

Appropriations Unit In House Approves Full SST Financing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Expressing "complete confidence" that environmental hazards will be resolved, the House Appropriations Committee approved today full financing of continued development of the SST superersonic civilian aircraft.

It went to the House floor for debate and expected passage next Thursday a bill to provide $289.9 million for development of two prototypes. One is scheduled to fly by March, 1973.

Once through the House, the legislation would go to the Senate where opposition to the SST program has been heavy.

The $289.9 million was the entire sum requested by the administration for fiscal year 1971 which ends June 30. Congress provided $210 million in an emergency bill passed last January after a Senate-House battle over merits of the SST. The new bill would add $79.9 million to that allotment.

Approximately $158 million of the previously provided funds for this year have been obligated, with another $134 million budgeted for the balance of the year.

The government already has provided about $864 million toward development of the big plane expected to carry 298 passengers at speeds up to 1,800 miles per hour. Total federal outlays are estimated to reach $1.3 billion, augmented by $403 million in private financing.

In a formal report drafted by Rep. Jack McFall, D-Calif., the Appropriations Committee said it wanted to make it "unquestionably clear" that the federal commitment to help build the prototypes "cannot be extended to include" financing of commercial production.

Federal officials say the government's investment in the program will be repaid when 300 SSTs are sold, and if 500 of the planes are marketed, federal royalty payments will reach $1 billion.

Prototype superersonic commercial planes are being test-flown now by the Soviet Union and by Britain and France.

Failure of the United States to get into the superersonic field, the committee said, would cause this country to lose its leadership role in selling commercial aircraft and could result in a $17 billion "unfavorable swing" in foreign trade balances.

In addition to the direct benefit of 50,000 jobs at the height of SST production, the committee said, another 100,000 to 150,000 jobs may be generated as production rises still further.

Rep. Sidney R. Yates, D-Ill., a committee member and opponent of the SST program, challenged some of the committee's conclusions.

In a separate report, Yates said there are more important national priorities for "the hundreds of million dollars which are being spent on the SST program."

Under present regulations the State Department's travel bans were to end automatically today unless the secretary acted to continue any or all of them.

Some of Rogers' advisers proposed dropping the restrictions entirely because U.S. courts in recent years have struck down attempts to enforce them. Many U.S. citizens have traveled to the off-limits areas without official permission.

But others argued successfully that the department's curb on travel was necessary to protect the country's security.

Since July of 1969, U.S. policy has allowed members of Congress, journalists, professional teachers, scholars with post-graduate degrees and students in college, scientists and physicians and representatives of the American Red Cross to visit mainland China.

U.S. Eases Travel Bars On Peking

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department lifted today 20-year-old restrictions on the travel of American citizens to Communist China.

Following up earlier measures which loosened restraints, Secretary of State William P. Rogers ordered that passports would no longer carry a stamp stating they could not be used for travel to the Chinese mainland.

Such a restriction is being continued, however, on travel by Americans to North Vietnam, North Korea, and Cuba.

State Department officials said past experience indicates that authorizing use of passports in the case of mainland China will make little or no difference in actual travel by Americans there because the Chinese Communist regime has allowed very few Americans to enter the country.

The move is in line, however, with President Nixon's pledge last month to see what more might be done "to create broader opportunities for contacts between the Chinese and American peoples."

Nixon, who has been seeking improved relationships with the mainland Chinese, reported in his February State-of-the-World message that nearly 1,000 Americans had received special U.S. permission to go to China but Peking had admitted only three.

Since July of 1969, U.S. policy has allowed members of Congress, journalists, professional teachers, scholars with post-graduate degrees and students in college, scientists and physicians and representatives of the American Red Cross to visit mainland China.

Feelings as Kidnap Victims Recounted by Freed Airmen

NEW YORK (AP) — The four U.S. airmen freed after five days' captivity in Turkey say they felt the Turkish government would not pay the $400,000 ransom their guerrilla abductors demanded and that they would be killed as threatened.

"The first night, they told us they wanted to 'sell' us back to the American authorities," said Sgt. James Sexton, 25, of San Angelo, Tex., stepping off a jet at Kennedy Airport Sunday.

"When they said that, frankly, I didn't think too much of our chances," he added.

"They were pretty clever." Meanwhile in Turkey, four explosions, including one at the American Consulate, rocked Istanbul early today as politicians in Ankara kept on trying to form a new government that would satisfy the country's military chiefs.

The dynamic blast outside the U.S. Consulate caused no damage. But another bomb shattered windows at the American-Turkish Foreign Trade Bank, and two others exploded outside newspaper offices.

It was a months-long wave of such urban disorders and worse that prompted the commanders of the armed forces to oust the conservative government of Premier Suleyman Demirel on Friday. But there were no demonstrations protesting or approving the overthrow of the government, and the U.S. Embassy said it is "business as usual" for the 17,000 American servicemen, civilians and dependents in the country.

The civilian politicians continued consultations in an attempt to line up a "strong and respected government above party politics," as the generals demanded. They are to report their conclusions to the military.

The subject was raised last month by Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and welcomed by the Israelis. Later the suggestion got lost in the exchanges that followed Israel's announcement that it would not return to the borders it had before the 1967 war.

Eban denied that the United States is exerting pressure on Israel to withdraw to the pre-war boundaries.

"I am completely sure that the U.S. administration knows that Israel will resist any pressure and will insist that security borders be reached by direct negotiations. They will not be the borders of June 4, 1967," he said.

"This must be our policy and the policy of the United States. It is a very basic principle of our policy and it has not changed since I announced it to the U.N. General Assembly in the summer of 1967."

Along with a schedule of fund-raising dinners, Eban arranged meetings with Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Swedish envoy Gunnar V. Jarving, who is conducting the Arab-Israeli peace talks at U.N. headquarters in New York.

Eban told newsmen as he left he was encouraged that the Israeli and Egyptian governments both have expressed the possibility of opening the canal "before and without a general agreement."

Foe's Fire Pounds Viet Base in Laos

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

HAM NGHI, Vietnam (AP) — Enemy troops launched heavy artillery and tank attacks against a South Vietnamese base in Laos today and threw up a wall of anti-aircraft fire against U.S. helicopters supporting the base, field officers said.

The enemy also struck at South Vietnam's northwest corner, shelling the big allied Khe Sanh combat base near the Laotian border for three hours.

An official U.S. spokesman said about 150 rounds of rocket and mortar fire slammed into the base causing light American casualties and some materiel damage.

"Most of the rounds landed outside the perimeter," said the spokesman, Lt. Col. Perry Stevens.

It was the heaviest attack since Khe Sanh base came under a 77-day siege in 1968 when it was manned by U.S. Marines. Now, scores of American helicopters supporting the South Vietnamese drive into Laos operate out of Khe Sanh.

Day-long ground fighting was reported 3 miles southwest of Fire Base Lolo, the headquarters of the South Vietnamese 1st Infantry Division's 1st Regiment. The base is about nine miles southeast of Sepone.

One U.S. helicopter was shot down and several others hit. But U.S. sources said AC-119 gunships knocked out seven enemy medium tanks and damaged another and a truck. The tanks had opened fire on the base with their 85mm cannon from a position six miles to the north.

Officers said two 150mm artillery pieces at the base were slightly damaged.

Brig. Gen. Pham Van Phu, commander of the 1st Infantry Division, said the North Vietnamese were moving two regiments into the region around the base. Asked if he thought they would attempt to take it, Phu said, "No, but they will try to do something south of Lolo and they must move some troops south of Lolo to defend Highway 914."

Lolo is east of winding Highway 914, one of the main arteries of the Ho Chi Minh trail, and is the main operations base for South Vietnamese troops sweeping the westernmost section of the highway.

Officers said Lolo was hit with about 300 rounds of 85mm artillery rockets and mortars Sunday night and today. Initial reports said three South Vietnamese were killed and six wounded, but at least a score more wounded were unloaded from helicopters at Ham Nghi.

One U.S. crewman said some supply helicopters were unable to land because of heavy anti-aircraft and mortar fire. He said they would swoop down and drop their loads from five or six feet.

"Man, that whole ridge line lit up when we went in," he said. "You could see tracer bullets from .50-caliber machine guns all over."

"They're in a hot and heavy firefight with a lot of North Vietnamese," said another U.S. pilot, "and there's a lot of anti-aircraft fire around Lolo. We've got to slingload some supplies in there, and I'll tell you, we don't want to go."

U.S. B2 bombers hammered the North Vietnamese positions. Some strikes were within 600 yards of the base.

Phu said fighter-bombers, artillery and later ground troops attacked a "huge" North Vietnamese supply depot six miles south of Lolo.

"There were so many second-ary explosions, we cannot estimate how many," he said. "Our troops bombed 60 storage houses and captured 2,000 rockets. We are still searching. The explosions are still going on. This is a big North Vietnamese cache of ammunition."

"We also hit another supply area with air strikes and touched off a big fire for two hours. We think it is a fuel line."

Nixon Plans More Parleys To Push Revenue Sharing

By FRANK CORMBIE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Delighted with his success in winning over one Democrat and all but persuading another at his first regional conference on revenue sharing, President Nixon now plans at least three more private sessions with state governors.

Dates and sites for the conferences haven't been selected, but the second briefing probably will be held next week.

At the first meeting, held March 1 in Des Moines, Nixon outlined his plan to share general federal revenues with the states to four governors, two Republicans and two Democrats.

One of the Democrats, Missouri's Warren E. Hearnes, came out of the parley sounding as enthusiastic as a White House press agent and announced his conversion to the Nixon program.

The other, Patrick J. Lucey of Wisconsin, was considerably more restrained, but an aide acknowledged that the governor was "somewhat more persuaded" after hearing the President's presentation.

What happened during the two hours the governors spent with Nixon and his aides? Key participants, interviewed separately, generally agreed that it was a give-and-take session, a dialogue.

"There wasn't a moment when someone wasn't asking or somebody wasn't answering," Hearnes said.

Republican Govs. Robert D. Ray of Iowa and Richard B. Ogilvie of Illinois struck much the same note. "It was not a matter of just telling us something but of getting our views," said Ray.

Lucey was not in complete agreement. While saying, "I don't think any of us felt we were under wraps," he added, "I felt that I was attending a briefing rather than attending a policy-making discussion."

John D. Ehrlichman, the President's domestic policy coordinator, said there was so much conversation that a 20-minute briefing by one of his assistants lasted an hour and 20 minutes.

"While we have an agenda in mind," said Ehrlichman, "we're very flexible."

At least one governor, Ogilvie of Illinois, was successful in arguing a point.

Ogilvie complained that his state would not be treated fairly under the proposed formula for allocating bonus money on the basis of state and local "tax effort." The formula designates 1968 as the base year for making the calculation and Illinois did not levy a state income tax until 1969.

"For God's sake, don't use '68," Ogilvie urged Nixon.

The President turned to Ehrlichman and asked, "Is there anything we can do about it?"

West Berlin Voters Favor Brandt Party

BERLIN (AP) — Chancellor Willy Brandt's Social Democrats renewed their control of the West Berlin government in a municipal election Sunday, but the voters reduced the Socialist majority to from 16 to 8 seats in the city parliament.

Brandt, whose party has held an absolute majority in West Berlin since 1968, termed the election a test of his policy of seeking better relations with Eastern Europe.

The conservative Christian Democrats claimed the outcome was a clear defeat for Brandt's "East policy." But Socialist Mayor Klaus Schuetz claimed a victory because his party had won a majority again.

The election attracted nearly 90 per cent of the 1,669,806 eligible voters, including 120,000 youths between 18 and 21 who voted for the first time.

The Social Democrats emerged with 50.4 per cent of the total and 73 of 138 city parliament seats, while the Christian Democrats got 38.2 per cent and 54 seats, up seven seats.

The Free Democrats, Brandt's coalition partners in Bonn, won 11 seats.

Fire Hits Boatyard In Essex

ESSEX (AP) — Fire did an estimated $2 million damage at a boatyard here Sunday when it fanned through a 200-foot-square shop-storage building and destroyed at least 60 boats, one of them a $200,000 luxury craft.

Two men at the boatyard, Essex Marine Railway, Inc., said an explosion accompanied the fire.

John D. Wells 3rd, one of the owners, said he was in an office when he heard the blast in the shed.

An employee, Douglass Whitehead, said he saw a flash of light and a large fireball.

"I was in the office when I saw the fire," he said. "I don't know what caused it, but it was a big explosion."

The fire started in a shed where boats were stored. It spread to a 200-foot-square shop-storage building and destroyed at least 60 boats, one of them a $200,000 luxury craft.

Alternating Tongues... Quite obviously, there is bound to be some difference in the mood of a President relaxing in his office on a day when he feels like being sentimental and sincere about his own Quaker instincts, and the mood he feels required to put on when he is called upon to make the speech at a military ceremonial which is inducting new young bodies and brains into the nation's defense structure.

So last week, Mr. Nixon passed from the "this is the last war" musings of his interview with C. L. Sulzberger to the style and language proper to the occasion at Newport, where his son-in-law, David Eisenhower, was graduating from the Naval Officer Candidate School.

In the Newport address, the President was on more familiar ground. There were those other peoples in the world who, unfortunately, did not share our own high ideals and love for peace. So long as such an unfortunate and regrettable condition exists, we have no recourse but to keep ourselves armed enough to defend the cause of freedom and peace. As for those who think we may at times be spending too much on defense and too little on domestic needs, the President had the following advice:

"If we have the most extensive urban renewal programs and the most far-reaching medical care provisions, and the finest highways, and the most comprehensive education assistance efforts, and the most effective anti-poverty programs — if we have all this and more and we have it all at the expense of our ability to defend ourselves, then we would soon enjoy none of the fruits of our efforts, and the only peace we would know would be that terrible peace imposed upon those who are the victims of their own lack of vigilance."

This speech delivered by our White House peacemaker at the Newport military ceremony could also have been, in its language and meaning, a proper speech for a protesting militarist to deliver before a pacifist audience.

The confirmed militarist would ask nothing stronger, or choose to deliver nothing stronger, than the speech Mr. Nixon served up, not very many hours after his pacifist interview interlude, at Newport.

This is the fatal disease, not only of our age, although now it may seem in a more critical than ever phase, but of all human history.

We keep our ideals and our realities in separate compartments, never running the risk of losing one or the other by letting them mix into the flow of our action.

We have developed a fine knack for using the very language of our ideals as a garment for the realities with which we betray them. We speak from the same national throat with alternating tongues, and take this as a matter of course. We never, from either tongue, say all that we mean or mean all that we say.

This does not even seem to disturb us very much.

But it must, nonetheless, be continually spreading its viruses and its lesions throughout the viscera of our existence, until it grows more and more rotten and, less and less capable of rallying its own appetite for decency and sanity.

Do we ever speak with one tongue?

Shades Of Henry Wallace... One useful perspective which can be brought into service whenever we want to try to catch up with the pace of our own national living is to remember the tremendous national future which once greeted that idealistic, impractical visionary, the late Henry Wallace, when he dared set, as a rational goal for this country, an employment statistic of 60,000,000.

That figure, in its time, was considered just as much well-intentioned foolishness as another famous Wallace ambition, which was baroque as one of wishing to supply a quart of civilized milk to every Hottentot.

The Hottentots were, at last report, still relatively unpopulated.

But employment in the United States as we know it today just closed reached 78,600,000.

This is no longer any surprise to any of us. We have become used to the long, steady climb toward such a figure. We have long since realized that Wallace's vision, rather than being some impractical left wing pipe dream, was something that could come true through the natural, almost irreversible natural growth of this country in both its population and its economy.

Where we can fault our late visionary, however, is in his failure to anticipate, as we ourselves have failed to anticipate and guard against, or compensate for, a trend just as inevitable and irrevocable as that of plain growth. This has been the production per man-hour trend which has also been going up, and which demands more goods, the lower the proportion of employment necessary to satisfy this growth demand will become.

We need millions more on the employment list, in order to give ourselves wages to live on.

We need fewer work hours to produce the goods that full employment wages can buy.

We face, then, an ever widening gap in which, the greater the work force we have available and need to employ, the fewer hours we need from each member of that work force.

Eventually, it would seem, we are going to have to evolve ourselves a new way of living which will be able to keep our increasing need to employ ourselves in an elastic, compensatory relationship with our decreasing need for man-work hours per item of product.

For the moment, however, we have available and need to employ, the fewer hours we need from each member of that work force.

Inside Report Nixon's Pledge To Israel Open Forum

By Rowland Evans Jr. and Robert D. Novak

WASHINGTON — A tough, international commitment guaranteeing Israel's security against withdrawal of Israeli forces from the Sinai Peninsula is now being hammered out at top echelons of the Nixon administration.

That commitment would not only place American soldiers on the strategic heights of the Sinai Peninsula, but would pledge the use of American military power to prevent any possible Egyptian move across the Israeli-Egyptian border.

These contingents would be housed at Sharm El-Sheikh itself, flying national flags and commanded by a non-Big Four military officer responsible to the UN Security Council.

That would give the guarantee something less than the full force of a treaty—which many experts here think Israel really wants—but enough legal backing to remove all doubt about the U.S. commitment to guarantee Israel's territory.

The Nixon administration is trying to give the lie to the claim by some that the U.S. will not underwrite Israel's occupation of territories seized by war, it will guarantee its security against possible Arab aggression aimed at Israel proper.

When St. Paul said that he sought to be "all things to all men, if by any means I might save some," he could at the same time proclaim confidently, "I know whom I have believed..."

Clarinetist Rides Between Pair of Musical Worlds

By STEVE SHEPP Associated Press Writer HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — Clarinetist Buddy DeFranco is comfortably riding between two musical worlds: the jazz scene and the commercial stage.

But there are signs on the musical horizon which indicate he soon may be reaching both jazz and commercial audiences, and thereby satisfying his personal and monetary motivations.

DeFranco's new jazz album, recorded last summer with a group of jazz musicians in Detroit, admittedly is aimed at the limited musicians' market.

Second-Round CDAP Pay Cut Off in Fund Squeeze

MERIDEN (AP) — Local administrators and planners of the state's Community Development Action Programs are expected to be informed officially this week that there won't be any state money for extending their salaries beyond their two-year in-lieu grants.

The so-called "second round" funding of these positions will be ruled out in a letter going to all cities and towns, State Communities Affairs Commissioner Donald Dorney has confirmed.

The position of coordinator for Manchester's CDAP study, set to end June 30, will be one of those affected.

The CDAP grant to Manchester currently pays $2,256 of the $12,007 salary of Assistant Town Manager John Harkins, who served as the CDAP coordinator.

Wells has said that Harkins' entire salary will revert to the town budget after June 30.

The pact was hailed in Prague as a "much wider international significance than would appear at first sight."
The Egyptians indicated full support for almost every aspect of Communist foreign policy. The Russians are presumed to believe that a settlement of the Arab-Israeli conflict would lead to the importance of their military aid to Egypt and they consequently are building up a political power base in Egypt that anticipates a future role in the Middle East.

Reds in Egypt Building Political Power Base
The pact was hailed in Prague as a "much wider international significance than would appear at first sight."
The Egyptians indicated full support for almost every aspect of Communist foreign policy. The Russians are presumed to believe that a settlement of the Arab-Israeli conflict would lead to the importance of their military aid to Egypt and they consequently are building up a political power base in Egypt that anticipates a future role in the Middle East.

Coventry Homes Tour Set May 22

Plans are now well under way for the Beautification Committee's Homes Tour, set for May 22 from 1 to 6 p.m.

Proceeds from the tour are to go to the beautification of Little Beach on Rt. 31. This is a joint effort of the Recreation Commission and the EC, with the monies to be used to follow suggested plans as made by Rudy Favretti, landscape architect from the University of Connecticut.

All local groups are encouraged to take part in the refurbishing of the beach, and may contact Mrs. Joseph Fowler, River Rd. for details.

On the day of the Homes Tour, there will be several homes, ranging from contemporary to colonial, open for the afternoon, all located in Coventry.

The homes are those of Dr. and Mrs. Jack Byrnes, Dr. and Mrs. Fred Doyle, Mr. and Mrs. John Hessel, Mr. and Mrs. Elmore Turkington, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Broga, and Mrs. Adeline Greiner Simmons at Caprianda Herb Farm.

The five local churches will also be included. General chairman of the event is Mrs. E. William Davis, Cooper Lane. Mrs. Richard Koock, Brewster St., is in charge of tickets, which will go on sale late in April.

Nursery Openings
The Coventry Cooperative Nursery School, with classes currently being held in Prince of Peace Church, has a few openings now in both sessions, Tuesday-Thursday, and Monday-Wednesday-Friday.

Those interested in enrolling their youngsters can contact Mrs. Paul Twardy, Pucker St. The cooperative nursery is also accepting applications for enrollment in the Fall when classes will be moved to St. Mary's Church. To be eligible for the fall session, children must be three years old by Sept. 1. Mrs. Lee Paul, Midland Rd., can be contacted for further information.

On Dean's List
Miss Patricia A. Misenoc, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Misenoc of South St., has received recognition for outstanding academic achievement by being named to the dean's list at Russell Sage College, Troy, N. Y.

Miss Misenoc is a senior majoring in history.

Society 'Closing' Haven for Moms

FAIRFIELD (AP) — Changes in the social structure are the reason that Woodfield, an agency serving unwed mothers since 1908, will close its maternity residence service in the middle of April, the agency president reports.

The agency will, however, continue to give guidance and counseling to unwed mothers, said its president, Mrs. Tyler A. Shinn, Saturday. Woodfield is to continue its adoption services, foster care for infants, infant day-care program and counseling of organizations that plan family-life and sex education.

"In closing the maternity home," Mrs. Shinn said, "the Board of Managers is only shifting the emphasis of our work with unmarried parents." She said the decision reflects "an adjustment to one more change in the social structure in the needs of young mothers and the appropriate ways of meeting these needs today."

Liquor Pricing Bill Approved

HARTFORD (AP) — A bill that, according to its sponsor, would "restore free enterprise to the retail liquor trade" by abolishing minimum prices for liquor has been approved by the General Law Committee of the General Assembly.

Rep. Earl Holdsworth, R-Trumbull, who proposed the bill, said its passage would increase the sale of liquor in Connecticut because people would no longer stock up in other states where prices are not "artificially rigid."

Currently, minimum liquor prices in Connecticut are, in effect, set by the liquor industry itself. The state Liquor Control Commission has the legal responsibility for setting the minimum liquor prices in the state. But the commission bases these prices on suggestions submitted by the liquor industry.

Ceylon Movement
COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP) — Prime Minister Srinawo Bandaranatke has introduced in Parliament the first of a series of resolutions to make Ceylon an independent republic within the British Commonwealth.

The resolutions will amend the constitution, Britain's Ceylon Independence Act of 1947, to transform Ceylon into "a socialist democracy aiming at the distribution of the social product equitably among all its citizens."

Los Angeles Times could operate the dice mechanism to chamber another shell. "That's the kind of reaction we're trying to avoid with our new firearms training program," Lt. William Schilling, of the California Highway Patrol, explained in describing the incident.

Speed, stability and portability are primary features of the new combat training course. "We've eliminated the 50 and 60-yard target ranges that are a part of the FBI's Practical Pistol Course and concentrated on accuracy at shorter distances," Schilling said.

In his study of 110 shooting cases, Dr. Allen Britton of Los Angeles State College found 51 per cent of the incidents took place inside buildings and 32 per cent occurred after a police officer had stopped a vehicle.

Gamecocks Nip North Carolina UCLA Advances to Playoffs In Defense of NCAA Title

NEW YORK (AP) — Midwest Regional at Wichita, Kan.-Notre Dame, 20-7; Drake, 20-7; and Houston 21-6, vs. Kansas, 25-1.

West Regional at Salt Lake City-Utah, 25-1; Brigham Young, 19-5; and Long Beach State, 21-5, vs. University of Pacific, 21-3.

The eight winners jumped into the national quarterfinals Saturday and the four survivors play the semifinals and final at the Houston Astrodome March 22 and 27.

But South Carolina almost didn't make it after two frustrating years. The Gamecocks pulled out the Atlantic Coast Conference championship with a nervous 82-51 victory over North Carolina.

The two league champions got into the swim in this Thursday's second round, joining the weekend's first-round winners. UCLA plays Brigham Young at Salt Lake City in the west and South Carolina faces Penn in the east at Raleigh, N.C., in two of the second-round contests.

Brigham Young smacked Utah State 91-82 in a west regional opener and four-ranked Penn joined Duke-Kentucky 70-65 in the Midwest.

In other first-round games, Villanova cruised past St. Joseph's, 67-57; North Carolina routed Furman 106-74 in the east; No. 2 Marquette ousted Miami of the host school, 74-62; and Western Kentucky slugged non-ranked Jacksonville 74-72 in the Midwest. Notre Dame shellied Texas Christian 105-84 and Houston topped New Mexico State 72-69 in the Midwest.

Drake turned back Louisville 86-71 Saturday in their playoff for the Missouri Valley Conference title, thus setting up the pairings for Thursday:

East regional at Raleigh, N.C.—Penn, 27-0, vs. South Carolina, 24-1, and Villanova, 24-6, vs. Furman.

Midwest Regional at Athens, Ga.—Western Kentucky 21-0, vs. Kentucky, 24-4, and Marquette, 27-0, vs. Ohio State, 19-3.

Assumption Wins NCAA Region Title

NEW BRITAIN, Conn. (AP) — Assumption fulfilled a cherished dream Saturday night, claiming an easy victory over Central Connecticut for the NCAA College Division National Championship basketball crown.

The Greyhounds shot 66 per cent from the field in the 60-77 triumph of the host school. Assumption earned a berth in the National Collegiate Athletic Association championship Wednesday in Evansville, Ind.

The victory was the 28th of the 1970-71 Assumption campaign against only one loss. The Greyhounds were rated fourth in the AP Small College Poll.

The winners held a 49-27 double lead in the 40-27 game at the half and had no trouble with Central, 20-1, in the second period.

The champions' Jake Jones, voted most valuable player in the tournament, had 22 points in the final game, but that effort was eclipsed by Bill Reeves who pumped in 25 for central.

In the earlier consolation game, Sacred Heart beat Stonehill, 86-81.

Roy Ends Career, Nets 2,501 Points

By PAT McCABE

It was the 'end of an era' at the University of Connecticut's fieldhouse Saturday night, and Tom Roy went out in style as he led the South Windsor Bobcats to the Class I Division CIAC tournament championship, downing second-seeded East Windsor 54-34.

The Bobcats' triumph was unprecedented in CIAC tournament history. It was the first time a school has won a tournament championship in two different classes and in back-to-back campaigns.

The Class I title was the 11th M division championship last season.

The victory, the 24th against the Cats, didn't go uncontested as slow-motion tactics employed by the Eagles were effective for a while. But once Roy and company started rolling, the Eagles were forced to open up their attack and the mighty 6-9 New England scoring king took over.

Bowling out of the team, Roy scored 27 points and took down 11 rebounds in both halves. The 'big fella's' 26th point, a foul shot with 20 seconds to play, was the 26th of his illustrious four-year career. He registered 1,800 points in his career.

Asked why he stuck with basketball as long as he did, Sharon replied, "I'm a gambler. I decided to play basketball because I can't say, we've never had protection. I had no idea what was going on," said Ogorodnik. "I had no idea what was going on," said Ogorodnik. "I had no idea what was going on," said Ogorodnik.

Title Game Notes

By DEAN YOST

Two historical moments took place Saturday night at the University of Connecticut's fieldhouse, where the 49th Annual CIAC Class I Division basketball tournament took place between South Windsor High and East Catholic High.

Asked if he thought his team was the state's finest, Sharon said, "I can't say, we've never had protection. I had no idea what was going on," said Ogorodnik. "I had no idea what was going on," said Ogorodnik.

The first eight minutes and three in the second quarter, South had two in each period. getting one, Roy had both Bobcat rebounds.

Emphasizing that he is not a crusader in any sense, Robinson became the first black player on the team to be named to the All-Star team.

Petrocelli Enjoys New Position, Red Sox Add Strength to Defense

(AP) — Rico Petrocelli, the American League's All-Star shortstop just two years ago, is getting the feel of his new position at third base with the Boston Red Sox, and enjoying it.

Petrocelli has been the Red Sox regular shortstop the last six seasons. Only 27, he still would play the position, but he decided to tighten up his defense at several spots after finishing 21 games behind Baltimore's third baseman in the 1970 season.

Rookie Mike Fiore Carries Big Stick

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Mike Fiore's heavy hitting has been one of the big talking points so far in the Boston Red Sox' spring training games, and he kept it up Sunday with a home run and a single in a 10-7 exhibition loss to the Minnesota Twins.

Camp Outlook: Pirates Potent Bucs Trade For Mound Insurance

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — A sore-legged pitcher made one of the Pittsburgh Pirates' winter trades a scatter-armed pitching machine has turned the other into an uncalculated risk.

Checked Flag

ROCKINGHAM, N.C. (AP) — Richard Petty, known variously as "Rapido Richard," the "Ranger," and "Daddy," is on the verge of becoming stock car racing's first driver to win the Daytona 500.
