Arabs Killed After Raping U.S. Women

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Palestinian guerrilla leaders said Sunday that two Arabs were executed for raping two American women during last week's wild fighting in Amman between commandos and Jordanian army troops.

While the situation in Jordan appeared to be cooling, Israeli warplanes resumed their attacks on Egyptian military positions along the Suez Canal over the weekend, and Israeli commandos staged a raid into Jordan.

Flanked by two bodyguards armed with submachine guns, Yasar Arafat, head of the Al Fatah commandos, told a news conference in the Jordanian capital that one rape case had been brought to his attention. He said the guilty Arab was arrested, tried and executed.

Later another Al Fatah spokesman told newsmen that a second Arab had been executed for raping another American woman. He added that both women had been evacuated from Jordan.

Arafat accused the United States of triggering the fighting in Jordan—in which 70 operations were killed or wounded—and warned that U.S. intervention would turn the Middle East into another Vietnam.

Saying that the guerrillas will "crush all who stand in our way," Arafat in effect also warned the government of Lebanon that a proposed crackdown on commandos could lead to Jordan-style trouble.

Two hours before a Lebanese government ban curtailing guerrilla activity along its border with Israel, Al Fatah rockets were fired Sunday at an Israeli town on the frontier, the Voice of Palestine radio said in Cairo today.

The report said after the attack, a guerrilla patrol clashed with an Israeli unit.

The Lebanese government last month decreed that from today firing across the border and the laying of mines close to it would be prohibited.

Jordanian Interior Minister Najib Rusehdidat said in a broadcast that reports from throughout the country indicated conditions were normal again. Joint army-guerrilla patrols toured Amman, urging the people to return to work. Representatives of the government, the army and the guerrillas announced an agreement that the guerrillas would not carry arms in the towns and cities. But during Sunday afternoon sporadic machine-gun fire was heard from the outskirts of Amman.

The Egyptian government said 60 Israeli planes attacked positions along the Suez Canal in a series of raids that started Saturday night and ended Sunday at noon.

The statement said five Egyptian soldiers were wounded and one Israeli plane was hit by anti-aircraft fire.

The Tel Aviv command said a small Israeli army force attacked an Arab guerrilla base eight miles east of the Jordan River Saturday night, when tensions were still running high between guerrillas and King Hussein's army.

A Jordanian account of the raid, which was the first into Jordan since March 5, said the Israelis came in a single helicopter, blew up an isolated house, kidnapped a teacher and an old farmer, and then returned to the west bank of the river. The Israelis said they took two Arab prisoners after destroying a guerrilla base.

Area Youth In Big Week

Graduations are scheduled this week for Bolton High School on Tuesday; Howell Cheney Technical School on Wednesday; Manchester, Rockville, South Windsor, Coventry, and Rham High Schools on Thursday.

Accounts of the exercises will be carried in The Herald on the day following graduation.

A two-page edition of The High School World will appear in Friday's Herald.

Anyone who wants to receive extra copies of Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday papers is asked to call the circulation department, 647-9948.

Bandits Get $2,000 In Town Stickup

By BILL COE AND DOUGLAS BEVINS (Herald Reporters)

Three men, two of them armed and masked, held up the Howard Johnson Restaurant at 394 Tolland Tpk. shortly before 11 this morning, forced the night manager to open a safe, and made off with about $2,000 in cash after locking him and six other employees in a large walk-in refrigerator.

Virgil Burton, the assistant manager, and the others were a few minutes later to force a haap on the refrigerator door, make their escape and telephone police. No one was harmed, police reported. The entire holdup took only a matter of minutes, and occurred just after the restaurant doors had closed for the night at 12:46.

According to Kenneth Twombly, the manager, who had received an account of the robbery from Burton, the gunmen were able to gain entrance at the rear of the building through a door normally locked after hours because one of the employees had gone outside to empty garbage.

Dodd Talks Of Flags — No Politics

GUILFORD, Conn. (AP)—Sen. Thomas J. Dodd got back into the public eye Sunday and talked a bit about the American flag, patriotism and supporting the President—but not about his own political plans.

The 63-year-old senator was guest of honor at a Flag Day celebration on the old town green here. He said afterward, when asked about his plans, that it didn't seem proper to talk about politics.

Apart from an appearance in the Senate last week, it was the first time Dodd had appeared in public since suffering a heart attack May 13.

It was the first time, too, that reporters had a chance to talk with him since before he bowed out of the Democratic race for the Senate nomination on Friday.

One reporter got a straight "no comment," and another was told that Dodd would be in touch, when they asked him about his political plans. Dodd

Seven Policemen Injured During East Harlem Rioting

NEW YORK (AP)—Hundreds of windows were broken, dreds of youths rampaged a half dozen stores looted and through an 11-block section of dozens of trash fires set in the predominantly Puerto Rican East Harlem Sunday night, police said. Police reinforcements breaking windows and setting fighting the flames.

At one point, a barrier of flames stretched across Third Avenue at 111th Street, snarling traffic.

One patrolman, Thomas Saville, was knocked to the street and kicked in the head and back by a group of youths at 112th Street and Third Avenue, police said.

The disturbance followed an evening rally called by the Young Lords, a militant Puerto Rican youth organization, to protest the arrest of Juan C. Ortiz, 16, the group's "finance minister," earlier in the day.

But Felipe Luciano, the national chairman of the Young Lords, said at the group's Bronx headquarters Sunday night that his organization had nothing to do with the disturbances.

Graduates Told:

U.S. on 'Threshold of Revolution'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The president of Howard University, speaking during another busy day of commencement ceremonies, has told graduating blacks that America has entered the 1970s "clearly on the threshold of a revolution."

Elsewhere on the nation's campuses Sunday, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., urged a group of business institute graduates to "awaken corporations to social needs by agitating for employee representation in the decision making process."

Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., told the City College of New York commencement that the nation needs a second, non-violent American revolution to square its policies and priorities with its founding ideals.

Howard President Dr. James E. Cheek, one of four Negroes named by President Nixon Saturday to a special commission to study the causes and cures of campus unrest, addressed Shaw University graduates in Raleigh, N.C.

He said the top priority for black Americans is to prevent the nation's two societies—black and white—from continuing to drift apart. He said demands of blacks are no longer for civil rights but for social justice.

"It is no longer simply a question of the rights of citizenship, but rather the question of the rights of humanity," said Cheek, adding that the question now was one of fundamentally altering American society.

"In the last 18 months, we have witnessed a developing resistance on the part of our political leadership to this emerging struggle; we have watched with growing alarm a steady retreat from the principles on which this nation was founded, and a steady march in the direction of repression and oppression," he said. "America the beautiful has been moving toward America the hysterical."

"Clearly the nation has entered the decade of the seventies—if not already in the throes of an internal revolt, clearly on the threshold of a revolution whose outcome no one can predict," Cheek added.

Howard, the Washington, D.C., university headed by Cheek, is largely Negro.

At the CCNY ceremonies, McGovern said the United States "has wandered so far from its ideals that it has almost lost its way."

He said there were valuable insights to be gained from critics on both the left and right. "But I have come to a deepening conviction that the surest hope for America lies neither with a new set of ideals, nor an entirely new system," he said. "Rather our hope lies with a genuine affirmation of the nation's historic ideals and more intelligent effort to modify and influence the system to serve those ideals more effectively."

Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., addressing the Stanford University commencement in California, said the nation faces a "crisis of dissent" and urged an end to the Indochina involvement and renunciation of the role of world policeman.

He said the nation should seek out issues on which there is consensus, such as pollution, "and marshal all of our forces in a common effort to solve the problems."

Nearly half of the Stanford graduates appeared without traditional caps and gowns in a peace demonstration.

At the University of California at Santa Barbara, most of the graduates read aloud a statement of commitment that said in part: "We ... do solemnly swear to dedicate our lives in the hopes of achieving a better world, a world in which perpetual, just peace shall reign."

The school has been the scene of periodic disruptions since February when young people burned down a bank in the near-by campus community of Isla Vista, but the ceremonies Sunday were quiet.

Yale's First Black Trustee Elected in Nationwide Ballot

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—The first black trustee in Yale University's 269-year history, A. Leon Higginbotham Jr., will take over the seat now occupied by Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York on July 1, Yale President Kingman Brewster Jr. announced Sunday.

Higginbotham is U.S. District Court judge for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania. His election to the governing body of trustees, known as the Alumni Fellows of the Yale Corporation, came in a nationwide ballot by alumni.

Lindsay's term expires next month, and three of the six candidates to fill his seat were black. There are 19 alumni fellows of the corporation.

Higginbotham graduated from Antioch College and then from Yale Law School in 1962. He has held his current judicial post in Pennsylvania since 1964.

Newark Balloting May Tell State of U.S. Racial Tension

By HAYNES JOHNSON
The Washington Post

NEWARK — On Broad Street, above John's Bargain Store and a rapid reducing "Figure Tone" spa in the heart of downtown, ward workers have hoisted a huge sign. Orange letters on a bright blue backdrop spell out the message: "Re-elect Mayor Addonizio for peace and progress in Newark."

Newark has had little peace and not much progress these past few years, and by all the old standards of political logic, Hugh Addonizio is a certain loser.

The mayor is now on trial along with other city officials on extortion-conspiracy charges, his city is broke, much of it remains in rubble, and its citizens, depending on individual styles, are angry, apathetic, or cynical. It is hard to find anyone with a good word for the mayor of the last eight years.

Besides that, Addonizio's opponent in Tuesday's runoff polled more than twice as many votes as he did, but not enough to win a clear majority of the six candidates competing a month ago. Now Addonizio faces only the man who beat him decisively last month, Kenneth Gibson, who is going away.

But reason is not the rule in Newark today.

Newark is dangerously divided; it is writhing with new tensions and recriminations. All the issues before the voters — municipal services and municipal corruption, including allegations of Mafia control, plans for a "new Newark" and a renaissance of New Jersey's most important metropolis have been supplanted by only one topic, Race.

Kenneth Gibson is black, Hugh Addonizio is white. The election comes down to that.

Go anywhere in Newark these days and you encounter evidence of the most basic prejudices and hatreds. As you leave your hotel at night, the bellhop says, "you better put some shoe polish on your face if you're going out there."

In the lobby, an anonymous leaflet of the type being distributed everywhere in the city has old black headlines saying, "Gibson's chief aid says, 'kill whites right now.'" At the Federal Building, a group of citizens carries a coffin draped in black crepe and placards reading, "If black is beautiful why is snow white?" Their spokesman, a white off-duty Newark policeman, says Addonizio is being "persecuted."

Out in the north ward, Anthony Imperiale, the former councilman and leader of an armed white citizens' patrol, is telling a group of his followers who supported him for mayor last month that "I need not remind you of the 1967 riots. From the back of the hall, a man stands and shouts: 'We know what you mean, Tony.' And Imperiale adds: 'This is a war that never ends... and you know what must be done and I don't have to tell you."

And in the central ward, where block after block bears testimony to riots in burnt-out stores boarded up buildings, and piles of bricks and jagged lumber, Lerol Jones, the black playwright and Newark native, is saying quietly, "I think that if we lose this election none of us is going to be willing to submit any longer to white racism. There are other things that can be done, and they will be done."

It is being said as a truism that this is the most crucial test in Newark's long history. It is that — and more. It is also a national barometer of the current state of racial tensions, and a prime example of the agony of most major American cities.

The question, for Newark and other crowded industrial centers, is nothing less than survival.

"It's not just what happens to me as an individual," Gibson says, "but what happens to 400,000 people in this city. It's the quality of life in this city that's at stake. The very future of this city is tied up on it."

When he goes into the city wards every night, Gibson campaigns quietly. To blacks, he urges caution and patience. "Regardless of what kind of confrontation you are drawn into," he told a packed meeting in a storefront on the south side the other night, "Walk away from it. You ought to be able to take a little name calling ...

Court Expands Rule On Draft Exemption

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today exempted from military service all young men who have strong moral or ethical objections to military duty—so long as their beliefs are deeply held and are not based on expediency.

Interpreting the draft law section that provides for conscientious objectors, Justice Hugo L. Black wrote: "That section exempts from military service all those whose consciences, spurred by deeply held moral, ethical, or religious beliefs, would give them no rest or peace if they allowed themselves to become a part of an instrument of war."

In another decision today, the court held that Maryland may not deny the vote in state and local elections to persons living on federal installations.

The decision applies evidently to federal enclaves and installations in all states.

The court division in the draft case was 5 to 3.

The decision reverses the conviction and three-year prison term of Elliott Ashton Welsh II, a Los Angeles computer engineer who refused Army induction.

Justices, William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan Jr., and Thurgood Marshall joined Black's opinion. Justice John M. Harlan supported the result, forming a five-man majority.

Black said Welsh qualified for the exemption even though he did not base his plea to be spared from military duty on a direct belief in a supreme being.

In fact, the justice noted, Welsh struck the word "religious" from the C.O. application and characterized his beliefs as having been formed "by reading in the fields of history and sociology."

The important thing, Black said, is that Welsh adhered to his beliefs with a strength comparable to that of traditionally deeply religious people. Even though his objection to war was undeniably based in part on his perception of world politics, Black said, he is entitled to be exempt under the draft law.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justices Potter Stewart and Byron R. White dissented.

White, speaking for the three, said: "I cannot join today's construction of section 6.J of the draft law extending draft exemption to those who disclaim religious objections to war and whose views about war represent a purely personal code arising not from religious training and belief as the statute requires but from readings in philosophy, history and sociology."

"Our obligation in statutory construction cases is to enforce the will of Congress, not our own."

The ruling flowed from a decision by the Supreme Court in another draft case in March 1965. The court held then that a conscientious objector met the exemption test if a "sincere and meaningful belief" occupied his life in a manner parallel to that filled by God in more traditional religious believers.

The draft law provision interpreted by the court is the one that exempts from combat and non-combat service men who "by reason of religious training and belief... (are) conscientiously opposed to participation in war in any form."

Welsh, affirmed a deep conscientious scruple against taking part in wars where people are killed. He stated he believed "the taking of life—anyone's life—is to be morally wrong."

Like Daniel Andrew Seeger in the 1965 decision, Black said, Welsh strongly believed killing in war was wrong, unethical

Sharon Tate Murder Trial To Begin After Long Delay

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The long-delayed murder-conspiracy trial of four hippie-type clan members opens today—more than 10 months after the bizarre slayings of actress Sharon Tate and six others.

Superior Court Judge Charles H. Older, intent on getting the trial under way, hastily disposed of all pretrial motions Friday.

Charles Manson, shaggy-haired leader of a nomadic "family," stands trial along with three shapely women followers.

Manson, 35, and codefendants Susan Atkins, 21, Leslie Van Houten, 26, and Patricia Krenwinkel, 22, were ejected from court during three tumultuous pretrial hearings last week when they refused to sit down.

On Friday, Manson—the slight, dark-eyed clan leader once called "God" and "Christ" by his followers—scuffled with bailiffs after he assumed a crucifixion pose with arms extended and head bowed. The young Frank Pandolfi has announced a new New York City opera by him... The season will open Oct. 20 with Verdi's "Aida," the most popular of all opera genres.

Opposite her will be Jess Thomas, another American who achieved great fame for his promise in Germany something like fifteen years ago. He's way over six feet tall, and built like a prizefighter...

"La Traviata" stands on Nov. 17. This features Beverly Sills in the title role. She too, will be making a debut here in the role of the top of her form right now. In the past five years she has improved immeasurably and is somebody you should here right now while she is at her best.

Aldo Bottini, about whom I nothing, will sing opposite her. He is a young man who has been singing here on several previous occasions, once when he was understudy to the role of the elder Germont...

On Jan. 27 we get "La Boheme" with Gianluigi Nini in the title role. He will likewise be new to Hartford, and comes from the opera company, Nicola di Virgilio who is the Rodolfo of the production...

Capital Whirl: Spiro Agnew Plays It Safe With Pool

By MAXINE CHESHIRE
WASHINGTON — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has taken up a new form of recreation and his opponents probably won't be on occasion, where he got a first hand look at a pool table set up in the basement of the Sheraton Park Hotel apartment building where he lives.

"The only way he can hit anyone with a ball there," said one of his aides, "will be if he gets mad and picks it up and throws it at them."

Agnew is an avid pool player. He and Mrs. Agnew had a table in the basement of the Sheraton Park Hotel apartment building where he lives.

"I see you have four new books of bridge puzzles out on sale among the shelves of the bookstore."

"Put yourself in my place, holding the East cards. South has five diamonds, discarding a spade and a heart, and four cards in each major suit."

"My partner threw a club on the last diamond. This gave me the impression that he had something in each major. I would discard discouragingly from that right?"

"Declarer now began to run the clubs, and I threw a spade and a heart, coming down to three cards in each major."

"South and West just followed suit. When declarer next led the third club from dummy I had to make the crucial decision. Should I reduce to two spades or to two hearts?"

"Wrong. All you can do is give South credit for playing the hand extremely well. Also give him credit for 1-4-0 points."

Coventry Principals File Report On Curriculum Studies

The result of several months of discussion on curriculum by the principals of the two elementary schools has been put into a report to the Board of Education.

Coventry Grammar School states that the discussions have resulted in the development of a common philosophy of elementary education as well as an emerging pattern of techniques designed to implement that philosophy.

The curriculum study of the two schools, CGS and Robertson School, was initiated last year following public criticism in town meetings that children at the two schools were getting shortchanged in their education.

At about the time these curriculum studies were being conducted, the principals of the two schools resigned, and during the summer of 1969, the two schools were merged into one school.

'Devastation' Predicted With Proposed I-84 Routes

Several Andover town agents have submitted a comprehensive report rejecting several proposed routes through town for the new I-84. The report concludes that several routes would promote "ecological, social and economic devastation" in the town.

The lengthy report, submitted to the State Bureau of Highways' consultant, Charles A. Maguire and Associates, Inc., states that the proposed routes would destroy the town's scenic beauty and would significantly separate the town from the rest of the state.

The report also states that the proposed routes would destroy the town's scenic beauty and would significantly separate the town from the rest of the state.

placed to become more and more a state for those harmless second class talents who are never going to take charge of anything.

And, as an early precedent for this, the analysts refer to the powerful status of Dr. Henry Kissinger, the White House adviser on foreign policy matters, as compared to that of Secretary of State Roberts.

Under the new system, it would be pointless for Secretary Hibel to complain that he never gets to see the President, except, perhaps, on ceremonial or social occasions.

There is nothing new about occasional concentration of the real power in some particular field of governmental policy in the White House and its staff rather than in the Cabinet office and department formally responsible for that field.

Perhaps the most important consideration involved is that of the morale, and the performance, which can be expected from the various governmental departments in such an arrangement.

They will not be invited to have much respect for their own immediate heads; they will not really know whom they are working for; there probably couldn't be any worse way to run governmental departments from the point of view of staff morale and efficiency. That prospect, at least, will have to be set against whatever gain in White House convenience and efficiency may result from the creation of a second cabinet which will be the real one.

Victim Massacre: The other day, in what seemed, even for them, a new excess in sheer terrorism, the Vietcong ran shooting wild for two hours through a hamlet near Daung in the South Vietnam, killing at least 74 civilians during their rampage.

American newspapers carried full details of the story, together with many pictures of the dead, the wounded and the mourning.

To which, we know, a good many Americans exclaimed: "About time we showed some of the atrocities committed by the enemy instead of concentrating on just the few committed by our boys."

And those Americans who were glad to see the news concentrating, for a change, on some of the barbaric evil which could clearly be credited to the enemy had, we saw some, a follow-up wish. Now, they said to themselves, perhaps some of those commentators and editorialists will pay a little attention to the horrible things a little has been doing.

A little explanation seems in order. Vietcong terrorism never makes as much news as American terrorism because it is considered a rule, and the American variety is considered the exception. It is what is strange and unusual-like man biting dog-which makes news.

No one is surprised if the Vietcong resort to murder instead of conducting themselves by the supposed codes of war. Everybody is surprised if American soldiers do.

That is what makes news. As for what makes comment, there are certain principles which commentators are supposed to keep in mind, no matter how convenient it might be to forget them.

One such principle is that bringing up one large wrong to put alongside one small wrong does not make the small wrong a right.

Another such principle is that what any enemy does is his responsibility and on his conscience. If he has any, and that what we do is our own responsibility and on our own conscience, if we have any.

We do, we Americans, acknowledge a responsibility, and possess and preserve a conscience.

That is why we behave as if our own conduct were much more important than the conduct of the enemy.

When we ever cease to make that distinction, then we shall have lost something much more important than any single battle or war. We shall have lost ourselves.

Super Cabinet? Now that the transfer of H.E.W. Secretary Robert Finch from a formal place in the Cabinet to a less formal place in the White House is being accompanied by a similar move for Labor Secretary George P. Shultz, some Washington comment finds the two moves adding up to a trend.

And the trend is thought to be one in which President Nixon, who once promised to strengthen the role of the Cabinet, has given up on the Cabinet as an institution, and chosen, instead, to strengthen the White House itself.

Where the transfer of Finch seemed to be something in the nature of a rescue of an old friend, the transfer of Shultz seems to be a choice to put the best talent where the greatest responsibility and power may be.

Under this diagnosis, the Cabinet is

WASHINGTON — The fine hand of Atty. Gen. John Mitchell, top sergeant of the Nixon Cabinet, was pulling strings behind the scenes in the surprising switch of Elliot Richardson from the paneled halls of the State Department to the bloody battlefield of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) last week.

In addition, Mayer told Ehrlichman that HEW has fallen down badly checking on the state of nutrition of the poor.

Mitchell's positions on the issues which face the state are sensible, forthright, honest, and, most importantly, economy-minded. He has the courage to clearly state where he stands. With the state in financial shambles, Tom Meekill is the one to lead us in the 1970's.

Bill Would Curb Nixon War Power

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits proposed legislation today to place a 30-day limit on the President's authority to commit U.S. forces to combat without declaration of war.

The New York Republican called his bill "the logical final step resulting from a series of measures now pending aimed at getting us out of Cambodia and Vietnam as soon as possible."

Alides said Javits has been assured his bill will have hearings by the Foreign Relations Committee, of which he is a member.

His announcement came as the Senate headed into what both sides expected to be the fifth and final week of the current round in the debate on U.S. involvement in Southeast Asia.

The bill would limit the week on the Cooper-Church amendment, cutting off funds for U.S. actions in Cambodia after June 30, after one last administration effort to water it down by permitting a limited civil support for Asian nations such as Thailand that seek to help the Cambodian government.

The main amendment, sponsored by Sen. Frank Church (D-Idaho), and John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky.), is part of military sales authority to the President. It would limit the President's authority to spend some $200 million on the arms sale program.

Under the Javits proposal, a president could commit U.S. forces in the absence of a declaration of war in four contingencies:

-To repulse a sudden attack on the United States or its possessions;

-To repulse an attack on U.S. armed forces legally stationed abroad;

-To protect the lives and property of U.S. nationals abroad;

-To comply with a lawful national commitment, such as a positive action of Congress and the President.

The bill would limit the action to 30 days "unless affirmative action is taken by the Congress to sustain such action."

Congress also would have the power to cut the 30-day period to 15 days.

Our tragic experience in Indochina shows that the pendulum has swung too far in the direction of presidential war-making power," Javits said.

Postal Bill Appears Headed for Victory

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the most sweeping plans to active to mid-April would cost overhaul the American mail another $107.6 million for the current year ending June 30.

The only House committee headed for victory in the House vote last week, showed 103 firm floor opposition.

The assumption that the vote on the bill, that should be passed by the House in mid-June, is a foregone conclusion.

The big fight over compulsory union membership—always a volatile issue in Congress—has been so widespread that neither party bothered to vote on the bill.

But during committee hearings last week the bill ran into that heavy fire over compulsory union membership, retroactive pay, and Congress' impending.

But backers note the bill provides for 183 years of control of the Post Office—including patronage.

Those issues — particularly compulsory union membership — remain alive and opponents are prepared to fight over them during debate.

Not all the potential roadblocks will be in Congress.

The National Letter Carriers union, which played a major part in the nation's only mail strike earlier this year, has raised the threat of a walkout this weekend if the House kills the bill.

Winton M. Blount says he may recommend a veto if the bill carries with the costly retroactive pay feature intact.

The timing of the pay boost is a major difference between the House version and a bill approved by the Senate Post Office Committee.

Under the House bill, the service is to set postal rates necessary to meet operation costs. House floor the 8 per cent subject increase will be retroactive to April 15.

The Senate measure calls for it to take effect upon passage.

The service would run by an 11-member board. Nine members would be appointed by the President and they would name the vice president and his deputy.

Both of whom would be board members.

8th District Candidates Uncontested

To date, there are no opposition candidates to those 11 Utilities District officers up for reelection June 24, when the District holds its annual meeting.

The meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. at the Bentley School Auditorium, Hollister St.

Expected to be reelected are: William Hankinson, to one year term as president; Paul Cervini and Patrick Donlan, to three-year terms as directors; Joseph Vols, to a one-year term as treasurer; and Mrs. Mary Laris, to a one-year term as tax collector.

In other business June 24, the electors will be asked to approve a budget and a tax rate for 1970-71; and to appropriate $200,000, as the District's share of the $6.7 million townwide sanitary-sewer project.

Parents with boys planning to participate this year are urged to attend to insure a successful program.

Week's Activities: Meetings and activities scheduled for the week are as follows: Monday: Board of Finance meeting, 8:30 p.m., Town Office Building.

Hook Quietly Wins With Yankees

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Ralph Houk of the New York Yankees may be the happiest manager in the major leagues right now—and in at least one respect the quietest.

Houk, munched cold sandwiches and tomatoes, was almost jubilant after the Yankees' 10-1 victory over the Baltimore Orioles in the first of three games in the American League East.

"I'm not really happy," Houk said, "and that's just the way I feel. I'm just glad to be here."

Houk said that when he was needed most, that's when he was most needed. He said that when he was most needed, that's when he was most needed.

"That's the big thing that happened to me in the last few days—our starting pitchers are doing their job."

Score One for Roommates

NEW YORK (AP)—Thought I had good stuff, said Seaver, "I fooled myself."

The Braves kicked the New York Yankees out of the lead in the first, one in the third, "Everything was going wrong," said Seaver, "I was a single and the Yankees were leading."

Seaver, who had a 1-0 record in the first game, was hit by a home run and a double in the first inning.

"I was a single and the Yankees were leading," Seaver said. "I was a single and the Yankees were leading."
