Understanding DeGaulle

Americans do not like to hate; lately many people have been distressed by their feeling that they should perhaps hate the president of the country traditionally called their ally.

De Gaulle has indeed seemed to be making a very bold move in the United States makes, to be obstructing every American initiative in international finance and world politics.

Yet, with remarkable fairness, most Americans respect him, envy France for having such a leader at her head, and make every effort to try and understand him.

De Gaulle's France has been a nuisance since his flying aircraft, one "cassini" Stunned when he used an unfortunate sentence to regret the assurances of the Arabs and which there are very happy precedents.

It Looks Like Summer. One does not wish to be cheerful about the advent of any new season, but summer did come in with a senseless, non-refreshing cold wind that belonged more to April than to June.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
by Eugene Brewer

"There is no fear in love; but perfect love casteth out fear, because fear hath punishment; and he that feareth is not made perfect in love." I John 3:18.

Instances this motive of intimidation is not accidental victims. Intimidation is the planned result of a deliberate effort. In medieval times this fear largely was of the church's right to condemn the dead over its subjects. Today this dread is a correlative of the social power held by the church and/or its alleged monopoly over the promises and hopes of Christianity.

Any religion thus wittingly exploiting the devotion of its victims is not Christian. Any person thus nominally a Christian, who is not the real joy and hope of Christ. Are you religiously distinguished and proud of it? Allow Christ, by your study of his life, to lead you out of such a fear into emancipating knowledge, faith, and love of God.

News for Senior Citizens
By WALLY FORTIN
DIRECTOR

Well, our trip to Bear Mountain Park in New York is all set now, and we will have two buses going. From all reports, it should be an interesting day and lot of fun for everyone. The buses will leave the Senior Citizens Center at 8 a.m. sharp, and are expected to return between 9:30 and 9:50 p.m. Those driving cars to the center should park them on Linden St. in the upper part of Myrtle St., and be sure to lock the car.

Monday morning the Kitchen Social is becoming more popular each week. Twenty-five persons enjoyed participation in, and winning all sorts of prizes. A new prize being awarded during the games is a one week free subscription to The Manchester Evening Herald.

Refreshments are served during this activity. Mrs. Martha Mansfield donated a delicious cake for the occasion, and all winners of the lucky winner of the day winning a low level prize. To participate in the games, all one needs to do is bring along one can of canned goods. No membership is needed, and every Senior Citizen of Manchester is welcome to drop in.

Many of those attending also bring their lunch, and then enter our possible raffle. The raffle is held in the afternoon.

This past Monday we set a new record, having twenty tables participating. Prizes were awarded to the following: Gladys Schuetz, 671; Bob Dexter, 676; Rose Campbell, 672; Grace Baker, 671; Angie Jarvis, 671; Louise Hayward, 671; Martin Mader, 662; Kathleen McGuire, 649; Ellen Bronke, 646; Beatrice Mader, 646; Mollie McCarthy, 634; and Eva Lutz, 622.

Last Sunday having been Father's Day, this old bocher received a card from a couple of his boys. It was a really beautiful verse that I would like to put here:

The Praying Hands
By Helen Steiner Rice

The Praying Hands are much, much more than just words. They are the "God's creation" of a deeply thankful heart—
They are a priceless masterpiece that love alone could paint,
And they reveal the selflessness of an unheralded saint—
These hands so scoured and hollowed tell the story of a man
Who sacrificed his talent in accordance with God's Plan—
For in God's plan are many things man cannot understand,
But we must trust God's judgment and be guided by His hand.

Last Sunday he asks us to give up our dreams of happiness, and sometimes we must forgo our

Lone Sailor 'Saved' by Coast Guard

"I was like milking a mouse," he said.

"Early in the voyage the boat was too heavy, I knew that if I got away, it would capsize," the shaggy sailor said. "I never could relax."

He said he encountered his worst weather "right in the very middle of the ocean."

"The squalls would come in so fast. But the worst part was being so alone. I was hot, I perspired all the time."

"I thought of people's names I hadn't thought of in years. They just kept popping into my mind."

Touching his gray-peppered hair, he said he had a good old Vilhen passed in. "Well, the worst thing," he said, "was the loneliness."

For the first six weeks it was very lonesome.

Another disconcerting moment came during a squall off the north coast of Cuba. "I banged the bottom. I hit a reef three times, he said. "It was dreadful—nothing—an island with four trees on it."

"I really shook me up. I tried to steer around it, but the storm pushed me right into it. In the next 15 minutes, everything turned sour. Everything was okay."

The last few days of his 85-day trip seemed the toughest.

He said he checked his position each morning and evening and he knew Thursday he would encounter Homestead, Fla., his home and target.

"It became painfully clear to me," he said, "I will have a contract drawn up on another two or three weeks."

Vilhen—alone—was quite willing.

But his father, Edward, 74, said he had a different view.

"I demanded that the Coast Guard pick me up," the older Vilhen said. "I had a fear of being worried about it, but I said bring him in—whatever he says." Vilhen sent the word.

Vilhen was sighted Friday by a yacht some 25 miles off the Florida coast.

His wife, Johanna, and their son, Dana, 11, arrived at the site in the fishing boat, the Sea Wolf II as Vilhen was arguing with the crew of the Coast Guard.

"The commanding officer said he was sorry," Vilhen said. "He told me the crew were to contact my boat."

So Vilhen accepted a line from the Sea Wolf and he beamed into the arms of his wife and son.

Teacher Turnover Nears 90, Highest in System History

The resignations of 14 more teachers at Lincoln, 46,150, Miss Mar- teachers were accepted by the Board of Education at its meeting this week, bringing to nearly 90 the number total in 1967, a system this year by virtue of resignations or retirement.

The turnover to the highest ever experienced in the system and is higher by about 30 teaching positions than in 1967, and 1966, when resignations totaled about 60-65.

School officials have said the turnover is part of a statewide and national trend, while leading to an increasing dissatisfaction with the profession. The Education Association has intimated at least part of it is due to increasing dissatisfaction with conditions in the local system.

After a year-long haul over salary, other benefits and improved teaching conditions that went to arbitration, a contract between the board and teachers has still not been agreed upon, and the MEA threatens to delay the contract signing until September.

The board, which is slated to adopt the 1968-69 budget Monday, has said it will have a contract drawn, however, and will present it to the MEA for signature.

In other personnel action at this week's session, the board granted four leaves of absence for the coming year and made 12 new teacher appointments.

Those resigning: Wendell E. Marratta, teacher of earth science at Illing Junior High, 46,150; Mrs. Lydia Green; Grade 6, Manchester Green; Miss Sharon Holmstrom, Grade 5, 46,150; Mrs. M. J. Hendry, Grade 2, Nathan Hall; Miss Barbara Loomis, Grade 2, Washington St. School; Mrs. Miss Ruth Redwin, speech therapist.

Also, Miss Cheryl Hallock, Grade 1, Nathan Hall; Miss Joan Kehler, physical education, Manchester High; Miss Janet Flundis, Grade 2, Buckley; Miss Gladys Harmon, Grade 1, Buckley; Miss Ruth Redwin, speech therapist.

Also, Mrs. Virginia Rockwell, Mrs. Bonnie Coleman and Mrs. Linda Childers, all of whom have been on leave of absence; and Mrs. Lorraine Krawiec, formerly a teacher in the Head start program.

Of these actively teaching, the following reasons for resigning were given:

Three teachers said they will be moving out of the state, one will move because of her impending marriage, one will teach in Vermont, one is accepting a two-year position in Peru, Delafile, Diane Delafile, Jean Partridge, Debbie Gasper, Anthony Silvestro, Jack Nesbitt, Linda Civitillo, Ann Marie Civitillo, Domenick Vuoto.

Also, Mike Lettner, Carl Fooker, Janis Rowland, Ron Backofen, Paula Frazier, Ron Adl Moriconi, John Kueger, Sharon McCawright, Barbara Partridge, Debbie Gasper, Anthony Silvestro, Jack Nesbitt, Linda Civitillo, Ann Marie Civitillo, Domenick Vuoto.

Leaves of absence were granted the following: Robert Wolfert, Bennet Junior High English teacher and chairman of the MEA negotiating team, to accept an assignment as an assistant field director with the American Red Cross in Vietnam.

Mrs. Jan Dareska, Grade 3, Keeney School, for maternity.

Mrs. Carolyn R. Ressler, Grade 3, Buckley School; and Miss Ann-Marie Miller, Grade 4, Robertson, both for personal reasons.

Danbury, Guilford, Norwich, Sprague and Torrington are included in the grants, which will cover about one-half the local costs of the state—$138,800. Local shares are $41,000 for planning and $97,800 for actual costs.

The HUD also approved a $41,000 grant to plan activities in Ashford, Hampton, Thomaston and Thompson.

Dubaldo Pupils Close Recitals

Students of the Dubaldo Music Center, 186 W. Middle Tpke., presented the second of two recitals on a substitute basis, when given an initial regular concert in the current year.

Miss Paula Clough, who has been teaching a mentally retarded class at Manchester High on a substitute basis, was given an initial regular concert in the current year.

Requirements for a temporary certificate to teach in the state are met by the current B.A. schedule at $5,750.

Robert Duffy, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Duffy of 424 Summit St., and Bernadette Leary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Leary of 25 Bolton St., receive congratulations from the Rev. John J. Delaney, pastor of St. Bridget Church, for having been selected as this year's winners of part-tuition scholarships to East Catholic High School. The awards, based on academic achievement and citizenship, are given annually by the Rosary Society of St. Bridget to children of members entering the 9th grade at ECHS. The two winners have just completed the eighth grade at Illing Junior High School. (Herald photo by Pinto).

Labeled Colossal Failure

New York State's Lottery Paid $31.8 Million in Year

By BOB SVIKES

The second lowest since last July.

To counteract this, the legislature expanded outside to include supermarkets and other public places. Tax Department district offices cut personnel losses from auditing returns to twenty sales representatives were hired at $9,000 annually.

The legislature also authorized the state to hold drawings weekly—if desired—and on special occasions. In the first year, the awards were held once a month.

But the bloom has worn off. Only twice have monthly sales topped $6 million and the crowd attracted to drawings have dwindled sharply. In some instances, only newmen have been present.

Tax Commissioner Joseph H. Murphy says he has little doubt that the lottery will continue as a means of raising revenue. But he adds, "Our experience with the lottery has been too brief and so far inconclusive to prove anything meaningful."

Ernest T. Bird, director of the lottery, says he is still in a "transitional period," and we're "trying to get the public oriented to the new outlets."

Police Arrests

Joseph G. Currier, 21, of 101 Porter St., was charged with failure to wear a protective head covering or eye shielding, and failure to carry a motorcycle operator's license, today at 1:15 a.m. after being stopped on Center St. by a cruiser patrolman.

Currier had a license to drive a car, the patrolman said, but not a motorcycle. He will appear in court July 8.

12 Applicants Seek Town Job

The Town of Manchester has received 12 applications for the post of construction engineer, to fill the vacancy created when William Malachuk was named date-processing programmer.

Of the 12 applicants, eight are from Manchester and three from other Connecticut towns. One is from Virginia.

Examinations for the position will be given next week by John Harris, development coordinator.

The job carries an annual salary of $8,600 to $9,750, plus all of the usual fringe benefits.

Metric System Debated Again

The metric system, proponents say, is in use where 90 percent of the world's population lives today. The United States system—socially and economically—is based on the foot and pound although use of the metric system is increasing in pharmaceuticals, having converted to its use.

Miller's bill would beam the study to determine the impact on this country of increasing worldwide use of the metric system and to appraise the desirability and practicability of increasing the use of metric weights and measures here.

"It would seem certain that the metric system would be using the metric system some day," the committee said in its report on the bill. "The overwhelming forces of simplicity, ease of communication, and plain common sense will force us to adopt it."

However, the committee recognized that the subject was a controversial one and that earlier proposals ran into trouble because of too quick effective dates for exclusive conversion.

Administration of the lottery paid $13.8 million for prizes, ranging from $100,000 to $150, to 32,877 persons. The $100,000 winner was a woman living alone who had been forced to give up her job as a check-out clerk.

There were other peripheral benefits. One woman had $20,000 for telegrams when the state prohibited by law from using an aggressive selling campaign.

The campaign also has helped keep alive a remnant of the lottery. Opponent denounce it as an immoral and demeaning way to raise funds.

Proponents laud it as a patriotic "lottery" because it helps to pay for the things we don't want to pay for if we don't want to.

Congress may soon break on the issue. Opponents have already introduced bills to prohibit the sale of state-issued lottery tickets from sales dropped to $1 million.

Andover Vote Slated On $5,500

A special town meeting is scheduled for next Friday at 8 p.m. in the elementary school. The only item of business listed in the warrant at the moment is to see if the town will make an additional appropriation to the 1967-68 school budget, as recommended by the Board of Finance, of a sum not exceeding $5,500.00.

The funds requested is to cover obligations soon to be due and payable although the major part of them are reimbursements due later date.

Building Permits

Building permits recently issued, which were initiated in May but not given out during that month, were two in number. One was for Raymond W. Champ for a new house on Times Farm Rd., with a stated value of $18,000. The other permit was issued to John and Janet McCall, Lake Rd., for an addition to the present dwelling. Value given was $3,000.

Dog License

Although only a few days remain when the Town Clerk's office is open for business in the daytime during the rest of the year, plus two hours next Monday evening, only 63 of approximately 400 dogs in the town have been licensed as of yesterday. To avoid the penalty for registration after June 30, owners are urged to get their dogs licensed as soon as possible.

MATH WHIZ

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A 12-year-old Hopkinsville High School student who made a perfect score on the mathematics portion of his college entrance examination, plans to be a high school dropout—but only to skip his senior year and go directly into college. Officials of the Educational Testing Service in Princeton, N.J., said such a score is achieved by only 120,000 of one per cent of the 1.3 million high school and college students taking the nationwide test.

TRUMPH and TRAGEDY

The Story of the KENNEDYS
New Book Tells Story of the Kennedys

Few families have known greater wealth, or greater public acclaim, or greater power than the Kennedys. And few have suffered more recurrent tragedy.

A dramatic account of the progress of the Kennedys from famine-stricken Ireland to wealth and influence in America, and of the disasters that have dogged their dream of public service, is now being put into book form for us by a team of top writers of the world's largest news organization. The Associated Press, of which this newspaper is a member. It will be a large, handsome, hardback volume with ample illustrations in color and black and white.

We have arranged to offer it to you at the special price of $3. To reserve your copy, send a $3 check to "Triumph and Tragedy" in care of this newspaper.

Ed Charles Poet Laureate
And Dem Father with Mets
NEW YORK (AP) — I feel more confident. There's a lot of enthusiasm in this club. really love playing here. One-batter Dick Jensen was credited with his seventh victory, but he needed some late help from another older-timer, Steve Charles, at 35 a reliever among the youthful Mets, joined in the Friday night, driving in three runs in New York's 5-1 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers. The two hits boosted his average to .268, ninth best in the National League. It might have been enough to win the Poet laureate in Ed Charles' hobby — poetry and the Mets. "I've never had so much fun playing baseball," laughs Charles, who seems to have been rejuvenated by his new surroundings. Elsewhere in the National League Friday night, Chicago tied a 6-year record for scoreless innings and then defeated Cincinnati 2-0, Houston edged Atlanta 3-2 and Los Angeles edged Philadelphia 2-1. San Francisco shut out Pittsburgh 3-0 and St. Louis edged Atlanta 2-0.

Legion Wins First, Plays Here Sunday
Five runs in the third inning helped propel the Manchester American Legion baseball team to a 6-2 opening game success last night in Gloucester, N.H. The opening presented the home folks for the first time against Rockville at Mt. Nebo. "You see," said assistant manager, "you're not your age anymore, when you're still having something to offer." "I'm more aggressive at the plate this year," said Ed, "and

Record Crowd
NEW YORK (AP)—The largest crowd ever for a soccer match in the United States, 43,000, turned out for New York Yankee Stadium last night to witness the game of Italy in an exhibition 4-1 victory over the United States. Santo of Brazil defied Napoli in the world, helped at the home of the Italian previous record turned out for a soccer game in the U.S. was 42,000 which was set through eight in the fifth inning to lead the team when California scored its second run.

Long-Haired Singers Boomed Off Chicago Field
NEW YORK (AP)—Jerry Stephenson was much more entertaining to Chicago White Sox fans than the bands and singers. But the Boston pitcher must have thought he had the lead in a Greek tragedy. After watching the White Sox first start on May 8, more than two hours later he made his exit, after the White Sox had lost to the Twins, which drew their runs in a 10-4 victory. In other AL games, Washington led the hitting of Bobby Co. and Joe Peptide. Cox drove in four runs with a two-run homer. Tony Oliva hit a 400-foot homer for the Twins, which drew Mel Stottlemyre, Yankee starter and winner, from the mound Chicago also hit a three-run ninth.

Harrelson Ups Average to .311
Scott Ignites Winning Rally
CHICAGO (AP)—The Boston Red Sox called on right-hander Dick Williams to start the game on Friday night, and he pitched a two-night doubleheader Friday night in the opener of a five-game series with the White Sox. Facing the action at Wadsworth Field, Williams pitched a 9-4 victory over the Sox. However, it was Jeff Goff's opposite field home run that broke the tie and gave Dillor the triumph. Goff, Bruce Taggart, Mike Mollet and Gary Bunch hit well for the winners.

South Windsor Opens with Win
Winners in Zone Eight League diamond warfare last night were South Windsor and Windup Sox. The latter surprised the Sox, who were in the 2-5 losers. Flynn's pitching. Flynn struck eight hits on ten teammates Dennis Griswold and John O'Brien struck out two. The Sox struck out three in the first inning, turning the game into a rout. South Windsor 10-0, 2-2-4. Pat O'Sullivan Golfer to Watch
Player to watch in Monday's qualifying play for the Connecticut Open golf tournament at the Ellington Ridge Country Club will be Pat O'Sullivan. The Orange golfer will be shooting for an unprecedented 100 in the first round. Most serious threat from this area is expected to come from Helen Reynolds who plays out from the Manchester Country Club. The Hartford school teacher's game has been hot lately.

Record Crowd
NEW YORK (AP)—The largest crowd ever for a soccer match in the United States, 43,000, turned out for New York Yankee Stadium last night to witness the game of Italy in an exhibition 4-1 victory over the United States. Santo of Brazil defied Napoli in the world, helped at the home of the Italian previous record turned out for a soccer game in the U.S. was 42,000 which was set through eight in the fifth inning to lead the team when California scored its second run.

Long-Haired Singers Boomed Off Chicago Field
NEW YORK (AP)—Jerry Stephenson was much more entertaining to Chicago White Sox fans than the bands and singers. But the Boston pitcher must have thought he had the lead in a Greek tragedy. After watching the White Sox first start on May 8, more than two hours later he made his exit, after the White Sox had lost to the Twins, which drew their runs in a 10-4 victory. In other AL games, Washington led the hitting of Bobby Co. and Joe Peptide. Cox drove in four runs with a two-run homer. Tony Oliva hit a 400-foot homer for the Twins, which drew Mel Stottlemyre, Yankee starter and winner, from the mound Chicago also hit a three-run ninth.

Harrelson Ups Average to .311
Scott Ignites Winning Rally
CHICAGO (AP)—The Boston Red Sox called on right-hander Dick Williams to start the game on Friday night, and he pitched a two-night doubleheader Friday night in the opener of a five-game series with the White Sox. Facing the action at Wadsworth Field, Williams pitched a 9-4 victory over the Sox. However, it was Jeff Goff's opposite field home run that broke the tie and gave Dillor the triumph. Goff, Bruce Taggart, Mike Mollet and Gary Bunch hit well for the winners.

South Windsor Opens with Win
Winners in Zone Eight League diamond warfare last night were South Windsor and Windup Sox. The latter surprised the Sox, who were in the 2-5 losers. Flynn's pitching. Flynn struck eight hits on ten teammates Dennis Griswold and John O'Brien struck out two. The Sox struck out three in the first inning, turning the game into a rout. South Windsor 10-0, 2-2-4. Pat O'Sullivan Golfer to Watch
Player to watch in Monday's qualifying play for the Connecticut Open golf tournament at the Ellington Ridge Country Club will be Pat O'Sullivan. The Orange golfer will be shooting for an unprecedented 100 in the first round. Most serious threat from this area is expected to come from Helen Reynolds who plays out from the Manchester Country Club. The Hartford school teacher's game has been hot lately.

Cleary Scores Speedway Win
New name was added to the short list of feature winners at Stafford Speedway last night as veteran modified chauffeur, Leo Cleary of Hanover, Mass., who had his 41 coupe over the 50-lap course. After a race that was a slugfest, Cleary's 41 coupe was the winner. The other modified drivers were: Steve Stinger, L.A., 110; Marichal, S.F., 108.

Obituary

Clarence H. Carlson
Charles H. Carlson, 60, of 601 Main St., died Thursday night at Manchester Memorial Hospital.

Mr. Carlson was born Aug. 21, 1908 in Manchester, son of Charles and Hanna Swanson Carlson, and had lived here all of his life.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Elaine Jones of California; two sisters, Mrs. Gladys DeFazio and Mrs. Anna Ogden, both of Manchester; and two nephews.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 11 a.m. at the Holmes Funeral Home, 400 Main St. Burial will be in East Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Monday from 9 a.m. to the hour of the funeral.

Willard B. Brooker

Willard B. Brooker, 53, of West Haven, brother of Harlan J. Brooker of Manchester, died yesterday at his home.

Survivors also include his wife, four sons, a daughter, another brother, and five sisters.

The funeral will be held Monday at 8:15 a.m. from the Sisk Bros. Funeral Home, 128 Dwight St., New Haven, with a requiem high Mass at St. Paul's Church, New Haven, at 9. Burial will be in St. Lawrence Cemetery, West Haven.

Friends may call at the funeral home tomorrow from 5 to 9 p.m.

Anniversary Mass

An anniversary mass in memory of Mrs. Teresa Caselli will be celebrated at St. James' Church, Monday at 7 a.m.

Salesman's Car Reported Stolen

A 1968 automobile was taken from in front of Paul Dodge Pontiac, 350 Main St., in broad daylight yesterday afternoon.

One of the salesmen, employed by the car dealer, police said he parked the white Pontiac Le Mans convertible in front of the showroom at 5:30 p.m. and went to do some business. He returned two hours later to find the car gone.

The salesman was using the car as a demonstrator, and told police he had a brand new set of golf clubs and golf bag in the trunk valued at more than $700.

Mrs. J. Kelly of Nahum Dr., Hartford, told police yesterday that her wallet, containing $150 in bills and coin, was taken from her desk drawer in the receptionist's lobby of WINF studios at the Parkade where she is employed.

She said that the wallet, which also contained important personal papers, was taken sometime during the afternoon.

Plank Included On Fiscal Study

Another issue apparently headed for a struggle on the convention floor was a proposal for a statewide presidential primary. Nine of the thirty-six members of the Resolutions Committee favored the primary idea. It was to be submitted to the full convention as a minority report.

Lycoming to Expand

STRATFORD (AP)—Avco Lycoming Division of Stratford has announced plans to expand its Charleson, S.C., facility to nearly twice its present size.

An additional 300,000 square feet of floor space will be added to the plant's existing 430,000 square feet, the firm said Friday.

Goldberg Bows Out Of UN Post

Goldberg also will write a book on American foreign policy beyond Vietnam. He has said that, after Vietnam, the United States cannot help continuing as a world policeman and should follow a middle course between isolationism and interventionism.

Later he will write the memoirs of a life that has taken him from boyhood in Chicago to top labor lawyer, secretary of labor, 1961-62, Supreme Court justice, 1962-65, and ambassador to the United Nations.

Goldberg thinks some time must pass before he publishes his memoirs because of people still around who might be over-sensitive to his views of them. But he feels that the memoirs of a man of his experience would be a contribution to history.

Quads' Father Foresees Need For Adjustment

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Allan Irvine, whose family swelled from two to six in less than two hours, says "it's still going to take some adjustment" even though the quadruplets were expected.

Irvine's 28-year-old wife, Francis, gave birth to four boys Friday in Home Hospital here. Dr. Paul A. Williams said the mother and the babies are doing well.

The Irvines live in the northwestern Indiana community of Wheatfield where they were married five years ago. Irvine, 27, commutes to East Chicago where he works at Inland Steel Co.

The quads, born in a span of 82 minutes, weighed from 2 pounds 13 ounces to 3 pounds 4 ounces.

Irvine said he and his wife were told two months ago there would be triplets but it wasn't until Wednesday night they learned that X rays showed a fourth infant.

"They're really going to fill up our five-room frame home," the father said. "And there are still a lot of things I have to get."

Vernon Youths Hurt in Crash

Two Vernon teen-agers sustained minor injuries yesterday at 5:50 p.m. when the car in which they were riding collided with another car on Hartford Rd. near House Dr.

Peter M. Moulis, 18, of 69 Campbell Ave., driver of the youth's car, was issued a written warning for an improper left turn, after allegedly driving the vehicle into the path of a car operated by Frank Daddario, 52, of 78 Cooper Hill St.

Moulis and his passenger, Lawrence J. Maron, 18, of 66 Tankersoen Rd., were taken to the emergency room of Manchester Memorial Hospital where they were treated, X-rayed and discharged. Moulis received 10 stitches in a scalp laceration.

Leonard P. Monroe, 22, of Bolton was charged with failure to drive a reasonable distance apart yesterday, following a 4:39 p.m. crash that involved three cars at N. Main and North Sts.

According to police, Monroe drove his car into the rear of a car driven by Frank R. Harrison, 51, of Granby, Mass., which in turn struck the rear of a car driven by Kazys Gacauskas, 52, of 67 North St. No one was injured in the crash.

Monroe will appear in court July 8.

Police, Students Clash in Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Students demanding more money for Brazilian education clashed with police for the third straight day Friday and the melee of tear gas, gunfire and rock throwing killed a policeman and two students.

There was an unconfirmed report of one more student killed. More than a hundred persons were reported injured and police said more than a thousand were arrested. The student demonstrators smashed windows in the U.S. Embassy.

Authorities ordered the arrest of several student leaders in an effort to prevent further violence.

One of the demonstrators' first targets was the U.S. Embassy, where they fought with police who tried to disperse them. Three girl demonstrators were reported wounded by gunfire. Two were treated at a hospital and released.

No embassy personnel were reported hurt. Two floors of the embassy were evacuated after tear gas seeped through some of the 23 broken windows.

Nearly every student demonstration here in the past two years has had anti-American overtones.

He praised Ribicoff as "the one man we, including myself and all of the 960 delegates here, can agree upon."

He said Ribicoff, "America needs him—Connecicut needs him"—and the Senate needs him.

He praised Sen. Thomas Dodd as the person who "waged a one-man fight to bring sanity to a country which has over one million fire arms scattered over the nation."

He said that history will recall that it was Dodd who, in 1963, started the movement for gun-control legislation.

Hart concluded his address, "I'd never suggest that our party has the monopoly on the right answers but, in the history of our lifetimes, yours and mine, it is our party that has proposed and passed the reforms, and it is our party that is committed to doing even more for the people."

Distributed to the delegates, and dedicated to the convention, was a booklet provided by Sen. Ribicoff, "The Kennedys and Connecticut," showing photographs of former President John F. Kennedy and former Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and their trips to the state.

Gov. Dempsey delivered a moving tribute to the memory of the late Sen. Kennedy and the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

He said, "Their lives, their thoughts, and their heartfelt convictions will always be an inspiration for us, as we continue in service to our state and our nation."

He asked for a rising moment of silence in their memory and there was a haunting, complete hush in the huge auditorium, as delegates and guests rose in tribute to the two fallen leaders.

Rt. 6 Blasting Accident May Result in Civil Suit

What has been termed by several witnesses as "a freak blasting accident" occurring June 13 in the Hartford Rd. area of the Rt. 6 construction may develop into a civil suit.

A chunk of sandstone from the dynamite blast set off at approximately 12:55 p.m. on that date struck a man, working some 30 yards away, on the head.

The man, Walter Pawloski of Farmington, was working as contract manager for the M&W Construction Co. of Farmington that is building the new Crispino Super Market at 469 Hartford Rd., across the street from the Rt. 6 construction being carried out by the O&G Construction Co.

An M&W foreman, standing next to Pawloski at the time of the accident, reported the action as follows:

"Walter was standing between one of our trucks and a car. The truck was between him and the blast, but somehow this one good sized chunk dropped in and struck him directly on the back of the head.

"He immediately slumped to the ground unconscious, and blood covered his shirt from a laceration where the rock struck. A large bump swelled up almost immediately.

"Some of the other men were sprayed with smaller pebbles, but Walter seemed to be the only one injured.

"That blast took us by surprise because nobody seemed to hear the usual whistle or siren they sound before setting off a charge."

Pawloski regained consciousness shortly after the mishap and was driven by car to his family doctor in Farmington who sent him to New Britain General Hospital for X rays. He was said to have received a slight concussion and did not return to the job for five days.

A Manchester policeman, assigned to direct construction traffic in the area, had his privately owned car damaged by the flying debris, as did several other workmen.

The policeman has been notified by Pawloski's attorney, William Dworski, of New Britain, that he may be called upon to testify in a civil suit.

Harvey Powell of Farmington, blasting superintendent for the O&G Company, was one of those who termed the injury "a freak accident."

Powell stated that a warning whistle was blown as usual and that his company took all the normal safety precautions required by the state.

Powell stated that his company moves from 2-3 million cubic yards of rock each year through the blasting process and that safety precautions are always taken. He stated this was the first such accident in his recollection.

"The reason for this freak accident," he said, "was that we had attempted to blow this particular ledge before without success. When the other men were sprayed with smaller pebbles, but Walter seemed to be the only one injured.

Powell said he had filed reports of the accident with state labor authorities and the state and local fire marshal's office. Crispino employees say they have never heard a signal.

Why, Abernathy asked, is Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., paid $513,000 a month not to grow food on his Mississippi plantation when a starving child in Mississippi is paid "only $9 a month."

He did not say where he got the figure for eastland's subsidy, but a recent issue of the SCLC newsletter, "Soul Force," said it came from the May 23 congressional record, and represents 1967 payments. The newsletter headlined the item, "Eastland is on Welfare."

Mexican-Americans and Indians demonstrated at the department of Justice Friday afternoon, while one small delegation of about 45 youths paid a call on Stokely Carmichael at his Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee headquarters to complain that campaign demonstrations weren't militant enough.

A march of 125 to 150 people, much more tightly disciplined than the previous days, went once more Friday to the Department of Agriculture, where demonstrators quickly sat down in front of almost all the doors in the two block-square buildings and vowed to stay there until Monday morning.

However by midnight, the force had dwindled to a couple of dozen in front of the main entrance to each building. Two demonstrators were arrested on disorderly conduct charges when, police said, they tried to prevent a policeman from entering the building.

A department spokesman said almost all employees had left the building for the weekend before the late afternoon sit-in began. The department did not care if they would probably be cleared away if they were still there when employees began reporting for work Monday, he said.

Jackson, who led that demonstration, said Monday morning workers would "have to go over us or else remove us."

Further evidence that the campaigners, far from getting ready to withdraw, are instead girding for a long pull was seen in the announcement that volunteers for the project are once again being sought from around the country.

Abernathy told a news conference in the dirt outside the fence of Resurrection City he deplored the violence that resulted in 77 arrests Thursday by police using tear gas and nightsticks. If America wants someone to blame, he said, he accepts responsibility.

The confrontation at the Department of Agriculture building seemed to have had a profound effect on the thinking of the officials who will make the decision on extending or closing out the Resurrection City permit.

"It would have been hard to give an extension, but after yesterday it is out of the question," the Washington post quoted one official as saying.

National Park Service officials have never commented on how they would handle the problem of evicting the campaigners if it comes down to that. If the agency coupled a refusal to extend the permit with an order to the campaigners to dismantle their plywood huts before they depart, for instance, this job alone might add days to their stay.

At his news conference, Abernathy acknowledged for the first time that Resurrection City has had incidents of violence but said he had been given information that some of them were caused by "paid infiltrators." He refused to give more details. He said he deplored the violence that surfaced Thursday, but he also deplores an America that ignores the cries of poor people. Abernathy to Resign Pastorate Poor Face Crucial Sunday, Shantytown Permit Expires

By AUSTIN SCOTT

WASHINGTON (AP)—The beleaguered Poor People's campaign enters its most crucial weekend today facing a Sunday deadline to get out of its shantytown near the Lincoln Memorial.

The permit for Resurrection City expires Sunday at 8 p.m. Federal officials were reported strongly opposed to granting an extension of the permit, already extended one week from the original expiration date June 16.

The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, leader of the campaign, repeated Friday that he and his followers will not leave voluntarily because the goals of improved job and income opportunities for the nation's poor have not been attained.

"We have no place else to go," Abernathy said.

An aide disclosed later that Abernathy is resigning his pastorate in Atlanta to devote all his time to the campaign.

The Rev. Jesse Jackson told a rally Abernathy will make the official announcement Sunday from his pulpit in Atlanta's West Hunter Street Baptist Church, where he has preached almost every weekend since Resurrection City was set up six weeks ago. He has served there since 1961.

"Dr. Abernathy will tell his congregation that his life is no longer a matter of feeding the Abernathy family, but feeding the poor everywhere," Jackson said.

Further evidence that the campaigners, far from getting ready to withdraw, are instead girding for a long pull was seen in the announcement that volunteers for the project are once again being sought from around the country.

Leading the list of potential chief justices, in talk at least, is Fortas, a long-time friend, confidant and adviser to the President.

'Violence on Television:' Some Questions

By NICHOLAS JOHNSON
Special to the Washington Post
WASHINGTON — "Violence on television," like "a sick society," has been a common phrase in the national soul searching following Senator Robert Kennedy's assassination.

Comments about violence on radio and television have come often and from many sources—the President and the appointees to his new commission, senators and congressmen, experts on all facets of human and social behavior, the citizens who express their views in letters to the editor columns and radio's "Open Mike" programs, and the reflective print and electronic journalists themselves. For this reason if no other it is likely that radio and television—still staggering from charges of their contribution to racial tensions—are in for quite an evaluation.

This is healthy. It is appropriate. Television and radio station owners are, in effect, elected public officials. They make private profit from public property—the airwaves. Accordingly, every three years, when the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) license expires, they are called to account for their trusteeship. As the FCC's past performance makes clear, however, only through public inquiry and participation will this accounting be made meaningful. For this reason, the broader inquiries now underway can do great public service.

But the inquiries should be as fair and as productive as possible. And it just may be that "violence on television" both charges too much and asks too little.

The electronic journalists did an extraordinary job Wednesday through Saturday, June 5-8, 1968. They worked long hours, with journalistic professionalism and human sensitivity, to help a struggling nation pull itself back together once again. In doing so they were careful to characterize Sirhan Sirhan (and later James Earl Ray) as "suspects" or "the accused" rather than "murderers." We should be no less judicious in our characterizations of broadcasting's responsibility for violence in America.

Only a 'Suspect'

"Violence on television" charges too much because the proof in the scientific literature that violence on television produces violent behavior on the part of viewers is skimpy at best. Human temperament and intelligence are a function of many genetic and environmental forces. Television is, in short, no more than a "suspect," its contribution to a violent society no more than a hypothesis to be tested. I think it a hypothesis very much worth testing. But my point is that television, like Sirhan Sirhan, has at this point only been charged, and that it, too, is entitled to a trial.

Moreover, in our understandable urgency to right broadcasting's wrongs we must be especially cautious to protect its independence from governmental control of content. Let us first find the facts, present them publicly, and allow broadcasting to respond responsibly before urging remedies with more serious implications.

The reason why the "violence on television" charge asks too little, in my view, is that it fails to address the broader role and impact of radio and television.

"You are what you hear," the saying goes. If the basic chemistry of the body is the end product of all the ingredients we pour down our throats, the functioning of the nerve cells of the brain is just as surely the consequence of what we pour in through our eyes and ears. And what we pour in through our eyes and ears is, in large measure, the product of the broadcasting industry.

There are more radio receivers in this country than people—and another 40 million were sold last year. The average family television set is running five hours 45 minutes a day. It is in this sense that the product of radio and television—all of it—bears a relationship not alone to Americans' violence, but to the totality of our powers of analysis, feelings, aesthetic sense, and moral standards.

Children get as much verbal impact from radio and television as from parents, teachers, neighbors and church. The songs they sing are the catchy commercial jingles written in the advertising agencies of Madison Avenue, the heroes they emulate are the creation of Hollywood, the possessions they crave are those of the sponsors, and the nightmares they dream are provided by the re-runs of World War II feature films and the premieres of Vietnam television news. By the time he enters first grade, the average child has spent more hours in front of a television set than he will spend in a college classroom.

Question Unanswered

What is radio and television preaching to us? What is its total impact upon our lives? Until we can answer those questions about the entirety of radio and television programming our understanding of its parts, such as the "violence" in television entertainment, will be superficial indeed.

We make a mistake, I think, in attempting to distinguish between news and documentaries, some specials, and "educational" television—and "just entertainment" or a "commercial interruption." We sometimes seem to assume that only the former has "meaning" or "a message" and that the worst that can be said about the latter is that it is "nothing," a waste of time. The fact is, of course, that each minute has its own significance and impact, alone, in juxtaposition to what precedes and follows, and in the context of the events of the day. We are changed, however slightly, by each exposure to the tube.

WALLACH AND WIFE

Eli Wallach and his wife, Anne Jackson have agreed to appear in an original drama for the new "Prudential's on Stage" series NBC will televise next season. The couple will head a one-hour play still to be selected. Both are veterans of the Broadway stage.

Lena Horne and Harry Belafonte in a panel discussion, "Bias and the Media," part of a series on racism, Thursday, 10-11 p.m. on ABC.

TV DEBUT

Katharine Houghton, who made her acting debut in "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner," has been signed to make her television debut in the first episode next season of ABC's "Judd for the Defense." She will play the wife of a draft protestor.

What Makes Craig Drive at 600 MPH

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Craig Breedlove has difficulty answering two questions, most often asked by nervous back-seat drivers.

"Why do you feel a need to drive a jet-powered automobile at such enormous speed?" "How does it feel to be moving close to the sound barrier in a piece of machinery that can—and has—broken under the strain?"

Breedlove set the world land speed record three years ago by traveling 600.601 miles per hour. His ambition is to be the first man to break the sound barrier on land.

"Well, I wanted to return the land speed record to the United States," answered the slight, soft-spoken young man. "That seemed important at the time. Besides, it's a sport and it's also interesting and helpful from a technological standpoint. It tells us things about parachute braking, for instance."

As for the feeling at high speeds, he can only say "it's hard to describe. It's a phenomenal feeling—a special mixture of emotional and physiological reactions."

Breedlove and his wife, Lee, are the subject of an hour-long ABC special to be shown at 4 p.m. EDT today.

During one of his runs on the Bonneville Salt Flats of Utah, his car had mechanical trouble and went out of control traveling at 600 miles an hour without brakes. He wrestled with it until, traveling at around 400 miles an hour it sheered off two telephone poles, climbed a salt bank and pancaked into a salt lake. Breedlove climbed out—with two skinned knees.

Mrs. Breedlove who until their marriage seven years ago had never been near a racing car, hold the woman's land speed record, driving the same jet-powered car 308.56 miles an hour.

"I wanted her to drive so that we could share that part of our lives," he said. "And then I learned what wives go through."

PHILADELPHIA — (NEA) — It's a small studio with seats waiting for an audience, a singer rehearsing a song, assorted guests waiting for show time and a star who blends in with the crowd.

He's Mike Douglas, idol of housewives and for once they have picked out someone who deserves their affection. Everyone who has ever been on Mike's show says it's a joy to work with him. Professionals can get nervous, too, you know. But with Mike, who is relaxed, cheerful and sincerely interested in other people, even nonprofessionals like newspaperwomen are relaxed-enough to have fun.

It is possible that people who don't get to watch non-prime time TV are not aware that Mike is a fine singer, who has made several record albums, and presently has a hit single with Pearl Bailey called "Do Unto Others."

Reviews of his club act have included such lines as: "He had the audience in the palm of his hand"; "He completely captured his audience which remained quiet when he was working and gave him a good hand when he finished"; "A personality that reaches out and grabs you"; "A rate entertainer who is as personable off stage as on."

The object of this is still inclined to think of himself as Michael Delaney Dowd (his real name) of Chicago, a star-struck kid who decided to be a singer when he was 11. He is still star-struck, recalling with wonder a party in Hollywood to which he was invited. The guests of honor were Prince Rainier and Princess Grace. Mike was presented to the princess who said, "Oh, yes, I've seen you on television." He still hasn't gotten over that.

"Once when I was being interviewed by a national magazine," he said, "the writer asked me why I thought women television fans liked me. It was a tough question. But I recalled that once my daughter, Chris, who was then 16, was watching Perry Como and she said, 'That's the kind of man I would like to marry.' I told this to the writer and said I hoped I conveyed some of the same reactions. The story came out and he quoted me as saying, 'All those babes wish they were married to me.'"

Things like this happening to Mike are in the minority, however. Despite a long-term contract with Westinghouse Broadcasting, he is a sure bet to move onto nighttime stardom. "If I were free would I take a nighttime series? Yes, that's my nature. To go on to other things."

Meanwhile, he is doing his five shows a week out of Philadelphia, making nighttime

What Makes Craig Drive

I was plenty upset when she was making that run."

Craig is a Los Angeles boy who was first fascinated by model planes, moved on to jalopies and drag races. Now he designs and tests the car he drives.

The television special grew from a chance meeting on a plane with an ABC sports program producer. Craig mentioned he had plenty of film showing his races, some taken inside the car during a record run. Also available is some film showing that dramatic crackup.

Nancy Sinatra is a guest on CBS' "The Summer Brothers Show" (that's the title) Sunday 9-11 p.m. on CBS.
