CIRCUIT COURT 12 Manchester Session

An Andover man was convicted yesterday of evading responsibility after a lengthy trial characterized by contradictory testimony.

Paul Jurovsky, 66, was arrested in connection with an accident in the Mott's Supermarket parking lot on July 25 in which he backed out of a parking space and struck a shopping cart. The cart was being pushed by Mrs. Nancy McGinley of Bolton. Her five-year-old daughter was sitting in the cart.

Mrs. McGinley testified that Jurovsky's car knocked the cart over injuring her daughter and causing minor damage to her car. She said that Jurovsky got out of the car, looked at her, got back in his car and drove away without saying anything.

Jurovsky and his wife testified that they both heard a bump as they backed out of the parking space, but Jurovsky did not see any damage to his car without saying anything because Mrs. McGinley was yelling at him.

Judge Henry Goldberg found Jurovsky guilty and fined him $50.

In another case tried yesterday, Norman D. Johnson, 23, of East Hartford, was found guilty of killing a dog and driving a hunting weapon. He was fined $40 with $100 because the second charge was part and parcel to the first.

Johnson was also fined $25 for hunting without a license and $50 for breach of the peace. He had previously pleaded guilty to both charges.

A hearing on a motion to suppress evidence was held in the case of William H. Chase, 21, of 169 Woodland St., charged with illegal possession of a controlled drug.

He was arrested on June 15 after police stopped the truck he was driving to look for a rifle which had been reported stolen in a truck whose description matched Chase's truck. Police found several pipes and a substance wrapped in aluminum foil on the floor of the truck.

The defense is basing its motion to suppress on the fact that there was no warrant for Chase's arrest and the search of the truck was therefore illegal.

The case was continued for two weeks to allow the defense to prepare a brief.

Another hearing on a motion to suppress evidence in the case of Helen A. Korman, 40, of 210 St. Charles St., charged with two counts of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol, was begun then continued after some legal conflict developed over the wording of the motion.

Timothy Chapman, 17, of Hartford was sentenced to 30 days in jail, and probation for two years. He was previously found guilty of breaking and entering with criminal intent in connection with a break at Cole's Atlantic Station on W. Center St. on June 8. Sentencing came after Judge Goldberg was given the results of a pre-sentence investigation.

Richard W. Adams, 28, no certain address, was found guilty of operating a motor vehicle while his license was under suspension, operating an unregistered motor vehicle and mis-use of registration plates. His case was continued for disposition at the request of his attorney.

Another charge of larceny under $200 was noted.

A re-arrest warrant was issued for James H. Cook of Middletown, failed to appear yesterday to face a charge of breaking and entering.

All previous probable cause was begun in the case of Michael Dixon, 17, of Hartford, and Danny Love, 16, of Wilmamantic. They are facing a variety of charges in connection with a series of housebreaks June 18 in the North End.

Ronald Miller, 16, presently at the Meriden School for Boys, was the chief state witness. He was declared a hostile witness by Judge Goldberg at the request of Prosecutor William Collins after Miller said that several signed statements he gave to police, implicating Love and Dixon, were false. He said that Love and Dixon were charged with breaking and entering, and that they would let him go.

The hearing was continued by Judge Goldberg so that the officers who took the statements could be subpoenaed.

Daniel Henry, 18, of Glastonbury, was sentenced to 90 days in jail, execution suspended, and placed on two years probation with the condition that he voluntarily commit himself to Norwich Hospital for treatment of his drug problem.

Three other charges of theft from a person, larceny under $200, and possession of marijuana were noted.

Other cases disposed of were: John P. Shannon, 41, of 108 Falkner Dr., found guilty of making unnecessary noise with a motor vehicle, fined $15.

charge of reckless driving was noted.

Alan C. Jones, 21, of Rockville found guilty of operating a motor vehicle without a license, and unsafe backing, fined a total of $60.

A 65-year-old Manchester man was found guilty of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor.

The man, Adolph Weiskopf of 70 E. Center St., was fined $100 and A. Payne, originally charged with failure to drive to the right; Edgar L. Davis, originally charged with speeding; and Edward Yankowski, 22, of 198 and operating a motor vehicle with breach of the peace by assault.

Suzanne Galante, 19, of Cromwell, was found guilty Tuesday on a substitute information of possession of stolen goods, and she was fined $25. She was arrested June 9 in Manchester on a warrant charging her with breaking and entering, and larceny under $15.

William P. Urain, 45, of South Rd., Bolton, was found guilty Wednesday of operating while under the influence, and was fined $100. The court remitted $25. Urain was arrested in Manchester June 17.

Victor M. Bracken, 17, of Byamtown Lane, was found guilty yesterday of altering an operator's license, and was fined $20.

Correction

An 87-day extension to complete the Mayfair Gardens project is being sought by the contractor, and that figure, stated in the headline in yesterday's story, is correct. Through a typographical error, the figure in the story came out 87 days.

Miss Virginia G. Lowe of 27 Scarborough Rd., Miss Judith T. Miner of 44 Pieter St., Alan R. Tupyk of 10 Concord Rd., and Dwight L. Fisher of 90 Foster St., Wapping, have been named to high honors dean's list for the spring semester at the University of New Hampshire.

Anyone interested in unbaring for the Esplanade, 70 project, should contact Curtis Lawrence, 37 Avery St.

Knock on a Dutchman's Door

By JUNE R. TOMPKINS
The early Dutch settlers of the Hudson River valley in New York State have long since gone, but not without leaving strong evidence of their presence.

N. Y., ventured south along the Hudson River to hunt for game. He found the region so attractive, he decided to settle there.

According to the terms of his patent from the Dutch Government, he was required to build on the land within two years.

The original crude farmstead of 300 years ago has passed on with time; but the wide floor boards, great beams, Dutch doors and Italian look-outs are noteworthy.

At the Bronck family grove, the house also grew a stone addition in 1828, and a brick house built in 1788 with "hyphen hallways" connecting the buildings.

The earliest members of the Bronck family to settle here staked their claim in the northernmost part of New Amsterdam. The area became known as Bronck's land, and over the years, was shortened to Bronck's, or presently, the Bronx.

The purest example of a Dutch casement window is found in the Pieter Bronck House, the black ball front feet are very valuable without the casement.

Architects find a treasure of some of the earliest "tricks of the trade" in this building compound.

One of two oldest known Dutch doors in the Hudson River valley features mitering of the corner to prevent splintering.

Some of the Dutch doors are constructed in Cross and Bible design. In the 1788 brick house, the original one-room stone house, devoid of any built-in storage space or closet, usually had a "can," or very large wooden family cabinet.

building craftsmen would appreciate the construction of pegged beams with a "knee" at the end for additional support, a construction device familiar to shipbuilders.

Also, at either end of the brick house on the outside is a magnificent example of "masonry tooling," a triangular device in brick construction used for supporting to prevent walls from collapsing.

A slave cemetery with crude fieldstones marking the graves is on the premises not far from the Bronck family cemetery.

Tish B'ov, the ninth day of the Hebrew Month Osh, is observed in the Jewish calendar as the anniversary of the destruction of Jerusalem by the Romans in the year 70. On that day the Temple in Jerusalem was burned, thousands of Jews were slain by the invaders and hundreds of thousands were driven into exile.

In the past nineteen hundred years, Jews everywhere, have observed Tisha B'ov as a day of profound mourning and fasting. In synagogues on that day, the Book of Lamentations and other elegies composed throughout the ages are read in a mournful tone, lamenting the national calamity which has been re-creating the Jewish people and praying fervently for the day when Jerusalem would be restored and dispersed Jewry would return to the Land of the Father.

This centuries-long prayer has been fulfilled in our time and although Jerusalem has been rebuilt and is once again the capital of the Jewish State, Tisha B'ov is still being observed as a reminder of the suffering and persecutions which the Jews have endured throughout the ages.

Sheinwold on Bridge

TAKE SMALL RISK TO INCREASE GAIN
By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Some of the results you get at bridge depend on your temperament as much as on your skill. Some players like to take chances; others like to play close to the vest. The difference shows in the way the hands played a few weeks ago at the world championship in Stockholm.

Both sides vulnerable. Opening lead — Two of Hearts. The bidding was substantially the same at both tables of the match. In the first room North responded two clubs to the opening bid of one notrump. This was the normal Stayman Convention, asking South to show a major suit of four or more cards if he held such a suit.

More Venturesome In the other room, American expert Billy Eisenberg was more adventurous with the East cards. He was willing to double four hearts for penalties even though the bidding sounded just as assured.

North's response of two diamonds was a variety of the Stayman Convention known as "Two Diamonds." A response of two clubs looks for a part score in the major suits, but a response of two diamonds looks for game in a major suit.

Daddario Blames Nixon as Jobs Total Widdles

STRAITFORD, Conn. (AP)—U.S. Rep. Emilio Q. Daddario, the Democratic candidate for governor, charged Friday that the Nixon Administration's economic policies are creating "dangerously high levels of unemployment throughout Connecticut and the rest of the nation."

The unemployment levels in the Bridgeport-New Haven area are well over five per cent, Daddario said in a statement. "Translated into numbers of working men out of jobs, five per cent unemployment means more than 30,000 men and women in this area are now out of work — 30,000 families who must live under the cloud of economic hardship and insecurity for the future," Daddario said.

He made the remarks following a meeting with Democratic leaders in the Stratford-Milford area. Daddario said unemployment "is the most serious problem in this state. It is not only a problem of the future, it is a problem of the present."

He said the state should try to improve the business climate and attract new investment in the state. He called particularly for more federal aid in the form of tax incentives and incentives for the state to accept a stipulated approach.

1040 u.s. individual Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q I just sold my house and had to pay points to get financing for the buyer. How do I handle this cost for tax purposes?

A Add what you paid in points to your other selling costs. This is a factor in determining gain or loss on the sale.

Points paid by the seller to get financing for the buyer may not be deducted as an interest.

For more details on the sale of a house, send a self-addressed stamped envelope to your IRS district office and ask for Publication 523, Tax Information on Selling Your Home. This booklet is free.

Q Instead of shutting down my business for not paying taxes, would you let me stay open so that I can earn the money to pay what I owe?

A Before enforcement action is taken the taxpayer is given ample opportunity to meet his tax obligations. Only when all attempts to gain the taxpayer's cooperation fail does IRS take enforcement action to meet its responsibilities under the law.

Many times IRS is forced to close a business for not paying taxes when the owners use the wages withheld from employees to pay their own taxes and do not deposit them with the government as required. Unless the business operates in such a situation, the longer it is allowed to continue operation the larger the tax liability will become.

Q I want to buy a foreign car while I'm vacationing in Europe this summer. Do I have to pay an excise tax on it? I bring it home with me?

A Yes, the manufacturer's excise tax of 7 percent applies to imported cars, new or used, that are purchased while on vacation abroad and brought back to the U.S. before Jan. 1, 1971. For details see Publication 707, "Excise Tax Information on Imported Foreign-Made Automobiles," available free by sending a post card to your IRS district office.

Q When I filed my tax return earlier this year I forgot to deduct some expenses I had in operating my farm. Is it too late to do it?

A No, changes in a tax return can generally be made within three years from the filing deadline. To make the change, obtain a copy of Form 1040X and Schedule "F" (Form 1040) from your IRS District Office.

Q Our first baby is due next month. When can we start taking medical expenses this year as well as reimbursements we receive from medical insurance?

A Yes, the manufacturer's excise tax of 7 percent applies to imported cars, new or used, that are purchased while on vacation abroad and brought back to the U.S. before Jan. 1, 1971. For details see Publication 707, "Excise Tax Information on Imported Foreign-Made Automobiles," available free by sending a post card to your IRS district office.

Alaska's Father Herman: Orthodox Church Elevates First Saint in Hemisphere

Two years later, the Great Council of Bishops of what is now the 500,000-member American Orthodox Church approved canonization of the Russian Orthodox monk who was the first saint in the Western Hemisphere, will come tonight.

His casket, buried on nearby Spruce Island since his death in 1871, will be carried in a procession around the perimeter of the parish he helped found as a member of the Kodiak Mission, Assemblies of God, the Rev. Kenneth Gustafson, pastor, announced.

Each evening there will be singing directed by Mrs. Robert White. Christ-centered Bible lessons will be taught by Mrs. Gustafson on the theme, "The Great I Am' of Christ."

There will be games with prizes and refreshments.

Parents and friends of the children in the crusade will attend the Friday family night, when a boy and a girl will be crowned king and queen and will receive gifts. Refreshments and fellowship will follow.

Transportation will be provided where possible. For more information, contact the Rev. Mr. Gustafson.

Nixon at Camp
TRUMPINGTON, Md. (AP) — President Nixon is spending the weekend at his Camp David mountain retreat near here.

The President, his wife and his daughter Tricia, plus presidential assistants John D. Ehrlichman, H. R. Haldeman, Dwight Chapin and press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, made the trip by helicopter from the White House Friday.

Father Herman was one of eight members of the first Orthodox Church of North America who landed here in 1794. Placed under house arrest by the Russian American Trading Co. because the mission protected the company's alleged mis-treatment of natives, Father Herman later withdrew to Spruce Island. There he founded a school and orphanage.

He has been credited with miraculous healings and prophecies. Healings associated with his intercession are still recorded in Russian and Alaskan Orthodox churches.

The movement to elevate the Russian saint to the sainthood started in the early 1960s. In 1967 the church created a commission to consider canonization.

Kiddie Korral for Kids
The only full-time day center and nursery school in this area is owned and operated by Mrs. J. C. Durocher.

The day center is open daily from 7 a.m. until 6 p.m., and the nursery is open from 9 to 11:30 every morning. This is a year-round program, with no breaks in the summer.

Two of the most important factors at Kiddie Korral for the youngsters is learning to get along with other boys and girls of approximately the same age, and "directing" those children who are having trouble. This helps immeasurably when the children start regular schooling, for they know quite well what is expected of them.

Kiddie Korral invites your inspection of the facilities.

Auto Tune-Up Center

Expert engine tune-up and air conditioning service is provided by MILEX, the Precision Auto Tune-Up Center, located at 240 Broad St., near the intersection of W. Middle Turnpike. MILEX is equipped with the latest electronic engine analyzers operated by highly trained master technicians who specialize only in engine testing and tuning. MILEX performs no automotive work other than diagnosing and servicing auto engines and air conditioning.

A complete written report is prepared and reviewed with the customer. Only needed repairs are undertaken. Only national brand parts are used. After each repair, replacement or adjustment the work is rechecked by instrument readings while the customer watches) accurately pinpoints any and all problems in (1) battery, (2) starting, (3) charging, (4) ignition, and (5) fuel systems. The in-depth analysis also reveals potential problems that require correction before breakdown occurs.

Today's automobile engines, with their intricate carburetion and anti-pollution systems, require expert tune-up service to maintain efficient and reliable engine performance. The old fashioned "plug and points" tune-up cannot satisfy today's complete engine. MILEX tune-up technicians make all the evaluations, adjustments, repairs and replacements required to return the engine to peak performance levels for maximum driving efficiency.

Region Ends Play, Ties Rockville 7-7

By JERRY KATONA

The season was hard and disappointing for the Manchester American Legion baseball nine, playing their last game of the campaign last night at Mt. Kisco. The local ball club, which had a 6-3 lead, only to have Rockville Legion overtake them with a 7-6 lead. A last-inning rally tied the contest at 7-7. Manchester in Zone Eight play closed out with a 6-10 mark.

Manchester scored two quick runs in the first, off Rockville starter Brian Clark. Dick Morsch and Al Rioske singled and Jim Balesano along with Jack Holik drove them in as Manchester took an early 2-0 lead.

New Alignment, Old Faces Open New Sports Decade

NEW YORK (AP)—The storm has just ended and some thunder lingered on, but nevertheless the stars will come out tonight as headline-grabbing pro football launches the 1970 exhibition season.

The season that almost never was is alive and kicking in 10 stadiums, less than a week after the end of the volatile veterans' strike.

A few "name" players will be in street clothes, but there'll be enough talent to go around as the sport opens the new decade with a new alignment and some second-year players.

Five of the games will be between teams in the newly-fashioned American and National Conferences—Cleveland at Los Angeles; Washington at Cincinnati; Dallas at Kansas City at San Diego, and Kansas City at Detroit.

Veteran Babe Parilli and young Al Woodall will share the quarterbacking for the Joe Namath-less Jets. Namath, New York's ace quarterback and sometime movie star, has been quoted as saying he's finished with football because of personal problems.

Chester McCoy, who has been with the Jets since 1964, will start at quarterback. McCoy, who has been with the Jets since 1964, will start at quarterback. McCoy, who has been with the Jets since 1964, will start at quarterback.

Men's Net King Celebrates Birthday

Young local hero, Connie McCurry, got the visitors out in order in the first three innings. McCurry ran into trouble in the fourth, two Nokes errors, a Muro miscue and Don Casca's solid line-drive double brought in three Rockville runs.

Manchester bounced back with four more tallies in the bottom of the fourth frame. Marsh lined a single driving in two runs and Muro picked up his first two hits for the additional two runs.

McCurry loaded the bases in the last inning on a walk, two singles and Balesano moves from left to relieve McCurry. The result was four runs and three Rockville runs.

Possible All Aussie Final In US Pro Tennis Tournery

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP)—Rod Laver will celebrate his 32nd birthday Sunday, and the long time king of tennis would like nothing better than to do it by winning his fifth consecutive U.S. Pro Tennis championship.

Laver was paired against Cliff Drysdale of South Africa, in one of today's semifinal matches. Laver is a two-time winner of the $200,000 prize money in the week-long tournament at Longwood.

All-Aussie finals are nothing new, of course, in this tournament. Four of the last five title matches have been between opponents from Down Under. And unless the unexpected Drysdale can upset Laver today, it will be another all-Aussie year again Sunday.

Seven Top State Coaches Will Talk at UConn Clinic

Fellow Connecticut high school and collegiate coaches will meet at Storrs next week for old fashioned sports "bull sessions", reminiscence over and refreshments, or view films of UConn sports events.

It will all be part of the daily evening gatherings during the 10th anniversary of the Connecticut Coaches' Clinic to be held at the University of Connecticut Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

The evening programs, which also will include a 5 o'clock reception preceding Tuesday's dinner and a Thursday clinic, will be held at the University of Connecticut campus.

New UConn Coach

STORRS, Conn. (AP)—Billy Kalbaugh, a star basketball former for three years at St. Bonaventure's, has been added to the University of Connecticut basketball staff as a graduate assistant. He replaces Dick Stewart, who was named to the University of Pennsylvania staff upon completion of his graduate studies at Connecticut.

Shaw Ties For American Lead After Consultation with Pro

RIVERSIDE PARK

The battle of the big guys, Bobby Stankin and Bobby Baril, resumed Saturday at Riverside Park Speedway at 8:15.

Only one thin point separates Stankin and Baril, the favorite stock car standings and the driver who finishes first in the 100-mile race.

Stankin, only a second-year driver in the stocks, holds the top spot.

Both drivers have won two features this season. Stankin is seeking his first title.

Although not near the top of the points race, Baril is the former champion Ed Padon who has been the biggest winner.

Both pilots have taken three other top ten finishes.

One other double winner is Jack Lesch, who has taken three of the top ten point markers.

Lurking just one stroke back, however, was Australian Bruce McCulloch, winner of last week's Westchester Classic, The 34 year old tourer had a 1-1 record.

Frank Beard, 65, and Tommy Aaron, 69, followed at 158. Tied at 159 were defending champion Ray Floyd, Tommy Jacobs and Julius Brock.

Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player currently are tied at 160. Nicklaus had a second round of 71 and Player a 68. Arnold Palmer, Billy Casper and Tom Weir are not competing here.

Tony Jacklin, making his first appearance in this country since winning the U.S. Open, failed to make the cut for the final two rounds. It took a score of 148 to make it. Jacklin had a 73-75 score for Friday and Saturday.

"I missed the cut at Westchester last week," said Shaw. "I went home to Milwaukee, Ore. I want to talk to my club."

Pam Barnett Fires Well, Leads Play

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Pam Barnett, a 26-year-old brunette who has been playing golf 23 years, carried a two shot advantage into today's second round of the $20,000 Lady Cary Open golf tournament.

Mia Harwood, who has a frosted wig because "I like to throw it when I get mad," tied the need to make her temper known. She fired a 73 on Saturday to bring her total to 149 to top the 6,300-yard Inland Hills Country Club tournament.

Assistant U.S. Golf Federation director of the Masters, said out, a demanding day with narrow, tree-lined fairways.

The course whipped the golfers in the first round of the 56-hole event. Only one other player in the field of 61 broke par—veteran Marilyn Smith coming in with a one-under 69-34.

Two players, Shirley Englehorn, winner of four tournaments this year, and Betty Rawls equaled par. Half the field stood at 70 or over.

Two Derby Horses Try To Win Race

OCEANPORT, N.J. PITTSBURGH (AP)—Fred Patek drives a big car with a Texas license plate bearing the letters "PATEK."

For two years Patek may have needed additional insurance as coach of the Cubs. He has the training edge over Detroit. The Lions will throw quarterback Bill Munson and Greg McCarthey will be making his home as coach of the Colts. He will Don Shula, who has taken over the top spot at Miami.

NEW YORK (AP)—A compromise, according to Webster's third international dictionary, is a settlement by arbitration or by consent reached by mutual concessions.

That's what happened in the New York Yankees and Mayo Smith of the Detroit Tigers, participants in a spectacular duck-kicking compromise Thursday night, had a few other words for it.

Hoak and Smith took turns practicing their punting around home plate in the sixth inning of what turned into a 6-1 Yankee victory over the Tigers.

"At the time of the no-no compromise, the score was tied at 1-1 with two out, Roy White on first, Danny Carter on second

NEW YORK (AP)—There are all kinds of treatments to take ailing pitchers. Moose seems to be the New York Mets.

The young Pittsburgh right-hander had pitched five consecutive Friday night and it lasted every bit as good as it did the previous time he faced them, last September.

He didn't pitch a no-hitter like Tom Seaver did in a game with a four-hit, 6-1 victory in which he showed no signs of fatigue. He pitched a no-hitter in a week after having trouble with him in the second inning of a game for more than a month, gave up a run in the fourth on a walk, a single and a double play grounder.

But the Pirates tied it in their half of the inning, then exploded in the sixth to give Moose all the cushion he needed.

The Pirate right-hander, now 67, gave up four walks and hit a batter, but was backed by four double plays. Patek was hit in three of them.

NEW YORK (NEA)—Willie Mays walks in a cloak of mystery. When he steps out of the dugout and into the shadows of sunset, there are long walls of "Williee," by the fans. He is met by photographers, reporters, too.

"Don't you remember me? Fifteen years ago in Fairfield, Alabama. . ."

Willie Mays grinned with only his mouth showing. "You mean 'Look man,'" he said, evenly, "not looking at the man 'I see so many people . . . who you with?'"

"Associated Press?"

Shortly, a reporter came by and asked Mays if he now, after having passed 3,000 hits and 600 homers, he doesn't feel and feel he has been lifted off his back?

"What safe?" asks Mays. Another short answer. The reporter asks Mays what's wrong, why so quiet?

"Because, man," said Willie, "I'm starting to get into the questions and you don't even say, 'Hey, congratulations on 3,000 hits.' I mean, not many people ever hit that many."

It comes home to the reporter that Willie Mays is not just a household name, not just a sweet man who will always be a "boy" to many and who says bubbly things like "Say Hey," but Willie Mays is a special kind of man. He is a "hero" and almost by definition has suffered the loneliness of walking in the cloak of applause and fame from a hero to feed themselves; a dehumanizing exchange for the "hero."

The reporter and Mays discuss this briefly, and there is an understanding. Now Mays is joking and he seems lighter than he has in years. He admits there had been the presence of statistics ("The 3,000 hits was easier," he said, "because the homers are harder to come by.")

But he mentioned to the governor, when he was in my ball park now," said Mays, "When I go down town, then I'm in my ball park. I have had one swing coming out of the batting practice pitcher and the batting practice pitcher and the batting practice pitcher and the batting practice pitcher."

"Who you with?" asks Mays. He reminisced about the old days in New York, when he and the Dodgers-Giant gave the full season, $5,000 at the Polo Grounds, $2,000 at Ebbets Field.

NEW YORK (AP)—There are all kinds of treatments to take ailing pitchers. Moose seems to be the New York Mets.

The young Pittsburgh right-hander had pitched five consecutive Friday night and it lasted every bit as good as it did the previous time he faced them, last September.

He didn't pitch a no-hitter like Tom Seaver did in a game with a four-hit, 6-1 victory in which he showed no signs of fatigue. He pitched a no-hitter in a week after having trouble with him in the second inning of a game for more than a month, gave up a run in the fourth on a walk, a single and a double play grounder.

But the Pirates tied it in their half of the inning, then exploded in the sixth to give Moose all the cushion he needed.

The Pirate right-hander, now 67, gave up four walks and hit a batter, but was backed by four double plays. Patek was hit in three of them.

Final Plans Made For Gas Shipment

will assist the Army if necessary. He had returned from Anniston, Ala., where loading of 305 concrete and steel vaults containing the old rockets was completed Friday.

Loading at the Blue Grass Army Depot near Richmond, Ky., was expected to be completed today. It began Friday with derricks gingerly lifting the first of 613 vaults aboard the open, gondola-type freight cars.

At Miami, two military scientists said that in addition to the rockets containing GB gas, the shipment would include a foot-wide land mine containing VX gas—the substance which apparently killed 6,400 sheep when tested at a Utah proving ground.

The two Army officials spoke to a conference of 27 Florida oceanography experts called by Gov. Claude Kirk to discuss possible dangers of the dumping.

The two trains will cross several southeastern states to the Sunny Point, N.C., terminal, where they will be put on barges that will be towed to a point 283 miles off Cape Kennedy, Fla., and settled in waters 16,000 feet deep.

In separate but similar briefings at the Anniston and Blue Grass depots, Army chemical experts stressed the security and safety precautions to be taken during the cross-country movement.

Col. S. M. Burney, commander of the Anniston depot, said: "If I lived in one of the towns on that route, I wouldn't be at all worried. I live near the gas and have for two years, and I'm not worried."

Burney, a Vietnam veteran, disclosed that the Anniston depot had shipped 1,446 such containers for disposal at sea between June 1967 and June 1968 — before Congress required the Army to give advance notification of such shipments — and did so "without even a nose-bleed."

He said the Army has contacted Civil Defense officials and law enforcement agencies all along the two routes and added that the trains will be heavily guarded with personnel including teams equipped to react quickly in any emergency.

He did not say how many troops would be assigned to the trains, but noted that two pilot trains would scout the tracks ahead of them.

Yachts Collide, Heath at Helm

COWES, England (AP) — Prime Minister Edward Heath's yacht Morning Cloud, with Heath at the helm, was damaged in a collision with another boat during a race Friday.

In the incident, off the Isle of Wight, Heath was maneuvering his yacht away from an area near rocks when Volunteer, a sloop of a naval reserve officers' yacht club, suddenly approached, heading back to the starting line after a false start.

The two boats scraped, damaging their glass fiber hulls. Neither was badly damaged. In a separate incident in the same area, Prince Charles was stranded when the motor of his high-powered speedboat conked out between the Isle of Wight and the English south coast.

Rock 'Turns Students On' In School's Music Course

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — The sound of the Beatles, Jimmy Hendrix, Sly and the Family Stones, Blood, Sweat and Tears, the Temptations, Bob Dylan and Joan Baez will try to do what Bach, Beethoven, and Brahms have failed to do: turn on more Baltimore high school kids to music education.

In an experimental program, the Baltimore public schools will integrate rock, soul and country and western music into their courses on basic music theory and composition.

The idea came from a group of junior and senior high school music instructors who found their conventional lessons were falling on deaf ears.

Instead of sending the kids for a hearing test they simply began playing what the kids liked and turned up the volume.

"They loved it," said one teacher of her experiment with rock. "It was like night and day. The concepts I was trying to teach went over so quickly."

Another teacher reported that the experiment inspired some pupils to compose and brought out creativity.

So, a music curriculum committee for the public schools got together and planned what they hope will be a more meaningful

U.S. Files Suit to Force Desegregation in Texas

DALLAS (AP) — The state of Texas and 26 of its school districts have been named in federal lawsuits seeking total racial integration of the state's education system. Most Texas schools are due to open in about three weeks.

The Justice Department filed the suits Friday in U.S. District Courts in Tyler, Dallas, Houston and Austin, all seats of the federal judiciary.

Texas is the third state the Nixon administration has filed suit against in desegregation cases. It sued Georgia last year and Mississippi and 19 of its districts last month.

The 26 Texas districts have 292,000 pupils—whites, Negroes and Mexicans. They are among 48 named by the Justice Department earlier this summer as violators of federal desegregation laws.

Federal, state and local officials met in Austin 10 days ago to try to work out compliance with school integration orders from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The federal government says the 26 districts maintain dual education systems based on race "with the knowledge and consent of the Texas Education Agency."

The suits say the agency tacitly approved of districts setting up plans assigning both teachers and pupils on a segregated basis.

They ask the courts to order the districts to "take affirmative action to desist from the dual systems of schools . . . and to correct the effects of past discrimination."

Integration plan had been adopted by the district. "We were told that our plan would be passed on to appropriate persons and we'd get a call within 24 hours," Cobb said. "We waited all day Friday for a call but none came."

James Taylor of the Katy School District said he doesn't have a "counterplan to offer. They (the school board) chose to stick by the same plan last Monday night because they felt it met the requirements of the Civil Rights Act."

K. D. Cooper Jr., president of the Klein School board, said, "We were in compliance as far as we could go without building construction."

Texas has 1,218 school districts. Last year's total pupil enrollment was more than 2.5 million, with 1.7 million white pupils.

Scout Dies at Philmont

The 138,000-acre Philmont Boy Scout Ranch near Cimarron, N. M. was under quarantine today after the death of one of the scouts Thursday.

There had been areas from the Manchester area at the ranch, but these boys had left the camp Thursday night and were on their way home, due in Manchester next Wednesday.

The family of one of the boys said their son and the other scouts had been medically checked before leaving the ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Rafner of 68 Elsie Dr. said their son and the other boys had been in Nebraska last night. They are aboard a bus and were camping overnight along the way east.

Officials of the Charter Oak Boy Scout Council said this morning that the death of the scout in New Mexico had at first been feared to be from a communicable disease but after tests this theory had been doubted.

The boys are John Blake and Fred Ruggles of Troop 362, Robert Knight of Troop 123 and Rick Haskell, Sam Krutt, both of Troop 91, and young Hafner.

Officials of the New Mexico Department of Health and Social Services ordered the quarantine Friday after an autopsy on James Morris, 12, of Jacksonville, who died Thursday on a hike to the Tooth of Time, a ranch landmark.

"Preliminary reports indicate death might have been caused by a communicable disease," said Dr. Bruce Storrs, director of medical services for the state health department.

"Tests are being run to try to ascertain what it is, so that appropriate prophylactic measures might be taken, in the meantime, the Philmont Boy Scout Ranch is in quarantine."

New Mexico State Police and Philmont staff members put up roadblocks Friday afternoon on three roads leading into the ranch, which sprawls over foothills of the Sangre de Cristo Mountains in northeastern New Mexico near Cimarron.

A spokesman said about 4,000 scouts, leaders and ranch staff members from throughout the United States are scattered over the ranch.

Arrangements were being made to provide temporary housing for groups already in the area, while attempts were under way to advise other groups to delay starting their journeys.

awaiting trial on charges of murdering a white guard at Soledad Prison last January. The slaying came three days after another white guard shot three black prisoners to death during a racial brawl in a prison exercise yard.

The intruder and three convicts involved Friday all were Negroes.

On the ground level, two shotgun-wielding deputies and Sheriff's Lt. Thomas Lightfoot met the group.

Lightfoot said McClain held the gun at Haley's head and cried, "Drop it or we'll blow his head off!"

When Lightfoot failed to comply, one gunman fired three shots over his head as the men fled with their hostages, he said.

They hurried to a van 300 yards away, then began to drive under the building's archway as some 100 police converged on the scene, Lightfoot said.

a cessation of U.S. bombing as a precondition for talks.

The diplomatic sources said they believe any settlement in Laos would ignore the unhampered eastern border panhandle.

The Ho Chi Minh trail runs through the panhandle from North Vietnam.

Sources said a settlement probably would mean that the 30,000 North Vietnamese troops in northern Laos would be pulled out, and American bombing in that sector would end.

But the government and the Pathet Lao would ignore the Ho Chi Minh trail since the Laotians are not powerful enough to stop the North Vietnamese from using it, sources said.

At the same time the two sides would close their eyes to American bombing of the trail, sources added.

Four young boys admitted yesterday that they had broken windows at the Buncce School with rocks on several occasions. They were taken to Police Headquarters and released to their parents.

Titus Moody Turns to TV

By CYNTHIA LOWRY HOLLYWOOD (AP) — When Andy Griffith and associates were organizing his new CBS series, "Headmaster," Andy said he would like "a Parker Fennelly-type" to play the school custodian.

In a rare demonstration of direct action, Fennelly's agent was reached. The actor was signed to play a role that, over years of radio, films and television, has become his specialty: Homely New England philosopher.

Fennelly, a professional actor since 1916, was hired to play Titus Moody in the "Fred Allen Show" of radio in the late 1940s.

The tall, spare, white-haired actor, his Maine accent undiluted after an absence of 40 years from his native state, explained that he is kept busy because "actors of a certain age are likely to be retired—or dead."

Fennelly's Titus Moody occupied a house in Allen's Alley for three seasons and his "howdy, Bub" became a catch phrase.

"Fred, who came from the Boston area, always liked New England characters," Fennelly said. "When the series was over, he gave me the character name and the use of all the Titus Moody material."

Allen's hour, which moved to television for half a season, was killed by public enthusiasm for one of the first big-money giveaway shows.

For the past 16 years Fennelly has been the advertising spokesman — giving dry New England advice — for a bakery products company.

"I pretty nearly always am playing the same character, although the names are different," he said.

It will still be Titus, but he is called "Mr. Purdy" in the Griffith series. As usual, he'll pause while clipping a hedge or painting a wall to deliver some wry humorous wisdom such as, "You can thank your lucky stars that you're good enough to be ordinary instead of outstanding."

NIECE

Wynn Miller, who plays Jessica Buchanan on the NBC-TV dramatic serial "Another World—Somerset," is the niece of the late bandleader Glenn Miller.

Parker Fennelly—his Maine accent is undiluted.

Among the Changes, A Man for 'Julia'

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The five or six months of the year when the networks depend largely on reruns to keep the channels open is when their series are in drydock for repairs.

If cast changes are required, the best time to make them is between seasons. If a series' focus or mood is to be changed, it is shifted at leisure.

When mid-September arrives, there will be the usual quota of changes, many of them so small they will be noted only by hardcore fans.

Dean Martin will appear in a new set and his fireman's pole will be retired. "Hogan's Heroes" will have lost one merry prisoner of war—Ivan Dixon—but added one, Kenneth Washington. (The "To Rome, With Love" children will have lost an aunt but gained a grandfather, Walter Brennan. The "Family Affair" kids will acquire a comic cleaning woman, Nancy Walker.

"Julia" will get a steady beau. "That Girl" Marlo Thomas will become formally engaged to Ted Bessell, her long-playing boyfriend. "High Chaparral" Cannon family will have lost a boy, Billy Blue, but gained a teen-age Indian ward named Wind.

Perhaps the most delicate repair job is being made on CBS' "Mayberry, R.F.D.," patching the hole caused by the retirement of Frances Bavier. The actress, who played Aunt Bea, was the last member of the cast who was a member of the original "Andy Griffith Show." Two seasons ago, Griffith pulled out—except for occasional visits—and Ken Berry took over the lead. The retitled series remained a hit.

Miss Bavier played a warm, motherly housekeeper, first for widower Andy (Griffith) Taylor and then widower Sam (Berry) Jones and their respective sons. It was impossible to slip another actress into the same role. After considerable thought and consultation, the producer signed Alice Ghostley, a New York comedienne who played Jackie Gleason's woe-begone fiancée in his pre-Miami show. She also was a regular on "The Jonathan Winters Show" and will continue her semiregular role in ABC's "Bewitched," playing a neurotic sorceress of unpredictable magic powers.

This week Miss Ghostley is filming a broad-comedy "Mayberry" episode about an amateur play, "The Rites of Spring." Between shots, Miss Ghostley, very grand in her queen mab costume, explained that the original plan had been for Jones to hire a housekeeper through an employment agency. The idea developed to a point where now she is Berry's cousin Alice, out of the Women's Army Corps after 20 years as a member of a drill team.

"I can't cook, but I can play a trumpet," Miss Ghostley reported. "And the character couldn't be more different from the one Frances played."

Mr. French vs. the Cleaning Woman

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Mr. French has had things too much his own way on "Family Affair" and this fall he is going to find a nettlesome redhaired cleaning woman in his beard.

Nancy Walker, who will play a rather messy, busybody housekeeper, describes her function as "a thorn in Mr. French's side."

Mr. French, of course, is the very proper English major-domo played by Sebastian Cabot in the long-running comedy series on CBS.

Miss Walker, who was once described as the funniest actress on Broadway when she starred in such shows as "Best Foot Forward," "On the Town" and "Do-Re-Mi," was persuaded to move to California to take the role.

"I love to work and there's no work in New York," she said. "None that one would want to do. I did a few commercials. Oh, I did the Sullivan show."

Miss Walker, who has enough of a barb on the tip of her tongue so that you know Mr. French is in for a time, also had a few words of farewell for New York that would wilt the carnation in the buttonhole of the city's greeter.

She said she and her husband, David Craig, are buying a house here and will sell their New York apartment. "I want the right kind of house," she said. "I'm so tired of looking at ersatz Spanish and Eddie Cantor regency. I want a house you can't wait to get home to."

They also own a mountaintop house on St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands, which has been a retreat for the past 10 years. Eventually, they hope to move to Rome, where their daughter, Miranda, has been attending school.

She said, "I got a look at the next script and I nearly fainted."

I figured I'd have a few lines and I'd learn them later, but in it I never shut my mouth. They said they were going to involve me and they meant it.

"It's the most relaxed show in the world and I go in all tensed up. If I blow a line I'm ready to —but Charlie Barton, the director, says, ah, ah, take it easy. I'm a natural born worrier, just like Bert Lahr. Even when I know the lines I think I don't know them and can't say them."

This is Miss Walker's second round in Hollywood. In the 1940s she was in the MGM stable of stars. "Unfortunately, they just weren't oriented toward comedienne," she said. "No one was writing for us and we were relegated to the friend of the friend parts.

"I begged my agent to get me out of the contract. One day he called me and said he had bad news. He said I'd been let out of my contract. I said bad news! I left town that night."

Miss Walker said she now finds Hollywood a different, and better place than it was. "The tempo's picked up, people are aware now, they're reading, they're alive."
