Kier Dullea Says: 'Artists Slightly Unsettled; Creativity Gives Balance'

By HAL BOVILE
NEW YORK (AP) — "Life is constant change," said Kier Dullea, "and this is a good thing because it means there is hope."

But he said the artists of the world can be traced to the fact that people fight or are afraid of change.

It was the desire for change and adventure that led the handsome young film star, after a year at Rutgers University, to hitchhike to the West Coast.

Returning here, he studied drama for two years, supported by his parents, who operated the Greenwich Village bookshop, Greenleaf Village.

Dullea—2 is pronounced "Doo"—is profoundly grateful for the financial help and understanding given him by his parents.

"They realized that the stage is a highly competitive business and the chance of success in it is small," he said.

He said he is concerned about things and has different feelings than I have.

Angie Brooks Lectures The UN More and more—even in the nature of its occasional lectures to itself and in the way it reacts to such lectures—the United Nations seems almost fatally determined to slip into the disaster which overcame its much weaker predecessor.

The tragedy is that it has such stuff of actual accomplishment in its record —Korea, the Near East, the Congo, Cyprus—as the League of Nations never could boast.

That once magnificent record is, however, in the past.

The current situation was summed up, dramatically, in the remarks of Miss Angie Brooks, delegate from Liberia, on the occasion of her election as President of the 24th General Assembly the other day.

The General Assembly, once the source and scene of strong UN action, has recently shown, in her President declared, "the opposite of dynamism." One way or another, "individually or by default," it had "either adrifted or ignored" the major problems before it and had thus contributed to "the gradual decline of the United Nations in the eyes of public opinion."

President Brooks warned the delegates against falling into the easy "debation that we are doing our best and that the world perists in misjudging us."

The United Nations, she reminded them, "could and should remain the best means of international cooperation that has been at mankind's disposal since the beginning of its history, and we have to nurse and cherish and cultivate it—or else we shall one day perish and not even the moon or the knowledge of space will save us."

All of us can nod our heads in unison with the truth of all this, and in acceptance of the validity of the warning it issues. But all of us can likewise, it seems, nod our heads in silent and faithful acceptance of our own inability, and the inability of anyone else, including anyone's government anywhere, to do anything to reverse the trend.

The failure of the League was World War II. The notice of the beginning of League failure came in Manchuria in 1931 and in Ethiopia in 1935.

The notice of incipient failure for the United Nations is being given, in our time, by its inability to get itself jurisdiction over a war being fought in Vietnam and its inability to do anything untried or significant of compelling with the entry it does possess into the situation in the Near East.

For this paralysis of the United Nations in the hour when it most needs to be functioning with increased muscle and prestige, the very nations which led in the founding of the organization are primarily responsible.

But there is not the slightest reason why they, or anyone else, should ever try to calculate that the price for the failure of the United Nations would not be the same as that the world paid for the failure of the League of Nations.

There is urgency in the oratory of the small nations, as they sense the nature of the world moment.

But what is needed is urgency in the actions of the big powers—their ability should hasten, for their own survival, to abandon their addiction to do-it-yourself security and submit themselves to the jurisdiction, the superior law, and the safety which only the UN can provide.

That Groovy Armstrong
 All those people under 20 who somehow manage, with their own superior sense of what is really important, to include an indifference to the existence of astronauts among the oddities of their own outlook should have taken the time to hear Astronaut Neil Armstrong before Congress.

For in the central portion of his remarks, Astronaut Armstrong seemed to be almost as much in the groove as if he had gone to Woodstock instead of to the Moon.

We refer to his zodiacal discourse.
 Astronaut Armstrong, noting the date of the moon landing as 1969, went on to say that

"Those nineteen hundred and sixty-nine years had constituted the majority of the Age of Pisces—a twelfth of the great year that is measured by the thousand generations the procession of the earth's axis requires to scribe a giant circle in the heavens."

"In the next twenty centuries," Astronaut Armstrong continued, "the Age of Aquarius, of the great year, the age for which our young people have such high hopes, humanity may begin to understand its most baffling mystery—where are we going? The earth is, in fact, traveling many thousands of miles per hour in the direction of the constellation Hercules—to some unknown destination in the cosmos. Man must understand his universe in order to understand his destiny."

"Mystery, however, is a very necessary ingredient in our lives." Perhaps it is something of a mystery how close Astronaut Armstrong and the younger generation are ever going to come in their understanding of what makes an Age of Aquarius, or what it ought to be made, in the annals of mankind.

But it is at least on the record that Armstrong, the man of Apollo, talking to his fellow journeyers toward the constellation of Mercury, was able to talk as if he knew the difference between Pisces and Aquarius.

Truck Arithmetic
 The State Traffic Commission is meeting during the week ahead to weigh the epidemic of accidents on Connecticut autohighways and to consider possible reduction in speed limits for trucks.

We can anticipate all of the usual claims from the people who don't want to have anything changed at all on our highways.

But simple arithmetic demonstrates why any cutback in the speed at which trucks travel should be an addition to highway safety.

The average automobile is under 20 feet long and weighs about 4,000 pounds.
 If the average automobile is braked hard at

55 miles per hour it takes 272 feet to stop it.
 60 miles per hour it takes 372 feet to stop it—or the full length of a football field, at

 stop, and at 70 miles per hour it can't be stopped in less than 742 feet.

The trucks on Connecticut highways are often more than 50 feet long and they may have a gross weight of 70,000 pounds or more.

On this basis alone the logic of a lower speed limit for trucks—a limit at least 10 miles below the top speed for passenger cars—is obvious.

Truckers say that they speed to "make time." But making time means danger on the highway, and the moments gained are trivial if they lead to an accident.

The Connecticut Turnpike is 129 miles long. Interstate Highway 91 between New Haven and the Massachusetts border is about 70 miles long. A truck traveling the Connecticut Turnpike at 60 miles per hour can make the run, tolls and all, in an hour and 45 minutes.
 At 50 miles per hour the same truck would take only two hours to make its trip.

On 191 the story is the same. A 50 mile per hour speed limit for trucks—a control which could completely change the nature of the present dangerous, nerve-wracking, accident-breeding competitive scramble between cars and trucks—would make only about 10 minutes difference in truck schedules.

There is no economic factor that justifies the reckless use of 10 or 15 minutes on a public highway.

As to the claim that slower trucks and faster-moving passenger cars create a higher likelihood of accidents, there is a one-word answer to that.
 Balaony.

Trucks moving at safe truck speeds on the inner lanes of superhighways cannot cause more accidents by themselves.
 And they do not force automobile drivers into the bed of attitude or the kind of action which is so constantly observable today on roads where the trucks and buses are free-wheeling, tail-gating and weaving restlessly through a rising volume of passenger traffic.

We're not against trucks or the totally essential trucking industry. We're not down on truck drivers—who handle a tough job very well.

But we're against high truck speeds on major highways. We are sure that most of the people of Connecticut are also against high truck speeds.

President Nixon would seem to be a major beneficiary of this rebellion.
 In 1968, those voters split 57 per cent for Mr. Nixon, 21 per cent Hubert Humphrey, 12 per cent George Wallace. Asked about a rematch, they were 48 per cent Nixon, 30 per cent

PITTSBURGH — On Pitts-

 And they do not force automobile driv-
 able today on roads where the trucks
 and buses are free-wheeling, tail-gating
 and weaving restlessly through a rising volume of passenger traffic.

 tough job very well.

 on major highways. We are sure that
 most of the people of Connecticut are
 also against high truck speeds.

 major beneficiary of this rebellion.
 In 1968, those voters split 57 per cent for Mr. Nixon,

Connecticut Yankee
 By A.B.O.

The current big story in Connecticut politics continues to be that of the relationship between the legislative and executive branches. The latest curious twist in this relationship finds the state which has been famous for a strong legislature and a weak government tradition suddenly confronted with the claim of the legislature that it has been the weak and neglected branch all along.

But although this is the particular tangle between branches which is most in the headlines, it is not the only one of confusion or difficulty about the lines which, in pure theory, would separate the branches of government one from the other.

The other day Governor John Dempsey, making it quite clear that neither he nor any other non-judicial official had the authority to rule judges how to conduct their judging, nevertheless announced that he was summing up the state of the Connecticut court system to meet with officials of the Greater Hartford Chamber of Commerce—which is not even a governmental body of any government could not be held her's request that state officials let Circuit Court judges to get caught with rioters and looters in civil disturbances.

In addition to promising to give representatives of such a non-official organization a chance to talk to the judicial branch of government about justice, Governor Dempsey himself delivered a sort of unofficial opinion which more or less offered itself as a guide for the opinions and decisions of the state court system.

Representatives who took, riot and commit arson during civil disturbances," the Governor was quoted, "in an effort to be full force of the laws which are on the books to protect all society and preserve the peace."

"I am confident that the courts of our state will treat such persons with proper severity and firmness."

In such action, and in such remarks, the head of the state's executive branch had everything except one thing wrong with him. He had obvious widespread public approval of the action and his party's most formidable candidate for local office here since the early 1930s.

Man Cleared After Crime

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Frank Sawyer who was serving a 20 to 100-year sentence for a bank robbery he said he didn't commit, was pardoned yesterday by Gov. Dock Dickey.

The pardon came after an investigation by the Kansas Board of Probation and Parole after Alvin Karpis, one-time Public Enemy No. 1, and a member of the old Ma Barker gang said he and a group, which Sawyer was not a member, robbed the bank.

Karpis, now in Montreal, Canada, made his statement after leaving the motor car which he paroled from a prison sentence on other charges.

Gov. Dickey said today that papers for Sawyer's release are being sent to the state prison at Lansing. He was to be freed as soon as the papers can be proceeded.

Sawyer was convicted of the Fort Scott bank robbery June 17, 1932. He and three other men were arrested in Nevada, Mo., just across the state line from Fort Scott, the date of the robbery. Sawyer denied being in the robbery of a Rich Hill, Mo., bank when they were arrested in the motor car.

The following year he was arrested from the state penitentiary at Lansing. He was arrested there in Oklahoma and confined there on a murder conviction. He was turned over to Kansas in 1930 to resume serving time on the Fort Scott sentence.

Robert O'Neil, the governor's pardon attorney, recommended the pardon as did Frank O'Brian of Fort Scott, the man who prosecuted Sawyer. He said that he now believes Sawyer did not participate in the robbery.

The Soviet news agency Tass said they discussed party activities and pledged efforts to "develop the fraternal relations" between their organizations.

Water Storage High
 HARTFORD (AP) — The U.S. servoir storage in the Northeast is well above normal for September.

A period of unsettled weather from Sept. 8 to 9 brought eastern showers to the New England and New York areas, the center said Tuesday. Ten hundred to 200 million gallons of rain fell in the Northeast, including New England, including most of Maine.

Avery-Daley

Miss Judith Daley of East Hartford became the bride of Staff Sgt. Edward C. Avery of Elgin AFB, Fla., formerly of Manchester, Saturday morning, Sept. 6, at St. Mary's Church, East Hartford.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Mildred Daley of East Hartford and the late James Daley. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Avery of 100 Lydell St.

The Rev. John B. Conley of St. Mary's Church performed the double-ring ceremony and was celebrant at the nuptial Mass. Bouquets of pompano and gladioli were on the altar.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, John McLaughlin of Manchester. She wore a full-length A-line gown of silk organza over tulle with a detachable train.

Bridesmaids were Miss Maureen Daley of East Hartford and Mrs. George Wagner of Hazardville, sister of the bride, and Miss Barbara Avery of Manchester, sister of the bridegroom.

MRS. EDWARD C. AVERY

Scheduled for November is a short play put on by the Podium Players and a make-up demonstration by a professional make-up artist. December's program will be scenes from "Mame" by the Podium Players and "Christmas Cheer" with audience participation.

For January, the Players will present "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf" and February's program will be parts of "Spoon River Anthology" and talks on production ends, such as light, costumes and scenery.

Scheduled for March is a short play and a panel discussion with audience participation, and for April, a musical, "Kiss Me Kate" and "Mame" are being considered.

Then for the final meeting in May, there will be a buffet supper and entertainment by special guest stars, including discussion of ideas of the audience and members for the coming season.

The Podium Players is a non-profit organization which has used its profits for the improvement of Rham High School Little Theatre.

Among other things they have furnished an organ, an electric light tower for the theatre and each year give an award to the outstanding senior member of the Trigon Players in memory of one of their members, Laura Osborn.

Podium Players Will Meet On Saturday To Plan Year

The annual meeting of the Podium Players will be held at the home of John Sibon, East St., on Saturday evening at 8:30. This is one of the two times during the year when new members may join the organization.

The agenda for the meeting includes membership sign-up, changes in the bylaws, adoption of funds, election of a Board of Directors for the 1969-70 year and discussion of the proposed monthly "Evening of the Arts" program.

The arts program has been temporarily set up by Sibon, and each month different directors will be in charge of the program which will be open to the public at no admission charge.

Tentative programs, which will probably be on the third Friday of the month, will include for October, Arthur Norman and Fay Gano presenting short plays and a theatre discussion.

Hanoi Calls For Complete Withdrawal

Recalling Nixon's election promise to end the war, Lauder said: "Eight months have elapsed since Mr. Nixon officially stepped into the White House. People in the United States and elsewhere wonder what he has done to bring an end to the U.S. war of aggression in Vietnam."

Speaking with the zealousness of a 20-year-old, the 65-year-old retired doctor denounced the Vietnam war, saying, "It is a total and complete waste of money and lives. It is a total and complete waste of the American people's money and lives."

Dr. Spock also criticized President Nixon when he said, "I don't think Nixon has the slightest intention of ending the war. He is only trying to keep it going for his own political gain."

Dr. Spock delivered his talk at the Jorgensen Auditorium, where he was the guest of honor. He was accompanied by his wife, Mary, and their children.

Willie Pep, former world featherweight champion, was in the town last Tuesday night with a talk on boxing and films of his title bouts with Sandy Saddler. . . Season Sportsman's show will be staged at the Hartford Armory Oct. 4. At all three centers, East Side, West Side and Community Y, basketball umpires look in the present elementary school gymnasium. . . Men's basketball is scheduled to get underway Nov. 1 at Hing Hing Hall, 100 Elm St. Mel Ribicko, 10 on the lookout for help in running the Hoop System. . . Andy Robinson, who also represented the United States in the Olympic Games. . . Here's one vote for Rico Petroselli as the most valuable player with the Boston Red Sox this season. . . Frank Robinson of Baltimore gets the nod as the American League's MVP while Tommie Agee of the New York Mets is the National League's MVP. . . Frank Soltes at the University of Connecticut rises a salute for the upgrade of the Connecticut Press Guide, plus thoughtful notes in distributing DCAAC Press Guides and college sports information Directors Handbook to members of the fourth state. . . Golf Pro Alex Hachen at the Manchester Country Club finished in a tie with Henry Bontempo for fifth place in the recent Connecticut PGA Seniors tournament at the Twin Hills Country Club in Longmeadow. Hackney has a 27-hole score of 107. . . Ed Sarna, named the most valuable player with the Southwestern American Legion baseball team, is set to sign a contract with the Pittsburgh Pirates. He's currently enrolled at Manchester Community College, a pitch-outfielder, resides in Hazard.

Ryan and Lombardi In Comeback Tries

NEW YORK (AP)—Vince Lombardi and Fran Ryan, a coach and a quarterback already etched in the record books, each will attempt comebacks with Washington as the Redskins open their National Football League season against New Orleans Sunday.

For Lombardi it will be his first regular season game as Redskins coach after a leg injury that kept him out of the line until Wednesday. Ryan, who was benched last year after losing two of his first three games, will return to the field as quarterback. Ryan and Lombardi were teammates on the Cleveland Browns, the Redskins' coach and Ryan's coach.
