The Steak Club

WIN KNAVIS TRICK WITHOUT USING JACK

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

You can fool all of the people some of the time, and some of the people all of the time, a great American once observed. This was intended as a guarantee of success to your players, but it should be good enough to satisfy most bridge players. Just give your opponents their fair chance to be foolish.

South dealer. North-South vulnerable. Opening lead — Four of Spades.

West led the four of spades, and South put up dummy's jack. Just in case West had led from the ace-queen, West hadn't spade, and South had to take his king of spades while it was still possible to do so.

South needed four club tricks to make his contract, and he played the ace with all the club queen of clubs, and South was the head to see what was going on. West covered with the queen of clubs, and South was in trouble. If South won in dummy and then led the jack, he could get only three club tricks; and if South let West win the trick with the queen of clubs, West would defeat the contract with the rest of the spades. The average defender will cover an honor with an honor, even when this is the wrong play; but he is reluctant to play his picture card if there is some chance that his partner can win the trick. In today's hand, for example, the average West will cover with the queen of clubs if South leads the jack; but West will play a low club if South leads the ten since West will then hope that East has his picture card if there is some chance that his partner can win the trick. In today's hand, for example, the average West will cover with the queen of clubs if South leads the jack; but West will play a low club if South leads the ten since West will then hope that East has his picture card if there is some chance that his partner can win the trick.

Since South doesn't want West to play low, then South can lead the jack. Since South can lead the jack, then South can lead the jack. Since South can lead the jack, then South can lead the jack.

Partner opens with one diamond, and the next play passes. You hold: Spades, J-8; Hearts, J-4; Diamonds, 6-4-3; Clubs, K-8-7-5-3.

What do you say?

Answer: Pass. The hand is not quite strong enough for a response.

Coeds Cheer For Granny

By JACK STEVENSON

Associated Press Writer

NOTRIDGE, Calif. (AP) — That bouncy little cheerleader in the smart sweater and skirt really rouses the crowds. "She's a good kid," says Coach Leon McLaughlin of the other coeds, most of them in their late teens or early 20s.

Kid, yet.

The cheerleader in Dorothy "Dotie" Hertz, 22 and the grandmother of four.

Mrs. Hertz leads a special cheerleader group known as the Grassy Girls. The fans call for inspiration from Dotie's mini-skirted troupe when the going gets tough down on the field.

Dotie, a 1953 dropout from the University of Montana, has a degree in sociology and is 1997 to take a sociology course.

"The kids have called me Granny since I came here," she says.

"I don't think many of them even know my real name."

Tolland Recounts Ordered; Mrs. Weston Wins

Election moderator Frank Kalas has ordered a recount of the federal funds are expected to separate the winners from the losers in Tuesday's election.

The request was made by Republican Town Chairman Russell Stevenson after a recount of the town treasurer's contest revealed an incorrect figure, resulting in the change of the incumbent.

Dotie, whose return to school has the blessing of her engineer husband, received her bachelor's degree in sociology last June. Now she takes postgraduate courses.

"Mrs. Hertz has called me Granny since I came here," she says.

"I don't think many of them even know my real name."

One upon a time, our grandmothers took great pride in the qualities of the elderlyberry wines and other "spirits" they made in the fall from grapes, berries and fruits, such as apples and pears. Although some of these ladies were willing to pass on cooking recipes to neighbors and friends, they seldom let go their secrets with respect to the making of the stuff that cheers. There was strong rivalry as to whose logs had the best contents. She whose products were the best enjoyed great prestige. Be sure to begin your evening with a very special meal prepared by the masters here at MR. STEAK, 244 Center St., 646-1995. Our steaks are all shipped direct from Denver and are cooked just the way you like them. We are America's favorite family restaurant, so be sure to bring the children. head the fact that, in their original deed of violence, they endangered the lives of many innocent people. It is merely a footnote which says that they did it in order to get some place they didn't really want to.

What is the cure going to be? Indirectly, the arrival of these six Americans back home may offer some help. It is obviously some distance between permitting these disillusioned Americans to go home after they have tasted the joys of Cuba and forbidding any more Americans the privilege of making a legal entry into Cuba by illegal means. But it may be a sign that the country which has been the favored destination of most hi-jackers has begun to find its role embarrassing. And this possible development of attitude in Cuba, together with the recent hi-jacking in Germany in which it was, for the first time, a Communist- regime plane which was hijacked, by someone seeking his way into the outside world, may be smoothing the way toward a general agreement among nations to discourage hi-jackings by pledging to send hi-jackers back where they came from.

There is apparently very little real chance of getting any nation to agree to an iron-clad rule about this, because no nation likes to turn down an earnest seeker of political asylum. But a firm resolve to send back any hi-jackers who should mentally unbalance might help; the mere act of the hi-jacking has to be strong evidence in such a direction. If there is no way to make the hi-jacking act impossible, the next best thing is to try to eliminate its rewards.

"Horror Stories" About Drugs. The director of health services at Harvard University, speaking before a group of Massachusetts teachers the other day, advised that teachers should stop telling their students "horror stories" about drugs.

Such stories, he said, do very little good, and often merely convince young people that their elders are over-sensationalizing the issue for hypocritical purposes of their own.

Teachers should concentrate instead, he said, on trying to promote discussion and understanding of why people use drugs. Such understanding is far more than fear to head off potential users.

We think we agree with Dr. Iana Farnsworth's view. We don't think elders should concentrate on efforts to try to frighten youth away from the possible use of drugs. Such tactics have an historic way of making the peril being warned against seem somehow more irresistibly a temptation.

But we think it ought to be all right if young people in the Hartford area, for instance, reading the newspapers and listening to the news for themselves, should happen to notice that, within the last few weeks, four young people in the area have met their death through an overdose of drugs they obviously weren't afraid of.

For Confidence In Our Courts. Disappointment is evoked by the doubts of judges in the State or a law designed to evaluate the conduct of those who sit on the bench. The need to better resolve questions of judicial propriety and performance has been recognized in the wake of national and Connecticut controversies.

Secondly, Connecticut's judges are having apparently have not been stirred by challenge to the sound purpose of the new law. The hesitancy—and it's only natural for the judicial mind to be so concerned—is based on the legal correctness of the act.

Thus, the judges balk at naming representatives to the Judicial Review Commission to be established for monitoring the work and off-behind conduct of judges. The constitutionality of the act is being studied by a committee of the Senate, raising the question whether the Review Board should be written into the State Constitution.

It is too bad questionable issues were not raised when the legislature was before the General Assembly. With lawyers dominating the Legislature's Judiciary Committee, it is not surprising that such issues would have been raised in time and settled expertly.

BIRCH IN OCTOBER SUN. Nature Study by Sylvia Ottens

Inside Report

WASHINGTON—The latest shakeup in President Nixon's faltering program of black capitalism has saved Secretary of Commerce Maurice Stans from potential political embarrassment but moved Mr. Nixon's campaign pledges to the Negro ghetto still further from realization.

Stans breathed a sigh of relief this week when Thomas P. Rorer, a young Chicago corporation executive with superb Republican connections, allowed himself to be ticked upstairs out of the directorship of the Commerce Department's Office of Minority Business Enterprises (OMBE). What the Administration had feared was Rorer resigning with a blast exploiting the absolute failure to develop black capitalism since he had spent through next June.

Even worse was the conflict between Stans and Rorer over the long-term strategy. As we reported three weeks ago, Stans had promised to extend Rorer's plan for a quasi-public corporation to develop ghetto enterprises. Stans has not developed even a vague substitute in its place. To this hour, no blueprint for black capitalism has gone from the Commerce Department to the White House. Nor has Rorer disgusted his unhappiness with Stans' preference for press agents and gimmicks over substantive programming. With Rorer violating the Nixon administration's unwritten prohibition against exhibiting too much zeal, his departure from OMBE was preordained by mid-September. Stans succeeded last week in availing Rorer's resignation by getting him to accept a "policy-making" job as his assistant for minority enterprises. Rorer's successor at OMBE is Negro Abraham Venable, a more Republican civil servant not expected to follow Rorer's example in prodding Stans. Actually, Venable is expected to be a black front man while OMBE is run by Anthony Chase, quest-chase, who ran for Congress last year, is even less likely to be in fact, the only reason for hope is Sam Wyly, a very rich, well-equipped for creative undertakings. Rather, it is symptomatic of a brutal fact: The utter lack of interest in the black ghetto by the occupant of the White House Oval Office.

25 Years Ago. Atty. George C. Lesmer, acting in behalf of a group of Manchester and area plaintiffs, brings suit against the Ringling, Barnum and Bailey Circus Co. and against the City of Hartford for a total of $70,000 for injuries received in the circus fire of July 6, 1944.

Many was the day, in the 1959 session, when it set in full cry after Commissioner Shapiro, to, as if it were sure he would stand up there and talk forever. Instead of taking it forever, he has finally bowed and run, and the bounds of the 1959 session are wondering, suddenly, why they aren't happy about it. They will be unhappy still when they find out that, although the man has gone, all the problems remain.

Connecticut Yankee

By A.H.O.

Unlike some suddenly contrite voices which have been heard on the state scene, this column does not have to change its treatment of State Wildlife Commissioner Bernard Shapiro, now that he has resigned his state post.

We were conceding him a right to exist and defend his views and his practices even when the going was roughest for him. We never yielded to what seemed to be the popular verdict among politicians in the last few years, which was that he had suddenly become less competent as a public servant or suddenly had become more wild in his theories.

This did not mean that we could not see him abet some slight signs of demoralization and irresolution under the shining kind of attack being thrown at him from almost every quarter. It was the kind of attack which instinctively designed itself to bewilder and demoralize him before it drove him to the final decision, which has now appeared in his resignation. The attack worked and one of the reasons it worked was that not even those who might normally have been his defenders chose to put themselves in the line of fire.

The important question is why this persecution took place, or perhaps even had to be. And the answer divides itself into two parts. First, there was the nature of his job and the character of the welfare problem. The important fact has been that the welfare problem, and the cost of meeting it, has been growing during these affluent years. This has been partly because of the broadening scope of the state food and drug administration.

It was appointed commissioner of the food and drug administration in 1955, he has been a member of the association of food and drug officials of the United States, he is past president of the Connecticut Association of Food and Drug Officials and he has held many other important posts.

Others who will attend the ball lined Dr. Donald Pet, chief of professional services of the Alcohol and Drug Dependence Division of the Department of Mental Health, and Ernest Shepard, acting commissioner of mental health.

Several high officials of the federal organizations also plan to attend. Included are Raymond E. Hedden, state deputy of the Knights of Columbus; Carl O. Carlson, deputy grand master of the Knights of Columbus; and Jack Drasen, president of the Connecticut Valley Council of B'nai B'rith.

The four heads of the local fraternal organizations have used statements concerning B'nai B'rith Project.

Victor J. Moses, president of the Charter Oak Lodge of B'nai B'rith, said: "For the third consecutive year the Brotherhood-In-Action committee has again, unambiguously, devoted its time and sincere efforts for the betterment of our community. What this unique committee has accomplished in these past three years is unprecedented in history in Manchester, but also in our State of Connecticut and probably in our nation. Words cannot express the satisfaction which was gained by the B'nai B'rith lodge in working with the Masons and the Knights of Columbus to bring into reality the worthy and charitable goals of the Brotherhood-In-Action committee."

Frassinelli Will Attend Project '69 Charity Ball

Several state dignitaries headed by Lt. Gov. ASHLEY R. FRASSINELLI plan to attend the third annual Brotherhood-In-Action Charity Ball Saturday.

The Charity Ball will be held in the State Armory, Main St., Manchester from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Music will be provided by the big band sound of MIM FLYNN and his orchestra.

Brotherhood-In-Action (BIA) is made up of four fraternal organizations: Friendship Lodge of Masons, Manchester Lodge of Masons, Campbell Council Knights of Columbus, and the Charter Oak Lodge of B'nai B'rith.

Each year for the past three years these groups have banded together to raise money for a worthy cause. This year, BIA is raising funds for the Manchester State Advance and Drug Administration.

The newly formed council is comprised of persons from all true brotherhood. No effort is ever made to change each other through knowledge and working together. I believe this brotherhood is the solution to the many problems that face the world today.

"We all subscribe to the principle that we are our brother's keeper, we have put our efforts to helping others less fortunate than ourselves, and making our community a better place to live in."

The worthwhile master of Friendship Lodge of Masons, Harold E. Turkington, said, "However different avenues we travel, we have learned through Brotherhood-In-Action that the best way to solve a common problem is to work together. It is good that our efforts put should cross and our efforts put should for a common cause."

BOY SCOUT Notes and News

Boy Scout Troop 96, Buckley School, held its annual Halloween party last week in the school cafeteria. The Ladies Club provided refreshments and the program.

On Saturday, five adults and 21 boys camped at Camp Johnson in Bolton. The campout featured a cross country course problem over five miles of difficult terrain.

Victor Dupuy, assistant commander, Charles Filantia, committee chairman, led the campout, which included Phillip Spira, Victor Dupuy II, Mark Hafner, David Hiers, Donald Ritchie, Robert Kaminsky, Donald Blake, James White, Richard Caplow, Steven Ross, Roger Plante, Jonathan Peck, Jon Silverstein, Ira Friedman, Blake Lillycrop, Phillip Hjarne, John Hafner, Todd Elmore, Gary Compton, Kevin Hiers and Robert Thurston.

Many builders are anxious about it, feeling that it amounts almost to extortion. But lenders are equally insistent that, with inflation eroding the return on fixed investments, they cannot afford to make conventional loans.

Beginning several years ago they demanded part ownership of projects on which they lent money. The banks, however, have instead stressed a percentage of return during the past year or so.

The net effect is to permit lenders to charge borrowers far in excess of the going interest rate. And the method used here is to secure.

Not all bankers agree that the kicker is a good way to boost the lender's income. In fact, some fear that a one-time violation principle—that the lender and equity functions not be mixed—is being abused, and that such partial ownership erodes or percentage of the gross rent.

Borrowers Kicking At Kickers on Loans

NEW YORK (AP)—It builders had their way, the so-called equity kicker would be a reality of this life, the kicker isn't about to be dismissed in commercial real estate deals.

"The first thing a builder says when he comes into my office," says James Houlden, a real estate investment specialist, "is 'Get me a loan without a kicker.'" Interestingly, however, it can't be done.

A kicker means that the lender no longer is satisfied with the lending money for a fixed rate of interest. He wants a piece of the action, such as partial ownership or a percentage of the gross rent.

Wily, who personally contributed well over $100,000 to Richard Nixon's 1960 campaign, recently has access to the Oval Office—no reason why Stans was not overjoyed by his appointment.

The Great Stock Swap Vs. Bahamian Black Nationalism

By ROBERT BERRILL
Associated Press Writer

FREETOWN, Bahamas (AP) — The Bahamian government is looking forward to more than $300 million in new investment in the next few years, but a kind of black nationalism has appeared on the horizon of this booming tropical island.

Investment in foreign investment funds has made this a favorite refuge for hundreds of millions of U.S. dollars. Now the lure is waning. Worried while business confidence is rapidly vanishing, some are threatening to sell out and leave. A leading car dealer contends that investors' privilege was "sold down the river" by the company that lured them here.

Disputing these claims, the government cites statistics reflecting increasing confidence and emphasizes it welcomes and guarantees foreign investment.

But in doing this, says Prime Minister Lynden O. Pindling, the government "will not abdicate its responsibility to the Bahamian people" by permitting the creation of an autonomous state within its own autonomy.

Foreign investments total $1.2 billion—$1.6 billion U.S.—$300 million Canadian, $275 million British. The figures do not include $600 million in U.S. defense and space program facilities.

American private investment in the country of 180,000 people is the fourth highest in the West, after Hemisphere, after Canada, Venezuela and Brazil.

About $70 million of this is in Freeport, which occupies half of Grand Bahama Island, a 78-mile long, 5-to 15-mile wide, motorway tonally flat stretch of land 80 miles east of Florida.

Freeport is a spectacular monument to what unfettered free enterprise can accomplish in both good and bad ways. It's a plush array of rambling, luxurious hotels, velvety championship golf courses, and gambling casinos the size of polo fields.

Living costs are astronomical. $15 income. One hamburger dispenser recently grossed $250,000 last year. Stenographers make $15 a week. A man in Miami, Fla. Butlers, if you can find them, earn $65 to $80 a week, less $5 for the bus.

Watterson earning a basic $20-a-week, less $5 for the bus, says they can pick up $200 to $275 more in tips during the peak tourist season.

Anyone planning to dash over to wrap a quick fortune may find it difficult to get in. The government has indicated Bahamian is a crippling shortage of labor force.

Work permits and renewals are difficult if not impossible to acquire, businessmen say. Official delays in issuing them are largely unexpected. As a result, serious shortages of manpower have developed. One man in 1962 was convicted and jailed for foreign travelers' permits.

Groves and his major Bahamian creation, the Grand Bahama Freeport, are the principal areas around which the current controversy swirls.

While the black business and political community futilely complained about irregularities, the government gave Groves sweeping concessions to attract tourists and industry through an instrument called the Hawickbill Creek Agreement.

New investors were offered, until 1966, exemptions on property, income, death and inheritance taxes and until 1964, on excise taxes and customs duties.

The licensees were not content, he says. He contends the Port Authority could not have been changed without the consent of four-fifths of the Freeport licensees.

"The licensees were not content," he added, "because they had been asked to swap 'through which our river' were sold down the river."

Black nationalism is one of 1,200 Negroes or businessmen who pay 12 to 20 per cent of their gross income to the Port Authority for permission to operate in Freeport.

The trouble stems largely from the shortage of skilled and even semi-skilled help in the Bahamian work force. The colony has no unemployment problem.

Draft Reform Bill Moving in Senate

GOP Aims to Capture Senate Control in '70

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican strategists say GOP statehouse victories in New Jersey and Virginia have given the party a running start toward grabbing control of the Senate next year.

Further buoying Republican hopes was President Nixon's active campaigning in the 1970 congressional elections, a consideration a Republican likely prospect in view of the credit going his way from Tuesday's results.

Linwood Holton's victory in Virginia, the first Republican to win the governorship there in more than 80 years, and William C. Cahill's success in New Jersey were seen as personal triumphs for Nixon since he campaigned in both states last year.

Democrats now control the Senate, 57 votes to 43. A net gain of seven seats next year would give Republicans effective control, with the breaking vote of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

Rep. James B. Mortson, the Republican national chairman, said he would give Republicans effective control of the Senate in 1970, a pickup of eight seats.

"I feel the signs are extremely good for Republicans next year," Mortson said after Holton and Cahill's victories.

The end of Democratic domination in Virginia, which has a bench and David T. Webb, 1970, also raises the possibility that Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr., a conservative Democrat, would switch to the Republican side.

The conservative Byrd, son of war was the chief issue in any of the late senator who would election.

VA Kit a Counter To Antiwar Protest

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Veterans Affairs Department has sent 100,000 educators and community leaders a detailed scenario, with appropriate pauses for band music, for Nov. 11 observances designed in part to counter antiwar protests planned two days later.

The Veterans Day packet signed by Administrator Donald E. Johnson includes complete program instructions and statements for the "newspapers and radio announcements."

"In contrast to the millions of our citizens who participate in these ceremonies on Nov. 11, a comparative handful of demonstrators are able to attract the attention of the whole world," Johnson said in an accompanying letter, "giving those we seek to honor on the battlefields and at home a totally distorted picture of our appreciation of their sacrifices."

Johnson is chairman of the President's Veterans Day National Commission.

Johnson also sent a memorandum to heads of all VA hospitals, offices, centers and regional offices, urging employees to attend Veterans Day ceremonies and asking them to report by Nov. 30 on "participation of you and your station employees in Veterans Day 1969."

The kit provides speech outlines; one proposed for delivery in the schools Nov. 11, with a tribute to "the valor and sacrifices of our heroic men in arms."

It says pupils should be given letters signed by the principal, inviting their parents to attend.

"It might be thoughtful to include a light breakfast or lunch in the school cafeteria," the outline notes.

The scenario even suggests a starting time: 10 a.m. Then, with blank spaces to be filled in with the names of participants, it carries the program from invocation to benediction.

A youngster representing the student body should speak for about five minutes, "and should also be required to write his own material," the kit notes.

Lindsay Meets Backers For Strategy Talks

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay meets today with the members of the fusion coalition that won him reelection last year to set objectives and strategies for the city's Albany legislative program.

"I think the first task is to make very real the coalition that brought me back into office," Lindsay told a news conference Wednesday following his election triumph.

Political observers said it had not yet been determined exactly how the coalition would function, that one purpose of today's meeting would be to try and develop a structure for bringing new people into city government.

The Fusion Advisory Council, which cuts across party lines, includes former U.N. Ambassador Arthur Goldberg, Paul O'Dwyer, Howard Samuels, Bruce Babbitt, President Herman Badillo, Manhattan Borough President Percy Sutton and Sen. Benjamin Rosenblat and Shirley Chisholm.

Another member is Alex Rhee, vice chairman of the Liberal party, who observers expect to have a strong voice in the council. Eight out of nine Lindsay votes were on the Liberal party line in the election.

Air Officials Apprehensive About Superjet's Hatching

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 747 Boeing's biggest bird, the plane's tail is taller than the average six-story building. The 747 has 10 doors, six galley and 12 lavatories, and will carry 14 stewardesses.

In preparation for the superjet, the airline industry is investing hundreds of millions of dollars in new computerized reservations systems and automated ticket facilities, and is working toward an automated baggage delivery system.

Other big buyers of the 747 include United Air Lines, with its fleet of 300 million airplanes on order, and Trans World Airlines, with 18 747s on order.

Altogether, 27 airlines have placed orders with Boeing for 188 planes.

The International Civil Aviation Organization, a United Nations agency, estimates 1974 will be operating at 106 airports by the end of 1973, and at 47 airports by the end of 1974.

The International Air Transport Association has estimated that only 38 airports will be equipped to its recommended standards by the end of 1970.

"What is the plane's safety?" said Alan E. Boyd, chief of economic affairs for Air Port Operators Council International, Inc., the non-profit trade association of governmental bodies owning or operating major airports throughout the world.

"The immediate problem is that the 747 will be in service before the airports are ready for it," he said.

"We are building, at the airports, as fast as we can, but there are many tremendous problems. The biggest problem of all people—handling them, ticketing them, feeding them, getting them to and from the airport."

J. Donald Reilly, AOCI acting executive vice president, says adjusting the nation's airports to the 747 will cost $12 billion by 1975.

Pan Am paid a half-billion dollars for 25 747s in 1966 and later increased the order to 35 planes, costing a total of $700 million.

"Thus Pan Am has a large say in shaping of the 747. Its first plans will carry 300 passengers in a forward first class compartment, and 304 in economy class.

The jetliner will include a forward first class compartment, and 304 in economy class.

Doctor Urges Safety Devices On Motorcycles

CHICAGO (AP) — A medical researcher says motorcycle makers should develop safety devices for their products.

This view was set forth by Dr. Charles H. Haasman of Mt. Clemens, Mich., in a paper presented Wednesday at the annual clinical assembly of osteopathic organizations.

Dr. Haasman said there had been a sharp rise in the number of motorcycle accident deaths since 1960 because of large sales of inexpensive imported motorcycles in the $500 to $600 price range.

Before then, such deaths averaged about 500 a year. In 1968 there were 1,800 and in 1969 a peak of 2,043.

Dr. Haasman quoted statistics showing that:

- Last year there were 2.1 million registered motorcycles, compared with 102 million motor vehicles of all types.
- There were more than 200,000 motorcycle accidents in 1968, or one for every 100 motorcycles, compared with 2 million motor vehicle accidents, or one for every 80 cars.
- The death rate for motorcycles during 1968 was 23 per 100 million miles of travel, compared with 8.5 per 100 million miles for motor vehicles, including pedestrian deaths.
- Ninety per cent of motorcycle accident victims are under 25, while 80 per cent of all motor vehicle accidents involved persons over 25.
- Dr. Haasman described the motorcycle as "an unstable vehicle," and said:
- "Because of the severity of motorcycle accidents due to the fact that the rider is completely unprotected, manufacturers should, in addition to providing quality bikes at reasonable prices, develop some protective shield or roll bar to protect the rider's lower extremities, even if they are offered as optional equipment."
- He said the number of deaths from motorcycle accident decreases in states which require the wearing of a helmet, since most of the cycle deaths result from skull or brain injury.

Housewife Not Egg-sactly Responsible for Hatching

LONDON (AP) — A 40-year-old housewife said she had hatched an egg between her breasts.

"I am afraid the scene must have been a rather comical one," said Mrs. Petry, who lives in London.

"I was sitting on the sofa, and I had a hatching egg in my cleavage for a matter of minutes."

Mrs. Petry claimed, however, that she did hatch an egg because she was a poultry farmer and a former government official who both said women couldn't hatch chickens that well.

Other experts said that could, and the flight was on.

The egg that hatched, Mrs. Petry said, stayed on her breast for only a few minutes. The incubation period for a hen's egg is 21 days.

Lord Snowden was not talking, but Derek Hart, the writer and narrator for the film, said the queen's brother-in-law told him the woman had hatched an egg through her breasts after 21 days—but not necessarily that the egg was a chicken's.

"This was a perfectly legitimate..."

Psychological Effect Serious In Heart Attack

STORRS, Conn. (AP) — The psychological consequences of a heart attack are often more serious than the physical consequences, according to an international study by Dr. Stanley Fisher, associate professor of educational psychology at the University of Connecticut.

In his survey of problems faced by cardiac patients in 20 countries, Fisher found that about one of every six heart attack survivors fails to return to work because of psychological factors.

However, nearly three-fourths of the cardiac patients did go back to their jobs after treatment, he said.

"The biggest problem that we have," said one physician, "is convincing members of our own profession on not to advise patients that they can not work when most of them can be rehabilitated."

In Norway, according to the testimony of a Norwegian physician, heart trouble can be a "top-out."

This doctor said that about half of the patients sent to him for cardiac examinations did not have heart disease, although they thought they did.

The average percentage of non-hatched cardiac patients among the 26 countries was 20 per cent.

The Norwegian doctor asked whether so many persons would be convinced they had heart trouble if Norway had a less generous health insurance system.

WHAT IS CONN. SALVAGE? It's an honorable warehouse building housing an assortment of lazy people, surplus and salvage goods, closest stocks and lots of ejectives.

WHAT DO WE SELL? Almost anything a conventional store does. We don't always have exactly what you want when you want it, but when we do, you can be sure that it's substantially cheaper than elsewhere.

HOW CAN WE UNDERSSELL EVERYONE? Because we buy firestocks, sprinkler blocks, freight damages and similar lots from insurance companies...

WHO IS CONN. SALVAGE? Just me, Cousin Rich, assisted by a motley crew of no-pressure salespeople (?) and a pretty cashier.

WHERE IS CONN. SALVAGE? Just off the highway (I-84) at Exit 92, Manchester. Follow the Buckland-Rockville signs past the two schools, make a right on Hilliard St. and here we are.

WHY IS CONN. SALVAGE? Because insurance, railroad and trucking companies need an outlet for their surplus and salvage merchandise and because I need to eat.

WHEN IS CONN. SALVAGE? We're only open FRIDAYS from 10:00 to 9:00 and SATURDAYS from 10:00 to 5:00. We're closed Mon., Tues., Wed., Thurs., Sun. Why?

P.S. Here's a partial list of the goodies we're peddling this week: Indoor-Outdoor Carpet, Appliances, Cameras, Cordially, Upholstered Furniture, Electronics, Guitars, Records, Ladies' Shoes, Televisions.

Seale Gets Mistrial, Contempt Sentence

By F. RICHARD GIBSON Associated Press Writer CHICAGO (AP) — Judge Julius J. Hoffman has sentenced Seal's labeling of the judge as a "bizarre racist" and Black Panther leader Bobby G. Seal to four years in prison for a "rotten, low-life lying dog."

A mistrial was declared in the case of Seal, but the trial of the other seven men accused of conspiring to cross state lines and into the U.S. District Court in Chicago to disrupt the 1968 Democratic National Convention by inciting riots moved into its seventh week.

Judge Hoffman acted Wednesday after a long series of outbursts by Seal which at one point prompted the judge to have the defendant brought in bound and gagged.

In San Francisco, Seal's attorney said he will appeal the black militant's sentence to the "highest court."

Attorney Charles Garry, contending from a jail bladder operation, told reporters the marks leading to the contempt of court citation were made "in desperation."

Other defendants in the conspiracy trial include David T. Dellinger, 54; Thomas B. Hayden, 30; Jerry Rubin, 31; Abbie Hoffman, 31; Lee Weiner, 31; John R. Poulos, 31; and Richard C. Davis, 28.

Cuellar and McLain Tied for Young Award

NEW YORK (AP)—For the first time in the history of balloting by the Baseball Writers Association of America a major award wound up in a tie today when Mike Cuellar of Baltimore and Denny McLain of Detroit were tied for 10 votes for the 1969 American League Cy Young Award.

The other votes of the 4-man committee, two from each city, went to Jim Rice of Minnesota, who got three and Dave McNally of Baltimore, who received one.

The Cy Young winner in the National League, announced last week, was Tom Seaver of the New York Mets, who topped both majors with 25 victories. McLain was voted MVP of the National in 1968.

"I'm surprised," said McLain in San Jose, Calif., "to see that I'm tied with the pennant winner.

The award, conceived by Ford Frick, former baseball commissioner, originally went to the outstanding pitcher in the major leagues. In 1967 the writers voted to present an award to each league.

The closest thing to a tie came in 1958 when a 15-man committee gave Bob Turley of the New York Yankees and Warren Spahn of Milwaukee four and Lew Burdette of Milwaukee and Bob Feller of Pittsburgh, each three.

Jack Lagum, secretary-treasurer of the writers association, said there was no tie-breaking provision. The secret ballot is conducted by mail.

Regular season games taken into consideration. The ballota are made between the close of the regular season and the start of the playoffs.

Kimmer Didn't Quit, Gets Weekly Award

CINCINNATI (AP)—Divisional play—highlighted by the addition of two teams combined to draw 3,809,688 more fans to National League ballparks in 1969 than in 1968.

The league office has, in an 11-page report, commended East coast play with heavy buzz today after years of frustration.

Seven of the 12 teams surpassed the one million mark and 12 teams together drew 12,098,646 in 1969 while the 12 established teams accounted for 13,349,348 of that.

But the guy New Orleans Saints quarterback didn't quit today, after years of frustration, he has come up with a superb performance and captured the Associated Press National Football League Offensive Player of the Week Award.

Kimmer is a cutoff, but he doesn't like that description. The Saints acquired him from the Detroit Lions in the first round of the draft.

He gives all the credit to the offensive blocking he had in the fourth quarter after the Saints had a 30-point cushion.

Kimmer completed 21 of 35 passes for 245 yards and 3 touchdowns. He also had 11 touchdowns.

Kimmer's performance was a surprise. He had been a backup quarterback for the Saints.

HUNTING and FISHING

HOT WEATHER ANGLING When the sun comes up, the fish go down, and all the good fishermen go to town.

This little bit of degerrel is for anglers to remember in the summer time, when the sun's rays strike the earth more directly than at any other season.

When this happens, the shallow water in lakes warms quickly as the sun rises, and most species of fish withdraw to deeper water for the remainder of the day.
