North Korea Frees U.S. 'Copter Pilots

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP)—North Korean Communists today released two American helicopter pilots shot down last May, then charged that U.S. Communists had acknowledged a border violation on an espionage mission.

A United Nations Command spokesman confirmed delivery of a receipt for the prisoners, admitting they committed espionage. But he said that, in their admission "is, of course, meaningless."

Capt. Ben W. Stutta, 37, Florence, Ala., and Capt. W. Volz, 47, Frankfurt, Mich., the pilots, were flown to Seoul where doctors said they were in good condition.

"They were not re-arrested in the U.S. Army hospital here, but held as a parole violator in an unregulated charge."

The pilots, who quickly changed from drab cotton Communist uniforms into U.S. Army uniforms, were permitted to talk to newsmen.

The receipt was not permitted to be made public, U.S. Army spokesman Col. George Greer explained the advance receipt was not for the helicopter pilots committed espionage.

Representatives were prepared to sign and did not sign the receipt, but he said that U.S. Army spokesman Col. George Greer explained the advance receipt was not for the helicopter pilots committed espionage.

Such an admission is, of course, meaningless.

The pilots were in uniform and engaged in an espionage mission, specifically that of changing aircraft and their engines, and, therefore, clearly were not engaged in espionage.

The receipt is clear, the facts have not changed, and anybody who reads the true situation from the facts of the case.

Col. Han Joo-kyung, the Communist Korean secretary, said he also is appealing an eight-year jury sentencing conviction in Chattanooga, Tenn.—all of which costs money and keeps him from supervising the day-to-day affairs of the Teamsters. Hoffa and other officials have used to defend themselves in criminal trials.

The six rank-and-file Teamsters in the U.S. Dist. Court suit Friday, also asked that the court order the union treasury to be frozen until Hoffa is released from prison. Hoffa's attorneys have asked the court to order the union treasury to be frozen until Hoffa is released from prison.

Even as the suit was entered, Hoffa was sitting in a Chicago courtroom on trial on charges of conspiring to defraud the union in a $50 million loan scheme.

Teamsters general counsel, Edward Bennett Williams, agreed with the Philadelphia group that such expenditures are not in the best interests of the union.

Snider Hits, but New Yorkers Gain Revenge on Ex-Teammate Met Wins Streak Extended to Three

NEW YORK (AP)—"I hope Snider gets to play and I get to pitch. I'll show him what kind of an easy club we are."

Tracy Stallard, 26-year-old right-hander of the New York Mets, got his wish—he pitched to Snider.

But San Francisco's 37-year-old veteran didn't pinch hit and knocked in the Giants' first run in the fifth inning last night.

The Mets, however, all showed Snider and the Giants what kind of team they are. They won 6-5 in a game in which Stallard pitched his eighth straight win.

Stallard uttered his wish a month ago when the Mets pitcher, Snider, was pitching. Snider remarked that he had a terrible club and that he couldn't get inspired club any more.

Stallard quickly and bitterly came to his own defense. "I tried to win on my reputation," the Mets leader said.

The Mets were leading 2-0 in the fifth inning when Snider batted. Snider hit a double and tripled and Joe Pagan had walked. Snider hit Stallard's first pitch into right field, sending Snider to second base.

Stallard then got another more hits off Stallard, but the angry young Met had to leave the game after his innings because his arm stiffened in the clubhouse.

Manchester, Eagle Trackmen Defeated

It was the same in both cases yesterday, rival track teams did much poorer yesterday and both Manchester High and East Catholic went down to defeat. Platt trimmed the Indians, 77-45, in a CCLM meet at Memorial Field while powerful Paulist High of New Britain trounced the Eagles, 91-49.

Manchester's victory was a double triumph for Coach Tom Platt, who has been coaching the school's track team since he returned from a two-year stint in the U.S. Army. Platt's boys' team has won 100-100 something less than his most recent big success in 1962, when he won the state championship at the CCLM meet at the same place.

Birds' Walt Bunker Upstages Veteran

NEW YORK (AP)—When the windiest pitcher in Baltimore's 10-year American League tenure tosses a shutout before the home fans, collects two hits in three trips to the plate and still gets upstaged by a veteran of four major league appearances, he has to be kidding a lot.

Mike Piazza found out what it's like to follow fuzzy-checked Walt Bunker's act last night when the two right-handers pitched the Orioles to a doubleheader sweep over Los Angeles.

Piazza blanked the Angels on eight hits and plunked a single and run-scoring double in Baltimore's 12-10 nightcap victory. But he played second banana to Bunker's 6-4 fourth-inning masterpiece—the 18-year-old bonus bird—the first complete shutout since the owner's.

Piazza's shutout was one of four in A.L. activity. Chicago's John Bushardt blanked Washington, 2-0, on three hits; Milwaukee's...

Pratt & Whitney Aircraft workers, some 400 strong, have occupied a new building in South Windsor, designed for the development and manufacturing of fuel cell powerplants for future moon expeditions aboard the Apollo lunar spacecraft.

The building, located off Rt. 5 is being leased by United Aircraft's engine division and has 50,000 square feet including 15,000 square feet for office space. The remainder for manufacturing and testing. P&WA is also developing a space fuel cell system at its main plant and in the Orchard Building in East Hartford.

The manufacturing area includes six "clean" rooms — areas that are kept dust-free by filtering the air. Humidity in these areas is controlled.

Fuel cells are highly-efficient devices which convert chemical energy directly into electricity without smoke, fumes, noise or vibration. The fuel cell powerplants being developed for the lunar mission use hydrogen as fuel and oxygen as oxidizer. One system, for the Apollo command and service modules, will provide drinking water for the astronauts. Electricity produced by these systems will provide power for life-support equipment and electronic gear, including guidance and radar.

The fuel cell powerplants are being developed for North American Aviation's Space and Information Systems Division, principal contractor to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration for the command and service modules, and for Gruman Aircraft Engineering Corporation, principal contractor for the lunar excursion module.

David Brinkley on the newsboat

By JOAN CROSBY... elaborate planning in New York, but I'm not in on it. I just show up at the conventions, and on election night.

Brinkley doesn't feel that the public will reach the saturation point through the three networks' obsession with bringing every phase of pre-convention and pre-election happenings to television audience.

"The public tolerates an awful lot, mainly by not paying attention. They either care or don't care. They tune in one network over another mostly through habit.

"I'm Not a Celebrity" The last David Brinkley's Journal special of the season is scheduled for June. It's called "Election Year in an Average Town."

"I think it might be good. What I hope it will be is the anatomy of the average American small town. We got the town — Salem, N. J. — through the Gallup Poll. It's got a population of 9,000. It's below the Mason-Dixon Line so there's a Southern feeling to it. The people always vote for the winners, and they are completely average in racial percentages, religion, income and jobs."

David and a crew spent time in Salem, until he was spotted and had to get out of sight. Being recognized he says, is a serious handicap.

"When I get to the place where I want to do interviews and get a lot of genuine, natural reactions, I find I have to let someone else ask the questions. It's frustrating. We were trying to film in an old club where men shoot pool, or sit around and talk in an old-fashioned, Early American atmosphere. But when we started, everyone quit what he was doing and gathered around to watch. So I had to leave."

Brinkley is a modest man who thinks of himself only as a reporter. He becomes irritated when thought of as a celebrity. "I'm not a celebrity," he says. "Someone with glamor is a celebrity. An actor like Bing Crosby — now he's a celebrity."

ABC Takes A Look at Big Brother

"Big Brother Is Listening," an ABC News documentary about invasion of privacy in the United States, which will be televised Thursday from 10:30-11 p.m.

The special will examine evidence that we may be approaching the monolithic society envisioned by author George Orwell in his book "1984," a society ruled by an omniscient, omnipresent "Big Brother."

The program will detail how the average citizen's life is being laid bare — often without his knowledge — through investigation by both private detectives and government authorities; retail credit examinations; lie detector tests in connection with job applications, and closed circuit television in apartment houses and department stores.

Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas and Vance Packard, author of the best-seller "The Naked Society," will be interviewed by ABC News Commentator Howard K. Smith, anchorman, on the moral implications of the growing loss of privacy, and what can be done to check the trend.

Featured on the program will be the first film ever shot of the State Department's so-called "Chamber of Horrors," which includes a variety of items used by foreign agents to obtain diplomatic secrets from our government, including the celebrated seal of the United States, from the U.S. embassy in Moscow which then U.N. ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge told the U.N. had been found to have had a microphone planted in it.

The program will show how private citizens' telephones are tapped and rooms "bugged," and emphasize how easy it is for anyone to acquire the required equipment.

Fair Has All but TV Show Tickets

NEW YORK (AP)—The approaching months may be a great time to visit New York's World Fair, but it is a poor season for attending network television shows.

NBC, for instance, has no tickets at all available to visitors, and does not expect to be able to fill requests until after Labor Day. It's "Tonight Show," always very popular with visitors, has every audience seat booked through October.

CBS reports that it is overwhelmed with requests for free tickets and can make no guarantees at all about filling them. Persons may, however, write to the network asking for tickets and as far in advance as possible. It also suggests, trying to pick them up at its ticket distribution window—just in case any are available.

ABC says there is a big, constant demand for tickets to "The Price Is Right," but that it is telecast from a small theater with a limited number of seats.

In addition, ABC prefers its audiences to consist of young adults. Two other audience shows, "Missing Links" and "Get the Message," can accommodate more visitors in larger studios.

Persons wishing "Price" tickets are asked to write for them at least five weeks in advance. Two or three weeks will be safe for the other shows. Some tickets may also be distributed in New York hotels and motels.

Major problem is that visitors from all over the country are flooding into the city, many of them determined to see the making of a favorite show, at a time when all network television schedules consist primarily of re-runs.

Many of the game and panel shows, too, have been and are pre-taping batches of new programs for summer broadcast, both to give performers a vacation and also to free camera crews and equipment to cover the political conventions.

Connors and Krebiozen

NEW YORK (AP)—Chuck Connors, who is under contract to Universal and Revue studios has terminated both "by mutual agreement," as they always say.

Connors was under Revue contract for "Arrest and Trial," which recently died miserably and undeservedly in a bad Sunday night ABC time slot, and was under a seven-year contract to make one theatre film a year.

Connors is an attractive, popular performer and already has interesting offers from David Suskind and Goodson-Todman, the game show people who apparently have not been discouraged by two tentative steps into the dramatic field — "The Rebel," a half-hour western that didn't last long, and "The Richard Boone Show," an expensive casualty of this season. A large segment of the viewing audience will have an opportunity to see a documentary program about the controversy over the drug Krebiozen. David L. Wolper's organization made the program and found a sponsor.

According to Wolper's representative, the show was turned down by all three major networks, primarily on the ground that it was against network policy to accept documentaries from outside the organizations.

Undaunted, the sponsor now has purchased time on stations in more than 100 markets, including Chicago, Los Angeles and Washington, and, in most places, it will be aired during the week of May 22.

Once Critical of Lawyers Marshall Is Now Admirer

NEW YORK — "There was a time when I honestly didn't have a great deal of respect for lawyers. I considered them hirelings for people in trouble, paid to get them out of trouble as shrewdly as they could." That was how Jimmy award-winning actor M. G. Marshall felt about the legal profession — before he began playing attorney Lawrence Preston in "The Defenders" on CBS-TV. After three seasons of co-starring with Robert Reed in the highly acclaimed legal drama series, Marshall has developed a new outlook on the law business — one of genuine admiration.

Military Appeals, which is the Defense Department's highest judicial body, and the Justice Department. That, on Saturday, Marshall topped a list as a member of the Washington Bar Association, in the Mayflower Hotel. "What is the most important legal lesson Marshall has learned in three years as star of "The Defenders"?" "I've come to realize that under our system of law everyone is entitled to be defended no matter how repulsive a crime he has committed," Marshall replies. "We have repeatedly demonstrated how grievous miscarriages of justice are prevented by Constitutional guarantees that any person, no matter how repulsive his beliefs or how apparent his guilt, is entitled to the full protection of due process of law."

TV Drama - Western In Another Setting

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
NEW YORK (AP)—"Creative people—artistic people—in television are as obsolete as buggy whips," said writer Roger O. Hirson. "And now that it is being flooded with second rate stuff, the people responsible are going to kill it the way the big studios killed movies with all the Grade B and C stuff."

Hirson is one of the comparative handful of major writing and directing talents that produced some of TV's most memorable moments, almost all of whom have quit the medium in favor of Broadway or Hollywood—Paddy Chayevsky, Tad Mosel, Horton Foote, Fred Coe and a few others. Hirson, with a Broadway show now in the works, has not written a television show for almost a year and one-half. This Sunday, however, his "Don't Go Upstairs," will be broadcast by NBC's "Show of the Week."

Hirson, who has had plenty of offers, flatly refuses to write scripts for the dramatic series, even the superior ones.

"I think that I, personally, must not use characters like Dr. Kildare and the Prestons of 'The Defenders,' because it involves heaving to a format. Of course, it is possible to write moving cliché stories—it is always sure-fire when you start off with a man who is going to die.

"But I believe that drama involves taking the principal character—your hero—on an emotional trip that changes him. Television series are not personal drama. Lawrence Preston never changes; nothing happens to him. Things happen always to some secondary, temporary character who disappears. But the heroes ride in on the white horse and ride out on the same white horse. Audiences know this and it keeps the audience from becoming involved—and they are never surprised. And they love to be surprised. But that is why television today is essentially anti-drama."

In fact, Hirson continued, almost every television dramatic show today is "really a western in another setting."

Motion pictures, he noted, "began to get good again" when pressures of television and when the independent producers moved in.

"Maybe pay-TV will be the force to improve commercial television," he suggested. "Maybe the competition will panic them and push them towards doing something better."

Lucille Ball Visits UCLA And Dons a Serious Tone

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The eminent scholar, Lucille Ball Morton, paid a visit to the University of California at Los Angeles to act as guest lecturer and present the 10th annual Samuel Goldwyn Creative Writing Award.

Instead of academic robes, she was wearing a smartly tailored suit. Before the ceremonies she donned professional-looking glasses to pore over some notes she had made on the back of a "Lucy Show" script. She was interrupted by an inquiring reporter.

"Dr. Ball, where did you matriculate?" she was asked.

"I never did that in my life," she replied indignantly.

"But where did you get your degree?"

"Oh," she said. "Well, I graduated from the Goldwyn girl line."

"Let's see, that was class of 19—0?"

"We won't go into that."

"Just how far did you get in school?"

"Me? I never even finished night school. I couldn't wait to get into show business, and at that time show business meant vaudeville to me."

She returned to her notes, confessing a nervousness about the upcoming program.

In a few minutes she turned on the bright Lucy smile and walked onstage in the UCLA Playhouse to warm applause from the youthful audience. She mugged a bit as Goldwyn extolled her, and the students laughed at a mere flash of out-sized eyes. Then she got up to deliver her address.

"I don't need these notes," she said, pushing them aside. She spoke instead from the heart, and her comments might give some testimony on what makes Lucy tick.

"You students are well protected here in this wonderful university where you get the best of instruction and advice," she said. "You are surrounded by love. But I know you must be worrying about what will happen to you when you go out in the world and there will be no one to guide you and look after you."

"I think it will help if you will remember to recognize the small successes that you will have. Don't let the brightness of that big goal blind you to what happens on the way toward the goal."

Clerics Slate A March for Rights Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—Protestant clergymen from every state march in a "silent, prayerful procession" to Capitol Hill today, beginning of the Senate's 11th week of debate on the civil rights bill.

The demonstration, sponsored by the National Council of Churches' Commission on Religion and Race, was designed to press for passage of the measure, stalled by Southern oratory through 57 sessions.

An hour before the Senate is gavelled into its 8th meeting on the House-passed bill, the clergymen assemble in the Lutheran Church of the Reformation, two blocks east of the Capitol, for a worship service led by the Very Rev. Francis B. Sayre, dean of the National Cathedral.

En route to the Capitol, the churchmen pause to pray for justice at the Supreme Court building, marking the 10th anniversary of the 1954 Supreme Court school desegregation decision.

They planned to pray on the Senate steps and then seek out every senator to appeal for enactment of the civil rights bill.

Within the Capitol, meanwhile, there is almost continual jockeying for debate-limiting closure.

Much of what happens depends on the outcome of Democratic and Republican party huddles Tuesday, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said.

That's when both groups get a look at 70 amendments worked out by the Senate leadership and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

The package, aimed at making the bill more acceptable to undecided senators, is being offered by Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen.

As debate by Southerners opposing the bill dragged on last Sunday, the magis-

Court Suit Seeks Party Lever Ban

NEW HAVEN (AP)—A pressure to merely and solely pull a party lever.

The members of Local 227, International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) struck the company May 12. The company went to court last week to complain that the strike was illegal under terms of a newly-signed contract.

Superior Court Judge John C. Fitzgerald issued a temporary restraining order Friday sending the men back to work. He also scheduled a hearing for Tuesday.

The restraining order, which the union began to observe with the first shift this morning, remains in effect through Wednesday.

Union President Anthony Arlio, said the members "have all intentions to resume picketing at 12:01 a.m. Thursday," when the temporary injunction expires.

Meantime, the union yesterday repudiated its three-week old contract with the company, insisting that the management negotiated the agreement in bad faith.

A company spokesman, however, denied that the contract remains in effect.

The union is protesting a job reclassification plan. A number of workers, the union maintains, are being denied pay raises.

A company spokesman said the union is legally obligated to abide by the contract. He said the agreement contains provisions for grievances and arbitration.

The action affected 900 bargaining union employees.

Key Laos Neutral Post Said Overrun by Reds

Hanoi Troops Reported in New Attacks

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—The command post of neutralist Gen. Kong Le on the eastern edge of the strategic Plain de Jarres fell to the Communists today, Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma reported.

The neutralist prince told newsmen the situation was "still critical" at Muong Phanh, the village 100 miles northeast of Vientiane that Kong Le used as headquarters for his 7,000-man neutralist army.

Souvanna said pro-Communist Pathet Lao troops and North Vietnamese soldiers overran Kong Le's command post after two days of heavy shelling and bitter fighting. No estimate of casualties was available.

Military sources said Kong Le was in the general vicinity of Muong Phanh but had retreated southward to set up a new defense perimeter.

The renewed Communist drive has stirred concern in Washington that another Southeast Asian crisis was developing. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and President Johnson held urgent talks on the situation Sunday.

A radio broadcast from the North Vietnamese capital of Hanoi, heard in Tokyo, said neutralist troops at Muong Phanh had slain rightist soldiers serving with them.

The broadcast said the rightists were killed "to oppose the U.S. scheme to merge neutralist troops to set up a unified government." It did not elaborate.

Souvanna and right-wing Deputy Premier Phoumi Nosavan have agreed to merge the neutralist and right-wing forces since a rightist army coup in Vientiane on April 17. The Pathet Lao, led by Prince Souphanouvong, rejected an invitation

SUPPORT ROCKY SLATE

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The California Draft Lodge for President Committee threw its support today to New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in the California Republican presidential primary race—but only in the hope of eventually getting Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge nominated.

TENSION EASING

NICOSSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Greek and Turkish Cypriots dismantled their border posts at Famagusta today as tension appeared to be easing in that eastern port city. Turkish Cypriot loathsome men, who had stayed inside their walled city for the past week, returned to the docks to work with Greeks in another step toward harmony. Famagusta, Cyprus' No. 2 city, had been tense since last Monday when two Greek army officers and a Greek Cypriot policeman were shot to death inside the Turkish sector. In following days, Greek Cypriots retaliated by kidnapping 32 Turks.

FIRE SWEEPS SHIP

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Forty-five persons were rescued but 10 are missing and another dead in a fire that swept a Norwegian freighter, the Sandanger, at sea off Baja, California. The Coast Guard said today 45 survivors from the Sandanger were picked up by a German freighter, the Bodenstein, about 400 miles southeast of Long Beach and some 29 miles off the Mexican coast. A Japanese vessel, the Boston Maru, reported it has one unidentified body aboard.

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio

(AP)—Three persons among 55 passengers on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Ambassador passenger train suffered minor injuries today in a derailment at North Baltimore, 10 miles south of here. Two passenger cars, the dining car and baggage car jumped the track, tearing up nearly 1,500 feet of rail, but did not upset. Two diesel power units remained trackside. A spokesman said a broken rail caused the accident.

'Traindance' Success, Suburban-Type Prom

NEW YORK (AP)—In a bag-gage cat of the train jam-packed youngsters wriggled, twisted and shouted to their tie-type whumping of a drum and three guitars.

In the refreshment car, where the fare for railroad patrons normally consists of Scotch, rye and bourbon at $1 a shot, three boys handed out box lunches and cans of soda pop by the hundreds.

In three coaches boys and girls streamed endlessly up and down the aisles throughout the train.

Another baggage car had been set aside for dancing, but the boys turned off the ceiling lights and converted it into a kissing car.

As the train meandered through eastern Long Island Saturday night and Sunday morning, many a resident near the tracks must have wondered at the cause of so much cacophony on wheels.

British Sea Resorts Youth Battleground

LONDON (AP)—Teen-agers started handing out jail terms ranging from three to six months and fines of from $140 to $210.

Teen-agers, celebrating the three-day Whitman weekend, started pouring into Brighton during the morning. Many had their girls—referred to as birds—with them.

The new British teen-age fad is to divide up into rival cults called "the Mods" and "the Rockers."

Mods dress in style and ride motor scooters. Rockers affect leather jackets, boots and 100-mile-an-hour motorcycles.

They clashed Sunday by the hundreds at Margate. Store windows were smashed, beach furniture burned and cafes thrown into pandemonium.

Police were lashed and attacked. When police reinforcements were mustered, they pitched into the youths with clubs.

Most of the youngsters eventually slept on the beach.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee approved today $2.2 billion for space programs and $5.4 billion for veterans' programs.

The appropriations are included in a $15,318,966,500 omnibus money bill that provides financing for 25 miscellaneous government agencies for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Major reductions were in funds sought for additional federal personnel. The total is 6.5 per cent less than President Johnson requested.

Extra $125 Million Asked for Viet War

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson asked Congress today for an extra $125 million to help step up the war against communism in South Viet Nam.

The money will go into increased support of both military and civil operations of the Vietnamese.

In a special message, Johnson spelled out the needs and the intentions. He said that "By our words and deeds to a decade of determined effort, we are pledged before the world to stand with the free people of Viet Nam."

And he said two major changes have dictated the necessity for increasing financial help to Viet Nam:

"First, the Viet Cong guerrillas, under orders from their Communist masters in the North, have intensified terrorist actions against the peaceful people of South Viet Nam. This increased terrorist requires increased response.

"Second, a new government

Governors of Region Told Pavilion Better

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP)—The six governors of New England were told today that the region's exhibit at the New York World's Fair is "interesting and worthwhile and business is picking up every day."

The appraisal came from Melvin D. Peach, executive vice president of the New England Council World Fair Corp.

He spoke at the New England governors' conference—the first that New Hampshire Gov. John W. King has hosted since he took office in 1963.

The governors took up such problems as rural transportation, tourist promotion, freight rates for grain and an interstate compact dealing with correctional institutions.

The New England World's Fair is a matter of particular interest because of criticism it received earlier this month.

Philip C. Wallwork, executive secretary of the Automobile Legal Association, said the exhibit is the "biggest flop" of the fair.

The six New England states cooperated in financing the $2.7 exhibit.

Peach told the governors that, after a faltering start, the exhibit is now prompting "a lot of favorable reaction."

"People are saying, 'What's all this we've read in the papers? This is a good exhibit,'" Peach related.

Papal Unit Seeks Contact Outside Christian Faith

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI is creating a Vatican secretariat to work for closer relations between the Roman Catholic Church and non-Christian religions. It may bring religious leaders of East and West together on a regular basis for the first time in history.

The Roman Catholic ruler announced Sunday that he would create the Vatican agency soon to promote contacts with Buddhists, Hindus, Moslems, Jews and members of other faiths outside Christianity.

Paolo Cardinal Marella, 69, will head the new congregation. He is archbishop of St. Peter's and a former apostolic delegate to Australia and Japan.
