Red China In U.N. Bid

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Communist China again was given no chance of getting seated in the United Nations at the General Assembly prepared to open its annual debate on the issue today.

Although the United States was expected to be successful once more in its fight to bar the Peking regime, diplomats believed that Italy and probably Belgium might abandon the Western bloc and abstain in the vote expected Friday.

Cambodian Ambassador Huot Sambath was to start the debate by introducing a resolution sponsored by 17 Communist and nonaligned nations. It calls for recognition of Peking's representatives "as the only lawful representatives of China to the United Nations" and the expulsion from the world organization of the representatives of President Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government in Formosa.

Chinese Nationalist Foreign Minister Wei Tuo-ning was second on the speakers' list with a defense of his government's claim that it is the rightful spokesman for all Chinese, on the mainland as well as on Formosa.

Although Peking was not expected to get even a simple majority in the vote on the Cambodian resolution, the United States and 14 of its allies planned to introduce a resolution reaffirming five previous assembly decisions that a change in China's representation is a substantive issue requiring a two-thirds majority.

Diplomats expected that it would pass by the same vote as last year—79-47, with several abstentions—of 74 if the new leftist government of Libya moved from the yes column to those abstaining.

Some figured that the vote against the Peking seating resolution might also be the same as last year—86-44—on the theory that Italy and Belgium would switch from no to abstention while Equatorial Guinea and Senegal would switch from abstention to no.

$200 Billion: Nixon Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's first budget, due to reach Congress in January, will top $200 billion despite a general order to agencies calling for stringent cost-cutting.

There are indications that outlays in fiscal 1971 will be roughly $10 billion higher than the $19.8-billion spending target of this fiscal year, which ends next June 30.

A high administration source reported Monday that the 1971 surplus—if there is one—probably will be considerably smaller than the $3.8-billion black-ink margin forecast for this government year.

"There is a question whether we can balance the budget—whether there will be any surplus at all—unless there are real developments in Vietnam (reducing military costs)," this official said privately. It was made clear, however, that Nixon wants and expects to deliver a surplus in the first federal budget which is his sole responsibility.

The White House fully expects the Pentagon to hold defense spending below the $77 billion now projected for this year, the source said.

That figure is $4.1 billion below the Defense Department budget bequeathed to Nixon by former President Lyndon B. Johnson. Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird twice has announced cutbacks and spending stretchouts to lower the fiscal 1970 total.

But an anticipated 10 per cent increase in Social Security benefits—a Nixon proposal not yet enacted but highly popular in Congress—would add $3 billion to outlays in the next fiscal year. Medicare, Medicaid and other uncontrollable social and welfare costs will bring total increases in this field to $6 billion or $8 billion, by current rough estimates.

The scheduled buildup of housing and other domestic programs, plus the rising cost of interest on the federal debt, will push the budget beyond the $200 billion mark even if no new or expanded programs are approved, the official said.

Possible savings gained by reduced U.S. outlays in Vietnam may help ease the difficulty of having the spending total go too far above $200 billion, he added. (See Page Thirty-One)

Cyclamate Ban Ridiculed

By ALFRED FRIENDLY
The Washington Post

LONDON — In a mordantly sarcastic editorial, the authoritative magazine Nature ridiculed this week the recent British ban on cyclamates and, by implication, the similar American prohibition a week earlier.

Referring to the "farcical progress" of the cyclamate "bandwagon," the science journal wrote that "it is hard to say whether scientific advisors or the politicians who manipulated them look the more ridiculous."

"The truth is that cyclamates have been banned because they are easy to ban, and the new evidence provides the stenderest possible scientific plank on which it is feasible for politicians to stand and claim easy credit for a blow against pollution."

The magazine argues that the evidence for the artificial sweeteners inducing cancer "was about as solid as candy-floss": They caused no discernible harm to humans during 15 years use in the United States and five here except for a rare skin sensitivity.

The doses given to experimental rats, it continued, were so massive that the wonder would have been had they not developed tumors. Moreover, the rats were given a mixed daily diet of cyclamates and saccharin, so it was impossible to tell if the tumors resulted from one or the other or from a synergism combined reinforcing action—between the two.

British government officials who followed the American lead in banning the chemical acted on "McPherson's rule." Nature said. It is an ancient tenet of Scottish law that when two men, one a known drunkard, have been drinking and the other starts a fight, it is always the drunkard who gets the blame. Since there has been no evidence of saccharin causing bladder tumors, it was decided that cyclamates were the villains.

The banning here was entirely in response to public clamor and excitement about the American action, and politicians yielding to it, the magazine implied.

Once it was ordered, "a grateful public could sink back, probably soothe itself with a well-earned cigarette confident in the knowledge that its political and scientific guardians would leave no stone unturned to protect the nation's health, save any such as might be inconveniently heavy to uproot."

FBI Criticized In Hijack Case

ROME (AP) — Italian authorities questioned hijacker Raphael Minichiello again today in his isolation cell as the FBI came under attack from the crew of the commandeered Trans World Airlines jet.

The pilot, Capt. Donald J. Cook of New York, charged that FBI men in New York ignored his instructions to keep away from the plane when it made a refueling stop at Kennedy Airport. He said this upset the 29-year-old hijacker and he fired a shot into the roof of the cockpit.

Cook said he had radioed Kennedy that the plane must be taken to an "isolated area to be refueled as rapidly as possible." Instead, he said, a crowd met the plane and "the hijacker became agitated and began running up and down the aisle."

"I shouted for them (the FBI) to get away, but they didn't move," Cook said. "They told me 'We'll move the plane when we get good and ready.' The whole thing was blown by FBI." Later, on his arrival in the United States, Cook softened his criticism, saying, "They didn't do it intentionally."

The FBI in New York declined comment on Cook's accusation. But an assistant district attorney who worked with the FBI, Albert T. Taub, said Cook's criticism was irresponsible and that the pilot was portraying himself as "the sole hero of the escape."

Cook and the other three crew members—first officer Wenzell Williams of Shallowater, Tex.; engineer Lloyd Halloran of St. Charles, Mo.; and hostess Tracy Coleman of Cincinnati, Ohio—returned to the United States Sunday. (See Page Twelve)

S. Windsor Case

Woman Jailed for Murder Of Her Mother Flees Jail

NIANTIC, Conn. (AP) — A young woman convicted of manslaughter in one of Connecticut's most publicized slaying cases escaped from the women's Correctional Institution in Niantic early today.

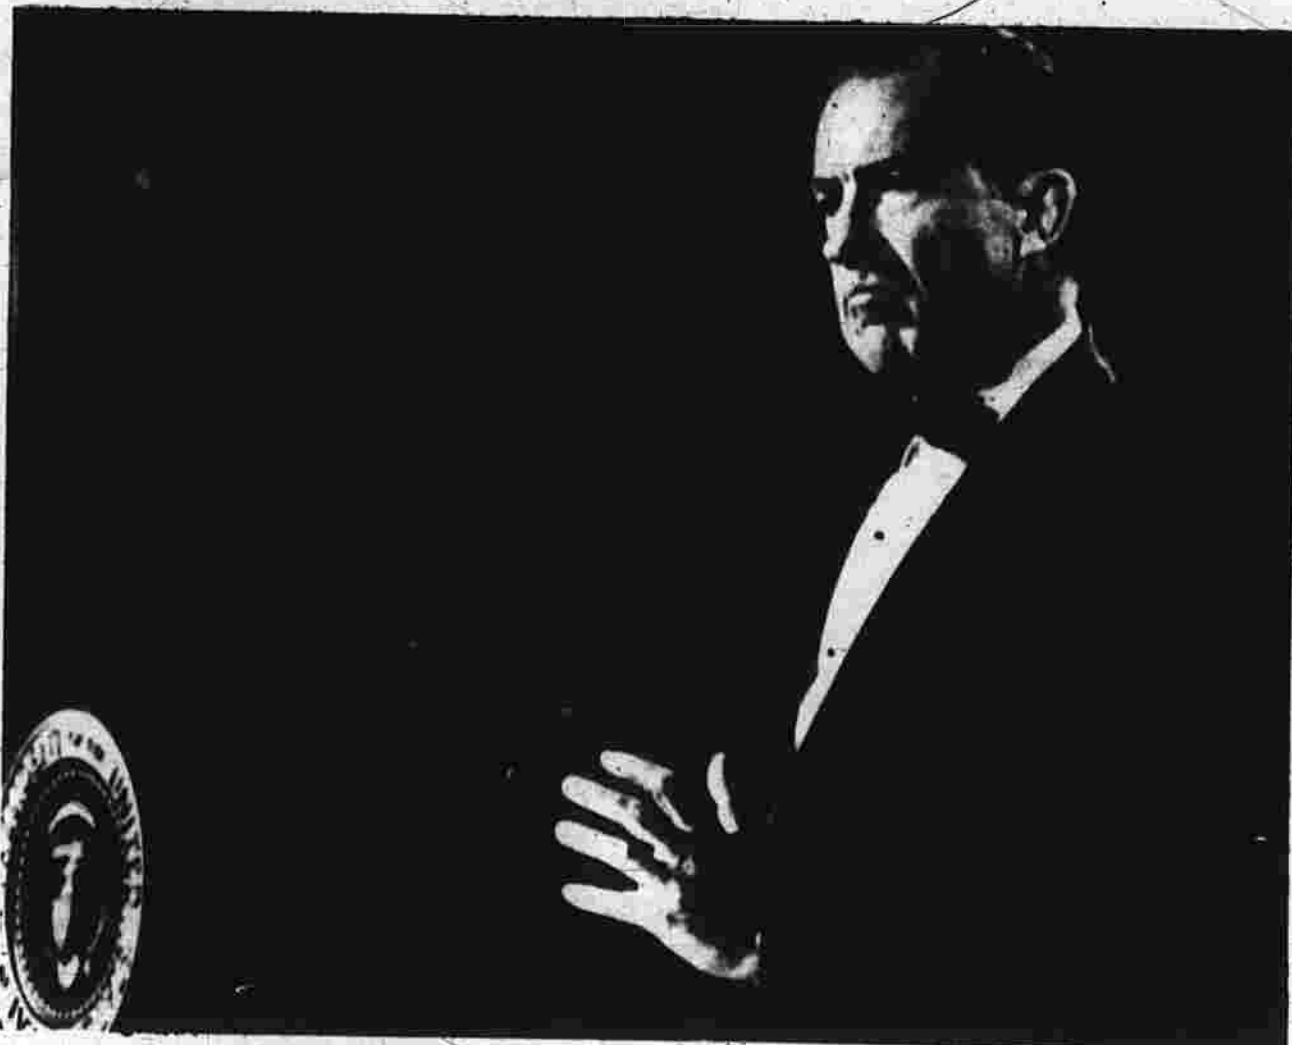

Elizabeth Ann Sharkevich, 22, of South Windsor, was last seen about midnight and was reported missing after a 7 a.m. check of prisoners.

Officials also said a car was missing from the Betsy Rose Cottage at the institution, formerly called the state farm for women. The keys to the car had been kept in the staff members' quarters of the cottage.

Miss Sharkevich was convicted at the age of 17 in the slaying of her mother. She and Darryl Dean of Middletown, who was indicted on first-degree murder charges, Dean is now serving a life term on a murder conviction.

Miss Sharkevich was given a 10-to-15-year prison term on the manslaughter charge, and the (See Page Thirty-One)

Units Back Nixon on Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Groups saying they speak for the nation's "silent majority" are emerging in an effort to counter a second round of massive antiwar protests planned this month against President Nixon's Vietnam policy.

Encouraged by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's increasingly harsh attacks on the antiwar movement, organizations from California to small towns in New York have joined in efforts to show that most Americans back the President's course.

Mid-November's scheduled antiwar demonstrations will be preceded by such pro-Nixon events as a veterans-inspired "Freedom Rally" in Washington Nov. 11 and a "National Confidence Week" beginning Nov. 10. And President Nixon, whose efforts to end the war are at is-use, speaks to the nation tonight in a review of the Vietnam situation some say is designed to take the initiative from his critics' detractors.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, a key Nixon confidant, added Sunday he feels even stronger about the disidents than Agnew, who had characterized them as "an effete corps of impudent snobs." The leaders of the antiwar demonstrations, Mitchell said, are "more than snobs, they are active militants who want to destroy some of the processes and institutions of our government."

Mitchell was interviewed on the NBC radio and television program "Meet the Press." The Nov. 11 Freedom Rally is jointly sponsored by the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars. It includes a gathering at the Washington Monument following Veterans Day ceremonies at Arlington National Cemetery.

The New Mobilization Committee predicts a turnout for its Nov. 15 grand finale in Washington of more than a quarter of a million people.

The Moratorium Committee, the force behind last month's Moratorium Day movement, is concentrating on a two-day series of grass-roots demonstrations and seminars across the country.

Agnew restated his criticism of the antiwar leaders with a new blast during a Republican fund raising dinner in Harrisburg, Pa., last week.

"Freedom of protest is being exploited by avowed anarchists and Communists," he said, and said the country could "afford to separate them from our society with no more regret than we should feel over discarding

'Kate' Gave GIs 'Religion'

By HORST FAAS and PETER ARNETT

BU FRANQ, Vietnam (AP) — When the order came to abandon Fire Base Kate, the American artillerymen raced from their bunkers, clawed through their own razor-sharp barbed wire and ran down the steep slopes.

Running with them through the night were scores of Montagnard or mountain-tribe soldiers shrieking guidance to each other like jungle parrots.

A hundred yards behind, North Vietnamese sappers were blowing their way up the hill and into the emptying camp. Fire Base Kate had died when its big artillery pieces were destroyed in a four-day enemy onslaught that beat like a drum on the tiny hilltop outpost.

It was suddenly evident that the North Vietnamese intended to choke Kate off completely. The defenders were aware of the risk of a night breakout. But they had no choice.

Leading the desperate legion of Americans and Montagnards was a boyish-faced 21-year-old Green Beret captain cast by circumstance into the dramatic role. He was William L. Albracht, from Rock Island, Ill., sent four days earlier to command the security force at Kate when a fellow Green Beret officer went on leave.

"If you were not religious when you started that night you were when you got out," Albracht recalled with a tight smile today.

It was an ill-prepared military move because the North Vietnamese onslaught gave no opportunity to get ready. Their guns buried in the hills of Cambodia began hitting Kate on Thursday with bulletise accuracy.

The U.S. artillerymen at what was described as moderate casualties.

By the third day of the onslaught every man was perishing. The other until all five were neatly underground, huddling in one. In addition, out of the 27-sappers hacked into the hard Americans on the guns, two red clay of the hill. Everything were killed and 17 wounded. The most of whom could not be evacuated by helicopter. The 200-man Montagnard force whose job it was to protect the American artillery base took

Helicopters darted in with supplies but they did not land, tossing out the bundles to the men who scurried out of their holes to drag them inside.

Describing the last hours, Albracht said: "At 3 or 4 o'clock on Saturday afternoon we began taking airburst artillery, including fiery white phosphorus. It shook the hell out of the whole place."

"We knew then we had to get out. That is why I requested it in so uncertain terms," Albracht declared.

"If we had used helicopters, and they were shot down, we would have had to walk out anyway. So I guess that's why we were told to go the way we did. And night is the best time for E and E—escape and evasion."

Two factors were uppermost in Albracht's mind. He had to leave without the North Vietnamese knowing, and before they closed a ring around the camp.

A major problem faced in the camp was battered American morale, particularly battleshock when men lay in bunkers gripped by uncontrollable fear or even babbling incoherently about inevitable death.

"Battleshock is a bad thing," Albracht said. "You can't blame the individual. I kept telling the shells, 'We're gonna get outa here' and I kept trying to believe it myself."

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon takes his Vietnam case to the nation tonight amid fresh speculation over the possibility of a sizeable step-up in U.S. troop withdrawals.

In advance of Nixon's much-heralded 9:30 p.m. EST radio-TV address, House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan said "It is perfectly possible that all American combat forces can be withdrawn from Vietnam by July 1, 1970."

In Saigon, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky was quoted as saying that "next year" the (South Vietnamese) armed forces will be able to replace about 180,000 U.S. soldiers.

Ky predicted "nothing new" out of Nixon's speech while Ford, addressing a Phoenix, Ariz., group, declined to speculate further on it. Nixon so far has announced troop pullbacks totaling about 60,000 by Dec. 15, a 10,000-a-month withdrawal which would reduce the U.S. strength figure in Vietnam to 484,000.

The President himself maintained tight silence about the forthcoming speech and prolonged his weekend stay in seclusion at his fog-shrouded Camp David, Md., mountain retreat while working on it.

Originally slated to return to the White House Sunday, Nixon put off his helicopter flight back to Washington until today.

The original White House announcement of the speech just before the Oct. 15 Vietnam Moratorium protests, its timing to-night on election eve and approximately one year after the Nov. 1, 1968, halt to the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam, and the secrecy surrounding its preparation have led to wide speculation that a new Nixon move on Vietnam is in the offing.

"Great hopes and expectations are riding on this speech," Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said during the weekend. "I'm just living on a hope and a prayer that he will offer the American people and the Congress some light at the end of the tunnel."

Assassination Risk Rising

WASHINGTON (AP) — "An escalating risk of assassination" exists in America today for other public figures and lower elected leaders as well as the president, the National Commission on Violence says.

"In comparison to the other nations of the world, the level of assassination in the United States is high," the commission said in one of two weekend reports, and public figures in and out of office should be afforded greater government protection.

The commission, in the second report, warned that a "mosaic of discontent" pervades the nation's system of criminal justice, making control of violent crime a campaign with "no real hope for success" unless radically changed and adequately funded.

Dr. Milton Eisenhower heads the commission, which was named by former President Lyndon B. Johnson after the June 1968 assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Without drawing a parallel, the commission pointed in both reports to increasing discontent with—and agitation against—what a significant proportion of the population feels are unresponsive institutions in society and government.

Among the causes of discontent are "police lawlessness, degrading prison conditions and other deficiencies" in criminal justice, as well as the "seeming inability of the poor to fight back against exploitation, the commission said.

Making a distinction between nonconspiratorial assassinations—such as the murders of President John F. Kennedy and his brother Robert F. Kennedy by lone malcontents—and "political" assassinations in which an organized group uses murder to accomplish political ends, the commission said.

"Political violence in the United States today is probably more intense than it has been since the turn of the century. If civil strife continues to become

"THE WAY I HEARD IT"

by John Gruber

As you know, I haven't received recordings for years, but I recently received an advertisement of a recorded opera that I'm sure you should know about since it is so unusual. It is Montezza's "L'Amore del re," or "The Love of Three Kings."

It has never been recorded before, which makes it unique, and it is of particular interest to people around here since, with the exception of the soprano, every last principal has been heard here in Hartford, so you will have personal recollections of them.

Moreover, it is technically sung with a new toward-harmonized ensemble instead of stars who simply pursue their own virtuosity in performance. On top of all this the dictation throughout is so excellent that you could use these discs to letter substitute than any of the recorded language-course records I have encountered. In this regard it is superb!

No, I haven't told you yet who is in it. I'm sure that you all feel the composer was the most important one, and I've told you who he was. I'll get to the singers in due time. First let's get to the opera and its history.

It received its premiere at La Scala, with Toscanini conducting, in 1913 and has been produced at least three times at New York's Met. The last time, however, was twenty years ago. It will be produced this season at Pittsburgh, with the same cast of principals as on these discs.

But it has never caught on for some reason. It does not have set pieces strung together with a thread of plot, so the Italian don't like it. Its melodic phrases, words, as in Wagner, but the harmonies are beholden to Cesar Franck, so the Germans don't like it.

Perhaps as it becomes better known through this recording, Americans will finally take it up. I've only heard it once and it wasn't until I had the opportunity to listen to it several times on disc, that I came to realize how fine a work it really is. When such a trumpeted opera as "L'Amore" can be revived for a soprano who could even sing it, it is shameful that she has only worked a few times when Arlino is back and distract her. They have a past romantic love which is overruled by Archibaldo. Now certain she is unfaithful, she grasps Florio and strangles her, but because of his blindness he cannot recognize her lover who gets away.

With the waving stopped, Manfredo returns feathery, thinking Florio may have fallen from the battlements. She's dead, all right, but slain by her father who offers to commit suicide. The act ends in a series of horrors as Archibaldo holds the corpse on his shoulder and in lead off in his blindness by Manfredo.

In the final act, Florio is lying in state on a casket with a candle at his head and all the principal characters have departed. Arlino kneels in and kisses the corpse. But Archibaldo has poisoned her lips, to trap the unknown lover. He knows who certainly return.

Unfortunately, Manfredo also returns and kisses his dead wife's lips, so when Archibaldo appears on the scene, his son, his daughter-in-law, and her lover are all dead upon the stage. He has been blind indeed.

This tragedy, by Sam Benelli, is terse and inevitable. It contributes mightily to the opera, moreover it has some beautiful language in the Italian. The music is lovely and the music vividly recreates the text with lush harmony and magnificent orchestration. Richard Karp, who will produce the opera in Pittsburgh, is conductor and director, a sensitive and understanding job with the score. Surfaces are excellent.

The Three Kings (really three men) are Archibaldo, Manfredo, and Arlino; the time is the 16th century, and the place is a remote castle in Italy which has been conquered years before by the barbarian invader Archibaldo, now old and blind. He leads the bass, sung to great effect by Enzo Flagello, one of the finest in the business.

The king, or harpage, is now being administered by Manfredo, Archibaldo's son, who is now besieging another castle when the curtain rises. To keep the local scenery at least a trifle, the king is at least a local noblewoman, who was supposed to have been affianced to Arlino before the conquest. It is Manfredo who is sung by Enzo Flagello, handsome and very capable baritone, will carry it well, as several occasions, each time to better advantage. He does the best on this recording, that he's got to be in it, including, by, he'll be back here Feb. 21 in "Barber."

Florio is sung by Luis Malaga, who displays a lovely warm and human voice of excellent accuracy and fine breath control. I hope we get her here soon.

Tollard Democrats Outstrip GOP, But Unaffiliated Hold Key

Although unaffiliated voters still outnumber those registered with either political party, the balance of power between the Democrats and Republicans has shifted, with the Democrats now outstripping the Republicans for the first time.

A total of 3,101 voters are eligible to cast ballots in tomorrow's local elections, a 250-vote increase over the registration figures of the high local election two years ago.

Unaffiliated voters gained 154 names in the past two years. Democrats added 194 names, while the Republicans gained 107.

Present registration figures show 1,167 unaffiliated voters, 600 Democrats and 334 Republicans. Possible additions include the names of 1,000 voters who are expected to register in the two-hour session for candidates whose voting rights have matured since the last registration session.

The polls, located at the Hilda Memorial School, will be open from 8 a.m. until 8 p.m. tomorrow, resulting in a holiday for local school children.

Election workers will attend an instruction session tonight at 5 o'clock. They will be equipped with machines to use tomorrow.

Both parties are offering free baby-sitting and rides to the polls on election day. Candidates may be made by calling either Democratic headquarters at 872-9111 or Republican headquarters at 872-9111.

Alpinists To Challenge Killer Mountain

LONDON (AP) — A team of British mountaineers will attempt to climb the unclimbed south face of 20,500-foot Annapurna I, known as the "killer peak" in the Himalayas, next April.

The major dangers of the climb come above 23,000 feet — a razor-edged arête leading to vertical ice cliffs and then to a overhanging rock tower.

Expedition leader Christian Bonington has a computer work and much of the team's food and clothing supplies in men's food. They'll go in for tannin value — highest mountain food. They'll wear an artificial fur suit beneath their outer water proof nylon suits.

Annapurna is 2,024 feet shorter than the 22,028-foot Mt. Everest, but its south face presents some of the most formidable problems known to alpinists.

MMH Auxiliary Plans Talkshop

The Women's Auxiliary of Manchester Memorial Hospital will hold a talkshop Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Concordia Lutheran Church.

The talkshop will be a workshop for women to talk about stress situations as they concern the hospital volunteers in general, but also as they relate to all interpersonal relationships in general.

Through an examination of these situations, the participants can be made more aware of their feelings and more sensitive to others.

BRIDGE SOLITAIRE REDUCES FRICTION

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

"You often write about bridge hands that cause arguments between husband and wife," writes a New York bridge player who signs himself Portnoy.

"Why don't you urge them to practice with the 'Antidote Board'?" And he goes on with an account of a hand that caused quite a furor.

Both sides vulnerable. Opening lead — Three of Hearts.

West opened the three of hearts, and declarer played low from the dummy, my co-responder relates. East won with the king of hearts and returned a heart to declarer's jack.

South immediately led the ace of diamonds, and declarer played low from the dummy. This was of course, a strewed way to begin the play of the diamonds.

East won with the ten of diamonds and led his last heart to the dummy's ace. Now declarer cashed dummy's ace of diamonds. East discarded a spade, and South stopped short in dismay. He could get up dummy's last diamond, but he couldn't get back to dummy to win a trick with it.

South eventually won only two tricks in each suit. Down one.

London Complained. Dummy completed lead and long suit (both North's husband) had managed the diamonds. He said that he should have led a second low diamond from the dummy instead of cashing the ace of diamonds.

The defense could then take two diamonds and two hearts, in all, but South would lead his last diamond and North would take not only the two top diamonds but also the last diamond as his ninth trick.

"My partners never complain," Portnoy continues, "because they know that the Antidote Board has taught me the correct play in such situations. If everybody practiced, don't you think we could someday eliminate all complaints?"

An interesting idea, but perhaps not a very realistic one.

Antipasto — Sardines, Anchovies, Tuna, Hot and Sweet Peppers, Olives, Pickles, Tomatoes.

Cold Cuts — Genoa Salami, Coppicchio, Boiled Ham & Posuttini.

Hot Dishes — Baked Beans, Kielbasa and Sauerkraut, Italian Sausage and Peppers, Chicken Pieces and Ravioli.

Dessert, Coffee, Rolls, and Butter.

All this, as much as you can eat. Only $3.00 per person, $1.75 for Children.

Keep the Process Healthy. In a world full of ironies, there are some people who, not possessing the privilege of the free vote, do not miss it as much as they should.

And there are people who, having the free vote granted them, neglect the privilege and the responsibility it involves.

In a situation where everyone has a vote, the failure to use it, although a negative process, has calculable results.

A failure to vote tends to lessen the general estimation of the importance of the privileges.

Every failure to cast enough votes on the issues or the candidates increases the voting power of some one else who does care, regardless of what his or her motive for caring may be.

The democratic process lives on muscle that is used and becomes tired and is refreshed. Not to vote is to make yourself an atrophied muscle, a dead blood cell, in the body politic.

The fanatics always make sure of voting. Those with some idea of personal gain involved in the outcome of an election never fail to vote.

Those who are passionately loyal to their party never miss their opportunity to express their loyalty inside the voting machine.

Those who may merely have the calm, dispassionate, disinterested view of candidates and issues should also express themselves and make themselves the balance of decision inside the conflict waged by the partisans.

Be at the polls tomorrow, for the health of the process, for the good of Manchester.

"At Once . . . Now and Hereafter" It is now the high law of the land, by unanimous vote of a Supreme Court over which President Nixon's appointment is Chief Justice, that is no longer, under any condition, legal room for delay of integration of the nation's schools.

The obligation of every school district is to bring the order in which Chief Justice Warren's majority concurred, "to terminate" dual school systems "at once and to operate now and hereafter only unitary schools."

With these words, today's Supreme Court set aside the time element which had been contained in the original decision of the Warren Court, 19 years ago, decreeing the eventual end of segregation in the schools. Then the Court instructed that its order should be implemented, throughout the nation, with "all deliberate speed." Today's Court held that there can no longer be any qualification of the when it is to be "at once" and "now and hereafter."

As has quickly become evident, the new Supreme Court order may not, for all its change in language, get enforcement and compliance much faster than did the original decision of 19 years ago. It would take an unimaginable federal force, for the government to go out and crusade for compliance in every district where segregation is still the practice.

Nonetheless, the legal recourse of those who sought to delay — and those seeking some delay have included the Nixon Administration itself — has now been closed off. The proponents of integration can still go to court and defend the law on their side; its opponents now have less footing.

Furthermore, the fact that the Court with President Nixon's appointee chiming in — has now proclaimed that this is now — "not tomorrow" — is certain to stimulate the action and enterprise of those seeking to end segregation, South and North.

If there has ever been any slight, irresponsible dream that the end of segregation had not become inevitable for us, any faint hope that we might somehow sidle our way out of showdown for a long time to come, because of changing political tides or changes in the membership of the Supreme Court, such possibilities now seem to have died a quick, clean death.

We are going to have to do what we have to do.

From Fusion to Fusion. Fusion is the splitting of atoms. Fusion is merger of two light atoms to form a heavier one.

Fusion is what takes place in the atomic or hydrogen bomb.

Fusion occurs in the core of the sun, and is the process by which the sun renews its heat.

Fusion has dangerous by-products. Fusion is clean. Fusion uses special elements, like uranium.

Fusion takes place in what is called plasma, an ionized gas which exists throughout the universe.

Put plasma under enough heat and pressure combined, and you get fusion which gives off heat and light and energy.

All this is an attempt to say, as simply as possible, what the report British scientists made the other day on certain laboratory developments over in Russia, may be all about.

The report is that the Russians are getting close to the reproduction, in laboratory installations, of the heat and pressure which can send plasma into its energy-producing act of fusion.

The Russian scientists claim enough it seems, to encourage the opinion that the question is not whether man is going to achieve fusion successfully, so he can substitute it for fusion as his chief source of power in the future, but merely when he is going to happen.

When fusion is brought to light, it is supposed to be self-renewing forever. In that day whatever mankind can do for mankind by being able to use power as if it were free will apparently be ours.

We have never had to cope with such a situation. For all we know the blessing of fusion, by the time we get into them, may prove just as dangerous to us and to our chances of survival as a civilization as any threat that fusion has ever held over us.

But whatever the result, the progress is going to come. Science marches on, and science is making progress in the fusion of atoms and everything that is possible, that is, that is not yet possible, that is, that is not yet possible.

Plasma suggested only a blood bank here on earth, now, as the word for the universe. It promises to become a household term for tomorrow — the thing we all plug into for everything.

The Flying Scotsman. It was a pleasant sight to see the Flying Scotsman steam locomotive through Meriden Tuesday morning, even though the crack British train bearing cars loaded with Britons did not stop on its way from Hartford to New York.

The Flying Scotsman is a steam locomotive which has not been seen in these parts in many years. Despite its massive drive wheels, it was smaller than we had thought for a locomotive which set the first authenticated 100-mile-an-hour speed record.

Sped and sped, its brass trimmings gleaming, it was a sight to see. The dark green and black locomotive was a sight to see. A plume of steam from the engine pulled the cord which sounded a white horn behind the wheels, and a large brass bell, mounted like the sun, clanged pleasantly.

Then there was the engineer in the cab, wearing a proper engineer's attire, not just a plain business suit affected by those matters-of-fact men who drive the diesel. He was a friendly engineer, too, and he waved a greeting to the Redford photographer and a handful of associates who clustered at the South Cheshire Street crossing to watch the Scotsman pass.

We don't intend to get carried away by nostalgia, but we would observe merely in passing that there was more romance to rail-roading in the days when locomotives were powered by steam. The engineer with lordly men-learned out of the cab's eyes, goggled against flying ahead and the grange in his cab; one hand was upon the throttle, the other free to wave in friendly condescension to admiring boys. At his side was the real boss, the fireman, who, with a grace, shoveled coal into the firebox. At the touch of his foot upon the treadle, the doors of the firebox parted to reveal an inferno from which even Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego might flinch.

But steam locomotives are inefficient in comparison to diesel, so the old iron horse which thundered and snorted its way down the tracks is being phased out. The steam whistle has become a relic of the past, its place taken by the blaring of the diesel horn. All in the name of progress.

We're all in favor of progress, we'd better be — but we still can't understand why with progress and efficiency diesel cannot also be clean, comfortable, accommodations, and trains which keep to schedule. The Flying Scotsman, was clean as a whistle and on time to the second. And although it was a special exhibition train, we had the feeling that it was accustomed to being clean and on time as a matter of course. —MERIDEN RECORD

by Rowland Evans Jr. and Robert D. Novak

WASHINGTON — The President's importance that President Nixon is placing on his Vietnam speech is tonight (Nov. 3) is dramatically evident not only in its central purpose as an appeal for unity—but in the unusual way he has gone about writing it.

In stark contrast to his last major speech on Vietnam, almost six months ago, Mr. Nixon's talk tonight has a "diplomatic" feel and therefore needed the professional help of a White House speechwriter, Raymond Eric and William B. Fire.

By contrast, the first several drafts of the President's speech in May came from experts steeped in the military and diplomatic facts of the Vietnam war and its origins. In the words of one White House insider, that speech was a "diplomatic" feat and therefore needed the professional help of a White House speechwriter.

Not so tonight. Mr. Nixon's persona is not to be heard in the speech, but rather in the diplomatic ground but to make a frank emotional appeal for the support of the American people as he winds down the war. Beyond that, he wants to draw a wedge between him and such anti-war militants as leaders of the New Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam, the sponsors of the Nov. 10 March on Washington.

So important does Mr. Nixon regard his speech that he has practically memorized it. In a confidential imitation of Winston Churchill's style of delivery without notes during the dark days of the Battle of Britain, he will read the speech from a teleprompter. To buttress his call for resistance and his effort to isolate the more militant leaders, he will drop a subtle reference to the anti-war movement, at the President will come close to saying, "I am not a pacifist."

For example, Mr. Nixon has been told by Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird that, given the major change on the battlefield in terms of suddenly increased infiltration by North Vietnamese troops, the withdrawal of U.S. troops can move much faster than the pace of the first two withdrawals. They were 20,000 announced on June 8 and 40,000 on Sept. 16.

The reason for this is that, when the Nixon administration decided on its policy to Vietnamize the war early this year, the whole complex machinery of the Pentagon was still geared to the idea of a limited war in Vietnam, not bringing them out. Military commanders themselves had to be sold on the idea of Vietnamization, which in some cases was hardly easier than selling a price on a speculative investment.

Beyond that, highly complex technical problems involved in the first withdrawals required two full-scale conferences at U.S. military command centers in Hawaii in each case, a time-consuming process that is no longer necessary.

Moreover, the latest intelligence from Vietnam has informed the President that, despite continuing warnings of an imminent enemy offensive, there are caches of food, supplies, and other necessities in the area. It was accustomed to being clean and on time as a matter of course. —MERIDEN RECORD

Courteous And Understanding To The Editor.

Manchester is indeed fortunate in having David Odgedon on its Board of Directors. He is often available to hear comments at the bi-monthly meetings and listening to complaints and suggestions is not the nicest way to spend two evenings a month. He is courteous and understanding of people whose only way this is to make their problems known. All I believe Nathan Aponte will be a man who works hard for the interest of the citizens of our town.

"Involved" To The Editor, A word about Allan Thomas, Democratic candidate for the Board of Education. He is a Manchester native and a product of local schools. He is an active member of his church and is involved in community affairs. He has shown his knowledge of local educational problems and programs and should have the opportunity to continue to work for better education in Manchester.

"Dedicated Worker" Concerning the office of Town Clerk I find it preposterous to say a job can't be improved. No man is indispensable and there is always a change in the way to grow and progress. It is amusing to think that all the liberals who constantly charge the conservatives with wanting to live in the past and with stopping progress should now be the ones to say we should stand still and not make a change. They claim the past record was good so we shouldn't dare try anything else. They claim the present record is so good that we are not allowed to try any other. Now do they really believe that, or do they just want to see how they affect them? Do they become conservative for their own protection and then go liberal again when they want something else? Until some things affect us personally, we are prone to be apathetic . . . and yet at a time

"Devised Service" To The Editor, Donald Kuehl a candidate for the Board of Directors has served eight years on the Manchester Building Committee the last five as secretary. These years of devoted service have given him background and made him knowledgeable on the problems we have with our schools and in our town. He has been a great help to the building committee because of his ability to solve problems with a thorough and systematic approach. I feel that as a member of the Board of Directors his proven abilities will be a great help in solving the problems of our town.

"Dignified Personal Service" To The Editor, I urge all the people of Manchester to get out and vote on Wednesday, Nov. 5, 1969. I hope that we all will consider the excellent record and performance of our Town Clerk, Edward Tomkiewic. Until some things affect us personally, we are prone to be apathetic . . . and yet at a time

FBI Rapped In Hijacking

(Continued from Page One) A psychiatrist could find a defendant normal, mentally incapable or partially incapable. A person found mentally incapable by a jury would be admitted to a lunatic asylum immediately. Partial incapacity would not prevent a trial but would reduce the sentence if the defendant was convicted. Carl appointed Rome lawyer Dominick Maitino as Minichello's defense attorney but said Maitino would not be permitted to see the client before Wednesday. The prosecutor planned to question the youth again today. Carl also said he expected to take the case over soon to an investigating magistrate, who in Italy acts as a prosecutor to determine whether the charges laid by police should be brought to trial.

Booklet Ready For Tenth Grade Course Offerings

The Manchester High School business education department has prepared a booklet on course offerings. Emil Czyszewski, department chairman, plans to distribute copies to ninth grade pupils in Bennett and Tilling Junior High Schools next month, prior to their making course selections for next year. Parents may obtain copies before that time by contacting the department office. The department offers 18 courses in the three senior high school years. By year, these are broken down into college preparatory electives, courses for students preparing for business schools and junior colleges, and courses for terminal students. Post credits and periods are listed for each course. In addition, a brief summary of the contents of each offering.

$468 Million Snags Military Spending Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Efforts to smooth out differences in Senate and House versions of the $50 billion military spending bill are snagged on a Senate-impasse over a provision to limit independent defense research. Because of the snag, involving conflicting sets of figures supplied Congress by the Pentagon, the Senate-House conference committee isn't expected to have a compromise ready for another 10 days. The bill was passed in slightly different versions by each house and includes, among other things, authorization for President Nixon's safeguard against the military's nuclear arsenal. Sen. John C. Stennis, chairman of the Senate Armed Forces Committee which originally drew up the bill, said the Pentagon has revised its estimates of how much should be spent for military research by defense contractors. The House version of the bill would limit the amount of money that can be spent on such research to $200 million, the Stennis bill would allow $468 million. The Senate approved an amendment by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., to limit independent research spending to $468 million, a 50 per cent cut in the original figure. Stennis said the House version of the bill would allow $468 million, a 50 per cent cut in the original figure. ### Children Drown In Swimming Pool

BREIDLE, Mich. (AP) — The bodies of a 6-year-old girl and her 4-year-old brother were found Sunday in a neighbor's backyard swimming pool, ending a 23-hour search by about 1,000 persons. Authorities said the youngsters, Jeanne and John Johnson, apparently fell into the pool and drowned in four feet of water, or are standing firm on the limbs.

U.S. Awaits Nixon Speech

(Continued from Page One) man Ben. Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma said: "Rarely now, we pray, he will set forth 'new' ideas and more realistic proposals for the withdrawal of our troops which will permit us to end this war." But despite numerous recommendations for the policy speech which Nixon has solicited from his top advisers and government departments, many Washington officials doubted the President would depart substantially from the course he has charted. Gradual U.S. disengagement based on Saigon's ability to take over more of the load, a lowered level of combat or progress in the Paris negotiations. Senior administration officials have contended the South Vietnamese are making no more progress toward taking over the war effort than they did through a two-step U.S. pull-out forced by U.S. public opinion. Thus the Nixon address, as they see it, is primarily to win the battle on the home front against protesters demanding that America should get out of Vietnam now. Some new peace initiatives are possible though they would appear to be circumscribed by what administration leaders have said and by the continuing debate in Congress. Nixon declared last July, "We have gone as far as we can and should go in opening the door to peace, and now it is time for the other side to respond." Enemy envoys at Paris last Thursday rejected a U.S. bid to start restricted, "tentative negotiations" on Nixon's eight-point peace plan. Secretary of Defense Melvin W. Laird has warned against a one-sided cease-fire. As the Nixon speech approached, both supporters and critics of administration policy gathered ammunition and Congressmen readied for another round of debate. In the House of Representatives, Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., put off scheduled Foreign Relations Committee hearings on Vietnam policy pending the speech. Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of

Strike Looms At Vermont's Colt Branch

ST. JOHNSBURY, Vt. (AP) — Officials at Fairbanks-Morse Division of Colt Industries have notified 500 bargaining unit employees that they will go to work today while company and union negotiators attempt to reach a contract settlement. A spokesman for United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America, Local 284 said that union workers would not be allowed to work unless a settlement were reached. The company's bargaining unit, local union officials early today that the bargaining unit would not return to work until negotiations with federal mediators in an effort to avert a strike at the company, the largest employer in the community.

Four Residents Of State Die In Auto Accidents

Four persons lost their lives in traffic accidents in Connecticut during the weekend, including three fatally injured when thrown from a speeding car. Out of state, a one-car crash in Vermont claimed the life of a Wolcott youth, and a four-car pile-up in Florida when his car and another vehicle collided. A woman killed in a one-car crash in West Haven Sunday was not immediately identified. The car in which she was a passenger struck a utility pole on Orange Avenue, police said. Three other persons were injured in the crash, one seriously. A high-speed crash on Connecticut Turnpike in New Haven Saturday morning took the lives of three New Haven residents: James Andrews, 27; Leonard Daniels, 34; and Judy Brown, 22. They and two other men were thrown from the car. The survivors were hospitalized. In Rocky Hill, a one-car crash Friday night on U.S. Route 6 was fatal to Kenneth G. Fore, 19, of Wolcott. The driver of the car was in serious condition. In Clearwater, Fla., Harvey E. Bouchard, 71, of Hartford, died and his wife, and a Hartford man died in Florida when their car collided Sunday night with another vehicle at a street intersection.

Flag Story All Wrong?

WASHINGTON — Betty Ross did make some ship flags for the State of Pennsylvania; but the first mention of her name in her and the flag was made in 1872 by her grandson 84 years after she was supposed to have made the first American flag. Most scholars now agree there's nothing to support her theory.

Why You Need This EXTRA CASH Plan In Addition To Ordinary Hospitalization And Medicare

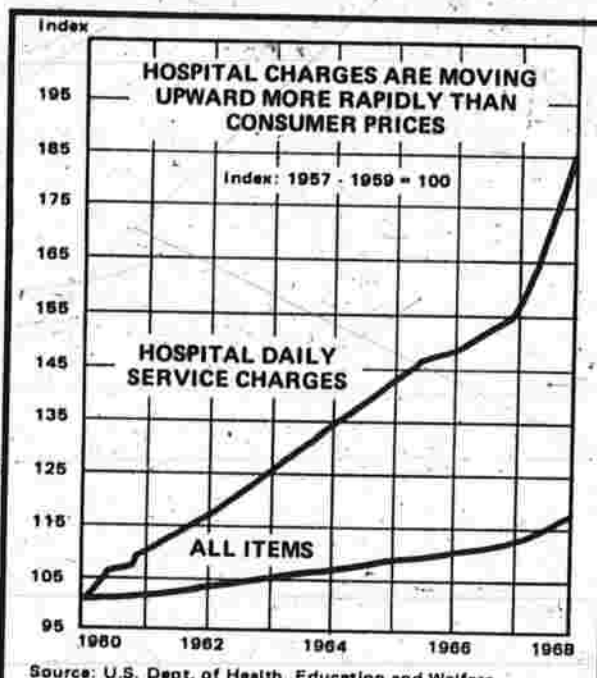

You know, of course, that the tremendous jump in hospital costs has forced millions who already have hospitalization to dig into savings or go into debt. They risk using up their savings or, worse yet, turning to family and friends for help. In fact, very few people have enough savings, hospitalization or income to cover the TOTAL cost of being sick or injured.

How long could you stay in the hospital without worrying about the pile-up of daily expenses? Who will pay for the expenses of costly X-rays, doctor bills, drugs and medicines? And how about the expenses at home, food, telephone and others that just go on and on? With expenses like these, could you avoid having your savings wiped out and your family life upset?

Better Safe Than Sorry

Wouldn't it be comforting to know these problems could be solved by your Extra Cash Income Plan—the plan that gives you $100.00 a week—IN CASH—tax-free—from the very first day you're in the hospital for up to 100 full weeks.

- PAYS YOU CASH... $100.00 a week from first day in hospital!
PAYS YOU CASH... to a maximum of $10,000 on any hospital stay lasting 100 weeks!
PAYS YOU CASH... Money mailed direct to you—no need to the doctor or hospital!

EXTRA CASH Gives Peace Of Mind and Security, Helps Replace Lost Income

Everything costs more these days. (Who knows better than you?) Hospital costs alone have TRIPLED in just a few short years... and they're expected to DOUBLE soon. While 7 out of 8 Americans have hospital insurance, most find that benefits simply don't cover ALL the bills that mount up when sickness or accident strikes.

Union Fidelity created this low-cost Hospital Income Plan to help cover your UNCOVERED expenses while hospitalized... to put EXTRA CASH in your hand when you need it most. You may even have enough left over to help REPLACE any income you lose because of your confinement.

18 Important Questions Answered

- 1. How much will this policy pay me when I go to the hospital?
2. When will my hospitalization benefits start?
3. Will I be paid if I am in the hospital for less than a full week?
4. Does this policy have any "waiting periods" before I can use it?
5. How long will I continue to receive my Extra Cash?
6. Is there any red tape to join?
7. Suppose I collect benefits for a certain sickness or accident; if I am hospitalized again, will I be covered for the same condition?
8. How may I use these benefit payments?
9. Why do I need your Extra Cash Plan in addition to my other insurance?
10. What is the age limit?

Send No Money—Special Offer Expires Midnight of Date Shown on Coupon Below!

To introduce you to this remarkable new Plan we are making this unusual offer with a Money-Back Guarantee. To take advantage of this tax-free "Extra Cash Income Plan" - Form 442-65 - fill in the Enrollment Form on this page and mail it before Midnight of the expiration date shown.

When you receive your policy, take your time to examine it carefully. It's written to be easy to understand. There is NO FINE PRINT. Show it to any stand, trusted advisor - your doctor, your lawyer, your clergyman. In fact, show it to your own insurance man... even though he probably works for another insurance company!

NOTE: The regular Monthly Premium shown here for your age at the time of application will continue to pay for the life of your plan... it will never increase because you have frequent claims or the amount of money you collect. It can change only in a general rate adjustment affecting all policies of this type in your state.

How Can We Offer All This Protection for So Little?

If you're lucky, you can buy ordinary insurance at any time and pay regular rates. But NOW—with just a stroke of your pen—you can get Union Fidelity's $100 a week ($1428 per year) EXTRA Cash Income Plan for the special low cost shown above. And how is this possible? BECAUSE UNION FIDELITY ENROLLS A LARGE NUMBER OF PEOPLE AT ONE TIME... direct by mail. This highly efficient "mass enrollment" cuts our costs to the bone. We are able to issue thousands of policies in a few short days. By this method our overhead expenses are reduced drastically. And the savings are passed on to you!

And bear this in mind: the rate you pay now will never be increased because of changes in your health... nor will your benefits ever be reduced!

A Nationally Respected Company

As important as the cash income itself, the low cost and ease of enrollment, is this one vital fact: Your policy is backed by the financial integrity and national reputation of Union Fidelity Life Insurance Company of Philadelphia, an old line legal reserve company and a member of the Union Fidelity Insurance Group, which is licensed in all 50 states and Washington, D.C.

Easy To Join—No Red Tape—No Salesman Will Call

South Windsor Campaigning Intensive But Issues Were Vague

When voters go to the polls tomorrow they will have little excuse for not knowing the positions of candidates they will choose to represent them in local government for the next two years. During the two months since the Republicans kicked off the campaign with a Labor Day fireworks display, the residents have been subjected to a volume of partisan literature seldom experienced even in a Presidential year.

Part of the explanation lies in the fact that the Democrats, who have not been particularly well known for organization, were well organized this year and conducted a sustained drive which matched the Republicans in both scope and quality. In this, of course, forced the Republicans to keep in the public eye when ordinarily they would as incumbents stand quietly on their record.

The problem for the voter, however, will still remain since much of what has been said must be weighed and evaluated. What emerges as a result of examination of statements is that the issues are not very clear cut, and most of the positions taken by both parties concern issues discussed or in the planning stages already.

For election the Democrats have nominated Vincent T. Castro and Everett J. Delaney. The Republicans, Richard J. White and Fenlon P. Putnam. Vote for two, three elected.

Under Constables, the Democrats have nominated Alexander Blodt, Walter Cheney and Edward J. Kobak, all incumbents. Republicans, also all incumbents, Charles Barker, Jr., Edward Kasaba and Melvin E. Tripp. Vote for three, elect five.

The terms of office for all positions except Board of Education and Planning and Zoning Commission were two years. The terms for the others are four years. According to the Registrar of Voters, there are 6,989 registered voters in town: Democrats, 3,102; Republicans, 2,217, and Independents, 1,670. They will be voting in four districts rather than the two districts.

Concordia Hosts Symposium On Student Unrest

Student unrest will be the subject of a two-part symposium beginning tomorrow night at Concordia Lutheran Church. Tomorrow's session will begin at 7:30 in Kaiser Hall and feature a panel of four students from the University of Hartford. The meetings, open to the public, are planned by the Concordia Social Ministry Committee.

The purpose of the student panel is to "provide an opportunity for people to become directly acquainted with the issues giving rise to student unrest today," said Rev. Louis Bauer, assistant pastor.

The second session, to be held Tuesday Nov. 11 at 7:30 p.m., will feature three prominent ministers who have been closely involved with university students.

They are the Rev. Richard Olson, Lutheran chaplain at Yale; the Rev. Charles Laps, Lutheran chaplain at Harvard; and the Rev. Arthur Von Au, Lutheran chaplain to the complex of colleges and universities in the Fenway area of Boston.

The Rev. Mr. Bauer says the presence of the ministers will bring a Christian perspective to the issue of student unrest. Congregation members serving on the Social Ministry Committee are Edward Kohl, Mrs. Fred Gebhardt, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Krasak, Susan Scott, and Darden, Hadden.

Champagne Fete Planned by Elks

The annual Champagne Party sponsored by the Manchester Lodge of Elks will be held at the Elks Home on Nov. 13 from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. Music and dancing will be provided by the "Guy Notes" and a buffet by Fred F. Lea will be served. The co-chairman for the evening are Edward Tomkiet and John Harkin.

Arrangements can be made with the lodge stewards, the co-chairmen, or John Lyons. Deadline for reservations is Nov. 12. The majority of Canadian-made hogs are known as the back-type hog, being fed on alfalfa, barley and skim milk.

Al Temple, veteran pilot.

One of the most unusual projects financed by the U.S. Agency for International Development (A.I.D.) is under way in Ethiopia. For 17 years, U.S. experts there have been helping organize a small fleet of aircraft to control insects and plant diseases by aerial spraying.

The operation began in 1952 when the United States provided planes, pilots, insecticides and advice to combat a major infestation of desert locusts. In later years the service was broadened to focus attention on plant diseases.

A.I.D. has helped train Ethiopian technicians, pilots and mechanics to handle the program of aerial spraying.

Supervisor of the training program is Al Temple, a colorful Texan who has spent 14 years in Ethiopia and probably knows the rugged country better than anybody else.

Temple has crashed only once in Ethiopia. A vicious downdraft smashed his Cessna aircraft into a mountain, but, with the help of natives, he survived.

He also survived bullet wounds suffered while flying low over an Ethiopian cattle rustler who mistook the flier for the law and started shooting. Though wounded, Temple returned safely to his base.

Together with the half-dozen experts whom he has trained, A.I.D.'s pilot repelled a major locust infestation in 1968 and in the two previous years saved literally millions of dollars worth of crops from voracious army worms.

Manchester Votes Tuesday, Party Rolls Almost Equal

By SOL R. COHEN

Manchester voters will go to the polls tomorrow to elect nine town directors, nine school board members, a town clerk, a town treasurer, three selectmen and seven constables.

The polls in Manchester's first municipal election since 1966, will then, town elections were held in October of even-numbered years. By an act of the 1967 General Assembly, elections in the state's 169 towns and cities were changed to May or October of odd-numbered years. Manchester chose to hold its elections in November, as did 117 of the towns and cities. Only 12 chose May.

Because of the change in the election year, Manchester officials who were elected in 1966 to two-year terms served three years. The 1968 municipal election was canceled.

A total of 22,688 persons will be eligible to vote tomorrow, with the Republicans holding a slim 10-voter lead over the Democrats and the unaffiliated holding the key to the outcome.

The registration figures, up-to-date and including those who signed up in a three-hour, voter-making session this morning, are: 8,687 Republicans; 8,487 Democrats and 5,332 unaffiliated.

The Republican lead is the lowest in Manchester election history. They led by 114 in November 1966, and by 1,000 in November 1968.

The polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. All public schools will be closed. The sale of alcoholic beverages will be banned to 8 p.m., when the polls close.

The chief moderator tomorrow will be Atty. Paul Groobert, who will make his headquarters at Voting District 1, the Waddell School on Broad St.

The other moderators will be: Atty. Joel Janenda for Voting District 2, the Community Y on N. Main St.; Jerome Baske for Voting District 3, Buckley School on Vernon St.; Atty. David Golas for Voting District 4, Highland Park School on Porter St.; Francis J. Mahoney for Voting District 5, Nathan Hale School on Spruce St.; Charles Eggert for Voting District 6, the West Side Fire on Cedar St.; and Atty. Pascal Prignano for Voting District 7, Verplanck School on Ocote St.

All of the moderators are Democrats. Manchester's two political parties alternate in naming moderators for elections. It was the Republican turn in the November 1968 state and national election.

The chief moderator will receive $75 for tomorrow's work and the other six will receive $50 each. The estimated total cost of tomorrow's election is approximately $8,500.

A total of 11 voting machines will be used — one for each of 90 voters or fraction thereof. Districts 3 and 4 will have three machines each. The other four voting districts will have five machines each.

The optional party lever rule will be in effect. The voters may pull a party lever and vote the entire ticket; or may pull the party lever and split their vote, by turning down the keys over the names they wish to substitute. Or, they may vote without pulling a party lever at all, by turning down the keys over the names they wish to vote for.

Political observers estimate a light turnout for tomorrow — no higher than 40 per cent of the registered voters.

A lack of vital issues, and a preponderance of new candidates, many unknown to the voters, are blamed for the failure of the two parties to excite the electorate.

The winners tomorrow are expected to be those whose names are best known to the public.

Because of the minority rule in effect, the voters may cast ballots for only six directors, six school board members, two selectmen and four constables.

The new Board of Directors will be sworn in Nov. 17 and will hold its first regular meeting the next night. All of the other elected officials also will take office Nov. 17.

Aside from the lack of any exciting issues, a campaign factor in itself, the only ray of interest has been the campaign

Columbia Republicans, Democrats Issue Final Statements

Howard Bales, chairman of the Republican Town Committee, said today in a prepared statement, "It would like to call the attention of the residents of the town the reason and necessity for electing such as the one we are now preparing for."

"Citizens of the community are needed to fill the positions of town government. They are needed on committees and boards and this is the way that all towns have existed for centuries; everyone working for each other in a community spirit."

"We (Republicans), offer a slate of candidates consisting of incumbent office holders and newcomers who will work for the good of the community. A selectman's position has been filled for three years by our candidate who has always supported measures that were designed to improve and enhance the town as well as keeping a tight rein on the town purse strings to avoid unnecessary waste. For first selectman, we offer a man successful in business who will apply his business experience to the financial operation of the town. He is aware of the all-important Rec. selectman, George Pefers; and will lend their support in every way possible. They believe in the good and better roads for the town and will endeavor to expand the program to have all roads in town maintained at a high level.

"They are aware of the growing tax burden, not only locally but in towns all around us. This will be a major concern to us at all times and they will labor for economy in all town projects. They will also be consistent between the two parties in all matters affecting the community and will maintain contact with all town boards and committees."

Bales added, "These men will work toward improvement of our town and, if these laws need strengthening, we will put some teeth into them."

"These men are keenly interested in the promotion of better roads, and just a few of the goals that deserve deep contemplation."

Merrick said the Democrats will give priority to encouraging new business to locate in town.

"Professional services and light industry and related businesses can substantially ease

12th Circuit Court Cases

MANCHESTER SESSION

Donald Pagan, 25, of 341 Oakland St., pleaded not guilty today to a charge of keeping a gambling house. Pagan elected to have a jury trial and Judge John Robert Lacey ordered such a trial for the December docket in East Hartford.

Pagan was arrested last month when police and FBI agents raided the Village Lane tavern on Toland Park, located on the corner of East Hartford, Hartford and New Britain streets. Pagan was arrested with Pagan, and each of them was charged with frequenting a gambling house and gaming in general.

Two of those 19 appeared in court this morning. They were named and address, Douglas Anthony, 209 Corwell St., East Hartford, who pleaded not guilty and had his case placed on the East Hartford jury docket; and James Ruffalo of Hartford, who asked for continuance until next Monday.

Other 17 men will appear in court on Thursday to plead their pleas.

They are all entitled to trial by jury on the first charge, frequenting a gambling house, if they plead not guilty. However, on the second charge, gaming in general, they must be tried by the court. Judge Lacey made that point clear after he assigned Constables to the jury docket.

Andover Maryland Schoolchildren Say Hi with White Balloons

"To the funder of this ball, please help us determine which balloon went the greatest distance."

The air currents must have been right for landing, because several white balloons landed in Andover Saturday. The quota was contained within slips of paper attached to the balloons.

The first white balloon, about 12 inches in width, was sighted by Mrs. Algine Roberts, 1919 Hebron Rd., as it landed in a clump of trees near her yard. The attached piece of paper contained the name of a school, the name of the student, the date and the name of the school.

The balloons are being used by the club to raise money for the club fund. The club annually awards a scholarship to a graduating student of Rham High School. The scholarship will be held Friday at 8 in the elementary school.

As did his earlier verbal barrage, the latest Agnew statement elicited rebuke from Democrats.

"It is wise to alienate whole groups of concerned Americans with whom one disagrees for the rather short-lived pleasure of a well-read news story," asked Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma, the Democratic national chairman.

"It is not difficult to think up such words," Harris said in a statement. "But it is difficult to learn from history how hard it is to heal the breaches which such tactics inevitably produce."

Bates added, "These men will work toward improvement of our town and, if these laws need strengthening, we will put some teeth into them."

Nixon's speech of communications, Herbert Klein, produced Democratic town chairman. "The continued support of individual signatures of more than 7,000 students who support administration Vietnam policy."

He added, "The encouragement of our educational and recreational program for the children of the safety of our homes from fire and intrusion, the promotion of better roads, and just a few of the goals that deserve deep contemplation."

World, GIs in War Mix Views on Nixon

BAIGON (AP)—President Nixon and I have completely agreed upon," Thieu Nguyen Van Thieu expressed to President Nixon's speech on the Vietnam war. American GIs registered varying degrees of approval, or occasionally some disappointment because the President wasn't more specific about when they would be brought home.

"This is a statement said: 'The people of Vietnam want nothing more than to gradually take the responsibility to preserve their own independence and freedom with the efficient assistance of the allied countries, especially that of the people of the United States, with a view to achieving the self-sufficiency and self-development which I have affirmed many times.'

Thieu termed the speech "one of the most important and greatest addresses of a president of the United States."

"I believe that the policy to win peace and restore a genuine peace to Vietnam, which President Nixon has recalled in his address today, is the right policy which conforms with our best interests," said the official English translation of Thieu's statement.

"This policy is one which I believe will be successful."

All 22 Lived in One House After Mad Killer Struck

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Two of the four slaying slaters, today of seven years of age, were shot and killed by a madman from a tall man with strange eyes who finally shot their father dead and killed himself.

They talked of terror after their father's slaying, when 22 family members lived in one house under guard while police hunted the killer; and of pity for the gunman when he was found dead by suicide.

The father, William Lennon, was shot and killed by a rifleman Aug. 12 at a golf course. Witnesses identified him as Marvin Meloy, who called himself "Chee Young."

Last Oct. 10, Lennon's body was found near a golf course. Police said he had killed himself after writing a note admitting the Lennon slaying.

In their apartment at ABC weekly variety show with Jim Henson, Meloy and Diane Lennon recounted in an interview the long, tragic history that led up to their father's

Shower of Telegrams Supports Nixon Stand

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon, his desk piled high with telegrams prompted by his Vietnam policy speech, told newsmen today it was a "demonstration of support" that could help to speed an end to the war.

Literally thousands of wires littered the top of the desk and Nixon indicated that—out of the whole mass—only a single stack about four inches high came from citizens who favor an immediate U.S. withdrawal.

One wire plugging support came from Colorado and contained, Nixon said, 20,000 signatures. He called it "the longest wire in history."

The chief executive told newsmen: "It is very important in our quest for peace to realize that the country is behind what we are trying to do. I would put it this way: that demonstration of support can have more effect on America's war sooner than anything else."

The President said it was even more important to realize that the country is behind what we are trying to do. I would put it this way: that demonstration of support can have more effect on America's war sooner than anything else."

President's Appeal: Faith in His Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon says he has worked out with South Vietnam "an orderly scheduled timetable" for the withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam. He said the timetable is "a phase which may have to be revised if the South Vietnamese, thus far, do not gradually disengage themselves from the war."

The President said the timetable is "a phase which may have to be revised if the South Vietnamese, thus far, do not gradually disengage themselves from the war."

NYC, New Jersey, Virginia Share U.S. Election Spotlight

WALTER R. MERS

New York's election a major today, with Governor Rockefeller and other supporters of Rockefeller to lead the state to a major election day factor, although the state's political scene once seemed beyond his reach. GOP challengers seek to capture the governorship of New York and New Jersey, where Democrats now rule.

Those are the features race in its opposition to Rockefeller's administration to the world organization, despite the President's support of the Rockefeller administration.

In his speech to the General Assembly, Rockefeller said he was ready to talk with the leaders of the Communist Party, who he said were "a threat to the peace of the world."

Shortly before Nixon spoke, U.S. Undersecretary of State William P. Friedman said the country is behind what we are trying to do. I would put it this way: that demonstration of support can have more effect on America's war sooner than anything else."
