Victory in Bolivia Claimed by Leftists

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — Leftist forces claimed victory today over rightists in the struggle for the presidency and their leader, Gen. Juan Jose Torres, marched into La Paz in triumph.
People poured into the streets after the announcement of a new government, and some groups occupied the building of the Bolivian Institute of Social Studies, run by Roman Catholic priests of the Dominican Order of the United States. The priests were accused by leftists of foreign espionage. Two members of the junta also were said to have taken refuge.

Coventry Last Full Day Of Voter Making

Set Saturday

The registrars of voters and town clerks are reminding all eligible residents that the final day to make voter registration applications is Saturday, Oct. 10. The deadline is 5 p.m. in the Town Hall. This will be the last day that persons who have resided in Coventry for six months or more or who have become 21 years of age may be made voters in time for the Nov. 3 general election.

Those who moved into town between April 10, 1970 and May 1, 1970, and anyone whose 21st birthday comes between Oct. 12, 1970 and Nov. 3, 1970 may be admitted as a voter at a limited section of the Board of Admissions on Nov. 2, 1970 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

After Saturday, no application for admission as an elector will be taken by the town clerk except those who are eligible to be admitted at the Nov. 3 session.

This Saturday is also the final date for application for transfer of voting privileges.

Oct. 26 is the final date for any elector who moved from one Connecticut town to another on or after May 2, 1970, to file written request for a continuance of his registration with the registrars of voters in the town from which he moved.

Persons requesting information about their voting rights should call Miss Margaret Jacobson, Mrs. Albert Bradley, Mrs. Gertrude Haven or Mrs. Auro Aho; or Town Clerk Mrs. Elizabeth Hyching at her office in the Town Hall.

Robert Pruitt, Forge Rd., has been appointed Coventry coordinator of the Welcker for Senate campaign, according to an announcement from the GOP candidate, Lowell P. Welcker Jr.

Guinea's Fall Held Omen For West

LISBON (AP) — Portugal's seven-year struggle to maintain control of Portuguese Guinea appears to be approaching a showdown. Lisbon government spokesmen predict dire consequences for the West if an insurgent movement succeeds.

A 10,000-man rebel army has wrested from the Lisbon government almost two-thirds of the 16,000-square mile territory, which lies between Senegal and the Republic of Guinea. The major advocate of independence is Amilcar Cabral, an agricultural engineer who is a friend and follower of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro.

Portugal were to lose Guinea, the defeat would open the floodgates of Communist-inspired revolt all over Africa, said a Lisbon official involved in military operations in Guinea and Portugal's other African territories, Mozambique and Angola.

"The West would be the prime victim of such a situation," Cabral knows what he is talking about," an army officer says. "He pins down our troops with hit-and-run tactics which are wearing down our morale. To win we must strike in the open and fight him with his own methods."

South Africa Battles Church Aid to Black

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — In backing the upward struggle of the black poor, churches often meet stiff opposition from some white U.S. members. Now, however, such church action on an embattled, global front has collided head on with white governments in Africa.

"Speaking," says South Africa's Prime Minister B. J. Vorster of what he called aid "to terrorists." Other critics have accused the churches of abetting a new "holy war—1970 version."

It is the first time in modern history that Christian organizations have been officially allocated to rebel guerrilla movements—although at its outset Christianity itself was an illegal movement under the ancient Roman empire.

In making the grants, the World Council of Churches specified that the money be used only for welfare and educational needs, and the recipients agreed. But some of them are committed to armed resistance to ruling white regimes.

In South Africa, Vorster has threatened that "actions would be taken" against denominations unless they divorced themselves from the cooperative council and its work.

Some have refused to do so. Preaching the "premises" threat against the Christian churches, the assembly of the Presbyterian Church of Southern Africa said "its only Lord and Master is Jesus Christ and it may not serve other masters."

It "is not necessary to support the government in power, but to be faithful to the gospel," the church said in defying the premier's order to quit the World Council. But it did register dissent about the grants.

So did the South African Council of Churches, including 18 other denominations belonging to the council, but they said they would not withdraw, declaring the grants were in response to "an unjust racial situation."

The grants, totaling $200,000 and ranging from $1,000 to $20,000 each, went to 10 organizations working against racism in Great Britain, the Netherlands, Japan, Australia, Columbia and in seven African countries.

"In each case, the recipients are independent groups struggling for racial justice, largely through educational and developmental efforts," says the Rev. Dr. Eugene L. Smith, of New York, head of the U.S. Conference of the World Council. "But in a few instances, the groups are involved in guerrilla warfare."

These include rebel organizations fighting white rule in the Portuguese colonies of Angola and Mozambique and in white-ruled Rhodesia and South Africa, where predominantly black populations are under racial segregation (apartheid) laws.

While the amounts are not sufficient to make much difference, Dr. Smith said, "it means the churches are taking a concrete stand for justice and matching their words with action"—putting hard cash behind their pronouncements on race.

He noted that the council put up 20 percent of its reserves to make the grants, calling this a "really heroic and meaningful thing." He said most European reaction has been favorable, although there has been some criticism.

In the country, where some denominations have faced turmoil in their own ranks over programs to aid black community groups, he said there has been little reaction, adding: "If it's far away, people feel less threatened by it."

Two council leaders in England, Methodist Pauline Webb and the Rev. Dr. Ernest A. Payne, a Baptist, commenting on the grants, said:

"There are two kinds of violence in the world: violence exercised from above by those in power, and violence resorted to from below by those who can see no other way of securing the redress of grievances.

"The World Council will not make the issue of how much force is justifiable in any partic-

Lost His Shirt

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Big Tex, the giant cowboy mascot who is a symbol of the State Fair of Texas, may have to endure the fair crowds this year bare chested.

Police said someone stole Big Tex's specially made 160-pound, size 42 shirt from a pickup truck Sunday.

Jack Bridges, an employee of the fair, told officers he parked the truck outside a cafe and went in to get a sandwich. Bridges said a box containing the shirt, valued at $2,000, was missing when he returned.

Persons requesting information about their voting rights should call Miss Margaret Jacobson, Mrs. Albert Bradley, Mrs. Gertrude Haven or Mrs. Auro Aho; or Town Clerk Mrs. Elizabeth Hyching at her office in the Town Hall.

Construction Standstill Costly to a Major City

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A construction strike now in its seventh month has inflicted Missouri's biggest city with an economic loss that the Chamber of Commerce says may have hit $240 million by Oct. 1.

The chamber says $100 million worth of building projects have been canceled or postponed to other cities.

Home sales are reported down 26 percent from 1969, a savings and loan association official noted, and foreclosures have climbed rapidly.

Some contractors and architects have moved out. Others are eyeing greener fields.

"It will take years to overcome the harmful effects of the strike," declared John Ruddy, spokesman of the city's Real Estate Board.

"What we'll never know is about the city making decisions on building plants. He'll review 12,000 construction jobs in Kansas City still standing idle. But four of seven construction workers have come to work on a limited amount of neighboring cities, which would distort the picture of money losses.

Unions which already have rejected a $4.50 an hour increase spread over three years, which would give members an hourly rate of $9.22 in 1971.

Bill Deming, business agent for the local, said about 76 percent of his members are unemployed full time, with the rest working two or three days a week.

Some cases of scrapped building plans already are documented.

Arno Stetl Corp. announced for the Heavy Construction Association of Kansas City that could result in roads and bridges and other projects in Kansas City that could result in a $200 million loss.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. said the strike forced it to suspend $1 million of its 1970 first-year raise offer by the other parts of its territory.

Trans World Airlines, slated for me—selling a contract to 400 ants of the $150 million Kansas City International Airport, says all its projects in Kansas City are in limbo.

"The strike has halted improvements in water treatment plants," he said.

One Disent

The Manchester Board of Directors took 77 votes last week in a different item. All of the votes but one were unanimous.

Donald H. Ong, chairman of the Builders Association's labor committee, estimated that projects in the metropolitan area are proceeding at about 30-40 percent of capacity.

But a decision must be made soon, Ong said: "Either we shut down the projects again entirely because it's uneconomical to work around these striking and loan association official noted, and foreclosures have climbed rapidly.

He indicated the latter alternative could be undertaken only if the Builders Association received support from the other trades.

Gordon Bamberger, manager of the Chamber of Commerce research department, which the strike began to produce the economic loss estimated by the figures.

Last week they were based on various cities but will project 12,000 construction jobs in Kansas City still standing idle. But four of seven construction workers have come to work on a limited amount of neighboring cities, which would distort the picture of money losses.

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Mrs. Cupp of nearby Olathe, Kan., said her husband, a carpenter, got enough work "to keep us on an even keel."

But the Cupps, parents of three children, have been forced to drop their life, medical and automobile insurance policies, she said.

"The pressures on a family in this situation are beyond description," Mrs. Cupp said, adding she hopes for husband will soon get a job "that pays less, but gives us a regular check."

Late Congress Session Forecast as a Disaster

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many members of Congress have decided to return Nov. 16 for a post-election session the House leaders predict will be a disaster.

The lame-duck session—excluding some members whose successors have been elected—will be the first since early in the Korean War.

Most of the pressure for a recess has come from the House, where 405 seats are up for election Nov. 3.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania had said a post-election session will be a disaster.

"I have few hopes of a successful post-election session," Scott said Tuesday.

The GOP leader had predicted earlier the last session would be through right at least.

Mansfield said there is a possibility the Senate may vote against peace and good order, a shift the Senate may make shan for the Congress, and a billion military appropriation bill approved by the House April 1970.

He said he fears a filibuster against the amendment but hopes to consider it during time and set on crime bills, a job-safety measure and other legislation at night.

He called up Tuesday night because he has an obligation to the Kennedy children and other "uncertainties of higher office would place a great burden on my family."

"I will serve, if elected, a six-month term in the Senate," Kennedy said Sunday in a television interview.

Kennedy said Sen. Edmund S. Muskie is "the odds on favorite" for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1972.

The Blame At Kent State

The President's Commission on Campus Unrest, headed by former Governor William Scranton, has probably surprised many of its critics by the even-handed way it hands out blame for the tragedy at Kent State last May.

To all those who have persisted in thinking and saying, all along, that the students at Kent State had some responsibility for the final tragedy that occurred there, the Scranton Commission now says yes, this was so.

In the conclusion to its report, the Commission says the following: "The conduct of many students and nonstudent protesters at Kent State on the first four days of May, 1970, was plainly intolerable. We have said in our report, and we repeat: Violence by students on or off campus can never be justified by any grievance, philosophy, or political idea. There can be no sanctuary or immunity from prosecution on the campus. Criminal acts by students must be treated as such wherever they occur and whatever their purpose. Those who wrecked havoc on the town of Kent, those who burned the R.O.T.C. building, those who attacked and stoned National Guardsmen, and all those who urged them on, must share the responsibility for the deaths and injuries of May 4."

In addition to its assignment of a share of the blame to the students, the Scranton Commission has some sympathetic understanding for the position and condition of the National Guardsmen on the Ohio campus that day.

The Commission noted that the Guardsmen had averaged only about three hours sleep in the period before the tragedy. It said that "although General Canterbury said his men were not panic-stricken it is clear that many of them were frightened." Although it criticized the order which sent the Guard on maneuvers back and forth through the crowd on campus on the noon of May 4, the Commission described the final situation of the Guard as follows:

"The Guard found itself on a practice field far removed from its main assembly base and running out of tear gas. Guardsmen had been subjected to harassment and assaults, were hot and tired, and felt dangerously vulnerable by the time they returned to the top of Blakely Hill.

"When they confronted the students, it was only too easy for a single shot to trigger a general outburst."

In all this section of its report, the Scranton Commission was obviously laying less total blame upon the Guardsmen at Kent State than it had fixed on the Massachusetts police in its previous report on the killings which occurred on the campus at Jackson State a few days after the Ohio event.

It is too bad that, in spite of such display of its even-handedness, the Scranton Commission probably fails to win the nation's law and order extremists over to its own most important conclusion on the other side of the ledger, namely that "The Kent State tragedy must surely mark the last time that loaded rifles are issued as a matter of course to guardsmen confronting student demonstrators."

The Commission observed that "The National Guardsmen were on the Kent State campus armed with loaded M-1 rifles, high velocity weapons with a horizontal range of almost two miles. As they confronted the students, all that stood between a guard and firing was the flick of a thumb on the safety mechanism, and the pull of an index finger on the trigger. When firing began, the toll taken by these lethal weapons was disastrous."

After The First Frost

It is hard to tell how our ancestors ever knew, in the days before asphalt shingled roofs on their barns, and before they had automobiles with metal roofs and sloping glass windshields standing in their yards, just when they were having their first frost.

One assumes, in fact, that, in the absence of such aids, they missed many a first frost, just because it didn't happen to light upon some pumpkin leaf, or kill their dwindling tomato vine, or leave a strange wavering line around the edge of their bird bath.

We, in our time, may have to scrape our windshields for several mornings before we discover the first trace of danger to summer foliage, or find that the weather has finally begun to call a halt to that long partnership it set in progress with the planting of seeds in that long ago season of hope, the spring.

As the average year, this has been a late year for the first ice on windshields, the first drop in the garden foliage. Instead of the first week of October, it has sometimes been the second week in September.

The nice thing about the first frost, if there can be anything nice about a partial death, is that it seems to decrease a degree of temporary holiday from the chores of the land. Then, when its touch of chill weather is usually succeeded by a quick return of warm, pleasant days, there seems a free and gracious invitation to do nothing more, for an afternoon or two, than tangle lazily in the short late sun of autumn, as if one had long, rich fur, and tree notch storehouses full of acorns.

Electoral Reform: Now
Are the people of the United States prepared to reform the way they choose their president? Time and again, Congress has marched up the hill toward re-vamping — or abolishing — the anachronistic Electoral College. And then the troops have bled.

Now a new Senate debate has begun, in desultory fashion. The time for enacting a constitutional amendment, before the presidential election of 1972, is so short that only a Herculean effort could obtain the approval of three-fourths of the states by that date. But this is no reason for abandoning the reform effort, 1970 follows 1972.

Most everyone agrees that reform is needed. The Alabama primary victory of George C. Wallace has revived the worry that a third-party candidate could stalemate the Electoral College throwing the election into the House of Representatives and generating a rudderless confusion. And there is always the possibility in a narrow contest that a candidate will receive an Electoral College majority but a minority of the popular vote, which is hardly democracy in action.

Beyond lethargy, the main hurdle to speedy action is an understandable uncertainty as to what proposal is best for the nation. The main push is behind an amendment to abolish the Electoral College and choose as president the candidate receiving the largest popular vote. This is simple. It is direct democracy. The president, standing for all the people, would be chosen by all the people. This amendment passed the House last year. Two-thirds of the Senate must now approve. Months ago Sen. Birch Bayh, chief sponsor, could count up to 80 supporters. He needs 67.

But there are substitute proposals, also up for consideration. These should be tackled with equal urgency. One would retain the Electoral College and apportion its vote among candidates, in any given state, on the basis of the state's popular vote. (No winner-take-all, as at present.) Another would apportion the electoral vote according to the state's congressional districts. Both proposals retain some element of "states' rights," but eliminate the chance that a minority vote candidate might become president.

These are somewhat more complicated proposals. But they could be less upsetting. And they are less likely to encourage the upspringing of a multiplicity of splinter parties which, in a simple-majority arrangement, could keep any candidate from amassing a winning total.

We say that now is the time to vote election reform. The nation needs it. America's young people will narrowly eye postponement and apathy. Any reform is better than no reform. The Senate should get on with it. — CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR

The Ripple From Suez

By Rowland Evans Jr. and Robert D. Novak

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's hardening line on the Soviet Union, the direct result of Soviet cheating on the Middle East peace plan, is already creating subtle but potentially dangerous differences between the United States and West Germany, far from the Suez Canal.

The West German government of Chancellor Willy Brandt has committed its full prestige to getting a ratification of the new non-aggression treaty with Moscow by the German Bundestag.

But whether Brandt even submits the treaty to the Bundestag will depend on new arrangements and safeguards between West Berlin and West Germany, the most complicated single issue left over from World War II. The treaty does not mention the Berlin issue.

The terms of those new arrangements and safeguards, in turn, depend not only on Brandt's Social Democratic government and the Communists but on the Western Big Three — the United States, Britain, and France. High-ranking German politicians are fearful that President Nixon, stung badly by the fact that his Middle East peace plan was undermined by Soviet-Egyptian cheating, may now hold out for specific, airtight guarantees from Moscow on the future of Berlin more stringent than might have been the case had the Russians played fair along the Suez Canal.

State Department diplomats deny that this West German suspicion has any grounding in fact. Disagreements that have already cropped up in the preliminary Berlin talks between the West Germans and the Big Three in Bonn, and between the Big Three and the Soviet Union in Berlin, deal only with negotiating tactics, they say. These will be smoothed out as the talks proceed.

But the West Germans are highly skeptical. With Brandt's political prestige tied to the peace of his coalition government's outpost — they are definitely pressing Washington to launch non-stop talks on the Berlin issue and to be too precise about the details or too demanding that Moscow reveal its position on concessions before the Western powers lay down specific demands. Some of Brandt's advisers fear that President Nixon, who has never been completely sold on Brandt's outpost anyway, may insist on safeguards for the isolated city of West Berlin — certain political links to West Germany, for example, unacceptable to Moscow and not regarded as absolutely necessary by Bonn — that would make agreement impossible.

To Bonn, moreover, speed in conducting the Berlin talks is essential. Brandt needs an agreement on Berlin by early next year at the latest. He needs it in time to submit his non-aggression treaty with the Soviet Union to the Bundestag by early February.

West German politicians are convinced that the present Soviet leadership, headed by Communist Party First Secretary Leonid Brezhnev, wants to deliver the ratified treaty to the party Congress in March, as the centerpiece of its diplomatic successes.

Thus, as the Germans reason, the Soviets are just as eager to win agreement on the future status of Berlin as the Germans. Failure of the Berlin talks — and hence failure of the treaty to get ratified by the Bundestag — could even have major political repercussions in the Communist party Congress, adversely affecting Brezhnev and heading the treaty and Brandt's whole outpost with major new obstacles.

In analyzing what they see as Mr. Nixon's new hard-line policy toward Moscow, German politicians point to revelations about a possible Soviet submarine pen now under construction on the coast of Cuba. Although known to Nixon, intelligence officials for many months, actual disclosure of the possible submarine base came only after the Moscow-Washington chill that resulted from Soviet cheating along the Suez Canal. That disclosure is symbolic. It adds more fuel to Bonn's concern about the impact of Soviet conduct in the Middle East on Mr. Nixon's conduct on Berlin.

There are many social problems in this area, just as well as the rest of the town. Sure we see these problems a lot more in this area because we live closer together. To say that this whole area is to be considered a "ghetto" is a bit far out. I'm sure if we all lived like this report intimates we would have what is considered a ghetto. We all have problems and should try and solve them. When these social workers (?) wrote this report they seem to have omitted all the hard working dedicated families whose children go to these two schools. I have quite a few adequate neighbors who live near by who are doing an honest day's work and who are trying to guide their families the right way.

I have two children in this school district and would not want them considered unprivileged social problems because we are of a lower income class. I am right now going to school to upgrade my education so that I can provide a better life and job for my children, and myself, in the future. My children don't deserve to be condemned this way and I'm not going to let this just pass without my feelings being said.

"A False Statement" To the Editor, Political campaigns are a disease and a candidate sometimes does not take a thorough examination before making a statement. Just recently Bolton celebrated a 20th anniversary with a parade that has received many favorable comments. I can say that an excellent committee made that parade a success, yet I had the unpleasant experience of reading a comment by an opponent of Dot Miller's that she did not attend any anniversary meetings, what a sad mistake he has made. I assume he is referring to the so called steering committee meetings that were chaired by Dr. Sheddin. Dot Miller did not have to report to this group, she was on the parade committee and a very important member. Dot Miller was given the job of finding bands, talking to them, getting the speed of march and then reporting back to our committee with an acceptance or rejection. This was a task she did without looking for any recognition or thanks from the town, only the parade committee knows of the fine job she has done.

I can name many other things Dot Miller has given her support to that have gone unmentioned. Bolton's Fire Dept. goes to a parade with a flag donated by Dot Miller. Memorial Day is not complete without Dot Miller's help. No successful chairman should ever let a false statement be made of one of his efficient committee members without comment, for these are the people that made all his reports favorable. — Norm Press

"Light the Light" To the Editor, At a recent meeting of the Campaign Advisory Board of the United Fund of Manchester, a film was shown depicting several unfortunate people who are being helped by our support of the United Fund. They are merely typical of the many who are being sustained in this manner. This film was enlightening and should be seen, if possible, by everyone interested in the welfare of his community. In the background a folk singer repeatedly sang the theme, "You can light the light in my eyes by contributing your share to the United Fund. I intend to contribute my share—Won't you do likewise?" And yet they say a lot. It's our way of telling you, 'We listen.' When you see one of these buttons take it as an invitation to tell the wearer what's on your mind about our bank and our services. If it's a gripe or a suggestion, we'll do our best to respond positively. If it's a compliment, we'll say thank you and try our best to continue to please you. After all, what you have to say is what all this listening is about. At the bank that listens." The CBT logo is at the bottom.

Senators Renew Bid to Remove Man from Space

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three senators are renewing a campaign to curb billion-dollar space spending by reauthorizing the nation's program toward unmanned flights.

The three senators were joined in their request by two prominent space scientists: Dr. James Van Allen, discoverer of the Van Allen radiation belt, and Dr. Thomas Gold, head of President Nixon's own space science panel, a part of the White House Science Advisory Committee.

The senators, Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., Clifford Case, R-N.J., and William French Wilentz, D-N.J., said the recent success of the Soviet Union's Luna 16 unmanned moon mission and the President's veto of the appropriations bill containing NASA's budget indicate the space program should be curtailed.

In comments for an afternoon news conference, Mondale said the money requested for the space shuttle is only "the tip of an iceberg" which may eventually cost $14 billion or more.

"Furthermore, Mondale said, the shuttle and station are the first essential steps toward a manned Mars landing—a program which could cost anywhere between $50 billion and $100 billion.

He said Soviet and American space experts agree unmanned flights are far cheaper. "The President apparently believes that $10 million for a space shuttle station is more important than providing increased funds for urban renewal, for a clean environment and for improved veterans care," Mondale charged.

He said the project is based on the assumption, still unconfirmed, that man can function effectively in a space environment for long periods of time. "Congress now has a unique opportunity to reorient the U.S. space program," the senator said.

"By taking advantage of this opportunity," he said, "we can have a space program in which our scientists believe and which our people can afford."

Business Mirror How Much Is $1 Trillion? It's U.S. GNP by 1971

By JOHN CENNIF
NEW YORK (AP) — In 1971 the Gross National Product, which is said to be the total output of goods and services, will surpass $1 trillion. Ten years earlier the figure was only one-half that.

Does this mean that America is twice as productive or twice as powerful or twice as rich? Does the per capita GNP grow to roughly $5,000 next year from $2,700 in 1961, which means that life really has improved that much?

Many such assumptions are made each day. None is correct. The obvious defect—one that is recognized by economists but seldom by the public—is that the dollar cannot be used to measure yesterday's activity, one-third less than the 1961 dollar.

The other reasons are detailed in a fascinating report by the National Bureau of Economic Research, an awareness of the GNP, costly scientific assemblage of scholars.

"The GNP," says Juster, vice president of the Bureau, "is neither simple, nor unambiguous, nor comprehensive." It is not, he says, "necessarily a good measure of economic performance."

If that is so, then millions of Americans who regularly watch only a few economic measurements—the inflation rate, unemployment and the GNP—are being misled.

Among the defects, Juster says, are these: —Nomarket activities of people are not measured. The State Senate from Connecticut, for example, and students and voluntary workers are not included in the GNP because they are outside the market.

Why, asks Juster, should the output of the police services be measured in salaries paid and the cost of police cars, rather than by the social and economic value of crimes prevented or violators apprehended?

Why also should the value of education be measured as the cost of teachers' salaries, teaching equipment purchased in the market, the cost of buildings and so on, rather than by the gain in pupil knowledge.

Why should the value of health services be measured by the cost of doctors' fees and drugs, not by the reduction in mortality rates, the lessening of time lost because of illness and so forth?

Agnew Hails Nixon At GOP Dinner

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard M. Nixon, president-elect, was hailed by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew at a dinner here Wednesday night.

Agnew said that although he had differed on occasion with the administration, he supports his re-election because "on most great issues of our time, this Republican leader has fought faithfully, courageously and skillfully, arm-in-arm with this administration."

Philosophy of a Poet Through Wickham Park and Beyond

MRS. CLAREMELLA YOUNG Herald Reporter. "Any artist helps people to perceive, 'think and believe,'" says Dana Farnham, a 15-year-old Manchester lad, who has just published his first book of poetry.

Stated at a picnic table behind his home at 22 Duval St. one recent sunny afternoon, Dana attempted to explain himself and his poetry. His book, "Falling Leaves," published last spring by Exposition Press, served as a departure point for the conversation.

But because of their nature, as that which merely made use of the world around him, implying that in his surroundings were to be found the images in his poetry would also.

For this reason, contrary to most implicit poets, Dana sent none of his poetry out to magazines or newspapers before having it published in book form.

Dana makes a distinction between his philosophy and poetry, however: "When you're writing poetry you're in the moment, when you're working on philosophy you're apart from it. I consider my poetry as the philosophy, my responses to life. Instead of trying to find out things I am, now trying to express them."

"Life is not a constant search but a constant discovery. It takes shape each moment," the young poet explained, and the meaning behind these lines from the opening poem in his book, "Prologue: In terms of a Misalliance," became clearer.

It is Dana's mother, an amateur artist studying to be a court stenographer, who fosters the creative urge in Dana, and in all the children, by her own example, by her own words, by her own actions.

James Bridger was an American who had intimate knowledge of the mountains and the Indians from New Mexico to Idaho. The World Almanac says Bridger must be publicized in the Yellowstone Park region, and is credited with being the first white man to see the Great Salt Lake.

A revised elementary school calendar has been issued for the Meadowbrook and Hicks Memorial Schools.

Students at the two schools will have next Monday off in observance of Columbus Day and will attend half day sessions on Oct. 15 and 21 while teachers participate in "service programs."

Kindergarten classes will be held on a "half-day" basis, starting morning sessions attending from 9 until 10:30 a.m. and afternoon sessions from 1:30 until 3 p.m. All classes will be dismissed at 1 p.m.

The schools will also be closed on Oct. 30 for a teachers convention.

Report card conferences at Meadowbrook will be held during November, and both schools will be closed on Nov. 22 in observance of Veterans' Day.

School will close at 1 p.m. on Nov. 25 and remain closed Nov. 26 and 27 in observance of Thanksgiving Day.

On Dec. 3 another one-session with kindergarten attending its abbreviated classes will be held for the review program, and the Christmas holidays will begin with a half day session on Dec. 23. The schools will remain closed through Jan. 4 for Christmas recess.

During February the schools will be closed on Feb. 13-Lincoln's Birthday and on the 19th for Washington's Birthday.

March 17 will be a half day session for an Inservice staff program.

Schools will have a spring vacation from April 5 through 9, and will hold a half day session on April 21 for the final Inservice workshop program for teachers.

Senate Battle Tightens In North Dakota Peaks

BISMARCK, N.D. (AP) — dominantly Republican, North Dakota, Senator Quentin N. Burdick appeared headed for an easy time at the polls Nov. 3. Now, as the general election campaign enters its final weeks, he is in deep trouble.

Seeking his second full term, the 62-year-old Democrat has been hurt by party disunity and lack of campaign coordination. In the face of one of the most elaborate, and possibly most expensive, campaigns in North Dakota history.

Burdick's opponent is Republican Rep. Thomas S. Kleppe, a 51-year-old millionaire now serving his second term in the House.

While Burdick generally was considered a heavy favorite in the summer, some of his associates are beginning to talk privately of the possibility of defeat, and experts in both camps view it as a toss-up.

"The problem is money," complained one Burdick aide. "We just haven't had enough and our fund-raising efforts aren't paying off."

Kleppe, aided by President Nixon and Vice President Spiro Agnew, has been the aggressor, attacking Burdick's voting record in support of many Democratic social welfare programs. He has also attacked Burdick's record in rural areas, and his support of farm bills.

"What's going to happen to the farm bill?"

The importance of the issue is underscored by the fact that Kleppe, who is working hard to identify himself as a Nixon loyalist, has nonetheless parted company with the administration.

"I've never supported the administration," Kleppe said. "I've supported the people."

Wherever either candidate appears, the question is asked: "What's going to happen to the farm bill?"

Joins Clinic

Mrs. Ellen Kloehn of 88 Hemlock St. has joined the professional staff of the Community Child Guidance Clinic at 37 N. Main St. as a full-time psychiatrist.

After graduation from Bryn Mawr (Pa.) College, in 1966, Mrs. Kloehn spent a year in Caracas, Venezuela as a Fulbright scholar. Further study was in social work at the University of Wisconsin and a two-year stint at a National Institute of Mental Health grant and a University of Wisconsin fellowship. She received her MSW in 1969 from the University of Wisconsin School of Social Work.

During graduate school study, Mrs. Kloehn worked for the Dane County Department of Social Services in the Unit on Aging in Madison, Wis. In the summer of 1968, she was one of seven representatives from the University of Wisconsin School of Social Work involved in a nationwide project "Operational Research in the Community" sponsored by the OSO and Headstart program, including national organization and our fund-raising efforts.

Headstart centers of west central Wisconsin.

In 1969-70 she was associated with Lad Lake Inc. in Dousman, Wis., a residential treatment center for emotionally disturbed boys. She has also worked with the Madison (Wis.) Housing Authority and the Dane County (Mental) Hospital.

After receiving her MSW, Mrs. Kloehn continued as a social worker at Lad Lake, Inc. until her move to Connecticut.

She lives with her husband, Edward, and their 4-year-old son.

Section Two Find No Solution Directors Delay Vote On Greenwood Sewer

The Board of Directors last night tabled action on a proposal for sanitary-sewer extensions in Greenwood and Overlook Drs. It may consider the proposal again in November.

The action followed a public hearing at Highland Park School, which lasted almost two hours and which pitted a minority of property owners who want the sewers against an overwhelming majority who don't.

It was the consensus of the board that, had a vote been taken last night on the proposed extension, it would have been rejected, because of the many personal objections.

It was the consensus also that those property owners who have serious septic tank problems and who want the sewer extension deserve serious consideration for possible solutions.

Town Manager Robert Welts was instructed to meet with all those property owners, public officials and town agencies involved, to determine whether solutions for possible relieving the problems without the need for installing all of the proposed sewer lines.

Director Anthony Pietranico expressed the frustrations of all of the directors who had said, "It's basically a problem we can't solve satisfactorily for the majority." He said, "Why can't you help us now—the minority that has the health problems?"

Pietranico placed the blame for the Greenwood-Overlook septic-tank-flooding situation "with our developers and with the Town Planning and Zoning Commission, for allowing septic tanks in the first place."

He stated, "No future Board of Directors should be faced with a similar problem. It seems an impossible task for me to solve the situation. We have a majority of people who claim they have no septic-tank problems, and who don't want the expense of paying for sewers. And we have those few who have serious health problems and who want to pay their share of the cost."

Pietranico concluded, "The Planning and Zoning Commission should insist that no more dwellings go up without water and sewer under supervision, operating an unregistered motor vehicle, and improper use of market places."

Patroness Donald Wright agreed with Pietranico. He instructed Welts to notify the Planning Commission by letter that the Board of Directors requests that it give consideration to rejecting proposed subdivisions where no water and sewer are provided, except in exceptional instances. He said that the letter should state also, "Under no circumstances should subdivisions be approved without water and sewerage out side walls."

Duffey Greet 200 At Rally in Park

Joseph Duffey, the Democratic candidate for U.S. senator, last night called on all Americans to "get rid of the mood of cynicism — so prevalent among young people today and even among their parents."

He told a crowd of about 200 Democratic supporters, at a deeper than the issues of inflation and of the economy.

Campaign Issue
"To my mind, the main issue in this campaign is the mood of intimidation that is trying to sweep the Country. It's incredible how people are being taken in by it."

Without directly blaming the speeches of Vice President Spiro Agnew for the "mood of cynicism," Duffey told his audience, "I don't tell jokes about Spiro Agnew because I don't think he's funny."

Duffey concluded his short talk with the plea, "Let's all vote Democratic, so that we can show the rest of the country that Connecticut still has the old ideas and that it can hold its head high. The whole country is looking to see what we do."

Last night's Center Park rally started just before 7, when Duffey arrived, and ended at about 7:40.

He said, "We're again in trouble, and our trouble is much worse than it was last night."

Jarvis Bid Low For Water Main

Jarvis Construction Co. of 283 E. Center St. was the apparent low bidder with a total bid of $25,729 for installing about 800 feet of a 16-inch water main in the south end of town. Bids were opened this morning in the Municipal Building.

Other bidders and their bids were John Olander Corp., Tolland, $59,174; Hub Corp., Colchester, $77,370; Mulder Construction Co., Bloomfield, $89,799.90; Frank Kapcia, doing business as Frank Kapcia and Son, Glastonbury, $17,020.

The main will begin in the ground at Hartford Rd. and Prospect St. and then will be hung under two bridges—the old Prospect St. Bridge over High Brook and the new Prospect St. Bridge over the new I-84, formerly Rt. 4.

The main eventually will run to a one-million gallon storage tank of water for home consumption and fire prevention planned for installation near the site slope at the former Nike Site.

Coin Collectors Tap Mrs. Kirka

Mrs. Sally Kirka of 116 Oak St. last night was elected the first woman president of the Central Connecticut Coin Club at its 10th anniversary banquet at Willie's Steak House, She was succeeded by Herman Kravajewski of Rockville.

Other officers elected are Mrs. Doris Browne of West Hartford, vice president; John Sherman of Windsor Locks, secretary; William Stroh-Jackson of Manchester, treasurer; and Kravajewski and Richard Grubbs of Rockville, directors for the next year.

The club had wadded dollars made to celebrate its 10th anniversary and distributed them during the banquet. Each woman attending the event was presented with an orchid.

Speakers Educational Awards from the American Numismatic Association were presented to Mrs. Kirka, Kravajewski, of West Hartford, Gordon Sharp and William Lee of Vernon.

DeGaulle Warned Kennedy Of Endless Entanglement

PARIS (AP) — Gen. Charles de Gaulle told President John F. Kennedy in 1961 that any intervention in Indochina would be an "endless entanglement" according to his latest book of memoirs released today. The memoirs were started immediately after De Gaulle's return to power in April 1969. This volume covers the period 1968-69 with De Gaulle's return to power, the agonizing settlement of the Algerian war through a grant of independence, decolonization of the African territories held by France and international conferences.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Tolland County Politics Two Celebrities Hit Hustings Tomorrow

Bride With a "Past"

When Ernest asked Jane to marry him, she lost no time in saying yes. Furthermore, she took pains to tell him what a loyal and devoted wife she would be. But she left out one small detail: she was already expecting a child by another man.

Not long after the wedding, Ernest became aware of his wife's condition. Understandably indignant, he hurried to court to demand an annulment on grounds of fraud.

However, Jane was not willing to give him up. "I told him no lies," she pointed out in her own defense. "I never asked questions about my past. Surely a girl is not required to confess everything she ever did wrong."

Nevertheless, the court ruled that Ernest was indeed entitled to an annulment.

"The first purpose of matrimony," said the court, "is procreation. A woman, to be marriageable, must be able to bear children to her husband and to represent to this effect in the very nature of the (marriage) contract."

True, the law does overlook a certain amount of the "deceptive art" in matters of romance. It recognizes that each party will naturally try to put his best foot forward. But an annulment will be granted if the deception involves something truly basic in the marriage relationship, as in the case of Ernest and Jane.

Suppose the child that is expected is the husband's, not some other man's. Could he still get an annulment, merely because his bride did not tell him the facts before the wedding?

The courts have said no. They note that her deception does him no great harm, because he would be legally responsible for the child anyhow.

What if the situation is just the opposite? That is, the girl is not expecting a child at all but tells the man that she is—and that he is the father.

In this situation too, most courts have refused to grant an annulment. As one court put it, the husband should not expect the law to rescue him from a predicament made possible by his own premarital misconduct. He had, said the court, "created his own dilemma."

Two celebrities arrive in the area tomorrow to campaign for their favorite candidates, lending a bit of glamour and excitement to a political campaign that is beginning to lose much of its intensity.

Selecting his administrative supporter carefully, Vernon's Republican Congressional candidate Robert Steele has called on the services of Presidential Counselor Robert H. Finch, former secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

Finch enjoys perhaps the broadest appeal of the present administration team, with many independent voters and even some Democrats attracted to him.

Finch will spend tomorrow afternoon and evening hitting the campaign trail with Steele after arriving at Trumbull Airport at 3 p.m. He will hold a press conference in New London and then depart on a handshaking tour with Steele of New London and Norwich.

Chopping off the days activities will be a fund raising dinner and cocktail party beginning at 7 p.m. at St. Thomas More F. G. School off Rte. 2 in Lebanon.

On the other side of the political arena, movie star Paul Newman will stop in Vernon tomorrow morning at 9:30 a.m. for a "for women only" coffee hour.

Stevens said he believed the 46-year-old author, who has an apartment in New York, a house on Long Island and a desert retreat in Palm Springs, Calif., is now on the Spanish island of Mallorca.

"We've made arrangements," Stevens said in an interview. "If Mr. Capote is found in California we'll arrest him."

Capote, author of "In Cold Blood" and "Breakfast at Tiffany's" had interviewed the defendant in a murder trial, Joseph Morris, in 1967 while Morris was in jail awaiting sentencing for killing his mother and sister, Stevens said.

Soon after, Morris, 26, strangled a fellow inmate. He was tried and convicted of murder again. Capote was subpoenaed to testify at Morris' penalty trial in this second case.

Morris eventually was sentenced to death for the inmate's death and to life imprisonment for the deaths of his mother and sister.

Dist. Atty. Don Keller said Morris told Capote in the interview that if he ever got out of prison he would kill again.

"Naturally this was a very important item of information for the prosecution," Keller said, "and we wanted to use those statements in Mr. Capote's possession."

Stevens, the district attorney's office chief investigator in the case, emphasized that Capote is no longer wanted as a witness but solely to face contempt of court charges.

Morris is in Ben Quistin prison while the death penalty sentence is being appealed.

State law allows a judge discretion in imposing a sentence for contempt of court. Penalties generally range from three days to a month in jail, a fine, or both.

School Rulers Said Liable For Campus Peace

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The responsibility for maintaining order on college campuses rests with school administrators, not the government, a Justice Department official told a national conference of college trustees and regents Tuesday.

Leonard took the position in a speech at the opening session of the two-day conference called by the Association of Governing Boards of Universities and Colleges.

"The plain truth of the matter is that in many cases those who administer our universities simply have not had, first, the foresight to respond to the legitimate needs of their students and second, the guts to stand up to the illegitimate and illegal activity of a tiny minority bent on tearing down every one of our institutions," Leonard said.

He urged the school officials to aid in the quick demise of the activities of a minority "that wrecks havoc in the name of social justice, bombs buildings as an expression of its warped concept of free speech, perpetrates death and destruction in the name of progress and peace."

The temptation to view student unrest and activism as concern over foreign and domestic problems attributable to government activity is "amplified, cowardly and naive," Leonard said.

Indians of Tase Pueblo in New Mexico still boycott such modern conveniences as piped water, electric power and radio and television.

Robert M. O'Neil of Wetherfield Tells Why He Joined the Luckies

Switching from electric to gas heat, I saved nearly $300.

"We've tried them both," says Robert M. O'Neil, talking about the heating systems he had in his colonial Wetherfield home. "Electric... and now gas. And believe me, the switch to gas heat was the best." Mr. O'Neil continues, "not only do we get more comfort from our gas heating system, we also get savings... savings that really add up. Electric heating cost nearly two and a half times what we are now paying for gas. It's nice to pocket the difference." Pleased with his switch to gas heat, Mr. O'Neil tells CNG, "you want people to join the Luckies and heat with gas? Just show them my electric heat bill... and the one I now get for gas. That ought to convince them. Listen, I took your word for it... that gas was better... now I can prove it." Join Mr. O'Neil and the Luckies. Call your gas heating contractor or CNG in Hartford (825-0111) or in New Britain (249-9157). Switch to gas heat... and save.

Navajos Powwow Weekly On Plains of Frankfurt

FRANK FURT, Germany (AP) — Outfitted in soft suede leggings, breech cloth and eagle feathers, a stern-faced Navajo hunkered in his wigwam and beamed the scariness of buffalo hides.

Inside the nearby log-walled stockade, a station-topped dude with a Colt pistol and a U.S. marshall's badge frowned at a sudden squall and shouted to the deputy: "Take that saddle off the hitching post and stow it in my office before the rain gets to it!"

Film Fun
NEW YORK (AP) — Helen Hayes, who will be 70 on Saturday, has attended an unusual advance birthday party, a preview of her film of life story, "Tie-In Hayes."

On work days he is a post-office employee. A cowboy mixed crowd and a power saw whined behind the stucco Post Station.

Spock Defends His Writings
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Dr. Benjamín Spock has denounced critics, including Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, who blame his frontier people and bring out the their customs we feel are current "peevishness."

"I would be proud if I were 65 years old, go to lengths to preserve the solemnity of their weekend masquerade. They leave their cars out of sight. A Spock told a news conference row of trees cuts off the Frankfort skyline."

Second Church Defies Africans
PAARL, South Africa (AP) — A second South African church group has decided to defy Primary Minister John Vorster by continuing to belong to the World Council of Churches.

The council ordered Vorster's church to disaffiliate from the W.C.C. because of its anti-apartheid stance.

Shaw's Performance Noted

BUFFALO (AP) — Dunis Shaw, rookie quarterback of the National Football League's Buffalo Bills, got his first starting assignment Sunday and made the most of it.

He completed 12 of 22 passes for 217 yards and two touchdowns to lead the Bills to a 34-14 upset victory over the visiting New York Jets.

Tuesday, the performance resulted in his naming as offensive player of the week by The Associated Press.

Butkus Not Dirty, Just Tough Hitter

CHICAGO (AP) — As middle krus apparently dealt Detroit thought I was doing something wrong. The Chicago back Alie Taylor a karate chop. else. People get a little excited. A return in slow motion seemed to prove it.

Taylor agreed. "I never felt it was that bad. I heard that the book, I know he was just going after the football. I'm coming at once," he said. "It lost to Detroit, the cameras had a habit of following Butkus. I was our first victory, I got a habit of following Butkus. One camera shot showed Butkus. "and the fans was grapple" for the ball.

Tolland Superior Court

Lack of Teen Facilities Hit in Sentencing Youth

The lack of state facilities to meet the needs of delinquent youngsters was deplored yesterday in Tolland County Superior Court.

A teen-ager Eddie L. Burns, 16, of Hartford, was being sentenced on a charge of theft of a motor vehicle and the court was told that he had built a background of trouble with the law since the age of 12.

The latest incident amounted to a "joyride" according to Douglas B. Cady, 19, and James R. Bitts, 21, based on their ages and criminal records.

Two Williamstown men were sentenced for the beating in New York on Tuesday, a recording said to the voice of Bernard Dahn, a Westernman fugitive leader, said an offensive to the school's staff.

Bombs Blast Three Sites

Bomb explosions heavily damaged a National Guard Army and a county courthouse in California today and damaged the inside of Air Force and Navy ROTC facilities at the University of Washington.

Part of a wall was blown back and windows knocked out at the army on Santa Barbara. The county courthouse in San Rafael, where a judge was taken hostage and shot to death Aug. 7, was damaged by a bomb apparently planted in a locker.

The San Rafael explosion caused heavy damage to two courtrooms, a sheriff's supervisor said. Inspector Bowen Bridges said a San Francisco telephone operator reported five minutes before the blast that an "excited young woman called and asked for the safety of the court."

Nixon Visit To State Expanded

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Some 20 news and broadcast executives from 14 northern states have been invited here for a foreign policy briefing from President Nixon Monday.

The briefing comes close on the heels of the President's announcement Wednesday that he will seek a standstill cease-fire in Vietnam.

Nixon's press secretary, Ronald Ziegler, announced plans for the President to fly to Hartford for the briefing and for the dedication of a new Italian community center in Stamford.

Stamford Mayor Julius M. Wilensky said Ziegler had told him that Nixon would be in Stamford at about 3 p.m., after the visit to Hartford.

Nobel Prize for Literature Goes to Russian Novelist

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Soviet novelist Alexander Solzhenitsyn was awarded the Nobel Prize for literature today and announced he would attempt to travel to Stockholm to accept it.

"I am grateful for the decision," he told a Swedish crowd of reporters by telephone. "I must go to Stockholm to receive it personally as far as this is dependent on me."

The Swedish Academy of Letters said it had made the award to the 48-year-old writer, called "the Dostoyevsky of our time," for "the ethical force with which he has pursued the indispensable tradition of Russian literature."

Solzhenitsyn was captured while commanding a Soviet army battery toward the end of World War II in 1945 and sent to a German forced labor camp, Khrushchev.

While there, he wrote a letter criticizing the military campaign of "the whistled one," an obvious allusion to Stalin.

Solzhenitsyn was expelled from the Writers Union early this year.

Nixon Offers Peace Plan; Cong Rejects Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon has proposed a five-point plan to end the Vietnam war but the proposals— including a standstill cease-fire throughout Indochina and a new international conference to negotiate peace for Southeast Asia—were rejected by the Viet Cong.

"Our side is ready to stand still and cease firing," Nixon told a national television and radio audience in a speech from the White House Wednesday night. He urged a "Vietnam night" for serious negotiations promptly.

The chief North Vietnam delegate to the Paris peace talks, Ambassador Xuan Thuy, denied the Nixon proposal to halt the war, that is, to prolong and intensify the war to impose the yoke of U.S. neo-colonialism on Vietnam.

She added the Nixon speech did not reply seriously to the "concrete questions" contained in the Viet Cong's Sept. 17 "peace initiative" and then rejected each of the five points the President outlined.

The White House said the initial Communist reaction to the Nixon speech was "an unexpected" note that sometimes the initial response is not the final response.

Weekly Toll Of GI Deaths Dips Sharply

SAIGON (AP)—The total of American combat deaths in Indochina dropped to 38 last week, the lowest weekly toll in nearly 4 1/2 years, the U.S. Command announced. But the toll for the week was 25 less than the previous week.

The total number of American deaths was 25 less than the previous week, compared to 34 the week before. The U.S. Command said the drop was due to a two-week accumulation of minor wounds and deaths that were reported to their families.

At one point in the 12-minute speech he offered to negotiate an "agreed timetable" for troop withdrawals from South Vietnam without specifying removal of North Vietnamese forces as a condition. But aides said Nixon was talking about a schedule for removing North Vietnamese as well as U.S. and allied forces.

No Controversy on Surface In 18-Year-Old Vote Issue

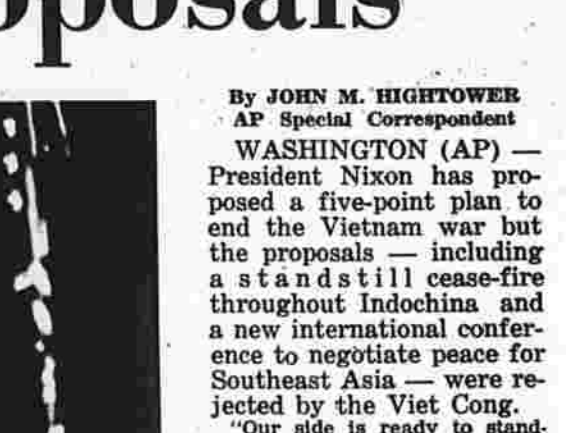

IN Connecticut. In the polling booths on election day—as it has in several other states which voted in recent years to let the voting age be 18—there was no controversy on the surface.

So the Forand strategy is to do more than sell the 18-year-old voting age. He's out to sell a whole generation.

"We are trying to build an image of young people that adults don't have to fear," said Forand at an interview in his campaign office. "It's an image of positive, progressive, constructive youth."

Forand was appointed to the commission, however, and wound up putting its report together. The 199 legislature gave the issue enough votes to put it on the ballot and it was approved by a slim margin.
