5.5 Million Gallons in 1967 Probe Reveals Theft Of U. S. Oil in Thai

By LAWRENCE L. KNUSTON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Bribery, forgery, collusion and government laxity led to massive thefts of aircraft and other fuels intended for vital U.S. military operations in Thailand, federal investigators say in an unpublished report to Sen. William Proxmire.

The report of a 10-man General Accounting Office team reveals that at least 5.5 million gallons of petroleum products were stolen during 1967 in the country, where hundreds of U.S. Air Force bombers and fighter planes employed in the Vietnam war are based.

"The full extent of the financial loss to the government is not known at this time," said the report, explaining that the GAO investigators were unable to determine how many more gallons of fuel had been illegally siphoned from the military supply system.

Proxmire, who requested the GAO investigation, released his report to the Associated Press. He said it disclosed "a shocking failure" by the government to properly police its supply system, and said there should be a further inquiry to determine whether any of the jet fuel, gasoline, diesel fuel and lubricants ended up in Communist hands.

Arabs, Israelis Clash In Scattered Fighting

UN Censure Of Israel Imminent

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arab-Israeli hostility flared with renewed violence in the Middle East today while, in New York, U.S. Security Council condemnation of Israel for its commando attack on Beirut's International Airport appeared imminent.

Jordan evicted three Israeli helicopters, escorted by two jet fighters, which were gunning a Jordanian security police car and set it afire on a desert road between Ghazal and the port of Aqaba.

A spokesman said the fate of the five persons in the car was not immediately determined.

The Israeli minister of defense said the Israeli commando force from Jordan had seized 15 mortar shells shortly after midnight on a civilian target, a nature unspecified, near Elilat. At Tel Aviv, a spokesman said there were no casualties.

The Israeli army reported Israeli troops accidentally killed an Arab woman and wounded three other bystanders slightly in shooting down a suspicious-looking Arab who ran when a patrol arrested him near Abraham's Tomb, in occupied Hebron. The suspect died of wounds.

Israel's defense of its operations against Arab terrorism brought the Vatican under fire for an expression of grief Pope Paul VI sent to Lebanon over the commando attack on Beirut's airport.

The Israeli minister of relations with Arab states, Yehoshua Sabar, said the Israeli minister of defense said the Israeli commando force from Jordan had seized 15 mortar shells shortly after midnight on a civilian target, a nature unspecified, near Elilat. At Tel Aviv, a spokesman said there were no casualties.

Anti-War Unit Plans Inaugural Protests

WASHINGTON (AP)—The same group that sponsored anti-war demonstrations during the Democratic National Convention in Chicago says it will stage three days of "counter-inaugural" protests during Richard M. Nixon's inauguration festivities.

The National Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam is organizing the demonstration and seeking parade permits to accompany the parade on Sunday, Jan. 20, the day before the inauguration. The demonstrators intend to march with banners down the Michigan parade route in reverse, from the White House to the Capitol.

A "Counter-Inaugural Ball" also is planned. The Mobilization hopes to stage a rally on a section of the Ellipse, and to set up sound equipment.

On inauguration day the demonstrators want an area of a block or so designated for them to hold their own parade. They also want a permit to hold a parade route—enough for an estimated 5,000 to 10,000 protesters with banners and banners. Negotiations for permits have begun with various agencies and District of Columbia officials. These apparently are still in the starting stages.

When asked whether the Mobilization expected to find Washington authorities more amenable

The 23 surviving Pueblo crewmen were freed from 11 months in a North Korean prison camp and flown here for Christmas Eve reunion with their families. Law and Hayes were the first permitted by the North Koreans to conduct an interview with the press.

Thieu Says Saigon To Up Role in War

SAIGON (AP)—President Nguyen Van Thieu said tonight that in the coming year South Vietnam will be able to take over part of the war effort from the United States and other allied forces.

In a New Year's Eve television speech to the nation, Thieu said: "We are ready and we have the ability to do so in 1969 because of the growth in size and the efficiency of the armed forces of the Republic of Vietnam."

Thieu told his countrymen that partly replacing the allied military effort "is our responsibility toward friendly nations and their armed forces."

Troops Free U.S. Officer, Held 5 Years

SAIGON (AP)—South Vietnamese army troops sweeping thick jungle in the Mekong delta today freed a U.S. Army officer who had been a prisoner of the Viet Cong for more than five years.

A U.S. spokesman said the American, a first lieutenant in the Special Forces, was in "excellent" condition despite his long captivity. But he was reported emaciated and thin.

A South Vietnamese army officer was reported freed at the same time, and both were flown to hospitals.

The American was identified as James Nicholas Howe of McAllen, Tex., a lieutenant at the time of his capture but since promoted to captain and major.

The U.S. Command said a patrol from the South Vietnamese 2nd Division freed the American officer shortly after noon today. He was found in a camp in the wild, marshy U Minh forest about 150 miles southwest of Saigon.

The U Minh forest has long been a Viet Cong stronghold, and allied troops seldom penetrate it. There was no indication whether the South Vietnamese sweep had encountered any resistance.

The American lieutenant reportedly was captured in 1963 while serving as an adviser at a remote camp in the Mekong delta south of Saigon.

Since American involvement in the war began in January 1961, only a handful of American prisoners have been rescued from Viet Cong camps. The U.S. Command does not know how many Americans may be held in jungle camps.

The Viet Cong has released a few American prisoners and offered before Christmas to release three enlisted men it captured within the past eight months. A team of U.S. negotiators was unable to arrange the

Shape of '69: More Uproar

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Looking forward to 1969? If you are, you probably qualify as an incurable optimist.

On the threshold of a new year, the shape of Mother Earth looks something like this:

The Vietnam war goes on and on, despite seven months of what the peace may bring to other nations in the area. Might an American withdrawal from Vietnam bring more uprisings, more guerrilla war, even more instability?

Communist China, the enormous fact of Asian life with its 700 million restive people, has emerged as a nuclear power to be reckoned with, having just achieved its eighth nuclear explosion.

China's mainland brings more uprisings, more guerrilla war, even more instability?

Views of 1968: How easy it is to think of aspects of the year that could be considered to be of that dreadful summer...

The Prayer for 1969: There must be almost one single prayer, rising from the remorse and need and wish to live of all humanity...

Views of 1968 (continued): The year that was a year to which people were voting loathsome and voted against letting little children come to the schools in their towns.

Views of 1968 (continued): This was a year in which the streets of Chicago were filled with the sound of gunfire...

Views of 1968 (continued): This was another year of the unending litany of the casualty counts from Vietnam...

Views of 1968 (continued): This was a year in which the people of the world were beginning to realize that the time had come when they must choose between the two superpowers...

Views of 1968 (continued): There is to be a court of inquiry into the Pueblo incident and the men are to be held accountable for their actions...

Views of 1968 (continued): It was a year for the crude resurrection of the war and order which denied the possibility that the sick elements of a society could be members of the same human family...

Views of 1968 (continued): For all this brutality in man's conduct toward man, no one really accepted responsibility. It was, one was asked to believe, a sort of process of automation which had been taken over...

Views of 1968 (continued): We write, out of our hopes for something better, out of humanity's own instinctive prayer for its own future, as if all this had been some sort of bad dream.

Views of 1968 (continued): But it has been more reality than a dream, and there is only one real way out of it for the future, and that is for human beings to try to do more things about other human beings as human beings...

Every American will rejoice that the crew of the Pueblo has been brought home with only one member killed. One need not detract from the ordeal that these men went thru to point out that the same week that these 22 men came home from a little girl in Nova Scotia and results in mail from all over the United States being sent to her.

The American people have become so unconcerned about the tremendous loss of lives in this undeclared war that they have lost their sense of values. We give more publicity to men that have been released than the 22 men that were killed during one week.

Pension Board to Study New Methods of Funding

The Manchester Pension Board is embarking on a long-range study, possibly to take effect in a year, to determine the advisability of switching to a new method of funding the Pension Fund.

The Pension Fund now is managed by the Hartford National Bank and Trust Co., which invests the monies in stocks and bonds.

The Pension Board yesterday adopted an early-retirement schedule table, prepared by its secretary, Homer Anderson. The Board of Directors in November had amended the Pension Ordinance, to provide early retirement at age 55. It had been at age 60, previously.

The table, available in the town treasury office, lists the reduced benefits table for age 60 to 65 remains unchanged. The Pension Board has scheduled a budget workshop for Jan. 14 at 7:30 p.m. in the coffee room of the Municipal Building.

PUC Denies Water Rate Hike

By BARBARA RICHMOND

The Public Utilities Commission today denied a request made by the Rockville Water and Aqueduct Company to raise its rates to the quality of the water is improved.

The plan for the rate increase was made by the water company when it found it was necessary to build a filtration plant at a cost of some $1.8 million to correct the poor quality of water in the city.

The company gets its water from the Rockville Water and Aqueduct Co. in Vernon, Conn. The water is pumped to the city by the Rockville Water and Aqueduct Co. in Vernon, Conn. The water is pumped to the city by the Rockville Water and Aqueduct Co. in Vernon, Conn.

Water Rulings

The State Public Utilities Commission today ruled that the rate increase proposed by the Rockville Water and Aqueduct Co. is not justified.

The commission ruled that the rate increase proposed by the company is not justified because the company has not provided adequate evidence to show that the water quality is improved.

Slow-Down Tactics Prove Not Effective As East Trounces Northwest Catholic

By TOM BARRETT
Big Tom Kearns, sparking a fourth stanza scoring avalanche to put the game out of reach, led his unbeaten East Catholic Eagles to a 62-31 conquest over league rival Northwest Catholic before an overflow crowd at home last night.

Northwest showed things down to a standstill in the first quarter with stall tactics and showed one way of preventing a team from scoring: simply don't give them the ball.

Revenge may have been on the minds of the local five as a 76-48 victory over the Indians last year stands in the entire which upset a long winning streak over the last three years that Northwest was able to conquer the Eagles on the home average. The other squad, Springfield Catholic, also was to turn the trick.

Northwest's strategy lay in their double digits was Dick Piroth who came on in the second quarter and played the role of "great job" in his first starting start.

The JV's easily defeated Northwest 77-47 to keep their record unbeaten. Ed Piroth scored 20 points followed by teammates Brian Sullivan and Kevin Falls with 15 and 12 points respectively.

Hayes Keeps Top Average

NEW YORK (AP) - Sam DiNoia's Elvira Hayes kept her top average last week in the National Basketball Association scoring race.

The Rockets' 6-foot-9 rookie jumped in 16 points in three games, leading his percentage average to 36 and moving 174 points ahead of runner-up Bob Rule of Seattle.

Hayes has a 57-game total of 1,820 points. She, who has played four more games than Hayes, has the most points in the league.

AL FRIEHEIT - Another chance in pro ball as a kicking specialist.

VINCE FANDETTI - Best year ever in marathon and road race events.

DICK DANIELSON - Return to the CIAC soccer journey for a year with the Manchester High squad.

RILEY O'DONNELL - Another understated coach at the state level.

PAUL PHINNEY - Flawless team into the playoffs.

JOHN ELIAS - A winning basketball season at the state level.

FAT MISTRETTA - Opportunity to coach in either - or both - basketball and basketball.

CHRIS MCNEAL - Chance to break into pro baseball as an umpire.

AL BOGGINI - Gold basketball for nearly 40 years.

JOE GARMAN - Trip to Camp Perry to compete in the National Rifle Championship.

TOMMY KELLEY - End to his Cleveland Indians.

STAN HILNICKI - End to his career as a coach.

AL BROWN - End to his career as a coach.

"at first glance," but that scientists are divided about whether they were caused by water.

"I personally think that if water had any effect, it was only minor," he said.

One explanation for the cracked features on the moon's surface, he said, is that they are caused by mud drying and contracting.

"I personally dislike that explanation," he said.

The scientist said no explanation has been found for the faint color which has shown up in some of the Apollo 8 photographs of the moon which the space agency has released.

Dietrich said the processing of the film has been eliminated as a source of the color, but it's believed it could have come from a temporary coating of the spacecraft windows.

All the surfaces, he said, is probably like the "sticky beach sand" the astronauts described it.

He said there was little that was surprising in the lunar film brought back by the Apollo 8 astronauts. He said many questions about the moon had been answered by pictures from Lunar Orbiter satellites, which earlier orbited the moon, and Surveyor, which soft-landed on the surface.

He said the Apollo 8's pictures of the backside were much better than those from Orbiter, which flew an elliptical path and was very high above the lunar backside.

"The astronauts gave us what we asked for on content," Dietrich said, but the volume of the photos will require weeks of study before their precise scientific value can be established.

Also to be studied are the reports from the astronauts who are spending eight hours each day meeting with scientists and space officials, answering questions and telling what they saw, felt and did during their six-day flight.

They will get their first day off in weeks on New Year's Day; then the debriefing will resume Jan. 2 and continue until Jan. 8.

A news conference is scheduled that day but space officials said it might be replaced by a Washington ceremony.

The space agency Monday released the first movies of the crew inside their space cabin. They showed Lovell and Anders going through routine on-board duties.

The film included one sequence showing Lovell working with equipment while two flashlight beams suspended in weightlessness. Just as the scene shifts, the hand of one of the other crewmen reaches out, gives one of the flashlights a shake, and it spins rapidly in midair.

quity into the crew's treatment by North Korea.

A few hours later, Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., said at Winder, Ga., that he felt the crew should have scouted the intelligence ship rather than let its secret equipment fall into enemy hands.

"I want to see just what orders the commander was given," Russell, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said in an interview with Atlanta radio and television station WWSB.

The Navy declined comment. Russell also said, "Those men are being hailed as heroes. They are heroes in the sense that they survived the imprisonment."

They sign a protest, their statements that did not reflect any great heroism in my mind. I'll have to investigate further to see just what hero-type things they performed."

Bucher said he signed a confession of violating North Korean laws when his captors had threatened to kill his crew.

Law, of Chatham, West., and Hayes, of Columbus, Ohio, described their captors as stupid, mercurial and violently anti-American. "That's what makes whole people are based in despising Americans," said Law.

Hayes said his jaw was broken in a beating and added that the North Koreans "know how to hate. We haven't learned yet."

Asked whether the pale treatment was typical, a Navy spokesman said, "Everyone else is busy."

The stocky, dark-haired Law said on Dec. 12, after his captors learned the meaning of the gesture in the picture and "realized they weren't as smart as they thought they were," he was beaten by a corporal as four North Korean officers looked on.

"I was beaten with a two-by-two about four or five feet long," Law said. "The guard ... was striking me across the shoulders and the back with it. He stuck the end of it on one of the blows and he kept on with the two halves until it ended up in his gloves."

"He left and came back with a four-by-four" and applied "a few blows on the vicinity of the shoulders and the back ... this was followed by a various assortment of kicks and fists to various parts of the body ..."

In all, he said, he received between 250 and 300 blows.

Hayes, slightly built, said he "wasn't beaten near as bad as many other people" but still was pummeled with fists shortly before the crew's release Dec. 22. His jaw was broken "about six or seven times," he said, "and I was kicked in the stomach and the groin and on kneecaps."

"They threatened the whole crew with being shot," Hayes told the news conference.

He said the crewmen were beaten if they were caught praying. Asked what the North Koreans thought about religion, Hayes said, "Well, they'd say the Russians shot down God with a rocket and he didn't exist anymore. Then they'd try to explain about Mary and the Bible. They finally gave up on it because it was so ridiculous and it wasn't working."

In New York, Newsweek magazine said of the Pueblo's capture that the ship's "two 50-caliber machine guns remained plugged and covered with tarpaulins throughout the incident."

The magazine said in its Jan. 6 issue that the guns had been installed only weeks before "and the Navy had not gotten around to training the Pueblo crewmen in their operation."

The report quoted Lt. Edward R. Murphy, executive officer of the Pueblo, but a Navy spokesman in San Diego denied that Murphy had made the statements.

Hayes said he felt the crew wasn't brainwashed and their food was the same as the guards' but probably "much better than the average Korean people."

But both he and Law said the crew suffered mental anguish. "They beat you to keep you mentally off balance," said Hayes. "Threats were made. You finally got used to that. The terror was waiting to be beat. That was the worst part—waiting to be beat and knowing that there is nothing you can do in recent years" had condemned "an aggressive act by Israel against an Arab state."

Israel remained virtually without support in the debate as it reiterated that Saturday's raid on the Beirut airport was in retaliation for an Arab guerrilla attack on an Israeli airliner at Athens airport last week. One Israeli passenger was killed in that attack.

Answering Lebanese claims for more than $40 million in damages for 13 destroyed aircraft, Israeli Ambassador Yosef Tekohah replied: "The life of one Israeli citizen is worth more than all the metal and engines of planes destroyed by the army unit. Who will pay for the loss of life?"

He reiterated that Israel considers itself responsible for terrorist attacks launched from their territory. The two men charged with attacking the plane in Athens came from Beirut, and Israel charged that their organization, the Popular Front for Liberation of Palestine, had headquarters in Lebanon capital.

Fouad Boutros, a former Lebanese foreign minister who flew to New York Monday to head his country's U.N. team, accused Israel of unprovoked aggression. He said Israel's policy undermined the base of the United Nations.

The council was reported anxious to complete its action on the matter before midnight tonight because the terms of five of its nonpermanent members expire then. They are Brazil, Canada, Denmark, Ethiopia and India, which are being replaced for two-year terms by Colombia, Finland, Nepal, Spain and Zambia.

In Tel Aviv, 1,000 mourners attended the funeral of Leon Shiran, 50-year-old maritime engineer who was killed in the Arab attack in Athens. Labor Minister Joseph Almog represented the government at the ceremony and denounced "world hypocrisy," declaring: "When this man was murdered the world kept quiet. When Israel struck back, spared human life and wrecked only machines, then the world registered shock and its conscience was aroused."

A Middle East Airlines spokesman said in Beirut that three U.S. lines—Pan American, Trans World and American—have cable offers of "anything within reason" to help the Lebanese airline, crippled by the loss of its 13 planes. The spokesman said Air France also has put three planes at its disposal, and the Soviet Union's Aeroflot has offered "unlimited help."

In Washington, the State Department said it was "discouraged" by the response of the U.S. airlines.

Replace the Phone?
LONDON — A personal "transceiver," which a man could use to speak to any person anywhere, could possibly replace the telephone, as we know it, by 1969, some researchers think. Satellites would beam the signal toward the desired receiver.

Channel 18 Ends Pay TV Next Month

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — A 6½-year experiment in offering subscription television programs to the public is coming to an end, but backers of the test hope to offer permanent pay TV in Connecticut soon.

RKO General, owner of WHCT Channel 18, which has offered subscription movies since June 1962, announced Monday its service will end Jan. 31, in its place, the station plans to substitute regular commercial programming.

The company said it was discontinuing the experiment—the only one of its kind in the country—"with the hope that in the future the Hartford-New Haven area will be provided with permanent subscription service."

RKO said the decision of the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) to authorize national pay TV led to the plans to end the test.

John Poor, president of RKO said, "The Hartford project has proved that subscription TV can be a worthwhile supplement to television viewing and has been the principal source of information on which the FCC has made its historic decision" to permit a national subscription network.

The FCC approved Dec. 13 the proposal of a limited network of such service, specifying that it must present color programs.

Decoders used in connection with the Hartford system and made by the Zenith Corp., produce only black-and-white pictures.

The FCC noted it would take two to three years to implement its related regulations. Since specifications for the color decoders have not yet been released, RKO said, manufacturers have not been able to begin designing the unscramblers.

The decoder is attached to the set to prevent nonsubscribers from receiving the special programs. A coded number dial on the device permits the subscriber to receive the unscrambled TV signal. It also records what program was tuned in, the cost of which may be as high as $2 for computing the monthly bill.

RKO said it was informing each of its 4,000 local subscribers of the Jan. 31 cutoff date and was making arrangements to remove the decoders from each set.

The company was also at work trying to set up "options to use the Zenith Phasevision system (the decoder) in specific major markets" including the Hartford area.

RKO owns other TV stations in Boston, Detroit, Los Angeles, Memphis and New York City.

Probe Reveals Massive Thefts Of Oil in Thai

"that during the period when theft of the fuel was widespread nobody was assigned to discharge the responsibility for monitoring fuel supply."

The military's Sub-Area Petroleum Office in Thailand next step up in the complex supply system—also failed to verify delivery of fuel to U.S. vehicles, the report said.

The GAO said the Navy fuel office in Bangkok did certify that the fuel had been delivered, although it had no "responsibility to make this verification."

Furthermore, said the report of the Navy office verified delivery "without contacting the receiving activities to confirm actual receipt."

From January to October 1967, investigators said, "We estimate that over 600,500 gallons or about 22 per cent of the approximately 2,128,700 gallons said to have been supplied by the service stations to U.S. vehicles, was stolen."

The thefts were accomplished, the report said, by: —Use of fictitious names of military units.

—Use of false vehicle numbers.

—Use of identification numbers of vehicles which had been junked or were no longer used.

—Falsification of delivery receipts showing "excessive and unrealistic filling of the same vehicle in most cases with more gasoline than the vehicle's tanks could possibly hold.

—The indirect methods generally are persuasion, public indignation, and the availability of money from the Federal Reserve government spending and interest rates. These mechanisms motivate or subdue, but fall short of dictating.

Because they are imperfect—if not in theory then in application—they cannot be relied upon as foolproof assurances that the boom-bust cycle is ended. The inability to contain inflation is proof of this.

Recognition of their imperfection is inherent in the report issued last week by President Johnson's Cabinet Committee on Price Stability, a document far too tardy to be of great use. The committee recommended a return to guidelines to keep price and wage increases in harmony with productivity increases. Sacrifices must be made for the common good, it said; self-denial must be practiced.

Such voluntary methods maintain freedom, but self-denial is not the nature of any economic animal. The committee suggested therefore that a competent authority specify specific wage-price increases. But this is as far as it dared go.

The diversity and freedom of the American system promote vitality, but there are weaknesses also. Another of these weaknesses seems to be the policy disagreements between the Federal Reserve and the President. The result sometimes is a heavy foot on both accelerator and brake, as in 1966, when the Johnson administration was spinning the gear and the Federal Reserve tried to throw things into reverse.

Without harmony of monetary policy, which is the supply and cost of money, and which is regulated by the Federal Reserve, and the fiscal or spending policy of the administration in power, the control of the boom-bust cycle is difficult.

The cycle isn't the untamed tiger of 30 or even 10 years ago, but the animal still has a mind of its own.

dared by race problems in South Africa and Rhodesia and by colonial problems in areas like Angola, still held by Portugal.

Europe
Eastern Europe, historically a kettle for brewing conflict, once again provides a major source of worry, springing from the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia last August to smelt out a reform movement. The backlash of this generated tension in Yugoslavia, whose maverick eye the Soviet Union for signs of her intentions. Romania, too, eyes the Rumanians, wondering when—or if—they will demand the right to station troops there.

The Czechoslovak episode laid down a new set of rules for Europe so far as Moscow was concerned. Eastern Europe, it has said in effect, is its private sphere where it will tolerate no hint of Western interference.

Communist-ruled nations have been told by the so-called "Brezhnev Doctrine" enunciated by Moscow's party chief, that the Kremlin calls the tune on the cultural, economic and political development of European nations under Communist regimes.

Czechoslovakia is the westernmost Communist nation in Europe. Its borders touch West Germany and Austria, a fact which gives added weight to persistent Soviet complaints and veiled threats about the West Germans. West German participation in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization thus remains a center of tension for Europe and for Soviet-American relations. The status of West Berlin, isolated 110 miles inside East Germany, continues to be a potential center of crisis.

There probably is a brighter

The Soviet attitudes toward Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, Romania, and Europe in general have impelled the NATO members to look to their organization for defense, dampening hopes held by many not long ago that the cold war might fade away.

The Americas
Latin America has been shaken by such events as a recent upheaval in Brazil and a military coup in Peru. Brazil has gone through a bloodless revolution and that largest of Latin American nations is being run openly by a military-backed government. Its constitution has been virtually abolished. Peru has just been through a corrupt, but which has placed it under the control of a military junta.

Cuba's Communist regime has been relatively quiet of late so far as fomenting rebellion elsewhere in the region has been concerned, though it continues to propagandize the threat.

These are only a few of the world's worries as the world enters 1969. Hardly a nation, from the most powerful to the most humble, is without its uproar.

The United States, with a new administration taking the helm, is preoccupied with a wide variety of troubles: civil rights, unruly student movements, slums, pollution and involvement in the Vietnam war, with all the peripheral political and economic trouble that engenders. The Soviet Union is having considerable trouble with its intellectuals and its younger generation, aggravated by the Czechoslovak events. France faces a prospect of a new round of uproar like that of last May when a student and labor uprising all but paralyzed the country.

Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—The belief that the economic cycle of boom-bust has been destroyed is more a declaration of faith than a provable fact. The fact is that it takes a lot of faith in this economy to ignore some warning signals.

The most obvious of these is the fierce — for the United States, that is — rate of inflation. Because costs are rising 4 to 5 per cent a year, individuals and corporations are splurging now to avoid higher prices tomorrow.

The result is that some of the building and buying that ordinarily would take place sometime in 1969 already has been completed. Whether the 1970 remains to be seen. But advance spending can't go on forever.

The most the Nixon administration can do to ease the slowdown that must occur sometime in the future, but there is no certainty that this breaking can be accomplished without a job for inflation has taken a firm hold.

Pierre Rinfret, a former Nixon economist, told his corporate clients this week: "We would not be surprised to see more price increases in the period Jan. 21, 1969, to Jan. 31, 1969, than at any time in the post-war."

He asserted that the Democrats exerted strong verbal controls over corporate price increases but that Nixon, by contrast, has pledged to reduce intervention in the free enterprise system.

"That means to us that we are going to witness, in 1969, a great deal of price catching-up. Those industries that have not been permitted to raise prices are going to do so in 1969," Rinfret says.

Any big increases will offer evidence to wage earners that they also need increases in order to maintain their standard of living. And so the inflationary spiral could whirl uncontrolled as a cyclone.

Short of mandatory, dictatorial controls, the U.S. economy cannot be made to respond perfectly. At most, the managers of our economy can maintain a balance of power between sellers-buyers, employees-employers.

In America you hesitate to use force directly in order to make a free enterprise move in a specific direction. More subtle, indirect methods must be used, and by their nature they are less effective. But this is the price of freedom and economic vitality.

The indirect methods generally are persuasion, public indignation, and the availability of money from the Federal Reserve government spending and interest rates. These mechanisms motivate or subdue, but fall short of dictating.
