A Constructionist Constructs It was President Nixon's new Chief Justice, speaking for a unanimous United States Supreme Court, who delivered, Tuesday, the opinion which upheld the use of busing as a means of enforcing integration in the school systems

In so ruling, Chief Justice Warren Burger and the Court decided against the arguments made in the Court by the legal officers of the same administration to which he owed his appointment to the bench, and against the implications of President Nixon's own public remarks on the busing issue.

So, in one sense, the very first individual to find out that you can't ever know just what you are getting when you make appointments to the Supreme Court has been President Nixon himself. Chief Justice Burger is still a con-narrow reasons, are now likely to begin crying for Chief Justice Burger's impeachment. They might as well, however, also call for the impeachment of the other eight members of the Court, one other also a Nixon appointee, one a Johnson appointee, one a Kennedy appointee, three Eisenhower appointees and two Roosevelt appointees.

Speaking for this Court, Chief Justice Burger produced passages that are going to be quoted and examined, praised and deplored, for a long time to

"No per se rule," he said at one point "can adequately embrace all the difficulties of reconciling the competing interests involved; but in a system with a history of segregation the need for remedial criteria of sufficient specificity to assure a school authority's compliance with its constitutional duty warrants a presumption against schools that are substantially disproportionate in their racial composition."

That was a sample of delicately constructed legal language. Chief Justice Burger was writing closer to the mind of the layman in the following passage:

"All things being equal, with no history of discrimination, it might well be desirable to assign pupils to schools nearest their homes.

"But all things are not equal in a system that has been deliberately constructed and maintained to enforce ractal segregation. The remedy for such segregation may be administratively awkward, inconvenient and even bizarre in some situations and may impose burdens on some; but all awkwardness and inconvenience cannot be avoided in the interim period when remedial adjustments are being made to eliminate the dual school systems." And, in one final observation, the strict constructionist Chief Justice made his choice of what he thought he must follow first when he did "construct."

for a return to yesterday.

"Substance," he said, "not semantics must govern." This nation, Chief Justice Burger seemed to say in that phrasing, must face it self, and its tomorrows, and cannot afping the pace of inflation. We can appre ford to try to use this or that twist of that much of the annual boost is for program improvement, but how language, constructionist or otherwise, much improvement do we need?-NEW

Making Ourselves Comfortable

We welcome the development of breed of new professionals, called en vironmental psychologists, and devoted to the science of examining, and improving, the relationship between man and his surroundings. We have a list of complaints ready for them. Why, to begin with one all-inclusive reproach to all the progress of man to date, have we made such relatively small gain in the department of ease and comfort for the human body and the Why have we had such little success in making the surroundings we make for ourselves more relaxing and pleasant? From such a general indictment, we process to the most basic and ordinary particulars of our existence. We grow people taller and taller and still keep trying to sleep them in six foot beds in rooms tailored to six foot Our dressing involves an endless multiplicity of uncomfortable apparels and accessories when one sensibly designed garment might offer grace and assurance to all. Our eating too often requires sitting on (not in) stiff, flesh-cutting chairs, at tables either too small or too rickety to bear the weight of arms and elbows, in restaurants which suffer from a savage neglect of the acoustical conditions which are even more important to good dining, which also means good talking, than quality of food or smoothness of service. Our standard equipment for travel, the automobile, continues to demand of us ontortionist entrances and exits, and iding postures which call for the receding neck of a turtle and the slanted knee bend of a foetus.

Although it is the natural habit and pleasure and health of man and all other legged animals to make all of life a progress from one sitting or lying down to another, we continue to tolerate, for man, long barbaric gaps in which we are required, quite unnecessarily, to be on our feet, as in lines waiting for bargains, or for people, or for tickets on horses, or as in receptions. As a sample of the kind of thing we would expect the environmental psychologists to begin promoting, now that they have arrived on the scene, we have put on our own drawing boards a prospectus for a giant mixer apparatus for cocktail parties. No one would ever be stuck with any

It seems to us that, after a few thousand years of experimentation, the uman race not only should be able to invent an environmental situation which would make possible a relaxed mind in a comfortable body, as we have just invented a humane operation for a cocktail party, but should be able to get it. It is unbelievable, how little we have really done for our own comfort.

Time To Tighten Belts Incredible as it may seem, public school teachers in Wilton this week agreed unanimously to a new contract that does not - repeat, does not - increase their salary scale. Of course, they'll receive their normal annual increments and some added fringe benefits, but in essence they have contract provided. This has to be a major breakthrough in labor negotiations Wilton teachers have recognized that these are times of a flooded labor market, times when employes cannot demand a larger slice of profits that are not there. Beverages that Welcome Spring

Creative beverages with a fashionable look can be served with party and snack food from brunch to late evening during the spring and summer season ahead. From Flip to Freeze, all these refreshers are based on a frozen concentrate for imitation orange juice, rich in vitamin C.

Deverages have a fresh, zingy look this season. Colorful, appetizing, and stylish enough to inspire outdoor and indoor parties. Note the interesting variety of textures. You can sip a sparkling punch or spoon up a frothy freeze that could double as dessert. Such beverages should be served creatively, so search your glassware cupboard and have the fun of experimenting with glasses and garnishes. $\Box \Box \Box$ But in spite of their lighthearted looks, these are no "empty calorie" drinks. All are based on Birds Eye Awake, a frozen concentrate that provides vitamin A and vitamin C. . . For a spring brunch, Orange Flip would be a refreshing first course to pass around while your guests get acquainted. Cherry Fire Punch or Orange Cranberry Punch could star at any evening gathering, served with homemade cupcakes or brownies.

Graph Gra porch, pass around stemmed glasses of Orange Freeze, a smooth, citrus-flavored sherbet soda to enjoy with salted nuts or thin nut cookies. If you have children in the family, you know the current passion for fruit slush, the contemporary version of the old-fashioned ice ball. Orange Slush Fizz is an after-school snack so popular your young people won't even notice it's also healthful. The Fizz goes into glass mugs or paper cups and is right at home with pretzels, cheese crackers, and corn chips. \Box \Box \Box All these refreshing beverages are fair-weather friends, so keep the recipes on hand for the warm, warm days of summer and early fall.

Orange Glush Fizz

1 can (9 fl. oz.) frozen concentrate for imitation orange juice, partially thawed 1¼ cups water

1 bottle (28 fl. oz.) ginger ale

Combine orange juice and water, stirring to blend. Pour into 8 x 4inch loaf pan or into small bowl. Place in freezer until mixture reaches soft-freeze stage. Spoon into glasses or paper cups, adding ginger ale to each glass. If desired, garnish with fresh mint. Serve at once. Makes 5 servings.

Orange Flip

5 eggs 1/2 cup sugar Dash of salt

2 cans (9 fl. oz. each) frozer concentrate for imitation orange juice

2 quarts cold water 2 cups pineapple juice

Beat eggs, sugar, and salt until well blended. Add remaining ingredients. Beat until foamy. Makes about 3 quarts or 12 servings.

Note: For an appetizer, serve beverage in small glasses. Makes about 24 servings.

Orange Cranberry Punch

21/2 quarts cold water 4 cans (9 fl. oz. each) frozen concentrate for imitation orange juice

4 bottles (16 fl. oz. each) cranberry juice cocktail 2 bottles (28 fl. oz. each) ginger ale, chilled

Ice cubes Combine cold water, concentrate, and cranberry juice cocktail. Stir until well blended. Chill. Just before serving, add ginger ale and ice cubes. Garnish with fresh mint leaves, if desired. Serve in punch cups. Makes about 7 quarts or 56

The key to an attractive lawn is proper fertilizing

That's why Scotts TURF BUILDER is America's favorite fertilizer for developing thick, green lawns. Turf Builder supplies a prolonged feeding, releasing its nutrients as the grass plants need them. So there's no wasteful overfeeding or surge growth to cause extra mowing.

Turf Builder makes your lawn grow thicker, greener, sturdier. It's a pleasure to use clean, lightweight, odorless. Nothing to mix or measure, just pour it in a spreader and walk over your lawn.

the pilots of the small planes which fly the Amazon have be come the heroes of the frontier They are the Pony Express iders who carry mail and messages, the Stage Coach Rid ers who move people in and out of lonely posts and take supplies to those who are isolated. Almost everything depends on them. Everyone relies on them. When a rancher wants to open a new area in the virgin forest, the first people he calls on are the Amazon pilots. The only surfact travel over hundreds of thousands of square miles of trackless forest and jungle is by river. Away from the water, there are no communications. The air charter company flies over the new ranch area and selects its spot. While a few men cut their way toward the spot through the forest, the mall plane pilots drop the first The ground crews slowly hack out a rough landing strip and then, with only a few yards on either wing tip, the first small plane touches down, bringing more supplies, more machinery.

Everything to make the first camp is flown in. Then begins the shuttle service of men. The forest clearing grows. The ground crews, working from the forest and from the river. gradually cut the first road.
