May Starts Campaign By Blasting Ribicoff

HARTFORD (AP)—Edwin H. May Jr. has launched his campaign for the U.S. Senate with a blast at incumbent Democrat Abraham Ribicoff, saying that Ribicoff must share the blame for the Vietnam war. May portrayed Ribicoff as an "architect" of the Democratic administration's "ill-conceived" policies. The 44-year-old May, in a prepared acceptance speech, did not dwell on party unity as had earlier convention speakers, but lashed out at Ribicoff. Ribicoff, he said, has "little faith in the ability of the people to solve problems at the local level." But the GOP senatorial contender drew loudest applause when he called for better police protection for the "average American citizen." May also called for enactment of the so-called Heller plan, a federal program of unrestricted grants to the states. Sibal gave up his challenge at a point in the roll call when May had collected 543 delegates, well past the 517 majority needed for the nomination. Sibal, with 154, seemed unlikely to get even the 207 votes necessary to force a primary fight. The Norwalk challenger declared his support for May "completely, unequivocally, totally and absolutely." Hausman a Winner

By SOL R. COHEN
GOP State Chairman Howard Hausman emerged from the Republican State Convention Saturday as the undisputed leader of Connecticut Republicans. And, the Hartford County Republican establishment understood all efforts to crack his hold on almost all of the top GOP posts in the state. Hausman of New Britain, was re-elected chairman to a full two-year term, after 16 months in the past, and Anna-Mae Swadski, also of New Britain, was re-elected to a two-year term as vice chairman. Edwin H. May Jr. of Wethersfield was nominated for the U.S. Senate and John Alsop of Avon remained as national committeeman. Only national committeewoman Tina Harrower of Hamden is a top party official not from Hartford County. Three of the four delegates-at-large to the Republican National Convention and two of the alternates are from Hartford County, and all 16 delegates will go uncommitted, although 13, including Hausman, lean toward New York Gov. Rockefeller and three toward former Vice President Richard Nixon. Hausman turned thumbs down on election of a fourth national delegate with Nixon leanings and in addition, prevented the introduction of a resolution, calling on the convention to back Nixon. And, he was able to muster so many delegate votes for May, that Abner Sibal of Norwalk withdrew his candidacy just past the midway point in the roll call vote, thus dropping his threat of forcing a statewide primary. Sibal's dramatic withdrawal has to be called the highlight of the 1968 Republican State Convention. At 1:10 p.m., with the count 547 for May and 183 for Sibal, and with most of the Sibal votes already cast, he asked permission to make a statement. "I unequivocally and totally support Ed May for the nomination and, in so doing, I remove from consideration whatever move I had in mind," he said. He called for May's nomination by acclamation and the roll call of 1,132 delegates was discontinued. Sibal pledged to do all in his power to work for May's election. He hinted that he would support the GOP hierarchy in the state and said that he will play some role, "probably in a minor capacity, for the election of either Nixon or Rockefeller, who ever is nominated." Immediately following May's nomination, the four at-large national delegates recommended by Hausman were elected. The convention delegates then (See Page Twelve)

Eisenhower Doing Well After Attack

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower was reported today to have remained "alert and in good spirits" since his heart attack on Saturday night. His heart rate and respiration have remained stable. "There has been no recurrence of pain since the initial episode the night of June 15th," a medical bulletin from the hospital said. "No signs of heart failure have appeared." The bulletin said that Eisenhower has remained "alert and in good spirits" since his heart attack Saturday night. "Mrs. Eisenhower has visited with him frequently. His son, John and the general's brothers have been kept fully informed of his condition," it added. The new seizure was Eisenhower's second within two months. Doctors did not minimize the danger although stable usually means the patient's treatment and condition are satisfactory. Maj. George Foster, public affairs officer at the hospital, said in answer to a question doctors said they considered this "a major" attack. The attack came Saturday night at Walter Reed, where the 77-year-old five-star general was recuperating from a mild heart seizure which struck him April 29 at Palm Desert, Calif., where he keeps a winter home. In the Sunday announcement disclosing the latest attack, the hospital said, "The general spent a comfortable night and his present condition is stable." (See Page Eighteen)

Powell Sure To Win Seat From Harlem

NEW YORK (AP)—Adam Clayton Powell, who was ousted from Congress and then won re-election but failed to claim his seat, goes before the voters of Harlem again Tuesday. And he is an overwhelming favorite to win re-nomination. His opponent in the Democratic primary is John Yung, 52, a former member of Powell's staff. Whether the flamboyant Powell, who is 59, actually returns to Washington is still subject to question, even though few in Harlem doubt he will win re-nomination and re-election. Congress may again refuse to seat him. Or, as he did after the last election, he may not claim his seat. Or he may get caught up in complications stemming from a drawn-out state court ac-

Shafer's Support Boosts Rockefeller

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has won a big-state endorsement from Pennsylvania Gov. Raymond P. Shafer for his GOP presidential bid—but acknowledges drive for such backing could give new delegates to rival Richard M. Nixon. Shafer announced the endorsement at the end of the Republican Governors Association Conference at Tulsa, Okla., over the weekend and estimated 45 to 50 of Pennsylvania's 64 Republican delegates would join him in backing Rockefeller. Said Rockefeller: "In the last week, my campaign has really taken off." But he said further endorsements from governors who are now favorite sons could also release delegates to join Nixon's already substantial block of nominating votes. "There is a delicate balance," he said. Nixon's campaign manager, John Mitchell, said meanwhile the former vice president already has "more than enough delegates" to win the GOP presidential nomination and "will not engage in an exchange of charge and countercharge with Rockefeller." Newsweek magazine said Sunday its tabulation shows Nixon only 29 votes short of the 567 needed for nomination, with 573 delegates favoring Nixon, 252 Rockefeller and 146 California Gov. Ronald Reagan. On the Democratic side, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy indicates he plans to step up his presidential bid against Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey by pressing questions on Vietnam and other issues he has raised. (See Page Twelve)

Graduation News

The Herald is providing its usual expanded coverage of school graduations in the Manchester area. Many readers usually order extra copies of the paper carrying the graduation news. Orders should be placed with the circulation department in advance. Graduation exercises have already been held, last Thursday by East Catholic High School and Friday by Manchester Community College. Following is the graduation scheduled this week: Tuesday: Coventry High and Bolton High. Wednesday: Manchester High, Vernon High, and Howell Cheney Technical School. Thursday: South Windsor High and Rham High.

Russian Copters Reported in War

SAIGON (AP)—U.S. military headquarters said today that aircraft "suspended to be enemy helicopters" were fired on during the weekend near the demilitarized zone that divides Vietnam. A brief announcement added that a daylight reconnaissance was made today to ascertain damage and obtain other information, but "no results are available." The statement from the military command tended to partly confirm other reports that from 2 to 12 Russian-built helicopters had been downed over the weekend south of the DMZ. However, the announcement from U.S. headquarters said the aircraft were sighted by radar near the eastern end of the DMZ and north of the Ben Hai river, meaning that they were over the demilitarized zone itself or to the north. The announcement from the U.S. Military Command said: "Headquarters has received reports of radar sightings of unidentified aircraft in the vicinity of the eastern end of the DMZ and north of the Song Ben Hai. No visual confirmation has been possible because the sightings occurred at night. The low-flying aircraft were suspected to be enemy helicopters and were taken under fire by naval vessels and U.S. aircraft in the area. A daylight reconnaissance to ascertain damage has been made." Gun Lobby Counterattacks

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Rifle Association, its amazing record of blocking strict federal gun controls in jeopardy, has begun its counter-attack. And if the gun lobby lives up to its past successes, hundreds of thousands of letters opposing gun control will rain down on Congress by mid-week—just before a House committee considers restrictions on gun sales. The deluge of mail will be in response to a weekend plea by the NRA for its 900,000 members to "express their views without delay to their senators and congressmen." The letter-writing campaign, a favorite gun lobby tactic, is the NRA's answer to the demands for tough gun controls flowing from the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy with a $30.95 pistol. In the past—even after President John F. Kennedy was murdered with a mail order rifle—the NRA and its allies have successfully smothered proposals to regulate gun sales or require registration of guns. This comes in the face of overwhelming public support of such legislation. This spring, for example, pollster Louis Harris reported 71 per cent of Americans favored stricter gun control laws. What is the NRA? How does it operate? Why does it pack so much power? BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (AP)—A plea by a Roman Catholic priest that his parishioners turn in their guns to him so they could be destroyed went unheeded Sunday. The Rev. John Huhn, assistant pastor of St. Joseph Church, asked some 1,000 parishioners to "turn over their weapons of violence" at two Masses Sunday. But no one complied. Father Huhn said he was disappointed, but added: "Perhaps it was just a general reluctance or fear of wanting to be involved or to stand up publicly and do something." (See Page Eighteen)

The Way It Is

Permanent Tax Hike Needed To Combat Social Problems?

By HOBART ROWEN
The Washington Post
WASHINGTON—You've got to "tell the story the way it is." Thus, there is a need to face up to the probability that if this country is going to meet its social problems, it will have to raise taxes to pay the bills. I mean a tax increase to replace the temporary 10 per cent surtax that Congress may pass later this month, and which almost certainly will expire with the end of the war. Most of us have been making the bland assumption that an end to the Vietnam War would uncork some $30 billion—now being shot away each year—for use in needed public programs. It has come as a shock to many Congressmen and others in public life to realize that a cessation of hostilities will release only $15 billion of that $30 billion—and there will be programs ahead of new social commitments as initial claimants in the $15 billion. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, it is reported, was stunned when he was given these hard economic facts of life. Strikingly similar analyses of the situation have been made by two talented ex-administration economists, Prof. Otto Eckstein of Harvard and Charles L. Schultze, former budget director now at the Brookings Institution. Eckstein warned that the American people should expect no tax cuts if the other programs are to be carried out. Schultze, drawing on his years of experience running the federal budget, goes a step beyond. "To put the matter in its bluntest form," Schultze says, "the only way to make really large additional resources available to meet our social problems, is to tax ourselves—to decide deliberately that some fraction of the growth in what we might otherwise have consumed for private pleasure we shall devote to the public good." That's plain talk—the kind that Wilbur Mills, the Chamber of Commerce, and the National Association of Manufacturers won't like. They would prefer to expand the private sector, not the public sector. They will say that the government is already too big. But it's hard to fault Schultze's logic. "One does not wipe out the neglect of a century at bargain basement price," he says. He also courageously points out why so much of the talk of business investment in the ghettos is a sham: The return on investing in improvements—say in decaying downtown property—is subject to normal tax rates. But investment in land, rather than physical improvement can yield large capital gains—especially when specu-

Jail Terms For Drunks Pass Test

WASHINGTON (AP)—A divided Supreme Court refused today to prohibit the jailing of chronic alcoholics for public drunkenness. Justice Thurgood Marshall, pronouncing the court's judgment said: "The inescapable fact is that there is no agreement among members of the medical profession about what it means to say that 'alcoholism' is a 'disease'." And, he continued, there is no agreement among doctors and social workers on the cause of alcoholism, there is no consensus as to why certain treatments work in certain cases, and facilities for treating impoverished alcoholics "are woefully lacking throughout the country." He added: "It would be tragic to return large numbers of helpless, sometimes dangerous and frequently unsanitary inebriates to the streets of our cities without even the opportunity to sober up adequately which a brief jail term provides." Chief Justice Earl Warren and Associate Justices Hugo L. Black and John M. Harlan joined Marshall's opinion. Justice Byron R. White concurred in the result for separate reasons. (See Page Fourteen)

RULE ON WELFARE
WASHINGTON (AP)—A unanimous Supreme Court Monday barred Alabama, and by implication all states, from denying welfare aid to children simply because their mothers are having extramarital sex relations. "Destitute children who are legally fatherless cannot be flatly denied federally funded assistance on the transient fiction that they have a substitute father," wrote Chief Justice Earl Warren.

The Volkswagen for people who refuse to drive Volkswagens. We call this new option the automatic stick shift. And in true Volkswagen fashion, a bug with an automatic stick shift will deliver up to 25 miles on a gallon of gas, use very little oil, and nary a drop of water or antifreeze. But just because we've made it easy to drive, doesn't mean we're about to make it any prettier, or any bigger, or any fancier. So we imagine some people will still refuse to drive Volkswagens. But it may be neither the omissions nor the loopholes which constitute the real weakness of this nuclear pact. That may well lie in the same fatal function with power which has, from the birth of the atomic age, kept any of the holders of nuclear destructive power from any really serious consideration of surrendering their own nuclear armaments position to any mutual treaty, or to any international custodianship, like the United Nations.

Not merely to find a way to keep the weapons from spreading, but to find a way to de-fuse the nuclear weapons already in the stockpiles of the existing nuclear powers—that is perhaps the real heart of the problem of survival. If the present treaty gives an illusion of safety for anybody, it is itself a danger. If it ever does prove to lead to something more real and substantial, we will be surprised.

Awaiting a Non-Organization Man. Things that are right, that make sense, that are a part of the world, are rare in this world of ours that the conscientious observer has to reach ruthlessly for them where they exist, even if in order to reach them, he must discard other developments of seemingly greater importance.

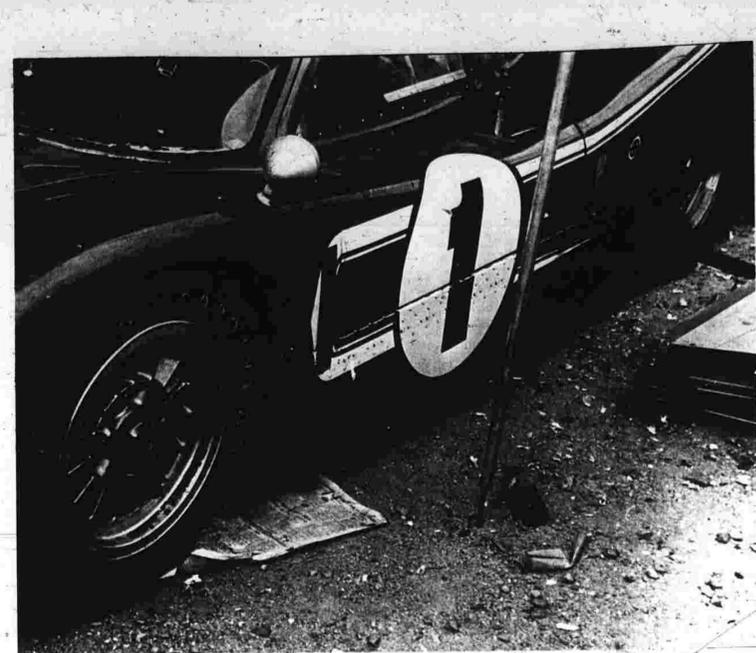

Today, for instance, we throw into the commentariat—for attention—at some later date if we ever happen to get around to it—the rather interesting theory that Cape Cod may once have been the bottom of a fresh water lake, back in the days of the receding ice age.

The reason we have to reach for such hopeful and encouraging news, though it flows from the top headlines to the Cape into the discard, is that we have a firm belief that the principle of non-organization might still rescue this country, if it could be given half a chance.

Suppose that the next time some body organizes that we should join in response to it from the Nixon high command led much about the Republican Presidential politics in the Deep South today.

The twenty-first century awaits the non-organization man. The reason we have to reach for such hopeful and encouraging news, though it flows from the top headlines to the Cape into the discard, is that we have a firm belief that the principle of non-organization might still rescue this country, if it could be given half a chance.

More Pomp Than Hope. It is well to have the United Nations General Assembly forwarding the draft treaty to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons to the individual nations who will ratify it is such a treaty at least a small gain on the right side of human effort?

Next suggested that Nixon is a "constitutional conservative"—a Southern codeword connoting reliability on the racial question. The Mississippians loved it.

Actually, Nixon is no Wallaceite and, unlike Barry Goldwater in 1964, wants no rapprochement with George Wallace. Indeed, key Nixon staffers were most upset by Callaway's indiscretion.

Now that they have lost on the level where they chose to fight the case, they will apparently try to shift back to higher moral and legal defenses in their appeal to the United States Supreme Court.

It is the proposed treaty, such a flimsy mockery, such a silly evasion of the true issues facing a mankind trying to survive its own nuclear capacities, that it might be better not to have it in existence at all.

Lament to the Far East. North, fights South and many die, South joins North and woman cry. We know not who the enemy is, But each of us have known of his.

Oh, how can I be thankful God, With my life's blood in foreign soil? "Hallowed be Thy Name," therefore, means the same as "Hallowed be God's name."

What we do to God's name, we do to God. We must, however, hallow God's name also with our lives.

For people we know so little of, We spend our lives, dearst our dove. The world is in turmoil today, Defend our front, at home, we say.

First let's straighten ourselves out, Then we'll take another bout. Log's bring our boys of battle home, Bring the mongers from our throne.

(Continued from Page 8) against the racially restrictive politics of his Southern supporters, Nixon has not permitted them to block his national position. His much-acclaimed speech on economic black power was made over objections of his Southern advisors.

Yes, even on the national scene, Nixon remembers his Southern flank. One lieutenant has spread the word in the South that Nixon's last stated position on open housing legislation was against it. To this date, he has not publicly supported such legislation.

How long can Nixon keep both the Morans and the Thurmodes? He did maintain a North-South coalition throughout the 1960 campaign, partly by simply ignoring potentially divisive incidents such as Bo Callaway's speech in Jackson. Whether the same tactic can work in the superheated atmosphere of 1968 remains to be seen.

Deaths in The Nation

Turkey Allan Taylor. BOSTON (AP) — Turkey Allan Taylor, 70, author and newspaperman, died Sunday in a local hospital here. Taylor joined the New York Times in 1942 after working on two Atlanta newspapers, the Encyclopedia Britannica and the National Real Estate Journal.

Sam (Wahoo) Crawford. HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Sam (Wahoo) Crawford, 58, major league slugger before the "billy ball" era, died Saturday after a lengthy illness. Crawford, who played the major league for 16 seasons, was the only player to lead both leagues in home runs for lifetime trips—312 over 19 seasons.

Col. John T. Byrne. PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP) — Retired Army Col. John T. Byrne, 57, who parachuted into Berezegaden at the end of World War II, died Saturday after a long illness. Byrne during the war helped plan and direct meetings for the landings in North Africa.

WESTERN SPRINGS, Ill. (AP) — Allan B. Kline, 63, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation from 1947 until 1964, died Friday while visiting in Vinon, Iowa, friends at his home said. Kline was an articulate, scholarly man, served as several international conferences at which the United States was represented.

MOSCOW (AP) — The chief rabbi of the Soviet Union left today for New York, where he is expected to defend the Soviet government's controversial Jewish policies. Rabbi Yehuda Lev Levin, who has lapsed government approval, has been invited by Bill Gottlieb of New York to spend two or three weeks meeting U.S. Jews. Gottlieb is an official of the American Council on Judaism.

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Delegates from the Philippines and Malaysia laid the guidelines today for a conference which may decide the future of Borneo and its 500,000 inhabitants. The Philippines claim that the state, which is rich in timber, is part of Philippine territory under an old treaty made with the Sultan of Sulu. Malaysia has said it is willing to honor Philipino arguments but opposes Manila's proposal to place the matter before the World Court.

Events in Capital

West Point for Doctors. WASHINGTON (AP) — A military medical academy to help fill the nation's shortage of both service and civilian doctors has been proposed by a ranking member of the House Armed Services Committee.

Capital Foodstuffs. A House Agriculture Committee report concludes there is little hunger in the United States but widespread malnutrition caused largely by ignorance on proper diet. The report says a survey of 14 counties in 19 states found no starvation and little hunger but many stories of people, especially children, suffering malnutrition.

Prisoner Draft Rejected. WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon says the possibility of drafting prisoners for military duty as was done in World War II was examined in 1966 and rejected. Officials said the study concluded judicial authorities, not the armed force, should be responsible for rehabilitating military service prisoners who should not be used as a form of punishment for law offenders.

53 Get Scholarships

An audience of 300 parents, civic leaders and friends yesterday applauded the presentation of $15,150 in scholarships to 53 students at the annual awards ceremony at the Manchester Community College.

The 53 scholarships amounted to a marked increase over last year, when 30 grants totaling $12,000 were given.

Several new scholarships came under the foundation's administration during the year. The organization was established by the Chamber of Commerce in 1966 to serve as a focus for the various scholarship efforts in Manchester.

Before the presentation of awards, the Girls' Glee Club of East Catholic sang several selections, under the direction of Sister Julie Stephen, S.N.D., curate at St. Mary's Church.

The Rev. Stephen M. Price, curate at St. Mary's Church, gave the invocation.

Following the program, refreshments were served at a social in the school cafeteria.

Israeli Premier Certain To Make Allon Successor

Jerusalem (AP) — Premier Levi Eshkol seems certain to win cabinet approval of his proposal to make Yigal Allon, deputy premier.

Eshkol's proposal is seen as the first step toward denying Defense Minister Dayan the premiership when his two-year term expires at the end of 1969.

"The experiment is for one month only," Col. Bilham Gaiz told a news conference. "After we see how it works, we will consider the next batch. We do not intend to permit them to come from extreme Arab countries—Egypt, Syria, Iraq or Algeria."

Eshkol told the Cabinet Sunday he wants Allon, 49, as his second in command and minister for immigration absorption, a key post. The Cabinet did not discuss the proposal, but the dominant Mafpi party's leadership bureau approved the move.

On another political front, Dr. Nahum Goldmann abandoned his bid for re-election as president of the World Zionist Organization and said he planned to establish a new international coordinating body for unaffiliated Jewish groups.

Goldmann announced his withdrawal during the 27th World Zionist Congress amid charges he had interfered with Israeli foreign policy by meeting with Sen. J. William Fulbright, the chairman of the U.S. Senate's Foreign Relations Committee. Goldmann remains

Halley's Collection Comets Across Skies of Fashion

By Dorothy Le Sener The Washington Post

NEW YORK — George Halley's 1968 fall collection is probably the most opulent extravaganza that has been shown here this season.

The thundering response by buyers (some stores were represented in great blocks of seats) seemed to indicate that they have customers who can afford a couple of thousand dollars or more for evening dresses without batting an eye, although some manufacturers have confessed that less than one percent of the population can purchase these clothes.

There may not be a great renascence in the fashion world this season but the renascence there is obvious. In the case of Halley, there are sensational medieval doublets that just barely cover the lower hip.

These fall tops made of rich luxurious fabrics were belted with jewels and worn with matching tight, which are a must.

His accessories for these pageantry costumes were high and fur-trimmed. Halley's accessories by Herbert Levine but if you really want to go all out and set the scene, you could add a round bottomed tube and brush up on the court music from the 16th century.

The very short look for evening (indeed it could not have been shorter) was also seen in charming little dresses with low necklines, long light-colored sleeves and a bouncy full skirt.

A casual but elegant look for the day was high and fur-trimmed. One bulky grey sweater with a big turtle neck and long sleeves was worn with a chain belt and tight.

Arms Flow Freely Reds Double Supply Network to South

By ROBERT S. ELZAGANT
The Los Angeles Times

BATON — The Communist supply network for South Vietnam has doubled in the past year with construction of a whole new trail system in western Laos and an increased flow through Cambodia.

As a result, Red forces often are better armed than South Vietnamese troops. The Communists, violating a basic rule of guerrilla warfare, no longer bother to pick up weapons left on the battlefield by their foes, and often ignore weapons dropped by fallen comrades.

They don't need these abandoned weapons, for they are equipped by an efficient "underground" supply system running through South Vietnam's "neutral" neighbors, Cambodia and Laos.

Reinforcements — more than 100,000 men so far this year — as well as weapons, ammunition, food and fuel flow along the Ho Chi Minh trail in Laos and the Sihanouk trail in Cambodia.

Without these reinforcements and supplies, the war in South Vietnam might have ended last year when the Allies routed the local Viet Cong.

Because of these routes, the war is no longer a guerrilla conflict, but a wholly new engagement best described as a "conventional war."

North Vietnam's switch in mid-1967 from a traditional guerrilla war to a strategy of seeking major victories brought in heavy use of the latest major-arms equipment, including tanks and heavy artillery.

The old Ho Chi Minh trail goes through Mt. Gia pass in the mountainous region of Laos just below the 18th parallel, then turns southward through the difficult terrain of Laos.

The new route, Ho Chi Minh trail II, starts halfway between the 18th and 19th parallels where Koo Nua pass pierces the Annamite range driving North Vietnam from Laos, and runs about 340 miles, first westward and then south to the Bolovens plateau in southern Laos.

Doubling the capacity of the route from Laos, the new Ho Chi Minh trail II provides a road over which some 200,000 men and equipment replacements have ridden in trucks all the way from Hanoi to Khammoua in central Laos.

South Vietnam's about 800 miles in 11 days.

Troops going farther south toward Saigon and the Mekong delta use the continuation in Cambodia of the Ho Chi Minh trail I and II, called the Sihanouk trail.

Moving northward on the Sihanouk trail are many of the supplies which fuel the insurgency in the southern part of South Vietnam. The flow of weapons, gasoline and food through the Sihanouk trail has increased sharply during the past year.

Ho Chi Minh trail II, by being further west than the original Ho Chi Minh trail, is out of the usual range of native patrols led by U.S. Special Forces and Central Intelligence Agency of fliers.

Trail trails from the North, instead of one, mean dispersed targets for U.S. bombers. In addition, the Communists evidently believe that air strikes on the new trail will be deterred by a population denser than in southeastern Laos where the old Ho Chi Minh trail runs.

The North Vietnamese have stationed 63 regular combat battalions along the new trails in Laos, as well as almost 200,000 Viet Cong.

Today, there are 85,000 North Vietnamese in regular units, 40,000 in the Viet Cong. About half of the Viet Cong are actually individual guerrillas sent from the North along the trails.

These supply routes through neighboring "neutral" countries present a major problem to American strategists.

"How can the Allies possibly expect to win with their backs to a wide open" asked one European senior officer. "It's the most elementary rule of warfare to cut the enemy's supply lines. Why don't the Americans do it?"

"It is almost impossible to understand," he added, "how a major power could allow itself to be so frustrated and to endure enormous humiliation at home and abroad for want of decisive action to choke off the enemy's supplies and reinforcements."

The best available answer to this question is that the Communists are complex and ultimately unassailable.

Fear of further inflicting world public opinion and of demonstrating to Sihanouk that the United States is cutting the supply routes through the port of Cambodia, which help sustain the Viet Cong.

Effective action would be almost impossible in Cambodia, where Prince Sihanouk plays a subtle game he believes is America's best interests. Sihanouk will not permit American action, and the border is practically impossible to seal.

But major state studies conducted by both American and foreign officers conclude that two divisions of Allied troops used an "strategic guerrilla" could choke off most of the supplies and reinforcements.

Since the Communists' economic buildup of men and supplies has made their fixed installations vulnerable to ambush and to hit-and-run raids, the troops would not attempt to hold ground, but only to slant the trails.

Many officials argue that effective action in Laos would demonstrate to Sihanouk that the United States is cutting the supply routes through the port of Cambodia, which help sustain the Viet Cong.

Daddario Cites People Misuse

HARTFORD (AP)—The United States is abusing its technical skills, says Rep. Emilio Q. Daddario, D-Conn.

Daddario said a "technical gap" has resulted, between "crafts and skilled trades at one end of the spectrum . . . and the advanced professional degrees in engineering at the other."

He spoke to graduating class of the Hartford State Technical College. Daddario is chairman of the Subcommittee on Science, Research, and Development of the House Committee on Science and Astronautics.

The symptoms of the "technical gap," he said, are: —Needs for increased efforts to improve nationally the quality of technological education. —The need to provide adequate numbers of technicians for specialized jobs. —The need to permit trained technicians to use their skills in performing tasks for which they were trained. —The need for balanced educational opportunities in the United States.

Two Area P&WA Employees Awarded $2,500

Vernon Jaycees Cited At Banquet

Awards presented by the Greater Vernon Jaycees to members last week included a lifetime J.C.I. Seniorship, key, by Peter Whitney and David Untero. Keyman awards were given to Peter Whitney and David Untero for outstanding participation in civic activities. Lawrence Halpern, internal vice president; Dave Untero, external vice president; Morton Levine, secretary; Anthony Smith, treasurer.

The occasion was the installation banquet held at Willie's Steak House in Manchester.

Caracas Streets Busy

Caracas — The Venezuelan capital, contained by mountains in a narrow valley 15 miles long and less than three miles wide, has one of the world's greatest traffic problems. Citizens of Caracas use 80 buses, 6,000 private cabs and 200,000 private cars to move a population of 2.7 million in a day. A subway is planned as a solution.

Herbert Dum, state director, Robert DuBesi and Thomas Mason, directors.

Jaycee Wives' officers include: Lois J. Untero, president; Patricia Chappo, vice president; Toni Pike, secretary; and Gail Halpern, treasurer.

Argiento, on the south coast of Sicily, was founded by Greek colonists about 800 B.C. and million on an estimated 2.7 million trip a day. A subway is planned as a solution.

Permanent Tax Hike Needed To Combat Social Problems?

lators can force zoning changes. "The whole system of rewards and penalties," Schultze points out, "which heavily favors land speculation as compared to physical improvement, is perhaps the greatest single promoter of urban blight."

Schultze's arithmetic on the reduced post-Vietnam military budget works out this way:

"Taking into account restoration of military programs that have been cut out or reduced, price increases, and the costs of civilian reconstruction in Vietnam, only about $16 billion of the $20 billion can be saved."

"This $16 billion will be just about offset by the expiration of the 10 per cent surtax and restoration of the expenditure cuts Congress has forced through during this necessary fiscal program is passed by Congress."

Administration policy-makers, however, would have a $11 to $13 billion "kitty" to play with, arising from larger tax receipts as the economy grows steadily. But looks at the claims on this: "Expanding Social Security and Medicare costs will be rising with population increase and medical costs; Vietnam veterans will be taking advantage of the G.I. Bill of Rights; Veterans' administration costs will grow, an aftermath of the war; federal pay increases will be needed to keep pace with private wage scales; and even routine government functions will expand."

Schultze's estimate: The $11 to $13 billion will be soaked up immediately by programs like those listed above. That would leave, say by 1970, only a year — would it not? But hold on a minute longer.

There is a vast range of fairly new programs put on the books in the past few years which got very little money when the great society was dumped overhead for Mr. Johnson's adventure in Vietnam.

Examples:

The Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965. Meant to provide supplemental money for some of the less affluent school districts. It has never gotten money. Schultze points out, amounting to more than 5 per cent of total local spending on education. Billions more could go here.

The Rent Supplementation Program. So far, it's not had more than a paltry $200 million.

Water Pollution Control Act. The appropriations have been only half of those authorized.

There is yet another claimant, with powerful political support, on federal receipts: the 50 states, which have been boasting their own taxes, will likely force through some kind of revenue-sharing program. Schultze points out, amounting to more than 5 per cent of total local spending on education. Billions more could go here.

So where do we get Schultze's bold and not much of this money will find its way to the poor. Most likely, instead, to relieve the existing burden of state and local sales and property taxes.

The presidential candidates of all parties, if they mean the words they say about new opportunities for Negro Americans and poor whites, ought to take a good look at Schultze's hard-nosed analysis. If it can't be challenged, it ought to be taken as a basis for action.

tion involving a late suit he lost.

Powell has ruled the 18th Congressional District for over two decades — of him from self-exile on Bimini, the preacher-politician's own sunny Elba in the Bahamas.

Many Harlem voters feel Powell got a "raw deal" in 1967, when Congress expelled him, overriding a select house that had recommended censure and a fine.

Powell had held his House seat for 22 years before expulsion on charges of misusing public funds and flogging New York state courts in the judgment case.

"We still feel he is the job of his job because of his race," said the publisher of News, Harlem's Negro weekly newspaper, in endorsing Powell last week.

After the expulsion, Harlem sent Powell back to Washington to run for Congress. He was elected in a special election last year. However, he didn't try to reclaim his seat. He said he wouldn't go back as a freshman and demanded restoration of the seniority that had made him chairman of the Education and Labor Committee.

Powell didn't appear in Harlem during that campaign. He once said that his followers would elect him "until I die, even after I'm dead, I think some of you will write my name in."

Until recently, no one serious challenged him on that. Now, a young Negro, John Young, has challenged him on the grounds of the past 10,000 members of the party's long absence from home and of reported opposition within Powell's own party.

Young ignored Powell's taunt: "Any Negro crazy enough to run against me is the first Negro to be crucified in the North."

Compensating hard with limited funds, Young has tried to take advantage of growing re-representative "because at least I'll have a voice and a vote."

Powell once said it would be "difficult" for him to return without his seniority. But now he says he'll go as a freshman.

Young charges that Powell is elected to serve even if he is elected.

Wallace Doubts Effect Of Gun Control Laws

By REX THOMAS RICHMOND, Va. (AP)

Wallace said the only real deterrent to crime "is to enforce the criminal laws and reverse the trend of the past few years. The South, says federal gun control legislation will do little, if anything, to combat crime."

Wallace interrupted his campaign swing through Dixie long ago to take a good look at the gun control laws for a network television show.

Wallace said the assassinations of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. were tragic and senseless but that "it is just as tragic that a working man's wife can't go to the supermarket in the big cities for fear of her life."

"Poor Negroes" are being "discriminated" by the "Poor People's Campaign in Washington."

"Most congressmen who advocate school integration refuse to send their children to public schools in the nation's capital."

Wallace of Boston to support a plan of a petition drive to get his ABC's on the presidential campaign laws. He said they would do nothing more than "keep gun laws in the hands of the gun control citizens. The criminals will get them like they always have."

The Board of Directors will meet informally tomorrow to discuss the award of a garbage and refuse collection contract for the next fiscal year. The meeting will be at 8 p.m. in the Municipal Building Hearing Room.

At bid openings last Monday, only one bidder met specifications. He is the present contractor, Anthony Botticello of the Sanitary Refuse Co. of Manchester.

The only other bidder, Sam Lombardo of East Hartford, although submitting the low price, was declared ineligible. He failed to meet the specification which calls for evidence of having served a municipality of at least 20,000 population in the past five years.

Botticello's price for a three-year contract is $20,721, for the present collection method of twice a week backyard pickup of garbage plus twice a week curb pickup of refuse; and $785, 133 for twice a week curb pickup of both garbage and refuse.

His price for a one-year contract for the present method of collection is $204,250.

Bid specifications permit the award of either a one-year or three-year contract. Lombardo, who bid only on
