Country Players Players have announced the selection of Fred Ragazzi as Windsor to direct the group's seventh production, "The Man in the Dog Suit," to be presented April 23, 24 and 25 at the South Windsor High School.

Ragazzi studied at the Rammond School for Creative Work from 1946 to 1950, and was also a private pupil of the late Alan Randall. He has appeared in local productions of "Tommy and Juliet," "Winter," "Hamlet," and "Glas Menagerie." His director credits include "Long Day's Journey into Night," "My Fair Lady," "Street Car Named Desire" and "Blithe Spirit."

Ragazzi has also had considerable experience in all phases of theater including lighting and sound, and will do the lighting techniques for the Hartford Jewish Community's forthcoming production "Of Mice and Men."

Cast members for the Players' production have been selected and will be announced soon. Back stage help is needed by the group, however, and those interested are asked to contact Joseph DeMaio, production manager, Birch Rd., South Windsor.

Tickets will be available at each performance, and special rates will be available for theater parties. Ticket information may be obtained from Mrs. William Manigault, 272 Pierce Rd., South Windsor.

The fine arts committee of the South Windsor Women's Club will meet tonight at 8:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Russell W. See, 208 Oak St., Weeping. Plans will be made for American Home Day and the May meeting.

"Shakespeare Sampler" tickets will be on sale at the Sacred and Wood Memorial Libraries beginning Thursday, Wood Memorial Library to open Mondays and Thursdays from 1:30 to 9 p.m.; Sacred Memorial Library to open Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 8 to 9 p.m., Tuesday and Thursday, from 3:30 to 8 p.m., and Saturdays from 9:30 to 12:30 p.m. The Shakespeare program will be presented April 12 at 2:15 p.m. at the South Windsor High School. The Libraries are also sponsoring an essay contest in conjunction with the Shakespearean Sampler.

The South Windsor Cooperative Nursery School is accepting application for next year. To receive an application form, further information contact Mrs. E. Williams, 32 Farnham Rd., South Windsor.

month-old conflict over the Cyprus constitution. The council also approved sending a peace force to Cyprus for three months.

The mediator seeks a permanent accord. That needed the assent of the Greek and Turkish Cypriots as well as the British, Greek and Turkish, co-governors of Cyprus and delegates to the three constituent conventions.

Named to the town committee were Mrs. Winston Abbott, Mrs. Robert Campbell, Mrs. Robert Friedich, and Mrs. Francis Haines. The other four of the nine women members elected were Mrs. Carl Goughon, Mrs. Edward Montandon, Mrs. Robert Peters and Mrs. Carl Sienia.

The other six members elected included Joseph Comerford, Clarence Cluser, Benjamin Foreman, John B. Hutchinson and J. Cuyler Hutchinson. The other six members chosen were Peter Mangiac, George Munson, George Nelson, L. Edward Whitcomb, Montague White, and T. C. Wright.

Andover will be represented at the state Republican convention in Hartford on June 12 and 13 by Elsworth Covell, Mrs. Edward Montandon, and Mrs. Winston Abbott.

The delegates to the second district congressional convention on June 20 in Middletown will be Mrs. Robert Peters, George Nelson and Mrs. Francis Haines.

The state senatorial convention in Rockville on June 27 will see Cuyler Hutchinson, Montague White and Mrs. Raymond Stoner as delegates.

The delegates will choose their own alternates and the

Andover Committee and Delegates Selected by Republicans

About 35 members of the town committee was empowered by the caucus to all vacancies which may arise in the course of elections.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Bockus, Lake Rd., will show color slides of their recent trips to Hawaii and the Virgin Islands at tonight's meeting of the Garden Club. The meeting is scheduled to start at 8 p.m. at the Elementary School, Horstess for the evening will be Mrs. George Munson, Mrs. Doris Chamberlain, and Mrs. Walter Weir.

Announcements have been made by several groups within the Congregational Church of Andover. The church is holding a series of activities holding interest for many people in the town.

Young people who are making plans for the summer may find the announcement by the Religious Education Board of interest. The board has made available a listing of many summer camps and conferences open to the age group Grade 8 through young adults.

The many listings are available at the state Republican convention in Hartford on June 12 and 13 by Elsworth Covell, Mrs. Edward Montandon, and Mrs. Winston Abbott.

Testimonial Set For Al Pearson

A testimonial dinner is being planned to honor G. Albert Pearson, head of the made de department at Manchester High School who will retire in June after 22 years of service in the Manchester schools.

The event is scheduled for Monday, June 1 at Piano's Restaurant in Bolton. Edson M. Bailey, former principal of Manchester High School, will be master of ceremonies, and it is expected that a program of music will be offered by the Round Table Singers, as well as former students of Pearson who have made careers in music.

Tentative plans are for written invitations to be sent to friends and associates of Mr. Pearson, with a general invitation later issued to the public through the newspaper up to the 400 capacity of the hall. Due to the eastern winter which Pearson is regarded by his thousands of former students and his many friends, a sellout crowd is anticipated.

The committee planning the dinner is headed by Robert Williams, Pearson's assistant at the high school, and includes William O. Carl Hultgren, Miss Eva Johnson and Roger Louick.

Geneva Not Paradise For All Americans

By JERRY MEEHAN GENEVA—(NEA)—The director of the corporation places an affectionate hand on Frisby's shoulder and says: "We like your style, Frisby. We're transferring you to our office in Geneva, Switzerland."

For eager junior executive Frisby, the words are almost too good to be true. He has heard about the tax-free living in the cosmopolitan European economy. Geneva's elegant resort atmosphere with swans paddling in the Rhone.

So Frisby packs his family and himself off for Switzerland to join the expanding American colony there.

Unfortunately for the mystical Frisby and the 7,600 American citizens and around Geneva, all is not golden in paradise. An increasing number of U.S. firms are setting up offices in this centrally located European city. But with the advantages they discover, come headaches.

An executive of Chrysler International, which employs 60 Americans in its Geneva world headquarters, said that a firm's biggest problem is women—wives of their employees.

U.S. companies have found that their personnel troubles are sharpened overseas. As one executive described it: "It's a man drank a little too much or chased women in the states, the problem is increased here."

Town Would Shoulder Costs Of Refacing Community Y

One of the "hidden" costs involved in the North End urban renewal project—an expense which will not be covered by renewal funds but must instead be paid by the town—is a proposed expenditure of about $20,000 for changes to the Community Y on N. Main St.

There is no firm commitment from the town to spend this amount, no allocation in any fund; rather, the town has a "gentlemen's agreement" with the Y directors to pay for what-ever improvements the Y building needs because of the renewal project.

The renewal plan calls for the realignment of N. Main St. east of the renewal area from its present location south of the Y to a new location north of the Y, to lie in with the new road plan within the renewal area itself.

Although the relocation of the road—including that section outside of the renewal area—is to be paid from the renewal funds, federal restrictions prevent the Y remodeling costs from being included as well.

Yet the Y building, which now faces south, must somehow be reoriented to face north—to be paid from the renewal funds. Federal restrictions prevent the Y remodeling costs from being included as well.

Since the Y runs on a very restricted budget, the town agreed informally to provide a new front on the Y building, and to rearrange the Y parking lot and resurface the grounds. The agreement was reached after discussion among renewal officials, Community Y and town directors late last summer.

Darwin Convicted Of Murdering Girl control or thought implanting process.

Another important witness for both the state and defense was State Police Sgt. Samuel L. Latta, who testified that Darwin was not in the room longer than any other witness in the trial.

Latta denied that Darwin was held incommunicado during the December weekend, a confession could be obtained. But he could give no explanation why over 20 telephone calls made by defense attorneys during the weekend did not reach him.

The officers who headed all three months of investigation into the murder, said Darwin was not continually interrogated during the weekend. He said the defendant was questioned or participated in conversation with investigators at one point. He said he believed Darwin got a "kick" out of the weekend. He denied that the defendant was inculcated or abused during the three days he was in custody.

The defense closed its case Monday afternoon with a dozen character witnesses to the stand.

The state rebuttal lasted for only a few hours. The state called Dr. George A. Tinsley, Hartford psychiatrist who said Darwin was not in custody at the time of the murder. He said Darwin was not in custody at the time of the murder. He said Darwin was not in custody at the time of the murder.

Bias in Housing Found Near 90% Of Service Posts

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Pentagon-ordered survey shows there was housing discrimination against Negro servicemen near 90 percent of the military bases in the United States, it was disclosed today.

Alfred H. Pitt, deputy assistant secretary of Defense Civil Rights, told the Associated Press that housing is "the most unyielding" of the various forms of racial bias facing Negroes in uniform.

This discrimination, Pitt said, is most acute in the South. Only 31 of 300 bases studied were given a "B" rating, the best possible, for housing.

The Pentagon's civil rights chief indicated that by the process of negotiation and conciliation, base commanders have made progress in easing discrimination against Negroes. He said that the military is "not a lawbreaker" and that the military is "not a lawbreaker."

Oppose Dodd Bill

HARTFORD (AP)—A second session of the Connecticut State Senate Tuesday night voted to oppose the re-nomination of U. S. Sen. Thomas Dodd.

The unanimous action of the Senate was taken after a one-night session Tuesday night. Both are predominantly Republican towns.

A resolution adopted Tuesday night puts the town's voting party members on record as opposing Dodd's re-nomination. The resolution was passed by a vote of 10-0.

The chief witness for the defense was Darwin himself. He testified some two hours during examination by Atty. Gen. and was cross-examined for more than five hours by the state.

As he did at the hearing, Darwin broke into tears many times during his testimony. Once, his loud sobbing could be heard throughout the courtroom. He struggled with tears whenever he mentioned his children.

Darwin insisted that the confession was false and that he could see his lawyers and family. "As God is my witness," he said, "I did not kill Hope Robinson."

Darwin said he passed two cars parked side by side on Reservoir Road the night he said he saw what appeared to be a white car with a license plate that had inside one of the cars.

One of the defense's most important witnesses, Dr. Robert Doherty of Hartford, said he believed Darwin's "will was influenced" while he was held incommunicado during the December weekend. He said he was held incommunicado during the December weekend. He said he was held incommunicado during the December weekend.

Myrtle St. Zone Changed

The town planning commission (TPC) last night unanimously approved in part a request for property on the south side of Myrtle St. and adjacent streets to be rezoned from residential to business.

The request for the zone change was made by one Myrtle St. property owner, Dr. Fred Spaulding, but was supported by the TPC to include all the Residence Zone A tract on the Myrtle-Linden-Locust Main St. block that is not already in business zones.

The change would permit property holders in the area to build a business. The change would also permit the construction of a business building on the Myrtle-Linden-Locust Main St. block that is not already in business zones.

Interest Rate Boost Likely

By SAM HANSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—A rise in interest rates seems likely this year in spite of the notable growth in savings which has pumped funds into the investment market.

The cost of borrowing has been going up in Europe and Japan, largely because increasing property there has increased the demand for loans from both countries and business. Also, wages and prices have gone up, and higher interest charges are a prime government weapon in fighting inflation.

A like rise in U.S. property is widely anticipated as the federal tax cut effects spread through the economy.

In several industries union leaders are stressing that this year's wage demands will be stronger than last. Prices are still holding on most consumer goods, but are rising for some primary commodities and industrial materials.

Housing starts have been unusually strong this winter, suggesting perhaps a real boom is ahead. If so, the demand for mortgage money may eat into the abundance of funds available.

Inflation hasn't been a force here for several years. Partly this was due to surplus productive capacity of industries, with attendant competition from domestic rivals, along with increasing competition from imports of foreign products.

Business expansion, therefore, has been moderate. Also, much of it has been financed from the internal funds of corporations—earnings from generally rising sales, and cash savings from reduced depreciation rates that lowered corporate income tax payments.

Now business is signaling a pickup in spending for new plants and equipment. The increase is strong. If still short of spectacular.

But economic growth already had been slowing closing the gap between production and capacity. So this deterrent to inflation is weakening. And if the federal budget leads to enough pickup in consumer and business spending to put a real fire under corporate plans for expansion, the need for borrowing will be less strong.

The rising interest rates already will tend to keep any foreign investment money at home. It might even attract some idle American dollars, in the period ahead. In fact it thus tightening the domestic money market. Federal, state and local government borrowing seems more likely to increase this year, still further swelling demand for funds.

All this leads the economic department of the Banker's Reserve, member bank reserve positions and a slightly smaller expansion of bank credit in 1964.

Still, the bank looks for a $1.5-billion growth in bank credit this year. But this would be $4 billion less than in the two previous years, although economic growth this year is expected to be considerably larger than in 1963 or 1962.

For you, as a borrower, the bank sees adequate funds available for worthy loans. But with credit a bit tighter, the cost of borrowing could be stiffer.

Soviet Aides Inhabit Cuba Shore Hotels

Editor's note—How Cuba looks to a European visitor is reported in this dispatch from one of a group of West German tourists who spent three weeks on the island. The writer is a feature editor in the Frankfurt bureau of The Associated Press.

By PETER HILLENBRUCH
HAVANA (AP)—A cool north-west wind sweeps a copy of the Moscow newspaper Izvestia under the feet of the few tourists on Cuba's famous Varadero Beach.

The heavy, choking odor of Russian tobacco hangs over leather chairs in the lobby of the Hotel Varadero International. Through the swaying palms on a starlit March night, a huge red star blinks on the hotel roof.

On the eastern outskirts of Havana—in their own "ghetto" skyscraper—live Russian and East European technicians, engineers and experts.

These are symbols of Soviet influence in Cuba. There are others—Communist trucks and buses, an occasional Soviet-made patrol boat equipped with rockets along the northern coast, Cuban soldiers and militiamen with East bloc weapons.

There is no doubt of the growing Communist influence. But Cuba does not give the same police state impression as, say, Communist East Berlin.

To a German, accustomed to military order and perfection, what military atmosphere exists in Cuba strikes one like a comic opera. It is all so casual. It all seems a bit sloppy, a trifle unreal.

But the Soviet influence is real enough. You can see it clearly in Havana harbor. There are freighters from the Soviet Union and East Germany unloading crates and cases. There are rows of buses from Hungary and steam shovels, tractors and bulldozers from other East bloc countries. There are military trucks on the dockside, guarded by soldiers and militiamen.

Cuban troops are not much in evidence in Havana. It is said they live in tent cities on the outskirts.

Members of the militia stand before public buildings, the gates of factories and even in front of apartment buildings. Many of them are women, who devote four hours a week to guard duty and rifle practice. They explain: "we stand here to prevent sabotage by counter-revolutionaries."

West Europeans who live here say there is something else to it. "It's a sort of occupational therapy," said one, "to build up the Cuban's self-confidence."

Behind all these visible signs, however, are the Russian and East bloc experts. They dominate Havana's once fashionable hotels and Cuba's nearby desert of beaches.

Cubans gave us friendly nods as we strolled in the streets. In Havana, the Russians have an exhibition room. There were Russian automobiles, motorcycles, and tools on show. When ever we passed, the hall was simply except for a girl and a man. They were armed militia.

Possibly the hall was empty because ownership of an automobile still is an impossible dream for the average Cuban.

He's Center Church Minister-at-Large

"I feel like a member of the Peace Corps operating in Hartford." That is the way the Rev. Herbert Smith describes his present job. He was hired last November by Center Congregational Church, Manchester, to work as a minister-at-large among the people of Hartford's North End. His work involves visiting contacts and meeting people with problems, or using his judgment to refer problems elsewhere, when he sees warrants.

The Christian Activities Council of Hartford, a group within the Congregational church, is mainly interested in getting churches in the suburbs to assist with problems of organization, according to the Rev. Joseph Zezo, director of the council.

Employing the Rev. Mr. Smith to work and among the people of the North End is one of the ways the council seeks to involve Congregational churches in the Greater Hartford area in the raising of money wherever or whatever those needs may be.

An resident-tenant adviser of Har Mall Homes, 190 East St., he is taking an active and progressive position in the tenancy housing project. Along with his wife, three children, one daughter, the Rev. Mr. Smith has organized the 44 families into an active tenant relation group. The group has three goals:

(1) To coordinate the landlord-tenant total attack on the problem of sanitation and personal responsibilities; (2) promote understanding between tenant and landlord through common aims; (3) bring a total awareness to tenants as regarding their individual and social welfare as it affects the community in which he lives.

Butt two years ago, the project where the Smiths live had begun to languish when they moved in. Now, since the tenants have been organized and have become aware of their surroundings, things have been spruced up.

The Rev. Mr. Smith, in his job as liaison man between tenant and landlord, has been instrumental in benefiting both parties. When the owners of the building, through Smith's intervention, fixed it up, the tenants, with their own pride in their homes, made sure that they did their parts to keep it in spic-and-span condition.

As minister-at-large, the Rev. Mr. Smith says, "I feel it my responsibility and duty to serve men, women and children who are in need of a personal service which has been denied them, either by choice, or by circumstances. I am endeavoring to center my program in the Christian faith, and share that faith by helping people to develop in themselves a sense of personal worth, belonging, and responsibility. I seek to awaken this small community of 46 families, plus the opportunity and obligation of sharing equally all the benefits, warmth and friendship of what Smith calls a "spiritual family."

A native of Hartford, the Rev. Mr. Smith was educated in public schools in that community. He graduated from West or High School in 1950, and studied at the Berea School of Accounting and Finance, Boston, Mass. After completion of 1 1/2 years of study, he went into the U.S. Army for a two-year tour of duty, including Alaska, and the latter part of his service was spent in the medical corps in Korea.

On returning to civilian life, he studied at Hillier College, majoring in philosophy, and is planning to enter the University of Hartford full-time in September.

He was ordained in the Baptist ministry in 1962 and is currently serving as pastor of the Third Baptist Church, Suffield, where he has been for more than two years.

As a member of the staff of Center Congregational Church in Manchester, the Rev. Mr. Smith exchanged pulpits with the Rev. Clifford O. Simpson, pastor, one Sunday last month. Working under the direction of the Rev. Mr. Zezo, he is guided in his further studies by Dr. Fred Aiken of the Hartford Theological Foundation. His work is without precedent, as he is working out from scratch in his approach to the problems that confront him each day.

"Mundane things, such as donating garbage placement, and collections with his neighbors, are part of his daily routine: He keeps a vital contact with not only the tenants in the project, but members of the area, and often makes referrals for them to the Blue Hill Church or to the Family Services. The former is for alcoholism, and the second, a non-sectarian agency which offers the people of Greater Hartford help in working out personal and family problems, and where the aged, young couples and the handicapped may seek help for personal, financial, domestic and other needs.

The Rev. Mr. Smith has also made several personal contacts with the State Health Department, the Salvation Army, and as active in the Inter-denominational Ministerial Alliance of Greater Hartford, an organization of North End ministers attempting to further the good in a tangible way. He is now busy organizing leadership courses for teen-agers and young adults from the North End.

Present plans are also in progress for setting up bi-weekly or monthly community con-rial Center, Westland St., Hartford. Such conferences will seek to bring the social responsibilities of the city into direct contact with the churches, ministers and community at large. The program will feature a particular agency program or endeavor, and a speaker from the source.

Supporting the tenants of Har Mall Homes to community organizations, a neighborhood events and helping them to be a guaranteed audience plus a full social hour.

Supporting the tenants of Har Mall Homes to community organizations, a neighborhood events and helping them to be a guaranteed audience plus a full social hour.

In an article written by the Rev. Mr. Simpson in last month's edition of "The Center," the church publication, he said, "Perhaps the most outstanding and significant work on our relations that our church is doing is to support the work of the Rev. Mr. Smith in the North End of Hartford."

The Rev. Mr. Zezo says, "When a church takes an interest in the problems of the city, and takes action to prove that interest, the results are beneficial for the church as well as the community. Growth through its personal involvement with the lives and problems of others. Furthermore, he said, through such channel through which the love service the church can help to fulfill itself as a church, as a human need."

Another phase of the proposed for the family. The family in need had a Merry Christmas that was both unexpected and welcome.

Designer Cites Care of Plant

The firm that designed Manchester's sewage treatment plant at Olcott St. has complimented the town on the plant's maintenance.

In a letter to General Manager Richard Martin, C. A. Knapp of the engineering firm of Metcalf & Eddy calls the sewage treatment unit "an exceptionally clean and well maintained plant. It is an example of excellent operation."

"We are particularly grateful whenever a plant of our design receives such excellent care, as it makes such a good impression on visitors."

Knapp says that a picture of the Manchester plant is included in the firm's advertising brochure.

Knapp visited the town on March 13, when he was shown through the sewage treatment plant by Herbert Pratt, the plant's superintendent.

The firm's representative reported in the March 21 paper that Manchester would send a representative to an upcoming United States Conference on Sewerage and Sanitation.

NEWLYWED RECORDED: HUSBAND: The Manchester resident who is attending the conference, Raymond V. Lavery, which begins Monday, is not employed by the town but by the Metropolitan District Commission, at their Hartford plant.

NEWLYWED RECORDED: WIFE: A newspaper clipping and a Bible verse got a newlywed couple from a week's jury duty Tuesday.

Clyde Nathan Williams approached Judge Arnold Krilich, and handed him two pieces of paper.

One was a news clipping telling of his marriage to Miss Glenda Coxe March 7.

"On the other piece of paper, verse of the 24th chapter of Deuteronomy: 'When a man hath taken a wife, he shall not go out to war, neither shall he be engaged with any business: but he shall be free at home one year, and shall cheer up his wife which he hath taken.'"

The judge checked the passage in a Bible he keeps on his desk and sent Williams home.

By ROBERT HERBELLEZ — He has promised to go after PANAMA (AP)—Five years ago Candido Armas was welcomed as the one millionth child born in Panama. He came to town the other day with his father Pedro, who was unemployed and looking for help. Nothing had come out of the pledges of lavish gifts—among them, 50 acres of government land—that attended the birth of 1963.

"All he's got after all these promises is a very bad cold," said the 30-year-old father.

The story of the plight of the millionth child received scant attention in Panama's newspapers, probably because it was the season for colds—and also the season for promises, for this is election year.

Military news to Panamanians anyhow.

Gilbert Armas, a candidate for the vice-presidency, says four out of every five Panamanians are living in a state of poverty, a campaign speech. Armas warned of a violent upheaval unless there is a more equitable distribution of the national wealth.

Armas' remarks were prominently displayed in the press. His family owns four of the eight daily newspapers in Panama City.

But his statement wasn't new to less privileged Panamanians. They've heard the same tune, if not exactly the same lyrics, before, usually at election time. It's difficult to find people who believe their political leaders can change the established order.

But Panama's unemployed and underemployed thousands eagerly look forward to elections every four years because the voting man government jobs may be available.

"It's like the lottery," said a veteran reporter on the Armas payroll. "One keeps on playing it with the small hope something will come out of it."

As in the lottery, there's plenty of chances for the 400,000 or so Panamanians. In the May elections for president and Chamber of Deputies and municipal councilmen, there are 2,300 candidates for 42 deputy seats. There are 19 parties with little politically to distinguish one from the other. Some Panamanians scornfully refer to them as "employment agencies."

This year's voting gets extra attention because of the controversial personality of Dr. Arnulfo Arias, the front-runner among six candidates for the presidency.

He is the younger brother of the man regarded as the greatest statesman in Panama's history, the late ex-President (1932-38) Dr. Arnulfo Arias Sr. The younger Arias was ousted from the presidency twice, in 1944 and 1961, but his following borders on fanaticism.

"Because he is the man," is the usual explanation. If one is strict on a more specific reason, the answer either is the quizzical frown reserved for ignorant tourists or simply: "Mrs. M. W. cause he'll change everything."

This worries many landowners. Uncomfortably they recall how Arnulfo tossed out the constitution in 1933 because it seemed to interfere with his governing.

Polly's Pointers

By POLLY CRAMER — Newspaper Editor, Essex Assn.

DEAR POLLY — My grand children are ages 15, 12 and 10. Each, each morning a topic is decided upon that will be the subject discussed at the dinner table that evening. Every day I tell them to "bone up" on the subject. It provides interesting dinner conversation and the kids learn about current events in a painless way.

GIRLS — A young woman who lived near the Kennedy family when she was young told me that our late President and his brothers and sisters were always expected to come to the dinner table well versed in some topic of the day so they could intelligently discuss it with other members of the family. Good news should certainly come from such training as Mrs. X.

G. G. suggests, who knows, maybe that's the way to go.

DEAR POLLY — Do not throw away old powder puffs. Open them up, take out the stuffing and use them as "employment agencies." Sew up the seams, use puff in the hair for hard to clean spots such as knees and elbows.

H. H.

DEAR POLLY — When wrapping a gift, I often do not have a gift card that matches the paper. So I cut a piece of the gift wrapping paper to about 3 to 5 inches and fold it. This serves as a gift card and offers plenty of room inside for a written message.

Also, mothers of small children will find it more practical to use "pop-it" beads since these will only come apart and not scatter all over the floor and they have to be re-stringed. Little ones always seem fascinated by them. Mrs. M. W. cause he'll change everything."

DEAR POLLY — Recently it was necessary for me to spend several days in the hospital with a sick relative. I needed to make frequent calls home to check on things. A friend

Circus to Play 48 Days in NYC

By JOHN MORGANTHALER — NEW YORK (AP)—A smiling young man tossed eight smart-tie tigers. A beautiful blonde girl did 100 body flips hanging by one arm. Hamball crossed the Alps with 30 girls in short leotards togas and red-plumed hats.

It was the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus' opening a 48-day stand in Madison Square Garden Tuesday night.

The crowd, which little more than half filled the 15,000-seat hall, consisted mostly of adults, some in evening dress.

For most of three hours all three rings were busy with clowns, acrobats, aerialists or "superspectacles."

But for tiger tamer Charly Baumann, a one-time German movie actor, the spotlight converged on his circular cage in the center ring and his eight big tigers.

Without any protection from the boxes, he put them through their paces, moving the furniture, blowing the hair out of the tiger's mouth, and frequently grabbed him by the neck as he paced and licked his head affectionately.

Two crowd pleasers were La Toria, who did the body flips in the air; Chrystine Holt, who juggled three dumbbells while hanging by her hair from a rope that lifted her to the ceiling; and the Great Dovel, who skipped rope on a high wire.

Midgets were fired from cannons, a clown removed an audience member's hat with a handkerchief, the Irish jig ballet, in a tub, and the American flag march—all on their high legs in time to solid band music.

Carnegie walked on their knees, jumped and handstands on his knees, swinging trapezes in place in the country.

Senate Also Seeks Knowledge of Liston's Underworld Ties

Ring Probe Turns to Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators turn today to learning whether Liston's underworld ties, as explained in a report by the former heavyweight champion, are as extensive as he apparently got nothing in return.

The stock in Inter-Continental Promotions, Inc., brought them $100,000 in dividends from Liston's title fight last month with Cassius Clay and may be more valuable in the future.

The adviser, Jack Nixon, also is expected to be asked about his contract with Liston, which gave him the manager's 50 per cent share of the purse while Liston already had another manager.

Nixon and his brother, Bob, were scheduled to testify at the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee hearing on the circumstances surrounding the fight's Feb. 25 victory over Liston, a controversial technical knockout.

The subcommittee headed by Sen. Philip Hart, D-Mich., seeks to determine whether professional boxing is a racket. It is believed that Liston's underworld ties, as explained in a report by the former heavyweight champion, are as extensive as he apparently got nothing in return.

Another phase of the hearing is aimed at learning whether Liston's underworld ties, as explained in a report by the former heavyweight champion, are as extensive as he apparently got nothing in return.

76ers Tie Royals — Home Court Edge Paying Off Again

NEW YORK (AP)—Home is still sweet in the National Basketball Association. If you don't believe it, ask the Philadelphia 76ers, or the Cincinnati Royals.

Last Sunday, the 76ers and Royals opened the Eastern semifinals NBA playoff series in Cincinnati with the home court advantage, the 76ers rapped the Royals 109-104.

Last night, the scene shifted to Philadelphia and with the home court advantage, the 76ers rapped the Royals 109-104.

Toronto Favored To Capture Cup

TORONTO (AP)—Odds-makers in this hockey stronghold have installed the National League champion Toronto as 8-5 betting favorites to end Toronto's two-year Stanley Cup reign.

The defending champion Maple Leafs, third in the regular season standings, are the best-of-seven-games semi-final playoff opponent of the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Today's Team—
Washington Senators

POMPANO BEACH, Fla.—Long associated with winning teams as a member of the Brooklyn, then the Los Angeles Dodgers, Gil Hodges now knows the Grapefruit League. Hodges succeeded Mickey Vernon, now with Pittsburgh as a coach, last May when the Senators were deep in the second division. Hodges did little better, finishing 193 as a 48-145 behind New York and 14-14 behind the Senators.

'Colorful' Park Will Be Ready

Half Dozen Red Sox Over .300 Batting Mark

NEW YORK (AP)—There's snow in the dugout and center field is a swamp, but the new home of the New York Mets is going to be ready for the baseball season.

"We'll be ready. The parking lot, the seating, the restrooms, the drinking fountains, the playing field—all ready by April 17," said Rich Fraeger, a partner in the engineering and architectural firm that designed Shea Stadium.

Half-Dozen Records Set by Rams' Putz

Setting a half dozen all-time Rockville High records, Al Putz showed why he was chosen for all-conference and all-state honors during the past scholastic basketball season.

The blond basketball ace scored 424 points during the year for the Rams, one of the marks he established. Others were most points in one game, 38; most free throws in a season, 92; best foul shooting percentage, 85; most field goals in one season, 181; and most field goals in one game, 16.

Casey Draws First Blood Against Yogi

PORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—"Give him time! All he needs is a little experience." Casey Stengel's eyes twinkled as he marked former student Yogi Berra's first home run in the Yankees' New York Mets outburst against the Boston Red Sox.

Strikeout King Nicholson Off to Fast Spring Start

NEW YORK (AP)—Six years ago major league scouts, "check books wide open," flocked to Dave Nicholson for his signature.

Last season a major league pitcher, months waterlogged, scoured the mound for his next strikeout.
