We are, right now, advancing into that time of year when additional afternoon light might be used for outdoor exercise, such as raking up spring lawns, or shoveling the last spring snow, or practicing a golf swing. In the month of April many of us are certain to notice a number of things it might be possible for us to accomplish if we did have an additional hour of daylight available. There seems absolutely no question that year round Daylight Saving Time would be more pleasant and perhaps safer for people, and that it would be, as well, the only important instant contribution that could be made to the easing of the recurring power crisis.

The dossier has always been a powerful tool for the abuse of governmental power or for blackmail. Possession of the files relating to individuals in the French Interior Department has for generations been a prime goal for which ever regimes came to power. A prince of the Roman Catholic Church once told me that privacy of communication between bishops throughout the world and the Vatican regarding personal affairs such as marriage annulments was the chief reason, in his view, for diplomatic reistions. Such a status would give the Vati can a secure mail pouch.

But in the United States, Great Brit ain, and other countries where high stanlards of personal rights to privacy have existed, this kind of information has been traditionally safeguarded. #### Rabbi Wind Comments On Immigration to Israel

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 3, 1971

chester's Temple Beth Sholom is on a six-months' sabbatical in Israel.

In his first "Notes From Israel," written only a few days after he and Mrs. Wind arrived in Israel, he described a few of the people on the same plane with them.

"At home, in the States, one hears much about Israel's needs, to take care of the great role of immigration, absorption and rehabilitation. It is not, however, until one comes here, and sees at first hand what these tasks entail, that one becomes aware of the great role that the UJA plays plane with them. great role that the UJA plays Some, he explained, were set in this historic process of The tling in Israel—others were to National Return.

In his second "Notes From Israel," Rabbi Wind explains what the new immigrant finds in Israel, and answers the question, "Why don't more American Jews come?"

I'l cannot envisage a mass immigration movement from the United States — although, in God's scheme of things, nothing is impossible. ing is impossible. "Life here, beautiful and rich "Immigration is an ongoing though it is in many respects, is nevertheless hard, because of Jews come from all over the world—from the United States, from Canada, from South America, from Africa, from Australia, and some Jews are betralia, and some Jews are beginning to come out of Russia.

"The prophetic vision of 'The Return of the Jews to the land of their fathers,' is being fulfilled before our very eyes. And "What do the new immigrants find here? How do they adjust to their new life?

"But, one need not come here only to participate in the great process of "National Resurrection." We read in the Talmud that he who helps another Jew to study Torah is as if he himself tuitilled the divine deed of ernment and a nation that are most eager to receive them. They are provided with housing — some permanent, and some temporary — until they find quarters more suitable to their needs are future plans.

"Similarly, when the American Jew helps a Jew from another land to come to settle in Israel, it is as if he himself participated in the divine deed of National Return.

"And this seems to me to be 'Doors lock a kid's mind. Kids this age need freedom to move, freedom to think," is the way Herbert Jackson, principal last year, put it. "The typical school is organized on the assumption that if one child talks to another he is either out of order or he's chesting," says Callaway, professor of education at the University of Schools, they all agree, should hat it calls for responsibilit and self-discipline. Pupit Views

A casual sampling finds pupils overwhelmingly in favor of their school. "It's better when you can get the latest gossip while you study," says a seventh-grade girl. A boy, eighth grade, "They ion't care if you chew gum or not. That took all the fun out of t." Another eighth-grade boy: You only learn when you want o, and here I want to." Girl, dxth grade: "There are more choices, you can go more places. I feel I'm learning nore." Boy, seventh grade: ' like it better this year, I'm not cooped up. I keep busier. There's more to do."

The Turner school, in a sub urb of Beloit, is one example of the growth across the land of educational experiments intend-ed better to fit children for to-

Numerous individual features here-such as the open space, original. But perhaps unique is the way a school board looked ahead in education and tapped the thinking not only of experts but townspeople and high school pupils who had just been through the traditional middle school experience.

Expressing the resultant philosophy ,Callaway says "the basic emphasis is on the individual child, on his developing values, and learning of self-discipline and responsibility. We want to help kids find out who they are, here their talents lie, and how to get along with people."
"And kids want to know what hey can and cannot get away to sit up and shut up, do your work, conform, acquiese, then you'll get along. But then, later on, we ask them, why aren't you more responsible? "For kids this age (11 to 13 or 14), the curriculum should draw upon all disciplines, and cut across rigid separation of sub-jects, with emphasis upon explo-ration of social issues and prob-

ration of social issues and problems, with particular attention to development of individual interests, values and attitudes," Callaway adds.
Children at this age "are trying for freedom, but aren't usually given a chance to work with it," says Schmidt, principal in the second year of the school. "And we must teach

Police Call Man

Computer Looter

29-year-old computer company expert has been accused of dial

ing into the mechanical brain run by a rival firm and stealing

Police said Hugh Jeffry Ward, who works for the Universit

Computing Co. of Palo Alto, Cal if., had been charged with grand theft.

Disclosing the case Tuesday

Detective Sgt. Terry Green said vac at Information Systems I

He said Information Systems became suspicious when one of its legitimate customers re ceived some unordered information and the Univac began spitting out data cards without ap parent reason.

Information Systems rents its computer's services on a time basis. Firms calling are supposed to identify themselves with a special code and account taken from the Univac. He did not disclose what the information was, but indicated a tradsecret was involved.

Ward, ordered to appear in Municipal Court Thursday, was charged with grand theft because Information Systems figured he used $25,000 worth of
