

Paralysis Seen Near In France

PARIS (AP) — Strikes snowballed rapidly across France in a wave of social ferment today and the nation approached total paralysis. Paris was at a virtual standstill with not a bus, subway or train moving. Housewives rushed to stock up on food.

Joining the walkouts amid calls for the resignation of President Charles de Gaulle were workers in coal mines, automobile factories, ports and airports. Even war widows and war veterans joined the movement with demands for higher pensions.

De Gaulle conferred with top ministers Sunday but took no immediate action. He had returned home early from his official visit to Romania Saturday.

The number of workers off their jobs ballooned into the millions. Hundreds of business concerns were closed down either by worker walkouts or because of the paralysis of transport and other services.

Garbage piled in the streets of Paris. There have been no collections since Saturday because of a strike of garbage men and streetcleaners.

Thousands of workers occupied the big Peugeot auto factory at Sochaux in eastern France near the Swiss border. All of the government-owned Renault auto plants have been occupied since Friday.

The 22,000 workers of the Michelin tire factory at Clermont Ferrand in central France went on strike and occupied the premises.

Striking Marseille dockworkers ran red flags to the tops of masts of all French ships. The 3,000 dockers of neighboring Clotat were also on strike.

About two-thirds of the 65,000 workers at various Citroen auto plants around the country were unable to work. A company spokesman said "elements foreign to the company" prevented the men from entering.

In Paris, lines formed in front of some banks even before opening time. Bank employees got strike orders Saturday. The Bank of France delayed the opening of the foreign exchange market.

Electricity workers in Paris continued to provide power although they have occupied the factories since Saturday night.

Food supplies reached Les Halles, Paris' big central market, while truck drivers remained at their jobs.

Most miners were out. The 45,000 coal miners of the North Basin joined the strike of their comrades in Lorraine.

The 10,000 men of the Alsace potash mines and the 7,000 men of the mines in the Blancy Basin, central France, were also out.

The 1,700 men of a French oil refinery at Le Havre and the 2,000 of a Shell refinery near Marseille put down their tools.

Reports of other stoppages poured in from outside Paris—2,500 at the French plant of International Harvester at St. Dizier, nearly 10,000 in the Sud-Aviation plant at the port of Rochefort, and an unlimited strike voted by the same firm's factory at Marignane, near Marseille.

Roads leading into Paris were clogged by huge traffic jams. Gasoline stations, uncertain of their supplies, were limiting the quantities sold to each customer.

French Channel ferries to Britain remained in port. Only the big Paris international airport, was almost deserted as airlines switched their flights to Brussels, Belgium, and dispatched passengers to Paris on chartered buses.

GOLD PRICES RISE

LONDON (AP) — The price of gold reached a new peak of $42.80 an ounce on the London free market today, but the free market today, but the British pound recovered slightly. Heavy demand has sent the gold price steadily up and records have tumbled daily. Gold sold at $40 an ounce for the first time last Wednesday, went up to $41.50 Friday and reached $42 at market opening this morning. The pound rebounded from Friday's all-time low of $2.3854. At one point after the foreign exchange market reopened today, it had climbed 22 points to $2.3876, then settled around $2.3872.

Quarters Of 'Poor' Doubled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eager volunteers working late into the night helped the Poor People's Campaign more than double the size of its "Resurrection City, U.S.A." over the weekend, setting the stage for possible major demonstrations early this week.

With more than half the projected 3,000 residents housed in their West Potomac Park quarters, the Southern Christian Leadership Conference has for the first time a sizeable nucleus of demonstrators on which to draw.

The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, SCLC president, is to huddle with his staff today for a strategy meeting that could well last until tonight. Exactly when and where to demonstrate is one of the topics on their agenda.

Only sudden rain squalls prevented organization of a previously unannounced march around the Capitol Sunday afternoon, said the Rev. Andrew Young, executive vice president of SCLC.

The 86-year-old minister told newsmen he felt the week-old campaign is doing "extremely well" so far, "stirring the conscience of America. . . America is talking about poverty as never before."

Negro and white volunteers had pushed construction of the tent-shaped plywood huts that make up most of the city about half-way down the mile-long stretch from the Lincoln Memorial to the Washington Monument by Sunday night.

Neither a scorching hot morning sun nor the afternoon's blustery rains kept busloads of new arrivals from pouring into the shanty city with their battered suitcases, bedrolls and blankets.

Most had been part of two large groups, the 1,000-man Midwestern caravan which arrived Saturday night and was housed in the District of Columbia Coliseum, and the 86-man Northeastern caravan housed for two days in suburban Maryland churches.

Many campaigners had to slog their way through thick mud left by a series of afternoon downpours. But the high

U.S. Aide Sent to London To Brief British on Talks

By JOHN HIGHTOWER AP Special Correspondent

PARIS (AP) — Ambassador W. Averell Harriman sent an aide to London today to brief the British on the status of preliminary Vietnam peace talks here, in advance of British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart's forthcoming trip to the Soviet Union.

The official U.S. spokesman at the talks, in which the American and North Vietnamese stands apparently remain far apart, was asked whether the United States was requesting the British government to serve as go-between for the Americans and Russians on the peace issue. He replied that since Washington and Moscow have direct relations he saw no need for a go-between.

The spokesman, Will J. Jordan, recalled that President Johnson had appealed to Britain and Russia, as co-chairmen of the 1954 Geneva Convention which divided Vietnam, to work for peace in Vietnam.

Vietnam will be a major topic of Stewart's Moscow sojourn. The trip to London by the Harriman aide, Daniel Davidson, undoubtedly was connected with the Moscow mission.

Asked whether Davidson would appeal for British and Soviet action to guarantee the security and sovereignty of Laos and Cambodia, Vietnam's neighbors in Indochina, Jordan said Davidson is simply to bring the British up to date on what was in the discussions.

Harriman had raised the point of Cambodian and Laotian security in the talks here with the Vietnamese.

Jordan said there have been no private contacts between the American and North Vietnamese delegation members since the Saturday session. Thus far the U.S. group has failed to detect any evidence of significant change in North Vietnam's position since the talks opened, Jordan said.

The United States has not asked for and has not received any assurance with regard to the continuation of the conference in Paris, which is now snarled by a wave of strikes, but Jordan said, "We are assuming the talks will go forward and facilities will be available."

When the talks reopen Wednesday, the big snag, as before, is likely to be North Vietnam's insistence that the United States, without asking any concession in return, end all bombings and acts of war against the North.

Harriman and the No. 2 U.S. envoy, Cyrus R. Vance, called on the South Vietnamese observer here for a 40-minute review of the talks so far.

Harriman told newsmen as he left the South Vietnamese consulate that he and Bui Diem, who is South Vietnam's ambassador to Washington, had agreed "the affirmative position taken by the United States delegation in the talks was the correct one, rather than getting involved in the propaganda exercise which has characterized Chinook helicopter lifts load of captured enemy ammo out of a Shau valley.

Marines Repulse 3 Attacks; Enemy Rockets Pound Base

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops made three ground attacks on U.S. Marines along South Vietnam's northern frontier Sunday and sent big rockets smashing into fuel and ammunition stores at the headquarters of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division.

The U.S. Command said the Marines repulsed the attacks near Khe Sanh and Con Thien, killing 127 North Vietnamese soldiers and capturing 88 weapons. Twelve Marines were reported killed and 49 wounded.

But the enemy's 100-pound rockets did "heavy" damage to the ammunition stores at Camp Evans, the 1st Air Cav headquarters 16 miles northwest of Hue, as well as "light" damage to fuel stores, material and facilities. "Light" personnel casualties also were reported.

Heavy damage to the ammunition means that so much of it was blown up that the men at the camp could not continue their mission until their supply was replenished.

U.S. officers say five divisions of allied and North Vietnamese forces face each other in the northern sector on almost a man for man basis. The U.S. Command believes that enough allied troops are on hand to try anything the enemy may try in the five provinces below the demilitarized zone.

In the heaviest attack Sunday, North Vietnamese troops opened up on a small Marine unit sweeping a road two miles southeast of the Khe Sanh combat base in the northwest corner of South Vietnam.

Marine tanks quickly reinforced the ground troops to help beat back the enemy troops, who the Marines said left 66 dead on the battlefield. Eight Marines were reported killed and 34 wounded.

A mile away, other North Vietnamese troops attacked a Marine company, but 43 of the enemy were killed and 33 enemy weapons were left on the battlefield, Marine spokesmen said.

At the eastern end of the DMZ, another Marine patrol ran into 50 or 60 North Vietnamese troops near Con Thien, and in a heavy exchange of machine-gun and small arms fire, 18 of the enemy were reported killed.

Marine casualties were four dead and seven wounded, spokesmen said.

The South Vietnamese military command reported 131 enemy troops killed by government rangers and tanks in a three-day sweep 12 miles south of Da Nang. Government casualties were said to be light.

The U.S. Command also announced that allied forces have killed or captured more than 10,000 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese in six weeks of Operation

Guard, Police Patrol Town in Maryland Hit by Riots

SALISBURY, Md. (AP) — An all-night curfew was lifted on schedule at 7 a.m. today as a massive force of National Guardsmen and state troopers guarded against Negro rioting in Salisbury.

Gov. Spiro T. Agnew moved about 800 Guardsmen into Salisbury Sunday. They joined more than 300 troopers dispatched Saturday night when violence was touched off by the fatal shooting of a Negro burglar suspect by a white policeman.

Downtown Salisbury appeared normal today as Guardsmen stood on street corners with rifles slung over their shoulders. They carried ammunition clips.

Businesses and schools opened as usual. Traffic moved normally.

Damage caused by about 1,000 Negroes Saturday night was relatively light, but the governor moved swiftly to guard against a recurrence.

Fire broke out at two lumber yards Sunday and firemen fighting a brush fire on a vacant lot were stoned by a crowd of 100 Negroes.

Some of the National Guard troops were on the streets by 8 p.m., although the last of the full contingent did not arrive until about midnight.

The governor ordered at 7 p.m. to 7 a.m. curfew, then activated the 6,000-member National Guard "in such numbers as shall be required." About 200 Guardsmen had been alerted Saturday and spent Saturday night in the Salisbury army without seeing duty.

Gov. Agnew also proclaimed a state of emergency Saturday night which remained in effect for the weekend.

About one-third of Salisbury's 18,000 residents are Negroes.

There was no trouble in Salisbury when the activation order was issued at 5 p.m. Sunday, but Agnew said he felt the security was still shaky.

Rockefeller Sees Strength with Reagan

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says a Rockefeller-Reagan ticket would have "great strength" but that he feels right now California Gov. Ronald Reagan is after the top spot.

Rockefeller, announced Republican Presidential candidate, said Sunday he thinks Reagan's course will be influenced by the vote the California draws in the May 28 Oregon and June California primaries.

Rockefeller planned to meet today with Southern GOP leaders in New Orleans where Reagan spoke Sunday. The two governors scheduled visits to Florida later in the day with Reagan making stops at Washington, D.C., and Charlotte, N.C.

The New Yorker's comments on Reagan were made on ABC's "Issues and Answers."

"He's getting increasingly active—a lot of TV work around the country," Rockefeller said, "and I think that he is pretty well set for the top spot."

Asked if he'd be happy with a Rockefeller-Reagan ticket, the New York governor replied he'd be happy to get the GOP nomination "and after that I'm open minded."

"If you get a ticket that reflects both points of view in the party," he said, "then it gives great strength."

Reagan, a California favorite-son candidate who has said he would accept the GOP nomination but is not collecting it, is entered in both the Oregon and California primaries.

He called at a Republican rally in New Orleans Sunday for the "great silent majority" of

Jury Picking Begins in Spock Trial

BOSTON (AP) — Selection of a jury for the trial of Dr. Benjamin Spock and four other men on charges of conspiring to counsel young men to evade the draft began today with about 100 persons present as prospective jurors.

Newsmen were barred from the courtroom during the selection because of a lack of space.

The defendants, in addition to Spock, are William Sloane Coffin Jr., Yale University chaplain; Michael Ferber, 23, second-year graduate student at Harvard University; Mitchell Goodman, 44, New York author and teacher; and Marcus Raskin, 33, co-director of the Institute for Political Studies in Washington.

At 35, Spock, the noted baby doctor, as well as the other defendants, could face up to five years in prison and a $10,000 fine. They were indicted Jan. 5.

The indictment lists 11 acts which the government said were part of a nationwide program of resistance to the operations of the U.S. Selective Service System. The government charged that the acts were a violation of the Universal Military Training and Service Act, a pre-World War I law.

A defense spokesman said last week that the defense will maintain a position that what the government calls illegal acts were within the scope of legitimate protest, protected under the first amendment of the Constitution.

Two of the acts listed by the government include a meeting at Boston's Arlington Street

The Sorbonne As A Bastille

The New York Times correspondent in Paris wrote the other day that "the Gestapo administration, like many private citizens, is convinced that a truly revolutionary situation exists and that the democratic institutions of France are threatened."

"The principle threat," he continued, "lies in the spontaneous, popular and utterly uncontrolled nature of the movement, which has been led by the ranks of New Leftists but then was joined by hundreds of thousands of students and more recently by thousands of workers."

"The movement unleashed forces that neither the Government nor the traditional Opposition parties seem equipped to handle."

This is why President de Gaulle, who has so frequently been compared to Louis XIV, the last great ruler of the line which met its end in the first French Revolution, has rushed home from the foreign pomp and circumstance of his visit to Rumania.

And this is why the whole world is suddenly called upon to consider the possibility that France, which once before provided the historic, devastating explosion against an existing system by which the world had hitherto thought itself to be approaching a good civilization as was humanly possible, may once again provide the actual catalyst which will be the symbol for all the industrialized, almost purposeless unrest which is showing itself in so many ways in so many places.

About all we seem to know about this unrest is that the hard core of it, at least, believes in tearing down almost everything that can be identified with what is called the present "system." That not only goes for universities such as Columbia or the Sorbonne, it goes for the whole social, economic and political structure of our times.

The hard, anarchist core of these various movements seems to believe in nothing beyond destruction first. Wipe out all the old, it seems to say, and something better will inevitably rise in its place. But, it seems to me, nothing better can really happen or ever will really happen, until the existing class has been blasted and burned clean.

Associated with this hard anarchist core are all kinds of other groupings, most of whom have some at least half-formed idea of a program they want an opportunity to put into effect. In France, at this moment, that French Communist is moving in on what may be the new revolution, with definite and familiar political goals of their own. They have their own principles and their own system, and they would like to exploit the situation opened by the anarchists to bring the Communist Party into a position of dominance.

But if what is threatening to develop in France should prove to be the kind of revolution the New York Times correspondent was describing in the language we quoted, there it would have no more regard or tolerance for Communism than for any other part of the "system," by which this world and its society now operate themselves. If it is really the kind of revolution it might be, it would have no more tolerance for Communism, or for democracy, than it has for the paternalistic authority of President de Gaulle.

Not can one be sure that it is the kind of revolution which really has any theory or doctrine of its own. Rather, the possibility is that it generates itself from some growingly convulsive instinct of the part of present day society, and that it is a thing which has no preachment or intellectual agitation in back of it, but will discover and formulate its own theory, if it is ever to have one, only after it has seized power.

Not the vitally anarchistic authority of Charles de Gaulle, then, but a whole Western civilization which is being accused of being tragically anarchistic too, is the target. It remains to be tested how strong and instinctive the revolutionary urge is; how much capacity Western civilization may have to justify and defend itself.

It was not until July 14 of a spring and summer perhaps somewhat comparable, that an earlier Revolution took the Bastille, symbol of the system which was supposedly to be reformed or destroyed. Today, the new revolution, if it is that, has already achieved control of the Sorbonne which, although France's most distinguished university and mark of civility, may nevertheless eventually be the symbol of the system revolution in 1968 thinks has to be wiped out before anything better and nobler can arise.

The Quiet Candidacy

What's Governor Nelson Rockefeller doing about winning the Republican Presidential nomination, now that he has proclaimed himself a candidate?

Not, so far as the headlines would indicate, much more than he was doing before he formally announced.

His speeches, such as his makes, are pleasantly thoughtful discussion of various issues, but not written or delivered in any style which wins bursts of applause or big news stories.

As for his behavior, it is on the record that he recently spent an evening in Pittsburgh without even bothering to look up two well known civil rights crusaders who were in the same hotel, or without issuing forth among the populace for a single candidatorial handshake or excited in baby-holding.

Nor has there been any spectacular series of proclamations, by Governors or other leading figures, that they are hoping aboard a Rockefeller hand-wagon.

This, on the surface at least, is a picture of a candidate who refuses to be in a hurry, who is still making himself available rather passively instead of setting himself into a frantic scramble.

Governor Rockefeller does, however, have two things going for him: the one on the surface, the other sub-surface, and it may well be that together they add up to a campaign which is going well enough at this stage of the political season.

The thing that is going for the New York Governor is his past record, his consistent way he keeps running ahead of everybody else, in any party, in the public opinion polls.

And the thing that is going on sub-surface is, of course, the operation of the Rockefeller advance men, organizers, and contacts scattered all over the country to get close to potential Rockefeller delegates in all the various states.

So long as he keeps leading all the opinion polls without any help, and is on any campaign platform, and if it is getting reports from his operators that some delegates are growing a little more interested in him, Rockefeller can perhaps do as well as he could expect to be doing in May. It might even prove to have been, later on, a model campaign.

On Horn Losers

It is generally considered to be immoral or unbecoming to be defeated in an election. Similarly, the Bill of Rights, Shakespeare, or the Bible (I forget which) tells us we must always be realistic.

There's the hang-up. Since you must sometimes be realistic and expect defeat, these two ideas clash. In an attempt to reconcile them and perhaps to alleviate the national schizophrenia which they cause, I have as a public service established a club for everyone who feels torn between the two. The club will be known as the Realistic Defeatist Anonymous.

We will get together monthly to discuss our problems. As the highlight of the evening, we will take a light like the following.

Situation: You go to the drive-in bank which has windows A, B, and C. You choose window B, but while you are waiting, you see a car in window C. In which line is the little old lady who wants to deposit her check? (a) In the line with you. (b) In the line with the car in window C. (c) In the line with the car in window A.

Situation: You buy a gallon of anti-freeze and plan to put it in your car tomorrow. The TV weatherman says a warning trend has set in. Question: What do you do? (a) Well, as predicted, the weather warmed up. (b) Well, today's weather was even warmer than we expected. (c) Well, that Arctic cold in and blizzard sure caught everyone by surprise, didn't it?

Situation: You are somehow chosen to judge a beauty contest. Question: Do you (a) Entice the contest with your sparkling wit? (b) Meet a great number of cuties? (c) Have to take your wife and four children to the contest with you?

Situation: You stop by the supermarket for bread and milk. You get in the checkout line behind one woman. Question: What happens next? (a) She lets you go through ahead of her. (b) She has only four items in her cart and quickly gets through the checkout point. (c) She has 117 pot bottles to return and wants to cash a $100 check endorsed to her by President de Gaulle.

A Rockefeller breakthrough has been held in Shaffer's office since Rockefeller announced his candidacy on April 30, with one of the most powerful voices for Rockefeller coming from former Gov. William Scranton (who carried the fattered anti-flood water banner for the Republican moderates in San Francisco four years ago).

Two major arguments are being made to Shaffer: first, that with Rockefeller as the Presidential nominee, the state GOP has its best chance in November, with the U. S. Senate seat of Democrat Joseph S. Clark a definite possibility, and, second, that even if Rockefeller loses the nomination, an endorsement would help the party gain strength in the future.

Of the 64 delegates, Richard M. Nixon has the most support, with two. Most of the rest are ready to go for Rockefeller, but a Rockefeller breakthrough in the Keystone State is absolutely essential if he is to have any chance at all at the Miami Beach convention.

Arriving in the White House Cabinet room Thursday to attend the swearing-in of Wilbur Cohen as Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey spotted Theodore Sorensen standing against a wall.

Ignorant of all others, Humphrey went briskly up to Sorensen and, sotto voce, said: "Ted, since I'm offering my resignation, do you have any other jobs you're being my Vice President?"

Humphrey's pleasant-enough tone concealed an undercover attempt to get Rockefeller's chief White House aide, now a campaign worker for Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, deeply resentful Sorensen's televised charge, first made shortly after Humphrey announced his own Presidential candidacy and repeated again last week, that he knew "for a fact" that Humphrey had offered the Vice Presidency on a Humphrey ticket to almost every Southern Democratic Governor.

No one heard Sorensen's response — if there was one.

Only the fact that he is backing Rockefeller, stopped Massachusetts Sen. Edward Brooke from publicly rebuking Richard M. Nixon for his criticism of the Poor People's March on Washington.

Brooke confided to Republican friends in the Senate on Wednesday that Nixon is apparently convinced that an undercut of white backlash is sweeping the country and has determined to make no obstance to the Negro vote.

But Brooke, the Senate's only Negro, decided against making any statement, for the reason that Rockefeller himself has ruled out all direct attacks on Nixon.

Imagine Brooke's surprise, then, when Rockefeller himself took issue with Nixon's statement that Congress should not be pressured into bowing to the demand of the Negro poor. The first contingents of the poor are now camped along the reflecting pool in the shadow of the Lincoln Memorial.

But Rockefeller's response — that "I thought Congress was Democratic Town Directors kick off 1968 election campaign with charges that the Republican majority on the Board of Directors signed the Homestead Act, providing millions of acres of free land to settlers in the West."

In 1962, the United States entered the occupation of Cuba. In 1963, the United States and Britain ratified a treaty abolishing extraterritorial rights in China.

In 1962, President John F. Kennedy addressed a rally of 20,000 mostly persons at New York's Madison Square Garden during his drive to get Congress to pass the measure bill.

"Ten years ago: An airliner and a military jet training plane collided over Brunswick, Md. Twelve persons were killed. A Thought for Today

Sponsored by the Manchester Council of Churches

Good judgment comes from experience, and experience comes from poor judgment.

If you haven't made any mistakes today, you haven't learned anything. Not that you have to sit down and look for mistakes that you have made, like someone picking burrs out of his clothes after a walk in the woods. Although this is a good thing to do, we don't have to do it all the time. Besides, there is usually someone else nearby who is ready to point out our mistakes!

If you are loaded down with your mistakes, hear the words of Christ, "Come to me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden." He is ready for you, and willing to take them off your back if you will allow Him. That is why His Altar is built like a table.

The Reverend George Nostrand St. Mary's Church, Manchester

Poet's Corner

They're Moving In Next Door I don't feel black. Am inferior. In fact, I have black friends. Who drink with me. Are dear to my heart. Negroes need more freedom, but it's just that— They're moving in next door. Andrew Palladino (1968)

Called Home

She is reading, oh so sweetly, In the shelter of God's arm. There's no earthly care, nor sorrow. There's no pain, nor world's alarms.

We will leave all for our Saviour. For He knows the reason why. In the home so bright and fair.

Our dear "Billie" was called away. To her home beyond the sky.

We thank God for our dear one. In her life, and tender care. May we meet some day in glory. In the home so bright and fair.

South Windsor Water Rate Hike Approved

Despite the fact that the State Public Utilities Commission has refused to grant exactly the rate increases requested by the Connecticut Water Co., the PUC has granted a rate increase.

The Connecticut Water Co. company's altered increases in rates are effective for all service rendered after May 1. The increase affects all water users except for public fire charges which become effective with the fiscal year of each town.

It was "absolutely necessary" to receive a substantial rate increase, according to a company spokesman to continue to render adequate service and at the same time cope with spiraling costs and higher interest rates.

The rate increases which the PUC allowed is approximately 15 per cent for a customer with "average usage in the Company's Northern Division. The company will within receive 20 per cent rate increase.

The company spokesman said that the reduced level of the rate increases resulting from the in-creases allowed will cause certain capital projects to be deferred until a favorable trend in earnings is resumed, and the company will not be able to immediately fund its short term bank loans currently outstanding.

The spokesman emphasized that improvement in the quality of water planned for customers in South Windsor, East and West Windsor, will not be affected by the rate case decision.

He said water quality improvement will occur as a result of a new filter plant now being constructed by the town of South Windsor and Aqueduct Co. at its reservoir, which is also used by the Connecticut Water Co.

Fashion Show Set A Fashion Show Set will be presented Friday at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of the South Windsor High School. The show will be presented by members of the School's Home Economics Department. Seventy students from the Clothing Construction classes will model 148 garments which they have made in class.

Members of the Adult Evening School Class will also present styles they have made. Shirley Waldron, president of the Home Economics Club, will be the club vice president. Other officers are: Treasurer, Nancy Werber; Music, Linda Lewak at the organ. The usherettes will be Tina Groves and Dixie Miller. Programs are being prepared by Norman Zimmerman, Lynn Grossi, and Carol Hornat.

The theme of the show will be "The Kaleidoscope of Fashion," with appropriate stage decorations being planned by Cathy Schwartz, Donna Smith and Rosemary DeLuca. A food show and sale sponsored by the Home Economics Club will be held before the show.

Hit by Riots Guard, Police Patrol Town in Maryland

(Continued from Page One) rity of the area required the availability and presence of troops. It was left to Maj. Gen. George M. Galster, the state adjutant general, to decide how many troops were needed. As the first guardmen were being deployed at major intersections and in Negro areas Sunday night, a sniper reportedly fired two shots at a state police car.

Aided by the curfew and a heavy thunderstorm, streets were virtually deserted. About 30 persons were picked up at the Poplar Hill correctional camp about 12 miles west of Salisbury.

Two lumber yard fires burned Sunday night at Fruitland, a town of about 2,000 located five miles west of Salisbury. Donald Williams, the Wicomico County fire marshal, said three firebombs were found at one yard and two at the other. Total damage was estimated at $40,000.

Earlier in the day, some persons in a crowd of about 400 threw rocks and debris as firemen fought a fire in a field in a Negro area.

Fire Chief Wilson H. Taylor ordered the firemen back to headquarters, leaving the blaze burning, and said his men would be sent into danger areas without protection.

State's Atty. Alfred T. Trull Jr. announced that Jerry C. Mason, a detective on the police force six years, was charged with manslaughter in the shooting death and released on $1,000 bond. The victim was Daniel Kenneth Henry, 22, a dead mute. Trull said Mason and Cpl. John Guarino of the city police were questioning Henry at headquarters when a struggle began. He said Henry grabbed Guarino's gun from his holster as the struggle continued outside the building. Mason picked up the gun when it dropped on the sidewalk and shot Henry to stop as he ran off, but Henry failed to heed the warning, Trull said.

State troopers in riot gear, using dogs and tear gas, quelled the Saturday disturbance. Chocolate houses began opening with great popularity in the 1600s in England.

Dorado Hotel
Is a 'World'
Of Its Own

By JERRY HULSE
The Los Angeles Times
DORADO BEACH, Puerto Rico—If perhaps you're weary of your own world, Laurence Rockefeller invites you to join him in his.
Alas, there are no freeways. No smog, jet noises or the backing of buses. Only the murmur of the sea and the sign of the trade winds sitting through coconut palms. These sound along with—say—"The whacking of golf balls across Mr. R.'s palmy patch, which is sprinkled by ocean water to air minutes from the toasty sands of San Juan. Besides the thump of golf balls there is the crunch of coconuts dropping from lofty heights. Everything—palms, greens and seaside buildings—are spread across 1,600 meticulously landscaped acres.
It is called the Dorado Beach Hotel. With so much land Laurence decided not to crowd his guests. If you like open space you will love Dorado. So great is the distance from one end of the little world to the other, bell-boys pedal about by bicycle. Guests who find walking distasteful may take the shuttle tram. It calls each 10 minutes—8 a.m. till 1 a.m. This is the very same tram which carried tourists at the opening installation of last year's Expo in Montreal. Mr. Rockefeller bought it for his own little spectacle in the Caribbean.
As for his hotel, he will expect 40 to 50 dollars a day per couple between now and the end of October. Besides the room, he also provides breakfast and dinner. The menu during the December-April high season is old anywhere from 65 to 90 dollars a day. After the room and meals, guests are given swimming privileges in two pools and one ocean. The Atlantic. During summertime there is a honeymoon package for newlyweds, capped at $225-a-one-week agree which includes transportation to Dorado from the airport in San Juan.
Persons desiring citizenship in Mr. Rockefeller's world have several choices. First, there are the six-conditioned beach houses for the ocean water worshipper. Those allotted to the swimming pool take up residence in the terrace wing, which overlooks an Olympic size tub big enough to float a yacht. The terrace rooms on the golf course for the lady player who doesn't want to walk to his game, and still others in the Casa, a sleek 20th century version of an old Hacienda.
Actually, Mr. R.'s world could peak along quite nicely without any outside help. Besides a hospital of its own, Dorado is served by its own airline, which makes use of a 5-600-foot strip. For $12, Dorado wings will fly you from the big jet port in San Juan and get you down here by the sea. Likewise, guests are flown on one-day absorbing trips to St. Thomas and the Virgin Islands—the round-trip ticket coming to $30.42.
When Dorado opened in 1966 it was called the Dorado Beach Hotel and Golf Club. This tended to frighten away the nongolfer. While the majority of guests play one or the other 18-hole championship spreads, the ordinary tourist is brought to the club by the sea. Besides golf, one may play tennis, go bicycling and explore a jungle-like plot complete with palm forests, vines and grape trees.
Dorado's daytime dress is strictly informal. Only at night are gentlemen asked to don a coat and tie. It is the only reminder of that other, outside

While parents are having their fishing, the hotel steers the small fry off on scavenger hunts and carriage rides. Plus an assortment of other endeavors to close the gap between sunup and sundown.
Anyone wishing to take up permanent residence may do so by buying a lot and building on the golf course. The going rate ranges from around 75,000 to 100,000 dollars.
"You could, I suppose, build something simple for $50,000," said Joe Zynke, who manages Dorado. "But with lots selling from $20,000 to $30,000, it would seem somehow out of place."

Rev. Wilson and His Family at Farewell Reception

The Rev. C. Ronald Wilson and his family yesterday were feted at a farewell reception at Second Congregational Church. Wilson is holding Kimberly, 1, and the Rev. Mr. Wilson is holding Andrew, 2. The other children are Christine, 5, and Chipper, 4. The Rev. and Mrs. Wilson have been appointed missionaries to Honduras by the United Church of Christ and will leave Manchester the first part of July. They will spend six months in Stony Point, N. Y., taking an orientation course on Honduras, and leave for Costa Rica in January for a year of language training before going to Honduras. The Rev. Mr. Wilson has been associate minister at Second Church since 1964. The Wilsons were presented with a purse of money at the reception. (Herald photo by Buectivius)

Hebron Summer Program to Bring City Children to Hebron
Mrs. Sondra Baker, chairman of the Domestic Committee, and Alan Latham, chairman of the Urban Committee of the Hebron Human Relations Council, jointly announced this weekend the Council's Country Summer Program.
The Country Summer Program is an opportunity for city children from all over Connecticut to visit a family in the Hebron area and share in the everyday experience of country living," explained Mrs. Baker. "The program will be a continuing project with its initial phase in July and August. Kick-off picnic to be held in late July will be held to provide an opportunity for the families involved to meet and get to know each other.
It is the hope of the council that families in the area will become applicants to take children from the cities for a week or more to show them the delights of rural living.
"Another desired goal of this project," Latham stated, "is to create a meaningful and lasting interchange between the adults involved."
Applications and brochures are available to those requesting information, from Mrs. Phillip Baker of Jones St., Mrs. James Kilar of London Park, or Mrs. Patricia Greenhigh of Colchester.
