gal of the Old West with a penchant for tall tales. Art Lund costars as Will Bill Hickok. This special is based on the 1953 movie starring Doris Day and Howard Keel.

Negro Asks Race Forum, To Enter Primary in N. H.

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul Zuber, a Negro leader in the fight against Northern school segregation, has announced he will enter the New Hampshire Republican presidential primary as an independent.

Zuber, an attorney, made the announcement Sunday night at his home in Harlem. He said he wants to provide a forum for the expression of Negro views.

During the past five years, Zuber has become an expert in de facto school segregation — created by housing patterns. He has won school integration cases in New York City and New Rochelle, N.Y., and Englewood and Newark, N.J., and is fighting a similar suit in Chicago.

Zuber, 37, said he will conduct an "education campaign setting forth the Negro's position on civil rights" to New Hampshire voters, starting next month.

"No one is better equipped to do this than a Negro, who is more affected by it than anyone else," he said.

Zuber contended that neither Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York nor his prospective rival in the primary, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, is qualified to discuss civil rights.

Zuber, a Republican, said that he sees indications of a "serious racial explosion erupting in this country, unless the young Negro is convinced that his just demands are being considered by both major political parties."

Zuber said he is not being backed by the new Negro civil rights party, Freedom Now. "I am entering the presidential race as an independent candidate," he said.

He said he would consider entering primaries in West Virginia, Wisconsin, Illinois, and California.

Ike Envisions Nixon Darkhorse Candidate

NEW YORK (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower sees Richard M. Nixon as a possible darkhorse candidate for the Republican presidential nomination next year.

The former president told a nationwide television audience Sunday: "Now if there should be one of those deadlocks (at the national convention) I think he (Nixon) would be one of the likely persons to be examined and approached because he is after all a very knowledgeable and a very courageous type of person."

Nixon, vice president under Eisenhower for eight years, was not available for comment.

Three Pose as Detectives, Steal $30,000 in Jewelry

NEW YORK (AP) — Three real estate men and his wife were reported to police Sunday night.

Last Friday a group of gunmen, posing as police, stopped a jewelry messenger station wagon and stole an estimated $3 million worth of jewelry. About three-fourths of the loot later was found, however, in the abandoned station wagon.

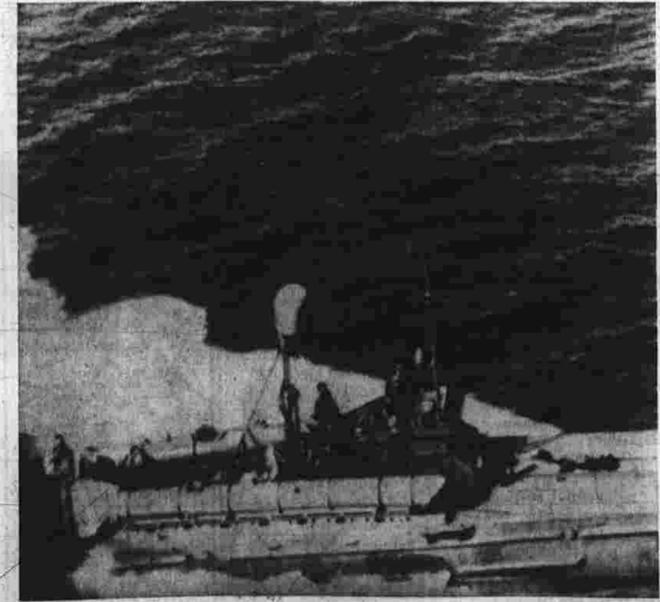

Rubin, victim of the latest theft, is president of J. Howard, Inc. Mrs. Toronto had been visiting her parents. Several pieces of jewelry, including an emerald-cut diamond ring worth more than $10,000, were taken from her bedroom.

Events In State

State Petitions Seek Ouster of Justice Warren

BRIDGEPORT (AP) — Petitions calling for the impeachment of Chief Justice Earl Warren were circulated outside four Protestant churches here yesterday by members of the John Birch Society.

Thomas J. Davis of Stamford, major coordinator for the society in New England, said 1,000 signatures were obtained.

The petitions were circulated outside two Congregational churches, one Episcopal church, and the Calvary Evangelical Free Church.

The petitions were not discussed from the pulpit or approved by the pastors of any of the churches.

The society gathered more than 500 signatures outside of a Catholic church last month after the pastor urged his parishioners to sign the petition.

The pastor, the Rev. Francis E. Fenton, who acknowledged that he was a member of the Birch society, has been reprimanded by diocesan officials for his action.

Thorpe to Retire

HARTFORD (AP)—Lyle M. Thorpe, who began work for the state as an aquatic biologist in June, 1935, says he plans to retire next spring as director of the State Board of Fisheries and Game. Thorpe has been director since March 1, 1954. The Tolland resident announced his retirement plans Saturday.

ADD Pays 85c

HARTFORD (AP) — Secretary of State Ella Grasso had bad news for holders of ADD trading stamps. She said yesterday a refund of only about 85 per cent of the advertised value of the defaulted stamps will be paid.

The Acton Diesel and Engine Co., which did not meet redemptions, posted $25,000 bond with the state, but claims total $28,800. Mrs. Grasso said: "I intend to go before the State Board of Fisheries and Game and request an adjustment in the bonding statute in view of this experience," she said.

Marines Arrested

NORWICH (AP)—Four Marines stationed at the U. S. Submarine Base in Groton were arrested at gunpoint early today in a discount department store, police reported.

The four servicemen were charged with breaking and entering with criminal intent and larceny.

Veteran JFK Lays Wreath In Arlington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Under a cloudless blue sky, President Kennedy placed a red, white and blue wreath at the Tomb of the Unknowns today to honor the nation's war veterans living and dead.

Several thousand spectators crowded about the area at Arlington National Cemetery as the hatless President strode with Gen. David M. Shoup, the Marine commandant, to the tomb.

While the crowd stood silent, the President, helped by an Army sergeant, placed the wreath in front of the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier and between the Unknowns of World War II and Korea.

His somber gray-striped suit contrasted with the bright red and white carnations and red, white and blue ribbon.

Then, as a bugler played Taps the President stood at attention. Arrayed behind the President were his military aides, Veterans Administrator John Gleason and Luther Stagg, head of the Medal of Honor society.

Also present were Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, and representatives from all the services.

The ceremony was at 11 a. m.

Railroads President Resigning

TOKYO (AP) — Leftist cries of government neglect and the smell of funeral incense hung over Japan today as bereaved families arranged services for more than 600 persons killed in a coal mine explosion and triple train crash.

Socialist and Democratic Socialist politicians seized on the double disaster as a major campaign issue in national parliamentary elections only 10 days off.

The leftists held Premier Yato Ikeda's conservative government responsible for the tragedies, charging the accidents resulted from the government's "one-sided policy to protect monopolistic capitalist classes" at the expense of workers' lives.

The coal dust explosion in the mine at Omuta, on the southern island of Kyushu, killed 449 miners, injured about 450 and left 7 unaccounted for, the Mitsui Mining Co. said. Police said, however, they had counted 452 bodies.

The train wreck six hours later and 600 miles to the north killed 162 persons, including William Scott, 28, of Colorado Springs, Colo., who was studying in Tokyo. At least 70 were injured.

Two persons were injured today in another train wreck. A slow-moving passenger train rammed another passenger train that had halted half a mile out of the Hiroshima station.

Although the pressure was on Ikeda, the president of Japan National Railways, Reisuke Ichida, said he was accepting full responsibility for Saturday's disaster and would resign.

The pileup near Tokyo was the second three-train crash in 18 months. Japanese rail accidents take an average of 10,000 lives a year.

Veterans Honored, Rain Bars Parade

Beneath drizzly skies, Manchester today paid tribute to its war veterans in ceremonies at Manchester Memorial Hospital grounds and the American Legion Home.

A scheduled parade from Manchester High School to the hospital was postponed for the first time in recent memory.

Heavy showers with no lull in sight forced the postponement. When the ceremonies began at the auditorium shortly after 11 the weather had changed to a chilling drizzle.

At 11, during a lull in the rain, the flag was raised on the hospital grounds, by past Legion commander Henry Pesini. Wreaths were laid at the war memorial on the grounds by Wilfred J. Clarke, past Legion commander, and Mrs. Wilber Little, past president of the Legion auxiliary.

In opening remarks at the auditorium ceremony, Mayor Francis J. Mahoney declared, "Manchester's contribution in war has been a large one. We are here to pay honor to those veterans who have made the supreme sacrifice. Let us re-member them in our prayers."

Former Congressman at Large Antoni Sadiak was the main speaker. He was introduced by Anthony O'Bright, chairman of Veterans Day.

Sadiak, Navy veteran and Lieutenant commander in the Navy reserves, said, "The occasion calls for a brief review of what are historical facts—"

Delegation Criticized, Brought Along Waiter

LONDON (AP) — Democratic and Republican members of a House delegation said today it would be a pity if the good work they did in Paris was obscured by criticism because they brought a waiter with them from Washington.

The delegation is in London after a week at the parliamentary congress of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Its main business here is a luncheon with members of the British Parliament.

The delegation consists of nine members of the House and five staff members, the latter including Ernest Petinaud, Negro head waiter of the House of Representatives dining room. He was chosen for the trip by Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio.

"We have nothing to hide," Hays said today. "I told the House speaker before we left that Ernest was coming and that a great many other members knew about it."

Hays said Petinaud is on vacation, speaks French and "worked for us for his expenses on this trip—he got no other remuneration."

"He acted as liaison man between the American delegation and NATO headquarters (in Paris), taking and bringing messages," Hays said.

Another member of the group, Rep. Wilfield K. Denton, D-Ind., said their hotel in Paris was 2 1/2 miles from NATO headquarters and Petinaud "was going back and forth for us all the time."

Hays was angered by a Washington report that an unnamed congressman had suggested Petinlaud went along to hand around drinks.

"That's ridiculous," he said. "Number one, I don't drink. Number two, we didn't have a bar."

"That's not nice," said Pettinaud.

Bettering Lot Of Populace Saigon Need

By JAMES MARLOW Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The generals in South Viet Nam solved one set of problems when they threw out President Ngo Dinh Diem and his troublesome brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, both of whom were killed. But there are others.

The brothers, after nine years in power, never solved them. Now it's the turn of the generals who are running the country.

Will they be able to steer it in a democratic direction? Diem didn't. He was a dictatorship. Was successful war against the Communists? Diem didn't. Avoid conflicts, intrigues, jealousies, explosions? Diem didn't.

Will the generals, through reforms and programs of benefit, be able to give the masses of Viet Nam a reason for caring CLAIMS INCURSION MUZZAFARABAD, Kashmir (AP) — A spokesman for the Azad Kashmir government said today that Indian troops are threatening to occupy the village of Polus on the Kashmir cease-fire line. The government of Azad Kashmir, the Pakistan-controlled northwest portion of disputed Kashmir state, claims the village.

TO ANNUL OIL FACTS BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Despite U.S. warnings, the Argentine government reaffirmed today its "sovereign and irrevocable decision" to annul all contracts with foreign companies, most of them American. A government source said the Argentine position was made clear to W. Averell Harriman, U.S. undersecretary of state for political affairs, last week. Informed sources had reported that Harriman warned that cancellation of the oil contracts without just compensation could harm the program of U.S. aid to Argentina as embodied in the Alliance for Progress program.

VIET NAM VICTORIES SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Vietnamese military authorities claimed victories today over Viet Cong guerrilla forces in areas north and south of Saigon. Spokesmen said two Communist battalions left behind 10 of their own dead and carried off 60 killed and wounded after an unsuccessful three-day siege of an outpost in a province about 100 miles southwest of Saigon. In other clashes over the past three days, government spokesmen said, 11 Viet Cong were killed and some weapons and military equipment seized.

NEWS CONFERENCE WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy will hold a news conference at 11 a. m. Thursday, the White House announced today. White House sources said Kennedy scheduled the morning meeting with newsmen in deference to a number of afternoon newspapers which objected to his usual policy of holding news conferences in late afternoon—too late, generally, for publication in their editions.
