Clemency Brings Joy To Basques

MADRID (AP) — Spaniards turned their attention today to ringing in the New Year after Generalissimo Francisco Franco spared six Basque nationalists from execution.

Commutation of the death sentences Wednesday sent Basques in northern Spain into the streets dancing and relaxed the tension that had gripped the country for weeks. Pope Paul VI, the Archbishop of Saragossa and other foreign leaders expressed appreciation for Franco's clemency.

The six Basques were sentenced to death Monday in Burgos by a military court which convicted them of the murder of a chief of the political police. Three of them received a life death sentence.

Francisco, faced with the gravest political crisis of his 31-year rule and under heavy pressure from abroad, reduced the sentences to 30 years each in prison, to be served concurrently with prison sentences ranging from 2 1/2 to 60 years given five of them by the military court.

Francisco deserved credit that the six Basques are barred from any general amnesty and that they cannot reduce their terms by good behavior or extra work.

There was no clemency for nine other Basques in the Burgos trial who got prison terms of 12 to 70 years for terrorist activity. It was believed none of the 15 would serve more than 30 years since 30 years is a day considered fulfillment of a life sentence in Spain. The oldest of the defendants is 37.

Shortly after Franco's clemency was announced, the chief of state, in his annual televised New Year message, said his action allowed Spain to begin the Holy Year — a jubilee which occurs every five years — "with spirits of peace."

"We can beg God to bless the efforts with which Spaniards are mapping a better future for our children," Franco said.

He said though Spaniards must remain "united in the essentials" for the better of their country, conflicting political views should be conveyed through existing institutional organs.

"What we cannot permit," he said, "is that discrepancy becomes violent action which the law punishes and which we are not ready to tolerate."

By his clemency, Franco rebuffed archconservatives in the army and the government who wanted the death sentences to stand.

No Herald Tomorrow Drive Safely and Have a Happy New Year

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. and South Vietnamese forces began observing a 24-hour New Year's cease-fire tonight as the allied command announced sharp increases in their casualties last week despite the Christmas truce.

The U.S. Command said 41 Americans were killed in action, 18 more than the week before, while South Vietnamese combat dead increased from 266 to 301 last week. Enemy casualties dropped, however, with 1,200 reported killed last week compared with 1,833 a week earlier.

An American spokesman said there was no major upsurge in battlefield action because of the increases but there were numerous small contacts. He said the American and South Vietnamese forces were reported wounded last week, 26 less than the week before, the U.S. Command said. A total of 44,206 Americans now have been killed in action in the Vietnam war and 281,254 have been wounded, according to the U.S. Command.

With the start of the New Year's truce, allied forces were instructed to cease all combat operations except in self-defense until 8 p.m. Friday — 5 a.m. EST.

The Viet Cong proclaimed a 72-hour cease-fire beginning 17 hours before the allied truce, but the Saigon government reported that the enemy broke his cease-fire 20 minutes after it started with lightning attacks that killed 15 persons at a hamlet 24 miles northwest of Saigon. Train Crash Claims Many In Mideast

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — A passenger train and a freight train collided today 27 miles from the Iranian town of Ardakan, the afternoon newspaper Kayhan reported. It said 70 persons were feared to have perished.

The paper reported that by noon 50 bodies had been recovered from the wreckage while the wreckage at Tehran have confirmed a toll of 15.

Reporting from the scene, the paper's correspondent said 10 persons were seriously injured, "some still crying under tons of steel."

Most of the 200 persons on board the passenger train were killed and railway workers heading for Isfahan, 200 miles south of Tehran, for the weekend holiday, were also killed.

First reports said the passenger train had been given a green light as it passed through Sasan station but the signal operator appeared to have failed to notice the approach of the freight train.

The wreckage at Sasan station was described as "a heap of crumpled pieces of steel," with bodies scattered through the overturned passenger cars.

A railway official stated to the scene, the injured were being transported to hospitals in Ardakan and in Yazd, the passenger train's point of departure.

The rescue workers struggled to release the injured trapped under crushed compartments.

Kayhan said the crash occurred on a single one-way set of rails. The passenger train was supposed to halt to let the freight train through but had maintained normal speed when the freight train arrived. The freight train was carrying a load of steel. Heavy Snow May Sweep Connecticut

WINSTON LOGGS (AP) — New Year's Eve celebrations in Connecticut were warned by the weatherman that they may face heavy snowfall tonight if they try to travel.

The National Weather Service said late this morning an intensifying storm off the South Carolina coast was moving toward southern New England, posing a threat of snow shortly before midnight.

A heavy snow watch was in effect for tonight in southern New England and the weatherman said it was still too early to predict the amount of snow accumulations.

General Assembly Faces Same Housekeeping Woes

By DAN HALL, Associated Press Writer

HARTFORD (AP) — Legislators returning for the 1971 session of the General Assembly will find many of the same housekeeping problems awaiting them.

Newcomers, among them a new governor, will be treated to a few innovations in the crowded 12-year-old legislature building. Among them is a versatile computer system for instant presentation of the history of bills under consideration.

Capitol workers have been on the job for weeks moving in new desks and filing equipment, juggling room assignments and equipment allocation so that everything fits.

Meanwhile, governor-elect Thomas Meskell has been wearing what amounts to two hats: being in Washington to fill his responsibility to the Congress as representative from the Connecticut's Sixth District while keeping his eye on the state's government.

Facing 81 appointments, some of which must be approved by the legislature, Meskell is not expected to announce any of them until after he succeeds Gov. John Dempsey on Jan. 8.

The Meskell has arranged to sell their Washington home and are scheduled to move into the governor's residence on Prospect Street on inauguration day.

The legislature, as usual, will have more space problems than the governor. The reduction in the number of legislative committees from 30 to 19 will ease the problem of shared hearing rooms. The increase in the size of individual committees, however, will make public hearings on controversial bills more jammed than ever.

Parking, too, will be a growing problem. A slight increase in the working staff of the capitol has resulted in about 500 persons wanting authorization to park in some 200 spots at the capitol building. The rest, plus persons attending hearings and visitors from other states, will have to

Two Jews' Lives Spared by Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union spared today the lives of two Jews convicted of treason in the Leningrad hijack case. One of them will serve his labor camp sentence under subsistence conditions which friends described as "slow death."

The Supreme Court of the Russian Federation ordered 15-year confinement for Edward Kuznetsov, 31, and Mark Dymshits, 43. It decreed highly restrictive conditions, including a reduced diet and prolonged isolation. But "it's better than a fast death," one friend said.

The appeal court reduced the sentence given to Iosif Mendelovich, 22, from 10 to 12 years. The Jews set off a storm of protests in Western Europe, Israel and the United States and a number of foreign governments and leaders appealed to the Soviet government for clemency.

The appeal court reversed the death sentences less than 24 hours after Generalissimo Francisco Franco, the Spanish chief of state, commuted the death sentences of six Basque nationalists, and Russians sympathetic to the Leningrad defendants said the Russian court undoubtedly was influenced by Franco's action.

The 11 defendants—nine Jews and two Gentiles—were arrested in June as they prepared to board a small Soviet airliner in Leningrad for Finland. At the trial, which began Dec. 15 and ended Christmas Eve, the Jews admitted planning to hijack the plane because the Soviet government refused to let them emigrate to Israel. They were charged with treason.

"In considering their appeal in June as they prepared to board the Foreign Minister's plane, the Supreme Court proceeded from the fact that the hijacking attempt was averted in time and that under the Soviet law the death penalty is an exceptional measure of punishment."

The court acted after a hearing that lasted a day and a half. Barred from the courtroom, supporters of the defendants stood outside the building in the rain and snow as the arguments went on inside.

Kuznetsov, who had a pistol when he was arrested, was ordered confined under "special" conditions. The Supreme Court will be allowed only one visit a year, a subsistence diet of about one pound of meat, a few calories required to sustain good health, and no food parcels from outside.

Dymshits, who was to have led the plane, was sentenced to "strict regime" confinement.

Everett Bartlett, supervisor of the hazard district of the U.S. Department of Mines and Minerals, attributed the disaster to the failure of the electrical cables.

"Either they were shooting (dynamiting) the coal in there or the cables were a blown (electrical) cable."

U.S. Jews Say Nixon Did His Best

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three U.S. Jewish leaders say the Nixon administration has done "everything that can be done through diplomatic channels" to help the Leningrad hijack defendants.

In Moscow today, the Soviet Supreme Court committed death sentences of two Russian Jews and gave them 15-year labor camp sentences.

The Jewish leaders met with President Nixon and Secretary of State Henry Kissinger Wednesday during an emergency one-day conference called to gain U.S. aid for the defendants, nine of them Jews. Prison sentences from 4 to 15 years were imposed on those not sentenced to death.

Hogers sent a personal appeal to the Soviet Supreme Court to reduce the sentences. He said the defendants' sentences were reduced. The Washington Post reported.

Rabbi Herschel Schacter of New York, chairman of the American Jewish Conference, said he would be in Moscow for a year, a subsistence diet of about one pound of meat, a few calories required to sustain good health, and no food parcels from outside.

Dymshits, who was to have led the plane, was sentenced to "strict regime" confinement.

In Kentucky Blast Rescue Workers at Mine Uncover 38th Dead Victim

By SY RAMSEY, Associated Press Writer

HYDEN, Ky. (AP) — Rescue workers found two more bodies deep inside a mountain today, bringing to 38 the number killed in a mine earlier this year by federal inspectors for safety violations.

Charles Finley, co-owner of the mine, acknowledged there were "small violations" under the New Mine Safety Act but declined to elaborate.

"I'd rather not answer too many of those questions," Finley told newsmen gathered at the headquarters for the rescue teams.

Finley, asleep after a night-long vigil, said there were about 200 miners employed at the mine. He said their pay averaged "better than $24 a head."

The original list provided by the company showed 39 men in the mine when the blast occurred. But officials said one of the men apparently was not in the mine when the blast occurred.

The only known survivor of the disaster at the mine was hospitalized with minor injuries. Incurved when also said he believed all victims had been blown out of the mine, five miles from Hyden.

Champagne and Noisemakers Will Be Brought Out Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

From throwing out the crockery in Rome to counting out the year in New York, the familiar New Year's Eve rituals were set to begin today buoyed by champagne, noisemakers and the strains of Auld Lang Syne.

Casting aside the cares of the day, Europeans registered their jubilation at Continental restaurants and night clubs despite generally higher charges than in the past.

But in the United States, the economic squeeze was blamed for a reduction in advance reservations at night spots in several major cities. Some places lowered prices and a handful canceled celebrations.

The West Coast was the major exception to the U.S. business slump, with Los Angeles and San Francisco reporting reservations going well and even some sell-outs.

Reports from Boston, Dallas and Seattle showed champagne prices reducing per persons for New Year's Eve by as much as $10 compared to last year.

The Pump Room in Chicago paid its price for champagne by encouraging celebrants in a conservative spending economy and to start the year off with a bow to the budget-minded.

Frierson was not at the Grand Ballroom in New York's Waldorf. Astoria but neither were they raised. Guy Lombardo will do his "Auld Lang Syne" thing from the hotel in a television broadcast on 5 stations.

Elsewhere in New York the traditional lighted ball will drop in the Times Square and countdown and the city will host its third annual New Year's Eve party in Central Park, with bell ringing, music and fireworks.

Fireworks are much the order of the midnight hour also in Rome and Naples where Italy goes prepared to end 1970 with a bang.

The legend goes that the more the noise the luckier the New Year will be. In Rome there is the added custom of throwing all the old furniture and crockery into the street — which may not be so lucky for the garbage collectors or passerby.

In France, shrouded under a thick blanket of snow, hotels, clubs and ski resorts said the weather had not affected business. Maxim's, the gourmet's mecca in Paris, reported full books for the party. The restaurant said it would eat because there is no show.

The Lido, the glittering night spot on the Champe Elysees, offered a good dinner, a half bottle of champagne and a spectacular floor show for $65 per person. The offer was quickly snapped up in advance bookings.

New Haven Police Captain Named Ahern's Successor

NEW HAVEN (AP) — Capt. Edward Kuznetsov, a 25-year-veteran of the New Haven Police Department, was named Thursday to replace the retiring Police Chief James F. Ahern.

The appointment of Dilieto, 48, was announced at a morning news conference by Mayor Bartholomew F. Guida.

Dilieto, who was named the city's "outstanding young man" 12 years ago by the New Haven Jaycees, joined the police department in 1948 and was appointed a detective in 1952.

During the late 1960's, Dilieto was a special assistant to former Mayor Edward C. Lee and coordinator of the city's anti-gang delinquency drive.

Ahern, 58, who gained national prominence as police chief here, announced his retirement effective Jan. 1 earlier this month. He stirred his early retirement to an injury suffered 12 years ago as a patrolman and to interference from the Board of Police Commissioners.

Ahern did not attend the news conference and was unavailable for comment on the choice of his successor.

At the news conference, Dilieto said he had been of his appointment until about 10 minutes before the official announcement.

Guida praised the new chief and said, "I am sure he will continue the wonderful work performed by our New Haven police and will capably fill the job."

Dilieto told newsmen he planned to "continue the good work begun by my predecessors in making the New Haven Police Department a model for the

New Car Dealers Stalled At Dollar-Shy Stop Sign

By CHARLES C. PAN

DETROIT (AP) — The guy who is potentially one of the best traders in the family car for a new model is going to find himself in a bind as he searches for a new car. The reason is simple: the economy is in a state of flux, and many consumers are hesitant to spend money on new cars. This has led to a significant decline in car sales, and many dealers are struggling to make ends meet.

The automotive industry is facing a difficult time, and many dealers are reporting a sharp decline in sales. This is due to a variety of factors, including a weak economy, rising interest rates, and a loss of consumer confidence. Many consumers are now looking for ways to save money, and this has led to a decrease in car sales.

Dealers are now facing a "dollar-shy" stop sign, as consumers are unwilling to pay the full price for a new car. This has led to a significant increase in the number of cars sitting on the lot, and many dealers are struggling to cover their costs. The industry is now looking for ways to stimulate demand and get the economy back on track.

Movie Pendulum Swings Away from Blatant Sex

By GENE HANDBAKER

One snuffie may not be a winner, perhaps, nor one film a triumph, unless, perhaps, its "Love Story" is a success.

The movie industry has seen a shift in focus, moving away from blatant sex and towards more socially conscious and emotionally resonant films. This change is reflected in the success of movies like "Love Story" and "The Graduate," which have both become cultural touchstones. These films explore themes of love, relationships, and the challenges of life, and they have resonated with audiences in a way that more explicit films have not.

The pendulum has swung away from the explicit and towards the subtle, and this has led to a more diverse and interesting film landscape. Audiences are now looking for movies that challenge them and make them think, and the industry is responding by creating more thoughtful and meaningful works.

Census Reports Show Non-White Immigration Up

By GENE HANDBAKER

DETROIT (AP) — U.S. Census Bureau figures show that non-white immigration into the United States jumped sharply between 1960 and 1969, according to a report released today.

The report shows that the number of non-white immigrants increased significantly over the decade, and this has led to a growing diversity in the United States. This is a reflection of the global nature of the world and the increasing mobility of people across national borders. The report also highlights the challenges that come with immigration, such as language barriers and cultural differences, and it suggests ways to better integrate immigrants into American society.

The data shows that non-white immigration has become a major factor in the country's demographic changes, and it is likely to continue to play a significant role in the future. This has led to a more multicultural and inclusive society, and it has also led to new challenges and opportunities for all Americans.

New Bay State Unit Pricing To Begin Friday

BOSTON (AP) — Food shoppers in Massachusetts will be better able to compare prices under a new unit pricing law passed by the state legislature.

The law, which takes effect on Friday, requires that stores display the price per pound, quart, or other similar measure on the goods being sold. This will allow consumers to more easily compare prices between different brands and sizes of products, and it will help to ensure that consumers are getting the best value for their money.

The law is a significant step towards greater transparency in the marketplace, and it will help to level the playing field for all consumers. It is expected that this will lead to more competitive pricing and better service for all Massachusetts residents.

REFUSE FIRST TRICK TO BLOCK OPPONENTS

The object of the first trick in a suit when one of the opponents plays his last card in that suit. If that opponent has a later trick, he will be unable to lead his partner's long suit. We see this principle in a strange form in today's hand.

The hand is a North-South game in 3NT. North has a strong hand with a long suit in hearts, and South has a strong hand with a long suit in spades. The key to the hand is the first trick in hearts, which North must play carefully to avoid giving South an opportunity to lead their long suit.

The hand is a classic example of the importance of the first trick in a suit, and it highlights the need for careful planning and execution in bridge. The player who plays the first trick in hearts correctly will have a significant advantage over their opponent.

Hebron Town Clerk Needs Slate Of Meetings

Mrs. Gladys Miner, town clerk, has asked all committees and boards responsible for town business to file a schedule of meetings for the coming year at the Town Office Building.

The clerk is seeking to ensure that all town business is properly scheduled and that there are no conflicts between different committees or boards. This is a key part of the town's administrative process, and it is essential for the smooth operation of the town's affairs.

The clerk has asked that all committees and boards file their schedules by a certain date, and she has provided a form for them to use. This will help to streamline the process and ensure that all meetings are properly recorded and scheduled.

Tolland 1970 Growth of Population—and Problems—Noted

By BETTE QUARALE

The U.S. Census Bureau final report on the growth of population in Tolland County, Conn., during 1970, noted that the county's population increased by 1.8 percent, or 1,800 people, during the year.

The report also noted that the county's population is now over 100,000, and that this has led to a number of challenges for the county's infrastructure and services. The growth of the population has put a strain on the county's roads, schools, and public utilities, and it has also led to a need for more housing and social services.

The county's officials are working to address these challenges and to ensure that the county's infrastructure and services are able to meet the needs of its growing population. This includes investing in infrastructure projects, improving public services, and promoting economic development in the county.

Connecticut Yankee

By A.H.O.

It is only when one begins to read the development of the story year qualitatively, shutting out for the moment the confused and sometimes contradictory, the regrettable misstatements of judgment, the breaking of editorial hopes and ambitions which featured the day to day progress of the year toward its results, that one begins to realize Connecticut politics in 1970 came out pretty well for the state.

It was only the way in which certain things were accomplished which made the year seem, questionable as it was progressing. It was no longer needed to alter the defense link between North America and Western Europe...

But, at year's end, it can be seen that the big main desirable things had been accomplished, after all, and that, if their accomplishment had brought perhaps unnecessary pain to some, that unnecessary pain is at least some innocuous due to the own headlong search for pain.

The biggest and most important move is up to Moscow. The year 1970 was to render its own judgment on the judgment of the United States Senate itself with regard to the public conduct of its member, from a consensual command when it was.

That famous Senate judgment was, as everyone taking part in it knew at the time, a relatively kindly and restrained degree of punishment, arrived at purely on the basis of what the gentleman under criticism himself admitted, through his lawyers, to have been his own conduct, leaving the rest of that conduct uninvestigated, unpublicized, and unjudged.

When the subject in question eventually renounced the implicit side of his bargain, and proclaimed the result of everything to have been his own complete bill of innocence, he was redoubling his own eventual anguish and pain. But he was also making sure that the state had to issue its own verdict, and reestablish its own name, and this, after all, was done. It had not been done, Connecticut would have been living on a question mark, an uncertainty as to what its own standards as a state might be.

ATO Focuses On '71 with Eye On Soviet Plan

By CARL HARTMAN

European countries as possible, plus the United States and Canada, around the same table. The project is somewhat parallel to the talks between the United States and the Soviet Union on limiting strategic nuclear missiles.

Such a conference supposedly would strengthen the feeling among many Europeans that the defense link between North America and Western Europe is no longer needed to alter the policy against the Soviet Union.

The Western allies refuse even to start exploring the chances for a conference in any way the Soviets want, until there is agreement on the future of Berlin. They may not plan a meeting in Brussels in early December. Now they say the next move is up to Moscow.

There is pressure in Western Europe for a conference. Many Europeans are not mind talking about renunciation of the use of force. The Soviet Union is already renouncing in the U.N. charter. It is that included not only the Soviet Union but also the United States and the West cannot sit down and settle their differences so both American and Soviet troops can go home.

Western diplomats and soldiers see at least two reasons why they should not, at least not right away. The Americans would be a long way from Europe when they got home, while the Soviets would still be in the East. The 14 other allies have also promised a slight effort through the efforts of the Europeans would be something like a one per cent reduction in military spending—the administration hopes the psychological effect in Congress and Europe, in an angry mood, imposed disciplinary measures, Cortwright said.

These included longer duty days, more fatigue details, the strict enforcement of haircut standards and cancellation of the Army. This week Federal Judge Jack B. Weinstein of the Eastern District of New York issued a restraining order against the transfer of 138 of the Uniform Military Code, which permits appeal to higher authority.

Cortwright, who says he was identified as the ring leader, was transferred to Ft. Bliss, Tex. Other players were ordered to South Vietnam, South Korea and West Germany, all to band units—the students as well as the military. Again the players appealed the decision under military law. The antiwar mission then sought legal aid from the National Lawyers Guild, and a class action suit was filed in Federal Court seeking to bar the transfers. After a hearing on Dec. 20-21, Judge Weinstein issued a temporary restraining order against the transfer of Cortwright while permitting the transfer of five other band members to Vietnam.

After the ad was published, Cortwright says, the band was called in special formation and given a warning against such expression by Chief Warrant Officer Patrick E. Flores, the Belmont High School pupil, playing against each other in war petition was circulated last spring, the players were ordered to Vietnam. The players named their names, 71 hours a score was tied from it or face mass transfer, 5,318-5,318. Cortwright said he wanted to cause a meeting of the band, go 71 hours because all graduates and it was decided not to sign at 1971.

McCartney Sues To Kill Beatles

By CARL HARTMAN

LONDON (AP) — Paul McCartney brought a court action today against the other three Beatles — John Lennon, George Harrison and Ringo Starr — to force them to stop performing together.

The Beatles, who first burst upon the world in the early '60s, are reputed to pull in around $10 million a year in record royalties and profits from their business enterprises.

McCartney's writ demanded that the partnership "The Beatles and Company" formed in 1963, be dissolved. It also asked that affairs of the group be wound up, and transactions be taken in all partnership dealings and transactions be broken away.

A few months ago he said there were personal, business and artistic differences between himself and the other Beatles. But he added that family matters were his real reason for breaking away.

Then on July 4, during an Independence Day concert in New York City, McCartney, six members of a U.S. Army band are charging that the Beatles had broken up the band. McCartney said he had passed McCartney's "recommendations on to my staff for their consideration." "The message of this folder medal program, already operating in five schools. The new business that fall to survive," funds would permit expansion of the program.

Board To Hold Hearings On Added Appropriations

By CARL HARTMAN

The Manchester Board of Directors, when it meets next Tuesday night for its regular monthly meeting, will hold public hearings and will take action on seven proposed additional appropriations. The meeting will be at 8 p.m. in the Municipal Building, Hearing Room.

The highest of $28,000, is for the one million gallon Nike Tank project. The sum would come from the water department's 1969-70 unappropriated surplus. It would bring to $185,000 the sum allocated for the water tank and the accompanying water lines—one to Hall school, one to the water tank and the intersection of Kenoey St. and Garden Grove Rd.

The present estimate is that the project will cost at least $50,000 when completed. The proposed $28,000 appropriation is for the Police Department. The additional special training equipment. An equal grant already has been received from the state.

A proposed $125 appropriation to the Rec Department account is for additional equipment for the department's swim team. The sum would be financed by fees already received from the United States.

The other four proposed appropriations are for educational projects. All four are for washout accounts, to be financed by equal state grants. The $27,000 grant is for a remedial program, already operating in five schools. The new business that fall to survive," funds would permit expansion of the program.

Nixon Given A Clean Bill At Bethesda

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon said he received a "good bill of health" in a medical checkup yesterday at the Bethesda Naval Hospital.

Nixon arrived at 8:25 a.m. at the hospital and left for the White House at 11:15 a.m. Emerging from the hospital he spoke to newsmen and spectators and said he was feeling fine.

"They had to beat me to take me care for the checkup," the President quipped.

Asked if he felt he would rather be in Florida, he said, "I feel that until the Senate takes time off to take some sunbathing I can't take any either."

He was asked how he felt about the performance of the Congress during the final days of the session. He replied, "If I started thinking about that my health would be in jeopardy."

He spoke briefly to two Red Cross volunteer workers outside in the chilling weather.

"I've seldom been sick in my life," the President told them, "but I know the main thing that patients need is not for someone to talk about their illness but to have someone smile at them."

The Red Cross workers were Lorna Litton, 25, and Beverly Marsh. Miss Litton said she worked with Nixon's advance man in Yugoslavia when the President made his trip there this year. She is now stationed at Bethesda.

He is 40, perhaps older, but the party—with a special two-pound cake—is for his 38th year in the monkey house.

The big gorilla was given to the zoo by a Brooklyn, N.Y., woman who had raised him since his brother until they got too big and dangerous. The brother went on to a circus which renamed him Gargantua.

Sun Devils Bask in Snow

Arizona II Cops Peach Bowl Classic

ATLANTA (AP)—Arizona State's Sun Devils may be accustomed to run in the sun but snow didn't seem to slow them down.

"I think we've proven we can run in the snow in the nation," said Sun Devil Coach Frank Kush after his team's 24-14 victory over the fourth-ranked team swamped North Carolina in the Peach Bowl classic Wednesday night.

"The conditions weren't good for us," Kush said. "We had a mission and we accomplished it."

Arizona State's mission was to win its first bowl game in five years and the Sun Devils overcame a 20-point second quarter by the Tar Heels to win going away. Arizona State piled up 17 first downs, including three touchdowns in the last five minutes of the game.

The last half was all Arizona state, however, as the Tar Heels couldn't get unblocked backfield quarterback Mike Mansfield.

Mansfield came in when Earl Miller was knocked out of the game on a jarring tackle. He was firing a 36-yard touchdown pass to the second-year receiver, Jim Miller, who was hit by defensive end Junior Alford.

Arizona State's speedy backfield of quarterback Joe Bowers, halfback Monroe Ely, wingback Steve Holden and fullback Bob Thomas, along with Jerry D. Hill, kept the ball moving. Ely, a sophomore, was named the game's outstanding offensive player.

Ely's performance overhauled a record of 62.22, which he set in the Sun Devils' game against Oklahoma.

Full Weekend of College Bowl Football Games

Notre Dame After Revenge

NEW YORK (AP)—A year ago Texas made official what a lot of people knew all along—that the Longhorns were the college football team in the nation.

They're still there. But Notre Dame, in the same place it was a year ago, will be aiming Friday for revenge for last year's 23-17 loss at the Irish.

Notre Dame's coach, Ara Matteson, said he would lead his team to a win over the Longhorns.

The game is but one of the four traditional New Year's at-bowl games. The other three are the Cotton Bowl, the Orange Bowl, and the Sugar Bowl.

Three Key Issues Face Pro Gridders

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL (AP)—Three key issues stand between players and owners for final settlement of a $19.1 million pension and benefit package that ended the 1970 National Football League season.

Whether coaches, trainers and equipment men are included in the pension package.

Whether the four-year contract, which expires next week to discuss the issues.

Whether a joint committee will be appointed to interpret the contract.

The DRY Side of Sports

Football Giants Protect Only Five

Although the New York football Giants ended their season in a lopsided defeat to Los Angeles 31-3, after winning six in a row, things aren't so merry in Giant country.

Word has it that only five New Yorkers are untouchable from a team that worked so well together. The five include Fran Tarkenton, Ron Johnson and Tucker Fredrick in the backfield, defensive end Fred Dyke and middle linebacker Jim Fyles.

The Giants want to make a major trade, likable candidates who may be trade bait are Bob Tucker, Bobby Duhan, Clinton McCall, Spider Lockhart, Scott Easton, Rich Rubin and Lee Scott.

Hoop Statistics

With only one basketball game remaining in the year, East Catholic High team leads are pretty even. Eagle Center East Connors heads the scoring play with 88 points, 24 field goals and 18 from the line. Captain Ed Fitzgerald has popped in 73 points on 25 field goals and 17 free shots.

Bridgeport Feud
Ends in Shooting
Of Two Babies

BRIDGEPORT (AP)—Police arrested a teen-age father and his stepfather Wednesday night after the boy allegedly shot his two baby daughters during an argument with his stepfather over who should support them.

Police said the stepfather had handed the boy the gun a few moments before. Both were charged with aggravated assault.

The boy was identified by police as Angel Huerta, 18. His stepfather was identified as Gumerindo Escalera, 40. Both live in separate apartments in the P.T. Barnum housing project here.

Police said Gloria Huerta, 2, was shot in the head and was in critical condition at Park City Hospital. Her sister Sonya, 10 months old, was wounded in her left side and was in good condition at Bridgeport Hospital.

Police said the argument took place in Escalera's apartment, where the two girls had been living with Escalera and his wife. During the argument, police said, Escalera declared he could no longer support the girls and then lined up his own five children and gave the gun to Huerta—telling him to shoot them and end the financial problems.

Instead, police said, Huerta turned the gun on his own girls, wildly firing a total of six bullets. Only two bullets hit the girls.

Huerta was first taken to Bridgeport Hospital for treatment of a scalp wound he received while fighting with his stepfather. Then he was taken to the Fairfield Hills state mental hospital for observation.

From Your Neighbor's Kitchen

By VIVIAN F. FERGUSON

The first recorded New Year's celebration occurred in the spring of the year. Babylonian clay tablets recorded the event between 2000 and 1000 B.C.

Most ancient peoples celebrated the new year with the coming of spring. The early Romans welcomed the new year close to the spring equinox, in early March.

It was Julius Caesar who changed the day from March to January in honor of Janus. Janus was the god of all beginnings, the god of agriculture, and the keeper of the gates of heaven and earth.

The Romans spent the entire day celebrating. Gifts were exchanged. Resolutions to be kind and good to each other were made.

With the coming of Christianity and its acceptance under the rule of Constantine, the day was retained. Its observance was considerably altered in that it became a day of fasting and prayer. By decree, the day was to be spent in solemn meditation, in repentance and in the making of resolutions.

As with Christmas, the Pilgrims did not observe New Year's. They considered it pagan and would not even refer to the month by name. Instead, they called it "First Month."

Noisemaking to welcome in the new year is one of the earliest customs known to man. It also is one that has continued. Some think the idea had its origins in Babylon and India. The ancients believed that the old year had to be driven out before the new one came in. Also, the evil spirits must be gotten rid of. The noise was supposed to frighten them away.

from the Swedish people who settled along the Delaware River. Between Christmas and New Year's, they roamed about in costume creating fun. The English had their traditional mummings' holiday plays. Gradually, the two got together. The first organized parade was held in 1901.

The Tournament of Roses parade was held in Pasadena, Calif., in 1890. A gentleman named Charles Holder, who was the founder of the Valley Hunt Club, had members of the club decorate their carriages and buggies with real flowers. Following a parade, athletic contests were held.

The Valley Hunt Club financed the parade for several years until the city took over the responsibility. Finally, a permanent association was formed to sponsor the event.

Many people follow the custom of calling on friends on New Year's Day. It is said that the Chinese started the custom centuries ago. They also are credited with inaugurating the sending of New Year's greeting cards.

Perhaps you will enjoy the day informally. The men may watch the football games and you will have close friends in just to relax.

At one time, gifts were exchanged on New Year's Day. Early English settlers to the New World followed this custom. In England, the wealthy presented gifts to the servants on Christmas Day and to their friends on New Year's Day.

I would like to give you another of my recipes. This is a mock pate de foie gras made with chicken livers. It is excellent as a spread. As a first course, place an ice-cream scoopful on a lettuce leaf, add sliced onion and a sprig of parsley.

frigator. Truffles may be added if desired, or a piece placed atop when serving. Best when eaten second day.

Champagne is my idea of the only thing to drink with pate. In fact, it is my idea of the only thing to drink, especially on New Year's. Someone should have started a tradition that a drink of champagne would bring prosperity. It has to be the other way around in most cases.

If you like a nice refreshing punch, my friend Nancy LaBonne of Minnechaug Dr., Glastonbury has a refreshing one which includes champagne. You may wish to tuck this away for the next engagement shower.

Nancy's Punch
4 six-oz. cans concentrated frozen lemonade
4 cans water (fill each lemonade can once)
4 six-oz. cans frozen pineapple juice
4 cans water (fill each juice can once)
2 quarts ginger ale
2 quarts dry champagne
ice block or ice cubes
Combine juices and water and keep chilled. When ready to use, add ginger ale and pour over ice in large punch bowl. Then, pour well-chilled champagne as evenly as possible over the punch and stir gently through the punch.

This is not a strong punch. However, to use less champagne, substitute a quart of club soda for one of the quarts of champagne.

As the hour of twelve approaches, a toast to all of you for health and prosperity but most especially for happiness and love.

CHICKEN LIVER PATE
1/2 lb. chicken livers
1 teaspoon salt
pinch cayenne pepper
1/2 cup rendered chicken fat or softened butter
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1/4 teaspoon ground cloves
2 tablespoons finely minced onion
Place chicken livers in saucepan. Pour cold water just barely to cover livers. Bring to boil and simmer for 15-20 minutes, covered. Drain and put hot livers through fine blade of food chopper.
Blend liver paste well with all other ingredients. Pack in crock or bowl and chill in re-
