Green Beret Victim Called Double Agent

SAIGON (AP) — An American attorney charged in a petition filed with the U.S. Army today that a Vietnamese man eight Green Beret soldiers are accused of murdering was a double agent employed by the North Vietnamese army.

The attorney, George Gregory, of Cheraw, S.C., said the alleged victim was discovered to be employed by the CNC intelligence organization of the North Vietnamese Army. Gregory said he also was employed by U.S. military authorities and the Central Intelligence Agency to spy on the North Vietnamese.

Gregory told a news conference in Saigon the charges were brought against the eight Green Berets by an officer he identified only as Col. Ed V. Hendren, of the Adjutant General Staff at U.S. Army Vietnam headquarters in Long Binh, 15 miles northeast of Saigon.

Army spokesmen at Long Binh could not be reached immediately for comment.

U.S. military officials have divulged no details of the case beyond saying that the slaying occurred June 20 near the Special Forces headquarters at Nha Trang.

Gregory's statements supported earlier statements by American military sources that the man—whose body has not been found—was a North Vietnamese agent and his slaying was an assigned "military mission."

Gregory said the alleged slaying occurred on or about June 20. He contended that his client, Maj. Thomas C. Middleton Jr., 30, of Jefferson, S.C., was confined to the stockade at Long Binh July 20, a month after the killing allegedly occurred.

Gregory said that July 24 charges were brought by Hendren against Middleton and the seven others.

Gregory's petition, filed with Maj. Gen. G.L. Mabry, commander of support troops in Vietnam and the convening court-martial authority who ordered investigation of the case, called for freeing Middleton. It charged Middleton's rights were being violated by imprisonment before trial.

"I intend to take whatever steps are necessary to get him released from confinement so that he can properly assist in the preparation of his own defense," Gregory said.

Gregory, a former state senator who spent three years in the Army's legal corps, also said on Sunday that he would fight to keep the Army's blackout from extending to the trial.

"A man is entitled to a public trial," he said. "They will want to try him in a vacuum, but I am not going to let them do that."

Meanwhile, the U.S. Navy apparently gave up an almost month-long search for the body of the murdered man. The U.S. minesweeper Woodpecker docked at Cam Da, near the coastal city of Nha Trang, Sunday. The vessel's commander, Lt. Victor G. Relling of Dayton, Ohio, refused comment on the Woodpecker's mission but said it would not be resumed today.

"We didn't find the body," one of the minesweeper's crew said.

The Woodpecker and two other Navy vessels have been searching off Nha Trang since about July 14.

The eight men accused of premeditated murder and conspiracy in the mysterious case are all members of the Army's Special Forces. They include Col. Robert B. Rheault of Vineyard Haven, Mass., who commanded all Green Berets in Vietnam until the charges were brought against him last month.

Missed Boat Found?

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—A team of archeologists has found some pieces of wood that the scientists believe may have come from Noah's Ark. They plan a search for the fabled vessel next summer.

The wood, now being examined at research centers in the United States, France and Turkey, is believed to be hand-hewn timber about 4,000 years old. It was found July 31 and Aug. 2 on Mt. Ararat in eastern Turkey by a six-man expedition headed by Harry Crawford of Denver, Colo.

The archeologists believe the ark may be lying beneath a glacier at the bottom of a lake on the 17,000-foot mountain.

Devaluation Gives Dollar Ups, Downs

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — The dollar and the British pound dropped sharply in relation to the West German mark, then rallied today in the first trading on the Frankfurt money market since the French devalued their franc.

Before devaluation it took 25 cents to buy one mark. Soon after the market opened today it took 25.119 cents. But around noon the price for the mark was 25.064 cents.

Volume was not great and experts said there was no sign of speculation.

But apparently some traders felt the devaluation of the franc would weaken the dollar and thus were selling their dollars for marks. The same was true for the British pound.

Before the French devaluation one pound, officially worth $2.40, could buy 9,5730 marks. This price moved after market opening to 9.4925 marks. Then it moved back around noon to 9,5200 marks.

The opening volume was "not too big," bankers said, adding that most of the incoming dollars were immediately forwarded to the federal bank. There was no immediate indication of the amounts the federal bank was absorbing.

The pound sterling dropped from 9,5730 marks to 9.4925 in opening trading.

The French franc dropped from 80.495 pennings at Friday's close to 71.7.

Within 45 minutes of the market's opening, the Federal Bank again reduced its voluntary lower intervention level to 3,9775 marks per dollar. It left its upper level unchanged.

Bankers said the opening trading was not hectic, and within an hour both the dollar and the pound rallied slightly.

The chief money dealer of a major bank told a newsmen: "There isn't a sign of any speculative transactions right now. It seems everybody is now accepting French devaluation as a unilateral action. There's little fear of other currency parities being changed in the near future."

Police Scatter Unruly Bands In Hartford

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — About 200 youths broke up into small groups and went on a bottle-and-rock-throwing spree Sunday night in Hartford's South Green area before being scattered by police.

Four arson attempts also occurred in the area during the night.

Ten persons were arrested in the area. Police were kept on duty until 1:15 a.m. today to watch over the predominantly Puerto Rican area along the south end of Main Street. Several incidents of rocks and bottles being thrown at police cruisers were reported.

Ill feeling involving residents of the area and a motorcycle gang apparently sparked the incidents of rock throwing, police said.

A rumor had circulated through the neighborhood during the night that the motorcycle group had assaulted an elderly man Saturday night, police added.

By 8:30 p.m. Sunday a large crowd had gathered, and several fights broke out. Police were called to quiet the arguments, outside a restaurant frequented by the motorcycleists.

Nixon Sends Welfare Plan To Congress

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon sent to Congress today his proposals for a new $4 billion federal welfare program to provide a basic income for any American family unable to take care of itself.

Nixon said his new approach would end what he described as the "blatant unfairness" of the present welfare system and create a stronger incentive among the poor to work.

The message to Congress contained the proposals he outlined in a television-radio address to the nation Friday night.

It included a specific request for $600 million additional funds for child care centers to aid working mothers.

Nixon said he wants to provide child care for 400,000 children of the 150,000 current welfare recipients who will go into work training programs.

The new system he proposes, Nixon told Congress, will lessen red tape, end bitterly resented "welfare snooping" and make federal payments on the basis of certification of income, with spot checks to prevent abuses.

Nixon said he was outlining his conclusions to provide a "coherent, fresh approach to welfare, manpower training and revenue sharing."

Specific legislative proposals will be sent to Congress after the summer recess by the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, Nixon said. Nixon is calling for an end to the present welfare system and the aid to families with dependent children program, adopting in its place a new family assistance program.

It would provide minimum basic benefits of $1,000 a year for a family of four—payable to the working or nonworking poor and to families with dependent children whether headed by father or a mother.

Nixon stressed equality of treatment, a work requirement and a work incentive in the program.

He is eliminating any requirement that a household be without a father to become eligible for benefits. "That present requirement in many states has the effect of breaking up families and contributes to delinquency and violence," Nixon said.

He proposed that all employable persons who accept the welfare payments be required to register for work or job training, and that adequate and convenient day care be provided for children wherever it is necessary to enable a parent to train or work.

In 20 states, Nixon estimated, the present average benefit payments are lower than those he is proposing. And these are areas, he says, where poverty is often the most severe.

The new system would encourage work, Nixon said, by allowing a new worker to retain the first $720 of his yearly earnings without any benefit reduction.

Nixon urged Congress to begin study of these proposals promptly so that laws can be enacted and funds authorized as soon as possible.

He envisioned that "for the first time, all dependent families with children in America, regardless of where they live, would be assured of minimum standard payments based upon uniform and single eligibility standards and "would be en-

Spacemen Now Face Whirlwind on Earth

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Freed from three weeks of isolation, the Apollo 11 astronauts relaxed with their families today before plunging into a hectic round of celebrations of their historic moon-landing.

Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins sped straight to their homes Sunday night when released from quarantine quarters. Only hours before, doctors had said they could find no evidence of alien germs or infection from the astronauts' lunar contact.

A waiting world was ready to heap the pioneers with honors in the weeks ahead.

The whirlwind schedule starts Tuesday when Armstrong, Aldrin and Collins hold a news conference here to report on their daring mission.

That afternoon, a downtown Houston luncheon will be attended by nearly 700 space workers.

On Wednesday, the astronauts and their families fly to New York for a ticker tape parade and an appearance at the United Nations, followed in the afternoon by another parade in Chicago. The day winds up in Los Angeles at a gala state dinner with President Nixon as host.

On Saturday, they will be honored by a Houston parade followed by a Texas-sized party in the Astrodome.

In the weeks that follow, they'll be welcomed in many cities in the United States and will appear before Congress. There also is talk of a world tour.

The moonmen got a preview of what lies ahead when they were cheered and mobbed by about 300 space workers as they emerged from quarantine Sunday night.

All three were smiling and waving as they walked through a door that had been unsealed minutes before.

Defense Secretary Supports CBW Curb

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate voted today to put new controls on the testing, storage and transportation of chemical and biological weapons.

Pentagon critics framed the proposals, and Pentagon allies agreed to the terms after Secretary of Defense Melvin B. Laird endorsed them.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin B. Laird says the Pentagon will be able to maintain its chemical and biological warfare—CBW—program under a Senate proposal to put new curbs on testing, storage and transportation of the controversial weapons.

The proposal, drafted in conferences between sponsors of a series of CBW amendments and members of the Armed Services Committee, comes before the Senate for a vote today.

It marks another major step towards completion of Senate action on the $20 billion military procurement authorization bill, which has been debated more than a month. Most of the time has been spent on the administration's Safeguard missile defense program. Mansfield said work on the bill won't be finished by the start of the summer recess Wednesday, but he thinks it can be completed in a few days after Congress returns Sept. 3.

The composite CBW amendment was endorsed by Laird in a statement, which said it "will allow us to maintain our chemical warfare deterrent and our biological research program, both of which are essential to national security."

The CBW amendment would put rigid restrictions on the open-air testing of nerve gas. Future testing would have to have approval of both the secretary of defense and surgeon general. They would have to inform six congressional committees 30 days in advance of each test and provide details of the project.

It also would prohibit procurement of CBW delivery systems. CBW agents could not be stored outside the United States without the approval of the foreign country involved, and the secretary of state would have to report it wouldn't violate international law.

The amendment requires that the surgeon general approve all plans to transport CBW agents, that all lethal weapons be detoxified before being transported, and that the secretary of de-

A Weekend of Violence

The nation was reeling today after a weekend of violence left 15 persons dead in a series of grisly murders.

In addition, a former mental patient was charged with assault with intent to kill after he wounded five policemen and a neighbor and, in Seattle, a music concert turned into a near-holocaust when gasoline bombs, and tear gas grenades drowned out the rock 'n' roll music.

The slayings stretched from Florida to Tokyo.

The first scene of violence was in Birmingham, Ala., where a man shot to death his parents, a minister and a neighbor. The man, who police said was angered because neighbors had tried to have him evicted, then killed himself.

The Associated Press gave these accounts of the other mass slayings:

Star, Six Others Killed On Coast

Police pushed a manhunt today for a suspect in the bizarre killings of actress Sharon Tate and four others five miles from where a couple was found slain later in a similar style.

"There is a similarity, but whether it's the same suspect or a copycat we just don't know," said Police Sgt. Bryce Houchin.

At the scene of the second slayings, Inspector K. J. McCauley said, "I don't see any connection between this murder and the others. They're too widely removed; I just don't see any connection."

The man and woman were stabbed many times in their Hollywood home, Houchin said, the man's head wrapped in a sheet, the woman's in a nightgown. In the slayings at Miss Tate's home Saturday, one victim's head was covered with a cloth.

The latest victims were identified as Leno A. LaBianca, 44, reportedly owner of a small local supermarket chain, and his wife Rosemary, 38. Police said their bodies were discovered in nightclothes Sunday night by Mrs. LaBianca's son by a previous marriage, Frank Struthers, 14.

Houchin said the two were "stabbed numerous times and their throats were slit."

McCauley said the word "death" was written in an undisclosed substance on the living room wall. Other officers earlier said the words "death to pigs" were scrawled in blood on a refrigerator door.

In the earlier murder, which claimed Miss Tate's life, an autopsy showed that Miss Tate, 26, blonde wife of film director Roman Polanski, died of multiple stab wounds of the back and chest. She was eight months pregnant with a child which the autopsy showed was a boy.

Also killed were:

—Joy Sebring, 26, hair stylist and former boyfriend of Miss Tate, dead of stab wounds in the body. A rope tied around his neck was linked to Miss Tate's neck, but did not contribute to the death of either. They lay in the living room.

—Abigail Folger, 26, brunette socialite of the Folger coffee family of San Francisco. She was dead of stab wounds in the chest.

—Voytek Frykowski, 37, Polish-born producer and writer, a friend of Polanski, dead of stab wounds in the body and ex-

Man Got Even

In Tokyo, police reported today they have arrested a 27-year-old fruit dealer who they said killed a 7-year-old girl by throwing her into a blazing incinerator "to get even" with her mother for high prices at her bar.

Police identified the man as Yoshio Nakamura and said he confessed to the slaying of Ayako Goto, whose charred body was found Sunday in the incinerator in Shido, on Japan's smallest main island of Shikoku, about 400 miles southwest of Tokyo.

"I didn't intend to kill her, but she made so much noise," the police quoted the man as saying.

Belfast Authorities Uneasy over Parades

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Authorities are worried that three parades this week, two by Protestants and one by Roman Catholics, could bring fresh outbreaks of violence after the gasoline bombing of a Roman Catholic family's home Sunday.

Anne Logan, 17, was nursing her 8-month-old daughter when the bomb exploded. She and her husband, Harry, 22, fled with the baby but flames destroyed their home. Police said the bomb apparently was thrown from a passing car.

"It only takes a fanatic to throw a bomb and there will be trouble again," said Dr. Brian Glancy, a leading Roman Catholic moderate in Londonderry. He and other Catholics have met with representatives of the Apprentice Boys, a Protestant group, and agreed to try to prevent violence during a Protestant parade Tuesday in Londonderry in which 30,000 persons are expected to march.

That parade will commemorate the part Protestant appen-ances played in the defense of the town in 1689 against the besieging forces of the deposed Roman Catholic king James II. They have paraded in past years without trouble.

But parades last fall led to the civil rights group pressing for an end to discrimination against Catholics in housing, jobs and voting touched off violence when Protestant counter demonstrators came out. There have been repeated outbreaks between the two groups, the last of a week ago in Belfast when a Protestant group was parading.

Efforts to get Tuesday's parade called off have failed.

The second parade this week is on Friday, when 10,000 members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, a Roman Catholic group, plan to march in honor of the Virgin Mary at the small town of Dungannon.

Space Chairman Says:

No Rush: Mars Will Still Be There

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the House Space Committee said today the United States should not commit itself at this time to a landing on Mars.

Rep. George P. Miller, D-Calif., said a decision about a manned trip to Mars should be delayed for 5 to 10 years while new technology is developed and more experience is gained in space flight.

But that time, he said, there is a chance Russia will join the United States in making a Mars flight an international expedition.

"It is worth waiting a few years to see if this will be possible," said Miller in a speech prepared for House delivery.

Coming from the chairman of the committee that will have to authorize funds for any space program, Miller's words should carry great weight with administration planners.

His comments appear to run counter to the expressed views of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and Thomas O. Paine, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Agnew suggested shortly after the Apollo 11 launch that the next goal of the United States might be to send men to Mars by the end of the century. Paine said last Wednesday the space agency leaders were aiming for Mars as early as 1981.

Agnew and Paine are members of a task force set up by President Nixon to make recommendations about the future of the space program now that a moon landing has been achieved. They are to make a recommendation next month.

Miller said the immediate goal of the U.S. space effort should be to continue to explore the moon to gain the experience of operating a base on another heavenly body.

The United States should also move toward the establishment of a long-term space station in earth orbit to which fresh crews and supplies would be brought by low-cost shuttle rockets, Miller said.

For longer flights, he said, more money and effort should be put into unmanned exploration.

Miller said the fact the Soviet Union apparently has no plans at this time for landing on Mars eliminates the competition of a space race that had much to do with the American decision to land on the moon during this

"These are far-reaching effects," he told Congress, "they cannot be purchased cheaply, or by piecemeal efforts."

With the establishment of his "new approach" to welfare, Nixon said the nation's antipoverty agency, Office of Economic Opportunity, will concentrate on finding new ways of opening economic opportunities to those who are able to work.

"Rather than focusing on income support activities," he said, "OEO must find means of providing opportunities for individuals to contribute to the full extent of their capabilities and in developing and improving these capabilities in those who are able to work."

In a presidential statement, Nixon said the highest priority will be to combat unemployment, which he said is the "most serious problem of our time."

The statement said that the OEO will be reorganized to focus on providing training and job opportunities for the unemployed.

Marines Told To Reduce Race Tension

CAMP LEJEUNE, N.C. (AP) — A Marine Corps spokesman says the base commander had cautioned platoon leaders about racial tensions before a July parade that claimed the life of a young white Marine.

The spokesman said Sunday that Maj. Gen. Michael P. Ryan, the commander, issued his warning in a booklet titled "The Platoon Leader Handbook: The Racial Situation and Equality of Treatment and Opportunity."

Ryan distributed the booklet after receiving a report from a seven-member committee of officers, including two Negroes, commissioned by his predecessor as commander, Maj. Gen. Edwin Wheeler, now on duty in Vietnam.

The committee's report said "lack of informed, courageous leadership in dealing with racial tensions is the greatest cause of misunderstanding between the races."

On July 20, three months after the report was completed, a group of 20 Negro and Puerto Rican Marines attacked 14 white Marines after a dance.

Several Negroes, including one who was killed, were charged with murder.

The incident was the result of racial tensions that had been building up at the base.

The girl vanished from her home Jan. 29. She was allowed to stay home from school that day because she had fallen on the ice.

Mrs. Horn told police she left the girl alone when she went to work.

When she returned, she said the breezeway door was open and Debra was gone. Sandown is about 20 miles southeast of Alton.

Following her disappearance, volunteer searchers sought the girl without a trace. After the spring thaw, another search was undertaken, still with no results.

Last week, Debra's former tutor, Miss Lucilla M. Blakeden, 29, a teacher at Deerfield School in Manchester, was reported missing.

Debra's body was discovered by David Pearson, 16, Vincent Rinaldi, 17, and John Marra, 19, who were visiting a friend in the area.

They told police of "their discovery." "We first thought it was a dummy,"

Police said the owner of the car, identified as Elaine Steinhoff, told her she abandoned the 1962 Plymouth about four years ago inside 1,000 feet from his house. The wheelchair car was visible from the road.

Police planned to conduct a search for the victims clothing. When last seen, Debra was wearing a light gold jumper, a white turtleneck jersey and gold knee-length stockings.

Posh Space Crew Dinner On TV from Soup to Nuts

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Apollo 11 astronauts and 1,600 of the nation's elite will dine with President Nixon Wednesday night while millions of uninvited guests watch on television.

The entire event—from hours of pre-reception to seven-course dinner—will go on the air.

Dignitaries, entertainers and aviation pioneers began arriving today for the festivities. Many are staying at the elegant Century Plaza Hotel where the dinner will be held.

Among those invited to dine with moon voyagers Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins are aviation pioneer Charles Lindbergh, entertainers Jack Benny, singers Don Ho and Gene Autry, and all 50 governors and their wives.

"Everybody coming is a dignitary in his own right," said a White House spokesman.

Few have turned down the prized invitations to the fete. So select was the guest list that invited single persons were instructed to come without dates.

"Some friends of mine offered to work as busboys just to get in," said a hotel vice president.

The lunar exploration theme will be carried out in centerpieces, candy boxes and a special moon-shaped dessert being prepared by the hotel chef. It's a globe of vanilla ice cream coated with a thin meringue to give the impression of a moon-cape.

The program for the evening has yet to be announced.

The President is expected to toast the astronauts before dinner.

"I would imagine the astronauts will then say something," said a White House spokesman. "But it may not be a formal speech."

To keep the dinner non-partisan, Nixon has not asked political figures to speak.

What will the evening cost? White House sources aren't telling. But they say funds will come from several government sources, including the State Department, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and Nixon's own $50,000 White House entertainment allowance.

Ohio Seeks Federal Aid After Storm

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes has promised to seek federal disaster aid for the state after a weekend tornado that claimed four lives, injured 284 and caused $15 million in damage.

The governor made his pledge after touring the area Sunday. Help also was promised by City Manager Richard Krabach, who said:

"Let's forget the paperwork and even the regulations if necessary. Disasters like this have no municipal boundaries."

Mrs. Norman Taylor, 67, became the fourth victim of the storm when she died Sunday of injuries suffered when a car driven by her husband was flipped over by the Saturday night wind.

Also killed were Mrs. Carolyn DeBorje, 21, and her sons Delbert, 3, and Rodney, 3, who were pinned in the debris of their wrecked apartment in the community of Hartwell.

The tornado started its sweep of death and destruction in the north-central part of the city and howled along a zig-zag path 100 to 600 feet wide and about seven miles long.

The whirlwind sliced through Hartwell, Reading, Silverton, Deer Park, Amberley Village, Arlington Heights, Madeira and several unincorporated communities.

About 700 National Guard troops remained in the area to aid, assisting police in patrolling the stricken areas.

Memory Perpetuated

CALDWELL, N.J. (AP) — The memory of Mary Jo Kopechne, the secretary killed in an auto accident involving Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, will be perpetuated by a scholarship fund at Caldwell College for women.

A spokesman for the college said the fund has been established by a group of Boston area businessmen who were "impressed by the idealism manifested by Mary Jo."

Miss Kopechne was graduated from the college in 1962. The accident in which she was killed July 18 occurred near Chappaquiddick Island, Mass. Her parents are residents of Berkeley Heights, N.J.

Ill at Church Service

SINGAPORE (AP) — Angus Ogilvy, 44-year-old husband of Patricia Alexander of Britain, became ill during a church service Sunday.

His wife, who is a cousin of Queen Elizabeth II, said Ogilvy had an attack of stomach cramps. He left the service but the priest stayed to the end.

The couple came to Singapore for celebrations of the republic's 10th anniversary.

Pope Cautions Visitors

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (AP) — Pope Paul VI says tourists and Italians should tone down nudity at the beaches, dress more carefully and quit taking reckless chances when climbing the Alps.

At a Sunday blessing of visitors to his papal residence, the pontiff cautioned against "exaggerations such as the unbridled wearing of bikinis, which seem to have become the fashion these days."

Likes Public Life

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Are there political plans in Hubert Humphrey's future?

"I like public life and I may very well want to return to it. I have never decided," the former vice president said Sunday on the CBS program "Face the Nation."

Coventry, England Trip After a Super Trip to Scotland, A Final Farewell to Coventry

By HOLLY GANTNER
It was a smashing, super time and we had to believe that one short week ago we were in Coventry, England and getting ready for the final function of our three-week visit there, "American Guest Night," sponsored by the Caledonian (Scottish) Society. By then, most of us had returned from any trips outside the home base and were looking forward to what would be a very entertaining evening.

Eight of us, those seven American teenagers and myself who had gone on a six-day trip to Scotland, got back just in time for the Scottish evening after covering a little over 600 miles in our rented mini-bus. It was a great adventure for all of us, and the real highlight was the full day we spent in Edinburgh, a great city with a rich history and a beautiful harbor. The principal sight-seeing attraction there is an ancient castle high on a hill in the middle of the city, and we visited that first thing in the morning.

It was a foggy day and didn't lend itself at all to picture-taking of what must be some beautiful views from the top of the hill, but at the same time it was one of the best days in the trip. The weather was just what we needed for putting on such a great show of hospitality for our guests. The night after that final function was open, and that night we could see a thing or two of many of whom gave small parties for their guests. The next morning, bright and early, we had to be back at the school to load the buses for the trip to London, the airport, and the trip home. The buses were two hours late in arriving, though, which only prolonged the already painful farewells.

One stays behind in Coventry, England, and the other goes to London, the airport, and the trip home. The buses were two hours late in arriving, though, which only prolonged the already painful farewells. The flight home was smooth and we seemed to be on time. The in-flight movie was eating. Andover Old Coop Destroyed By Flames

One of the last vestiges of a bygone era in Andover panned into history Saturday morning. At 8:45 a.m. the Andover Volunteer Fire Department responded to a call to the property of Leo Nelson, Bunker Hill Rd., where a large chicken coop fire was in progress. The fire departments from Columbia and South Coventry assisted through mutual aid.

Upon arrival at the fire, firemen saw the building was all in flames and most of the roof had fallen. The immediate problem of protecting surrounding property and cooling the fire was compounded by the difficulty in obtaining water, due to the narrow road which was a considerable distance to a water source, and was soon clogged with vehicles. Nearly four thousand feet of hose was laid in order to obtain sufficient water from a stream. Although the building will be considered a total loss, parts of it were saved as well as nearby property.

Other units which responded to the fire service fashion were Engine 11, Tank 5 and Service 2 from South Coventry and Engine 7, Engine Tank 10, and Service 1 from Columbia. Those units plus Andover's Engine 12, Engine Tank 8 and Rescue 6 were able to control the fire by 9:24 a.m. but the overhaul of the area wasn't completed until 1 p.m. when the last Andover unit returned to the fire house.

They came to see which their sounds will go during "Soul'd Out," a soul concert Wednesday from 7 to 9 p.m. which will benefit the Inner City Exchange in Hartford. Miss Stewart was guide for the musicians as she is working this summer in the Municipal Building across Center St. from the park. From top to Miss Stewart, they are: David Milner, Bob Johnson, Cliff Davis, Larry Cooper and Vernon Hicks. She has been helping the concert's sponsor, the town Human Relations Commission, Alfred Perault, manager of the Sears store in the Parkade, and the Taylor Rental store on Center St., are helping equip the park's platform to include a canopy. Ex-Bishop, Married Says He's in Church

SHANNON, N.H. (AP) — James P. Shannon, former Roman Catholic auxiliary bishop of Minneapolis-St. Paul, is expected to teach his regular class today at St. John's College here. He said Sunday he would remain in the church despite his marriage, but a former colleague said the bishop automatically excommunicated him.

Shannon, 48, and his bride, the former Ruth Church Williams, 56, a Protestant who was previously married three times, returned here Saturday night, according to Richard Welgic, president of the college.

The couple was married Aug. 2 in Endicott, N.Y., by a Protestant minister, the Rochester (N.Y.) Democrat and Chronicle reported Sunday. Shannon then issued a statement to the New York Times acknowledging the marriage.

"I do not intend to leave the Catholic Church. It is my spiritual home. I love it dearly and have worked to the best of my ability as one of its priests for 23 years," he said.

But the Most Rev. Leonard P. Cowley, auxiliary bishop of the Minneapolis-St. Paul diocese, said in Minneapolis: "By marrying, he incurred excommunication, there's no need for a declaration of it."

In New York, experts in church law said Shannon's marriage violated Canon 2388 of the official code: "Clerics in major orders and all persons who presume to contract marriage with those clerics automatically incur excommunication."

Bishop Cowley said Shannon could still issue sacraments validly but that such action was against the law of the church. He said the marriage could have been legal within the church if Shannon had "received the dispensation to marry beforehand and married a person who was free to marry."

Mrs. Shannon was divorced from her third husband, who has since died.

Bishop Cowley said "I wish he hadn't done what he did because of the shock in it, but I still regard him highly as a person. A lot of Catholics are terribly shocked because they know the personal commitment he made."

Shannon, in his statement, said, "It is a source of sadness and regret for both of us now that because of our marriage it
