SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — Amid rising Israeli complaints of cease-fire violations, President Nixon sits down with his top advisers today to assess the Middle East situation.

He called Vice President Spiro T. Agnew back a day early from a Honolulu rest stop on the way home from Asia to join in the session at the Western White House. Agnew also will report to the President on the 10-day trip in which he met with leaders of five Asian nations.

Presidential Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said he did not expect any announcements or reports to come out of the

Israeli Cabinet Debates

JERUSALEM (AP) — The Israeli Cabinet met again today amid reports that it was threatening to torpedo the Middle East peace talks at the United Nations unless the United States makes Egypt stop its alleged missile buildup along the Suez Canal.

Meanwhile, Israeli troops raided a Lebanese frontier village during the night, and the Israeli air force attacked guerrilla positions farther to the east in Lebanon, the Israeli military command announced. It said one Israeli soldier was killed and two slightly wounded in the ground attack.

The Cabinet was continuing its debate on what instructions to give Ambassador Yosef Telesha, Israel's representative in the indirect peace talks with Egypt and Jordan at U.N. headquarters in New York.

The newspapers Maariv and Yediot Aharonot reported from Washington that Israeli Ambassador Yitzhak Rabin had warned Joseph Sisco, the assistant secretary of state for Middle East affairs, that the United States faces the prospect of a collapse in the peace talks unless it gets Egypt to stop the alleged transfer of anti-aircraft missiles closer to the canal.

The reports said Sisco met with Rabin before flying to San Clemente, Calif., for the meeting President Nixon is holding today with his advisors to discuss the situation in the Middle East.

Although the United States has been trying to play down the Israeli charges in an effort to improve the climate for the peace talks, high Israeli sources said Monday Washington has in-

BANK HELD UP

SOUTHINGTON, Conn. (AP) — Two men held up the Queen Street branch of the Southington Bank and Trust Co. this afternoon, police said. Some shots were fired, but no injuries were reported. The amount of money taken in the holdup was not available. An alarm was broadcast on police networks to look for men fleeing from the robbery by car on Interstate 84.

High Bail Holding Panthers

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Fourteen Black Panthers seized after a brief shootout with raiding police Monday lost a bid today to go free in $500 bail as two judges finally agreed to keep bail at $100,000 each.

Common Pleas Court Judge Thomas M. Reed said the high bail fixed Monday night in a special arraignment before Judge Leo Weinrott, also of Common Pleas, should prevail.

Weinrott said the bail was "preventive medicine" and "for the good of everyone concerned."

He had overruled Reed who had fixed the $500 figure in a writ of habeas corpus—and Reed nullified his own order today for the 10 men and four women.

None of the defendants was present in the 30-minute hearing this morning. Charges against them range from assault with intent to kill to assault and battery and conspiracy.

Attorney Stephen Sheller, representing the Panthers, at the request of the Rev. David M. Gracie, urban minister for the Episcopal diocese of Pennsylvania, challenged Weinrott as prejudiced.

"You keep quiet," Weinrott told Sheller, refusing to disqualify himself.

Sheller said he would keep appealing to Reed to reduce bail. He had obtained the original writ, and the low bail on grounds the defendants had been detained illegally.

The raids on three Black Panther centers, ordered by Police Commissioner Frank L. Rizzo, followed a weekend during which a park guard sergeant, Frank Von Collin Jr., was killed at his desk. Six other policemen were wounded in other incidents.

A fourth man was arrested Monday on murder and conspiracy charges in connection with the slaying of Von Collin and the

Automakers Nix Demand Of Union

DETROIT (AP) — The Big Three automakers today offered the United Auto Workers Union a 7.5 per cent wage increase in the first year of a proposed three-year contract but did not meet the two top demands which the union said were "musts" if a strike is to be avoided.

The companies refused to grant an unlimited increase in wage escalators based on the cost of living and did not give workers the option of retiring after 30 years service at $500 a month pension, regardless of age.

"The company has not met a single demand of the union," said Irving Bluestone, co-director of the union's General Motors Department, referring to the GM offer.

"GM may tell it is a sound offer but it is essentially a hiccup," Bluestone said. He would recommend that GM be selected

South Viet Guard Killed As 40 POWs Flee Camp

By GEORGE ESPER, Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Forty prisoners of war escaped from a prison detail on Phu Quoc Island Monday after killing one of their South Vietnamese guards and wounding another.

Nine of the prisoners were killed and two wounded in a gun battle, but 29 were still at large today, South Vietnamese headquarters announced.

A spokesman said he did not know whether the prisoners were North Vietnamese, Viet Cong or both. He said there are more than 20,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong in the camp on the island in the Gulf of Siam just off the southwest coast of Vietnam.

A communique said the prison break occurred late Monday afternoon while South Vietnamese navy men were bringing the 40 prisoners back to the prison camp in a truck from a work detail at a navy base.

Some of the prisoners seized the sailors' weapons half a mile from the camp, killed one of the guards and wounded another.

"The military police returned fire and killed nine prisoners and wounded two others. Twenty-nine prisoners escaped and took along a small arm."

Phu Quoc is the biggest POW camp in South Vietnam, housing about 60 per cent of the 38,000

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong held by the South Vietnamese government.

Former astronaut Frank Borman visited the island prison last Saturday during a tour of military capitals and told newsmen Phu Quoc was clean and well run. "If you had to be in prison, I guess that would be as good a place as any," he said.

Borman, who arrived in Tokyo today, has been touring major capitals for President Nixon, seeking help to ease the lot or secure the release of Americans held by the North Vietnamese.

South Vietnamese headquarters said the prisoners who escaped were believed to have gone into the island's jungled mountains, where an estimated 300-400 Viet Cong operate. Patrols were looking for the escapees, the government said.

The escape was the first reported on Phu Quoc since early 1966, when 21 prisoners got away through a tunnel during a riot in another part of the camp.

On the battlefront, one major fight was reported near the coast 120 miles northeast of Saigon.

South Vietnamese militiamen spotted more than 100 Viet Cong trying to cross the coastal highway. South Vietnamese and American troops reinforced the militiamen, and helicopter gunships and bombers raked the enemy force which was later estimated to number up to 200 men.

The allies claimed 56 of the enemy killed and 12 rifles and

McGovern Says War Divides U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George McGovern has told a nationwide television audience that "the longer we stay in Vietnam, the more we play into the hands of the Communists and weaken our society."

McGovern, D-S.D., and Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., appeared in prime time offered by NBC Monday night to respond to presidential television relating to the war.

McGovern charged that "if Peking or Moscow had been in charge of American foreign policy for the past decade, they could not have devised a policy to hurt us more than the one we have chosen for ourselves."

He noted that "the two great centers of Communist power in the world are Russia and China. Yet while we have poured our substance in Vietnam for 10 years, not one Chinese or Russian has been expended in that conflict."

Both McGovern and Fulbright said the war was to blame for dissent and hardship in America by dividing the country over the issue and draining the nation's resources away from vital domestic problems.

"A Congress burdened with war costs and war measures has that much less time, money and spirit for the workaday tasks of studying social and economic problems and legislating programs to meet them," Fulbright said.

Two Units To Pull Out Of Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. 199th Light Infantry Brigade and the 3rd Brigade of the 9th Infantry Division are being deactivated within the next six weeks as part of the American troop cutback in South Vietnam, informed sources disclosed tonight.

The disbanding of the two units, which helped defend Saigon during the Communist 1968 Tet offensive, will reduce American strength by about 10,000 men.

The brigades are the first major combat units being pulled out in the fourth phase of President Nixon's withdrawal program. That phase will reduce authorized American troop strength in Vietnam to 384,000 by Oct. 15.

An official announcement is expected within the next few days.

The deactivation of the two brigades was reported nearly three weeks ago, but they were not identified at that time for security reasons.

The sources said they could not be identified but their present specific locations is classified.

Both brigades, however, are now in the 3rd military region that encompasses Saigon and 11 surrounding provinces. The region is 10,000 square miles, shares 231 miles of border with Cambodia and has 137 miles of coast line on the South China Sea.

The two brigades are being deactivated as the result of a major reshuffling of military forces and the turnover of a large base to the Vietnamese in the 3rd military region.

All American units, except one brigade, have been pulled back from the Cambodian border into the interior of the 3rd military region.

The South Vietnamese have been put in the border blocking

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, in a vote that upheld President Nixon's Vietnam policies, refused today to set deadlines for withdrawal of all American troops.

The roll call vote was 55 to 39. It turned down a proposal that the troops be pulled out by the end of 1971.

The defeat of the "Amendment to End the War," came as a triumph for the Nixon administration, after months of controversy in which critics denounced the measure as a blueprint for the first defeat in American history.

But Sens. George McGovern, D-S.D., and Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., the principal sponsors of the amendment, said the vote succeeded in demonstrating the depth of national discontent over America's long and bloody struggle in Southeast Asia.

"This amendment gave a rallying point to millions of anguished citizens across this Weary Land," McGovern told the Senate.

Branding the war the cruelest, the most barbaric and the most stupid conflict in American history, McGovern said: "Every senator in this chamber is partly responsible for sending 50,000 young Americans to an early grave."

The defeat of the amendment was all but sealed less than an hour before the vote when Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., considered a key figure by the Hatfield-McGovern forces, announced he would not support it.

Cooper said the Congress must place its faith in the President.

Earlier in the day, the Senate defeated an amendment by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., that would have barred funds for sending draftees to South Vietnam, Cambodia or Laos unless specifically authorized by Congress or unless the draftee volunteered to go.

The roll call vote was 71 to 22. Proxmire said his amendment, a second attempt during the long debate on defense preparation to restrict or eliminate the draft, would remove "the overhanging nightmarish threat over a young man, his mother and his father that he will be drafted, sent to Vietnam and killed."

Voting against the Hatfield-McGovern amendment were 34

Motion Filed to Set Aside McLucas Verdict

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Attorneys for Black Panther Lonnie McLucas acted Monday to overturn a jury's verdict that McLucas was guilty of conspiracy to murder in the killing of a fellow Panther in May, 1969.

Within hours of the verdict, the lawyers filed a motion to set aside the guilty verdict. And they indicated they would file an appeal when McLucas is sentenced later this month.

The jury's verdict came after six days of deliberations—a total of 35 hours—and included rulings that McLucas was innocent of three other charges.

McLucas, a former Panther organizer in Connecticut, was found innocent of kidnapping resulting in death, conspiracy to kidnap and binding with criminal intent.

Of the four charges, conspiracy to murder carries the lightest maximum penalty—15 years in prison. A conviction on the kidnapping charge could have brought the death sentence, although the prosecution had said at the trial's outset that it wouldn't seek McLucas' execution.

51st Assembly District
Loyzim Bows Out For Party Unity

By HOLLY GANTER
(Herald Correspondent)
His decision not to proceed, he said, was based on the fact that it would not be in the best interest of party unity.

Loyzim had taken out all the necessary papers for an independent candidate for the 51st Assembly District seat.

An experienced state legislator, Loyzim sought the nomination for the 51st district seat in June but lost a 54-convention vote to Bolton's Al Ahearn.

Following the primary loss, Loyzim was urged by a number of Democratic leaders to try again in an independent campaign in November.

Safe Guard Passes Preliminary Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — Development of the Safeguard anti-missile system (ASM) system has reached a significant milestone with its first interception of a missile in outer space.

It was the first time the Spartan was fired at an actual target and guided by its new and complex guidance system.

The ultimate test of the Safeguard system will come in 1975 when the first Safeguard site is scheduled to become operational.

The role of the father, John Cleary, will be played by Robert D. Donnelly who directed "The Subject Was Roses."

draw any rigid parallel between the fields of Woodstock and the first great historic sit-down strikes staged by organized labor, but we would never dare be too sure that the hunger demonstrations in the one was not as ultimately important as that demonstrated in the other.

Humanitarians? The bombing at the University of Wisconsin was apparently part of a continuing agitation on the part of some students against the continuation of Army research at the University.

It was the Army Math Research Center which was the main target for the bombing, and the main location of $6,000,000 in physical damage to the university plant which resulted from the explosion.

There were some incidental results. One of them was the death of Dr. Robert E. Fuzsach, a 33-year-old research assistant in physics. He was in his laboratory working on an experiment dealing with the electricity-conducting properties of superconductors.

Others had work and records destroyed. The explosion ruined the life work of two of these men, who had been working long hours trying to complete his project so he could be free to move his wife and three young children into a new home and then take vacation in California.

The young radicals who have been clamoring for the University to close its doors have been met with a resounding rebuff. The university has been working long hours trying to complete his project so he could be free to move his wife and three young children into a new home and then take vacation in California.

How would we rate, from the humanitarian point of view, the results of the trigger they themselves not only fashioned but pulled at quarter to four that tragic Wisconsin morning?

Good Moment in the News The force Base near Columbus, Ohio, received a highly unusual telephone call from Kent, Ohio, some 120 miles to the northeast. The caller was 26-year-old Lloyd Ziff, a senior law student spending the summer working on the staff of the President's Commission on Campus Unrest headed by former Gov. William L. Scranton of Pennsylvania.

Getting Down To Earth This rock-ribbed state of Connecticut is due for a poke in the ribs, or rather an examination of putting his passenger out of the sea, after his passenger had managed to keep himself afloat for a total of 12 long hours.

Reading it warms everybody with at least a touch of that good feeling which must have been inside the passenger, inside the captain, at that good moment.

What this generation of kids is capable of is beyond imagination. They have had greater educational opportunities. And the mere fact that they have had greater educational opportunities doesn't indicate to me that they have got the answers that the older generation hasn't got. I can't see that at all.

Connecticut Yankee

By A.H.O. In two months now—barring those possible recounts, court actions, and revolutionary uprisings which will be all over this year of political impossibilities—the Connecticut campaign will be all over.

At this point in the proceedings, it seems nothing short of fantastic to see how well things seem to have gone for the Republicans. It is perhaps unfair to them and to their prospective campaign effort to dwell upon their apparent good fortune. But they should be, considering some of their past experience, immune to euphoria, and they must feel it in their working bones that they won't really have anything to brag about if they lose.

Nevertheless, it must be observed that if they had been political planners sitting down two years ago trying to outline what would like to have the Republican situation be, in this fall of 1970, they could hardly be so satisfied. The Republican have done it better than what the party seems to have now.

For the first time since the far-off happy McCoincy-Balwin year of 1964, a ticket headed by two well established political figures, who have not only run well at the polls but have been strong in public office. The Merrill-Weicker combination ought to be rated the strongest Republican ticket named in more than 20 years.

This managed to do for themselves. Their good fortune, however, did not end there. The Democrats began giving them the first gift, delivered shortly after Christmas, was the retirement of one John Dempsey.

In the wake of that retirement, Congressman Minn Daddario is in a position to prevent either major Democratic nomination, or Governor instead of following the more natural directions of his own career toward the United States Senate.

This left the Democrats without any one capable of carrying the Senate nomination. After split convention, and bitter primary, the Democrats had to settle for two candidates for the Senate, Joe Duffy on the regular party ticket and Tom Dodd in his independent venture.

In addition to such favorable developments at the top of the state, the Republicans have managed to come up with some Congressional candidates who may assist their general cause, especially the young Bob Steele who is running in the eastern half of the state which is the Second District.

Before the Republicans get too carried away with prospects of their easy victory, we will, on another day, list a few things they can worry about. We will reassure them, if that is what they want, on one point: yes, this election too can be lost. But losing this one would really hurt; lose this time, and when would they ever win?

Of "of good cheer" under all circumstances is certainly not easy for most of us. The habit of being cheerful may be developed. We act as instruments of Lord Himself when we cheer those who are dejected or discouraged.

Vernon Delays Hit Housing For The Elderly

There are two proposed housing projects for the elderly in Vernon, both in various stages of planning.

The project on the drawing boards the longest is the high rise 100 unit complex to be located in the redevelopment area in downtown Rockville. Just who will build it is in question, although the Alb Development Corporation signed a contract some months ago.

It is perhaps unfair to them and to their prospective campaign effort to dwell upon their apparent good fortune. But they should be, considering some of their past experience, immune to euphoria, and they must feel it in their working bones that they won't really have anything to brag about if they lose.

Walk On Destroyer Contract Split Called Flagrant Influence

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., has charged it would be "political influence of the most direct, flagrant and blatant type" if the Senate decides to give half of the Navy's richest shipbuilding contract to a losing bidder.

Stennis said the Navy's selection of a Mississippi shipyard as the sole supplier of 50 destroyers for $2.1 billion, Stennis insisted Congress would be "inviting more trouble than can possibly be imagined" if it accepts a Maine senator's proposal.

Approval of Democratic Sen. Edmund S. Muskie's amendment to the military procurement bill, requiring the contractor winner to subcontract portions of half the ships to another firm—would mean "true competitive procurement will go out the window," Stennis said.

Muskie, formally offering his amendment Monday, said it represented "a reasonable, prudent and fair" approach to a "broader and less risky distribution of this defense contract."

Viet Victim 2nd Congressional District Steele Urges POW Talks; Supports Veterans Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon announced Monday that Army Staff Sgt. Sheldon Silyman, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Silverman of Waterford, Conn., has died in action in Indochina. His death brings to 518 the number of Connecticut servicemen to have died in Indochina since 1961, according to Associated Press records.

In the meantime Steele urged citizens to write letters to President Richard Nixon and to the Chairman of the North Vietnamese delegation in Paris, requesting priority be given to a program of prisoner exchange. Also urged is the upgrading of medical care to be given all prisoners of war in North and South Vietnam.

Referring to the need for a Veterans Hospital for Eastern Connecticut, Steele explained: "Many veterans are unable to drive to the facilities in Newington, Rocky Hill and West Haven during winter weather and when they attempt to enter local civilian hospitals they may have to go onto long waiting lists."

"The long drive certainly puts an undue hardship on the families and friends of these men," Steele stated. "As Congressman, I will fight to make sure every citizen who has received a promise from his government will have that promise realized. Year after year Congress passes GI bills which assure veterans of quality medical care; I intend to see that they get it."

First Building Site Sold In C.B. Industrial Park

A milestone was passed yesterday in Manchester's industrial development, with the sale of the first building site in the C.B. Industrial Park to the Red-Lee Metal Finishing Co. The site is on the Parker-Oakland land connector.

A warranty deed filed in the Town Clerk's office conveyed a 2 1/2-acre parcel from C. B. Burr & Co. to Joseph and Levi Fournier, both of Andover, and William Liggett, of Vernon.

Joseph Fournier is president and treasurer of Red-Lee, which specializes in precision metal finishing, primarily for the aircraft industry. Liggett is vice president of the firm, and Levi Fournier is secretary.

Federal stamps accompanying the instrument totaled $26.60, indicating that purchase price for the land was $26,600.

Charles S. Burr, president of the national nursery firm, signed for the corporation. Now located at 49 Woodland St., Red-Lee will occupy a 12,400 square foot plant in the industrial park and will expand its operation to more than 50 employees.

The company is the first to locate in the industrial park, which totals approximately 100 acres.

The 8 mile connector road, which opens the interior land is less than a mile south of the Wilbur Cross Highway, a major arterial road.

The highway, to become Interstate 88, is slated for widening to 10 lanes from Hartford east to Vernon, and a major interchange planned at Tolland.

Water Rates To Be Topic Of Directors

The Manchester Board of Directors, when it meets tonight, will discuss water rates for its regular monthly meeting, again will consider a proposal for hikes in water fees and sewer charges.

Tonight's meeting is at 8 p.m. in the Municipal Building Hearing Room. The latter are computed at 75 per cent of water fee.

On Aug. 4, the board tabled action on a proposal to raise water rates on a proposed Nov. 3 referendum on a $2 million bond issue for water improvements.

On Aug. 18, following a public hearing, it rejected the $2 million bond issue.

When it tabled action on the water fee and sewer charge increase last night, it was the consensus that a proposed 50 per cent increase in the average water was too high.

In the interim, Town Manager Robert B. Weiss announced that he has asked for a new proposal to pay the fee. The light sentence.

Costumes are not required for the fact that Gildea has paid back $50 of the $100 he allegedly gave, and even past suits are acceptable, although many ladies.

The case was reopened because Judge Goldberg will not be in the city in Manchester next month.

A Stafford Springs woman, Mrs. E. W. Wadsworth, was charged with intoxication, and two counts of willful injury of private property should be put at 100 per cent of the water fee if the water fee is not raised.

He predicted a $100,000 deficit in sewer department operations if the water fee revenue is not increased.

MYC Continues Cleanup at Pond

The Manchester Youth for Conservation (MYC), a group formed to fight pollution in Manchester, went back to Saulters Pond last Sunday to finish the job it had started.

This time they cleared the area of glass, hauled away dead trees and branches, and cleaned away all the junk they could find.

While combing the area, they unearthed what they believe to have been some kind of covered wagon. They found parts of spoked wheels and hand-made nails and pegs. They think they'll probably go back one more time to finish collecting the debris.

At their next meeting, they plan to map out routes for a survey they're going to take on the percentage of phosphates in the detergent that the home maker uses. This is designed so that people who use detergent high in phosphates are persuaded to use a low phosphate detergent, thus eliminating some water pollution.

Coventry PZC Holds Hearings On Earth Removal, River Zone

The Planning and Zoning Commission (PZC) held hearings on two matters last night, with only about 15 residents in attendance. No action was taken on either item, the purpose of the hearings being only to hear townpeople's opinions. The two items were an application for removal of earth near the town site on Plains Rd., and the establishment of a new and called river zone in the area around the Willimantic, Hop Brook and Stonington rivers. The former matter met with opposition for the most part, while the latter was well received.

The first item was a request by the Gammino Construction Co. of Providence, R.I., to remove material from the land of Fred Hatch, Jr. for use in the construction of I-84, which is now under way in the South Coventry-Willimantic area.

Those residents who objected to granting the request were concerned mainly with conservation, since the project would entail the removal of several hundred trees from the site, which is on the east side of Plains Rd., about a quarter of a mile from Plains Rd.

The owner of the land has found the earth removal site to be generally unsuitable for farming, and he would like to be able to use it for gravel purposes. The site is high, and the removal of gravel would lower it to sufficient elevation so that it could be farmed.

Lloyd Sherman, representing Gammino Construction, pointed out that about 180,000 cubic yards of material would be removed, and that once the actual operation was begun it would possibly be completed in 90 to 100 days.

PZC Secretary Stephen Jones read a letter from Town Engineer Hayden L. Griswold, Jr., stating the recommended conditions of approval should be met for the application.

Griswold suggested a performance bond which would ensure the restoration of the land when the operation was completed. This restoration would include replacing the top soil on the site. PZC chairman Carlton A. DeLoach, while no definite amount has been decided upon for the bond, a similar bond put up by Gammino for an earth removal operation on Pucker St. has been settled at $75,000. Carlton said the Plains Road site would probably require a like amount.

Other conditions of approval suggested by Griswold included no use of town roads by trucks hauling gravel unless specific application is made, more extensive presentation of maps showing existing and final grades in the removal area, and compliance with State Water Resources Commission rules regarding possible pollution controls of the Willimantic river, since the site is near that body of water.

Sherman commented that while the conditions suggested "stringent," Gammino Construction would comply with them.

Speaking strongly against the application were Frank Connolly and Mary Griffith, both of whom live near the site. No one spoke strongly in favor of the request, but could be considered neutral, including local Conservation Commission chairman John Lacey.

The second item, establishment of the river zone, was presented by former PZC chairman Robert Gantner, who displayed maps outlining the area covered by the zone. The zone would run along the banks of all three rivers, in varying widths up to several hundred feet, and would encompass the flood plain as well as some land immediately outside the flood plain.

Letters were read from both the Capital Regional Planning Agency and the Windham Regional Planning Agency, in which general agreement with the concept was expressed.

Gantner noted that the purpose of the river zone would be to provide a method of development for land located in areas adjoining rivers, and also to provide for the protection of surrounding properties, persons and neighborhood values; to insure proper surface drainage, flood control and soil conservation.

Also, to promote the preservation and protection of streams, stream beds, the public health and safety; to secure safety from floods; to promote health and the general welfare; to prevent overcrowding of land; to avoid undue concentration of population; to facilitate adequate provision for water and to encourage the most appropriate use of the land.

Uses proscribed in the regulation setting up the zone were cited as farming; recreation; nature study areas; removal of top soil, sand, gravel or stone; and the construction of public utilities and residential.

Town Councilmen Hugo Thomas, who is the chairman of the Willimantic River Task Force, noted that the river zone death sentence in the slaying of a woman was compatible with the

New Blazes Touched Off By Lightning

WENATCHEE, Wash. (AP) — Cracking dry lightning has touched off at least 80 new eastern Washington forest fires but speakers for the Wenatchee and Okanogan national forests said quick shuffling of men and equipment prevented a potential disaster.

The new blazes brought the region's forest fire count to about 600, with over 102,000 acres already blackened.

About 8,500 men from national forests all over the country are thinly spread against the flames, Andrew C. Wright, Wenatchee forest supervisor, said.

Wenatchee fire staff officers Pat Inghit said that after lightning storms struck Monday night, men were shifted from noncritical areas to spots of "imminent fire danger." As a result, fires are managed and only a few might pose a threat, he said.

Speakers at Wenatchee said Lawrence Randall, a Black Hat Sioux Indian from Rapid City, S.D., was seriously injured Monday when he was hit by a falling log in the Glacier Park area. Randall suffered a broken collar bone, head injuries and 14 broken ribs in the accident.

Earlier Monday, Wenatchee spokesmen said crews started a 10,000-acre backfire on the Entiat River in heavily wooded areas where working was considered "unaided."

Revised figures showed the "contained but not yet controlled" Mitchell Creek fire with 39,500 acres burned and about 2,000 men on fire lines. The Entiat blazes had covered 17,500 acres, and a fire at Gold Ridge had spread to 15,400 acres.

Wenatchee staff officers said to expect an end to the lightning storms and a cooler, more stable upper air mass. Spokesmen said they hoped increased winds would blow smoke away from some areas so fire retardant bombers could go to work.

In a statement, the candidate criticized Chabon-Delmas for suggesting Monday that he would abandon the premiership if he were beaten. He called it "a threat in the most excessive Gaullist style" and said it "was a pressure tactic that did not succeed for Gen. de Gaulle."

Servan-Schreiber referred to the general's resignation after promising to join the presidency when a referendum in April referred did not pass in 1969.

Senator Tightens Belt Amid Braless Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Jennings Randolph, the West Virginia Democrat who called women's liberationists a "small band of braless bubbleheads," has been told by an angry female if it is none of his "damn business" whether she wears a bra.

The comment came in a flood of angry letters and telegrams that Randolph has received since making his speech Wednesday in the Senate.

"Perhaps you were weaned too soon . . . I was one infant-ate woman over Randolph's speech last Wednesday in the Senate."

"Dear Bubblehead Jennings, started another."

"This is one of your bubblehead constituents, still another said. 'The least you could have done on the day women decided to demonstrate for their rights was to keep your thoughts to yourself.'"

Randolph has taken all the letters in stride, an aide said. But the aide quickly pointed out the West Virginia Democrat is sponsoring an amendment guaranteeing equal rights for women.

The senator is replying to each of the more than 30 letters and telegrams and enclosing a copy of his Senate speech, which also said women are making progress all over the world.

But the "bubblehead" and "braless" references clearly touched off women's nerves. "It may well be what you have referred to as a bubblehead," said one letter. "As to whether I wear a bra, that is none of your damn business."

"I wouldn't dream of going without a bra. You are the bubblehead. Viva women's liberation. 'Don't you often like to unbutton your collar and shed your

TV Debating Gauntlet Flung By Frenchman

DOZHEAUX, France (AP) — Jean-Jacques Servan-Schreiber called today for a national television debate between himself and Premier Jacques Chaban-Delmas, the man he is trying to defeat in a primary time by-election Sept. 20.

Servan-Schreiber asked the government-run television network to postpone another protest scheduled for Sept. 14 and install himself and Chabon-Delmas to debate "the future of the river."

HELPER YOURSELF TO PERFECT PARTIES

Take it easy this summer . . . let your guests do the work! Plan parties featuring help-yourself appetizers and snacks, and you can enjoy the festivities with your guests.

Spicy Shrimp Kabobs, for instance, require no last-minute fussing. Early in the day, marinate shrimp in a spicy maple-blended syrup-catsup sauce. At party time, set out bowls of the shrimp, mushrooms, green pepper pieces and pineapple chunks. Guests thread skewers and cook their own kabobs over hibachi or miniature barbecue grills.

You can individualize the party by making a small hibachi for each guest. Use a new clay flower pot (6" in diameter) for the bowl and line the bottom with foil. Place small pebbles in the bottom as a base for charcoal. Cut circles of wire mesh (holes should be 1/4-1/2" square) slightly larger than the top of the flower pot for grid.

Another time let guests make Party Pancakes. Little pancakes, accented with wine, are topped with a choice of blue cheese topping, liver spread or crab topping. Set a pitcher of pancake batter beside the griddle, and guests will enjoy baking their own pancakes.

Everyone likes fondue parties — not just for the food, but 'cause they're such fun. Here are two recipes to share top billing at your next party — tasty, festive fare and a change from traditional fondues.

Little meat balls, with quick or old fashioned oats to keep them moist and juicy, are cooked on fondue forks and served with party eye bread. Easy Cheese Fondue, made with American cheese and mildly flavored with garlic, is served with bite-sized pieces of crisp, toasted frozen waffles for "dippers."

Guests will welcome Patio Snack Mix to nibble while waiting for food to cook. Puffed rice and puffed wheat combine so well with crunchy Chinese noodles and peanuts, while butter and onion soup mix provides all the savory seasoning needed. And something tall and cool is welcome at any summer gathering, so here's a recipe for Mapley Fruit Cooler — a refreshing fruit punch.

McGovern Says War Divides U.S.

Both said President Nixon's so-called "Vietnamization" plan was ineffective and too indolent. McGovern especially complained that it still would leave 250,000 Americans in Vietnam "until the Saigon regime is ready for us to leave."

"The trouble with that formula is that General Thieu and his government are never likely to want us to leave," McGovern said. "They owe their power to American military and financial presence."

The telecast came on the eve of today's Senate vote on the amendment by McGovern and Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., which would set up a timetable for U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam.

Pulbright took issue with Nixon's administration claims that ensure the restoration of the land when the operation was completed. This restoration would include replacing the top soil on the site. PZC chairman Carlton A. ### Death Penalty Near Top Of Supreme Court Agenda

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the lives of 500 condemned men and women at stake, the Supreme Court will hear two death penalty challenges in its new term, probably the week of Oct. 12, probably the week of Oct. 12.

The capital punishment issue that will be given the same priority by consideration of the court is giving school desegregation and surrounding properties, persons and neighborhood values; to insure proper surface drainage, flood control and soil conservation.

The two cases, from California and Ohio, raise the same constitutional points the court confronted in the past two terms and was unable to resolve in an appeal by William L. Maxwell, a ruling against Crampion and McLaughlin would prevent use of the death penalty in the nation.

The court begins the new term Oct. 5 with a ceremonial day in which the justices will hear school desegregation cases.

From Charlotte-Mecklenburg, North Carolina; Mobile county, Ala.; and Clarke county, Georgia.

On Oct. 19 the court is scheduled to hear argument on the 1970 federal law that granted the vote to 15-year-olds.

Two Problems Said Common
To Disposal of Junk Cars

Officials dealing with the problems of junk car removal say there are two common problems: (1) Existing laws poorly define who has the right to dispose of junk cars, and (2) It's difficult to make junk car disposal profitable for private business.

The problems were discussed in a two-hour meeting last week at the State House in Hartford. The event was sponsored by the Capitol Region Council of Government and the Southern Scrap Iron and Steel Institute.

Mayor Harold E. Pits of Vernon, and Leo Paquette, chairman of the Council of Government, were among those attending the meeting.

A description of the junk car problem was given by Edward T. Ryan, Chief of the Dealers and Repairmen Association of the Connecticut Motor Vehicle Department.

Under existing law, only three organizations have the right to dispose of junk automobiles: 1) a licensed auto junk yard, 2) a scrap metal processor and 3) municipal governments.

In addition to legal problems, there is the problem of making it profitable for private concerns to remove cars, Joseph A. Schiavone, executive vice-president of M. Schiavone and Sons, Inc., of New Haven, said.

It was suggested that local junk car ordinances which would require the owners of the junk cars to dispose of them at their own expense would save municipalities the cost of large scale removal programs.
