

South Vietnam Recaptures Palace Grounds of Citadel

Just before the shelling, a small patrol of South Vietnamese rangers spotted North Vietnamese soldiers about 200 to 400 yards from the base perimeter. The rangers opened fire and the Communist force turned out to be 200 to 300 strong.

The patrol pulled back and U.S. artillery opened up on the enemy troops.

An estimated 40,000 Communist troops are in and around the demilitarized zone and a major assault is expected, U.S. Commanders have said. The most likely target is the Khe Sanh base, guarded by 5,000 U.S. Marines and 500 Viet namese rangers.

The shelling of Tan Son Nhut airport was the second consecutive barrage there in less than a week. One of the 18 Russian-made 122mm rockets hit the base base tore through wooden barracks, killing four U.S. Air Force sergeants who had taken cover under their beds. Two other men in the barracks were killed and six wounded.

Six rockets landed in a crowded section of Vietnamese homes and shops just outside the base's main gate. A government spokesman said 11 civilians were killed and five or six wounded.

The base commander said slight damage to one of the airport's two runways was repaired and both runways remained operational.

For the flag-raising, Hue, the province chief, Lt. Col. Pham Van Khoa, mastered several thousand people to watch from across the river, 500 yards away.

The first attempt failed. The red and yellow banner of the Saigon government rose half-drawn to the pole but then fluttered to the ground when the flagpole broke off. A second attempt failed when the flagpole broke off. A second attempt failed when the flagpole broke off.

Board Quickly Okays Final CRC Report

The Board of Directors needed only five minutes last night to approve the final report of the Charter Revision Commission. That action was the only item on the agenda of its special meeting and fulfilled a requirement of the Home Rule Law.

The CRC report follows the Statutory Convention of the board, when it asked for deletion of the proposed mandatory tax for capital improvements. Otherwise, the report contains all of the CRC's original proposals for charter changes.

Still in a proposed change in the election of school board members, the nine members of the school board now serve three-year staggered terms, with three members taking office each year. If the change is approved in referendum, all nine would be elected to two-year terms, starting November 1969.

The proposed change is being opposed by the Democratic majority on the CRC and on the Board of Directors.

Last night's vote to approve the final report of the CRC reflected that opposition. The motion to approve, made by Republican John Garside and seconded by Republican William Schaller, carried 5 to 2, along strict party lines.

Miss Menditto, a graduate of Coventry High School, is employed as a foreman's clerk at Pratt and Whitney Division of United Aircraft Corp., East Hartford.

Mr. Rodriguez, who is a sergeant in the Marine Corps, does not present night. He is a graduate of the Connecticut Memorial High School and served four years of active duty with the United States Marine Corps in Vietnam and Santo Domingo, Haiti.

He is also employed at Pratt and Whitney.

The wedding is planned for June 8.

Hard Look Set for LBJ Visa Plan

The CRC, in deleting the proposal for a mandatory tax for capital improvements, did so grudgingly. It recommended that the board give future consideration to a method of funding for those appropriations.

The CRC, when it was appointed in January 1967, was given two specific charges, both stemming from the GOB platform in its 1966 campaign:

1. To revise and broaden the referendum proposal for the purchase of the House Foreign Affairs Committee endorsed the proposal as a good one.

Rep. Clement J. Zablocki, D-Wis., said his concern about a possible impact on security was allayed by the exemptions.

GOOD BIDDING EASIER THAN GOOD CARD PLAY

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Today's hand, played in the 1967 European Women's Championship, indicates that good bidding is within the reach of all experienced players. Good play of the cards is, however, far less common.

Wilt's 25,000th Point Scored on Foul Toss

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain scored his 25,000th career point in a most unlikely manner—on a free throw. The world's greatest basketball scorer, 7-foot-1 Chamberlain is one of the world's worst foul shooters, unless there is some sort of record or milestone at stake.

Chamberlain also scored his 20,000th point on a free throw. He passed Bob Pettit for the all-time scoring leadership on a foul shot, too.

In 1962, when he scored 100 points in a game against New York, he made 26 from the foul line, a one-game record. He wasn't exactly ready to accept designation as a clutch foul shooter after reaching his latest milestone Friday night in a 132-119 romp for his Philadelphia 76ers over the Detroit Pistons in a National Basketball Association game.

The "stage production is good," he joked when asked if he planned to reach these record heights from the charity line. In other NBA games, St. Louis beat Baltimore 118-110, Los Angeles trounced Cincinnati 131-115, Seattle nipped San Diego 127-122 and San Francisco edged Boston 127-122. Pittsburgh defeated Minnesota 110-102 and Denver topped New Orleans 108-102.

Chamberlain's 25,000th point was one of 31 he scored against the Pistons. He also grabbed 32 rebounds, and handed out 12 assists. He is leading the Eastern Division leaders to their 16th win in the last 18 games.

The 25,000th point came with 1:51 remaining in the first half and with Chamberlain's 11th shot. He was fouled by Happy Hairston. With dipped and undipped hands, he made the shot.

With San Francisco leading 121-119, Jeff Mullins sank a basket. He scored an NBA career high of 23 points. Tom Sanders led Boston with 23.

Wilt's early arrival and the signing of pitcher Jose Santiago brightened the Boston camp, the Los Angeles Dodgers, New York Yankees and Baltimore Orioles continued to meet stiff resistance from unassigned players.

Ralph White Phil Regan said he would remain at his home in Grand Rapids, Mich., until his rivalry dispute with the Dodgers himself trying to get in shape weighed in at a 182 pound weight. Yankee Manager Tom Post added the Yankee pitcher to the roster. "I wish he'd get down here, but he's not ready to go yet," Post said.

Post said he would like to see Reggie White, but he's not ready to go yet. "I don't like to miss spring training, but the club has sent me four or five contracts and I have sent them all back," said White.

CofC Asks Trees Along New Road

The Chamber of Commerce City Beautiful Committee is recommending that design and cost plans for the proposed Oakland-Parker St. connector include the planting of 150 shade, master, locust trees, at an estimated cost of $1,500.

The recommendation was suggested by Professor Rudy Favretti of UConn, following a recent beautification study of that area and others in Manchester. The trees would line both sides of the new road and would replace existing trees which may be lost when the area is graded.

The Chamber committee, headed by Dr. Douglas H. Smith, recommends the plantings as a precedent when other town roads and streets are planned.

"If street trees had been planned a number of years ago in connection with Broad St.," he states in a letter to Mayor Nathan Agostinelli, "that area would have an entirely different complexion than it has at present."

office's policy on the matter. "We first find out from Selective Service whether or not the local draft board is going to reclassify the registrant into 1-A status."

"And if the board does reclassify the registrant, then he can expect to be called for induction. If he refuses induction then he would have to face prosecution for draft evasion."

"If the board does not reclassify the registrant but instead forwards the case for prosecution for willful non-possession of a draft card, then each case will be reviewed by our office and the department of justice to determine if prosecution is warranted," Newman said.

A spokesman at state Selective Service headquarters said that the option of reclassifying any draft card regulation violators would be strictly up to the local draft boards. There will be no state-wide rule governing all cases, he said.

A reclassified registrant, he said, would have the right to appeal under Selective Service appeals procedures.

Newman said that to his knowledge no local boards have yet reclassified any of those involved. In two cases, he said, the local boards had declined to reclassify.

Federal law requires that registrants hold their draft cards on their "personal possession." They are to be surrendered only upon induction into the armed forces.

Anyone who "willfully" violates the regulation could face a prison term of up to five years, a $10,000 fine, or both.

Conviction on the draft offense carries the same maximum penalty as draft dodging. The constitutionality of the regulation is being challenged in the federal courts.

Newman issued the following statement Friday: "Many cases involving student protesters pose difficult and serious issues. I think most of the students are acting out of deep conviction and are sincere in their views."

"However, it is doubtful whether sincerity will be a legal defense in those cases that ultimately end up in court.

"On the other hand," he continued, "I am intrigued by some of the students who balance the loftiness of their ideals with extremely practical concerns as to whether their activity is worth the consequences."

A Rockville teen-ager has been charged with the theft of a car last night that was later involved in an Ellington accident, Vernon police reported today.

Edward White, 17, of 23 Mountain St. is charged with taking a vehicle without the owner's permission, breach of peace and resisting arrest. He is now in Tolland State Jail in lieu of $500 bond awaiting appearance in Manchester Circuit Court 1 Monday morning.

Police said a report of a stolen car was received last night from the owner, Michael Lesizza of 38 Mountain St. A short time later state police in Stafford reported a one-car accident at the corner of Chestnut and Longview Rd. in Ellington.

The stolen car apparently was heading north on Chestnut St. and failed to make a turn into Longview Rd. The car ran up onto the lawn of the home of Mrs. Faith Gibbs and struck the house causing minor damage to house and vehicle.

MRS. RICHARD W. CARLSON

Miss Karin L. Johansson of Manchester and Lt. Richard W. Carlson of Worcester, Mass., exchanged vows last night at Emanuel Lutheran Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oke E. Johansson of 15 Bank St. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Helge Carlson of Worcester.

The Rev. C. Henry Anderson, pastor of Emanuel Lutheran Church, performed the double-ring ceremony. Mrs. E. David Hawkins was organist, and the soloist was Mrs. Roy C. Johnson. Bouquets of pink and white carnations were on the altar.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a full-length gown of silk wool, fashioned with re-embroidered lace and a detachable chapel-length train. Her cathedral veil was attached to a gold Swedish crown, and she carried a cascade bouquet of phalaenopsis orchids, stephanotis, and baby's breath.

Miss Carol Verberg of Manchester was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Susan Jenack, cousin of the bride; and Miss Marilyn Armstrong, both of Manchester, and Mrs. John Pesuturo of Brighton, Mass.

Ellington Fire Damages Cichon's Home

A fire at the home of Walter Cichon of Gale Rd. was halted as it spread from the garage to the kitchen Thursday night.

Cichon is the golf pro at the Ellington Ridge Country Club. Ellington volunteer firemen arrived at 9 p.m. after receiving a call from Cichon and found the garage and driveway in flames. They quickly put out the blaze but Chief Walter Blair has estimated damage at about $4,000.

Blair also reported smoke damage throughout the house and a little water damage to the kitchen.

The cause of the blaze has not yet been determined. Ellington firemen, through mutual aid, got help from several other departments, including that of Tolland.

U.S. Sends Aid To Indonesia

WASHINGTON (AP)—Six communicable disease experts leave today for Indonesia to help stem an outbreak of what is believed to be bubonic plague.

A spokesman for the Agency for International Development said the specialists from the USPHS National Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta will be joined in Jakarta by another group of the agency's men coming from Bangkok, Thailand.

The Indonesian government says three recent deaths in central Java, one of the world's most heavily populated areas, have been attributed to bubonic plague. The highly communicable disease is spread by fleas on rats.

Fact-Finders to Report On Urban Riots

WASHINGTON (AP)—The commission that has attempted to pinpoint causes of urban riots and ways of preventing them is expected to divulge its findings next weekend.

Although spokesmen for the panel are not saying so, it has been learned the National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders is trying to get its report into shape for presentation to the President by the end of the week with release to the public at about the same time.

Appointed by the President last July, the 11-member body originally was told it had a year for the job. The timetable was revised later so the group's recommendations will be available before the beginning of summer—the season when riots are considered most likely.

Breaks Reported At State Office, Ray's Restaurant

Manchester police received reports of a breaking and entering at Ray's Restaurant, 37 Oak St. early this morning, and an attempted break at the State Welfare Department offices in the Parkade yesterday.

Burglars entered Ray's sometime between 1 and 8 a.m. by prying open a rear door. A check of the premises by the manager this morning revealed the thieves had broken into and emptied both a cigarette machine and a novelty bowling machine.

An estimate of the money taken could not be made by the proprietor, but the machines had not been emptied since Tuesday. Nothing else appeared to be missing or disturbed.

The attempted break-in at the welfare offices was reported by Mrs. Helen Smith after she arrived there yesterday at 9:30 a.m. and observed pry marks around the door.

No evidence of entry or missing items could be found.

Stray Cat and Bald Tires Factors in Minor Mishaps

A stray cat, a big truck, a bicycle, a sharp turn, and some bald tires were contributing factors in minor accidents occurring in Manchester since 4 p.m. yesterday.

The stray cat apparently escaped harm at 12:57 a.m. today as a car driven by Samuel Aglio, 20, of 555 Lydall St. narrowly missed him.

Aglio was driving south on Vernon approaching a hill crest near Marion Dr. when the cat darted out in front of him. He swerved left avoiding the cat but not in time to avoid hitting a sedan driven by Marcia A. Cuiver, which was approaching the hill crest from the opposite direction, according to police.

A trailer truck belonging to the Smith Transfer Co. of Stanton, Va., driven by John A. Vanhus, 29, of Broadway, Va., struck the rear of a car operated by Gary P. Thayer, 21, of Wallingford on Center St. near Henderson Rd. at 1:18 this morning.

Robert E. Richardson, 32, of 67 Phelps Rd. attempted a left turn across the path of a pick-up truck driven by Mark Hoekstra, 19, of Vernon, while riding a bicycle down East Center St. at 12:28 p.m. yesterday, according to police.

The truck driver, unable to stop in time, struck the bicycle and skidded across the center line hitting a sedan driven by Donald L. Skewes, 24, of 11 Williams St., police say.

The cyclist suffered a cut knee and was not taken to the hospital.

Brian A. Scanlon, 19, of Bolton allegedly took a turn at the corner of Essex and Little St. at 5:14 p.m. yesterday causing the fender of a car driven by Norman E. Gerber, 32, of 14 Walker St. to catch on his bumper.

William Abo, 19, of East Hartford, was charged with operating a motor vehicle with unsafe tires yesterday at 4 p.m. after he lost control of his vehicle on Wetherell St., near a private driveway and skidded over the curbing striking a town-owned guide post and a tree.

Police said that all four tires on Abo's car were completely bald and that the thread was showing through on one of them. Abo was also issued a written warning for speeding. He told police the star was in his eyes. He is scheduled to appear in Circuit Court at Manchester, March 11.

U Thant Seen Set With Peace Plan

It may also, administration sources say, offer President Johnson a way out of the middle of the fight between Rusk and the Arkansas Democrat who heads the key Senate panel.

At issue is Rusk's persistent refusal to accept Foreign Relations Committee demands that he testify in public on administration policy in Vietnam—a policy Fulbright strongly opposes.

It has been two years since the secretary of state testified publicly on Vietnam before the panel, although he has appeared before it a number of times in closed session.

Fulbright, failing to budge Rusk from his position that public testimony on Vietnam would not serve the national interest, requested Johnson by letter to order the secretary's appearance before the committee.

Johnson has not responded to the two-week-old request. But sources said Rusk's March 11 committee appearance—an annual assignment to support the Johnson foreign aid program—could at least partially resolve the dilemma.

Rusk appears certain to be asked questions about Vietnam that go far beyond the subject of U.S. aid to that country. And the administration is said to hope his responses will satisfy Fulbright, who has called Rusk's refusal to discuss the war in open session an affront to Congress.

Exacerbating the Rusk-Fulbright feud was their recent exchange of letters on possible use of tactical nuclear weapons by U.S. forces in Vietnam.

Fulbright asked Rusk if use of such weapons were being considered. Rusk's reply curtly referred Fulbright to a negative White House reply to similar questions, and concluded that even asking such questions was a disservice to the country.

Young Members Sought by GOP

State Republicans disclosed plans this week for an intensified drive to recruit young people into their ranks under a nationally-devised GOP program called "Opportunities Unlimited."

The program will be initiated through an all-day statewide conference, pegged largely to college students, at the University of Hartford April 27, starting at 9 a.m.

National GOP leaders will speak. The program will be headed in Connecticut by Richard C. Kilbourn of Morris and Gene Marchand of Bristol.

Memories of Hebron Adventures of Dow

By SUSAN PENDLETON The strange stories concerning Lorenzo Dow, the itinerant preacher who once lived in Hebron, seem to be looming up on the horizon again. This correspondent was astonished a day or two ago to receive an air letter from a student at Mansfield College, Oxford, England. He had heard of me as giving assistance to Prof. Charles Sellers, a former Hebron resident, in the bringing out of a book on Dow.

Said student wanted to know (in case I was still alive, which he seemed to doubt) if I would be willing to give him assistance in his research on the Dow subject. He, it seems, is also planning to write a book on Dow, or perhaps a thesis. I was delighted and over the air, right off, went a return letter of acceptance. I know lots and lots of Dow marvels and could just reel them off.

One of such stories was told me years ago by the late Mr. Ames V. Sisson of Hope Valley, Hebron. The story goes that a teamster was urging his jaded horse up a hill, and punctuating his commands with oaths of the most approved manner. Suddenly a weird figure appeared on horseback, a voluminous gray cloak mantling the sparse form, a long, wild beard falling to his breast, and strange curling hair blown in the wind. Spectacles were on his nose and his eyes were frightening. The reader has guessed that it was Lorenzo. But the teamster did not know.

A Silver Dollar The volley of oaths continued. The horseback rider halted and pulled out a slim looking wallet, and took out of it a silver dollar and offered it to the teamster. The teamster promised and accepted the dollar. The strange figure disappeared, his cloak flying in the wind, his rank locks tossing, and through the gleaming spectacles, a last look from those piercing eyes, which passports said were of a light tint, or also described as "his pale but burning eyes" but which seemed dark, perhaps from a mesmeric quality which they possessed.

The teamster looked at the dollar. Then he thought of those eyes, that strange sinister appearance that seemed to rise from nowhere and to be swallowed up in empty air. He became agitated and remorseful and suddenly felt himself to be a sinful man. At length convinced that the Devil himself had appeared to him and tempted him he flung the tainted money away. The story goes that he was a changed man from that hour.

This was the way Mrs. Sisson told it. But Mr. Sisson with whom I talked afterwards, said he doubted the dollar was discarded thus.

Boy's Condition Is Still Critical; Hurt Last Sunday

An 18-month-old boy who police say was severely beaten last Sunday remains in critical condition today at Hartford Hospital. His condition has remained unchanged since he was admitted.

The child, John Jackwin, is reported suffering from a head injury. He is the son of Kathleen A. Jackwin of 13 Mountain St.

Police are holding Thomas A. Rychling, 24, of Nathan Hale Rd. in Coventry in connection with the beating. Rychling, whom police describe as a "friend of the family," is charged with two counts of cruelty to persons.

Police found the child at home after responding to a call and brought him to Rockville General Hospital. He was later transferred to Hartford Hospital. The boy's three-year-old sister was also beaten, police said, but did not require hospitalization.

Rychling is to appear in Rockville Circuit Court 12 next Tuesday on the charge.

Old Form, New Look

NEW YORK (AP) — Sunday afternoons, now that football has departed and the political season is upon us, have begun to assume some of the old familiar shape that Fred Friendly called "an intellectual ghetto." There are talk shows, news shows and there is one program on NBC euphemistically called "Experiment in Television."

The latter is not quite accurate. Few of the programs in the series last season presented anything much in the way of new forms.

It did, however, present a drama written by a resident of the Watts area of Los Angeles, acted by Watts people and filmed in Watts. This season there will be another Watts production — material produced by its writers workshop and acted by members of its drama workshop.

But even if there is little that is truly experimental about the series, it does have a distinctly noncommercial air about it. The season's premiere show last Sunday was called "Four Days to Omaha," and told the story of a real American soldier who died 25 years ago in the assault on Omaha Beach. The story-telling method was hardly unique since it consisted primarily of filmed family and acquaintances as they reminisced about him.

This week, the hour program will be "The Hamster of Happiness," a two-character drama involving an old woman and her daughter-in-law who have but one thing in common — a son and husband who deserted them both.

Perhaps one truly experimental program of this season's batch will come along March 3 with "Passport to Prague." This was shot in the Czechoslovakian capital in two languages — English and Czech, without translations. It will tell the story of an American woman who speaks no Czech arriving in Prague and, although happily married, becoming involved with a Czech widower who speaks no English.

Victor Vicas, who directed, produced and co-authored the story said it represented the first cooperation between the United States and Czechoslovakia in the television area. Vicas, a naturalized American citizen, was born in Russia and lives in Paris. His co-author, Manya Starr is an American. The stars are Hildy Brooks an American actress and Fero Valecky, a Czech actor. The camera crew and production aides were Czechs.

'Star Trek' Appears a Survivor

NEW YORK (AP) — "Star Trek" fans, who have been writing letters and picketing network headquarters to keep the show from being canceled, may now relax. The program has definitely been included in NBC's 1968-69 schedule and, providing sponsors can be found, will be among the survivors next September.

The three networks are deep in plans for next season, going through the annual February rite called "locking in" their schedules.

But an announced program can be a stalking horse, set into position to lure a rival network to program against it, at which point it is pulled out and another show penciled in. Sometimes, too, a "locked in" program is abruptly locked out when there proves to be little sponsor interest.

While the sponsors are interested in putting their money on shows likely to win the Nielsen rating races seven or more months hence, the viewers are more interested in the fate of favorite programs at the end of this season.

CBS has officially dropped the ax on four "Lost in Space," "Good Morning World," "He and She" and "Cimarron Strip."

NBC is still working on its schedule, but "Run for Your Life" and the "Danny Thomas Show" are among the casualties and so are, unless there is a last-minute reprieve, "The Monkees" and "I Dream of Jeanie." "Tarzan" and "I Spy" are two other series that may not survive the weeding.

ABC, which trailed the other two networks all season in the ratings but improved its position with midseason replacements, is still making its decisions. "Off to See the Wizard" is definitely dead, and among other likely candidates for oblivion

These items offer evidence of the New Dissent that has appeared in the entertainment medium during the past year. Dictionary definition: Dissent—to differ in sentiment or opinion from the majority.

Political satire has been a part of the American entertainment scene from Will Rogers to Bob Hope. Comedy makers from the time of Aristophanes have used those in authority as the butt of their jokes, usually to the glee of those who are governed.

But in recent times the tone of the satire has become more strident, the attacks more bitter. They range from the antiestablishment humor of The Smoth-

THURSDAY TV PROGRAM

Carol Channing stars in her own show, "Carol Channing And 101 Men," Thursday 9 to 10 p.m.

Carol's 'Special' Tries a New Date

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Barring unforeseen difficulties, the Carol Channing special will appear on the ABC network on leap year day, Feb. 29.

Miss Channing will believe it when she actually sees her own face beaming on the tube. Her show, "Carol Channing and 101 Men," has been to the starting gate before.

The special was in preparation last summer, and Miss

Channing underwent six weeks of rehearsals with guest stars Walter Matthau, George Burns, Jimmy Dean and the Association. Also scheduled to appear for the Oct. 1 taping was the Air Force Academy Cadet Chorale. The Cadets flew down from Colorado Springs the day before.

Then it happened. The broadcasting union, NABET, went on strike against ABC. The taping remained on the schedule, since it was to be done in the color studios of NBC, which wasn't on strike. Miss Channing continues the story from there in her own breathless style:

"Oh, we had everything ready, all my makeup and wigs, and the Cadets had arrived, and four-star generals and everyone. So I went to NBC the day of the taping and to my utter surprise it was surrounded by pickets. Well! that wouldn't do at all.

"Then this lovely man who is the head of NBC here—what is his name? Oh, yes, Tom Sarnoff. A lovely man, and he's married to a girl who went to Bennington College, as I did. He came out of the building and asked me not to go on with the show. He said if I did, he feared there would be a strike against NBC, too.

"My goodness, it was a problem! I mean, we had all those Cadets here, and we had to feed them every two hours. Those boys just eat like crazy, and if they went without a meal for more than two hours, they became dispirited. Also, we had our guest stars to think of. If we had to postpone, Walter Matthau might be making a picture someplace far away.

"But heavens—we couldn't close down all of NBC for one little television show. I couldn't do that such a nice man, especially since he was married to a Bennington girl."

The Cadets were sent back to the academy, and the show was cancelled. ABC managed to reschedule the taping for Oct. 15 after an agreement with NABET that the special would not be broadcast until after the strike was settled. Miss Channing managed to retain her entire cast except for Dean.

New Dissent

ers Brothers Show and "Laugh-in" to the sledge-hammer blows of the off Broadway play, "MacBird."

The remarkable aspect of the New Dissent is the availability of mass media. When Harry Belafonte took over the "Tonight" show in place of Johnny Carson this month, he not only sang calypso songs; he also used the NBC program as a forum for his views on Vietnam.

In interviewing Dr. Martin Luther King, Belafonte declared: "All of us here feel very strongly on the war, and we oppose it." The singer added his support of the protest vote for Sen. Eugene McCarthy. No demand for equal time to register opposing views has been reported.

Recently Tommy Smothers, who opposes President Johnson both on and off the television screen, was asked about the issue of equal time for Democratic loyalists.

"We fire the administration's views on Vietnam get plenty of airing on television," the comedian replied. "The Bob Hope Show, for example."

His argument is that Hope, with his Christmas special based on his entertainment tour of Vietnam, gives wide circulation to the hawkish side of the war. Hope and John Wayne are the most vocal of the show-business hawks; Wayne recently directed and starred in the first major film about the Vietnam war, "The Green Berets."

Comics Dan Rowan and Dick Martin of "Laugh-in" acknowledge that they are doves on Vietnam and they wear peace emblems on their jackets as proof. They say they think most of the people in the country are for peace.

The New Dissent has also found actors entering the political arena. TV's Man from U-CLE, Robert Vaughn, has assumed national chairmanship of a group called Dissenting Democrats.

"We started the organization to let the administration know we're not in favor of the war, even though we do support its domestic policies," explained Reiner, a member of the Dissenting Democrats. "Now we plan to support all candidates who will work for an end to the war in Vietnam."

Captors 'Apes' Says Bucher

Pueblo Crew Heads Home

By HARRY MORSE Associated Press Writer

MIDWAY ISLAND (AP)—The commander of the USS Pueblo today questioned whether "the people who came out and captured the Pueblo had actually been authorized. 'We had the feeling they had been,' said Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher during a two-hour refueling stop here en route home. He added that he felt the "sole purpose" of the North Koreans capturing the U.S. intelligence ship was to "embarrass the United States government more than anything else."

Bucher described their captors as "young heroes and we are very proud of the way you stuck it out for such a prolonged period." Adm. Highland told the crew.

"The main of the game, of course, became procedure to try to assure one way or the other that you returned to us alive and that right off the bat precluded a heavy military move in retaliation," he said.

"Two Air Force C-141s carrying the crew members and a coffin with the body of Fireman Duane H. Hodges, 22, of Crowell, Ore., left Midway at 10 a.m. EST on a seven-hour flight to San Diego.

Hodges was fatally injured when the Pueblo was captured off North Korea on Jan. 23. He was the only fatality.

Orbit of Moon Said 'Perfect'

By HOWARD BENEDEKT AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—The daring explorers of Apollo 8 swept into an incredible Christmas Eve orbit around the moon today, reported it looked like a wild and wondrous terrain.

About the same time, Apollo 8 swept past the halfway point of the planned mission of six days and three hours.

"It looks like plaster of Paris, or sort of grayish beach sand," was Lovell's first impression of this alien celestial body that has awed man since his beginning.

The astronauts then stepped around to the front side to beam to earth dramatic pictures, accompanied by a vivid word description.

The three space age wide men took back across 231,000 miles to their home planet this Christmas Eve, they are expected to beam a message to Earthlings, calling for peace and unity in a troubled world.

The plan could come in a television show planned to start from the strapping Apollo 8 cabin at 9:31 p.m.

That would be about 1/2 hour before the astronauts are to fire their space-age engine to shoot out of lunar orbit and head for home, aiming for a Friday morning landing in the Pacific Ocean.

The engine fired them into an initial orbit ranging from 69 to 130 miles. A second firing during the third lunar orbit circled the path at about 70 miles above the surface.

Pueblo Families Await Reunions

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Wives and children, mothers and fathers, brothers and sisters are here for a Christmas Eve reunion with the 23 surviving crew members of the USS Pueblo. The families have been flown at Navy expense to meet the men released Sunday after 11 months as captives of North Korea.

The first of two giant jets carrying the crew was to set down at Miramar Naval Air Station at 7 p.m. EST.

First on the agenda were brief, public reunions between crewmen and their loved ones. Next were a Navy-arranged news conference, and intelligence debriefing and medical discharge at the San Diego Naval Hospital.

The debriefing and medical checks will last an indefinite period of time. Before they start, however, families will have an hour in private at the hospital.

The Navy needed a comfortable temporary home at the "Pink Palace," a plain four-story hospital complex's school building to a quiet corner of the grounds. Out of the school military went double-bunked.

The Nativity

The Greatest Story Ever Told

And it came to pass in those days that there went a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed.

(And this taxing was first made when Cyrenus was governor of Syria.)

And all went to be taxed, every one into his own city.

And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judea, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem; (because he was of the house and lineage of David.)

To be taxed with his espoused wife, being great with child.

And so it was, that while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered.

And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn.

And there was in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night.

And lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them and the glory of the Lord shone round about them and they were sore afraid.

Peace of Christmas Descends on World

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Christmas Eve today meant being away from home for 12 Vietnamese and around the world, for the crew of Apollo 8, for Christian pilgrims in the Holy Land and for Pope Paul VI.

It was another story for the 23 surviving crew members of the intelligence ship Pueblo, homebound after 11 months in North Korean captivity. Most of them were looking forward to a joyful reunion with their families in San Diego, Calif., tonight.

The 54,000 American servicemen in Vietnam were observing Christmas by observing the Christmas messages of evangelist Billy Graham, Roman Catholic Archbishop Terence J. Cooke of New York, and their own chaplains. Thousands more roared with comedian Bob Hope and whistled at the Beatles accompanying him on his annual Christmas visit to the fighting front.

In the Middle East, Israeli warplanes struck again at Arab guerrillas inside Jordan as those made of pilgrims defied Arab threats and converged on the Holy Land. More than 2,000 Arabs were among the travelers who came to celebrate Christmas or die and Ramadan, the Muslim holy month, with relatives in the lands straddled by Israel from Jordan during the 1967 war.

Pope Paul planned to celebrate midnight Mass for war-weary souls tonight near the roaring blast furnace of a steel mill in Tarnobrzeg, in the heart of the Italian bog. Police were out in force to guard against a small band of students threatening to disrupt the papal visit. The militia accuse the church of not paying enough attention to the plight of the poor.

More than 200,000 miles from earth, the three American astronauts aboard the Apollo 8 spacecraft were Christmas Eve orbiting the moon and preparing to begin their return flight to earth early Christmas Day.

In the United States, stores were crowded with Christmas gifts.

Allies Begin Cease-fire; Report Nine Violations

BALFOUR (AP)—The allies of small-arms fire at troops or planes and were considered minor.

Before the Viet Cong cease-fire began, South Vietnamese troops fought an all-day battle in which Saigon claimed 169 enemy soldiers were killed.

The U.S. Command also announced that the number of "incidents" of enemy military activity in the demilitarized zone had passed the 1,000 mark since President Johnson said about all attacks halted on North Vietnam Nov. 1.

A U.S. spokesman said there had been 1,011 such incidents by midnight Sunday, and U.S. bombers, artillery or warships had opened fire in at least 500 of these. Johnson in announcing his bombing halt said that the U.S. might prove a bar to the Vietnam peace talks in Paris, but allies and the Communists are wrangling about such procedural matters as the stage of the conference table, and there is no indication when peace talks will get under way.

American commanders made final preparations for an unprecedented Christmas Day meeting with Viet Cong representatives to discuss the Viet Cong's offer to release three miles north of Saigon. One American was wounded in the eight-minute exchange.

Headquarters said the other incidents reported so far occurred in the first hour of the day and in the first hour of the day.

Despite Holding Efforts

'Sizeable' GNP Hike Seen in 4th Quarter

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Commerce Department says there will be a "sizeable increase" in the gross national product for the fourth quarter this year despite government efforts to hold down the economy's inflationary rate.

The increase in the October-December quarter, was not given in exact figures but estimated as "not much different from the rise in the third" when the Commerce Department said in its monthly "Survey of Current Business" that the seasonally adjusted annual rate of GNP rose 1.1 percent in the fourth quarter.

Government economists had hoped the third-quarter GNP, which represents the market value of all the nation's goods and services and thus provides a convenient window on the economy's inflation problems, would move up no more than about $12 billion.

When it went steaming past $117 billion, it was the highest since the second quarter of 1967.

Much of the pace powering the unexpectedly strong showing of the GNP in the fourth quarter, the Commerce Department said in its monthly "Survey of Current Business" comes from business spending for new plant and equipment.

Expenditures for housing, inventory investment and outlays by state and local governments were also running strong, the view said.

When administration planners drew up the scenario for the fourth quarter and the opening of 1969, they expected the GNP to rise 1.1 percent.

South Windsor $121,000 Approved For Option on Land

In an unusual move, the Town Council of South Windsor approved a $121,000 option on land for purchase of the 90 acres at Newry and Sand Hill roads, and a total of $192,000 for the purchase of 120 acres at Barber Hill and Newry roads.

The move will allow the town to acquire the land in two stages. The first stage is for the purchase of the 90 acres at Newry and Sand Hill roads, and the second stage is for the purchase of the 120 acres at Barber Hill and Newry roads.

The council felt that this move was necessary in order to both retain eligible for federal grants and to satisfy the financial needs of the present landowners.

According to town attorney Daniel F. Cavanaugh, town manager Terry Sprinkel, a town might not be committed to purchase until the federal grants are approved.

The properties in question are the proposed open space-high school site at Sand Hill and a proposed open space-high school site at Barber Hill and Newry roads.

The option on the Barber Hill-Newry road site will expire on Jan. 1.

In his negotiations with the landowners, Cavanaugh said, it has become apparent that the owners want their money now and do not wish to renew the option at a nominal level.

According to Sprinkel, application for federal open space grants for the open space portion of the Barber Hill-Newry road site was pending pending a land use survey to determine what uses the property might be put to.

Sprinkel said that he has not yet listed a firm to complete the survey. "You don't just go out and hire any engineer to do this kind of survey," he said.

Councilman Donald Henry voted against this method of proceeding, noting that the federal government may not have processed the grants application by April 1, when the proposed extended options would run out.

Since so much money was committed, the town would have to exercise the options to purchase, thereby making the town ineligible for further grant consideration, he said.

If the town should agree to purchase the properties on or before April 1, the $121,000 purchase would be applied to reduce the purchase price, said Cavanaugh. He admitted, however, that the money would be lost if the town failed to exercise the options.

The federal grants in question would pay 50 per cent of the cost of the open space portions of the properties.

It has been estimated by local officials that at least 50 per cent of the land in question would be eligible for open space grants.

Becomes U.S. Citizen After Fighting in Viet

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—James H. Gouvara, who lost the vision in both eyes, his left arm below the elbow and part of his right hand after a grenade explosion near him in Vietnam, became a U.S. citizen Monday.

"Maybe it was a high price to pay," the 21-year-old native of Mexico said, "but I believe I have earned my U.S. citizenship. I have fought for America alongside Americans, and I think any American would agree that I am deserving of the same rights just as if I had been born here."

Gouvara was brought in an ambulance from Brooke Army Medical Center to the federal building for the citizenship ceremony.

He has been waiting 13 years for this day, he said after U.S. District Judge Arthur A. Speers administered the oath of allegiance.

Gouvara lived in the United States for 12 years before entering the Army.

Howard Hughes 63

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Howard Hughes celebrated his 63rd birthday today. The elusive multimillionaire industrialist's personal secretary and chief aide were unavailable for comment on his birthday plans.

His few friends in New York, Monday, saying he felt "better, much better," after suffering a week-long bout of fever and the symptoms.

An aide said the President-elect has slight cold symptoms.

Nixon was accompanied by his wife, Pat, and daughter, Tricia. They brought along the family's two dogs, a terrier and a poodle.

Nixon sought privacy and relaxation in the seclusion of his new home in San Francisco, Calif., Monday, says the son of George Bush, D-Fla., which he plans to purchase. Nixon said he would like to have the house next door. His close friend, C. G. Rebozo, lives on the other side.

Nixon said he plans no business or no public appearances until January when he is to meet with his foreign policy advisers. He said they will have a general session in that field.

Due for that meeting are Secretary of State-designate William P. Rogers, national security assistant Henry A. Kissinger, State Department liaison man Robert T. Murphy, and Nixon assistant Bryce Harlow.

Nixon spent some time on the telephone Monday, but press aide Allen Woods said that was an exception in a day otherwise spent in seclusion.

Absolved in Son's Death

HARTFORD (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. David Masse have been absolved of criminal responsibility for the death of their 14-year-old son last summer.

Coroner Irving L. Aronson said Monday that although there was "a very strong inference of maltreatment" of the baby, he had "no alternative" but to rule the death was not caused by criminal action.

An autopsy showed the child died of a fractured skull. Masse told police the child had fallen from a table to the floor.

What Has Happened To Courtesy?

By VIVIAN BROWN
A PNewswire Staff Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"Thank you," "please," "excuse me" and even "hello" are slowly working their way out of our vocabularies, a young Connecticut clergyman told his congregation.

Young people may never have known better, he explained to his listeners, and parents may be the last to notice such lack of courtesy on the part of their offspring.

The older generation, he claims, could improve its own manners. "When I visited the World's Fair some years ago, I was surprised that when I had people upstairs or in line, they didn't thank me. At the Danbury, Conn. Fair, I observed people pushing and shoving just to get a little bit ahead."

He said that in recent years, people have become more permissive to be rude, inconsiderate and unpleasant in the name of freedom, she points out.

Manners, she believes, are an integral part of human relations that are never obsolete, even though forms may change.

Penn-Central to Seek NHRR Takeover Delay

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Judge Robert F. Anderson, how ever there was no need for further delay in the merger.

Judge Anderson, overseeing the New Haven which declared bankruptcy in 1961, said that he would not grant a stay order from a federal appeals panel over an order that it aborts the takeover of the New Haven line by Jan. 1.

A Penn Central lawyer said Monday the newly merged railroad would argue the issues of merger and price should not be considered separately.

A large group of bondholders indicated they would be willing to settle the issue of price at the New Haven line, but the Penn Central, indicating the financial problems the New Haven has faced, Judge Anderson authorized the Penn Central to merge with the bankrupt New Haven for a sale price of $146.6 million.

Until Monday, it appeared the Penn Central would not be able to get the New Haven line on its way out of seven years of bankruptcy.

Many children have been permitted to be rude, inconsiderate and unpleasant in the name of freedom, she points out.

Manners, she believes, are an integral part of human relations that are never obsolete, even though forms may change.

$50,000 Stradivarius Sound Issues from Divorce Court

By DAVID LANGSHIRE
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP)—The tired businessman sitting in the divorce court wasn't thinking about getting a divorce—he was fiddling away blissfully on his $50,000 Stradivarius violin.

London's cathedral-like Divorce Court Building was ringing with classical music the way it does every Tuesday night.

The black-robed lawyers were gone and the social details of adultery, desertion and other pangs of falling marriages gave way to the sounds of Haydn and Handel.

Most other musicians in a rehearsal hall for London's Civil Service Orchestra, probably the only amateur group in the world with four owners of Stradivarius violins in the string section.

"I don't bring out my Stradivarius along regularly," said Jack Morrison, 65-year-old first violinist. "They are for virtuoso playing, and they are too valuable."

Morrison, chairman of a committee that bought the violins, joined the Stradivarius owners—there are only about 200 of the instruments in the world—last month by bidding a record $22,000 for a golden-brown model made in 1708. It was the high-

Youth Named Scholarship Semi-Finalist

Stephen Robsky, a senior at Coventry High School, has been selected as a semi-finalist in the National Honor Society Scholarship Program sponsored by the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

The announcement was made late last week by Principal Milton Wilde. Robsky, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Robsky, Packer St., was selected on the basis of his preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test score.

Girl Scout Troop 604, under the leadership of Mrs. Richard Ingraham, has completed a Christmas project in which the girls provided over 40 gifts for needy children in Coventry.

The troop had its Christmas party this afternoon at the North Coventry Community Hall, and last Friday went Christmas caroling to the homes of shut-ins where they delivered handmade holiday decorations filled with cheer.

Assisting Mrs. Ingraham with leadership duties are Mrs. Thomas Richman, Mrs. Thomas Dougherty and Mrs. Antonio D'Ambrosio.

At a hearing there were more State Highway officials than townspeople at a hearing last Thursday night to explain the realignment of Rt. 31 at the Slungpawm River bridge. The officials said they weren't surprised to see that a light turnout, since the project isn't considered controversial and will definitely correct a situation at a point in the road where several accidents have occurred.

State officials said they hope construction of the project will begin in the summer of 1969. The bridge will be replaced with a wider one, and the road realignment will run from about 300 feet east of S. River Rd. to about 250 feet east of N. River Rd.

It's exciting that Mr. Morrison, chairman of the committee that bought the violins, joined the Stradivarius owners—there are only about 200 of the instruments in the world—last month by bidding a record $22,000 for a golden-brown model made in 1708. It was the high-of the microphone as a challenge to his own erudition. He reaches breathlessly for the breathless fact that fits the lapse in the action; he speaks the time of the most play catching his breath so he will be ready to start off fresh and whinging with his latest contribution to the wisdom of the football age. The sidekick analyst now talks much more than the announcer giving the action; who, at any moment in any game, is carrying the ball? Why, he is!

It was one of those bland self-winding amusements, capable of proceeding any situation whatsoever to some estimated forty five conclusion, who was in charge of that half time microphone the other day. He had given his cerebral smile and greeting to some of the prominent figures who were there in the name of the game, which was football, and he was riding high in that euphoria of wishing some kind of victory to each and every one when his next handshake and greeting chore offered him the staid and handsome figure of the next Vice President of these United States. One could see the announcer, immediately, push his encyclopedia knowledge of general research button. One could tell, from the slight shadow passing over the face of the President-elect, that some problem was to be one instance in which research wasn't going to fill any momentary pause in the proceedings.

Inside Report
 By Rowland Evans Jr.
 Robert D. Novak

WASHINGTON—Relations between the Pentagon's Clark Clifford and the State Department's Dean Rusk have now reached a point of bitterness unsurpassed in the history of the White House. Clifford, a former aide to President Truman, is now in charge of the State Department's Vietnam settlement, secretary of State Rusk sits in the shadow of a lonely figure, brooding in his Foggy Bottom office.

As we reported one month ago, the basic reason for the rift is Clifford's high-voltage campaign to start troop-withdrawal talks with Hanoi immediately without waiting to resolve endless protocol battles over the shape of the negotiations.

Public and private waste collection agencies in the area so far have been doubling their rates and the nature of their services. The city's trash collection, including for the first time much material that was previously buried in outdoor incinerators by householders themselves.

Additional protests can be expected as the cost of the increased collection becomes apparent and the bill, public and private, is passed on to the householders.

Meanwhile, with the approach of the holiday week, other dangers threaten besides those of air pollution. The ever-increasing volume of paper wrappings and boxes, bags and packages, that the Christmas gift-giving entails has led to a general short of work. Most people haven't yet gotten adequate containers, with covers, for the additional waste that this burning has forced to the curb, and the tremendous surge of Christmas packing is going to exacerbate the problem.

There is going to be a fire hazard, as the dry papers and boxes are piled in the garage or the cellar to await the collection day. Alternatively or concurrently, there's going to be a major problem of litter and mess on the streets and curbs as people move their trash out for collection, and a tremendous load on the collectors.

Under the circumstances, it would make sense for the health directors in Connecticut towns to declare a moratorium on the long-range goal: a week, fire conditions permitting, and to free those trashy old incinerators for one more work-out. —MERIDEN RECORD.

Lift The Burning Ban

The ban on outdoor burning in Connecticut is a fine idea in theory and like any other good idea it's running into a lot of snags.

Already towns and cities have been in major difficulties over the problem of leaf collection. A combination of wet weather and insufficient equipment put communities in an impossible situation. Southington earlier this month was allowed a week-long moratorium on the ban, as was Hartford. It is hoped that other cities could get rid of the leaves that the town couldn't take care of. Plainfield burns leaves with permission from town leaders who allow them to burn in their own backyards.

Public and private waste collection agencies in the area so far have been doubling their rates and the nature of their services. The city's trash collection, including for the first time much material that was previously buried in outdoor incinerators by householders themselves.

Additional protests can be expected as the cost of the increased collection becomes apparent and the bill, public and private, is passed on to the householders.

A Thought for Today

"A decree from Caesar Augustus" (Luke 1:1); but more than six hundred years before Caesar Augustus sent his decree, the eternal God had spoken through the lips of his servant, Micah, in these words: "But thou, Bethlehem, which art little among the towns of Judah, out of thee shall come forth a king who shall be ruler of Israel, and he shall stand and feed his flock in the strength of the Lord; and he shall abide, for now shall he be great unto the ends of the earth. And this man shall be our peace." (Micah 5:1-4)

A Babe of Bethlehem is God's pledge to man of a redeemed world. He is a spiritual truth in the old legend that the Christ Child returns to earth at every Christmas time. Let us make our hearts ready for His coming. Let us clean them of all the accumulation of rubbish and tithes of twelve months! What dreadful things we harbor in these hearts of ours: The silly pride that feeds on itself and is nothing but dust and ashes; the foolish grudge; the tenacious clutching of things which harden us and betray our best feelings; the hatreds and resentments of past wrongs; the evil thoughts and impure motives and broken promises; the cowardly fears and secret dislikes.

Let us take these hearts of ours and turn them inside out and empty them of all their foul contents and make them ready for the coming of the King! "If Christ, a thousand times in Bethlehem be born, unto us he born in me, my soul is all for Him."

To Fill Vacancy
Alaskan GOP Leader Named to U.S. Senate

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Theodore Stevens, Republican, has been named to fill the vacancy created by the death of Democratic Sen. E.L. Bartlett.

Stevens' appointment announced in Anchorage by Republican Gov. Walter E. Hood, completes a sweeping revision of Alaska's political leadership. Stevens, a 46-year-old Anchorage lawyer, will be the first Republican senator from Alaska.

The party shift will leave the count in the incoming Senate at 87 Democrats and 45 Republicans.

Alaska's political make-up was significantly altered this year, beginning with the primary election defeat of Sen. Ernest Gruening, 81-year-old Democrat. Gruening falls in a write-in bid in the Nov. 5 general election. Anchorage real estate man Mike Gravel, the Democratic primary victor, was elected over the Republican candidate, banker Elmer Rasmuson of Anchorage.

Then, on Dec. 11, President-elect Nixon named Gravel to serve in his Cabinet as secretary of the Interior.

Sen. Bartlett, 66, died that night in Cleveland, Ohio, where he recently underwent heart surgery.

Keith Underhill, a native of Seattle who moved to Alaska in 1946, takes over the seat vacated by Bartlett. A Republican, he currently is Alaska's secretary of state.

Stevens will serve two years in the Senate before a special election in the fall to fill the remainder of the term to 1972.

Stevens' appointment by Hood gave him a long record of public life. He has served in the House of Representatives for 12 years, and in the Alaska House of Representatives for 10 years. He was elected to the House of Representatives in 1956, and served until 1964. He was elected to the Alaska House of Representatives in 1964, and served until 1968.

Stevens was born in Indianapolis, Nov. 18, 1922, attended high school in Chicago, and graduated from the University of Oregon State College and Montana State before his graduation from UCLA in 1947. He received his law degree from Harvard Law School in 1950.

Stevens said his first choice for assignment in the Senate would be to the Interior, and he said he hoped Gravel also would be assigned to that post.

"Mike and I know how to work together, too. It's a very positive committee from the standpoint of the state of Alaska. The first choice is to go there and be effective link with Secretary Hood, as well as the state."

"I want to do everything I can to make sure we have a hard-working team on the job. We're all relatively young men, and I believe we will really be able to get things done."

He referred to Republican Rep. Howard Pollock, who is 47, as well as Gravel, 38, and Hood, 49.

Soviets, Egypt Want Israeli Troops Pulled

CAIRO (AP) — The Soviet Union and Egypt declared today that the establishment of peace in the Middle East depends on the execution of the U.N. Security Council resolution and the withdrawal of Israeli troops from occupied Arab lands.

"Israeli regional expansionist policy is a major obstacle to the establishment of peace in the area," said a joint communique issued after the departure of Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

He had been in Cairo for four days for conferences with President Gamal Abdel Nasser and other Egyptian officials.

"The Israeli refusal to implement the Security Council resolution of November 1957 and its continuation in occupying lands of the Arab countries, constitutes its expansionist policy and forms continued aggression against the sovereignty and security of these Arab states."

The resolution proposes a withdrawal of Israeli forces from territory taken in the June 1967 war and a meeting of both sides to draw up a peace treaty. The communique said the Israeli occupation of Arab lands also violated the basic principle of the U.N. charter.

Egypt expressed its "deep consideration of steps already taken by the Soviet Union to bring about the consequences of Israeli aggression."

Both countries, said the communique, decided to continue their consultations on matters of mutual interest.

Most Merchants Say Sales Are Excellent

By TERRY D'ITALIA and KERRY DOWN Last minute shoppers found their choices for Christmas gifts narrowed today as they made their way through the stores downtown and at the Parkville. Many cases, their first choices like to give way to second and third gift ideas. Most stores will close at 5:30 this afternoon.

On Main St. . . At the Parkville . . . Merchants report excellent sales on almost all items. The predominance of articles sought by shoppers is, of course, toys. Many stores report having ordered more toys to replace depleted stocks.

Darwin Evidence Said 'Tainted'

An attorney for Roy Darwin yesterday attacked a Superior Court judge to bar from trial evidence seized at Darwin's home five years ago. The attorney, Roy F. Ebes of Manchester, argued that police seized the evidence only as a result of the first illegal search. For example, Ebes said, hairs found in the car were not seized until after the first search and inadmissible because police would not have known of the hairs except through the illegal search.

At the 1964 trial, the state accepted to prove that "Miss Rockville" reserved a decision. Darwin, who is 52 and lives in Hebron, is charged with second degree murder in the 1966 slaying of a 17-year-old boy. Darwin was arrested in 1964 but the conviction was overturned by the United States Supreme Court earlier this year and a new trial ordered.

"Man is the jewel of God's creation. He is made into the image and likeness of his creator. And yet while God created and gave him His own mind, God also gave him a free will. Apollo's Course Perfect For Landing Tomorrow

Maj. William A. Anders, lunar module pilot of Apollo 8 spaceflight, prepares Christmas dinner for the crew during television show from the craft yesterday.

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—Eager to return home after their historic orbit of the moon, the Apollo 8 explorers streaked faster and faster toward Earth today on a perfect course that is to insure them in the Pacific Ocean Friday morning.

Mid-Pacific Landing Site For Apollo 8

ABOARD USS YORKTOWN (AP)—When Apollo 8 splashes down early Friday in the mid-Pacific Ocean it will be the most isolated spot that a manned spacecraft recovery has ever been attempted.

APOLLO 8 is scheduled to parachute into the Pacific about 10:54 a.m. Eastern Standard Time Friday, which will be a peak 4 a.m. local time.

"I feel that if it is not too cloudy, we should actually be able to see re-entry because of the intense 5,000-degree heat generated," Stoenitzer said.

Mission control said Wednesday that weather in the planned landing area was expected to be good.

Yule Holiday Traffic Toll Reaches 212

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Traffic accidents on the nation's streets and highways took a toll of 212 lives during the Christmas holiday.

Despite hazardous driving conditions over much of the country, the number of deaths was far less than the National Safety Council had estimated.

The council estimated that 260 to 360 persons would lose their lives during the 30-hour period from 8 p.m. Tuesday to midnight Wednesday.

In 1967, the last time Christmas was a one-day holiday, 236 persons lost their lives on the nation's roads.

Howard Pyle, safety council president, said that among an average 30-hour driving period in the middle of a December week, 236 persons would lose their lives in traffic accidents.

The Associated Press counted 212 deaths during the holiday.

Girl, 10, Still Missing Accused Abductor Gives Up to Police

DAVENPORT, Iowa (AP)—said Ackerman of Williams, Anthony Britnell Williams, 10-year-old Pamela Powers on Christmas Eve, turned himself in to police Thursday, but the girl remained missing.

Deak Sgt. Ernest Lester said a young Negro walked into the police station and said, "I'm Anthony Britnell Williams. I understand you're looking for me."

Detective Lt. John Ackerman said there was no doubt the man was Williams, a self-proclaimed minister with an arrest record including four sex charges.

Police charged Williams with child stealing after Pamela, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Powers of Des Moines, disappeared from a junior high school wrestling tournament at the Des Moines YMCA.

"She's very calm and cool," Ackerman said.

Williams was taken to a police station and a $1 taxi bill for his trip from Rock Island, Ill., across the Mississippi River to the police station.

Davenport police said Williams had four cents in his pocket when he turned himself in and police paid a $1 taxi bill for his trip from Rock Island, Ill., across the Mississippi River to the police station.

'State of Peril' in N.Y. City

NEW YORK (AP)—The Board of Health declared New York City in "a state of peril" Thursday and national charges against anyone failing to cooperate in efforts to get fuel oil delivered to unheated homes on an emergency list.

The city health commissioner said three deaths in the city were attributable directly to lack of heat.

He directed that Health Department personnel be stationed at each oil depot in the city to see that priorities are observed in getting fuel delivered to buildings where health emergencies exist.

Last week, with many buildings heatless and flu rampant in the city, the department declared the city in "imminent peril" Thursday, the peril was declared no longer imminent, but a fact.

The city's assistant health commissioner, Dr. Donald Corwell, estimated that 100,000 New Yorkers lived in unheated buildings Christmas Day and about 10,000 of them were sick with flu.

Thermal Pollution' Industry Byproduct Heat Threatening River Life

By STAN BENJAMIN Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP)— Besides chemicals, sewage and trash something new is threatening the rivers and streams of the United States and causing mounting concern among government officials.

It is heat, simple heat in the form of hot air or water. The problem causes what is known as thermal pollution.

By killing fish outright or leaving them gasping for oxygen, or by killing off their food supply or disrupting their life cycles so they can't reproduce, heat can ruin a stream as surely as any industrial poison or choking plant growth.

"This is one of the few pollution problems that we have an opportunity to stop before it ever starts," said Jacob I. Bregman, deputy assistant director of the interior, in an interview.

"But I doubt we could do much about it if we wait too long," he said.
