Santa and the Hippies

By LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: An elf tells Santa that if he had been a hippie, he would have lived in Hippierville.

CHAPTER 2 HIPPIEVILLE

EDGAR the elf went to see Henry Wetherston who called himself Ding Dong.

Ding Dong was lying on his back on his bedroom floor playing a zither with his toes. It was the middle of the night and his folks thought the sound of the zither was Ding Dong snoring in his bed. It was that kind of a sound.

Edgar slipped in the open window and grabbed Ding Dong by the toes. Twang! Clang! went the zither as he saw Ding Dong's feet.

Ding Dong sat up and stared at Edgar. "I'm dreaming! Man! What a dream!"

"You're not dreaming!" snapped the elf. "I'm Edgar and though I'm an elf I'm a hippie just like you and I tell you that Santa Claus is not at all pleased with the way you have been acting."

Ding Dong rocked with laughter. "Who cares?" he said disdainfully.

Edgar glared. "Your Mother and your Father are not pleased either."

"So what?" snorted Ding Dong. "If that's the way you feel," said Edgar, "perhaps you'd like to go to Hippierville. A lot of boys and girls live there who are just like you. They don't study. They don't take baths. They stay up all night."

"Wonderful!" cried Ding Dong. "How do I get to Hippierville?"

"Follow me," said Edgar and added with a sigh, "I hope you won't be sorry." He pulled himself into the bedroom curtains and slid

"This is the place for me!" cried Ding Dong.

"Wait!" cried Ding Dong rushing to the window. "I can't see you!"

"Just come!" shouted Edgar. His voice sounded miles away.

Ding Dong wiggled out the window but when he dropped to the ground he wasn't outdoors at all but in a long corridor that went on and on as far as he could see.

"Wait!" he shouted again. He couldn't even hear Edgar's reply.

He thought of climbing back into his bedroom but the windows were stuck in their shuttles or were the hair out of their eyes or were their faces which were smeared with chocolate candy.

"This is living!" thought Ding Dong happily. "This is the place for me!"

breath when the corridor ended. He was in a dirty street of tumble-down houses. He went to the nearest house and knocked on the door. There was a lot of noise inside but no one came to the door.

The house was packed with kids. They were dancing on the mantel and banging on dishes and painting on the walls and shooting popguns at the chandelier.

There was not a group up around to tell them to be quiet or stick in their shirt tails or get the hair out of their eyes or wipe their faces which were smeared with chocolate candy.

"This is living!" thought Ding Dong happily. "This is the place for me!"

Death ordinarily occurs in hy-

mans three to five days after the onset of symptoms.

Rabies in domestic animals causes hundreds of deaths in Brazil each year. Exact statistics are unavailable, but medical sources here estimate that as many as 90 people have died from the disease in Rio alone this year.

Thirty days later she began to feel nervous and agitated, later developing pains and partial paralysis which made it impossible for her to get out of bed.

Doctors from Providence St. Casimir Hospital, which specializes in rabies, found that the girl had contracted the disease. A team of surgeons headed by Dr. Rafael Aquino Cilia performed a unique brain operation in an attempt to save Candida's life. Making two small holes in her head, they inserted two plastic tubes and pumped in hyperimmune antirabies gamma globulin.

That was Nov. 9. Today, Candida shows every sign of recovery, and her doctors say she is probably out of danger.

One text says: "Rabies in man is uniformly fatal when associated with excitation of the nervous system and the hydrophobia symptom." Dr. Max

Pert Female Is Bailiff in Juvenile Court

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — If your image of a court bailiff is that of a austere gentleman who delivers a stern lecture, "Hear ye, hear ye" to signal the start of a court session, the juvenile court in Lincoln will surprise you.

The bailiff to Juvenile Judge W. W. Nurnberger of Lincoln is attractive, 5-foot-5, 27-year-old blue-eyed blonde, Shirley Adams.

Lancaster County commissioners recently approved her appointment to the post at a salary of $485 per month, the same pay received by male bailiffs in the four district courts in the same county court-house.

A native of Lincoln who normally a principal functionary in the bailiff, poses no problem in juvenile court. Deputy sheriff available should deem graduation, Miss Adams has been associated with the juvenile court as secretary-receptionist for the juvenile probation office. She continues in that capacity while absorbing a few additional duties as bailiff.

She helps the judge schedule hearings, answers the telephone, does filing and takes notes during hearings when a court reporter is not present.

Judge Nurnberger said a bailiff who performs other duties as well fits the needs of juvenile court ideally.

Unlike conventional courts, the juvenile court operates informally, with hearings closed except to those granted judicial permission to attend.

Nobody needs to announce that the court is in session, and maintaining order in the courtroom, in the middle of the 19th century.

Christianity Outlawed

TOKYO — Christianity introduced to Japan in 1549 by St. Francis Xavier, a Jesuit priest, spread quite rapidly at first with the encouragement of some feudal lords. But Christianity was outlawed in the latter half of the 16th century. It returned in the middle of the 19th century.

an answer the other day in a survey of instances in which people on the two sides of the conflict do manage to cooperate with one another, even while they are supposed to be engaged in war to a degree.

Correspondent Kann told the rather charming story (charming, we suppose to those who believe that war, once inaugurated, must be fought to a finish) of how in one place in the Mekong Delta, where everybody needed to have an old irrigation canal rebuilt and restored, the government forces worked on one side of the canal by day while the Vietcong accomplished the repairs on the other side of the canal by night.

This might be the way it could be, Correspondent Kann observed, if formal peace should ever happen in Vietnam. Correspondent Kann went on to spot a number of other apparent instances of tacit cooperation between the supposed enemies. Usually, the cooperation takes place in some area where the opposing military forces know they are in some kind of stalemate, with neither able to take over the territory and hold it conclusively.

Such tales, of people evading the mandates of the battlefield, offer the enticing theory that if only certain outside big wielders of power, each concerned with having the people in Vietnam fight for something which is for them a good, could be eliminated from the picture, then perpetual peace and idyllic harmony would descend on the land.

Alas, for such idyllic dreaming, leave these simple folk alone, free from the selfish dictates of outside power.

In fact, President Babbidge has been the very model of what any intelligent inhabitant of the latter half of the Twentieth Century would think a university president ought to be. Nobody has ever had to drag him into the time in which he lives. He himself has been a leader in advancing change and thought. He was always beckoned youth onward, rather than sought ways of repelling or restraining it.

The real tragedy at Storrs has been that for the young extremists who have nominated themselves to be in charge of the university's rules and conscience, there is not very much difference between the way they deal with the best of university presidents and the way they would deal with the worst.

Some observers, confronted with what is really a standard practice for the young would-be anarchists of our time, which is to attack the best even a little more savagely than they attack the worst, to be even more eager to discredit the liberal than the reactionary, would like to convert the situation at Storrs into something which reflects what they call the "permissive" and "irresolute" attitude and conduct of President Babbidge.

This kind of judgment from sections of the observing public is just as unmerited, just as ruthless and unimpartial, as the values really at stake at Storrs or anywhere else in these agitated times, as the conduct of the far-out young extremists themselves.

We should not ask President Babbidge to stop being right, intelligent, fair, judicial, and patient merely because such qualities are not appreciated by the young revolutionaries of the campus.

He should be told that these are the qualities Connecticut wants him to maintain, and the qualities it wants him and the state to win by, and the qualities the people and the legislators of Connecticut are themselves eager to support and sustain and applaud and encourage.

The rightness and sanity and moderation of President Babbidge's conduct has been the truly big thing looming through the troubles at Storrs. If that conduct is maintained and supported, it cannot fail to prove the rock against which extremist youth expends its own unreasonableness fruitlessly and with diminishing effect and support from the student body as a whole.

Peace Potentials In The Paddies: What kind of life would the simple folk of Vietnamese villages be able to manage for themselves if they didn't have outside ideologists and outside commanders telling them they ought to be fighting one another? Peter Kann, a correspondent for the Wall Street Journal, found an inconclusive suggestion

Inside Report

by Rowland Evans Jr. and Robert D. Novak

WASHINGTON—On Oct. 17, three days after the adjournment of Congress and a week before full resumption of U.S. military aid to Greece, a middle echelon Pentagon official put on paper the substance of the written doctrine of Washington's permissive attitude toward right-wing military dictatorship.

The doctrine was laid down by Harry H. Schwartz, former policy planner at the State Department and now a deputy assistant secretary for international affairs in the Defense Department. Implicitly, it equated the repression by the military dictatorship in Greece with actions by U.S. authorities to quell civil disorders. By this logic, Washington has no more business poking into the death of Greek democracy than the Athens consulate have in selling Washington how to handle black rioters.

With Congress in recess, the Schwartz doctrine has not received much attention on Capitol Hill. But those Congressmen who have read Schwartz's words regard them as the first articulation of what is now U.S. policy and therefore a matter of profound importance.

Indeed, some students of foreign policy view the Schwartz doctrine as a corollary of the Athens doctrine in that No. 20, an admirer of the Athens doctrine, was reading the diplomatic cable at the time of the 1967 Greek military coup.

Those few high-level officials in the government disturbed by the course of events in Greece over the long haul the meeting Greek discontent against totalitarianism of the right to not transformed into Communist aggression were followed by armed intervention in force.

The Schwartz doctrine was unveiled through a press conference in Washington Sept. 26 by Elias Demetriou, an exiled Greek journalist and severe critic of the ruling junta. Correctly predicting the resumption of heavy U.S. arms shipments to Greece, Demetriou, attacked the sham plebiscite scheduled the next day on the junta's draft constitution.

A Thought for Today

Society's Last Chord

For the past several decades we have witnessed an obvious breakdown in most so-called Christian countries of true reverence for life, for personality, and for God.

The breakdown was noticed in Germany following the advent of higher criticism of God and the Bible, paving the way for atrocities which had no regard for God or man.

Russia, the seat of Orthodox Christianity, succumbed to atheistic Communism and has become notorious for its insults against God and man.

Take your Bible and follow Him through the Gospels once again, and you will find it to be true, as Glover, the church historian, has said, "Jesus did not use words ending in 'ty' which were so kind of unhuman. He did not talk of love, but of love of humanity. It costs little to get entangled in demarcations of sentiment. Someone is reported to have said, 'I love humanity, but I don't love people.' And it is said of Rousseau that 'He combined love of all mankind in general with hatred of all mankind in particular.'"

Rain, Gloom On Tap for Few Days

WINDSOR LOCKS, Conn. (AP)—Whether it's actually raining or not, the weather will be dank and dreary for the next few days, the U.S. Weather Bureau said this morning.

The rain that fell on Connecticut during the night was expected to end this morning, but more rain should arrive Tuesday, the forecaster said. And in between the rainy periods, the weather will be cloudy.

A complex but weak low pressure system with centers in North Carolina and the Ohio River Valley will move rapidly eastward today and combine to form one low that will be centered over Maine by this evening, the weatherman said.

Although this will allow a small high pressure system to move over Southern New England tonight, the air will remain quite moist.

Meanwhile, another disturbance will develop in Texas and move rapidly northward to bring more rain to the Northeast late Tuesday or Wednesday.

About the only consolation offered by the weatherman is that temperatures will be on the mild side. The moisture and the air are both due to a shift in the upper atmospheric winds, which are coming once more out of the southwest.

Waterbury Teachers Resuming Negotiations

WATERBURY, Conn. (AP)—Negotiations are to resume Tuesday afternoon between representatives of the Waterbury Teachers Association, the school board and the city in an effort to resolve the dispute that led to a four-day teachers strike last week.

A five-hour session was held Saturday, but none of those attending would detail the content of the discussions.

The president of the board of education, Salvatore Terzano, said, "We discussed several topics we had in mind." He had announced earlier that he had called George P. Harlanon, who led a party to all agreements.

Last week's strike ended after Harlanon said the city would resume negotiations if the teachers returned to work Wednesday.

Working conditions and a clause dealing with the negotiations on wage levels are the main points in the dispute.

Arrests Up, Crime Rate Down

California Town's Police Force Has Group Psychiatric Therapy

SAUSALITO, Calif. (AP) — The uniformed policemen met in a circle. In their midst sat a psychiatrist. Out poured talk of the Negro civil rights battle, the American flag, China, right and wrong, Hitler, homosexuality—and a dozen other subjects great and small. This was group therapy in the hands of the 26-man police force in Sausalito, a tourist town of 1,000 year-round residents across the Golden Gate Bridge from San Francisco.

When an officer feels he has a serious problem, he can consult privately with the man who runs the therapy program. Dr. Edward E. Shev, an internationally noted psychiatrist and neurologist. The aim of it all is to put on the streets of Sausalito mature men who will not allow themselves to be provoked and will not crack under stress.

Sausalito rises steeply from a waterfront almost solidly packed with yachts to houses that cling to precipitous hills. The streets are a study in contrasts, a human mishmash of pot-smoking hippies; the poorest poverty stricken millionaires; intellectuals; police symbols; info-bros; bookstores; public restaurants; great restaurants and bad ones.

Summito is a bedroom community. Most residents work in San Francisco, a few miles south. Sausalito has no Negro district and not many Negroes live there. The police chief is burly but sensitive Edward S. Kreins, 54. He took over the department 2½ years ago after 10 years as sergeant of police training and personnel at nearby Hayward.

Shev, a Sausalito resident, regards himself as part of the police department inasmuch as he examined every man now in uniform—including Kreins. Sitting on the rim of the circle, Shev eyes the 10-man group at the impromptu session, and his observation, "I want you to know you're meeting the human bunch of guys."

After some banter about the doctor's ties, Detective Kevin Sharpy asked whether it was good or bad for black society that Negro Olympic athletes Tommie Smith and John Carlos had given the militant Black Panther salute at the games. "I don't know what the general reaction would be," said Shev. "What was yours?"

"I felt they had a right to protest," said Sharpy. "But they broke away from tradition that made it a whole reflection on America."

Shev explained that Sharpy was displaying a later stage of loyalty, began first in the family, then expanded to country. "What the hell's the difference between that and the salute and the fact the United States was the only country that refused to dip the national flag?" out in Kreins. He continued: "It's that any more of an insult"

Powell Resigns Post As College Executive

Dr. Theodore Powell of 39 Gerard St., executive officer of the State Board of Trustees for Regional Community Colleges, has resigned effective Jan. 2. Henry E. Fagan, chairman, announced Saturday the board had accepted his resignation "with deep regret."

In announcing acceptance of Powell's resignation, Fagan said, "When this board was appointed in July 1966, we were fortunate, indeed, in securing the services of Dr. Powell to organize the state system of community colleges. He assumed his duties with no full staff, but with developed procedures and organization which became the basis for this system. The Connecticut, to date, has eight community colleges, enrolling approximately 9,000 students, in a large part due to the efforts of Dr. Powell."

While we are, of course, conscious of the loss that his departure means, we understand his desire to move on to other opportunities. The board is deeply appreciative of the loyal service he has given us and we wish him every success in his future tasks. Before appointment to his present position, Powell was public information consultant of the State Department of Education. As staff member of the Study Commission on Higher Education, he prepared the report embodying the extensive recommendations submitted in February 1966, to the governor and the General Assembly. Later, he was principal legislative draftsman of the state legislature, he was responsible for drafting the omnibus bill reorganizing public higher education in Connecticut.

In 1966 Powell's appointment as president of the regional community colleges at a salary of $120,000 was attacked as "illegal" by Max R. Lepofsky of Norwalk, a member of the community college board. Following the board's suspension of Lepofsky, Powell was named as president of the board. In 1967 Powell was the lead- ing figure in the fight to remove Charles E. Scholtes as president of the Board of Community Colleges in Westchester. Powell said Scholtes de- served the position of state superintendent of education.

Christmas Tree Arrives At Rockefeller Center

White spruce arrived by truck from Vermont today to serve as the Christmas tree by the Rockefeller Center. It is one of the nicest ever, said an electrician, "how full it is at the top. That way you know it's full and beautiful all the way down."

It's a shame to cut down a tree that's lived for so long, but there are lots more where this one came from. "And more people will see it than if it lived for 100 years. Call it a short life but a merry one."

The tree's 6,000 lights will be turned on Dec. 11. About seven million persons visit the Miami, Fla., area each year to decorate the mitten tree.

Much of the cooler highlands is a raw forest where trees provide the shelter required by the diverse life. More than 30 trucks from surrounding towns responded to the alarm Sunday for the fire in the East Granby Town Hall. The building was occupied at the time, and the blaze was brought under control in about an hour. No official estimate of the damage was available. Only the first floor remained intact. Fire officials said the fire was believed to have started from a cigarette left smoldering overnight in a rubbish heap in the building.

Several years ago, on a visit to the fifty, overcrowded Central Penitentiary, Sister Maria Rosa came upon a large number of children—Caucasian or Latin—living inside the prison walls. She was shocked and dismayed. The nun talked the imprisoned parents and the prison director into letting her take many of the children out to her home.

The prison director had permitted the children to join their parents in the penitentiary, to share the same bleak sleeping quarters and sanitary facilities and meager diet of beans and rice while being exposed to the cold and temptations in an institution where men and women inmates mingled freely.

"One five-year-old boy we brought out knows more about life than most adults," said Sister Maria Rosa.

Children can end up in prison with their parents, and not only because of the lack of child-care institutions and a paucity of community interest, but because that's no secret in town.

"In almost all cases," she explained, "the father who has committed a crime and is sent to jail. The mother, usually a companion, goes to the workhouse. The children end up in the streets, or in the hands of a peddler, or in the hands of a priest who has no way to support them. At least they have shelter and food."

Sister Maria Rosa, an orphan who never knew her father, was born 40 years ago on Honduras' Atlantic Coast. She cares for some 145 parentless children ranging in age from diaper to early teens in a large building on the Honduras government.

Trained at St. Joseph's in Milwaukee, Wis., she speaks cheerfully of her frustrations—and dreams. She is happy about her Peace Corps assignment in Honduras.

"Norman was working on social welfare for the United States government," Sister Maria Rosa says, "and he wandered up here one day. Now I won't let him go."

A psychology major at Howard University in Washington, D.C., he is known as "Papa Norman" to the children.

For every orphan under the nun's care, there seem to be at least a dozen homeless waifs who spend the cool tropical nights curled up in cardboard boxes of crammed into large dormitories. They're up at sunrise, begging, borrowing and eating chewing gum and lottery tickets.

Abandoned Children Common

Abandoned children are an acute social problem, in Central America because of widespread poverty. They seem to be one aspect of overpopulation but this is a part of the world some sociologists consider underpopulated.

Central America is a narrow strip of land curving southeast from Mexico to Colombia. It includes 6 republics—Guatemala, El Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua, Costa Rica and Panama, and the colony of British Honduras, also known as Belize. Some 14 million people, multiplying at one of the world's fastest rates, live on its 227,000 rugged square miles.

Central Americans actually do not recognize Panama or Belize as part of what they call Central America. Until 1903, Panama was a part of Central America. Both Guatemala and Mexico still claim Belize as their territory.

Illiteracy in this area ranks upward of 90 per cent. Life expectancy in Guatemala is 48 years. Some Hondurans worry that their country is "the land of the 40 per cent illiterate, 70 per cent unemployed."

The area has stunning scenic beauty and high fertility. Rice fields invariably grow in the rugged tuffs of grass grow on the steep, stony hills. The lowlands team with color and bird and plant life. Hibiscus and bougainvillea come in dazzling hues. The ubiquitous parrot

Coats Remain Cautious with Record Knowing What Happened Last Year

NEW YORK (AP)—The Baltimore Colts, more than anyone, know better than to rest on past accomplishments. And the Green Bay Packers are learning.

Only last year the Colts ran up a 11-2 record only to blow their division title to Los Angeles by losing to the one-back en Rama in the last game of the season.

With that reminder, the Colts remain plenty cautious now with their 11-1 record in the Coastal Division of the National Football League. They still have to out Atlanta Sunday for their third straight win in five weeks.

"Nothing we've done so far will mean anything unless we win the division lead with the Viking at 6-6 with a 23-17 victory over New Orleans. Chicago, also forward to the next two weeks.

Los Angeles kept winning so we've got to stay right with them," agreed Earl Morrish, who completed 17 of 23 passes for 211 yards and two touchdowns.

"How it's the last one that counts," added defensive tackle Billy Ray Smith. "The Rams came within a first down for their first shutout in three years while holding the Vikings without a first down for the first 20 minutes. Roman Gabriel and Wendell Tucker took care of the offense, leaving for three scoring passes.

John Brodie nailed the Packers with three touchdown passes, two to Bill Baker in the fourth quarter, tied on the deficit. Bart Starr had led the Packers to a 10-0 lead before he was injured in the second quarter.

Leroy Kelly, the NFL's leading rusher and scorer, ran for only 32 yards, but scored four touchdowns in Cleveland's seventh straight victory.

Jack Coakerson threw twice to Austin Denny for touchdowns and Mac Percival scored three field goals for a demoralizing 20-21 tie against Pittsburgh.

"I wish we could go into Sunday with a lead," mumbled a Baltimorean.

O. J. Simpson, USC's Heisman Trophy winner, who had the more day of his two-year varsity career.

His coach, John McKay, felt the same way. "We didn't start the game playing for a tie. Let's play until midnight if we have to."

Even Ara Parseghian, who knows what he would have liked a sudden death overtime.

Dallas got a 20-10 lead in the first half but lost it to the Colts in the second quarter. The Colts' defense was stout against the Colts' offense.

Now the Trojans, who entered the game ranked second, could drop to third behind the Colts. Dallas, which winds up its season Saturday against Syracuse by losing to the Colts.

However, Southern Cal could have run out the clock in the second quarter if it had not been for the Trojans' defense.

Several other ranking teams were scheduled to play on Saturday, including the Colts.

Alabama, No. 15 with a 6-0 record, was scheduled to play against the Colts. The game was postponed because of a strike by the Alabama players.

Catch-Up Game Still Alive Had-Alworth Team For Aerial Display

NEW YORK (AP)—John Hadl and Lance Alworth are keeping San Diego's game alive in the American Football League stretch race.

Hadl fired five touchdown passes—four of them in the second half—as the Chargers pounded the Denver Broncos 28 Sunday and returned in the thick of the three-way Western Division title chase.

San Diego, 9-3, trails co-leaders Oakland and Kansas City in one game with two weeks to go to the regular season. The Raiders and Chiefs were idle Sunday after winning Thanksgiving Day games to stay in a first-place deadlock.

The New York Jets, who clinched the Eastern Division crown when Kansas City ousted them in the first game of the season, called the victory a "great day for the club."

After four games, the Patriots are in the first place in the Eastern Division. They have a 7-1 record and are 10 games ahead of the Colts.

The Patriots' defense is the key to their success. They have allowed only 100 points in 10 games.

The Patriots' offense is also strong. They have scored 100 points in 10 games.

NEW YORK (AP)—"I feel everyone had a super day except Jim Warren. We had a good pass run, good punting and a good kick." Warren said after the game.

Notre Dame Held Simpson To New Low

NEW YORK (AP)—The Southern California Trojans, choking on a tie, will have to wait until New Year's Day now to get their do-or-die wish—No. 1 ranking.

The Trojans missed a chance last Saturday to retain the top spot from Ohio State when they wound up with a demoralizing 20-21 tie against Pittsburgh.

Give a gift that says something.

When we sold thousands of telephones and telephone services to Connecticut people as Christmas gifts last year, we wondered how many would come back to return them.

Nobody did.

We think maybe we know why. A telephone is a gadget all right. It looks like one. It has the insides of one. It even makes noises like a gadget.

But it's full of some very human things, too. Free advice, outrageous flattery, sad good-byes, sweet nothings, bad jokes, good news, happy hellos.

And that's a pretty nice.

That's the kind of gift a person doesn't return.

Would you like to give a gift that says something this Christmas? Just pick up the phone and call your Phone Store (you used to know us as "The Telephone Office"). Or ask a telephone man.

We'll send you our free catalog, "The Telephone Line."

When you've made your choice, we'll wrap the gift and deliver it free (deadline for Christmas delivery is December 20).

And here's something you can say yourself: "Charge it."

Save After Fuel Runs Out Pilot Steals Plane, Ditches in Atlantic

NEW YORK (AP) — A lone pilot told them he had an argument with his wife Monday evening. Police said the car had blood on the front seat and that Hemphill had been treated for a cut on his right arm at a local hospital Monday night.

The Coast Guard said the apparently inexperienced pilot was given instructions on how to set the plane down in the sea by Capt. Vance K. Randall, pilot of a rescue aircraft and a veteran of 20 years of flying.

The helicopter was taking the man to Elizabeth City, N.C. Coast Guard Air station where an agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation was to take him into custody.

Ocean County Aviation, owner of the Piper Cherokee 340 and operator of the Lakewood, N.J., airport, told police the plane — with a full tank of five hours of fuel — was taken sometime before 1 a.m.

The Jordanian spokesman said most of the victims were at Karf Assad and that the bombing and shelling destroyed 10 houses at Irbid.

He added that rescue operations were continuing, and the number of casualties might increase.

NEW YORK (AP) — The state has ordered a strike-free Brooklyn junior high school closed "until further notice" after a day of disorder and student vandalism in the Ocean Hill-Brownsville district and elsewhere in the public school system.

State Education Commissioner James B. Allen ordered Monday followed clashes between rock-throwing students and police in the district. It was not clear how he could have been locked up since he was accompanied by aides and a police bodyguard.

The Rev. C. Herbert Oliver, chairman of the state-suspended Ocean Hill local governing board, denounced the decision to close JHS 271 as "more evidence of contempt for the black community."

The Negro minister and about 50 supporters entered JHS 271 during the meeting, saying they planned to stay all night and open for classes in the morning. Police said they left the school several hours later.

Allen also announced that Asaphite Commissioner Herbert F. Johnson, the state-appointed trustee trying to run Ocean Hill in the aftermath of the bitter teachers' strike, was being temporarily relieved of his own duties.

"I'm pretty well worn out at the moment," Allen said. "He wants time to rethink the program and decide where to go from here." William D. Firmans, an assistant state commissioner, was named Johnson's replacement.

A state observer reported that while Johnson was at Junior High School 271 during the day he was kept locked in a close quarters for a while by persons who opposed his attempt to oversee the school.

Johnson would not comment on the situation when he left the school in mid-afternoon. It was not clear how he could have been locked up since he was accompanied by aides and a police bodyguard.

U.S. Claims 455 'Indications' Of North Viet Action in DMZ

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command said today that reconnaissance has disclosed 455 indications of North Vietnamese activity in the demilitarized zone since the bombing halt on Nov. 1 and in at least 122 of the incidents American plans, artillery or warships fired on the enemy forces.

Previously the Command had reported American firing into the DMZ on 30 occasions since the bombing halt, occasions which the command had called "significant" incidents of enemy activity. Today a U.S. spokesman disclosed that American forces had fired into the southern half of the zone 117 times and into the northern or North Vietnamese half five times.

"The reason we did not report the others is that the results were not significant," the spokesman said. "In some cases the target was obscured and we could not get an accurate assessment. In other cases, had we reported them, it would
