Rosary Society Plans Holy Hour

The Rev. Michael G. Steinhilber of St. Matthew's Church, Brookly, N.Y., will conduct a Holy Hour Monday at 7:30 p.m. for members of St. Bridget's Rosary Society at St. Bridget's Church.

Father Steinhilber studied philosophy at Catholic College, Brooklyn, and received a bachelor's degree from Immaculate Conception Seminary, Huntington, N.Y. He earned a degree in dogmatic theology from the State University at Brounck, Austria, and has studied archeology and language at the Hebrew University in Jerusalem.

In the summer of 1965 he was assistant to Prof. Rudolf Schnackenburg at the University of Wurzburg, Germany, where he prepared and translated a book, "Present and Future Modern Aspects of New Testament Theology." In 1966 he was translator and editor of "Man Before God." Officers will be elected at a short business meeting in St. Bridget's School cafeteria after the Holy Hour. Members are reminded to mark their ballots and bring them to the meeting, which is the final one for this season.

Two Share Win In Essay Test

Jane Banning, 17, of 54 Lodge Dr., and Susan Marteney, 11, of 218 Hackmatack St. were co-winners in a conservation essay contest sponsored by the Manchester Junior Women's Club.

Each won a half tuition scholarship to Greenwoods Nature and Conservation Camp from Aug. 11 to Aug. 17.

Jane, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Banning, is a student at Hing Junio High School. She also won a scholarship in last year's contest. Susan is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Pierre Marteney and a pupil at Keeney St. school. Officers will be elected at a short business meeting in St. Bridget's School cafeteria after the Holy Hour. Members are reminded to mark their ballots and bring them to the meeting, which is the final one for this season.

Forces Kill 442 of Foe Below DMZ

SAIGON (AP)—U.S. forces reported today killed 442 North Vietnamese troops below the demilitarized zone in renewed sharp fighting.

The army reinforcements and Marines reported today killed 442 enemy soldiers in the last 24 hours in five battles ranging from 10 to 15 miles below the DMZ. American casualties were put at 24 killed and 54 wounded. If the U.S. count is correct, 35 enemy soldiers were killed for every American slain. Many of the enemy dead were claimed from American air strikes and artillery barrages.

Savannah Next Stop For 'Poor' March

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—Reurrection City, U.S.A., in the Poor Peoples Campaign park between the Washington Monument and the Lincoln Memorial, is a scene of a march.

However, the camping permit authorized for the campaigners coming from all sections of the country provides for only 1,000 persons, with the permit expiring at the end of five weeks.

The first miner came out of the mine entrance, into the glare of floodlights and the wait. The lamps on their hats flickered through the gloom.

The men appeared dazed by the harsh floodlights and the questions being thrown at them by mine officials and relatives.

Dr. Lee B. Todd of Quinwood, the mine physician, quickly looked over each man before he was led to the ambulance. "We will continue to drain the mine until we make contact with the remaining 10 men," said C.E. Richardson, president of the company.

'A Holdup Is in Progress' attempted to rob the bar. A patron, arms upraised in center, tells police of the suspect and then stands aside at right as police move in. A bartender was shot and killed, the suspect was wounded and one of the police was wounded. (AP Photofax).

Paris Riots Crushed By Police

PARIS (AP)—Gas-masked riot police crushed the latest and bitterest student revolt in the Latin Quarter at dawn today, after 11 hours of tearing gas, clubbing and warding off rocks.

Police Chief Maurice Gri-maud said 367 persons were injured and 466 arrested in what he called a "veritable guerrilla action."

The students, who varied in number from 10,000 to 20,000 during the action, held a square mile of the French capital for several hours. This morning several hundred student-led blockades again used tear gas to disperse them.

Two big labor unions—the Communist General Confederation of Labor and the French Confederation of Democratic and Socialist Unions—called a general strike for Monday in support of the students, who have been on a strike since last week.

'Restraint' Needed Despite Tax Hike HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP)—Friday some action must be taken to halt spiraling wage-price increases.

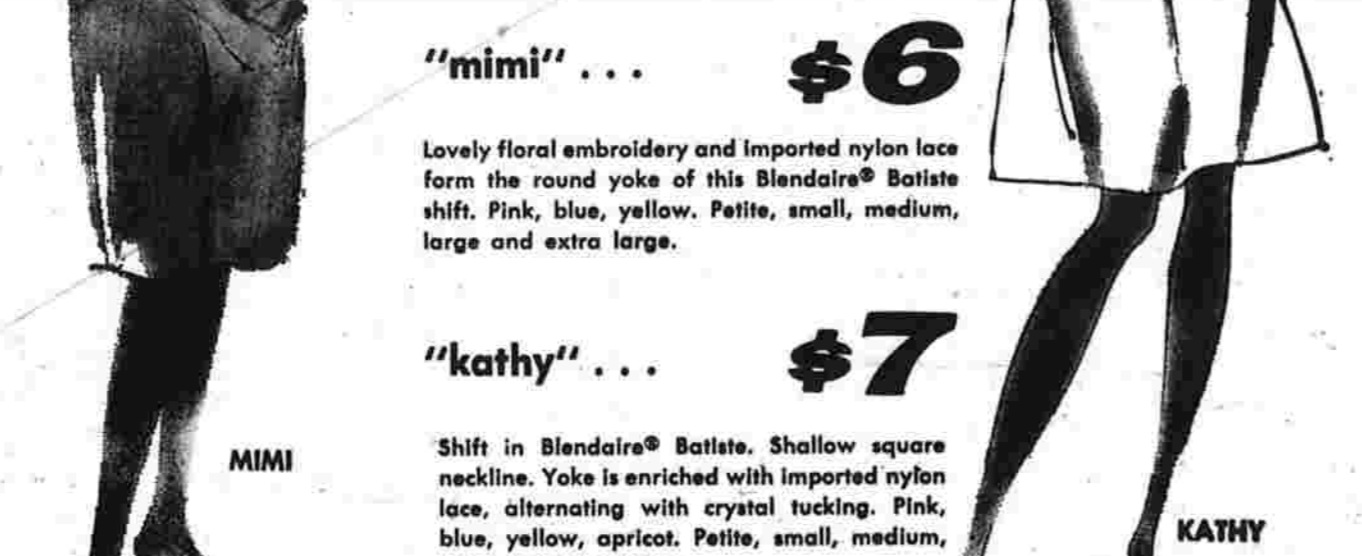

Omum and Hayes addressed the Business Council at its spring meeting. Some 100 presidents and board chairmen of the nation's biggest firms discuss urban problems today.

Drum did not use the word "guidelines" to describe the voluntary wage-price restraints he advocated. But Hayes said this device needs "careful and sympathetic re-examination" even though it is considered out of fashion.

While direct and rigid governmental controls over prices and wages must be rejected as counter to the very principles of free enterprise we seek to maintain, we must find some way of updating the guideline principle of keeping wage increases in line with average productivity gains.

'If we are successful in moderating excess demand with the pending tax-cut bill, we will have moved toward a situation where the guideline principle can work and it will then be up to labor and management to see that they do their part.'

MAKING UP YOUR MIND MAY NOT BE A VIRTUE

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

If people accuse you of having trouble making up your mind, don't try to prove that they're wrong. There are times when it is a virtue to avoid committing yourself until the last possible moment.

Opening lead of two spades. Declarer won the first trick in dummy with the jack of spades and led a diamond to the King. West played low with a very casual mood, and South led a trump to dummy and tried another diamond.

This series of moves committed South to diamonds. As it happened, West had both the ace and jack of diamonds, so that South was now sure to lose two diamonds and two other aces. Down one.

It's easy to see that South should play the clubs and hearts before tackling the diamonds. The South runs into trouble in either clubs or hearts but can still recover because he is not fully committed.

Catholic Schools Raising Tuition

Tuition for students at East Catholic High School will increase $30 so that students will now pay $200 in tuition per year starting in September. The announcement was made by Msgr. James A. Connelly, superintendent of schools of the Archdiocese of Hartford.

The original plan for financing the three schools was to utilize monies from the building campaign, parish assessment subsidies, and tuition. However, the building fund has been depleted and the parishes are unable to contribute more to the high schools, thus the additional money must come from increased tuition revenue. It was reported.

'Period' Good By Players

The Manchester Community Players last night moved one step further up the ladder toward the professional theatre.

By moving from their previous home ground of the Whiton Memorial Library to the larger and more workable stage of the Bowers School Auditorium, they stepped into the realm of professional stage setting and the varieties that larger quarters make possible. They also advanced to the complicated world of one of America's most well known contemporary writers, Mr. Tennessee Williams.

The performance was one of his few comedies, "Period of Adjustment," which in 1960 saw a short run on Broadway and reached its first national popularity a few years later when it came to the screen. The play's most major role and his great depth of meaning.

There will be a repeat performance at 8:30 tonight at the same place.

Tolland County State Senate Hopeful Asks More School Aid

Robert Houley of Vernon, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for State Senator from the 38th District (Tolland and Windham counties) last night called for "the increasing of the state average daily membership in the pupil grant in education."

This would help alleviate the mounting educational costs, resulting in "soaring budgets for Tolland County."

The increased ADME grants were one of a five-point program outlined by Houley at last night's meeting of the Tolland Democratic Town Committee.

Houley called for increased state grants for all school building projects, as well as grants for the construction of new schools.

If elected, he would advocate the state increase the cut from 75 per cent state participation in town welfare costs.

Houley said that he has been victimized by silence too long. "I am confident that I can serve you," he has said and asked that I do my homework and work at my responsibilities," Houley said.

He pointed to his background in local planning and zoning in the area of economic development and on the Vernon Board of Representatives as a major asset for the position of State Senator.

"It is imperative that the State Senator thoroughly understand the problems of local government, if he is to understand the problems of the town," Houley concluded.

About Town

The Couples Club of Center Congregational Church will meet tonight at 8 p.m. in the Room of the church. A member of the State Police will speak on "Caring for the Elderly." Those who wish more information may contact Mr. and Mrs. Don Ellis at 247-1111 or Mr. and Mrs. Alan Larkin at 62 Somerset St.

The Rev. George W. Smith, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, will present a service tomorrow at 8:15 a.m. on radio station WINP. The program is "The April 30 question hour" with 131 votes, 3,214 to 3,645, and school board chairman John Patton. The Board of Education will vote its decision on May 13, Monday.

The elector who asked the question Tuesday night (clarification of the April 30 vote) received no answer then. Since then, town officials have cited the April 30 question hour as a precedent.

Town Council John Shea as the answer.

Shea, after stating that "the proposed (April 30) vote is not properly termed a referendum," ruled that "the proposed vote would have no binding effect" on the Board of Education.

He explained that "by its character and is the power reserved to the people at their own option to approve or reject the polls any act of the legislative body."

"Such a vote is not the present case," he emphasized. "The proposed vote is not a referendum but an information question."

By votes of the powers conferred by the General Statutes, the Board of Education has the authority and responsibility to decide whether or not to hold a referendum on the proposed vote. The Board of Education is an agency of the town and its officers, except as limited by the law new law Feb. 22, and Veterans Day, Nov. 11.

Heralding Politics

At Tuesday night's Board of Education meeting, a town district was asked for a clarification of the April 30 advisory vote on Project Concern, the busting of Hartford disadvantaged children to Manchester schools.

He wanted to know whether the defeat of the proposal was binding on the Board of Education, which had delayed its decision on the proposal until after the special election.

Thelma, Secret TV Station, Helps Ease Racial Tension Associated Press Writer BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Somewhere in Baltimore—in a secret location—a television set named Thelma is helping to ease racial tensions.

Maryland's Consumer Protection Division is using the television set, dubbed Thelma by the director of the division, Norman Polovoy, to help eliminate the ghetto dwellers.

"It is a set," says Polovoy, "that we have inspected and turned on from top to bottom. There is just one minor thing wrong with that set."

"So when we turn that set over to a TV repairman he had better not tell us we need a new set for $40 or $50 or a new transformer."

Polovoy, a 39-year-old attorney, says he could make much more money devoting all of his time to his private law practice but adds that he gets a kick out of putting the shills under unscrupulous merchants and salesmen.

Polovoy and his boss, Atty. Gen. Francis B. Burch, see the division, which is only seven months old, as a vital means of protecting the poor.

"I remember during the riots last summer," said Polovoy, "that some merchants who had dealt justly with the poor had been protected by them. I even saw some armed guards—shambled—who had stationed themselves in front of one man's store. And he was a white man."

Polovoy said constantly being preyed upon has built up a sense of frustration and quiet rage that rioting and other less violent forms of protest are almost inevitable results of this.

"We want to act as a safety valve and at the same time help the state government. It is not some vague entity in some shiny building far away," said Polovoy.

"That's one of the reasons we have begun opening our offices on Saturdays. What could be more frustrating than to have a complaint on a busy day and find that the branch of state government to help you was closed?"

Through Maryland's Consumer Protection Division is relatively small with five staffers, and relatively late, with 26 other states in Vietnam.

Polovoy's office sought two additional weapons for its legal arsenal in the just-ended session of the General Assembly, but both measures died a quiet death in the House Economic Matters Committee.

He said he plans to try to get them passed next session. One would permit homeowners a 72-hour cooling off period as a guard against high pressure salesmen. Another would eliminate referral sales in Maryland.

Meanwhile, said Polovoy, "we're still using Thelma and soon we'll be able to step in and get rid of a lot of these so-called TV repairmen."

"If we've learned anything," he said, "it is how tragic it is that the riot control weapons of the police are much more effective this year than last year. Those whom the gods would destroy they first make mad."

Just a few short weeks ago brown, white and yellow people all over the world, and we in Manchester are not willing to share a little of what we have to help poor and white kids only eight miles away. Sure doesn't make sense to me.

Nicholas A. LaPenta To Chairman John S.G. Rottner. I would like very much to express an opinion on the recent voting referendum. I have no personal feelings on any of the issues because I realize that whatever is voted on will be done whether or not it benefits me in any way. In this case I am only the taxpayer; the person who will come up with the money a certain time of the year regardless of whether I have it saved whether I have to go out and borrow it!

In the first place, I have to work for a living, so that means I have to find time to get to my working hours. I went out to vote on Tuesday because I am a citizen of this country. The simple fact that they were interested in the opinion of the people.

It seems that when it comes to Question No. 20, the Board of Education wants to forget it was ever there. To think that one question could poll more votes than any other question is a far cry from reality. I have voted as my conscience says. I do not have the audacity to say "I don't regard a margin of 121 votes as any kind of mandate."

Does the Board of Education question the intelligence of the Manchester voters, or will future voting be a farce? I am a long time voter and taxpayer in Manchester. I am encouraged to stir up the activities of some of the students at Manchester High School to include this subject in their formal education.

Are you, as elected officials of the Town of Manchester, to be intimidated by a few irresponsible juveniles or are you willing to stand by the wishes of over 3600 voters and taxpayers? Perhaps it would be well if these children were informed that the taxpayers are contributing, in some instances at great sacrifice, to the support of their education. Also, if parents do not teach their children to respect other people and the opinions of other people, I would suggest that steps be taken to include this subject in their formal education.

It is true that this proposed demonstration was planned with the permission of the school administration and the encouragement of some of the teachers. I certainly hope you will make a thorough investigation of the circumstances. It seems to me it is a sad state of affairs when students in secondary schools are encouraged to stir up trouble, especially at a time when tension is running so high.

It is this a part of the educational program? It is the opinion of many responsible citizens that the most important point at issue in the discussion of Project Concern, has been evaded. The probable reorganization of the schools and the eventual re-organization of municipal government.

I strongly urge you to refuse to accept to the referendum. I am a few students and to comply with the wishes of the voters assuring themselves daily that having started such divisions first, Polovoy says "We are probably the most hyperactive."

He explains that he has even succeeded in interesting several law students who help on a voluntary basis without pay — "our own VISTA program."

They collected $4,000 during one period and sent $78 worth of cigarettes to Vietnam," said Polovoy. "Then they used a letter of thanks from a colonial in Vietnam to give the racket what looked, at first, like a respectable cover."

Forces Kill 442 of Foe Below DMZ

along the DMZ. Dong Ha, 11 miles south of the DMZ, is headquarters for the 3rd Marine Division, which is responsible for defense of South Vietnam's northern frontier.

In Saigon, U.S. jet bombers made repeated runs for the second straight day today but "the Viet Cong are still there, dug in bunkers deep and heavy," said Lt. Col. Tony De Luca, commander of the 9th Infantry Division battalion trying to push the enemy south away from the city.

De Luca estimated remnants of an enemy battalion remained in the half-mile square area of homes and shanties abandoned by the civilian population along the city's southern limits. Enemy prisoners said they had been told to get into Saigon and fight to the death.

The American infantrymen still were coming under sniper fire today, sometimes heavy. The Viet Cong also kept up scattered mortar attacks, killing eight civilians and wounding at least 16. Vietnamese officials said hospitals in the city had reported 95 civilians dead from the fighting and 2,448 wounded, but it was believed civilian casualties were higher.

The number of civilian refugees was estimated at 80,000. Today is the 2,812th anniversary of Buddha's birth, a major date in the religious calendar of predominantly Buddhist South Vietnam. Because of the fighting, the government broadcast appeals to the people to pray at home instead of gathering as usual in pagodas.

In a report on the 22-day-old allied invasion into the A Shau Valley, the U.S. Command said allied forces have taken control of the entire valley, and enemy stronghold for two years.

Lt. Gen. Robert E. Cushman, U.S. commander in the northern war zone, said the allies linked up Friday with U.S. paratroop units along roads connecting the 25-mile-long valley near the Laotian border with the old imperial capital of Hue, 30 miles to the east.

Cushman said enemy resistance was sporadic in some areas and nonexistent in others. He called the operation a success, if only because of the tremendous amount of supplies captured. Since the operation began April 19, U.S. forces have reported killing 60 enemy soldiers while 14 Americans were killed and 720 wounded seriously enough to be evacuated.

An Air Force F105 Thunderchief was shot down by enemy ground fire Friday near Dak To in the central highlands of South Vietnam. The pilot was rescued. It was the 28th U.S. warplane announced lost in combat over South Vietnam.

In air raids on North Vietnam, American pilots flew 113 missions Friday and reported heavy anti-aircraft fire, including anti-aircraft missiles in the Dong Hoi area, 40 miles above the demilitarized zone.

He carried a sign which read: "I am fighting poverty. I work. Have you tried it? It works!"

Arthur Frederick, northeast coordinator of the march and of SCLC, said his organization "had nothing to do with the stabbing."

In Columbus, Ohio, an announcement that $5,000 in United Appeal money would be available if needed to help feed the Poor Peoples' Campaign group due here tonight was rescinded Friday night.

William E. Knepper, president of the local United Appeal organization, said, "Not one penny of pledged or contributed UA money will be spent in connection with the poverty march."

He said the organization withdrew its earlier offer partly because of reaction that included many telephone complaints and one case of mass cancellations. The Tennessee segment of the campaign continued without any major problems, crossing in North Carolina through the great smoky mountains with 419 persons on 11 buses.

Washington has said it would require a gesture of "mutual restraint" on the part of the North Vietnamese if America is to cease its bombing raids north of the dividing line.

Until this question is tackled, diplomats said, it is too early to say whether a handshake is a first gesture toward peace in Vietnam.

Two Poems for Mother

Members of the fourth grade class of Mrs. Sally Hohenthal at Bentley School have written poems for their mothers on Mother's Day.

The poems of two students were considered by Mrs. Hohenthal to be worthy of special attention. They laud the patient tolerance and the guidance of mothers.

Ann Turkington wrote this: Thank you Mom for being so kind, And letting things go, even though you did mind. I thank you for putting up with cats and kittens, And with the dog who chewed all the mittens. I must say you put up with an awful lot, And I hope your Mother's Day is right on the spot!

To his mother, Peter Bartolotta wrote: With my homework you did help. Without you I would yelp. I think you are very smart, And most kind in your heart. When I was little you taught me words like if and but. Without you my door to college would be shut.

Mansfield Store to Open Brotherhood Project For 1967 Bears Fruit

The work of the Manchester Brotherhood in Action Project '67 will bear fruit tomorrow afternoon at 2 when the officials of the Mansfield Training School cut the ribbon in front of the new clothing store there.

With the sole support of the BIA, the $7,000 needed to build the store was given the school last fall, according to Allen Pike, the school's assistant superintendent.

The BIA staged a Charity Ball last Sept. 23 to put together the money. The BIA is composed of members of the Masons, Knights of Columbus and B'nai B'rith. The Manchester Business and Professional Women's Club has also selected Mansfield as its project last year and joined the effort.

Mansfield children never had a store where they could develop their own judgment, Pike said. The school has always just put together some clothes of about the right fit in their storeroom and then sent them to the child to wear, like it or not, he said.

The school had the clothing store idea in mind for several years, he added, but never could get the money from the state or anywhere else.

"Until Manchester came to our rescue, we were stuck," Pike said. With the $7,000 raised by BIA, the school's carpenters and workmen, and a large room from a building which housed school employees, the school has built what compares to a good store on Mansfield's Main St. or the Parkade. The last touches were being put on yesterday afternoon.

Monday, Mansfield children will be able to enter a large store with picture windows in front. There will be long clothing racks, manikins, shelves, fireplaces and decorations. A child can choose what he wants and try it on in a dressing room. A seamstress will be on hand most of the time to make sure it fits.

The store will be run by personnel of the school. The business office will handle the books and a store keeper will be on hand from the store house crew. It will open full-time on weekdays.

The Charity Ball Committee members will be given a buffet at 1 p.m. tomorrow before the ribbon cutting.

"These people put in a fantastic amount of time last fall," Pike said. "And we are trying to give them our thanks."

After the ribbon cutting and a good look at the store, the annual Talent Round-up will be presented in the Longley School Auditorium at 3 p.m.

All members of the Mansfield Parents Association are invited to the ribbon cutting and talent show. The store is in the Dimock House on the ground floor.

Bigger problems broke out Friday on the New England segment of the march, when a demonstrator picketing the campaign in Boston was stabbed.

Joseph Miot-Mroz was picketing across the street from campaign headquarters in Boston when he was knocked to the ground. He got in his car, turned the vehicle and was a block away when he was stabbed. He was listed in fair condition.

He carried a sign which read: "I am fighting poverty. I work. Have you tried it? It works!"

Arthur Frederick, northeast coordinator of the march and of SCLC, said his organization "had nothing to do with the stabbing."

In Columbus, Ohio, an announcement that $5,000 in United Appeal money would be available if needed to help feed the Poor Peoples' Campaign group due here tonight was rescinded Friday night.

Paris Riot Crushed By Police

injured, 14 civilian nonstudents and 251 police. Fifty-four were kept in hospitals. Four students and 18 policemen were reported in serious condition, one with a fractured skull.

The general strike on Monday, the day the United States and North Vietnam are expected to begin hard bargaining on the Vietnam war at their conference center about 2.8 miles away from the riot scene, could bring virtual paralysis to Paris.

Such strikes in the past have meant shutdowns of all public transportation and the gas and electricity systems.

Highly placed French officials said they saw a connection between the rioting and the peace talks. They pointed to some of the student leaders who have been labeled as considerably more militant than France's Communists.

The nation's big Communist party came out today in favor of arrested leaders and reopening of schools, but the regular party Reds have been shouted down at rallies by young pro-Peking elements, Trotskyists and anarchists.

The colorful Left Bank area near the Sorbonne, focus of student protests, was littered with burning, overturned cars, piles of cobblestones and shards of glass from shattered shop windows.

Throughout the long running battle between police and students, Parisian families stood on the balconies of their apartments and watched with seeming indifference.

The rioting students showed no inclination to challenge police lines at the Seine and cross to the Right Bank where preliminary peace talks on the Vietnam war are being held by North Vietnamese and U.S. negotiators.

Mainly the students demand the release of students arrested in earlier demonstrations, withdrawal of police from around the Sorbonne—the University of Paris—the reopening of the school of literature and general modernization of educational processes.

One of the biggest battles was fought on the west end of the Luxembourg Gardens. There students entrenched behind barricades five-feet high and six-feet thick held out for three hours before riot police made them yield.

Lines of gendarmes with grenade-launchers fired tear gas grenades aimed point blank at students who raised their heads above the ramparts.

Missing the rebels, the grenades sped overhead and slammed into shop windows, leaving a hissing red tail. Then the gendarmes sent concussion grenades among the insurgents.

The students sang the Internationale, the Communist anthem, and waited for the charge.

Upon a shouted order the massed blue lines of police rushed forward to the top of the barricade. A few policemen who reached the summit were felled by flying paving stones, about four inches on a side and weighing more than a pound.

Twice the blue line struggled forward and twice it was forced to retreat. The third time, after an attack with concussion grenades the police broke through the student phalanx. Cries rose in the murky darkness.

The retreating students set overturned cars afire to impede the attacking police and kept shouting their defiance.

One young man tried to evade the charge by hiding in a doorway. He made a run toward police and was beaten to the ground with rifle butts, then dragged to an ambulance.

Tjerina is a controversial land grant organization leader, and Archbishop Davis said that although he supported the principle of the march he considered it a mistake to pick Tjerina to lead the Poor Peoples' Campaign in New Mexico.

"I do not support Mr. Tjerina and what he stands for, and I know few reputable people in our state who do," the archbishop said.

Tjerina has been charged by the state with kidnapping, assault and false imprisonment in connection with an armed raid on a New Mexico courthouse last June. The charges are pending. Tjerina heads an organization that claims ownership of old Spanish land grant territories.

The Tennessee segment of the campaign continued without any major problems, crossing in North Carolina through the great smoky mountains with 419 persons on 11 buses.

LBJ LANDS IN VIRGINIA

HOT SPRINGS, VA. (AP) — President Johnson arrived by helicopter at this mountain resort today to meet with some of the most influential business leaders at the spring meeting of the Business Council. Some 100 presidents and board chairmen of the nation's largest firms are here this weekend to discuss urban problems and other subjects concerning business and industry. Johnson, who left the White House at 8:33 a.m. without disclosing his destination, arrived here at 9:35 a.m.

The 19-year-old Manchester youth received minor injuries last night after crashing his car into a utility pole and rolling over at Edgerton St. and Lodge Dr.

The driver, Robert S. Felice, 18, of 144 Highland St., was charged with operating a motor vehicle without a license and with making an improper turn, as a result of the accident.

Police said the impact of the automobile knocked the pole over, and that Townsend was taken to Manchester Memorial Hospital via ambulance where he was treated for minor bruises and released.

He will appear in Manchester Circuit Court 12 May 27. Earlier today, another Manchester youth escaped injury, but not arrest, when he drove his car into a stone wall near exit 92 of the Wilbur Cross Highway close to Hilliard St.

The driver, Robert S. Felice, 18, of 144 Highland St., was charged with making an improper turn, police said, after leaving the turnpike and entering the ramp at a high rate of speed, causing his car to skid 185 feet sideways into the wall.

The car was seriously damaged, but Felice and another youth riding with him were unharmed.

Felice will appear in court May 27. A car owned by Wesley V. Feshler, 27, of 138 Oak St., suffered hit and run damage while parked at Oak and Spruce Sts. yesterday at 11:05 p.m.

David F. Fishery, 43, of Bloomfield is the owner of a car that incurred hit and run damage from an unidentified automobile while he was driving on Tolland Tpke. near Oakland St. at 8:34 p.m. yesterday.

Ellin L. Edwards, 61, of 72 Vernon St., backed his car into a parked car belonging to Robert O. Gamache of Coventry yesterday at 11:45 a.m. in a private parking lot at Broad St. and W. Middle Tpke.

John Merchant, deputy commissioner of community affairs for the State of Connecticut, will be guest speaker at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club Tuesday noon at the Manchester Country Club. The board of directors will meet at 11:30 a.m.

Norman Slade of 101 E. Middle Tpke. will present an organ recital tomorrow at 8 p.m. at Center Congregational Church.

Forty-six Ninth Grade students from Bennett Junior High School recently made a two-day trip to New York City in conjunction with their studies in World History.

Chaperoning the trip were Mrs. Bernice Maher, 8th Grade social studies teacher, Miss Ann Valukovich, a student teacher from the University of Connecticut, Leo Diana, science and mathematics teacher, and David Dooman, physical education instructor, both from Bennett.

The group visited such places as The Clotiers, United Nations, Statue of Liberty, Chinatown, Greenwich Village, and the Museum of Natural History. They further added to their education by dining at a Chinese restaurant, sampling the many oriental dishes.

'We're All Type Cast'

By JOAN CROSBY
 NEW YORK—(NEA) — Meet Arthur Hill, who may be the only actor in the world who doesn't complain about being type cast. "We are all type cast because we are all types," he said. "I originally came to this country to do comedy in 'The Matchmaker,' which now has a musical version, 'Hello, Dolly,' playing down the street. Then somebody decided I looked like a dependable physician or a brain surgeon or an architect."
 Hill, a Canadian, looks most like what he is, a very real, concerned man who has a deep interest in things outside his profession. He also has a deep interest in his profession.
 His next TV appearance will be on the CBS Playhouse presentation of "Secrets", to be seen Wednesday. He plays a man who "feels he must keep a particular part of his life secret. By so doing, he demonstrates that there are times when we must all make allowances."

He will also be appearing this summer in a repertory company in suburban Mineola, N.Y., in "Come Back, Little Sheba," and "Light Up the Sky," in a role originally played by Sam Levent.
 Ask him why he has chosen to do so, when he could more profitably spend his time grinding out appearances in TV, and he says, "The very fact that they are trying to do repertory on a serious professional level and also the fact that people are trying to find somewhere else to build theater audiences. There is talk of a permanent repertory company there, as the core of a cultural center. But I hate the phrase 'cultural center.' They smack of the earliest beginnings of our culture when you would walk into a farmer's house and find culture on the bookshelf in the form of two books, Shakespeare and the Bible. And neither one was ever cracked open."

George Carlin: His Price Is Up

NEW YORK AP) — The low-budget hot weather variety shows rarely cause much excitement and creep away quietly when September rolls around. But George Carlin, one of the bright young comedians who is very serious about the joke business, says that his summer replacement assignment last season in Jackie Gleason's CBS spot, plus a number of bookings on Johnny Carson's "Tonight Show" on NBC have been the two most important breaks in his career.
 The Gleason replacement gave him stature, and the Carson show gave him a special kind of exposure. One immediate result was that his price as a guest star went up. Another was a flood of bookings on the top variety shows. And the third and not least was a part in a forthcoming Doris Day movie.

Carlin is a West Side Manhattan boy who does not look like a comedian, and who both writes and performs his own material. In addition he has served a couple of hitches writing material for other performers as in NBC's Music Hall series.
 "I am one who doesn't think it hurts a performer to move around the variety shows," Carlin said. "Even though the same people look at each show, I think they look at each one with different eyes. I think there is a special look and feel about the Dean Martin show that affects viewers. I think the mood of people watching the Carson show is different from their mood early in the evening."
 A comedian like Carlin who is hot is able to appear on only about one major network show a month. Of course this careful spacing is likely to be fouled up in rerun time and when there is a logjam created by unexpected pre-emptions of programs.
 Carlin has little trouble keeping his material fresh. Much of his humor is topical and he works largely with a cast of five characters he has created.
 He can satirize politicians and political institutions by slipping into his character of "Countdown Cop-out." He has a disc jockey character, a weather

Adult 'Secrets'

NEW YORK AP) — Tad Mosel, a talented, sensitive writer who quit television several seasons back for the freer, greener field of Broadway and motion pictures, will be back on the tube on May 15 with an original drama, "Secrets," the last of this season's "CBS Playhouse" series.
 "I had something to say, something I thought was important, about privacy and the parts of peoples lives that they do not reveal to anyone else," Mosel said. "I think it makes an interesting play. And I also think that it is a drama with a theme that is adult enough that it would never have been produced on television 10 years ago."

Mosel, along with Reginald Rose and Loring Mandel, are among the eminent TV drop-outs who have recently been lured back to the medium by "CBS Playhouse" which not only gives its writers freedom to express themselves but also pays extra large prices for scripts.
 The CBS experiment quite frankly was designed more for network prestige than for Nielsen points. And the series must be counted as an enormous success. It has already picked up a Peabody award and has been nominated for Emmys—and the three dramas shown have produced Nielsen numbers much larger than anyone dared hope for.

There has been so much exploitation around the occasional drama specials on the three networks this season that it has concealed the sad fact that drama has been pretty well limited. And the same situation is likely to prevail next season.
 Mosel, whose TV experience was concentrated in the days of the original dramas of Playhouse 90, Philco Playhouse and all the other dramatic shows of the so-called "Golden Days" finds the current dearth of meaningful drama on TV understandable.
 "You just can't produce material of high quality on a weekly basis," he said. "There isn't enough of it."

A Latin Bellhop's View of America

By JOAN CROSBY
 NEW YORK — (NEA) — Jose Jimenez is back and the United States of America has got him. The loving and lovable Latin bellhop take a look at his country in a Bell System special set for NBC Friday, "Discover America with Jose Jimenez."
 Because Jose is speechless without his friend Bill Dana, who has a much better command of the English language, Bill was pressed into service to tell some of their adventures while traveling across the country, attending such diversified festivities at the annual blessing of the fleet in Gloucester, Mass., and the Natural Chimney Jousting Tournament in Mount Solon, Va.
 For instance, in the remains of the Santa Claus pueblo, outside Santa Fe, N.M., Indians "traditionally have a rain dance at 11 a.m. because it traditionally rains at 11 in the morning. Now Al Wasserman, who produced the show, went to the chief and he said, 'Gee, chief, for purposes of the color cameras the light in the morning is bad. Can you possibly reschedule the rain dance for around 3 p.m. when the buttes and mesas will be backlit and it will be beautiful for the cameras?' Well, obviously the chief's feeling for esthetics beat his fear of tradition, because he rescheduled the rain dance and the Great Father rescheduled His plan and the traditional rain fell in the afternoon. It scared us a bit."

 Bill and Jose, one of whom has been busy since his TV series disappeared with guest appearances, night club dates, producing records his latest is "The Mashuganishi Yogi" with Joey Freeman as the Yogi) and writing, were also in San Francisco when a comic Bill knew spotted him in a coffeehouse.
 "He asked me what I had been doing lately and I told him I had been working in Gloucester for the blessing of the fleet and in Hannibal, Mo., for the Tom Sawyer Fence Painting Contest and at the Pennsylvania Dutch Festival and he looked at me and said, 'Who the hell's booking you?' I could see the comic thinking, 'I'm doing as well as he is.' If I had told him about the Indian ceremonial dances, he probably would have felt superior."
 The show developed from some commercials Bill did for

Bill Dana as Jose Jimenez leads band.

Bell's long-lines system. The result so pleased everyone that a second show has already been taped for telecast next year. (Long-lines systems obviously developed long plans.)

 "For 60 per cent of the time," Bill said, "doing a show like this is a highly paid vacation. One moment you're in Yellowstone and the next you're in the desert with the flowers blooming."
 Just like Jose, who is as warm as a puppy, Bill is a very popular man, liked by everyone. Because he is not a trouble-maker, he is often overlooked when publicity is being doled out. Only once has he displeased critics and that was when he adapted "Alice in Wonderland" into a hip cartoon called, "Whats a Nice Girl Like You Doing in a Place Like This?" That was the real title of the show, but the network insisted on using, "Alice in Wonderland," with the other as a subtitle. It made it look as if Bill was rewriting Lewis Carroll. The critics didn't like that. "But at least that time," Bill says, "everyone knew I was involved."

Flying Nun Keeps Latin Lover Down

NEW YORK AP) — "The Flying Nun," ABC's comedy-fantasy entry in this season's television hit parade, is now gliding through the summer reruns. And that dashing playboy-gambler, Carlos Rameros is free to assume, for a little while, his own identity.

The part—and it is the only regular man's role in a female-dominated series built around a Puerto Rican convent—seems quite natural for Alejandro Rey —pronounced alla-hand-ro ray—a dashing young gentleman from the Argentina. On holiday, he is currently trying to see every-guy on Broadway before returning to another season of being victimized weekly by Sister Bertrille in the series.

Alejandro is an actor with a pretty broad experience, having appeared in stage productions of serious dramas like "Tea and Sympathy" and attracting attention playing a tragic young Puerto Rican in an episode of "Naked City." He thinks that perhaps his "Flying Nun" role with its curious limitations may make greater demands than anything he has ever before tackled.

Week after week he must play an eternally hopeful wolf who, just when he gets a gorgeous girl in his arms, is interrupted by the little flying nun, demanding that he solve some emergency.

Each week, too, he must say, "Sister Bertrille!" and deliver the words with a combination of dismay, incredulity and frustration bordering on anger.

"Sometimes we have to stop and figure another way to get through it," Rey said, "because we had done it the same way the week before. After all those shows with something like 30 different girls I only got to kiss one of them, and then the show was too long and they cut most of it out."

Rey adds, however, that the public seems to enjoy Carlos' relationship with the little nun, and the mail indicates that many of the fans fondly believe that if Sister Bertrille were not a nun, there might be a romance growing up with Carlos.

The actor, now an American citizen, began acting in Argentina, appeared in 20 films shot in Spain and has done guest shots in some 50 TV shows during his recent years in Hollywood.

"Jobs have not been too hard," he said, "because there are not so many actors with a Spanish accent around."

Some actors may talk about being tired of their roles, he said. "I am not tired of this and I will not be tired. I do not think I have the part fixed quite right yet, but I am getting it better. Have you noticed that recently I have been acting more patient and reconciled about Sister Bertrille."

Rivals Gun For Wagner

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Robert Wagner is discovering the facts of life—the hard way. The facts, that is, of television life.

He's starring in his first series, the sudden success, "It Takes a Thief." And he's found out that CBS and NBC are gunning for his ABC hit.

"I grew up in the movie business," Bob says. "And, in all my years, I never heard of one studio upset over the success of another studio. If 'Sound of Music' is a hit, all the other studios are happy about it."

"But, in television, the networks hate it when one of their rivals has a hit. Next season, I'm told, CBS and NBC are going to try and knock us off. Isn't that ridiculous?"

Maybe, but it's done. Bob will learn to live with it and, if the show has what it takes, it will survive the competition. He thinks it will be better next season—after all, when it was slipped into the midwinter schedule this year, they only had two scripts done. It's been hurry-up-and-shoot all the way.

For Wagner, the series is great. His career has had its ups and downs, from big teenage-type stardom to utter neglect. Now he's up again and hopes it's a lasting condition.

A Masai tribesman on NBC's "Man, Beast and Land" Thursday 7:30-8:30 pm. on NBC.
