By KEN W. CLAWSON The Washington Post WASHINGTON - Attorney Jeneral John N. Mitchell dislosed Thursday that a federal task force of more than 100 will be assigned to the south next month to assure complete desegregation of public schools. The Supreme Court has ruled that schools must be desegregated now," Mitchell said in an interview. "Without fervor, vithout passion, we will enforce he law.' Mitchell said he did not anticipate trouble, "but you never can tell. Much depends on how firmly state and local officials uphold the law." To protect Justice Depart-ment lawyers working in the field, a deputy U.S. marshal will be assigned to each as a 20, believers in God, U.S. ci personal escort.

Southern schools, many of which are under voluntary or compulsory orders to desegre-gate, start opening Aug. 17 and continue through the day after Labor Day.

Before the first school opens, a force of more than 100 feder al officials, equally divided be tween the Departments of Jus-tice and Health, Education and Welfare, will have set up five temporary regional offices. One office will serve North and South Carolina; others Georgia and Florida; Alabama; Mississippi - Louisiana - Arkansas; and Texas. The three-state regional center will be in Jackson, Miss., with the others to be chosen later. Jerris Leonard, assistant attorney general for civil rights, said Justice Department law-

Rogers Almost Back In Line

Friday, July 1

Secretary of State William P. Rogers a gentleman who obviously got his posiion in the Cabinet because of his long ersonal relationship with Presider Richard Nixon, had to do some fancy skating the other day to try to recover his proper place in the Administration formation

What he tried to do, in a surprise appearance of a routine State Department press briefing session, was to recover from what he had done in London two days before.

In London two days before, not many days after President Nixon had said that our success in our Cambodian adventure might very well have the result of inspiring Hanol to serious negotiation at last, Secretary Rogers had said that the result of the Cambodian operation, and the set back for the enemy there, might very well have the result of making Hanoi unwilling to negotiate at this time.

This, taken by itself, might seem surprising good sense, to be coming from a igh administration official. Unfortunately, it collided directly with the obviously superior good sense and judgment of the highest of all administration officials, the President himself.

So, in his penitential, remedial public reading of the signs, Secretary Rogers, in his next public appearance, revised his analysis until he saw the Cambodian operation possibly leading toward negotiations, perhaps not immediately, but in a year or two.

Since this didn't sound as if the Secretary of State had guite made it all the way back toward the White House position, the White House press secretary undertook, later on, to assure newsmen that "It is wrong for you to assume there is any lack of unanimity. There is not." Especially, he added, in the White House, where foreign policy is really made.

One thing the Secretary of State apparently did not feel called upon to retract, perhaps because his chief had no particular public position on it. That was his observation, made in the London interview which got him into trouble, and still held to during his next appearance in Washington, that one result of our move into Cambodia had been to strengthen Communist China's influence with Hanol, by increasing prospects for the long drawn-out kind of struggle China is believed to wish Hanoi to con-

Perhaps even the White House can't figure a way to deny the gain of influence for China, or a way to interpret such a development as something favorable to us.

But the important, troubling thing is that some of the pronouncements of the President are such glib wishful thinking that intelligent members of his own administration have a hard time not contradicting them just by some carelessly innocent adherence to their own rules of common sense.

The more whatever man it is in the White House insists on telling it the way he wishes it were, the more important it is to have somebody who has courage enough, or bad luck enough, to tell it the way it is.

There the Park Department has been forced to devise a system for putting chains and shackles around its new trees and shrubs in order to keep them from being dug up and stolen.

How could there be anything lowe than the stealing of a beautiful tree or shrub from a place in which it has been planted to add pleasure to the lives of many people?

The Park Department, however, is satisfied that these thefts are not thefts of malicious vandalism, or thefts for profit which might be gained from selling the shrubs on some black market.

People steal these trees, the Park Department believes, because they cannot resist trying to have them for their own in same corner of dirt of their own. So it is time to ask the second ques a life of crime? We have at once, then, some of the meanest people in the world and some of the gentlest people of the world, mean enough to rob others for their own sly taste of pastoral pleasure, is fashionable these days to say about pornography that it is boring and harmless. I'm beginning to have my doubts. A walk through Times Square these days is like a walk through a disease. Skin flicks for homosexuals have burst upon us everywhere in the area; the good old-fashioned hetero skin flicks are booming. Russ Meyer who used to turn out simple-minded sagas featuring the largest mammary glands in the Western world, is now a respectable director working for a respectable Hollywood company. And the city grows more and more vile and rotting in its heart.

Politically, the spread of pornography can only help the right wing. The loosening of the obscenity laws (which are not really concerned with pornog raphy) was led by liberals. The skir flicks have boomed under the admin istration of a liberal mayor. When 'the reaction comes - as it must - it will be indiscriminate. Por ography will be just one of the objects, and a lot more serious things will vanish with it. The next time meone tells you that sado-masochist books written by morons have any thing to do with a fresh new vision of society, remind him that every revolution that has taken place in the West has been puritanical before it has been anything else. If there has ever been hedonistic revolution, I haven't heard about it yet. A lot of this junk wouldn't bother se, if it were no so entirely involved in cruelty. I've been as guilty of cruelty as anyone but the cruelty here is the cruelty that can only take place when people are taught to think of strangers as ob-

Women in these books and magazines are not living human beings; they are canisters of flesh, to be whipped. hained, raped, burned with cigarets stepped on, or whatever other vile act the writers can imagine. These are not women with intelligence, with hopes; with fears or complicated desires; they are fantasies for people who think happiness is somehow involved with a succession of accessible vaginas, lace ated flesh, or the infliction of violence Pornography worships technique and nechanics; it has nothing at all to do with human feeling. It is violently selfish , built around the pleasure of men it the expense of women.

The liberals cannot have it both ways when it comes to pornography. If the stores were flooded with books advocating the physical violation of Jews, there would be an uproar. If those books were about castrating and torturing blacks, there would be court orders everywhere If they were defenses of segregation r apartheid, we would be revolted. Initead, pornobraphy is among us in a flood, designed to incite cruelty and violence against other human beings who do not fit into any "acceptable' category. Just women. Just objects.

We cannot be moved any more by the picture of the Vietnamese woman hold ing her murdered child in her lap. The irst time the Marines set fire to a building in Vietnam there was an upoar; now not even the slaughter at My Lai seem to move us. The language of jingosim is not much different rom the language of pornography; it wants to excite without true feeling or a sense of consequence.

This is a town which seems to be growing more inhuman and grimy by he day, and the pornography wave is only part of it. But if some things will take time, the pornography busitess can be dealt with in easier ways. iberals can begin by thinking about heir catechism like responses about uman freedom; pornography does not ree people, it imprisons them. The skin flick joints are licensed by the city; those licenses can be picked up. The more swinish sex papers can be out out of business, if not in the courts, then by simple ostracism. The liberals should lead that fight, in the name of / human decency, because if they don't the right wing will. And when the right wing starts to burn books, Stendhal will vanish with the garbage. Pornography will not make us any more human than bogus patriotism will. We will not begin to act decently to each other until we see each other as human beings first. If we continue to fill up our grow emptiness with rotten fantasles he result will be a state even more murderous and malignant than the one we have now. If that is possible. -PETE HAMILL IN THE NEW YORK

Moreover, Veneman purge talk oddly coincides with conscious attempts by Mitchell and other key Nixon officials to move the Administration a bit back toward the center. Thus, the drive to purge Veneman must stem less from ideology than from the sometimes vicious infighting which has been the trademark of the Nixon administration.

AMAZING RETIREMENT HOMES

Homes are not shell homes, but are completely finished and furnished with no extras to buy. All of Jensen's pre-built homes and mobilehomes are built to American Standard Association Code A119.1 or above.

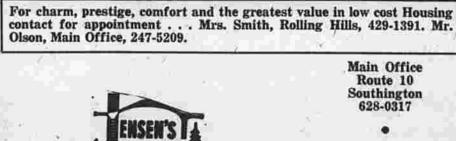

Professionally Landscaped Lots-you will be surprised at the layout and planning on each lot. Perky evergreens, sturdy shade trees and colorful flowering shrubs highlight this development.

Retirement Home Villages are engineered, planned and built around the theory that pre-built home mobilehome living is practical and enjoyable for couples. We do not recommend this type of living for people with school children.

YOU DON'T HAVE TO BE RETIRED to buy a retirement home. Many people whose last child has left home, purchased them although their retirement may be 10 to 15 years away.

High Type Purchasers-This low cost housing is not necessarily purchased by low income people, but to the contrary is purchased by the older well-todo, who are interested in reducing the living costs and physical drudgery. The housework is a few moments a day, and maintenance is almost nonexistent. Use some of the extra time for card parties, visiting, swimming pool, relaxing in the Sauna or simply lie around.

AP Millitary Writer WASHINGTON (AP) -American generals in Vietnam run a greater risk of being killed on the battlefield than in -any previous 20th Century war partly because they often travel to ill-defined battle zones to oversee troop movements.

Seven generals have been killed to date in Vietnam. Three perished when their helicopter or planes crashed after being struck by enemy groundfire Two were killed when their hellcopter crashed. Another was picked off by a Viet Cong sniper. And an Air Force general died when the B52 in which he was riding collided with another big bomber during a Vietnam mission.

Veteran officers and military historians, noting the high num-ber of battlefield deaths, cite the ill-defined battle lines of the guerrilla style conflict as part of he reason.

In World War I, World War II, and Korea, they said, the action was fought along clearly identi-fied lines. General officers rarey appeared on the front lines, they said, directing the opera-tions from the rear by issuing commands over the telephone and radio.

But in Vietnam, where there is no battle line, a division or brigade commander may fin his units widely dispersed and fighting as individual elements. Thus, the generals often have felt it necessary to fly over the battlefields to monitor and direct the actions of troops under their command. They also have adopted a practice of making fiying visits to units in the field. The helicopter also has come into its own, replacing the horse of the Indian campaigns and the jeep of World War II as the fa-stered by 1,500 U.S. Marines and heavy American B52 bombing raids an 8,000-man allied force pushed ahead today with a massive drive to destroy North Vietnamese base camps in the northern part of South Vietnam near the Laotian border.

The allies continued to meet little resistance in the week-long operation, indicating that North Vietnamese troops and many of their supplies may be in staging areas across the border.

This, along with other developments, heightened speculation that some South Vietnamese units might be preparing to extend the campaign into Laos. Except for the 1,500 Marines and another 500 American support troops, the rest of the allied force is made up of South Vietnamese forces. The new developments includ
