Cuban Base Story Revised

nanages to sound authoritative without disclosing the source of its formation. that there may have been something to that flare-up over a potential Russian submarine base in Cuba after all. The latest story is that the possibility was real enough to involve top level secret diplomatic exchanges between the United States and Russia in the period after the United States had first paid public notice to the situation, and that, as a result of these secret diplomatic negotiations, two things occurred.

One was the departure of a Russian submarine tender from the Cuban port in question. The other was a formal announcement from Russia to the effect that Russia was "not doing anything that would contradict the understanding" reached between the United States and Russia at the conclusion of the Cuban missile crisis back in 1962, in which Russia agreed not try; again, to establish ofensive weapons bases in Cuba, After Russia made this statement, on Oct. 13, the State Department at Washington welcomed it as a "positive" development. The inference of this use of "positive" had to be that something "negative" had been in existence previously. Those who may find it difficult to believe that Russia would be risking such a showdown in this age of "negotiation rather than confrontation" have only to remember that it was Khrushchev, the extrovert, who courted the West more assiduously than any other Russian since the Czars, who was caught missile-hand-

That mythical man up on Mars cannot, of course, blame the Russians for ed education, but also a state relying heavily on military contracts, both wanting to try. He can see that the Rusprime and secondary. sians feel their own territory under the bombs and missiles of American bases all around the world, and he himself, that man in Mars, might not see any reason why we should deny to the Russians the same kind of privilege we claim for ourselves. It should be pointed out that a vigorous state program to develop a Turb Train connection between Bradley Field, New York, and perhaps Western Massahusetts, would not only provide work or the state's largest employer (United Aircraft) but also would enhance the insportation allure of the state. In addition to support for higher education, the state should consider a high-sophisticated market-finding system for those smaller industries which will have to phase out of defense production It is not generally realized how many smaller industries there are in the state or how ill-equipped most are to conduct market analysis and actually find new markets. This is not normally thought of as a government function, but it should be given a trial. The state spends lots of noney to attract new industry; it should spend an equal amount to help present industry grow and prosper. Obviously, the state team put together for this purpose would have to be highly trained, voted in favor of implementing the inwell-paid, and experienced in market tegration which had been ordered by analysis. Connecticut faces a serious few years ahead, it cannot meet the future with TOWN PRESS

The election on Oct. 13 was a "recall," in which the voters of Pasadena were being given an opportunity to remove the three school board members from office and elect replacements who would fight integration as the majority of the city's population and parents undoubtedly wished to have it fought.

We would all have been wrong, if we had predicted the actual outcome of the vote. For the voters, by a narrow margin, refused to recall the three members who had voted for the busing plan.

This would be news if it happened in a similar referendum in any of our supposedly enlightened. Eastern seaboard communities. Manchester, for instance has in its record a vote in which, by a narrow margin, the sentiment went against the very limited program in which Hartford children are bused here in Project Concern. The lesson is: don't slap arbitrary judgments on any community, or any group of Americans. In Pasadena, at least, the surprise was on

Changing Connecticut

There will be notable changes ahead Connecticut in the next decade and much of this change will evolve around the kind of work that is done by its resi During the last decade. Connecticut ranked first nationally in the ratio of skilled workers to total workers, in per capita military prime contracts award ed, in machine tools per 1,000 popula tion, in percentage of citizens who own and in percentage of high school juniors scoring in the top 6 per cent of those taking the National Merit Scholarship Examinations. Connecticut ranked second in ratio of manufacturing employees to total nonagricultural employment, in per capita value added by manufacture, n the number of PhD's per million of population, third in effective household uving income, fourth in population density, and fifth in total military prime contracts awarded. From this emerges a picture of a state with high income, a force of workers hat is highly trained, a group of students that are well educated, an adult opulation with a great deal of advanc-

It seems very likely that in the decade ahead, Connecticut will see a reduction in military contracts and the state going to have to develop methods of holding its present industry, persuading it to expand, evolving ways to find new business for the business that sub-contract, the aircraft industry, and take steps to improve the manufacturing cli-

There will be difficulties ahead be-cause nationally industry has been steadily diversifying geographically, and it is the presence of the defense oriented industries, mainly aircraft that has helped to locally counteract this However, the transportation facilities of the state, proximity to ma jor markets, an intelligent labor force, and access to good universities, has clearly helped Connecticut. The best prescription is to try to maximize the strong points of the state.

Mayor Receivés Marine Corps League Award

Manchester Mayor Nathan Agostinelli accepts the Marine Corps League Distinguished Service Award for his recent action in which he pulled a Viet Cong flag from the hands of a demonstrator during President Nixon's visit to Hartford and threw it to the ground. National Northeast Divisional Commandant Harold A. Osgood Sr. is presenting the citation which reads, "On October 12, 1970 while attending an address by Richard M. Nixon, President of the United State, Mayor Agostinelli noticed a demonstrator in the crowd waving a Communist flag. He quickly and coolly grasped the flag from the demonstrator and threw it to the ground. President Nixon personally thanked him for his forthright action. The Marine Corps League joins President Nixon in extending our sincerest thanks to Mayor Agostinelli." The citation was signed by Sidney S. McMath, national commandant, and R. N. Larson, national adjutant paymaster.

Mayor's Rival Critical of Flag Affair

The Democratic candidate for state comptroller says that Mayor Nathan Agostinelli, his Republican opponent, "set a poor example for youth" last week, when he wrested a Viet Cong flag from the grasp of a constrator, during a visit o President Nixon to Hartford. "It was an excellent way of Julius Kremski of New Britain yesterday. "However, as far as Kremski, 51, made his t narks at the Hotel Sonesta in Hartford. He was in the party which met Maine Sen. Edmund Muskie at Bradley International Airport and accompanied him luring his visits to Hartford New Haven and New Britain Cremski and Muskie are both 'One of the many things that we have been saying about our youth," Kremski said, "is that some of them tend to go to extremes, like practicing vionde on the campus. On the one hand, we say that their actions are wrong, and on the other and, we have at least this one public official (Agostinelli) whose actions resemble theirs. We can't have it both ways." He concluded his brief remarks with, "Nobody in the state ever heard of my oppo-nent until now. And, with one act, which has nothing to d with the political office seeks, and which we certainly would not condone in our youth, he has attracted to himself an aura of publicity."

Charles D. Bizilj of Bloomfield Tells Why He Joined the Luckies

66 I gained fresh air comfort all year when I switched from electric to gas?9

"Saving money on my annual heating bill is great, now that I've switched from electric to gas," says Charles D. Bizili of Bloomfield, "but that's only part of the story. We are also very pleased with the fresh air comfort of our new gas system With electric heat, I had to practically seal the house up tight. But with gas heat, the house can breathe . . . keeps things fresh and healthy." Mr. Bizilj adds, "and with gas, zoned heating is no problem at all . . . only 3 thermostats now - where I used to have 13 with electric heat. All those bulky air conditioners can be removed from the windows, too," Mr. Bizilj points out. "We're going all the way," Mr. Bizilj explains, ". installing central gas air conditioning. I'm an engineer so I know a lot about heating and cooling systems. And believe me, gas is the best of all in my book. Top performance, low cost and fresh air living all year long. I'm really a Lucky now." Change to fresh air living with natural gas. Call your gas heating contractor or CNG in Hartford (525-0111) or in New Britain (249-9157). Join the Luckies and save.

'Collections Were Good Today

 IN ANY business enterprise, good collections play a vital part in its success. That is doubly true when a young man is in business for himself, for the first time - as is your newspaper carrier.

IT GIVES him a real thrill every time he is able to collect his accounts in full, pay for his newspapers, and enjoy 100% profit from his efforts. Yes, it aids and encourages him more than you may realize, when you have the money ready. Prompt payments by you, mean GOOD collection days for him!
