

Heart Feat Done Again In Texas

By The Associated Press
Surgeons in Houston, Tex., have performed their second heart transplant operation in less than three days, with both patients reported making progress. Joseph Rizzor, the eighth heart transplant patient, died at Stanford, Calif., Sunday.

Transplant Of Thymus Successful

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — The first known successful human transplant of the thymus, a small, mysterious gland-like organ that helps in building the body's resistance to disease, was reported today by a Florida physician.

The thymus was implanted into the body of a 7-month-old boy, born without the organ and given little chance for survival. "At 18 months of age, the infant is growing normally and has no unusual infections," said Dr. William W. Cleveland, an endocrinologist and professor of pediatrics at the University of Miami, Fla., School of Medicine.

Cleveland said in an interview that the success of the operation lends strong support to the immunologic functions of the thymus that so far have been based on animal studies. He reported in a paper prepared for the annual meeting of the American Society for Clinical Investigation that the infant showed poor immunologic reaction before the operation. Almost immediately afterward his immunologic responses improved, the doctor said.

The thymus, found in the upper chest near the base of the neck in children, has long been

At London's National Heart Hospital, 45-year-old Frederick West, his heart replaced Friday night with that of a young laborer killed in a fall, Sunday had a supper of pureed carrots and prunes—his first solid food since his operation. He also asked for books and a television set.

At Houston, the St. Luke's Hospital surgical team Sunday night performed the world's 11th human heart transplant, replacing the ailing heart of James B. Cobb, 48, with that of a youth killed in a motorcycle accident. Cobb was in "excellent condition," a hospital spokesman said.

The same Houston surgical team Friday gave Everett Claire Thomas, 47, the heart of a 15-year-old bride. Thomas' condition on Sunday was termed satisfactory.

At the Stanford Medical Center, the 40-year-old Rizzor died 6 1/2 hours after his transplanted heart stopped beating for a time Sunday afternoon.

Doctors got it working again in a few minutes but said the stoppage had been caused by a lack of oxygen in the blood. Death was caused, they said, by the inability of Rizzor's lungs—long damaged by his own heart impairment—to supply sufficient oxygen to his new heart.

Rizzor, father of four, was a carpenter in Salinas, Calif. His heart came from an athletic 43-year-old man who died of a massive brain hemorrhage.

Cobb, a salesman from Alexandria, La., is the father of two children. His wife is a junior high school teacher. He has a history of heart trouble for about several years and has been

SPENDING LIMITS OK'D

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee opened the way Monday for congressional action on a $10 billion tax increase by accepting a spending limitation plan worked out last week. The committee ended a long wrangle over the amount to be cut by agreeing to a reduction "at least" as large as those the Appropriations Committee offered to undertake. This means a spending ceiling that would require a $4 billion reduction under President Johnson's budget for the year beginning July 1.

Vote Ends Phone Rift Officially

WASHINGTON (AP) — Striking telephone workers have put "the voice with a smile" back in style with a nationwide contract ratification vote that officially ended an 18-day walkout against the Bell Telephone System.

But scattered locals announced they wouldn't heed the back-to-work order issued by the Communications Workers of America after its Washington headquarters announced Sunday the $4,680-$6,721 vote to ratify the three-year contract.

Connecticut's local, 1290, voted by a three to one margin Saturday to reject the contract, but its members did report for work today. See story page 13.

The vast majority of the 200,000 workers involved in the strike were expected to begin returning to work today under what CWA officials called the best contract ever achieved in the industry.

And CWA spokesmen said any refusal to end picketing as of midnight would be in defiance of the union executive board.

Foe Presses Saigon Attack; Blast Rocks Heart of City

SAIGON (AP) — The enemy attack on Saigon swept on in full fury tonight, with North Vietnamese reported fighting for the first time in the capital and a heavy explosion—believed a rocket-blasting the heart of the city.

The North Vietnamese were battling South Vietnamese troops from gravesite to gravesite in a cemetery near Saigon's Tan Son Nhut airport.

The missile was believed to have exploded near the downtown Saigon U.S.O. and International House, a private club frequented by Americans. Both were closed by Saigon's curfew but the area is one of many apartments and hotels occupied by Vietnamese and Americans. There was no sign, however, that any buildings were burning. Police vehicles, fire engines and ambulances converged quickly on the scene.

U.S. military spokesmen indicated the new enemy offensive, launched Sunday, was subsiding elsewhere across South Vietnam after only one day.

They saw the attacks as more evidence that the enemy plans to keep fighting while peace talks go on. They also thought it likely the drive was to strengthen North Vietnam's bargaining positions at preliminary talks with the United States expected to open this week in Paris.

While Hanoi radio claimed "brilliant victories," Gen. William C. Westmoreland's headquarters said in a communique: "Scattered fighting has taken place throughout yesterday and this morning; however, the over-all activities remain considerably lower than during the Tet (lunar new year) offensive."

Headquarters reported 12 locations were hit Sunday by mortar and artillery fire but new shelling today was insignificant. There also was ground fighting in the north but this appeared to be a continuation of last week's battles.

A U.S. spokesman said allied forces so far had killed 714 enemy troops in and around Saigon, including 177 inside the city itself. Some of the fights were spoiling actions, cutting off enemy units reported headed to attack Saigon.

U.S. officials said an estimated battalion of enemy troops, perhaps 400 to 500 men, fighting allied forces around Tan Son Nhut air base are predominantly North Vietnamese soldiers. This is the closest to Saigon that North Vietnamese have fought in these numbers.

The American officials said it was not immediately clear to what unit the North Vietnamese belonged. This led to speculation that the enemy forces actually are Viet Cong designated, units made up mostly of North Vietnamese replacements.

The officials said that North Vietnamese prisoners have been taken and some of the enemy dead have been identified as North Vietnamese.

U.S. official estimated that as of early Monday there were about 300 Viet Cong troops fighting inside Saigon. Preliminary estimates also indicated there might be as many as 300 more female Viet Cong agents who in some cases have done some of the fighting but are being used mostly for political agitation.

The officials noted a definite increase in fighting during the day inside Saigon, around Tan Son Nhut and on the fringes of the capital.

American officials were reported deeply concerned about fighting on the northeastern edge of the city.

Enemy troops were said to be advancing slowly rather than being driven back. They reportedly were nearing a bridge leading into the city. The fact that they were able to move forward during daylight caused concern because it was feared that under the cover of darkness they may be able to move in even closer and set up mortars.

U.S. infantrymen moved in closer toward the city to back up South Vietnamese rangers, paratroopers and marines battling the enemy in three places inside Saigon and trying to cut off infiltration attempts on the east and west sides.

Two companies of infantrymen from the U.S. 199th light infantry brigade were locked in fighting with an unknown sized enemy force in the Phu Tho race track area not far from

Humphrey Is Target At Indiana Primary

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Indiana's presidential primary campaign churned toward a climax Tuesday—amid White House contender Hubert H. Humphrey suddenly became a campaign target.

The Indiana contestants, rival Sens. Robert F. Kennedy and Eugene J. McCarthy, and favorite son candidate Gov. Roger D. Branigin, were winding up the most hectic primary campaign the state has seen.

Kennedy and McCarthy used last-minute tours, a television barrage and armies of volunteer collegiate campaigners to hunt votes in their first primary confrontation.

The New York senator, brother of the late President John F. Kennedy, drew the biggest crowds and the favorite's rating in opinion polls.

While McCarthy said there were signs he was going to win, he said he had already decided to support Kennedy.

He said he would support Kennedy if he won, but if McCarthy won, he would support McCarthy. He said he would support McCarthy if he won, but if Kennedy won, he would support Kennedy.

Columbia Reopens Doors But Class Teaching Ends

NEW YORK (AP) — Besieged Columbia University reopened its doors today amid chaos and controversy and a two-century-old tradition of formal classroom teaching apparently ended for the rest of the semester.

Columbia College, the 25,000-student Ivy League university's oldest and largest unit, decided Sunday to end formal classes almost four weeks before the official end of the term May 29.

Some other units of the university were expected to follow Columbia College's lead but it was not known immediately what they would do. The university administration simply opened all buildings and left it up to the individual units how to carry on.

The confusion was heightened by rebel students who renewed their two-week old protest by calling for a boycott of classes. Minor scuffling broke out at several spots this morning as staff members and unsympathetic students walked through picket lines set up to enforce the boycott.

Fewer than 200 students manned picket lines before a dozen buildings. No one was hurt in the quickly ended scuffles as rebel leaders scurried around campus urging their followers to use spoken persuasion rather than force.

Eight Killed

Man Sets Ablaze Texas Night Club

FORTH WORTH, Tex. (AP) — A man involved in a disturbance with a waitress touched off a blaze in an integrated night club which killed eight persons late Sunday night. Seven were negroes.

Witness at the West Side club—called "The Grave"—said a Negro man splashed a can of liquid inside the front door, ignited it and vanished into the darkness.

Six men and two women, trapped in the flames, died of apparent smoke inhalation as they groped over shuffle boards, pinball machines and pool tables for a back door.

"We got a description but no name," said detective L.V. LeFils of the suspect.

LeFils said investigators found no evidence that the incident was racially motivated. The Medical Examiner's office identified the victims as Lacy White Jr., 26; Willis Davis, 25; Samuel T. Jenkins, 30; George M. Johnson, 27; Roy Clayton Dillard, 24; Kenneth Simpson, 19; Jewelene Prince, 25; and Carroll Jo Fenigar, 23.

All but Dillard were negroes. Two persons were taken to a hospital with injuries.

About 25 persons fled to safety as flames raced along bamboo curtains and turned the building into an inferno within seconds.

The club once was named Lucky's Drive-In Cafe but a sign outside identified it as "The Grave." The motif included caskets.

Customers said a well-dressed Negro man was involved in a disturbance with a waitress about half an hour before the fire.

"We just told him if he didn't behave he'd be kicked out," said Judy Andrews, 18, who was working behind the bar when the fire broke out. "He sat down," finished his beer and left," she said.

Joe Vann, 22, a former employee at the club, said when the

Henry Coleman, the acting dean of Columbia College who was held inside his office for almost 24 hours when the student protest began April 23, predicted the university "will not be back to normal this semester."

David Truman, Columbia vice president and provost, toured the campus to the jeers and shouts of the strikers.

The classroom doors swung open today for the first time in 10 days. The student protest began over construction of a gymnasium in a park buffering Negro Harlem and the university and over a government-oriented defense project partly sponsored by Columbia.

The gymnasium project has since been suspended but that apparent victory for the rebel students has obviously not ended their protest.

The rebels now claim to have the support of 5,000 students for their boycott. They issued a bulletin today listing more than 50 "liberation" classes in such subjects as "avant-garde literature," "imperialism," "corporate liberalism" and "Columbia and the warfare state."

The university's School of Library Service and the Graduate School of Business planned normal sessions today. But other units said they would decide after discussions with faculty members and students whether to hold formal classes or follow the Columbia College formula.

Meanwhile, the city police department defended itself against charges that it used undue force in clearing five university buildings of sit-ins last week. In a report ordered by Mayor John V. Lindsay, the department said its men faced large-scale violence from the demonstrators.

"Police were punched, bitten and kicked with many attempts made to kick policemen in the groin," the report said. "A pattern was seen in the use of females to bite and kick the policemen."

"In some buildings, demonstrators hurled furniture, bottles and miscellaneous objects at the police."

The report said the university

Poverty Buses Heading North

By BILL CRIDER

Associated Press Writer

EDWARDS, Miss. AP

Four one-time rural school buses, loaded with 136 passengers, cruised across Mississippi toward Washington today as the first of the poverty caravans planned by the Poor People's Campaign.

The buses took to the highway after the group made a symbolic two-mile march from their Mount Beulah Conference Center to Edwards, paced by a pair of mules pulling a rickety farm wagon.

Mississippi Highway Patrol

cars guarded the march but there was no particular tension. Whites in this small town placidly ignored the entire demonstration.

In Edwards, at an intersection on Main Street, the marchers held a rally with the Rev. Ralph Abernathy and other Southern Christian Leadership Conference officials speaking, using the wagon as a platform.

Abernathy, who favors a guaranteed annual wage, told the marchers that money in their pockets would end segregation problems.

"When you get that gold, all these white folks... will forget your color because they want the gold," he said, "and we will live together as brothers."

Earlier, Abernathy had told a pre-march rally: "We want an end to poverty, we want meaningful jobs and we want a guaranteed annual income."

Six buses, each seating about 40, were obtained by the organizers, to haul the "Southern leg" of the various caravans through 13 Southern cities to Washington by May 19. Only four, reasonably full, left Edwards.

Selma, Ala., will be the first stop. The buses will stop about five miles outside the city and the group will march into town.

Abernathy, who took over as head of the SCLC after Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was killed by a sniper in Memphis, Tenn., April 4, urged youngsters in the area to skip school to see the caravan off.

Abernathy praised the 127 teachers who shut down Quitman County's four all-Negro schools last Thursday—which freed many of the youngsters to help the recruiting work in the Marks area.

"We have been called a children's crusade," said Abernathy. "They say we rely on kids. That's not true but young folks are a big help to us. You know how it goes: the teachers are afraid of the principal; the principal is afraid of the superintendent; the superintendent is afraid of the board of trustees; the trustees are afraid of the parents; the parents are afraid of the kids—but the kids aren't afraid of nobody."

Diplomats Seek Site In Paris

PARIS (AP) — U.S. and North Vietnamese envoys called at the French Foreign Ministry today for further discussions on a place in or around Paris to hold preliminary Vietnam peace talks.

Their decision may in part be affected by a renewal of violent student demonstrations in Paris against conditions at the University of Paris Sorbonne branch.

While the envoys met, students clashed violently with police on Paris' Left Bank while others surged across the River Seine to the Right Bank.

Some officials here have said that a continuance of street demonstrations in Paris could result in talks somewhere in the Paris suburbs.

American Charge d'Affaires Woodruff Wallner and Mai Van Bo, head of the North Vietnamese legation here, called secretary-general of the Foreign

Weather Statement

WINDSOR LOCKS (AP)—Cool weather over Connecticut will return the threat of frost over most sections tonight, the U.S. Weather Bureau reports.

A northerly breeze will carry a dry air into Southern New England today. Skies will be mostly sunny today after the variable morning cloudiness clears away. Temperatures will only reach 55 to 60 this afternoon.

The cool dry air circulating around a large area of high pressure in the central Great Lakes this morning. This large mass of cool air moved out of Central Canada Sunday and brought record breaking low temperatures to many parts of the Midwest last night.

Clear skies will prevail over Connecticut tonight and the winds will become very light. The combination of cool dry air, light winds and clear skies will provide excellent conditions for overnight cooling tonight. Temperatures will drop into the mid-40s and low 40s in all sections with a chance of some upper frosts at the normally colder sections. Frost is likely in most sections tonight.

The high will move over central New York State on Tuesday and sunny dry weather seems to be assured for Connecticut. Temperatures will be a little warmer than today reaching the mid 60s Tuesday afternoon.

URANIUM OUTPUT UP—DENVER—U.S. uranium ore output rose sharply last year to reach a total value of more than $162 million in anticipation of increased orders for nuclear power plants. Exploratory drilling more than doubled.

The Vote In Two Districts To The Editor:
 Last Monday evening some Buckley School ten-year-olds were second filling me in on the upcoming referendum issue. They touched knowledgeably on several points, and after each of them had a turn at being a face considered appropriate for the severe question, one of the children said "And then you have to vote on whether to bring our friends here from Hartford again?"

Buckley has 19 Negro children in attendance — far more than any other Manchester school — and it is interesting to note that this district (18) voted 84.3 per cent for the continuance of Project Concern. On the other hand, Varghese, in the 7th district, had no space available and therefore no voting pupils, and here we find the lowest acceptance — 41.5 per cent.

In the final decision as to the continuance of the Project, it seems reasonable to accord more weight to the advisory vote of the area most acquainted with the actual situation, such as the Buckley district, living with their nearly two year experience with 19 children, than to the 7th, where the voters have never had the benefit of any actual contact.

The Hartford children have come to this town as missionaries. It is gratifying to see this concrete evidence of their success in bringing about a measure of understanding and goodwill.

Very truly yours,
 Russell MacDentrick

add up making the Vice President quite a candidate. At this point, unfortunately, the same thing always happens.

Why Gamble On Cheapness?

There is now beginning to be heard from television land a lament that the studios aren't turning out enough new shows for the medium. And it seems, indeed, by the statistics, that many of the producers and studios once engaged in trying to design new shows for television have shifted their talents back to the making of movies which, if they happen to hit it right, can have a career in the movie houses and then make television at their repetitive leisure.

The difference between a movie and making a television program seems to be this: that one makes a movie directly for the taste of the ultimate consumer public, while one makes a television program for the program chairman of the network plus for the potential sponsor.

This, in turn, makes for another difference—a difference in the potential quality. A movie which is made to entertain the public, or to present a sample of the entertainment art to the public, is free to be as good as the genius of its makers can make it.

But the product which is being made must first please the network program director and then the sponsor who will decide whether the program ever gets a chance to entertain the public. It is likely to be a spinesless imitation of some kind of program which has already achieved a rating success.

And, in fact, it is almost certain to be much better than a program made for seeing who will be the first to back down, which will dominate much of the negotiations about negotiations at Paris, once these do begin.

Nevertheless, there is another potential way of classifying Hanot's action in breaking the deadlock over the site for these negotiations.

It is to take the view that, by showing some pliability, by making itself first party to five in enough to permit the talks to begin, Hanot achieved a kind of victory in the propaganda and in the policy field—the kind of victory which our rough kind of world sometimes concedes to those who, perhaps for some strange and suspicious motivation, make themselves the first of two parties to prove reasonable.

There may, during the negotiations to follow, come other points where one party or the other will wish to make a concession, and the strong writing in showing of Vice-President Hubert Humphrey in the Massachusetts primary will do much to boost the candidates of these two men.

Perhaps the only true upset was Governor Rockefeller's ability to decisively out-step Mr. Nixon, even though the voters took place on the very day that the former put himself back into the Republican race. It is fairly safe to assume that had Mr. Rockefeller made more of an organized effort in Massachusetts, his victory would have been greater.

While the Rockefeller showing does not remove Mr. Nixon from the front-runner status for the Republican nomination, it may cause trouble among the latter's backers. For the Massachusetts outcome may indicate that, where Mr. Nixon is stronger with the professional politicians, Mr. Rockefeller is stronger with the voters.

Equally interesting was what many long-time Massachusetts political observers characterize as Sen. Robert Kennedy's weak showing in this same primary. It was expected that Sen. Eugene McCarthy, with the advantage of having his name printed on the ballot, would win handily over Sen. Kennedy. He did by some two to one. But there were few who thought that Vice-President Humphrey would get nearly two votes for every three of Senator Kennedy's.

As a result of this primary, this year's politics are more open and more interesting than ever. CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR

Inside Report

INDIANAPOLIS — Both President Johnson and Vice President Hubert Humphrey gave their personal blessing to the effort to build up Governor Roger Branigan's favorite son campaign by glamorizing him as a strong prospect for the Vice Presidential nomination.

But that is just one of the tactics agreed on to turn the strong Kennedy tide running here. With almost all top-level Democratic politicians in Washington looking to Indiana as the easiest way to stop Bobby Kennedy's Presidential bid, Kennedy is the clear favorite.

Other tactics now being used in a desperate effort to cut down Kennedy's lead are more traditional, and could be more effective.

The most important of these is an all-out attempt to entice up to 100,000 Republicans to cross over and vote for Branigan in the Democratic primary.

This is the influential Indianapolis News, a strong editorial backer of the Governor's favorite son bid, ran a large paid political ad signed by "Republicans for Branigan Committee" telling Republican voters how easy it is to vote in the Democratic primary.

It is also apparent that the Massachusetts primary did much to keep Senator McCarthy strongly and firmly in the race. His ability to get some 50 per cent of the Democratic vote, even with the advantage of being the only name on that party's ballot against such contenders as Senator Kennedy and the Vice-President, as well as his getting nearly 10,000 Republican votes in that state, has been a major factor in the degree to which he has captured popular approval by his courageous leadership.

As a result of this primary, this year's politics are more open and more interesting than ever. CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR

"If You Did Not Vote" Malcolm Barlow's Articles

To the Editor, Today is my birthday and for the first time in more than 40 years I have not been proud of my birthday, Manchester. I have had to apologize for and defend the results of the advisory question 20, or Project Concern, on last week's referendum.

I love this town of my birth and have no desire to live elsewhere. Since my teens, I have worked every year on at least one civic project. My neighbors have always responded with time, money and personal sacrifice.

I feel special commendation should be extended, too, to Mr. Malcolm Barlow, your reporter who wrote the five articles. I know of nothing any more unromantic to have to write about than sanitary sewers. Mr. Barlow wrote the articles in an informative and interesting manner and where his original explorations started as a novice, his completed articles sounded as though they had been written by a qualified engineer.

Your paper made a good judgment in informing them so well. Many thanks for this public service.

V. E. Swanson, President Eighth Utilities District

"Appropriate Sentence" To the Editor, Thank you for today's editorial that included comments on the Project Concern referendum—your last sentence to appreciate when you were mentioning "white violence in a voting machine."

Sincerely, Sara (Mrs. B. H.) Sternberg

Indoors, Outdoors Everywhere Carpets

Another kind of outdoor-indoor carpet offers a flat needle-punched look (Ludlow) that resembles heavily matted, dense fibers.

Carpet the kitchen ideas are accelerating. A printed carpet (Haley) combines the look of a high density wool rubber and a new woven printed carpet has been introduced.

Manufacturers have been moved by the success of commercial installations and have introduced a matching base-wrap into family rooms, playrooms and dens.

These are synthetic carpets with a dense pile and tufted carpets. They are practically indestructible and have the look of high American samplers.

Outdoor-indoor carpets have gone from the uniformity of appearance enjoyed on boat decks and pool sides to interesting outdoor carpets with hidden patterns.

Many outdoor carpets can be put down by a homeowner using heavy-duty cutting tools or shears.

Foe Presses Saigon Attack; Blast Rocks Heart of City

More than 100 enemy mortar and rocket rounds hit the South Vietnamese official military newspaper said the Viet Cong attacks Sunday disrupted U.S. claims that the Tet offensive in February brought only a psychological victory for the Communist command.

By mid-afternoon fighting raged in the area of the old French cemetery on the edge of Tan Son Nhut, the Phu Tho race track area and the southern suburbs of the city, and along two bridges connecting Saigon with the western suburbs.

South Vietnamese dive bombers and U.S. helicopter gunships firing rockets raked the pockets of resistance.

American and South Vietnamese forces sealed off the southern perimeter of the city, and the two crews were missing. It was the 23rd American warplane announced as lost over the North.

U.S. Navy pilots who claimed they shot down a Communist MIG last Thursday actually shot down a pilotless American drone. The plane was shot down over the Gulf of Tonkin. It was not clear why a drone was over the gulf, but apparently it strayed out of course.

The U.S. Command said only one of the crew members of a MIG was in error. American fighters reported destroying a damaged MIG at least four cargo barges, nine trucks, five bridges and a number of small-arms actions along the base perimeter.

U.S. officials said the North Vietnamese record of 400 supply trucks along infiltration routes into South Vietnam was a record. The U.S. Army's 4th Cavalry Division reported killing 17 enemy soldiers and 100 North Vietnamese. The battle was touched off by a company of the cavalrymen's southern parachute units.

The cavalrymen were immediately fired on by an enemy mortar battery. The mortar fire was so intense that the soldiers were forced to take cover. The mortar fire was so intense that the soldiers were forced to take cover.

Mishaps Kill Three of State On Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two Sunday highway accidents in Connecticut claimed two lives and injured seven others, while in Key West, Fla., a Connecticut man lost his life in another car crash.

In Colchester, Arlene Russell, 24-year-old woman from Rocky Hill, was killed Sunday evening when the car she was in crashed head-on with another on Route 7.

The police said the operator of the car, James Valenti, 20, of Hartford, was admitted to Backus Hospital in Norwich in critical condition.

Three members of the Seagrave family of Cromwell riding in the other car were seriously hurt, investigators said. They were the operator, Walter A. Seagrave, 40, his 36-year-old wife, Nancy, and their son Gerald, 15.

The collision occurred at the Route 146 cutoff where the divided four-lane highway becomes two undivided lanes, a state trooper said. He said the stretch, still under construction, has been the scene of several serious accidents during the past two years.

Early Sunday in Bridgeport, a car crashed into a construction barrier, killing 23-year-old Mrs. Consuelo Santiago of Bridgeport.

Three of the other five persons in the car suffered minor injuries, state police said. Mrs. Santiago was killed by a piece of metal, part of the barrier, which crashed through the windshield.

State police said the operator of the car, Abraham Santiago, 24, of Bridgeport, was charged with negligent homicide.

The crash of a car in Key West killed two men, one of them Alfred Eyrill III, of Torrington, Conn. He and the other victim, Philip Franklin Bieger, 23, of Key West Naval Station, were in a car which went out of control Sunday morning on State Road 941 north of Key West and struck a utility pole, state policemen said.

VC News Organ Endorses Paris For Peace Talks

TOKYO (AP) — The Viet Cong news organ has endorsed preliminary peace talks to be held in Paris by U.S. and North Vietnamese representatives.

North Vietnam's Vietnam News Agency said the "Gia Phong Press Agency" released a commentary warmly welcoming the good-will attitude of the D.R.V.N. (North Vietnamese) government in the May 2nd statement of its foreign ministry concerning the level, place and time of the formal talks between the D.R.V.N. and the United States.

The commentary accused the United States of seeking "every way and means to delay contacts" and of continuing to bomb North Vietnam and to escalate its military power in the South.

Gia Phong added that the National Liberation Front, the political arm of the Viet Cong, is determined to "liberate the South, liberate the North and ultimately achieve the peaceful reunification of the country."

Change in Town Government Opposed by Pietrantonio

Democratic Director Anthony Pietrantonio today defended Manchester's council-manager form of government as the "practical way of administering municipal government," and urged town residents to oppose a possible move for a change to a strong mayor-council form of government.

The Board of Directors tomorrow night, at the recommendation of its Republican majority, will consider the appointment of a new Charter Revision Commission, to study and recommend a possible change in Manchester's government.

Under a strong mayor-council government, the mayor would become a full-time administrator and would take over the duties of the manager and of most town boards and commissions. He would serve at full pay.

The proposed changes were recommended last year by the Manchester YR (Young Republicans) Club. They were referred to the Board of Directors for further study.

Pietrantonio cited two advantages of the present council-manager form of government: 1) Unification of authority and political responsibility in the elected council; and 2) Centralization of administrative responsibility in an administrator appointed by that council.

He explained that the manager, in almost all instances, is a man trained in government administration, and warned that an elected mayor, in most instances, would be a man elected in a popular election. "A person who may or may not have any background in municipal government."

Man, 22, Held In Bridgeport Gun Slaying

BRIDGEPORT (AP)—The police are holding a young man from Bridgeport, today on the charge that he fired the shotgun blast that killed a 22-year-old man Saturday night in an East End bar.

Several witnesses who were in Sal's Bar and Grill at 10:30 p.m. Saturday told police that the victim, Marvin Jones, also of Bridgeport, was sitting at the bar in the rear of the room when a man entered carrying a suitcase, opened it and took out a shotgun.

The newcomer, who they identified as 25-year-old William Cuesta Harris, shot at "Marvin" a police investigator reported. When Jones turned toward the door, witnesses said he was shot once in the stomach.

None of the 30 other patrons in the bar at the time were injured, the police said.

Jones was taken to Bridgeport Hospital where he died an hour later.

Harris was arrested minutes after Jones crumpled to the barroom floor by two patrolmen in a nearby New Haven Railroad freight yard. A gun believed to be the murder weapon was recovered, they said. He was charged with murder and held without bond.

The police said that Harris and Jones had argued earlier about a cigarette burn in Jones' jacket.

South Windsor Grand List Up $4.7 Million, But Mill Rate Hike Still Seen

Town Assessor Bertrand McNamara has released the 1968 Grand List for 1968, and it shows an increase of $4,700,000 over the list for the past year. The gross list totals $96,630,250, with reductions of $1,833,570 for veterans exemption- and exemptions for the blind, $73,670 for aid for the elderly, a manufacturers inventory of $1,411,506 and $22,100 for farmers.

The present tax rate in South Windsor is 40 mills, and on the basis of this rate the increase in the Grand List would result in additional revenue of $180,000. However, an increase in the tax rate is expected, which will be set by the Town Council, under the amount of the general government budget in several hundred dollars.

The council will take the amount of the general government budget together with the working with the increased Grand List will arrive at the new mill rate. The council has already decided on the school budget which is $20,978 more than this year's. The general government budget will also be higher, and an increase in the mill rate is expected. Despite the better than $4 million increase in the grand list, the small surplus present at the end of this fiscal year will also determine the new mill rate.

In addition to the usual changes of assessment for personal property, major increases were additions to real property, including the South Windsor Canteen, the Sheppard-Pola Inc. and Albert Schmetzer, doing business as Electro-Method. The Henry Jenkins Transportation Co. rolling stock represented the largest increase in motor vehicles, with the total list increases in motor vehicles numbering 428. Large increases were noted in personal property for machinery and manufacturers' inventory.

There have been 174 notices mailed out giving changes of assessment for personal property, and notices for real estate changes have just been mailed out. Anyone who wishes to question the assessments which have been changed should direct their inquiries to Assessor Bertrand McNamara's office.

In order to hear any grievances resulting from the change of assessment, the Board of Tax Review has scheduled three sessions. The first session will be held tomorrow from 7 - 9 a.m. at the National Government, building. The other two sessions will be held on May 11 from 10 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. All three sessions will be at the Town Hall.

Williams Orders Red Sox Players To Stay Away from Fenway Park

BOSTON (AP)—The slumping Boston Red Sox were under strict orders on a break in the American League schedule today to stay away from Fenway Park.

Manager Dick Williams directed equipment manager Don Ripicatti to bar the clubhouse door to all players except Jim Lonborg, who must work out in a rehabilitation program.

"We've tried everything else, so maybe a complete day off will help," Williams said after a 5-2 loss to the Oakland Athletics Sunday. "I don't want anyone to go near a bat or a ball."

Most players plan to relax before leaving on a week-long trip to Washington and New York.

Yastrzemski had an appointment.

Lonborg is to visit a Boston television station to review film of him at bat in hopes of being named to the pennant. Williams tried to shake off Boston's seventh defeat by the Athletics Sunday by sending Ripicatti to bar the clubhouse door to all players except Jim Lonborg, who must work out in a rehabilitation program.

Lonborg is to visit a Boston television station to review film of him at bat in hopes of being named to the pennant.

CORRECT FORMULA—Carl Yastrzemski of the Red Sox hopes so. He returned to the playing field after yesterday's game with Oakland and took extra batting practice with Rico Petrocelli to correct batting slump.

Grand Slam for Peters, Solo for Brabender

Pitchers fare well at Plate in American League action

NEW YORK (AP)—The 26-year-old right-hander now and then doesn't surprise him, he said. "After all, I take batting practice every day."

The Chicago slugger's drive sent him into the left-center field bullpen to get the score down. "I was afraid to look up," he said. "I just kept running. I don't know it until the umpire waved me around."

Boog Fryar followed with another home-run blast and home run on his six-inning pro career—touching off a seventh-inning homer came off reliever Dennis Higgins.

INDIANS' TWINS—Sierb held the Twins hitless until the seventh, when two walks and one error led to a single. The Cleveland fireballer, who had pitched the Cleveland Indians' 2-1 victory over the Twins.

Peters pitched a six-inning game and a grand slam homer, carrying the Chicago White Sox past the New York Yankees 5-1 in the first game of a doubleheader.

The Yanks bunched back behind rookie right-hander Stan Bahnsen for a 4-1 decision in the nightcap at Chicago while Oakland edged Boston 3-2 and Detroit edged California 5-2 in other single games.

WHITESOCK'S YANKS—Peters, making his first start this season, hurled the Orioles to their seventh consecutive victory over the Senators on six hits.

Double Contact by McCovey Results in Long Argument

NEW YORK (AP)—The Cardinals insisted intent name of the card by mistake. The umpire ruled that because McCovey's name had appeared on Duquesne's lineup, McCovey was technically in the game and ruled in his favor. McCovey argued that he had not been named in the lineup and was forced to argue his case to the umpire.

McCovey was suspended for two games for double contact with a pitcher during the argument.

'Biggest Front-Running Fans' Detroit Pitching Ace Blasts Club Followers

DETROIT (AP)—Right-hander Denny McLain blasted Detroit Tigers' fans Sunday as "the biggest front-running fans in the world," and said they helped lose the team last year.

McLain, who posted a 17-16 record last year but didn't win the American League Cy Young award, said he was "tired of the fans who are going to see me pitch and then say, 'I wish I had pitched better.'"

Bahnsen Saves Day For Punched Yanks

CHICAGO (AP)—Stan Bahnsen might not hit like Gary Peters, but the right-hander hurled pitched like a star on the mound Sunday and gave the New York Yankees a split in their doubleheader with the Chicago White Sox.

Peters was a one-man show for the White Sox in the first game, hitting a grand slam homer and backing up Bob Sherman's six-inning effort to stop Yankees' slugger Yastrzemski's sixth home run in seven games.

But Bahnsen came on to save the day in the opener with a 4-1 victory, striking out five in the seventh and eighth innings before striking out Verba for the final out.

U.S. Tennis Team Surprises By Sweeping British Squad

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—"Maybe I'm a bit of a jockey," said Donald Dell, U.S. Davis Cup captain, as he made an obvious wince as he bridle his enthusiasm. The U.S. team had just completed a 5-0 sweep over the British in the American zone first-round matches.

"I feel like a champion," Dell said. "I'm a great fan of tennis and we're a great team on paper." The 30-year-old Marylander said, but it's not all show and blarney. Dell had enough, we can win it."

The fellows Dell was referring to were the U.S. team, which included Dell and Arthur Ashe, Clark Grabner, Bob Lutz and Stan Smith. Dell's "all-out effort to restore international prestige to the Davis Cup" was a surprise to the U.S. team, which had lost to the British Caribbean Friday with 6-1, 6-0.

CENTER OF CONTROVERSY—Umpire Emmett Ashford is center of attention during hot and heavy argument with Yankee Coach Whitey Ford and Manager Ralph Houk in Chicago. Rhuibar was over call by Ashford.

NEW YORK (AP)—The Cardinals insisted intent name of the card by mistake. The umpire ruled that because McCovey's name had appeared on Duquesne's lineup, McCovey was technically in the game and ruled in his favor. Couldn't Get the Ball Down

Jerry Kosman fails in try for record

NEW YORK (AP)—Jerry Kosman will have to start all over again if he hopes to leave the company of Larry Bearnaeth and Bob Shaw.

Kosman missed a chance Sunday to become the first New York Met pitcher to win five straight games when he and the Mets lost to the Chicago Cubs 3-2. The Cubs also won the second game of the doubleheader.

Kosman's primary trouble was extra base hitting. In the second inning Ernie Banks and Johnson should have been caught by Art Shabaz in left field, Kosman said. "If they could be caught, the fielders will get them. They shouldn't have been hit out there in the first place. That was my mistake."

Ferguson Jenkins didn't make any mistakes until the ninth inning when the Mets rallied to three runs. Then the Cubs used three relief pitchers.

Bill Hands didn't need much help in the nightcap, blanking the Cubs for four hits and striking out 12.

The Cubs scored the only run Hands needed in the fourth inning when Ron Santo reached first base on Jerry Bueche's error. Hands moved to second on a ground out and raced home as Arcia doubled.
