World, GIs in War Mix Views on Nixon

SAIGON (AP)—President Nixon and I have completely agreed upon," Thieu Nguyen Van Thieu expressed to President Nixon's speech on the Vietnam war, American GIs registered varying degrees of approval, or occasionally some disappointment because the President wasn't more specific about when they would be brought home.

"This is a statement said: 'The people of Vietnam want nothing more than to gradually take the responsibility to preserve their own independence and freedom with the efficient assistance of the allied countries, especially that of the people of the United States, with a view to achieving the self-sufficiency and self-development which I have affirmed many times.'

Thieu termed the speech "one of the most important and greatest addresses of a president of the United States."

"I believe that the policy to achieve peace and restore a genuine peace to Vietnam, which President Nixon has recalled in his address today, is the right policy which conforms with our best interests," said the official English translation of Thieu's statement.

"This policy is one which I believe that the people of Vietnam want nothing more than to gradually take the responsibility to preserve their own independence and freedom with the efficient assistance of the allied countries, especially that of the people of the United States, with a view to achieving the self-sufficiency and self-development which I have affirmed many times."

Another 25th Division soldier, said Spec. 4 Jim Talley, 22, of Newnan, Ga. The 25th Division Infantryman said he was "in a way disappointed" but "I'm sure that the president has the best interests of the American people in mind."

Shower of Telegrams Supports Nixon Stand

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon, his desk piled high with telegrams prompted by his Vietnam policy speech, told newsmen today it was a "demonstration of support" that could help drive home the message that the president is doing the right thing else to speed an end to the war.

Literally thousands of wires littered the top of the desk and Nixon indicated that—out of the whole mass—only a single stack about four inches high came from citizens who favor an immediate U.S. withdrawal.

One wire plugging support came from Colorado and contained, Nixon said, 20,000 signatures. He called it "the longest wire in history."

The chief executive told newsmen: "It is very important in our quest for peace to realize that the country is behind what we are trying to do. I would put it this way: that demonstration of support can have more effect on America's war sooner than anything else."

The President said it was even more important to realize that the country is behind what we are trying to do. I would put it this way: that demonstration of support can have more effect on America's war sooner than anything else."

All 22 Lived in One House After Mad Killer Struck

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Two of the four slaying slaters, told today of seven years of scary and mysterious visits from a tall man with strange eyes who finally shot their father and killed himself.

They talked of terror after their father's slaying, when 22 family members lived in one house under guard while police hunted the killer; and of pity for the gunman when he was found dead by suicide.

The father, William Lennon, was shot and killed by a rifleman Aug. 12 at a golf course. Witnesses identified him as Marvin Meloy, who called himself "Peggy's husband" and in one house under guard while police hunted the killer; and of pity for the gunman when he was found dead by suicide.

President's Appeal: Faith in His Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon says he has worked out with South Vietnam "an orderly scheduled timetable" for the withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam. He said the timetable is "a phase which may have to be revised if the South Vietnamese, thus far, are unable to take over the fighting."

NYC, New Jersey, Virginia Share U.S. Election Spotlight

WALTER R. MERS

New York's election day today, with Governor Rockefeller's reelection on the ballot, is a major election day factor, although the national attention is focused on the presidential election.

The Democratic incumbent, Governor Rockefeller, is carrying the credentials of a party which has held the governorship for 33 years.

Holton has campaigned as a down-the-line Nixon supporter, using his record as a record of the President whom he has served as a campaign coordinator.

In New Jersey, Governor Cahill is seeking to win the GOP nomination in Virginia, carrying the credentials of a party which has held the governorship for 33 years.

backing of the American public. The extraordinarily lengthy telegram from Colorado-Nixon didn't name the sponsor and said he did not know him—ac-tually began "waiting over" telegrams at the White House he began making his own speech, but because of the num-ber of signatures relayed, it ran on far into the night.

The letter with Nixon in the oval office as he displayed the stacks of paper were Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, his assistant for national security affairs, and H. R. Holtzman, Nixon's chief of staff.

Meanwhile, House members, evenly divided between Demo-crats and Republicans, today proposed a resolution support-ing President Nixon "in his ef-forts to negotiate a just peace in Vietnam."

"What we need more than anything else is an affirmative showing that there is a strong silent majority who support the President," said Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., in announcing the move.

The 100 members, including committee chairmen and rank-and-file members, make up nearly one-fourth of the en-tire House roster of 435.

But another group of Demo-cratic congressmen say they will take the President's Viet-nam policy to task in debate Wednesday. They also issued a statement Monday night saying they were "deeply disappointed" in the President's speech. He charts no new course and evades no question to the war, they said, that opposition to the Presi-dent's course will grow despite Nixon's plan "to negotiate a just peace in Vietnam."

The House said they would have more to say Wednesday in the House.

Wright said House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michi-gan worked on drawing up the resolution supporting Nixon's course and was one of the sponsors. Ford submitted a copy of the resolution to the Speaker of the House, Wright said, "and they liked it very much."

The resolution declares: "That the House of Representa-tives affirms its support for the President in his efforts to negotiate a just peace in Viet-nam, expresses the warmest hope of the people of the United States for such a peace, calls at-tention to the numerous peo-ple of the United States who have made in good faith toward the government of North Vietnam, and supports the principles enunciated by the President that the people of North Vietnam are entitled to choose their own government by means of free elections open to all South Vietnamese and supervised by an impartial interna-tional body, and that the United States is willing to abide by the results of such elections, and supports the President in his call upon the government of North Vietnam to announce its willingness to honor such elec-tions and to abide by the results and to allow the issues in controversy to be peacefully re-solved in order that the war be ended and peace may be restored to Southeast Asia."

The resolution would require action by the Senate.

Wright said at a news confer-ence the measure he is backing should not be considered a have resolution: "It rattles no sabers and makes no threats."

Asked whether it was planned as opposition to the Nov. 15 peace memorandum demon-stration, he said it is "not any thing," it is positive rather than negative.

Wright was joined at the news conference by other sponsors, of both parties.

One of these, Rep. John B. Anderson of Illinois, chairman of the House Republican Con-ference Committee, said that the group will meet Thursday to consider the resolution and that he expects approval opening the way for an early House vote.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said today that President Nixon "has fully and fruitfully taken on himself the Johnson war, and I think it is a fundamental error."

Charging that Nixon's policies are "virtually indistinguishable from those of former President Lyndon B. Johnson," Fulbright predicted the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which had delayed Vietnam hearings pending Nixon's speech Monday night, will go ahead with a "Fulbright long" on the Vietnam war, said the commit-tee will meet Thursday "to dis-cuss whether it would be wise to have the hearing. My own view is that it would be. My guess is that they will approve."

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., al-ready had urged early schedul-ing of the committee hearing.

Another committee member, Sen. Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, said he had hoped Nixon would offer more hope of ending the war.

He agreed there are obsta-cles, but he said in an interview on NBC's "Today" show that "many of the sponsors and States" can expect to get out of Vietnam in a statement.

Reaction to Nixon's speech here he began making his own speech, but because of the num-ber of signatures relayed, it ran on far into the night.

Few Fireworks Explode In Italy's Spring Showings

By LEOBONA DODSWORTH AP Fashion Writer

FLORENCE (AP) — Italy's top designers kept to the tried and true Monday in the first of three days of shows of spring and summer ready-to-wear, haute couture and knitwear collec-tions.

There were plenty of good, wearable clothes but few fire-dreadful or new ideas shown Mon-day.

With the exception of rain-wear and a few travel coats, even the maxi length was given the go-by in favor of the above-the-knee length.

A long-bodied line was favored by many houses. Waist-lines were pulled down low and skirts were free and easy with pleats or flares.

There were plenty of plain, colorful tunics with amply flared, ruffled or tunic tops. Scarf-tied turbans and long, floating mufflers were so fre-quently that they almost amounted to a uniform.

Pastel colors were widely used but white was the flashiest of color with his individual-ity.

Two members of the Bolton Art Club took first prizes in the annual art show at the Bolton Art Club last week. Myrtle Carl-son took a first in pastel, and Diane Ursin took a first in woodcut.

Many stores in Negro neigh-borhoods closed and some hos-pitals reduced service when work-ers stayed out. Municipal em-ployees were permitted to take the day off as a holiday or sick day.

Charles E. Russell, a spokes-man for the Black Solidarity Committee, termed the "organiza-tion" a "blackout" and said it was "designed to disrupt the work of the Negro community."

Thompson, N.Y., and John A. Williams Jr. of Memphis, Tenn., were invited to receive their medals.

As his unit moved through dense undergrowth, it was suddenly met with a hail of small-arms fire from enemy forces concealed in fortified bunkers and in the surrounding trees.

Specialist Stryker repeatedly fired enemy elements attempting to encircle his company. Undaunted by enemy machine-guns and small-arms fire, Specialist Stryker repeatedly fired grenades into the trees, killing enemy snipers and enabling his comrades to reach the attempted encirclement. As the battle continued, Specialist Stryker served several wounded members of his squad in the killing zone of an enemy mortar and mine. With complete disregard for his own safety, he threw

War Heroes' Kin To Accept Decorations In Their Names

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Roman Catholic priest and two other Army men have been awarded the Medal of Honor for extraordinary heroism in the Vietnam war.

LSD Experimenter Says It's a Short Cut to Nowhere

AMHERST, Mass. (AP) — A one-time student of LSD advocate Dr. Timothy Leary is now saying that the drug is a short-cut to nowhere.

The ex-prince under psychiatric care at the University of Massachusetts, Leary said today that he had "blown his vision as a student of the University of Massachusetts."

Cohen told a full house in the school hall on Tuesday night that he had "blown his vision as a student of the University of Massachusetts."

Instead of expanding his sense of consciousness, he said, the drugs merely altered it.

Composite picture shows the Apollo 12 spacecraft will land on the moon Nov. 19. Since the subsequent eight moon missions will attempt to land the landing craft in areas far more rugged than the lunar plains chosen for Apollo 11 and 12, much depends on the Apollo 12 crew's ability to put their craft down on the moon within walking distance of a crater 836 feet wide.

Apollo 12 Crew To Work Bugs Out of Parking Problems

By JIM STROTHERMAN AP Aerospace Writer
CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — For the Apollo 12 astronauts, simply landing on the moon will not be good enough. The success of eight moon missions to follow could depend on how well the Apollo 12 crew touches down with pinpoint precision.

For beginning with Apollo 13 next March, American moonmen plan to park landing craft in areas far more rugged than the lunar plains chosen as targets on Apollo 11 and 12. Parking places will be smaller and more difficult to reach. And if astronauts miss the spot they are aiming for they might be forced to abort a landing and return to earth empty-handed.

Project officials said Apollo 11 astronaut Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. marked their aiming point on the moon's Sea of Tranquility by nearly four miles. If they had been descending toward an airport runway on earth, they would have oversteered their mark by 23.89 feet.

For Apollo 11, whose only goal was to achieve a landing and return safely to earth, that was acceptable. The moon's Ocean of Storms, where the Apollo 12 crew plans to set down Nov. 19, "is a little bit more only terrain than Neil landed in," said Apollo 12 commander Charles Conrad Jr.

Hebron Plans Set For FISH

As a result of a preliminary organizational meeting on FISH (Friends in Service Helping) plans were made to investigate and organize the group, to plan for an answering service and to recruit more volunteers.

FISH is a free emergency service which can be reached at all times through a telephone answering service. Typical FISH services are transport of the hospital, baby-sitting, preparing hot meals, overnight accommodations and reading to the blind.

More volunteers, however, can be used to avoid placing excess burden on any single individual. If anyone is interested in helping, please contact a volunteer.

3-Year-Old Deep River Boy Found After All-Night Hunt

DEEP RIVER, Conn. (AP)—"Christmas" came early this year," said Mrs. Frank Mallin today after her 3-year-old son Mark was located by searchers in the wooded area near his home. The boy's foot had been found in some rocks about a mile from his home last Monday afternoon. He was wearing the cold, damp night suit no apparent ill effects. A doctor examined him after he was found at 6:45 a.m. and Mark's father said: "He's in better shape than the rest of us."

Parade Marshal

Peter E. Benson of 99 Ashworth St., a retired 30-year veteran of the Marines, will be the parade marshal for this year's Veterans' Day Parade, according to Leon Bradley, parade chairman.

The parade will be held Saturday, beginning at 10 a.m. The traditional memorial service at Manchester Memorial Hospital will be held as usual on Nov. 11.

The parade will begin at the VFW Home, 608 E. Center St., and will march west on E. Center St. to Brookfield St., then north on Brookfield St. to the flagpole in front of Manchester High School where Benson will speak at a brief ceremony.

Benson, a retired chief warrant officer, has served in all parts of the world including the Chinese Theater for three years on his first Marine cruise. He also took part in the first landing on Guadalcanal, and he served in Korea during the Korean conflict.

Three bands will step off in the parade, accompanied by marching units from the Army, Navy Club, the VFW, the American Legion, and the Marine Corps League. A motor section will include World War I veterans and Disabled American Veterans.

Parade organizers want to stress that this is not a memorial parade; rather, it is a parade to honor all veterans, they said.
