Apollo Astronauts Frank Borman, from left, James A. McDevitt and Thomas P. Stafford, who helped blaze the flight to the moon in their Apollo 8, 9 and 10 missions, get together at Cape Kennedy, Fla., space center today as Borman said he believed the Russian Luna 15 spacecraft now en route to the moon was intended to return a sample of lunar dust and rocks to earth ahead of Wednesday's United States Apollo 11 mission. Unmanned Moon Ship Launched by Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — An unmanned Soviet spaceship headed for the moon today amid speculation that its mission is to take some of the spotlight away from Apollo 11 by getting samples of the moon's surface and returning them to earth.

If all goes normally, the Luna 15 spaceship should approach the moon Wednesday, about the time the United States sends its three astronauts off for the lunar landing.

The Soviet news agency, announced that Luna 15 was "launched to the moon from the orbit of an artificial earth's satellite" at 5:55 a.m. Moscow time Sunday and six hours later was 40,300 miles from the earth.

One Western diplomat in Moscow suggested that the Russians were trying for another space first—the landing on the moon of an unmanned ship which would scoop up some moon soil and return it to earth before U.S. astronauts make their landing Sunday.

If this is not the mission, the diplomat said, then Luna 15 may orbit close to the moon so that it can observe the U.S. astronauts after their landing.

Tass said Luna 15 will "conduct further scientific exploration of the moon and space near the moon." No details were given. The Soviets never announce the real missions of space shots so that if something goes wrong, they don't have to admit failure.

The U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration said in a statement: "We welcome this further exploration of space and wish them every success in man's effort to better understand the universe around him."

But Dr. Donald Stullken, leader of the NASA team which will help recover the Apollo 11 astronauts, said that if the Russian

One Motor Vital To Moon Lift

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Sitting in their landing craft on the lunar surface, two Apollo 11 astronauts will stake their lives on a single engine that must work perfectly at least six minutes to rocket them safely away from the moon.

And because of the way the landing craft is built, it will be impossible to test-fire the motor before that critical moment.

Called an ascent engine, the motor is located at the base of the lunar module (LM) landing craft's cabin section, where astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. will be quartered.

Until the time of blastoff from the moon's surface, the engine is blocked by the LM's braking rocket and landing legs.

The landing section, called the descent stage, is to remain on the moon, serving as a launch pad.

"This engine has to work to get the crew back into a safe orbit where they can rendezvous with astronaut Michael Collins in the Apollo 11 command ship, said mission director George H. Hage.

The 3,500-pound-thrust ascent engine is to be fired at 1:55 p.m. EDT July 21 for 7 minutes, 18 seconds. Sixty-nine seconds before Armstrong and Aldrin blast off, Collins will have sped directly overhead in the command ship.

If all goes well, the ascent engine will propel the two moon explorers into an initial egg-shaped orbit ranging from 11 to 52 miles above the moon. For the first 14 seconds, the LM will climb straight up. It then is to tip over to an angle of 52 degrees and rocket into orbit at a speed of about one mile per second.

Small thruster rockets could propel the LM into orbit if the main ascent engine fails after six minutes—"but we must burn

Nation To Hear Space Crew Tonight

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Astronauts Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., and Michael Collins pause in their training tonight to tell the nation how it feels to be going to the moon. The preparation of their spacecraft was ahead of schedule for Wednesday's launch and the weather is expected to be ideal.

As superoxygen and hydrogen flowed into some of the command ship and lunar lander systems, the space agency reshuffled its built-in "books" to provide time for two additional schedule control tests of the liquid hydrogen system as the 9:32 a.m. EDT launch nears.

The three astronauts, after last-minute rehearsal at make-believe flight controls, planned to work out in the gymnasium later in the day before going on television and radio at 7 p.m.

They'll be questioned by a panel of four newsmen on a program to be carried on all networks.

On pad 39A, the manifold tanks to ready the mighty Saturn 5 rocket for its 9:32 a.m. launch Wednesday were two to three hours ahead of schedule.

"No problems have been encountered," the space agency reported Sunday night as the countdown resumed after a scheduled 16-hour stoppage.

After a relaxing Sunday, the astronauts returned to make-believe flight controls today for some last-minute practice.

Police Alert After Riots Rock Ulster

LONDON (AP) — Northern Ireland police were kept on alert throughout Northern Ireland today after a weekend of rioting and gunfire in which at least 87 persons were hurt.

Police spokesmen said the fighting was the worst since the civil rights campaign against the government touched off violence last autumn between Northern Ireland's Protestants and Catholics.

Two civilians were hit by stray shots in Londonderry, but it was not known who did the shooting. They were the first gunfire victims since the strife started.

In Dungiven, 19 miles to the south, rioting Catholics tried to burn a group of police officers trapped inside a hall owned by the Protestant Orange Order.

The fire was put out, but several police were injured.

In Londonderry, long a center of religious feuding, eight policemen fired in the air to scatter a mob who had trapped them in a side street.

Italy Chief Starts Talks On Cabinet

ROME (AP) — Premier Mariano Rumor began talks today with other political leaders in an attempt to form a new center-left coalition government for Italy.

President Giuseppe Saragat asked the 54-year-old caretaker premier to form a Cabinet after eight days of government crisis. The Socialist party, junior partner in Rumor's Christian Democratic government, had split into two warring factions. This ended the coalition's majority in Parliament, and Rumor resigned.

Saragat charged Rumor with forming a "new government within the framework of the parties of the center-left."

Rumor called in other leaders of the Christian Democrats today. They have already approved the launching of another center-left coalition with the Socialists and the tiny Republican party. But only one of the Socialist parties—the Italian Socialist party, or PSI—was ready to join the Christian Democrats in the government again. The breakaway right-wingers of the Unitarian Socialist party, or PSU, tentatively rejected taking part in a Cabinet that would include the rival PSI.

The Republicans also refused to join another center-left coalition saying the Socialists squabbling had made the formula unworkable. However, Republican leader Ugo La Malfa pledged his party's parliamentary support for a new center-left government under Rumor.

It appeared that Rumor could get together a paper-thin parliamentary majority without the participation of the PSU or the Republicans. But his aim was to coax both the PSU—who broke away because they opposed the PSI's attempt to get closer ties with the Communists—and the Republicans back into the government.

Thieu Asks Cong Reconsider Offer

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu called on the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front tonight to reconsider its negative response to his invitation to join in elections in South Vietnam to settle the war.

"We hope the other side understands that this represents our maximum amount of good will and that they will respond with similar good will by negotiating correctly with us so peace soon can be restored," Thieu said in a statement.

He added that the South Vietnamese delegation in Paris will make a formal presentation of his proposal at Thursday's session of the peace talks.

"From now until then there is time for them to think about it and give their final word," the president said.

Thieu proposed Friday that all political parties and groups, including the front, could have seats on an electoral commission which would see that the elections are fair. He also suggested that an international body supervise the balloting.

The Viet Cong wrote off Thieu's proposal as a trick ordered by the U.S. government.

In Thieu's own political backyard, the Catholic Grand Solariat Force called the plan unconstitutional and demanded a joint session of Parliament to "vote" with it.

The solidarity force is a member of Thieu's National Social Democratic Front and relatively important on South Vietnam's "fragmented political scene," said by Sen. Nguyen Gia Hien. It reflects the views of O'Neil's refugees from North Vietnam who oppose any accommodation with the Communists.

The party in a statement said the president's peace initiative was meant only for "foreign consumption and cannot be accepted in South Vietnam. It also

Nixon Asks New Law To Curb Drug Abuse

Wiretaps Reduced, Administration Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon announced today a new program to fight the "serious national threat" from drug abuses, including heavy penalties for sale or possession of LSD and a "no knock" provision for drug search warrants.

Nixon sent a message to Congress calling for more money, manpower, research, education and special fast-moving investigative units to crack down on the drug traffic.

Specific legislation is expected to go to Capitol Hill within the next few days.

Among its provisions, Treasury and Justice officials said, will be an effort to update what Nixon called "inadequate and outdated" laws, including the classification of dangerous drugs into categories. It places heroin, LSD and marijuana in the same group of drugs for which the officials say there is no approved medical use.

Penalties for sale and possession of LSD, a hallucinatory drug, are mainly affected, with an increase in fines and sentences.

The penalty for sale of LSD, now carrying a punishment of not more than five years imprisonment for a first offense, will be raised to not less than five years or more than 20 years and for a second offense, now punishable at not more than five years will be raised to a minimum of ten and not more than 40 years imprisonment.

The penalties for unlawful possession, now not more than one year for a first offender with LSD, will be raised to two to ten years and for a second offense, now not more than three years, will be raised to not less than five or more than twenty.

The Nixon administration will ask for "no knock" authority, which permits narcotics agents to seek federal court warrants for search of premises with special permission to enter and search without knocking or prior identification in cases where such advance notice might permit the suspects to dispose of evidence.

Outlining the dimensions of the problem in a special message.

Group Urges AMA To Quit Medicaid

NEW YORK (AP) — South Carolina delegates to the American Medical Association convention urged the AMA to withdraw its endorsement of the federal-state Medicaid program.

AMA's endorsement of Medicaid "could lead to the extension of the Medicaid program," the South Carolina delegation said in a resolution.

It was among 130 resolutions introduced Sunday at the tumultuous opening session at the Americana Hotel, during which a New York psychiatrist seized the microphone to denounce the AMA for what he said was neglect of the poor.

The South Carolina resolution said Medicaid backers thought "the Medicaid program could and should be expanded to include all inhabitants of the United States."

It also said the current program had placed "an unbearable financial burden on states that have fully implemented it."

The 242-member House of Delegates will act on the resolutions Tuesday or Wednesday.

About 22,500 doctors are expected for the five-day convention.

Hostage, Seizing Gun, Frees Wife, Daughter

NATCHITOCHEES, La. (AP) — A daring man whose family was terrorized by three armed, escaped prisoners held two of them at bay and shot a third with their own submachine gun Sunday night to end an hour-long chase by hundreds of police.

The action capped more than 15 hours of freedom for the trio, who had held and released 11 hostages in several parts of the state.

The three were James Marion Sumner, 28; Garry Robert Williams, 22; and Luther Pettit, 29, all of Houma, La. The yearling son of the family was taken to the Greer County jail at Longview, Tex., early Sunday with a deputy sheriff and the jailer as hostages.

Sumner and Williams were brought to the Natchitoches Parish jail early today. Pettit was taken to the Confederate Memorial Hospital in Shreveport for a wound in the left side of the chest.

Sheriff Sam H. James said Sumner and Williams were charged in Natchitoches with the armed robbery of Mrs. Jeanne Browett. He said the fleeing men took 117 and shot gun shells from the woman's HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — A bolt of lightning turned an outdoor gas line into a blowtorch during a thunderstorm Sunday.

Hebron 218 Pupils Examined During June

In her school medical report for the month of June, Mrs. Yvonne M. Smith, public health nurse, reported that during the month 218 children were examined.

Academics requiring more than first aid measures increased considerably; however, minor ailments accounted for most of the other children seen. A few cases of mumps were reported.

Physical examinations were given by Dr. Christopher O'Connor, school physician, for the second and fifth grade girls at the Hebron Elementary School. All parents were notified of the examination results with a letter of explanation sent to the parents of children found to have a physical problem.

The family physicians also received a copy of this report. O'Connor concluded his question and answer session on the sixth grade boys. The boys had previously submitted their questions assigned and in this final session, they asked many related questions.

The fifth grade girls attended a film and discussion period in the health room on personal hygiene and menstruation. The girls have been encouraged to talk over their parents or questions with their parents or with the nurse.

The pre-adolescent dental vision-hearing program began on June 30 and concluded last Friday. Centered with the mothers of these children serve to promote a better understanding of individual health problems and to expedite further professional care when needed before the school term commences.

South Windsor Sewer Tie-In by September Expected for Northview Dr.

The Sewer Commission has estimated that residents of the Northview Dr. — Pleasant Valley Rd. area will be able to tie into the sewer system in about two months.

Regal progress being made by Oudario Brothers Construction Co., according to the commission, will permit many connections to be completed before cold weather.

Once the commission determines the sewer line, the commission will notify each owner.

Along with the addition of more sewer lines, the commission anticipates that "new construction takes place adjacent to the first sewer line along west end of Pleasant Valley Rd. and the industrial area along John Fitch Blvd.

The commission welcomes visitors to the Vibert Rd. facility and encourages residents to become familiar with this modern related question.

The Zoning Board of Appeals met Thursday night to look on several applications.

The board granted a variance to permit the installation of a 2-by-24-foot sign bearing the words, "South Windsor High School" on the high school grounds. The sign is a gift from the Class of 1969 to the school.

A temporary and conditional permit was granted to Ernest Rempel for two years to permit an apartment-size stove to be connected downstairs for use by his mother during her occupancy. At the time she terminates her residence or the title of the property is transferred, this equipment is to be removed.

The board was reluctant to grant this permit as applied for, as it might be construed to be a "grandfather" clause.

The Wapping Pair, Inc. was granted a temporary and conditional permit to hold the annual fair on Sept. 8 and 9 at the Wapping School grounds provided that it satisfies the insurance requirements of the town attorney and meets all the codes and approvals. The street parking is to be permitted.

flattering courtesy of rejecting it for him. It refused to believe that was what Coffin was really doing. "We do not," said the majority judges, "think of Coffin as one to run with the hare and hold with the hounds."

Having thus restored his honor, the judge went on to reinstate in their own finding at least his conviction. "In any event," they said, "he was not entitled to an acquittal."

It is hard to see why, if he were not entitled to an acquittal, Dr. Spock could be, or why, if Dr. Spock could be found innocent, Mr. Coffin must not be found innocent too.

But the courts cannot be faulted for all the confusion and contradiction in the issue. At its start, it seemed to most observers that Dr. Spock and Mr. Coffin ought to welcome conviction and punishment, like all decent revolutionaries who set out to break a law because they believe it is more just than the law. They even apparently being visited by the number of dry cereal

But Virginia Klausner, president of the National Consumer Action Council, said in a recent hearing before the Senate subcommittee on Consumer Affairs that she had been surprised to find that the number of dry cereal packages was supposed to drop from 26 to 16, in Mrs. Klausner's view, a 40 percent drop.

The Commerce Department has issued warnings of further congressional action and reminders of industry promises of self-regulation to whittle down the number of different sizes of packages on supermarket shelves.

He said the unit-price bills should help serve notice to the regulatory agencies that Congress has not forgotten nor will it forget the consumer.

Rosenfeld said he plans more hearings to examine the Truth-in-Packaging Act.

Inside Report

by Rowland Evans Jr. and Robert D. Novak

WASHINGTON - The fact that Robert Finch, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), actually scored a tentative victory last week in the bitter struggle over school desegregation can be proved only by contrasting the Nixon administration's July 3 policy statement with an earlier version of Finch's plan.

That earlier version, drafted with editorial flourish supplied by Presidential speechwriter Ray Price, would have abruptly reversed Federal policy on school desegregation and school busing.

But the Nixon administration's July 3 policy statement, which was drafted by Finch himself, is a far more moderate document.

It falls far short of the goal of ending racial discrimination in schools. But it does open the door to a possible end to the federal role in public schools.

It is a far more moderate document than the Nixon administration's July 3 policy statement, which was drafted by Finch himself.

Tolland William Swanback Seeking Finance Unit Nomination

Clint the need for broader representation of the town in the Board of Finance, William Swanback has announced his availability for the Democratic nomination to the Board of Finance.

Noting the Board of Finance unanimously approved the town budget presented this year, including the $178,000 out in the education budget, Swanback pointed to the 228 to 106 vote which approved the budget.

"The chairman of the Board of Finance Howard Wolfinger indicated the Board represented the interests of the town fairly," Swanback stated. "I wonder about this. I represent the 196 people who opposed the budget, I intend to fill this gap."

He also noted that the present Board of Finance was appointed by an outgoing Republican administration approximately two years ago.

Swanback favors "the start of a Capital Improvements Program for the town as recommended in the town's five year plan, adopted by a town meeting in 1964, but never implemented by the town."

"A Capital Improvements Program would include the year plan of major expenditures which are felt to be needed by the town," he explained. "This list would establish priority items, and would be revised annually."

"I would provide the Board of Finance with a working picture of the town's needs and which could be balanced realistically against the town's ability to pay," he said.

"My philosophy of the Board of Finance should be to hold the town's budget down but with out sacrificing the town's needs provided by the town in the areas of education, public safety, fire and police protection and administration of the town's needs," Swanback stated.

A member of the Tolland Civic Association, "an organization whose prime goal is community involvement," he has been back to town service as a former member of the Democratic Town Committee.

He served as the youngest master of a master of ceremonies at the state and is past master of Evergreen Lodge of Masons of South Windsor, chairman of the Resolutions and Brotherhood in Action Committee and a member of the advisory committee.

Swanback also serves as president of the Masonic Square Club at the Avon Life and Casualty Insurance Co. where he is employed as a senior accident and claims underwriter.

A six-year resident of Tolland, he and his wife Ingeborg and two children live on Gehring Rd. west of the town.

Tolland Teacher Blasts School Panel In a Letter of Resignation

Former high school biology teacher Kenneth Krivance this week publicly released a letter of resignation that is strongly critical of the Board of Education of Manchester.

Krivance, who has accepted a position in the Science Department of Manchester High School after teaching here for six years, stated, "I feel sorry that I have had to work with the last six months when pressure from interested parents induced purchase of materials necessary for preparing students for college."

"It seems the future is obvious," the high school teacher stated. "After a personal and mutual understanding of the situation, the Board of Education will be able to do so without being aware of my own position. I feel to stay would be over whom. Although I am not a member of the Board, I never did I heard of the meeting for the student and for the school system that at one time had the potential of being one of the finest," he added.

Continuing, Krivance stated, "One can occasionally help respond to oneself for having seen more deeply into the situation than others. It is difficult to accept the process as it is. For the truth is clear... the student body has been encouraged to meet in the hearts and minds of the school."

Expressing his "regret" at having to make the complaint, Krivance went on to state, "The last six years of teaching in the Tolland School system has given me much pleasure and invaluable experience."

"The truth of the matter is that I have done my very best and with the little that I have been furnished me," Krivance stated. "Where any of those who do their job and do it well with dedication and understanding?"

Krivance added, "To say that all teachers are good teachers is absurd. But why have so many left and before the summer ends why will more leave?"

Are they all bad," he questioned. "If so, the town must look to the organization that did the hiring. When will the ruling power cease to be unwise and intelligent management?"

"It is the goal to hire new teachers cheaply and force out the experienced ones," he continued. "If so, Tolland will never have a strong system, especially if those forced out are those who dare express an idea and dare to be different."

"It seems many have left, but never the ones who still stay by doing as little as possible," Krivance added.

"Rather than remain and bear unfounded personal attacks on my fellow teachers, I must tender my resignation as of this date," Krivance stated. "My hope is that the fire of self-respect and dedication will someday be rekindled. For while it is not to educate, we only tried in darkness."

Coventry 170 Departing Thursday Night On Coventry, England Visit

By HOLLY GANTNER
It's almost a year since the Coventry High School, which will be playing some engagements in England, will be met by another group of about 100 visitors from Coventry, England who spent three hot July weeks here. Some time Friday morning in front of Caldon Castle School in Coventry, England, there will be a formal meeting for many, and a first meeting of English host families for others.

The "later-city" relationship of the two Coventry's will come full circle with this visit, which starts Thursday night, again at Coventry High School, when 170 Connecticut residents (not Coventry High School, even Coventry travelers live in a knock-down cases) will find a student offering to make a list of their homes to people they don't know.

The success of the venture is now well known, not only to the opportunity it presented to get to know our British counterparts, but also because many of the people here got to know each other for the first time as well.

The trip is being held under the sponsorship of the Coventry High School Board, which parallels somewhat the structure of the last year's trip, which was sponsored by the Caldon Castle School P.T.A. To make this trip, the British families or individuals had to be really jell until 1968, when the first automobile party was organized to the United States.

The whole sister city notion got its start in 1965 when the Coventry High School, which was sponsored by the Caldon Castle School P.T.A. To make this trip, the British families or individuals had to be really jell until 1968, when the first automobile party was organized to the United States.

The English Coventry: History, Industry Merge

New Coventry Cathedral going up 25 years ago. Walls of old one, hit by Nazis, are in foreground. At left, Chapel of Unity.

The name is the same, but the Coventry, England, seems to have more physical resemblance to Hartford or Bridgeport or Stamford than the town that is named for it.

Another is the phrase "as true as Coventry blue" and this one stems from the English city's reputation in the early 16th century for cloth making and dyeing.

The most modern of all to refer to something as "having been Coventrized." This goes back only as far as World War II, when the German bombers devastated the city of Coventry in a series of air raids in November of 1940 and April of 1941. The center of the city was virtually wiped out, and 50,000 houses were damaged or destroyed.

It has since become well known over the world for the massive rebuilding of its downtown, and particularly for the creation of a new St. Michael's Cathedral, incorporating the ruins of the original structure, which was and is known also as the Coventry Cathedral.

The new Cathedral was completed earlier in this decade and is a masterpiece of modern architecture, with its spire reaching into the sky.

Coventry, England, lies about 90 miles northwest of London.

Coventry has a long history, and was incorporated in 1172. The history of Coventry, England, is a long one, and its name is always right there.

With 170 area residents away from their families and friends are necessarily going to be interested in how things are going across the Atlantic. All those interested in the Coventry-to-Coventry program can be assured that they will no doubt be literally bombarded with news. Frank Atwood of WTIC will be along, as will Jay Johnson of radio station WLLC and periodic bulletins will be broadcast. Johnson will be sending tapes back, and covering the trip as it goes.

Three local correspondents will be on the trip, and the Herald will be carrying stories and photographs as well.

Yale To Raise Tuition Fees

NEW HAVEN (AP) — Yale University will raise tuition fees in all its departments effective July 1970.

Tuition and other fees in the undergraduate department will rise from $3,000 to $3,200 for the academic year. Graduate tuition will rise from $2,300 to $2,500, and in the professional schools' tuition will be announced later, a University spokesman said.

The announcement, made last week, also indicated the increase in "continually rising prices and costs." The announcement also stated that the increase in student aid will help offset the increased tuition.

Faculty members, including John H. Garvey, Jr., and other members of the faculty, are making their first big trip from the home nest.

tain, which dominates the rice plains around Tay Ninh City. Light, scattered contact also was reported from other parts of the country as the large contingent of U. S. Marines scouted along the border.

The 2,800 men of the 8th Marine Regiment, 1st Marine Division, are part of the 25,000 Americans slated to leave South Vietnam by the end of August, said President Nixon's withdrawal order.

The U. S. Command also announced that additional elements of the 9th Infantry Division and a National Guard unit, the 650th Medical Detachment, will leave for the United States on Tuesday. The first back body of troops in the withdrawal were 814 men of the 1st Division who flew home July 4.

The sharpest fighting reported today occurred along the border near an armored troops of the 1st Infantry Division probed the lower slopes of Black Virgin Mountain.

The 1st Division men had reported killing 22 Viet Cong on Saturday when they went in to check the results of 152 strikes on enemy positions on the jungle slopes.

Artillery and fighter bombers pounded the mountainside again Sunday as the armored troops fired at areas where enemy troops were holed up in bunkers, caves and trenches.

Sgt. Peter Augustus of Houston, Mo., said the mountain was "like a rotten log." "You beat on it and the bugs come boiling out," he said. "It must be awfully noisy up there."

A search of the area late Sunday produced the bodies of 10 more enemy who had been killed by small arms fire, bringing to 16 the total claimed in two days. There were no U. S. casualties, the command said.

The command also announced the launching of another Marine sweep along the coast south of Da Nang, the first such operation in that area in two months. The headquarters sent men of the 26th Marine made a helicopter assault from aboard ship to seven miles south of the meeting on July 10, and enemy have been killed. Seven American wounded were reported.

In another delayed report the U. S. Command said U. S. 8th Division infantrymen killed 20 Viet Cong in a fight Sunday near the Plain of Reeds, along the Cambodian border 70 miles west of Saigon.

Home Ec Posts Difficult To Fill

Mrs. Grace F. Harrison of 27 Meadow Lane, State Department of Education consultant for home economics education, said the shortage of home economics teachers in the state is "far more serious than people realize."

"Hardly anyone is coming forward to apply for these jobs, and school district recruiters are having a hard time finding qualified people," she said. "In addition, schools may yet receive some resignations from home economics teachers."

Mrs. Harrison added the pool of prospective home economics teachers is getting shallower, pointing out that only 18 teachers were graduated last month by two state colleges offering home economics.

She pointed to two other factors bearing on the shortage. One is that some teachers are accepted positions in private businesses or community programs instead of in classrooms.

The other is the increase in home economics positions, partly the result of an increasing number of middle schools. The state has more than 20 such schools, and their home economics departments are among those looking for teachers.

Mrs. Harrison hopes that some certified home economics teachers, perhaps unaware of the need, will inquire about jobs that are open.

Red Cross Structure To Change

The National Red Cross is reorganizing its structure and the Connecticut Division will be one of the first to make the switch, according to an announcement from the Greater Hartford Chapter of the Red Cross.

Under the new program, which starts today Hartford will become the central office for all 27 chapters in Connecticut. All state chapters will receive services from the Greater Hartford Chapter, but financial and staff support will still come from the National organization.

Donald L. Corliss of the Hartford Chapter will have the role of chapter and division manager. He will be assisted by a staff of five.

Objectives of the new organization, the National Red Cross said, are to extend improved and up-to-date program services, to get more participation in all services given by volunteers, to move toward better personnel policies, and to establish a more contemporary structure.

Chapter chairman Roland H. Lange, who helped work out the new organizational plan, said that within two years, most of the 1,000 Red Cross chapters across the nation will be reorganized under the 100 division plan.

"Every chapter within the division will retain its present responsibility, interests and identity," Lange said.

Soccer Flareup Ignites Battle In Central America

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP)—A new undeclared war raged in Central America today as Honduras and El Salvador, with each accusing the other of aggression.

Honduran authorities charged that Salvadoran ground forces invaded Honduras Monday for two points, and that Salvadoran planes made widespread attacks on Honduran territory.

A dispatch from Guatemala, which borders both countries, said Salvadoran officials reported some 1,000 Honduran troops had crossed the border into El Salvador.

Unofficial reports said the part of San Salvador was made inaccessible during the night causing serious damage to the city, but no word on casualties.

A dispatch from San Salvador said Honduran aircraft bombed El Salvador last night, and that the planes were met by anti-aircraft fire.

Officials said 14 aerial bombs were landed in Norwalk, Conn., and 10 in Stratford, Conn., on Monday night.

Westport police chief Samuel L. Ladd, described the warrants and the subsequent arrests as "county chiefs getting together in a concerted effort to do something about the very noticeable increase in the narcotics problem."

Both Viets See Flaw In U.S. Asian Role

While North Vietnam today repeated its demands for total U.S. withdrawal from South Vietnam, leaders of the South Vietnamese criticized the U.S. for "errors" which have "prolonged" the war.

In formally rejecting a new election proposal made by South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu, the North Vietnamese delegation to the Paris Peace Talks called for total U.S. withdrawal from South Vietnam.

The rejected proposal was that all political factions in South Vietnam, including the Viet Cong National Liberation Front, join in elections under international supervision today.

Meanwhile, South Vietnam's Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky seemingly lent support to the North Vietnam position by stating today that the U.S. "must be delaying strengthening of the South Vietnam forces so that they can fight its war on its own soil."

In remarks to high-ranking officers at West Point, N.Y., today, Gen. Curtis LeMay, U.S. Air Force chief of staff, said that the U.S. could have withdrawn this year.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The controversial CIA super transport has suffered what could be its first major test failure—a wing cracked under pressure 25 per cent below the contract-specified level.

The Air Force disclosed Monday the wing cracked during ground static tests of a CIA airplane minus its assembly at the Marietta, Ga., plant of the Lockheed Georgia Co.

The impact of the break on the overall program, and why it occurred, is being assessed by the Air Force and company engineers. Completed models will continue test flights in the meantime.

The CIA-world's largest air transport—has been the focus of considerable criticism and expense because of soaring cost.

Under original plans, the Air Force intended in 1965 to buy 120 models for $1.1 billion but that has escalated by $1.5 billion, according to official estimates.

In the face of the criticism, a major Pentagon argument has been that the plane has been meeting or exceeding virtually all contract specifications.

The 300-ton jet plane is capable of carrying tanks, helicopters, trucks and troops, recently being used by the U.S. in Vietnam. It appeared to be performing highly satisfactorily.

On Sunday, however, came the wing crack.

Helpful Hints

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—First graders in Ryck Elementary School here have come up with some advice for Apollo 11 Commander Neil Armstrong that won't be found in a space agency manual.

Watch out for "moon beings." They may look like "an octopus with lots of hands" or "giants" or "not between humans and dogs." They may even want to hold hands.

A 7-year-old had one sharp insight into the mission: "The further up you go, the more it's gonna cost."

Drugs Raids Catch 51 In State

WESTPORT, Conn. (AP)—A total of 61 persons from nine Fairfield County towns were being sought today in connection with record drug investigations.

At least 28 persons had been taken into custody by noon. They were to be arraigned in local courts Wednesday.

Westport police chief Samuel L. Ladd, described the warrants and the subsequent arrests as "county chiefs getting together in a concerted effort to do something about the very noticeable increase in the narcotics problem."

'We Are Happy To Be Ready' Says Commander Armstrong

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—The Apollo 11 astronauts spent the day before their trip to the moon reviewing the mission plan as servicing of their space-ship continued flawlessly and ahead of schedule for Wednesday launch.

"We are happy to be ready to fly," said Neil A. Armstrong, the space-ship commander, 34 hours before their scheduled 9:32 a.m. EST lift-off. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins were in their capsules to begin their most ambitious exploration.

The three of us have no fear of launching on the expedition," said Armstrong, set to become earth's first messenger on the moon. "I'm sure that American ingenuity and American craftsmanship have given us the best equipment that can be made available. We are happy to be ready to fly."

Janet Armstrong, the astronaut's wife, arrived during the night to be at the Cape when Apollo 11 was launched. The other wives stayed home in Houston, Tex.

Three Excel In Geology

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—They are jet pilots, test pilots, space pilots, and engineers, even astrophysics daredevils. Some astronauts have been on the moon before, but two of the moon-bound astronauts also have won high marks as good geologists.

A prime scientific mission for astronauts Neil Armstrong and Edwin Aldrin Jr. on Apollo 11 is to bring home as much as 120 pounds of well-sorted, interlocking, significant moon rocks. What they pick could be a priceless treasure helping much about the origin and history of the moon, and perhaps the earth.

In preparation, they've been "much better than just amateur geologists," Dr. John W. Dietrich, a geologist at the Manned Spacecraft Center who helped train the pair, said in an interview.

"They won't be like someone picking up interesting or pretty rocks or shells at the seashore," he said. "They'll know what they're doing. To a geologist, a kind of rock material can have a different color, a different significance in color is what the rock is combined with. We want back a variety of different types or rocks, if they are available."

Armstrong and Aldrin have crammed in the equivalent of 150 hours of classroom instruction in geology, said Dietrich. They've made field trips to

Trainers Wait To Seal Crew And Treasure

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Apollo 11 moon expedition may have cost millions of dollars, but it's only going to take four $1 bills to prove that astronauts Edwin Aldrin, Michael Collins and Neil Armstrong actually got to the moon and back.

The National Aeronautics Administration's cameras will photograph the Apollo 11 astronauts on the surface of the moon and send the pictures back to earth.

Coverage plans of the historic flight are reaching historic proportions. During the critical phases of the moon landing, the walk on the moon, lift-off from the lunar surface and docking with the Columbia.

The lunar module is scheduled to land on the moon at approximately 8 hours of continuous coverage. ABC coverage on at 12 noon, CBS and NBC on at 11 a.m. for 30 hours.

They will be in the air continuously for at least 30 hours. Coverage of the flight will be offered tonight. Neil A. Armstrong's special is at 7:30 p.m. and CBS' at 10:15 p.m. All times are Eastern Daylight.

The Weather

Fair and warm tonight. Low in the 60s. Tomorrow mostly sunny and hot with a slight shower probability near zero through Wednesday.
