Green Approved as VFW Memorial Site

The proposed Veterans Memorial Monument will be located on the Green near the Town Hall, according to a decision rendered during last night's meeting.

The board of directors approved the transfer of $5,000 from the non-recurring expense account to the Board of Recreation to permit construction of a bathhouse at Crandall's Pond.

The central location is necessary, they explained, to enable as many persons as possible to see the memorial.

An alternate location at Tolland High School was offered by school board Chairman David Cook, on behalf of the Board of Education.

The high school location was backed by the Tolland Historical Society and local philanthropist Miss Elizabeth Hicks.

The historical society and others favor the high school location, felt they were no less patriotic than the VFW. They however placed a condition on the preservation of Tolland's history as a commemoration.

Tolland TEA Asks That Talks Stay at Local Level

A request to disregard the Board of Education's mediation decision has been submitted to State Education Commissioner William Saunders by the Tolland Education Association.

The TEA wants to keep the negotiations on the local level, negotiating team chairman John Benedict explained yesterday.

The TEA contract negotiating team feels "local negotiations have resulted in an agreement by the end of the school year if the Board of Education had been willing to negotiate in good faith," according to Benedict.

He accused the board of taking "renegade action" in submitting the teacher salary and working condition negotiations to mediation "since some items in the contract had not been negotiated at all."

The negotiations between the TEA and the school board have been continuing for six months since January. The board notified the teachers early this month it would attempt the dispute to mediation.

Sketch of VFW Memorial as it will look on Green.

Historical Society, issued an appeal for the high school site. Special ceremonies would be held daily at the high school, raise and lower the flag, he stated.

"The memorial for veterans has to be out in the open, not hidden in the back woods," Hicks said.

Several residents of the Green were contacted by the group to help with the upkeep and maintenance of the memorial once it is erected.

"Who's to say you won't come back next year and tell us you've been here for a year because the pond became so contaminated," Erickson asked.

Rec board member William Baker replied the state officials had cleared Crandall's Pond, but the extent of any future pollution even of the worst kind, can be cleared up by adding chemicals to the water.

PTA president Mrs. E. the J. James questioned whether 300 children could be accommodated in the program area to be denied the opportunity to learn how to swim.

The board of finance has rejected applications for the position road superintendent and the job description has been approved by the Board of Selectmen.

Additional Registration: The Board of Selectmen will hold an additional registration session for the town swimming pool Saturday from 9 a.m. until noon at the Town Hall.

Real Estate Dealers Calm Over Ruling

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. Most real estate men and women here are calm over the Supreme Court's ruling this week barring racial discrimination in all housing.

Typical of reaction from realtors was the comment of Frank Hart, president of Walker and Lee, a residential brokerage firm in Orange County, Calif.

Gene Omer, executive vice president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, said the Supreme Court decision, holding that an 1886 law discriminating in all housing, "makes any further open occupancy legislation unnecessary."

A spokesman for the Real Estate Board of New York City declined to predict immediate effects of the ruling, but the editor of Real Estate Weekly, a New York City publication, called it "a good decision."

Robert Harpe, president of the California Real Estate Association, said he did not believe the ruling "will have any effect on association members in the day-to-day operation of their business."

Jack Heenan, executive vice president of the Chicago Board of Real Estate Board, said he felt it was "too difficult to make a judgment" at this time.

James Burns, director of Chicago's Commission on Human Relations, said the ruling means a family has to file a suit to buy a house, but it doesn't mean that the family has to file a suit to buy a house.

Segregationist Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., said it was time for Congress "to curb the Supreme Court's meddling."

Statistics supported this view. As of Jan. 11, the United States had 100 combat pilots in South Vietnam, while only 270 American planes were allowed to return from Southeast Asia.

Hospital's New Fifteen Year Plus Club Members

The board of trustees of Manchester Memorial Hospital last night honored 32 hospital employees who have served 15 or more years.

The strike began Monday when EB brought in six additional lead-borders from its Quincy, Mass., shipyard. Production has been idle since then.

Lawrence Taylor, president of Local 814 of the Boilermakers' Union at EB, said Wednesday he would file the charges in connection with the company's suspension of about 20 metal duct workers, called lead-borders, who belong to the local.

The purpose of the program was to provide welfare recipients with opportunities for employment and training of individuals who receive welfare aid from various state and federal government programs.

The Air Force denied the new order has anything to do with a pilot shortage, but it appeared obvious that extending the tour would slow down personnel rotation and thus relieve the pressure to provide replacements.

The old system allowing pilots to leave the war zone after 100 missions regardless of time was far enough, I still prefer to see a greater Vietnam war.

Statistics supported this view. As of Jan. 11, the United States had 100 combat pilots in South Vietnam, while only 270 American planes were allowed to return from Southeast Asia.

New Haven GOP Goes to Court Over Election

NEW YORK AP—The New Haven, Conn., Republican Party returned to the 2nd Circuit Court of Appeals here Wednesday to advance its bid for million-dollar seats under the 1963 state law.

In their quest for a favorable decision, the Republicans have made the rounds of state and federal courts. The second time a three-judge appeals board here has heard the case.

A decision by the court is expected in about a week to announce its verdict. This circuit court of appeals has been the only court to give the party cause for optimism.

However, the appeals panel upheld the at-large election. The election was at large because of a district court ruling that, since the city's wards had not been empowered to demand, there was no guarantee of minority representation.

The disputed state statute allows a political party to be represented by a maximum of two-thirds of the members on a governing body having more than nine members.

Vernon Study Set On Town's Salaries

A job evaluation and salary study will be made for the town under the direction of the town administrator Richard Borden and a committee of the Board of Representatives.

An amount of $1,000 was budgeted to get the study started and Borden already contacted the University of Connecticut's Institute of Public Service for assistance.

It was said that a student could be hired to do the study during the summer but Borden was informed by the school that the institute would help by supplying information but would not do any of the actual work.

Borden said with the advice of a consultant from the State Personnel Department, the committee made up of Representatives Abner Brooks, John Dagle and Robert Hodley will establish guide lines and have the program evaluated by the consultant.

Following Borden's recommendation, the board approved the plan and agreed that extra money will be provided if more than $1,000 is needed. Borden said it might cost $1,800 to $1,900 for the consultant's fees.

This program was to have been started under the former director of administration but he resigned his position before any action was taken other than the development of the plan.

Four new hydrants are being installed in the rural area of town.

The installation of the additional hydrants was approved by the Board of Representatives and Fire Chief Joseph Duffin. Moses explained it has been the policy of the Vernon Water Company to install hydrants for fire protection, within its franchise, wherever needed.

The additional facilities will be installed at Merline Dr., near Dr. Center Rd., at the intersection of Center Rd. and Center Rd. in the Gross and Christian tract and Bette Circle off Center Rd.

The board also recently approved the installation of a hydrant on Tunnel Rd. The order has been placed and this too will be installed shortly. The charge for the hydrants amounts to about $40 for each one per year.

Religious Survey Starting

A religious survey is being taken within a two-and-a-half mile radius of the Talcottville Congregational Church according to the Rev. Truman O. Ireland, pastor. Making the survey will be a theological student, Miss Nancy Jane Akins of Watertown.

Miss Akins is a graduate of Olivet College in Olivet, Mich., and is entering the senior class and is entering the senior class and is entering the senior class and is entering the senior class.

The survey will cover parts of Vernon, Manchester and South Windsor and will involve going door to door asking a few questions about the religious preferences of the family, whether or not they actively belong to a particular church and if the children are being baptized or attended religious instruction classes.

The aim of the survey is to determine church membership in a particularly rapidly growing area. A number of similar surveys are being taken throughout Connecticut. Results will be used to encourage persons to join and actively participate in a church.

Such surveys are also used as sociological studies involving ethnic groups, increasing populations and suburban living as related to religious practices.

The study is sponsored by the Talcottville Congregational Church and the Connecticut Conference of United Church of Christ with headquarters in Hartford.

The survey is expected to take most of the summer.

Vernon Historians Plan Visit

The Vernon Historical Society will visit the Valley Falls section of town on June 29 to view sites of historical significance.

A business meeting will be held at the Munchow stables on June 28. The stables which are located on the Darico farm were built in the late 1890's by Count Munchow, a Hungarian nobleman noted for his fine riding and saddle horses.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Warren will escort the group on a walk to what remains of a sawmill built in 1740 by Thomas Johnson. This had been converted to an oil mill in 1790 by Joseph and Samuel Carver and Zeke O. O'Connell of Bolton. Linseed oil was extracted from the seeds of the flax plant which was grown for its linen fiber. Later when cotton and woolen fabrics became more popular the mill was closed and later converted to a grist mill operated by Charles Ladd.

The group will also view a collection of 250 bells belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Peter Darico of Bolton Rd. Town crier, trolley, jingle, sleigh, church and hand bells as well as bells from Russia, Tibet and Arabia are included in the collection.

The tour will be postponed in case of rain to June 30.

Martin P. Fagan has been elected to the presidency of the society. Other officers include George H. Grigam, vice president; Miss Hazel P. Lutz, recording secretary; George Chase, treasurer; Miss Gertrude Fuller, newspaper publicity; and Maurice Murray, photographer.

Committee chairman include Allen L. Drosser, program; Miss Lutz, publications and publicity; Mrs. Lucille Dealey and Miss Natalie Dea, museum and library; Mrs. Fagan, membership; Mrs. Caroline Forster, historic sites; and Mrs. Glenn Stephenson, nominating.

The society has listed recent gifts of historical interest including a vestigial and plaque from the old county home barn which was burned down last week to make way for the new elementary school. Pictures, newspapers, a luncheon set and a White House cookbook were also acquired.

The society file is now at the Rockville Public Library and Mrs. Thomas Condit has completed a cross index file of more than 400 cards which makes all materials easily available. Contents may be consulted during library hours but nothing in the file may be removed.

Norwalk Mayor Seeks Talks on Riot Insurance

HARTFORD (AP) — A high-level meeting on the subject of riot insurance in Connecticut has been called by Norwalk Mayor Frank M. Zullo.

Zullo Wednesday called for a special meeting of the Connecticut Conference of Mayors, State Insurance Commissioner William R. Cotter and all domestic fire and casualty insurance companies in Connecticut.

Mayor Zullo is chairman of the Conference of Mayors. He called for the meeting after talks with Commissioner Cotter, New Britain Mayor Paul Manafort and Stamford's Corporation Counsel, Paul Shapiro.

Cotter a week ago asked the insurance companies to continue offering riot coverage. The insurance companies in their public liability coverage.

Mayor Zullo said that the insurance companies are not covering riot damage suits arising from riot, commotion and mob action.

The suits could involve charges that rioters are liable for damages. A psychiatrist who examined the rioters failed to provide adequate protection and maintenance and order.

Young Dems Pick Slate

Manchester Young Dems needed only minutes last night to elect a compromise slate of officers, and then spent a considerable time in a dispute over the proposed endorsement of Minnesota Sen. Eugene McCarthy.

Close to 125 members, the largest turnout in the history of the club, with McCarthy backers outnumbering the uncommitted regulars two to one, crowded into Mott's Auditorium for the vote.

The compromise slate, presented by a nominating committee headed by Robert Coleman, was elected by acclamation.

The new slate, to be seated in September, gives the uncommitted regulars four of the 12 officers: The president, treasurer, state board delegate, and one at-large member of the executive board. The McCarthy backers, calling themselves the "Reform Coalition," get the other eight officers.

The officers elected are: Charles Boggini, president; Alty Holland, chairman, first vice president; Christopher Powell, second vice president; John Lannino, third vice president; Alty David Wiseman, treasurer; Patricia Struff, recording secretary; Ellen Woods, corresponding secretary; Kenneth Gibson, the outgoing president, state board delegate; and Jeffrey Fain, Wayne Bodine, Alty Mark Levine and Ewe Anderson, at-large members of the executive board.

The dispute over the proposed endorsement of Sen. McCarthy for president came on a motion to officially congratulate the Minnesota senator for his Tuesday primary victory in New York. The motion drew loud and enthusiastic applause.

Gibson ruled the motion out of order, on the basis that it would constitute an endorsement.

The constitution of the State Young Dems, he explained, does not permit endorsement of a candidate, prior to his nomination at a convention.

The ruling drew considerable debate, but it was enforced.

State Sen. David M. Barry, a member of the Manchester Young Dems, was congratulated last night for his nomination from the 4th Senatorial District.

The club pledged its active support for him in his campaign.

In addition, the Manchester Young Dems are proposing a joint and public meeting with the Manchester Mayor Nathan Agostinelli, who will be named next Tuesday as the GOP nominee for the State Senate.

Barry last night thanked the Young Dems for their pledge to work actively for his re-election, and congratulated the club on the mature way it had worked out its differences.

Barry had headed a committee of four, to rule on membership eligibility, in the event the compromise election agreement had fallen through.

Boggini, before the election, explained that the compromise slate was worked out by representatives of both factions, "to give both groups a say in club plans, and to guarantee open participation and dialogue."

Chairman, who had been the Coalition's candidate for president prior to the compromise, also spoke before the election.

"It was never my intention, to make a power play, nor to work for our own promotion," he said.

He explained, "The many McCarthy backers, who are new members of the club joined for the purpose of projecting ideas and for comment on the dialogue of the crucial problems of the day. I believe that this now is an unseparated organization and, for that reason, we are backing the compromise slate."

Nine Cadette Scouts Get Highest Badge

Nine Cadette Girl Scouts of Troop 30 received First Class Badges at the 33rd annual Court of Awards of Troop 10 Tuesday night in Neill Hall of St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

They are: Cheryl Schaffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Belton Schaffer of 118 Porter St.; Linda Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Brown of 36 Madison St.; Kathleen Paulsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Paulsen of 45 E. Middle Tpke.; Harriet Groves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Susan Hurwitz of 31 Laurel St.; Alby, Linda St. Laurent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas St. Laurent of 146 Lenox St.; Allison Kushi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kushi of 74 Mountain Rd.; Vivien Carroll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Carroll of 407 Summit St.; Susan Dumais, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Hawkes of 375 Summit St.; and Susan Hurwitz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hurwitz of 104 Conway Rd.

To receive this badge, scouts must have knowledge, skill, and experience in the fields of art, home, citizenship, outdoor sports, health and safety, and international friendship to meet the requirements of the challenge of social desirability, emergency preparedness, active citizenship, and the promise of leadership.

A flag ceremony was conducted by Paula Haldeman with Jan Schaffer and Sue Leggett as color bearers and Janet Sisco and Denise Gohoury as guard of honor. Cheryl Schaffer, Marcia Strimatis, Linda Brown, Nancy Platz, and Kathleen Kushi presented original letters to God entitled "Questions."

The Backwoods Buttercup Patrol, winner of the recent Cadette-rama at Lake of Isles Boy Scout Reservation, presented a flame board demonstration on conservation entitled, "Balance of Nature."

The Yankee Hillbillies entertained with scout and school songs. A tabernacle, "Girl Scout Today—Woman of Tomorrow," depicting five vocational roles based on today's scout program, was shown.

A rededication ceremony for new members was conducted by patrol leaders, with Cheryl Schaffer in charge. Joining the troop were eleven scouts from Junior Troop 611.

The passing of the golden patrol leadership cords followed, with Cheryl Schaffer handing hers to Pamela Welch; Linda St. Laurent to Janet Schaffer; Linda Brown to Marcia Strimatis and Sue Dixon to Kim Crealy.

Thank yous were extended to St. Mary's Episcopal Church by Janet Sisco and accepted by the Rev. James Bellows. Also acknowledged were the Girls Friendly Society sponsors who have sponsored the troop since 1933. All the leaders past and present have been members of this society. Also thanked were the fathers who sponsored the Girl Scout breakfast and the mothers who assisted with money earning projects.

Mrs. Everett Kelsey, troop leader, explained the meaning of citizenship in the scout program. During the year, the scouts participated in the United Nations Day flag ceremony at Center Park, collected toys for the welfare department, sang at a local convalescent home, filled packets for the Cancer Crusade, counseled and read to the blind, and planted flowers in the courtyard. The girls also participated in the Memorial Day Parade, cleaned litter at Camp Merritt Wood, and for the second year

Police, Firemen Agree on Unity In City Contract

STRATFORD (AP)—Police and firemen's unions here have agreed that neither will sign a contract with the city unless the other approves.

The two unions have been negotiating with the city since last November for a new work contract. The talks have been at an impasse since April 1.

The agreement was signed by Ronald E. Beckwith, the president of the Police Union Local 67 of the American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employees, and Richard P. Callen, president of Local 998 of the International Association of Firefighters.

Mammoth Cave, in central Kentucky, was discovered in November for a new work contract.

Deaths in The Nation

Mrs. S. S. Battles
GALLESBURG, Ill. (AP)—Mrs. S. S. Battles, 52, the former movie and stage actress known as Sally O'Neill, died Tuesday night after a short illness. Mrs. Battles, who co-starred with Joan Crawford and Constance Bennett in "Sally, Irene and Mary," made her motion picture debut as a 19-year-old in "Mike." The last two movies in which she appeared were made in 1958.

Oscar F. Holcombe
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Oscar F. Holcombe, 79, Houston mayor longer than any other man, died Tuesday of a heart attack. He was mayor for 11 consecutive two-year terms from 1921 until 1965.

Dr. George M. Knaut
SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—Dr. George M. Knaut, 81, former deputy director of space medicine with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, died unexpectedly Tuesday. Knaut worked with NASA from 1945 to 1965, when he became chief of super-sonic transport aeromedical support for the Boeing Co.

"Paper Gold" Bill Signed
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson has signed a bill giving U.S. approval to a new international "paper gold" reserve currency intended to relieve some of the strain on the dollar.

For the first time in the world's financial history," Johnson said Wednesday, "nations will be able to create international reserves by deliberate and joint decision—and in amounts needed to support growth in world trade and payments."

The bill Johnson signed authorizes U.S. officials to vote for a charter amendment to the International Monetary Fund providing for the new reserves, a sort of currency for use among central banks in the world.

lated means, "While we live, let us live fully."

When all the boys, marooned and the girls in white had reached their places, the seniors sat upon signal from Richard Cobb, class president, who strode to the microphones for the greeting.

Cobb drew a laugh from the audience and the class when he inadvertently referred to "this graduation night of June 19, 1968," but he continued unfazed and after that the program proceeded almost without a hitch.

The only other mishap came when the microphone momentarily went dead as Salutatorian Sharon O'Connell began her address.

In her talk, "The Tragedy of Education: Where We Have Failed," she charged that public secondary schools tend to produce students who know how to mouth facts but not to think creatively.

The school "should train him to think for himself by encouraging his creativity," she said. "It should serve as a proving ground for his developing philosophy while affording him a chance to explore and discover."

The full text of her address and the valedictory, "The Tragedy of Education: What Can Be Done," by Edward M. Keiderling, will be published in a special two-page graduation edition of the High School World, which will appear in tomorrow's Herald.

Following the salutatory, several seniors left their seats to join the Round Table Singers for a rendition of the spiritual, "Charlot," under the direction of Miss Martha White.

The group's other numbers performed after the principal address, were "Born Free" and Though such problems may seem overwhelming, Judge Rubinow reminded the graduates, the year he was graduated from MHS witnessed the beginning of the Depression, "an economic slump so severe that ultimately, every bank in this country was closed by a Presidential proclamation, and the entire machinery for the production of goods came to a virtual standstill."

"And because the times were uneasy then as they are now," he charged in closing, "the country needed then, as it needs now, the best that is in young people — young people who, guided by lofty aims, will not blindly accept things as they are but will set their talents to work to make things better."

"It is to the ranks of those of our fellow Americans who are working to make things better that I welcome you," he said.

Edward Keiderling, academically the first-ranked member of the class, in his valedictory address, deplored the persistence and the spread of national violence and what he termed "our social apathy, which is so tragically evident."

He said, "The stoniness in our society is not the fault of our country, in his valedictory address, he deplored the persistence and the spread of national violence and what he termed "our social apathy, which is so tragically evident."

House Approves $4.5 Billion for Public Works

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has approved a $4.5 billion public works appropriations bill, but cut out $71.000 which had been earmarked for planning funds for the controversial Dickey - Lincoln hydroelectric power project in Maine.

That since Wednesday duplicated the maneuver last year in which funds for the project, which would be New England's first public power source, were deleted. The House sent the bill to the Senate.

The House struck out the money on the motion of Rep. Robert N. Gilmoro, D-Conn.

Left in the measure were funds for public power projects in five other sections of the United States.

Save Case Mt. Plan Proposed by Weiss

Town Manager Robert B. Weiss unveiled a new plan to get the state to buy Case Mountain last night, at a joint meeting of the chairmen of the conservation commission, the park and recreation commission, and the planning and zoning commission.

The plan centers on a large scale campaign to gather enough area support to convince members of the State General Assembly convening in January that the state must make the mountain part of a state forest system.

Weiss introduced one of the key people in a summer program to prepare a picture demonstration of the mountain's merits. Gene Twaronite of 34 Spruce St. will be a junior member of the group.

There are so many towns and so many people involved that the plan is an interim Weiss' office for the summer. His photographer's skills and his fledgling forest ranger knowledge were evidenced by a short lecture he gave the town leaders last night. The same mountain on the other side of the lecture will be greatly broadened and detailed by the time he goes back to school, Weiss said.

Weiss said the town leaders, especially those gathered last night, "must make an immediate and concerted effort to save the mountain."

After the last General Assembly in 1967 during which town officials failed to convince the state to buy the 273-acre mountain parcel for $425,000, Case Bros. legislators told town leaders a strong effort to preserve the mountain area from further development.

Joseph Sylvester, chairman of the park and recreation commission, noted that the whole mountain is covered with trails and would be a "terrific buy."

Tammy noted that the mountain is a key part of the system of linear parks beginning to become a reality now. Paths running along Hop Brook and passing under the planned Rt. 15 aim for the mountain and make the mountain top a goal for the hiker.

David Olegard, a member of the Board of Directors and a longtime supporter of plans to buy Case Mountain, told the group, "It is frightening to think of it in even 10 years with the recent rapid growth here."

Olegard urged full cooperation between the town gathered last night in order to insure development while preserving the town's beauty spots.

In his lecture, Twaronite said, "There are so many towns and so many people involved that the plan is an interim Weiss' office for the summer. His photographer's skills and his fledgling forest ranger knowledge were evidenced by a short lecture he gave the town leaders last night. The same mountain on the other side of the lecture will be greatly broadened and detailed by the time he goes back to school, Weiss said.

Superior Court Judge Jay E. Rubinow addresses the graduates.

BOY SCOUT Notes and News

TROOP 382
Troop 382 of St. Bartholomew Church recently held its final Court of Honor at the church. Sister Mary Maher and Sister Monica Leonard, both of the Congregation of Notre Dame; and Dr. Robert Beaton Smith, institutional representative, were guests of honor.

Joe Salazar opened the program with a presentation of a proposed troop trip to Venezuela.

Senior Scouts Rick Ruggles, Donald Moguin, Richard Salazar and Herbert Stevenson conducted the Court of Honor. Awards were made to Curtis Hamilton and James White; tenderfoot; Frank Jawroski and David Sheridan, second class; William Keegan, first class; Frederick Ruggles, star.

Also, John Blake, George Poe, Jeffrey Frittsen, Douglas Hauschild, William Keegan, Robert LeBlanc, Donald Moguin, James Rook, Frederick Ruggles, Richard Salazar, Peter Smith, Phillip Spina, David Stevenson, Douglas Stevenson, Herbert Stevenson and Willard Waterfield, citizenship in the community.

Also, John Blake, Douglas Hauschild, Robert LeBlanc, James Rook, Richard Salazar, David Stevenson, Douglas Stevenson and Herbert Stevenson, citizenship in the nation; Willard Waterfield, home repairs, fishing and sea.

Dr. Smith presented a certificate of appreciation to Sister Mary Maher for her enthusiastic support of scouting for the past several years, and for her permission for use of her classroom at St. Bartholomew's School for merit badge classes.

Scoutmaster Edward Ward presented her with a dogwood tree which the scouts will plant on the convent grounds.

Herbert Stevenson, troop committee chairman, announced that Frank E. Keegan would replace Mr. Ward as scoutmaster next year. Mr. Ward will continue as a member of the troop committee and as troop advisor.

To close the program, George Blake, committee man, presented movies and slides of troop activities. Refreshments were served.

The graduating class of Howell Cheney Technical School stands together for the last time at commencement exercises in the auditorium.

Cheney Tech Graduates 44 in Class of '68

Forty-four seniors of the Howell Cheney Technical School heard an address delivered by Richard C. Berry, Vice President, Research and Development at Rogers Corp., at commencement exercises last night in the school auditorium.

Mr. Berry joined Rogers in 1949 as a Development Engineer and was promoted to Vice President in 1966. A native of Salem, Mass., he is a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology where he earned a B.S. and Masters degrees in Chemical Engineering. He holds numerous patents in the plastics field and is co-founder and first chairman of the Eastern Connecticut Chemical Engineers Club. He is a former vice chairman of the Technical Committee on Gaskets of the American Society for Testing and Materials and active in a number of technical societies.

President Signs Crime Curb Bill

aid to strengthen local law enforcement. All the rest was added in the Senate.

Even as the House acted June 19, Johnson vetoed the fire-arms section of a state and a watered down version of the gun control bill had asked.

He called it a halfway measure because the ban on mail-order sales did not include rifles and shotguns.

However, separate legislation to carry out his recommendations is now before the Senate and House Judiciary committees and appears likely to be passed.

Much of the controversy over the bill centered on provisions of the bill restricting the use of confessions and lineup identifications in criminal trials.

The new law provides that a confession shall be admissible in evidence if the trial judge declares in the light of all circumstances it was voluntarily given.

A confession could not be barred solely because of delay in arraignment, provided it was made within six hours of arrest, and not just because a suspect had not been advised of his right not to answer questions and to have a lawyer.

Also, the testimony of an eyewitness to a crime could not be ruled out if his identification of a defendant had been made at a police lineup when a suspect did not have a lawyer present.

Nothing in the legislation prevents the Supreme Court from setting aside these provisions as unconstitutional. But McCallan and others have said that if this happens, Congress may well limit the court's appellate jurisdiction. An effort to do this has failed in the Senate.

Although the measure authorizes police wiretapping and bugging under court supervision, it outlines all private interceptions. Violations are punishable by fines of up to $10,000 or imprisonment up to five years.

These penalties also are provided for the manufacture, advertisement or shipment in interstate commerce of electronic equipment or other devices for eavesdropping.

Board Heads Suggest More Joint Sessions

Sharp criticism of the coordination of town agencies led to agreements at a joint meeting of those town agencies to hold more joint meetings on a smaller scale in the future.

Agency and town leaders concerned with increasing park and recreation needs in the face of increasing business, industrial and residential growth met at Mt. Mohe fields, Union Pond, Hilliard Pond, and the Globe Hollow tracts where he proposed a new site.

M. Adler Dobkin, chairman of the Conservation Commission, noted that the same kind of meeting was held in 1966 due to confusion and wasted effort in overlapping work by different commissions. But the same kind of situation exists today, he said.

"We have, at times, felt like an extra thumb and have been spinning our wheels. The situation is crying for more coordination," Miller said.

For example, he said, the town has been going to the State Legislature with plans for the state to buy Case Mountain without the mechanics available to present a good picture. He suggested an inner agency be set up.

Joseph Sylvester, chairman of ahead of events. He urged particular cooperation this summer with the effort by his office to map out a new campaign to get the state to buy Case Mountain.

Miller and Sylvester readily agreed.

Other matters discussed at the meeting included the plan by both the state and the town to build a park with ball fields, tennis areas and trails almost in the path of the eight-lane highway to go through Charter Oak fields.

Attending the meeting were: Weste, Miller, Sylvester, Dobkin, Hartine, David Odegaard of the Board of Directors, Dr. Douglas Smith of the Chamber of Commerce, Town Planner Joseph Tansky, Park Director Ernest Turck, and Recreation Director William Boyle.

Join Poor People
WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 600 Connecticut residents arrived in Reconstruction City Wednesday to demonstrate their support of solidarity day in the Poor People's Campaign.

Four busloads left Tuesday from Hartford. Others went to Meriden, New Haven, and Bridgeport.

A total of 14 buses from Connecticut went to the march on the Lincoln Memorial.

Miller a McCarthy Salesman

By GLENN WELLS YOUNG

Playwright Arthur Miller spoke in East Hartford Monday to a tightly-packed and attentive crowd at Eugene East, the McCarthy for President cabaret.

Miller is one of two McCarthy delegates from Rostbury, Conn. (The other is William Styron, Pulitzer Prize winning novelist.)

Miller, the author of "Death of a Salesman," was introduced by Mrs. Jack Goldberg of Manchester, manager of the voluntary Tuesday night spot.

Dressed in a conservative suit and green tie, Miller, who seemed quite tall in front of the microphone, spoke easily and without notes.

The reason, he said, that he became interested in McCarthy was that he talked with his son, and with his son's friends. He had been in politics before.

He said that this "may be the best election in which conventional conservatism is so militantly faced." It may be "too late for the system in which young people have no say" to reverse itself, to prove its worth.

He said that the combined Kennedy McCarthy vote in the primaries indicated that 80 per cent of the party voted for either one of the two men.

This leaves 20 per cent to decide the "fate of the country," he said, "prisoners of a machine." If there's no reversal of this process of the party machine dominating the wishes of the party members, "then it's all up with us."

He is not concerned about democracy as a "dogma" but as a reality," he said, because he hears from youth that democracy is—and he used an expression roughly translated as "for the birds."

McCarthy, he said, is the only person today not "contaminated" by the American policy in Vietnam and was the first candidate to come out against Vietnam when it could have been "political suicide."

Speaking of the future of McCarthy backers in the convention and after, Miller said he hoped that the candidate could manage some kind of open convention so that he could speak. The fact of his speaking and his "demonstrated support will inevitably change" what the leaders will think and do, he said.

McCarthy's function has been a "climactic one," the playwright said. "It has meant it is responsible for Americans to oppose a war and still be Americans."

He contended that it was McCarthy who forced President Johnson to decide not to run.

Miller concluded his talk with an appeal to fellow McCarthy supporters: "If we fold, we are giving up the heritage of this country. It's not in the hands of the politicians." (and

Multiple Groups Seen Dissipating Governor's Role

HARTFORD (AP)—The Connecticut Public Expenditure Council said today an increase in the number of departments, boards and commissions is "contributing to the dissipation of the governor's administrative control."

The state now has more than 245 departments, boards and commissions, the CPEC said, a figure almost double that of 1939 in 1968.

The growth, the CPEC said, contributes to a general fragmentation of responsibility that hampers efficiency and economy in state government.

Noting that the Connecticut Constitution provides that the "supreme executive power of the state shall be vested in the governor," the CPEC said the chief executive has direct control over only 18 administrative heads.

It said that in the past 20 years, the number of boards, commissions and committees rose from 122 to 226, thus contributing to "dissipation of the control."

The CPEC report said the number of federal, state and local ex officio members who serve "by virtue of their office" has tripled in the past 20 years.

It said 114 such officers serve on 89 state agencies, as against 38 officers on 29 agencies in 1948.

This burdens executive officials and department heads the CPEC said, since they are "busy running their departments and find it difficult to devote the time needed to cope with their board duties."

DAN BIRD
RAZGANY, India (AP) — A crew is blamed for a fire which killed one person and destroyed three houses in this rural area of eastern India.

Officials said the crew picked up a lit wick from a lantern and dropped it on a thatched roof.

he listed various special interests of politicians "but in the hands of the amateurs, whose voices must be heard."

In the question period Miller was asked by a Negro in the audience why he hadn't discussed domestic problems, but had talked mostly about Vietnam.

In answer Miller cited billions of dollars being spent on the war and said "before you can move you've got to get united." He added that it is easy to draw up programs, but what is needed was a new New Deal, to implement the programs once money becomes available. He said that with the moral courage McCarthy has shown, he thinks the candidate can face the problems in the ghettoes squarely.

Asked what would happen if the choice in November is Humphrey vs. Nixon, Miller said that probably "a lot of people won't vote" but the abstention might be organized, or there could be a write-in.

"The problem is to stay together and to keep up one's morale," he concluded.

JT9D in Flight Over Bradley Field

HARTFORD (AP)—The sleek services in 1970. The jets are over Connecticut were staged for the first public flight test of a giant jet engine Tuesday.

The engine, a JT9D Turbofan built by Pratt & Whitney Air-plant, was on the wing of a B-52 bomber.

Four of the jets will fly the 490-passenger Boeing 747 jetliner scheduled to begin airline service in 1970. The jets are called the world's most powerful bypass engines.

The engine is recognizable by its girthy inlet—twice the size of present commercial jets and wide enough for a person to stand in. The big engine replaced two of the eight JT3 engines that normally power the 200-ton B-52 aircraft.

The new gas turbine engine has 43,500 pounds of thrust, to reach altitudes of 45,000 feet and speeds of 600 miles per hour.

Over a three-year period, the JT9D will be going through development flights, aimed at getting the maximum efficiency from advanced cycle and design concepts under development for six years.

Eventually the flight tests are scheduled to begin in October.

Later this month, Pratt & Whitney will ship the first flight test engine to Boeing, the manufacturer of the 747 airplane in Everett, Wash. The first airplane with the four JT9D engines will be rolled out in October.

Columbia Town Gets Complaints On Vandals

Local businessmen who approached town selectmen this week about the problem of vandalism and theft in Columbia were told the problem is difficult to control "due to the fact that we do not have adequate coverage of their fault."

Most of the complaints were businessmen involved in the town's new shopping center.

Herbert Engler Jr., who owns a gas station and used car business on Rt. 66, said "I guess it's the complaint my fault. We all have trouble and we want the town to do something about it."

According to a spokesman for these men, only one cop patrols the town nightly and also must patrol other towns in the vicinity as well.

The complaints suggested that town constables be allowed to augment the state patrolmen but the question arose over payment.

Town constables are paid by the various groups who ask for their assistance, such as town-controlled teen-ages dances.

Police Arrests

Joseph G. Currier, 21 of 160 Tolland Tpke., was served a warrant at 6:35 p.m. yesterday, charging him with destruction of private property.

The 12th Circuit Court warrant was issued in connection with an incident that took place May 24 at Deer's Drive-in on Center St. when a motorcycle belonging to another youth was damaged.

Currier was released on no cash bail for July 8 court appearance.

SHARKEYEARNE STARLING NEW YORK (AP)—If you are plagued by startings at your own a gas station and used car business on Rt. 66, said "I guess it's the complaint my fault. We all have trouble and we want the town to do something about it."

According to a spokesman for these men, only one cop patrols the town nightly and also must patrol other towns in the vicinity as well.

The complaints suggested that town constables be allowed to augment the state patrolmen but the question arose over payment.

Town constables are paid by the various groups who ask for their assistance, such as town-controlled teen-ages dances.

These constables are really qualified to arrest anyone, according to the selectmen, who are not sure just what the qualifications of these town constables are.

One spokesman for car dealers said all the trespassers are not "teen-ages but are men of skill writing the area."

Another spokesman said, "These people are well organized and seem to know just when to hit—when we are not on watch."

Stoney Orlando, who owns a gas station on Rt. 66, said, "I've got a dog and they don't bother me," but another businessman, Raymond Legary, said, "They poisoned one of my dogs."

The men said they represented some $2,000,000 expended in the area and for the town should "do something about the problem."

The selectman said the present budget had no coverage for the problem and added they would study the problem further to decide about more patrolling.

Mrs. Collins Hospitalized Mrs. Myrtle Collins, Columbia Center, is a patient at Windham Hospital, where she is expected to be for several weeks, following surgery.

Rocky Speaker At GOP Dinner N. Y. Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, who is seeking the Republican nomination for president, will deliver the principal address Wednesday at the Hartford Hill-town when the GOP State Central Committee holds a $100,000 fund-raising dinner.

The dinner is scheduled at 7:30 p.m., to be preceded by a reception. Gov. Rockefeller's speech will be at 8:30, and will be carried live over TV and radio.

Special security plans have been made for designated work, refreshment, and dinner areas for the local press and for the national press corps which travels with the N.Y. governor. Still to be decided is whether Gov. Rockefeller will hold a press conference, prior to the reception and dinner.

Dog Licenses Soon Run Out

Dog Owners! Is your pet one of the 2,000 Manchester canines who appear to have slipped by you a license? Well, hot-foot yourself over to the town clerk's office in the Municipal Building and buy one before it's too late. Licenses, if you want to avert the inevitable fine and if you want to avoid paying a penalty.

Town Clerk Edward Tomblin said today that the deadline date for dog licenses is June 30, only approximately 800 of Manchester's 2,000 dog population have been licensed.

A comparison with the Manchester locality, Greenwich, whose 5,000 dog population is the largest in the state, already has over 4,000 of them licensed.

The smallest dog population in the state is in Union—75 dogs.

Hayden Leaves Post with MRA

Robert Hayden, relocation director for the Manchester Redevelopment Agency (MRA), will leave his post with the agency to take a similar position with the Bloomfield Redevelopment Agency.

The MRA has closed its relocation office at 149 N. Main St. and all remaining work will be handled at its 286 Main St. main office.

Hayden will be available in Manchester on a part-time basis to assist with the few remaining families and businesses to be relocated from the North End since February 1968, has terminated his full-time employment with the agency to take a similar position with the Bloomfield Redevelopment Agency.

Continuing Concern Group Increasing Social Action

Social action by Manchester begins its "drop in" summer program July 1. The church will then begin a wide program of summer crafts, recreation, bus trips, sports, and a dramatic workshop. Many volunteers will be needed.

The Rev. Mr. Price explained the CCC system in terms of a single interested person. That person would call the CCC and would then make out a card with this information and try to match the person with the myriad of volunteer needs.

Anyone can offer his help, and there is a need for almost every kind of help, he said.

For many people who cannot make it to Hartford but who would still like to help, the CCC is trying to arrange a "drop in" program at different churches in Manchester where children from Hartford will be used. The program will not be ready until August.

Interested people can get more information by calling Charles F. Sprague at 78 Alt St., he said.

Mrs. Bird Gets MA in English

Mrs. Kenneth I. Bird Jr., the former Miss Trudi F. Beckman of Manchester, received her master of arts degree in English from Temple University, Philadelphia, Pa., at June 14 commencement exercises.

During the same ceremonies, her husband was awarded his single interested person. That person would call the CCC and would then make out a card with this information and try to match the person with the myriad of volunteer needs.

She received her B.A. in English in 1964 from the University of Connecticut, after which she taught elementary school and high school English in the Philadelphia schools for two years.

She is a graduate of Manchester schools and Manchester High School's Class of 1960. While living in Manchester, she was active in the Community Players.

The husband, the son of Mr. and Mrs. K.I. Bird of 38 Harvard Rd., will intern at the Temple University School of Medicine.
