Distance Stimulates Conscience

We met indeed up in who's having what season when, but students in Sydney, Australia, are behaving as if they were having spring.

Spring or fall, it must be an intoxicating season. For what the students of Sydney were rioting about the other day was, believe it or not, the existence of racial prejudice in the United States. They carried signs reading "Civil Rights Now" and "No More Little Rock."

This was really something.

There are a few aborigines out in the bush.

But people from outside Australia have to have skins that are white if they want to get into the country for anything more than a business trip. Lately, there has been some relaxation of the immigration bars in order to permit some Asians to attend universities in Australia.

But the Australians tell themselves, their immigration laws are not laws of racial discrimination, or segregation.

They are merely laws intended to preserve the present racial homogeneity of the nation.

Nobody in this country had better start talking to the Australians, or demonstrating in the streets for more civil rights progress there. We have problems, troubles, and obligations of our own. Like pasture and school racial issues are more appetizing if they are over the fence.

'I Find Myself Unable'
To the Editor:

The small amount of regard which both the Republican and Democratic members of the Board of Directors of the Town of Manchester have for the people of the North End, was exceedingly well expressed on the night of April 22, when every one of the eight members who attended the public hearing which was held on that date, five of the six Democratic majority members, and the three Republican minority members, voted in opposition to putting the North End Urban Renewal Program on at an annual referendum ballot, along with the Robertson School question and the Charter revision question.

It appears that both the Republican and Democratic members of the Board are determined to force North End renewal upon us whether we like it or not, and that they are carrying out this policy with a vengeance, and whether or not those who will be hurt will be able to do anything to stop them.

I find I am pleased about the fact that the question of North End renewal was not left in the hands of the Board of Directors of the North End, but that it was referred to the Board of Directors of the Town of Manchester, and that the Board of Directors of the Town of Manchester is now in a position to do something about it.

I am sure that the Board of Directors of the Town of Manchester is now in a position to do something about it.

Events In Nation

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

FBI CHIEF: President Johnson has appointed FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover from compulsory retirement when he turns 70 next January.

At a ceremony in the White House, Hoover gave Friday morning the 40th anniversary of his FBI chief. Johnson announced he had signed an executive order allowing Hoover to remain on the job "for an indefinite period of time."

"I know you must realize," Hoover told Hoover, "and I know you wouldn't break the law. But the nation cannot afford to lose you."

Hoover said Johnson's order was "a very commendable act of respect that could have happened at any time."

SENATE: The Senate Rules Committee discussed briefly Friday whether to recommend that Bobby Baker be cited for contempt of Congress, but took no action.

Baker resigned in October as secretary of the Senate Finance Committee after allegations of conflict of interest. He was accused of funneling money to himself and to his family through a company he controlled.

RAILROADS: Union leaders sought a court order Friday to stop the nation's railroad unions from striking over a federal arbitration ruling.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge Alexander M. Peckham granted the order on the request of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen. He also will hear arguments on the unions' appeal of the arbitration ruling.

The ruling went into effect Thursday and is expected to keep the unions from striking for at least two weeks.

The National Labor Relations Board has tentatively denied a new passport to William W. Palfrey, a Negro newspaper editor, on grounds he visited Red China and Hungary in 1957-58.

He held his passport after a 41-day hearing in which the Communist Party and the New York Times argued he was a security risk.

Worthy applied for a new passport April 18. In his application he said he would probably go to Africa, Europe and Asia "to see and report the news."

Gems (AP)—Flashing what appeared to be an official badge, a gunman and two companions gained entrance to the office of a diamond arm Friday and fled with $200,000 in uncut gems.

Sneaked off, a partner in Hartford, Conn., Friday, was arrested on the seventh-floor office and showed what appeared to be a diamond arm.

The man produced a gun and called to two accomplices who scooped up the gems and put them in an attache case, Hoffert said.

Events In World

LONDON (AP)—After a substantial victory in City Council elections, Labor's chances of winning control of the British government in the October general elections appear better than ever.

Results of Friday's national-wide voting showed Harold Wilson's Labor party won 2,675 of the 5,200 council seats at stake. Conservatives won 1,875 and Liberals 146. The rest went independent, with the Communists getting a small share.

The leading where the explosion occurred Friday was use of Japanese army headquarters during the World War II era. The arrangement was made by U.S. Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, supreme Allied commander for Europe.

LONDON (AP)—Peta has been named by the British government as an industrial civil servant at an annual salary of £38,400.

Peta succeeds Peter, who died last month after holding the position in the Home Office for 14 years.

Peta is a cat, imported for the job by the British government. The arrangement was made by U.S. Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, supreme Allied commander for Europe.

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet defense minister celebrated today the 10th anniversary of the defeat of Nazi Germany with charges against West Germany.

He was accompanied by Nasser aboard a special train to the tropical port of Cairo. The official welcome will take place in the capital.

Nasser has invited the Soviet leader to address two large outdoor rallies and the newly convened National Assembly in a busy schedule worked out for the next few days. The Awan ceremony began Wednesday.

Khrushchev and Nasser drove through downtown Alexandria in a parade. Khrushchev is expected to make a major propaganda offensive for the Soviet bloc in the city.

The School Spending Cycle

In those areas where the conflict over spending for school purposes is always sharp and most acute—the communities where school boards exist on separate budgets—their own rights to spend money for their own schools are being eroded.

Last year, in the voting on school budgets in the Long Island and Westchester counties, the school boards were authorized to spend only for the barest necessities.

Now, in the school budget voting, the number of instances in which the voters turned down school budgets dropped to 10.

One may look at these statistics and be surprised that the school boards would be so restricted. The fact is that the school boards are being eroded by the voters.

Another way of looking at it would be to say that school boards have been losing their right to spend money for their own schools.

It is a good thing to have the controversy between school systems and taxpayers begin to die down.

It is a good thing to have the controversy die down on some mellow and sensible recognition that the school boards are being eroded by the voters.

Meaninglessness As Art

Pope Paul VI, in a little sermon delivered the other day after the Mass in the Sistine Chapel, made what seems to us a proposal for a relatively even exchange of courtesies between his Church and the artist.

From art, speaking as a churchman, he suggested that perhaps there is an occasional piece of intelligibility.

"Sometimes," he said, "the artist, Paul VI said to artists, 'the fundamental law of your consecration to expression; one does not know what you are saying, often even you do not know it.'"

When that happens, he said, it leaves the rest of us "surprised, intimidated and detached."

Pope Paul also wanted something a little different from the Church too. The Church, he confessed, "had been guilty of trying to put restrictions, 'a cloak of lead,' on artists 'who are creative, lively, spontaneous, generous of ideas, thousands of new things.'"

The Church, he confessed, has been at fault by saying things to the artist like "We have this style; you must conform to it. We have this tradition; you must be faithful to it. We have these rules, and there is no way around them."

Finally, Pope Paul regretted the fact that the Church, in these modern days, has seemed able to devote either money or taste to religious art itself and had gone "through byways where art and beauty and the worship of God—the worse for us—have been badly served."

In all this, the Pope admitted much that the Church might do, in its relation to the world of creative art.

But what he sought in return—that creative art make some effort to be comprehensible, at least to itself—seemed reasonable.

For the most barren and stultifying of all rules, all possible cloaks of lead, it seems to us, that occasional presence of the artist that meaningfulness itself is his form of meaning.

ZBA Hears Ansaldo Bid On May 18

A group of West Side residents, back from a court fight to prevent the construction of apartments at Summer and McKee Sts. face a rematch with developer Andrew Ansaldo when a new application for apartments for the same site is presented to the zoning board of appeals (ZBA) May 18.

Similar applications for the same property have been denied by the board in 1960 and 1961. Ansaldo won the ZBA's approval for an apartment development there in 1962, however, precipitating the court fight.

The area residents took their appeal to the Court of Common Pleas last year, where Judge John Spziale ruled that the ZBA had acted "arbitrarily" since there was no evidence that the 1962 application was substantially different from the previous two which had been denied.

Ansaldo appealed the lower court action to the State Supreme Court of Errors, where three of the five justices concurred with the lower court in overturning the ZBA decision—but for a different reason.

The Supreme Court objected that the site plan that Ansaldo had submitted in 1962 with his application technically violated the town's zoning regulations by including an existing house in the apartment layout, with too little accompanying land for the apartment buildings.

The Supreme Court decision was rendered in February. Last month Ansaldo came back to the ZBA to ask that an application for group dwellings (apartments) be reheard for the same site. Permission was granted, and the request for a special exception will be on the ZBA's May 18 agenda.

The new application differs from the 1962 request in one respect—the number of units in the two apartment buildings have been reduced from eight to seven, meeting the town's land requirements (at 4,000 square feet of land for each unit, 28,000 square feet).

Ansaldo's application states that the change in the plan, the reduction of its size by a single apartment unit, meets the objections of the Supreme Court—and thereby implies that, since the ZBA approved the application once, there is no reason that it should not do so again, since the court's complaint has been satisfied.

However, the Common Pleas Court had ruled against the 1962 ZBA action as well, but on the grounds that there was insufficient evidence of changed conditions to support the board's reversal of two earlier denials of approximately similar apartment requests for the same property. The Supreme Court noted the finding that "it is not... necessary to determine whether the reason for (the lower) court's conclusion was correct."

Since the lower court's action has neither been upheld or overturned, the question will be put to the zoning board again, whether the conditions surrounding the new application differ substantially from those affecting applications denied in 1960 and 1961.

The men chosen must be between the ages of 23 and 40, at least 5 feet 8 inches tall, in good physical condition, and with no police record.

TRAINING DENIED SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP)—The Costa Rican minister of public security, Fernando Golcoches, today denied statements by anti-Castro cubans in Miami that exile groups are training in Costa Rica for forays into Cuba.

"I've lost 75 pounds," Ives says, "since Dec. 1. And I hope to take off another 75 pounds, but slower—40 pounds more this year and the rest next year."

He won't say how much he weighed at his 1958 zenith—"It was a staggering figure"—but he was so large that his health was affected.

"I don't feel badly," he says, "but I simply couldn't do certain things. All I could do was sit and read. Now I can be active again. This morning, I walked three miles and it was wonderful."

Fortunately, as he grew larger and required larger clothes, he didn't throw away his old ones. And as he lost tonnage, he retrogressed through the closet until he reached the '48 outfits, which he now wears.

"The lapsels may be large," he says, "but the waistlines are smaller and that's what counts."

Happily, the problem of weight has never bothered his acting or his singing voice. There are 38 Ives albums, mostly on Decca, and the royalties come in handy when there's nothing else doing.

"I'm not a folk song purist," says Ives, the man who introduced million to the charms of the folk song. "I think it's fine if kids sing folk songs any way they feel like singing them. I have always thought that folk songs are constantly changing, anyway. And any attempt to sing them in a set fashion is wrong, I believe."

Even now that he is physically active again, Ives still reads more than the average person. "I'm ignorant, uneducated," he says, "and it bothers me. If I'd had other opportunities as a boy, I think I might have been something else. Sometimes

Law of TV Censorship Cecil Barker has promulgated a law, which shall henceforth be known as "Barker's First Law of Television Censorship." It holds that "censorship on television decreases as the rating of a television program increases."

This is a pretty cynical attitude, but Barker insists that it is valid. And he says that it has happened to him, in his capacity as producer (for seven years) of The Red Skelton Show.

"Our shows," he says, "has been accused of being earthy at times. And I must admit that we're capable of earthiness. We weren't seven years ago. You see, sponsors and networks figure that a high-rated show is making money for them, so they leave it alone. But if a show is doing poorly, they don't want to risk any complaints so they censor it very strictly. The censorship on television decreases as the rating of a television program increases."

This is Barker's last season with Skelton. He's been signed to develop three comedies for

Beatlemania Flourishing On 'Sullivan'

NEW YORK (AP)—The end of television's current "Beatle" infestation is not yet in sight. Ed Sullivan, whose CBS variety hour seems to be a wholesale importer of Liverpool singing groups these days, has signed "Jerry and the Face Makers" for a second appearance next Sunday and taped a third turn for use later on.

There is still another group to come over: "Billy J. Kramer and the Dakotas," which will appear on the show some time next month.

Elderly—i.e.: Over 21 years of age—television viewers who recently have received the impression that the Sunday night show was inundated with writhing rock and rollers may be comforted by a statement of entertainment philosophy by Robert Frecht, Sullivan's son-in-law who is the show's producer.

"In our minds, this British thing is something of a phenomenon which has been occurring in the past three or four months," he said. "They are extraordinarily attractive to the younger viewers and we felt we should go along with it."

Frecht said that it has always been the policy of the show to present singers and others whose record sales were at the top of popularity lists—which is where "The Beatles" and their British brethren are currently perched.

Jazz pianist Earl "Fatha" Hines appears on Channel 24's "Jazz Casual" Wednesday at 8:30 p.m., repeated Thursday at 9:30 p.m.

A television unit visits CBS-TV's "The Nurses" to film a show about nurses on Thursday from 10-11 p.m.

Harry Belafonte is a guest on NBC-TV's "Tonight Show" Monday, 11:15-1 a.m.

Movie Studios See Healthy TV Season

By BOB THOMAS HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The 1964-65 television season shapes up as a healthy one for the movie studios, which can scarcely survive on feature filming alone.

Television production helps absorb massive overhead costs and keep crews busy between pictures.

Fox, after dragging along with no series on the networks, has placed four full hours on next season's schedule.

One is a tried-and-true "Daniel Boone," which will put Fess Parker back in a coonskin cap. The others are based on old Fox movies—"Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea," "12 O'clock High" and "Peyton Place." The latter will be an innovation: Separate half-hours played on ABC Tuesday and Thursday nights.

Warner Bros. also is staging a comeback after being blanked last year, except for the short-run "77 Sunset Strip." The Burbank lot will return with two half-hour comedies, "No Time for Sergeants" and "Wendy and Me."

Revue, the television arm of the MCA-Universal-Decca combine, remains the giant in the field, scoring 12 shows against this season's nine. They range from "The Virginian" to the new "90 Bristol Court," which will consist of three consecutive half-hours concerning tenants of an apartment building.

MGM is holding strong with "Dr. Kildare" and "Mr. Novak" while adding "Solo," "Flipper" and "Many Happy Returns." Screen Gems, which is related to Columbia Pictures, also has a healthy schedule with repeaters "Hazel," "Donna Reed," "Farmer's Daughter" and "Flintstones," plus "Bewitched" and another cartoon show from the Hanna-

Barbara factory. "Johnny Quest."

United Artists operates the same in television as in feature: Financing but not producing. Its series for next season will be holdovers "The Fugitive," "Patty Duke" and "Outer Limits" with a new comedy half-hour, "Gilligan's Island."

Independent Death will have only one show next year—the one starring its president, Lucille Ball. Four Star will return with "Burke's Law" and add "The Rogues," starring the firm's cofounders, David Niven and Charles Boyer, plus Gig Young.

Bing Crosby shapes up as a rising independent. He'll have his own half-hour comedy, plus "Ben Casey" and "Slattery's People."

Danny Thomas is dropping his own weekly outing for six specials, but Danny and partner Sheldon Leonard will field the Dick Van Dyke, Bill Dana, Andy Griffith and Walter Brennan shows, and they also have interests in "My Favorite Martian" and Gomer Pyle, USMC."

WORK AND PLAY

NEW YORK (AP)—While Ray Walston is spending his vacation from "My Favorite Martian" starring in a motion picture as replacement for Peter Sellers, felled by a heart attack, co-star Bill Bixby is taking a TV holiday in the off-Broadway revival of "Under the Yum Yum Tree."

A series featuring college debating teams in action will begin on Channel 24 starting Wednesday at 9:30 p.m.

James A. Farmer, national director of CORE is interviewed tomorrow on NBC-TV's "Meet the Press" from 6-6:30 p.m.

Rush on TW3 Preventing A Steady Stream of Satire

NEW YORK (AP)—"Nobody ever said we'd have a 30 minute satire show every week," said Leland Hayward, almost angrily. "That Was the Week That Was" is simply a program that makes comments on what's going on in the world."

Hayward is executive producer and owner of the Friday night NBC show.

"I think that, all things considered, we're doing pretty well, although I'm never happy with it and am always trying to make it better," the producer continued. "But all satire—never."

"We're always in a rush," he said, "and much of the time we have to cut, rewrite, even add new material between the dress rehearsal and the time we're on the air. Occasionally, something that looked okay in the dress rehearsal bothers us when it goes on the air—that business about Eisenhower, for instance, should never have been in."

He referred to mimicking the ex-president in a way that affronted some viewers.

Hayward said that he is spending "just about all my time" on the show—much more than he planned—and currently is busy trying out new people. He worries most about the sketches, knowing that most of them cannot be honed to perfection in limited time.

Next season, the show will be moved to a Tuesday night berth in the network schedule.

"Tuesday night is a very big television night," Hayward said, also there will be many more people looking at the show. I think the potential of the show is limitless, particularly among the people outside the 10 or so big urban centers."

Stars on 'Missing Links' Revealing Hidden Talents

HOLLYWOOD — It was not by accident or coincidence that, on various occasions on a TV network audience participation show, the following happened.

Robert Goulet revealed that he had once been a cement mixer in Canada, and mixed a trough of cement to prove it.

Phyllis Diller revealed that she was a secret saxophonist, and played the pro.

Bobby Darin played the violin.

Carol Channing exhibited a canyas she had painted, and started on a side career as an exhibiting artist.

Raymond Massey revealed that he was a parttime cabinet maker, and showed a table of his construction.

Behind these and similar gems of revelation was persuasive ex-Cleveland, "talent coordinator" Leni Landorf, currently performing similar chores for ABC-TV's "Missing Links," presided over by Dick Clark Mondays through Fridays.

"Talent coordinator sounds pretty fancy and dull," the blonde bride of four months allowed. "You might define me as a celebrity corral-er." And that's precisely what she's been up to for the past five years—using tact, persistence, patience, and a great interest in people, to lure show business celebrities before the TV game show cameras and microphones.

She still recalls the quaking and trepidation that seized her at the thought of phoning her first prospect, Joan Crawford. "I was petrified. How do you speak to a screen goddess? I finally managed to make the call. She was charming and gracious — and she accepted. My first triumph!" Miss Landorf smiled in fond recollection. "Looking back, it's amazing how nervy you become in approaching people."

It wasn't only nerve that Miss Landorf developed. There were also more subtle qualities. "After a celebrity is booked," she explains, "it's necessary, gently and tactfully, to lead them down memory lane to find a significant incident or story to use on the air."

Nerve and gentleness and tact have made a well-traveled road between the greats of show business and the programs graced by Miss Landorf. But for her it has not all been a fun thing. There have been eruptions of temperament, which she sums up: "The most temperamental have been the least talented." And the most difficult part of her job is the frequent pile up of middlemen — agents, managers, personal representatives, press agents — that she must pass through before getting to the star she's seeking.

On this, a typical work day, Miss Landorf had made overtures to Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. for a "Missing Links" appearance, and while "sweating out" his answer, she recalled, as if leading through a cherished memory book, "that Bob Hope was most charming and gentlemanly and considerate; that the late Dick Powell, who had been built up to her as an unapproachable, preoccupied production tycoon, reacted beautifully on the phone, and was a dream to work with on the show;" that Roddy McDowall, whose hobby is photography, kept a promise, and photographed her engagement; that Boris Karloff and the late Peter Lorre, despite their usual roles, were the most gentle and charming of men." And, for some reason, her special delight was "when I discovered during rehearsals that Raymond Massey was a great giggler."

P.S. Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. capitulated to the telephone charms of Miss Landorf, as viewers of "Missing Links" are by now aware.

CBS for the season after next. But he'll still be busy, because Barker has discovered another career—writing.

"I always wake up at 5 a.m.," he says. "For years, I would spend a few hours reading or watching television. I finally figured that was a waste of time. Since I had always wanted to write, I decided to spend those hours writing a novel."

The result is a happy book called "The Olive Winked Back," based partly on Barker's World War II experiences as a producer of war documentaries. "Writing books," he says, "is wonderful. You have complete freedom of as near to complete freedom as is possible. It is a great feeling."

U.S. Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy and others appear on "After 10 Years—The Court and the Schools," a discussion of school desegregation on the 10th anniversary of the U.S. Supreme Court decision, Wednesday from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. on CBS-TV.

Jill St. John and Kathryn Crosby co-star with Bob Hope in the comedy "The House Next Door" on NBC-TV's "Chrysler Presents a Bob Hope Comedy Special" Friday from 8:30-9:30 p.m.

Arias Leads Panama Vote

PANAMA (AP) — Former President Arnulfo Arias took an expected slight lead today in fragmentary returns from Panama's presidential election. The tedious ballot counting may not produce the winner until Wednesday.

Early returns from Panama City precincts gave the 63-year-old American-educated surgeon a steady lead over the government coalition candidate, Marco A. Robles, 58.

The ultimate question is whether Arias will be permitted to take the presidency if he wins. He was elected president in 1940 and 1948. Each time he was ousted by a coup after serving less than three years.

Observers said Arias appeared to be getting the 60 per cent margin predicted for him in the capital province, where

NYC Workers Stir Union Racial Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — Merely by showing up for work four men have aroused the concern of the nation's multibillion-dollar construction industry and engaged the peace-making efforts of President Johnson.

The reason: One is a Negro and the other three are Puerto Ricans.

Caught in the middle is a perplexed plumbing contractor, Ralph Astrove. When his company won a $1.4-million dollar contract on the terminal, a New York commission advised him to give visible proof he was willing to hire without regard to race, color or creed.

The new civil rights tactic of putting the employer on the spot uses the Taft-Hartley law's provision upholding the employer's right to hire any qualified worker, with the question of union membership to follow.

6-Sided Oregon Race Holds Week's Top Political Billing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Oregon's Republican presidential primary election Friday holds the week's top political billing as a six-sided donnybrook.

With the Republican National Convention opening two months from Wednesday in San Francisco, an Associated Press survey now shows this lineup of first-ballot votes:

Dentists Sign Pre-Pay Plan

HARTFORD (AP) — Connecticut dentists today announced they had signed their first pre-payment group dental insurance contract.

Dr. Melvin N. Raskin, president of the Connecticut Dental Service Corporation (CDS) sponsored by the Connecticut State Dental Association, reported the 107 employees of the Chayes Dental Instrument Corp. of Danbury will be covered.

Launching of the plan, which will cover 50 per cent of charges for diagnostic and preventive dental services including x-rays, examination, cleaning of teeth, fillings, repairs and teeth removal—comes after a history of fits and starts dating back nearly two years.

Last spring it was reported that a CDS-Chayes contract was ready to be signed, then further negotiations were necessary.

The dental corporation, formed in 1962, mapped out an early pre-payment dental plan approved by the late State Insurance Commissioner Alfred N. Premo in July, 1962. Later, this was revised to the present plan.

Dr. Raskin said today: "For several years, many dentists in Connecticut have been working toward the development of a non-profit plan that will enable the people to obtain protection against the cost of dental expense. The enrollment of the Chayes Co. is a big step in the right direction."

The CDS, which has been closely studying the medical insurance coverage approaches used by Connecticut Blue Cross and Connecticut Medical Service, is now only offering group contracts.

Herbert Chayes, company president, commented that he feels pre-pay dental care "is in the near future to be accepted as an important part of the family's total health care package."

CDS officials weren't predicting how far or how fast sales of pre-pay dental care will go. In addition to the 50 per cent coverage plan, CDS offers a 25 per cent pre-pay plan. Dr. Raskin reported that 70 firms in Connecticut are now interested in the CDS Plan.

Dr. Raskin said membership in CDS is available to groups of 25 or more employees at the present time. The 50 per cent plan would cost $20.60 per em-

Aides Silent On Cause at Clark Field

MANILA (AP)—A U.S. military jet transport carrying personnel to Southeast Asia crashed and burned tonight at Clark Air Force Base north of Manila. A U.S. Air Force spokesman said 72 of the 83 persons aboard were killed.

Wreckage was strewn over a wide area of the base, a relay point for supplying U.S. forces in South Viet Nam.

The spokesman said there was a localized rain squall in the Clark area 60 miles north of Manila at the time but "there was plenty of visibility."

He said investigators at the scene gave no indication of the cause of the crash. He added that weather conditions at the base were not unusual for landings.

The transport, carrying 73 passengers and a crew of 10, broke up and burned less than a half mile from the runway, the spokesman said.

The injured were taken to a hospital.

The plane was operated by the Military Air Transport Service.

A spokesman for the U.S. 8th Air Force in Japan was told that the plane carried "military passengers." MATS policy is not to fly civilians, and it was believed that no dependents of military personnel were aboard.

The four-jet transport capable of carrying 120 persons crashed at about 7:15 p.m. Manila time, in a level, unobstructed area of

Nikita Backs Arab Protest Over Jordan

CAIRO (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev gave his support to the Arab world today in its opposition to diversion of the Jordan River waters by Israel.

Speaking to the United Arab Republic's one-party National Assembly, Khrushchev said Israel planned to "rob the Arab world of its own water."

Khrushchev called on Israel to reduce its present frontiers.

The assembly rose en masse in boisterous cheering at Khrushchev's new declaration of support for the Arabs.

The Israelis have announced that some time this summer they will begin diverting waters of the Jordan to irrigate the Negev Desert. The Arabs have threatened counter action to cut off the headwaters of the Jordan.

The 70-year-old premier also assailed British occupation of military bases in Cyprus and Aden. His government supports the "just and reasonable" demands of local populations for the evacuation of these and all other foreign bases, the Soviet leader said.

"The presence of foreign armies is the source of danger, tension and disputes between countries," Khrushchev added.

He denied that there was any contradiction between the Soviet Union's stated policy of seeking international understanding and its shipments of arms to foreign trouble spots.

"It is true that we give arms for the struggle against imperialism and for the sacred struggle of national liberation," he said. "Our armaments will always be available for peoples seeking self-determination."

The 360 members of the assembly cheered and applauded throughout the speech, which

Tape Says 'Shot' In Pacific Crash

"Shot," the one clear word from an airliner before it crashed, has top-level investigators probing for clues to the death of 44 aboard, one of them a passenger informant sources said carried a new insurance policy and a gun.

Twenty-five Civil Aeronautics Board officials sought to learn if the diving crash Thursday was caused by any physical incapacity of the crew.

A force of FBI men probed the possibility of crime aboard the plane.

Neither agency would comment while the investigation was under way. There were these developments:

1. The CAB played for newsmen a tape recording of a garbled radio transmission from the pilot's compartment of the Pacific Air Lines Flight PF77 moments before it plunged nose first into the green hills near here on a flight from Reno to San Francisco.
2. Washington sources said the FBI established that a revolver found in the wreckage had been fired six times. The sources said also the FBI had traced ownership of the .357 Smith & Wesson magnum revolver to Frank Gonzales, 27, of San Francisco, all expert at crewing a yacht as a pastime, a sometime waiter, and recently a warehouseman.
3. Gonzales, a member of the Philippine shooting team in the 1960 Olympics, had been living in San Francisco.
4. The San Francisco Examiner said in a copyright story it learned from friends of Gonzales, who called him "Kiko," that he told them a palm reader had predicted he would die "on Wednesday night or Thursday morning." He died Thursday morning.
5. "I thought Kiko was joking, of course," the newspaper quoted one of the friends. "After the crash we began to wonder."
6. The Examiner said it learned also that Gonzales had recently

Return Baby, Parents Ask

CHICAGO (AP)—"We thought the woman who took our baby might return and give him back to us for Mother's Day," a mourning Dora Fronczak said Sunday.

But Mother's Day came and went with Mrs. Fronczak, 25, still hoping for the return of her infant son kidnapped April 27.

The boy, Paul Joseph, was taken by a nurse from his mother's arms as she fed him in Michael Reese Hospital. The day-old infant was taken by a woman dressed as a nurse who said she must be returned to the nursery.

The abduction triggered a massive search in Chicago and the nation for the kidnaper. All that FBI agents and police have learned thus far is that the woman, believed familiar with hospital procedures, grabbed the infant, took a cab to a South-west Side district and disappeared.

Mrs. Fronczak and her husband, Chester, 33, a machinist, went to Mass Sunday and heard a priest ask the parishioners to pray for the return of their only child.

Viet Plotter Hurt In Escape Leap

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A Communist agent suspected of plotting to kill U.S. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara on his arrival Tuesday leaped from a window at police headquarters today, police said.

The agent, identified as Nguyen Van Trol, leaped from a second-floor window, landed on a jeep, suffered a broken leg and was hospitalized. Police said he was in a coma.

Trol was one of three suspected Communist Viet Cong agents picked up Saturday night as they tried to mine a bridge on the route McNamara will take from Saigon airport into the capital. U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge was expected to be riding with McNamara.

Several other Viet Cong suspects have been picked up. A quantity of high explosives has been unearthed since the arrest of the three, police sources said.

The Viet Cong agents confessed they planned to blow up the bridge. One of the agents was caught laying a wire under the bridge. He led police to the two other agents and a mine with an explosive charge hidden in an old kerosene can buried in the mudbank of the river.

U.S. officials did not say whether alternate plans had been made for McNamara's arrival.

Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, arrived without incident today to join with Mc-

NEW LAVA FLOW
CATANIA, Sicily (AP)—A new lava flow poured down the west slope of Mt. Etna today in a resumption of an eruption which started three days ago. Lava flow from the great central crater of Europe's tallest volcano had stopped Sunday after the stream of molten rock had flowed nearly five miles down the mountain to the outlying orchards of the 30,000-population town of Bronte. Explosions from the crater began again Sunday night and the new lava stream, over the earlier lava bed, was flowing at four to six feet a minute. The new flow still was about six miles from Bronte.

RIGHTS SPONSORS CHANGE STRATEGY
WASHINGTON (AP) — An abrupt change in strategy by supporters of the civil rights bill appeared obvious today as the marathon Senate controversy stretched into its 10th week and 32nd session.

The new battle plan is to pound out a compromise package — outside the Senate chamber and then try to pledge of members from both parties — a two-thirds majority — to stand solidly behind this on all votes.

This would be no easy accomplishment, but it would duplicate the strength Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and Republican Leader Everett
