The Mass Arrest Technique

If we are irrevocably into an age in which the immediate practical results are all that count...

There is little doubt that the tactics Attorney General Mitchell and President Nixon have praised so highly for their effectiveness in Washington did frustrate the intentions of that third-week brand of protesters...

It may be taken for granted that the blossoms will be the only thing the tree does well, the only yield worth picking, and yet the human investment in the tree whatever it has been—mainly, to be sure, "benign neglect"—must be considered richly repaid.

The apple blossoms are several days late this year, adding their authoritative evidence to the verdict that this has been a cool, slow spring, and they still need, to be at their own best, something more than a mere nodding acquaintance with the sun.

There were undoubtedly other reasons, some of them perhaps having to do with the need for a more realistic plan, but this may gift be beyond doubt the basic reason the apple seed was included in the plan.

Manchester's "Do-It-Yourself" There was plenty of logic and common sense in the message Nathan G. Agostinelli gave members of the Connecticut Association of Development Commissioners at Wallingford. Too often, he said, hands are extended for state and federal assistance when a "do-it-yourself" determination is all that is needed.

Agostinelli is state comptroller but he did not speak from his short experience at that office. He is a former mayor of Manchester where he saw local initiatives being crushed by the state and federal agencies.

Without that "go and get 'em" spirit at the core of any community, there is little hope for sound and progressive industrial development, Agostinelli advised.

What Manchester has done for self-betterment is not too well known outside of the city. It found a home-grown formula in that worked. No federal or state handouts were sought. The program succeeded without them.

Agostinelli likes to talk about what Manchester has done because the city is proud of what it has done through community effort. It is a record to be proud of—and worthy of emulation.

Ribicoff's Plan Will Live The Ribicoff Plan is dead, but it may well rise from the grave to knock us down. Abraham A. Ribicoff, the Connecticut Democrat, proposed that large cities and suburbs be required to integrate their schools within 12 years.

Ribicoff's reasoning was simple. Segregation imposed by law (mostly in the South) has been ruled unconstitutional and seems on the way out. But segregation caused by housing patterns (mostly in the North) is flourishing, and even increasing.

Yet the damage done to education and to society by segregation occurs no matter what causes the segregation. Ribicoff's solution was to treat each central city and its suburbs as a unit, and to compel each such unit, by using other means, to maintain racially balanced schools throughout its area.

lain soft thoughts about the nature of the enemy in Vietnam remember that it was the Tet truce this enemy used as the occasion for the launching of his fiercest planned offensive of the whole war.

Understandably, reminding ourselves of the perfidy of the enemy does not automatically establish our own candor. Examination of some of the "truce violations" included in our latest statistics suggests that we may have been a little over-careful in prosecuting.

Another "violation" occurred when a North Vietnamese fired up an American helicopter which was flying over them. We happen to maintain that during a truce, we shall have the right to keep on looking for the enemy, but it doesn't concede us that right and fires at us when we happen to find him.

In another "violation" instance, the enemy fired on a South Vietnamese patrol party which had been sent out to clear a road.

Good propaganda doesn't use weak or contrived evidence, for fear it may discredit what authentic evidence it does possess.

The Neglected Apple Tree All the innocent, unspoiled beauty in the world is unappreciated by either the poet or the practical man.

It may be taken for granted that the blossoms will be the only thing the tree does well, the only yield worth picking, and yet the human investment in the tree whatever it has been—mainly, to be sure, "benign neglect"—must be considered richly repaid.

SAMARA, MAPLE Nature Study by Sylvia Hoffman

Political Parade

By DAVID S. BRODER The Washington Post

WASHINGTON—It is a heavy responsibility for anyone to suggest we need more presidential candidates, since the field of contenders in the North Hampshire primary already threatens to outnumber the voters.

But we do need a larger choice, or at least a more significant choice, and I think there is a way to achieve it. The idea, quite simply, is to run the contenders against men of their own age in the primaries, and then put the champions of each age division up against each other in the convention.

The idea, quite simply, is to run the contenders against men of their own age in the primaries, and then put the champions of each age division up against each other in the convention.

Each was talking of his vision of America—talking with rare eloquence—and while they shared what might be called a humane optimism about our country, each man described its peril and its promise from a distinctly different perspective, reflecting his age and his own experience.

I had gone to the luncheon rather as a matter of duty. Political reporters learn to endure speeches, but after listening to the Democratic presidential contenders for four months this year, I felt I had already heard enough to last me a lifetime.

To my astonishment, I found I was listening with interest to fresh ideas. Not that these men were necessarily wise when they shared what might be called a humane optimism about our country, each man described its peril and its promise from a distinctly different perspective, reflecting his age and his own experience.

All the active contenders are looking at America from the same vantage-point—the perspective of the World War II vets who entered politics in the era of the Fair Deal and the cold war. They're not to be faulted for being captives of their own experience, like all the rest of us. But their experience is by no means the whole of the national experience and their perspective is not that by which the nation might choose to see itself, and be led, if it were given a free choice.

Our system of presidential politics tends to narrow the choices to men in their 50s. An occasional "ambitious upstart" in his 40s can try to crash the circle, as John Kennedy did, but the political odds are stacked against him.

Doublets our system is right in putting a premium on experience. No novice at government should use the White House as his prep school. The burden of proof that he can handle the job should be on the younger man, and in most cases, the public will probably judge that the prudent course is to go with the more experienced of the contenders.

But our present system eliminates the younger contenders almost before their claims can be considered, and thus deprives the nation of hearing the important differences of views that stem from the differences of age and outlook.

Words of Jesus "You have heard that it was said, 'Love your friends, hate your enemies.' But now I tell you: love your enemies, and pray for those who mistreat you, so that you will become the sons of your Father in heaven. For he makes his sun shine on bad and good people alike, and gives rain to those who do right and those who do wrong. Why should you expect God to reward you, if you speak only to your friends, have you done anything out of the ordinary? Even the pagans do that! You must be perfect—just as your Father in heaven is perfect."

Current Quotes "I am proud of the Washington City police. I am proud that they stopped a repressive mob from robbing the rights of others."—Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, commenting on the arrests of Mayday antiwar protesters in a speech to a meeting of California law enforcement officials.

THE ANCIENT GREEKS. By Chester G. Starr. Oxford University Press, $7.95.

Chester G. Starr, professor of his hero and narrator is Ben history at the University of Michigan, has written one of the most succinct, yet wide-ranging and beautifully illustrated, histories of our Greek heritage to appear in a long time.

"The Ancient Greeks," in only 227 pages including a glossary, manages to cover the main outlines of Greek geography, history, and philosophy, from prehistory to the conquest of the great states in the peninsula by the Macedonian grip finally weakened, the conquest by Rome was natural. All this should interest the present-day West, where, ever since World War I, the most advanced states have been periodically knocking each other about.

Encourage the Volunteer To the Editor, It is surprising to know that 47 per cent of all blood for the United States came from "paid professional donors." This group is comprised primarily of transients, alcoholics, and derelicts. Not only is this a poor source of blood for the average recipient, but it is probably contributing to 7,000 deaths a year from hepatitis alone, only one of several diseases which can be contracted by transfusion.

The Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta indicates that blood from this type of donor carries ten times the hazard of the disease than that which comes from a volunteer or replacement donor.

Congressman Edward Koch (D-N.Y.) introduced a bill (HR 85) which encourages through a tax deduction system the volunteer donor to make his blood available to the public. Beneficiaries, Leukemia, automobile accident victims, and surgical patients would all be benefactors. Today the problem is, therefore, tomorrow it could be ours.

"Our Final Comment" To the Editor, After reading the letter submitted by Mrs. Edward Madson, Jr. I'd like to make a final comment and regardless of what is said in respect to Little League, I'll remain quiet. I don't wish to get involved in name calling nor to sling mud, however, I think that if a person read my letter of the fifth of May, he or she might say, "That's telling them." And if they read Mrs. Madson's of the 10th, they might say, "That's telling him!" That isn't the issue at all! The issue is, is that there are only 21 extra boys in the American League that could be playing B.C. in which the more or less democratic states of Greece are more in the case of Athens and in that they made the Macedonian conquest much easier. When the Macedonian grip finally weakened, the conquest by Rome was natural. All this should interest the present-day West, where, ever since World War I, the most advanced states have been periodically knocking each other about.

The next division—comparable to the three-year-old division—would be for men in their 50s. This division would normally produce the overall winner. There one would find Humphrey and Edmund Muskie, Henry Jackson and William French (and doubtless others) running against each other.

In that division in 1972, for example, we would find Bayh, George McGovern and Harold Hughes as the probable favorites. But other dished Democrats might also give it a spin—the bitterness of the public debate, such men as Frank Church, Adlai Stevenson, Tom Eagleton and Walter Mondale might well enter the race under those JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Jackson State College students erected 12-foot wooden crosses Monday night on the sites where two young blacks were killed by police gunfire during disturbances on the campus a year ago.

The ceremonies opened a week-long memorial service that student leaders said would give the black community an opportunity to "reflect, so it won't happen again."

Approximately 500 students stood in a light rain to take part in the activities, which included the singing of spirituals and a candle lighting ceremony.

Beauty Show On-the-Road A Success in New York

If women can't get to the Greenhouse, the health and beauty show on the road, that has been frequented by legions of women, will be held in New York City. The initial experiment of the beauty-show-on-the-road conducted by Charles of the Hills, one of the sponsors of the Texas establishment, was a notable success at a New York store where two classes, so women each day for a week, were taught exercises, diet and the use of makeup by attending two-hour lectures and demonstrations. "What the women got was a reasonable facsimile of the Greenhouse treatment, for the fee is more than $700 a week, they would have enjoyed more elegance—brocade bedspreads, herbs and oil baths, fully-muffled indoor swimming pools, but basically the women all seek the same thing: Beauty. "All one needs is discipline and you can do it," explained Dr. Beck, exercise director, a professional choreographer and dance teacher, who has been with the spa for six years. Her dance training—she teaches at such institutions as Southern Methodist University—has resulted in a great deal of easy-does-it exercises. If women work too hard at too many exercises they get bored and impatient, she says. "Most women would only three or four exercises—usually one dominant, inner thigh and outer thigh. If these are done in pleasant surroundings, perhaps in a room, maybe 10 minutes a day, it may become a pleasant habit. One of her favorite exercises and Mrs. Beck. The abdomen is this one: The foot on the floor, try to

Democrats Vow 'Hands Off On Income Tax Bid'

HARTFORD (AP)—Democratic members of the State Senate maintained a "hands off" attitude toward any state income-tax proposal after huddling Monday evening behind closed doors. Senate Majority Leader J. Edward Caldwell and Sen. Charles T. Afazio, the Senate president pro tempore, said their colleagues were not impressed favorably with a surprise request by a majority of the Senate Republicans for more serious consideration of an income tax to raise necessary state funds. However, Caldwell, who had predicted earlier that an income tax would not pass the Senate, described the issue as a "toss up."

Lightning Is Costly

CHICAGO (AP)—The Lightning Protection Institute says playing the odds against a lightning strike cost some 3,200 American business property owners over a quarter billion dollars in 1970. The institute said the average loss to each building struck by lightning was $40,000. Additional millions of dollars were lost by homeowners by lightning damage. Lightning-gulched fires valued at over 2,000 houses. Much homeowners' loss was more than $5 thousand.

Business Zone Extension Approved in Part by PZC

The Planning and Zoning Commission voted last night to extend the business zone on the east side of Rt. 85 from the present zone (85-85) to the intersection of Rt. 207 with a depth of 400 feet and on the west side of Rt. 85 from the Hope Valley Estates boundary south for 1200 feet, also with a depth of 400 feet. This approved extension is a small portion of the area requested by the applicant, who is acting president of the Board of the Hope Valley Estates. The commission felt this was for the best interest of the town and voted 5-0 in favor of the extension. Most commissioners also felt that the extension on the east side of Rt. 85 to Rt. 207 would be logical. They voted to approve this 4-1, with Roy Worth speaking in opposition. Worth felt that "there is a traffic hazard there and it is not in the best interest of the swamp area included in this section."

them like a covering dog. I coached Rookie League one year and we won the title. I've coached four years and we've had three titles and one of the which we lost, and in every single year we never had a forfeit because the boys knew that they were going to play in every game, and a minimum of three innings, and because of this they showed up bursting with enthusiasm. We managed to win. Yet, the first question I asked was, "What is most important to this season?" Sure, some said winning, but I probed "I'd like to know that I wanted. The answer quite simply is: Learning how to play as a team, learning the meaning of citizenship and having a good time. If I am to be admonished for conveying those thoughts to the boys, then please, rush your replacement."

Sincerely Jack J. Lappo

P. 8. My employer takes up approximately 26 Thursdays a year in the evening which is why I don't attend Little League meetings. Plus, a Farm Bureau coach may be seen and heard, but has no vote, which confirms another point I made.

The Tax Rate

To the Editor: It is with a feeling of regret that I look at the proposed increase to be borne by my fellow townspersons. We are looking at an increase of 1.81 mills as offered and adopted by the majority party with no conceivable cost having been maintained a budget with no increase in the tax rate by effecting as many reasonable economic measures as possible with little or no decrease in the level of services. Indeed this was the way to hold the line!

Contribution Appreciated

I take this opportunity to thank the St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church and the members of the Women's Club of Manchester for their contribution to the Manchester Drug Store. The St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church, St. Russell St. and the Women's Club of Manchester have been most generous in their contribution to the Manchester Drug Store. ### Save Case Mountain

This is a plea to the people of Manchester to save a meaningful portion of our fast disappearing open space. The arguments for preservation do not center on the land's recreation value alone but are ecologically self-interesting. Many of us here in this area are not buying this area (only one fourth of which need be paid by Manchester) but are paying for it through the taxes levied on the State. If they did, they would have more sense than to seek any State funds at this time for such folly.

The Scarce Taxpayers

Will this attractive property safely within the public domain be sold to the highest bidder? If the age limit is reduced to 18, the new volunteers will receive firefighting training. A recent check at all of the local schools by the fire department resulted in a report all schools by the fire department.

Historically open space

has always been either an "undeveloped" area within a lower speed area, purposely set aside by the State for a "look-out" area, or a rapidly changing area. Undeveloped areas are rapidly disappearing leaving the too few preserved areas for our rapidly growing population. Case Mountain has a sizeable area of open space which is being developed into a residential area. The people of Manchester should acquire this area to preserve it for themselves and for their children. There is a clear and present danger that this area will be developed into a residential area.

Tolland $1,000 Collected For Benefit Of Butch Savoie

Proceeds from Sunday's Butch Savoie Day at Blake's American Oil Co. service station are expected to total about $1,000 according to George Blake owner of the station.

The youngster remains in critical condition at Hartford Hospital, and still has not regained consciousness following an accident April 1, in which he was hit by a car on Rt. 160 near the Tolland-Coventry town line.

Blake donated his profits on Sunday to help pay for the youngster's hospital bills. Donations raised about $350, and Blake and his mechanics donated their labor for the day for $120.

Other officers installed in church are Mrs. Donald McLeod, vice president; Mrs. Kenneth Johnson, secretary; and Mrs. Harry Stone, treasurer.

Clown Town Is Scheduled For May 22

A circus by day and a Bavarian Beer Garden by night, is what will happen when the Vernon Suburban Women's Club opens its third annual "Clown Town" event on May 22 at Golf Land, Rt. 88, Vernon.

From 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. a real circus atmosphere will reign under a huge green and white striped tent. Clowns will man the many booths and a clown parade will start the day's activities at 4 p.m.

Visitors may stop at the clown makeup and purchase a handmade clown hat to go with the makeup.

When the sun goes down, the circus tent will be converted into a Bavarian beer garden, Friday and Saturday nights from 7 to 11 p.m. and 7:30 to 11:30 p.m. with music to be provided by the Hartford Bavarians.

They will be serving beer, bratwurst and sauerkraut. Tickets may be purchased from any club member, at the door or from some of the local merchants.

All proceeds from these events will be donated to local charities and installations.

GOLF LAND

Millbrook RESTAURANT LOUNGE and BAR We cater to small parties. FRIDAY - SATURDAY NIGHT 9:00 PM

Vernon Pair Suspects In Shoplifting

A South Windsor woman, and a girl identified as her niece, are suspects in a shoplifting spree that netted over $100 worth of merchandise from Golf Land last night, police say.

Police charged Rita F. McGill of 39 Davenport Rd. with shoplifting over $50, and released her niece to juvenile authorities. Police withheld the girl's name because of her youth.

A Caldor security agent told police he observed a woman and a girl secret several women's bathing suits under their clothes. He said the woman also took three sets of curtains and two gallons of paint.

The woman was released on a $150 non-surety bond, and is scheduled for court May 24. The detective said the woman had stuffed the shoplifted items in her handbag. She and the girl were detained as they checked through a cash register.

Gold Price Takes Leap In Europe

The price of free market gold rose 36 cents an ounce in London Tuesday and jumped 50 cents more at the morning fix, to $40.70 an ounce.

There were warnings of worse to come unless Washington pulled its balance of payments to the highest level since Oct. 15, 1969, but still way below the gold crisis level of $42.875 in March 1969.

One Austrian newspaper declared: "The Western currency systems in their current form can only recover if either the United States takes care of its balance of payments for all currencies takes place."

West Germany, one of the world's monetary crisis States for the current crisis, also came in for some criticism from its European partners for charging that Europe is paying its monetary policies.

Politician, 87, Will Run Again

NANTY GLO, Pa. (AP) — Donaldson Gletton, 87, and his Model A Ford both are still running.

Gletton, a justice of the peace in Cambria County since 1950 and mayor between 1950 and 1961, is running for City Council in next Tuesday's Democratic primary. He's been a public figure since he was 22 and sees no need to stop now.

He bought his Model A when he got into local politics. Gletton still insists on paying cash for his purchases, which is one reason he still has the car.

Decreed Minimum Salaries Vary Throughout Brazil

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — How does a Sao Paulo family "make it" on the government-decreed minimum salary of $4.72 a month?

On a more optimistic note, the researchers, who represented the Brazilian affiliate of the Gallup Institute and a Sao Paulo newspaper, noted it was difficult to find families here whose monthly incomes were limited to the regional minimum salary.

The booming Sao Paulo area is one of the most prosperous in South America, with per capita income estimated at $80 a year. The figure for all of Brazil is thought to be around $200.

Decreed minimum salaries vary throughout the nation, ranging from the top minimum in the Sao Paulo and Rio de Janeiro metropolitan areas to a low of $20 a month in the impoverished rural areas of the northeast.

The families interviewed in the Sao Paulo area reflected the Brazilian tradition of encouraging home ownership. Forty-eight per cent already owned their own homes, and an additional 19 per cent said they planned to buy a house as soon as they could set aside enough cash for a down payment.

Other highlights of the survey: Fifty-five per cent of the families visited said they had a refrigerator and 3 per cent had a record player. The surveyors did not find a minimum salary family with a washing machine.

Seventy-one per cent of the families visited said they had a television set, but only 5 per cent had a refrigerator and 3 per cent had a record player.

Old Bones Found

NEW YORK (AP) — A Columbia University anthropologist has reported finding the bones of a 10-year-old boy, buried by Neanderthals 50,000 years ago.

Prof. Ralph S. Solecki found bones from the foot, jaw and back, plus the shoulder blades and the top of the skull during an excavation of the Neanderthal Cave in Lebanon, 20 miles north of Beirut, a university spokesman said.

Solecki, who headed a 10-man international exhibition, said evidence indicated a ritual known from his native Sweden, did not — and then you can develop and as "hunter's magic" was in-begun painting what he was to evolve into a higher state. Be-voiced.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A state Senate committee has rejected the plea of conservation groups to make it illegal to kill the California mountain lion, feared by many to be threatened with extinction.

Instead, the state Fish and Game Department will proceed with a plan to manage the hunting of the tawny animal, closing some prime lion areas to hunting, limiting the yearly take to a single animal per hunter and possibly stopping all hunting if the kill exceeds a ceiling.

The Senate Natural Resources and Wildlife Committee voted 4 to 4 against a bill banning the lion. Supporters had said there are only about 600 of the giant cats in California.

Disillusionment Spreads On Rock Music Scene

By JOEL DREYFUSS Associated Press Writer NEW YORK (AP) — The flower that bloomed at Woodstock has wilted. Two years ago, 400,000 rock fans jammed an upstate New York alfalfa field in a massive demonstration of love and peace as a way of life.

But now, disillusionment with the rock scene has spread far and wide. Rock performers have turned money mad. The death of some prominent rock stars and the ecology movement's call for purity have complicated the picture.

Opinion Poll Blamed In Nixon Slip

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican leader Hugh Scott says the question poll taken last week was largely responsible for the negative reaction given President Nixon's policy in Southeast Asia.

He cited as evidence Tuesday a survey which indicated 69 percent of those interviewed favored legislation to require withdrawal of all U.S. forces by the end of this year but 72 per cent supported Nixon's plan to end the war. Nixon is firmly against the withdrawal legislation.

The poll, conducted by Opinion Research Corp. of Princeton, N.J., apparently was suggested by the Nixon administration. It was cited by Scott in an effort to rebut a Jan. 31 Gallup Poll which showed a sharp increase in public support for the year-end withdrawal.

The Gallup survey put support for the measure at 73 per cent.

Scott said the Opinion Research poll not only asked about the year-end withdrawal legislation but also questioned people if they would favor the withdrawal if it meant a Communist takeover of South Vietnam. Fifty-five per cent said no.

The opposition increased to 75 per cent when poll takers asked whether people would favor year-end withdrawal "even if it threatened the lives or safety of U.S. prisoners of war held by North Vietnam."

"When you add qualifiers," Scott said, "you come closer and closer to what people are thinking."

Scott said critics of Nixon's war policies have been "the weariness of the American people without analyzing further the reasons for the war."

In a Senate speech, Scott said the opposition increased to 75 per cent when poll takers asked whether people would favor year-end withdrawal "even if it threatened the lives or safety of U.S. prisoners of war held by North Vietnam."

He said the pollsters should ask whether the people "approve or disapprove of the President's withdrawal of two-thirds of the American forces" and whether they think Nixon is doing a better job in ending the war than did his two predecessors.

Trial Date Set In Koskot Case

HARTFORD (AP) — A state court judge has set a date for trial in the case of a "massive consumer fraud" which has been set for trial in Superior Court.

The request for an injunction against Koskot Interplanetary, Inc., of Florida was scheduled for trial in the state court May 25, after a federal court judge said Tuesday he lacked jurisdiction to hear the case.

An affidavit attached to the federal court filing indicated that a New London distributor center for Koskot may have gotten 426 Connecticut residents to invest in the company.

Shows likely Friday and Saturday and fair Sunday. Temperatures averaging near or slightly below normal with daytime highs in the mid to upper 60s and overnight lows in the mid 40s to around 50.

Air Crash Kills 4 in Guatemala

GUATEMALA (AP) — Four persons were killed and 16 were injured Tuesday when a Guatemalan airplane crashed into a mountain near Guatemala City.

The Aviateca DC3 was on a flight from the capital to Flores, in northern Guatemala, with 28 passengers and three crew members.

Not Worth Fuss Says Odgard Bill

"The I-86 bill is not worth all the fuss. Hon. State Sen. Robert Housley (Vernon) is making it," says Manchester State Sen. David Odgard.

Odgard spoke at a meeting Monday night of the Manchester Jaycees.

He was asked to explain his vote last week, when he opposed a bill introduced by Housley. The bill, which passed the Senate, calls on the State Highway Department to widen I-86 by one lane in each direction, for a distance of 2.8 miles — from Simmons Rd. in East Hartford to W. Middle Tpke. in Manchester.

"This I-86 bill is a perfect example of the political football that has been kicked around," Odgard said. "It is a bill to do what is already being done by the state."

Odgard emphasized that "on the day the bill was being debated, the work already was being done by 20 men and 20 trucks."

Stating that "the passage of this bill can have no effect on anything," Odgard insisted that "unnecessary legislation is a waste of our time and the taxpayers' money, at a time when more serious action must be taken."

Housley, in a statement last week, had criticized Odgard for opposing the proposal and said that previously he (Ogdard) had voted approval for the bill.

"Sen. Housley was wrong on both counts," Odgard said. "He was incorrect in implying I was opposed to the project. I am not. And he was incorrect when he said I previously voted approval of his bill. I had not."

In conclusion, Odgard said, "The Senate has passed this bill. I hope the House of Representatives will do the same."

The unprecedented actions of a dozen or more lobbyists, first on the floor of the House, a little later in the gallery, drew the ire yesterday of House Speaker William Ratchford.

Ratchford, when he saw the bill they were opposing, said he was "not a lobbyist."

The lobbyists, all unregistered and all representing employment agencies, were opposing to delay and leave or to face a bill which would have its removal bodily by the sergeant created from the present 10 at arms or police.

The period during which the agencies would have to return to the job to clients losing their jobs.

Swearing on the floor of the House, prior to the session, they left and took seats in the gallery from seat to seat, button-ery. Later, during an hour session, they returned to the floor, broke out in a protracted fight, and then to defeat the measure.

Opponents of the bill argued that it would place too great a burden on employment agencies and might even drive some of them out of business.

"We're not here to legislate business out of business," said one opponent of the bill.

Ratchford said after the session that his brief clash with the lobbyists had nothing to do with the merits of the bill. "It was their uncalculated actions that disturbed me," he explained.

A resolution banning lobbyists from the floor of the House chambers is being backed by legislative leaders of both parties.

Results of a poll among members of the State House of Representatives, shows that 69 per cent of those responding favor a reduction in numbers from its current 17, to some smaller number.

The poll was conducted by the legislature's Commission on Reapportionment and Redistricting.

Of the 177 House members polled, 115 replied. Only 27 per cent of those responding favored maintaining the present size of the House and only 14 per cent voted to increase the size of the House above the present level.

Of those who responded, 30 per cent favored reducing the size of the House to a constitutional minimum of 125 seats.

The most popular decrease other than to 125 seats was to 150.

Members of the commission stressed that the poll was conducted as a guide only, and that its results will not be binding on the commission.

Killian's opinion on the question was sought by State Personnel Commissioner Edward H. Strimpen in the continuing investigation into "alleged irregularities" at the Greenwich toll station.

Where Sheldon Rd. Connects at Parker St.

The last stretch of Sheldon Rd. (formerly the Parker-Oak land connector) has been cleared through to Parker St. and sewer lines are now being installed. Work on the installation of water lines will begin shortly.

This picture of the soon-to-be completed road was taken from the Parker St. Lydell and Foundis Division of the Colonial Board Co. in the background on the left.

According to William O'Neill, lower director of public works, the road should be ready for traffic by mid-July.

The road is being built by the town to open up some 100 acres of land for industrial development. There are five owners who hold title to the tract.

The project will cost about $250,000. Of this, the town will pay about $220,000 for the construction of the road and the installation of storm drainage.

The remainder will be paid to town in assessments from the town to open up some 100 acres of land for industrial development. There are five owners who hold title to the tract.

Manchester Student Lands 'Dream Job' for Summer

By JUNE LINTON (Herald Reporter)

Any summer job may be precious and out of the ordinary this year especially for one graduating University of Connecticut senior found that at least he has all the appearance of perfection in summer employment.

John Ostroff, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ostroff Jr., of 42 Parker St., Manchester will be the assistant manager of the Palmouth Playhouse on Cape Cod during his weeks under the summer. In the fall he will continue to pursue an education in theatre at Yale University.

Ostroff is one of few theater majors who is concentrating on the production aspect of the stage. He will get his Bachelor of Fine Arts degree in a few weeks and when his summer introduction to managing a professional theater is over, he'll begin three years at Yale in a comparatively new theater management course leading to a Masters degree.

He said such a course is in the process of being developed at UConn under David Hellwell who now heads the Department of Theater. Ostroff said he studied with Hellwell during his past year and had many words of praise for the former Hollywood and New York producer.

The most unusual producing Hellwell did at the university this year was the rock opera, "Tommy," and Ostroff used this as an example of the kind of thing he would like to do. He said Hellwell conceived the idea of doing "Tommy" and worked out the script for it with his wife, Eva Wolos, who is a playwright. They had just the album of "Tommy" to go by, but worked it into a theatrical production which snowballed into what was written as a play. The most widely applauded, rocking presentation ever held in Jorgensen. In two nights more than 7,000 students reacted to it and it was later performed twice at the Bushnell in Hartford.

It took Ostroff a trip to New York to talk with the producers of summer theater to come up with his job at Palmouth and just this last weekend he visited the playhouse. He said he found it delightfully situated in the middle of a beautiful practically next to the club house, "a beautiful spot." He expects to have the job as assistant manager and to be doing more or less everything from promotion to public relations to scheduling some of the dates with those on the star circuit, "all the names come through."

The first play at Palmouth will be "Man of La Mancha" with which Ostroff is somewhat familiar, having seen it ten times, most recently at UConn this week.

Happy Merger

The business aspects of theater managing and the creative aspects of theater producing seem to merge somehow in a happy arrangement. Ostroff feels the business end is mostly common sense and he is turned on by the creative aspects of the job.

As he expressed it, "I see a producer standing out there as the eyes of the public looking at the product and being able to determine which way it should go." This is different from directing.

He explained that "if you get involved in directing the show after awhile, regardless of what you're doing, it seems great to you and you fall in love with it. That's the most dangerous thing because you can't recognize its faults and you lose the objective viewpoint."

The important thing in theater, he said, is to entertain, educate, or whatever, but to get that message across to the public. "Whatever the play is trying to speak to them about, if you're too far above them, or insult them by being too far below, you simply miss. The producer must see that it doesn't miss."

Creative Promotion

And, of course, there can and must be creativity in promotion. One stunt he remembered being successful at UConn was to publicize "Travels," a student production of an old-time scare play, "Dracula Loves You" but which appeared all over the campus and worked.

Meskill 'Open' To Idea of Tax On Advertising

WEST HARTFORD (AP) — Gov. Thomas J. Meskill told Connecticut broadcasters Tuesday he is reserving judgment on a proposal for a state tax on advertising.

Speaking at the annual spring meeting of the Connecticut Broadcasters Association, Meskill said he is not pushing for an advertising tax, but he added that he would not veto an "acceptable" tax package simply because it contained a levy on advertising.

The Democrats in the state legislature recently proposed a tax package which included a levy on newspaper, radio and television advertising. Advertisers presently are exempt from the sales tax.

The governor told broadcasters this will account for almost a third of the world's wool production.

Waterbury Fire Kills One, 3 Hurt

WATERBURY (AP) — One man died in flames and three others were injured jumping from windows when fire broke out in a second-floor Bank Street apartment Tuesday night.

The dead man was identified as Joseph Palozzi, 50, of Waterbury.

The injured were Sandra Brunetti, 20, Waterbury; Vincent Barlow, 38, Waterbury; and Salvatore Mancavilla, 25, Hartford. The two men were being treated at St. Mary's hospital.

The woman was rescued by a fireman as she clung to a restaurant sign 25 feet above pavement and about 15 feet below the third floor window from which she jumped. She was treated for a hand injury.

Model Cities Home Occupied

NEW YORK (AP) — Four members of a Brooklyn family are the initial residents of the country's first low-income housing project completed under the Model Cities program.

Mayor John V. Lindsay handed a gold key to Mr. and Mrs. Terry Thornton Tuesday, as they and their two children moved into a 4 1/2-room apartment to officially open the 160-unit project in central Brooklyn after two years' construction.

Their rent is $10 a month. The $2.9 million development, a series of eight buildings, is a dozen blocks from Brownsville, a ghetto hit by arson fire and flooding in a night-long disorder last week.

Mustache Fails Holdup Suspect

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Three false mustaches failed to deter a trio of witnesses in the bank robbery trial of William Wray Matthews.

The FBI contended that Matthews, 33, wore a mustache the day the Richmond branch bank was robbed of more than $1,000, and that he shaved it off the next day.

To test the witnesses, U.S. Dist. Court Judge Robert R. Merriam Jr. ordered Matthews, a deputy marshal and a U.S. attorney to don false mustaches and sit in the spectator area of the courtroom.

All three witnesses picked out Matthews, mustache and all, and a few minutes later he changed his plea from innocent to guilty of bank robbery. Merriam sentenced Matthews to eight years in prison.

Ad Piracy

Poster ads for a circus were eye-catching that a printer made up some copies without asking anyone's permission. The owner of the circus promptly filed suit, charging infringement of copyright. But in court, the printer argued...

Nevertheless, the court ruled that ads are indeed protectable by copyright and held the printer liable. The court said that the printer drew no line between high-level and low-level art.

In earlier years, many courts did draw such a line. But today, almost everywhere, ads are entitled to the same copyright protection as a book or a painting.

Courts have recognized that a great deal of money and a great deal of talent are now going into the creation of ads.

It is still true, however, that a copyright won't stand up if the ad is dishonest. Thus:

A series of ads was developed by a sales agency, to be used by piano dealers. When one dealer began using the ads without permission, the agency sued him for copyright infringement.

But the judge refused to mix in when he discovered that the ads were riddled with deceit.

The law should extend its protection," he said, "only to ads that speak the truth."

Furthermore, only the specific details of an ad—the words, the drawing lines, protected, not the general idea.

In another case a merchant advertised a contest in which people were supposed to write letters, telling him why they liked to shop in his store.

Later, another merchant announced a contest along the same lines, but describing it in different language. Was this an infringement of copyright?

A court said no, since only the general idea had been copied. If general ideas were copyrightable, said the court, one person could stake out an entire field of thought, as has his own private monopoly.

Shaw Plays Booming In Great Britain

LONDON (AP) — Suddenly, there's no business like Shaw business in Britain.

"John Bull's Other Island" is presented at the Mermaid Theatre Thursday, it will be the seventh play by George Bernard Shaw to be produced in London in the past year.

The boom, which comes 20 years after Shaw's death, isn't only the result of a revival of British Broadcasting Corp. television has carried four Shaw plays while BBC radio has presented one and plans another.

The Chichester Festival, a prestigious affair held 60 miles south of London, is presenting "Caesar and Cleopatra" this summer, after last year's acclaimed "Arcadia" and "The Man of Mode."

And all over the country repertory companies are averaging a Shaw play every two weeks.

"John Bull's Other Island" is a biting satire on Anglo-Irish relations, and although it was written in 1904 it is highly relevant to present times.

Players will include Christopher Benjamin, who starred in the Mermans presentation of the juicy Huntly Harding comedy, "The Licentious Fly," Edward Peherbridge, Patrick McAllison and Anna Cropper.

Alan Strachan, a 25-year-old Scot, will direct.

The Cambridge Theatre reports break box office business for "Captain Brassbound's Conversion," a 70-year-old Shaw play that decidedly is not one of his greatest works.

Ingrid Bergman, lovely and regal as she plays Lady Cecily Wainfleet, an aristocratic Englishwoman who becomes embroiled with pirates and sheikhs in Morocco.

Despite her Swedish-American accent, which is hardly in keeping with the role, playgoers seem delighted with her performance, her first in London since "Yorgene's" "A Month in the Country" in 1966.

Two more Shaw plays, "Back to Methuselah" and "Mrs. Warren's Profession," have, meanwhile, been added to the repertoires of the National Theatre at the Old Vic.

And the Royal Shakespeare Theatre company has included "Major Barbara" in its repertoire.

Judy Dench as the Salvation Army officer was a triumphant success.

Other Shaw presentations of the past 12 months have included "The Applecart" and "St. Joan," both at the Mermans.

The Shaw boom has increased the income of the British Museum, the National Gallery in Ireland and the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art, who are beneficiaries under Shaw's will.

From a large theater, Shaw's estate would get around $14 a night in royalties.

Judo Aids Builds Violins

DETROIT (AP) — As a hobby, Ben Harrison likes judo and has a black belt. But the real love of this 46-year-old suburban Berkeley man, totally deaf for the last 27 years, is building violins and repairing cellos and violas.

Harrison is a craftsman in his small shop, delicately inlaying the ornate purfling on the back plate of a violin while affectionately preparing the finishing touches on the instrument.

Born in Chattanooga, Tenn., he learned to strum guitar as a boy when he still had his hearing and won several guitar-playing contests.

Then he went to bed one night with perfect hearing and awoke the next morning totally deaf.

Doctors can't restore any of his hearing.

"We've tried everywhere and nothing has helped, so we've learned to live with it," said his wife, Marian.

Harrison received a college degree in engineering and moved to Detroit to work for Chrysler. On a trip back to Tennessee in 1962, he found some old handmade violins he had made as a youngster in the attic of the family home and his enthusiasm was rekindled. He read every book available on the art of violin making and began constructing them again, but this time from the viewpoint of an engineer.

He's made so many now that he cannot remember the number—somewhere between 50 and 80. "I would fear some apart because once you make one mistake you have ruined the final product," he said.

His fingers are his ears as he tunes the instruments, and gauges the precision thickness of woods for new violins through vibrations on a tuning fork.

In 1969 he won a grand award for tone at the International Violin Makers Association meeting in Arizona. "With the tuning fork he can tell if there are any differences in the vibrations," his wife says.

Most of the violins Ben has made go to some of his favorite people, young music students, for "moderate prices" from $30 to $1,000.
