DETROIT (AP)—Four women and three men were shot to death today at a Detroit home in what police described as a gangland-type slaying apparently related to an underworld war for control of narcotics.

Police District Inspector James Bannon said all seven victims were shot in the head at close range, some so close they showed powder burns. An eighth person, identified as Robert Gardner, 28, was reported in critical condition at Detroit's Ford Hospital.
The dead were not immediately identified.
Police said the slayings apparently were the latest result of a narcotics war which has claimed about 25 lives in Detroit. A search of the house, Bannon said, turned up a dozen handguns, a quantity of suspected narcotics and narcotics paraphernalia.

All of the victims were found in the first-floor living room of the house. The four women had been tied up. Their purses were found in the room, untouched. The bodies were discovered about 4:30 a.m. by Mrs. Gardner, who told detectives she took her husband to the hospital, then called police saying, "There's a real bloodbath in that house and you better send some police."

Detective Sgt. Donald Carter said there were no signs of a struggle in the house.
Police said they have reason to believe that a ninth person in the house, a woman, fled unharmed at the time of the shooting. A witness, who was not identified, told police he saw two men run from the building shortly after shots were fired.

The house where the shootings took place is located in Detroit's crime and violence ridden 10th Precinct. It is three blocks from the corner where Detroit's 1967 riot began.
Dan Smith, 37, who lives next door to the house, said the youthful occupants of the lower flat were quiet and kept mostly to themselves.
"I hardly knew anyone was living there," Smith said. "They never bothered anyone. They minded their own business."

Inspector Bannon said the home was very sparsely furnished and it did not appear as

News Probe Called For By Laird

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird said today he has asked the Justice Department to investigate how the New York Times obtained parts of a secret Pentagon study of the Vietnam war.
"The government has a responsibility to determine if anyone violates national security laws," Laird told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.
He said documents published by the Times Sunday were obtained by the paper in a series of articles that continued today were "highly classified" and should not be made a matter of public record.
The Times story quoted a Pentagon study of the Vietnam war as saying that during the Johnson administration a general consensus was reached at a White House strategy meeting on Sept. 7, 1964, that air attacks

Weekend Accidents Claim Lives of 14 in Connecticut

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Weekend accidents in Connecticut claimed the lives of 14 persons, including three who died in a car-truck collision, two who were electrocuted and four who drowned.

A Warrenville man died Sunday night when he apparently either jumped or fell from a car on Interstate 91 in Windsor.

Police identified the victim as Joseph Ferland, 24. Ferland was sitting in the right front seat of a car driven by Kimberly Monroe, 24, of Mansfield Depot when the accident occurred, according to police.

Michael Champigny, 3, of Warehouse Point died Sunday in Hartford Hospital after being struck by a car in East Windsor. Police said the boy was walking along Main Street Saturday afternoon when he turned and ran into the side of a vehicle driven by Robert Tweed, 41, of Windsor Locks, according to police. The driver was not injured and no arrest was made, police said.

In Wallingford, 14-year-old Bambii Yace of New Haven drowned Sunday afternoon while swimming in a pond at Wharton

Sea Search Begins For Missing Jet

By BRUCE DUNFORD
Associated Press Writer

HONOLULU (AP)—Military aircraft searched the Pacific Ocean 700 miles southwest of here early today for a missing Air Force transport jet carrying 24 persons believed to be military personnel.

The four-engine C130, military version of the Boeing 707, disappeared Sunday on a 2,227-mile flight from Pago Pago, American Samoa, to Hawaii.

An area 300 miles north of Palmyra Island became the center of search operations after rescue planes picked up the signal of a crash position indicator, said Capt. Bill Ballee, an Air Force information officer.

"We can't be positive that the device is from the missing plane," Ballee said. "We'll only know for sure after we have it picked up after daylight."

He said no debris had been spotted.

Ballee said the crash position indicator is ejected from a plane when the crew knows it is going down. It sends a constant radio signal to guide searching aircraft to the site.

Ballee said the device was spotted by a search plane that followed the beacon's signal.

An Air Force-Navy air search was launched after the transport failed to reach Hickam Air Force Base near Honolulu at 3 p.m. HST. It left Pago Pago at 10:10 a.m. and carried fuel for nine hours.

Ballee said all those aboard the aircraft are believed to be Air Force personnel.

The C130 was attached to the Air Force System Command, formerly the Research and Development Command, headquartered at Andrews AFB, Washington, D.C., Ballee said. He said he could not disclose the plane's mission.

U.S. Capitol Sets Flags Fluttering

WASHINGTON (AP)—For a large part of nearly every working day one American flag after another is run up a pole over the U.S. Capitol, allowed to flutter for a second or two and then lowered.

There is no special occasion being marked. The activity, which takes up several hours, is to satisfy requests to members of Congress by the folks back home for flags that have flown over the venerable building.

According to Phillip Roof, executive assistant to the Capitol architect, the demand is so great each flag is limited to a quick up-and-down.

Some days hundreds of flags are flown, Roof said, with the

Cambodians, South Vietnamese Battle Enemy on Three Fronts

By GEORGE ESPER

SAIGON (AP)—Cambodian and South Vietnamese troops battled Communist forces on three fronts in Cambodia Sunday and today.

In South Vietnam, North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces intensified their attacks in the central highlands and maintained their three-week-old siege of Fire Base 5, where fighting broke out Sunday from the barbed wire perimeter.

In the Cambodian fighting, troops from the 9th North Viet

North Vietnamese Premier name-Viet Cong Division launched new assaults in a downpour early today against Cambodian army bunkers around two hamlets in the Vibear Suor marshes 15 miles east of Phnom Penh. Fighting continued for more than eight hours, but there was no word of casualties or other details.

The battle for small patches of high ground which will remain above water during the current monsoon season is now

Perilous World Power Game Has Become Triangular Affair

EDITOR'S NOTE—For years two superpowers have been arrayed in a tug of war, Moscow vs. Washington. Now China is about to make it a three-way competition, and the original contestants must speculate how the pulling and hauling will go under the gathering clouds of potential destruction. Some things the development may mean are discussed in this analysis, first of two articles, by a writer who has closely watched Communist maneuvers as World War II turned into cold war and evolved into the era of ABM and SALT.

By WILLIAM L. BYAN
AP Special Correspondent

One of these days—perhaps fairly soon—Red China is expected to lob an intercontinental ballistic missile into the sea.

It will make an enormous splash. As the innocent creak of Ping Pong paddles died politically, his ominous roar militarily will remind the world that the perilous game of world power politics has been a triangular affair. China has broken out of her shell and is taking a hand.

"The shadow of that missile arc will be permanent," says Dr. Ralph Lapp, a noted nuclear physicist long associated with study of the problems involved with superweapons. He feels Red China, unlike the two secondary nuclear club members, Britain and France, will be a truly credible nuclear power because of her vastness, staking a claim to superpower status.

This is bound to have immense impact on the shape of things to come in the remaining three decades of the 20th century, China, believed by experts ready to test her ICBM when the moment is right psychologically, already is a special third party at SALT, the Soviet-American talks on strategic arms limitation.
China's missile will add a new dimension to what, for years, has been a two-way competition between the United States and the Soviet Union.

The world, not without some terrifying moments, survived the first quarter-century of the nuclear age. President Nixon expressed hope for a shift from confrontation to an era of negotiation. There is much talk of limiting strategic arms, establishing European security, restoring Asian peace and fruitful concourse among nations.

But while there are hopeful signs, today's confrontation jargon remains frightening, full of deadly terms which have become commonplace clichés.

People have become accustomed to a balance of terror, insured to such phrases as assured destruction, first- and second-strike capability, mutual deterrence, damage-limiting capacity, acceptable losses and such notions as the "factor of five," meaning that certain defensive measures might, in case of nuclear attack on the United States, reduce the death risk from 100 million to 20 million.

Suspicion

Today's world is one in which three huge nations eye one another with suspicion. If any of the three makes even a hesitant gesture toward another, the third invariably reacts with alarm.

This is the sort of world which now is looking at the beginning of a new stage of power alignment. For decades, while the contest was mainly between Russians and Americans, the main theater was the Atlantic area. Now the focus seems to be shifting toward a Pacific cockpit complicated by an eager and dynamic Japan seeking leverage for aims of her own in Asia.

China as a prospective enormous market of 750 million people is attractive bait for Japanese, Russians, Europeans and Americans alike. At the same time, China raises nightmarish fears, especially for Asian leaders. Filipinos, Thais, Malaysians, Indians eye China nervously, aware that she has as

Civil Rights Forces Dealt Rare Defeat By Top Court Vote

By HARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court ruled 5 to 4 today that cities faced with integration orders may close down swimming pools and other public facilities, denying their use to both blacks and whites.

Turning down a plea by a group of Jackson, Miss., Negroes, the court said there is no illegal discrimination when neither blacks nor whites have the use of public facilities. All the Constitution requires, said Justice Hugo L. Black, is that the states do not promote separation of the races.

In other actions today, the court:

—Barred the states from denying welfare aid to noncitizens and to aliens who have not been residents a set number of years.

—Ruled that a labor union member protesting a union election must exhaust internal union remedies on each specific complaint before the secretary of labor can sue such complaint in a civil suit on his behalf.

—Agreed to review a lower court ruling that the oath required of public workers in Massachusetts is unconstitutional. —Declined to hear an appeal sought to block his trial in California on slander charges. —Let stand a ruling by the Federal Communications Commission that strips WEHD, Inc., of its license to operate Channel 5 in Boston and turns the station over to Boston Broadcasters, Inc.

The pool ruling marked another turning point. It was a rare defeat for civil rights forces after years of almost uninterrupted victory in the high court.

The decision was forged by an alignment with Black of the two Nixon administration appointees.

12 Arrested Strikers, Police In Clash at Yale

By DAN HALL
Associated Press Writer

NEW HAVEN (AP)—At least 12 persons were arrested Monday when strikers clashed with police outside Yale University's commencement ceremonies.

Among the arrested was the Rev. James Groppi, the militant Roman Catholic priest from Milwaukee identified with civil rights cases.

Police said the leader of 1,150 service employees striking Yale, Vincent Strabella, also was among those arrested. Father Groppi and Strabella were charged with disorderly conduct and set free, detectives said.

The confrontation occurred as the graduates and faculty were entering the Old Campus area for the ceremonies. At the same time, about 800 strikers and their supporters were marching to the Old Campus gateway.

Witnesses said about a dozen of the marchers ran toward the processional and were met by a double row of police officers, about 40 strong.

One man was reported hospitalized with a cut hand, but there were no serious injuries. The workers, members of Local 35 of the Federation of University Employees, have been on strike against Yale for seven weeks. Sporadic talks have failed to settle the major issues—part time and student employment and higher wages.

One of the commencement guests was West German Chancellor Willy Brandt. Brandt gave no indication he noticed the confrontation, although shouts of the demonstrators could be heard by those inside Old Campus.
The West German leader one of 10 persons awarded honorary degrees from Yale. Konrad Adenauer, one of Brandt's predecessors as chancellor, got an request by the strikers sever.

In England Shipyard Industry Giant Will Go into Liquidation

By JAMES F. KING
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Edward Heath's Conservative government announced today it is letting the Rolls-Royce of the British shipyard industry, Upper Clyde Shipbuilders, go into liquidation.

John Davies, minister for trade and industry in Heath's Cabinet, told the House of Commons the government would put no more money into the company as it now stands. The firm had asked the government for immediate aid of $14.4 million to stave off liquidation and save the jobs of 7,500 shipyard employees and 25,000 workers in allied jobs.

Davies said he understood the firm would apply immediately for the appointment of a liquidator. Within minutes of his announcement the company confirmed in Glasgow it was doing just that.

Workers threatened to take over the shipyards to prevent their shutdown.

Upper Clyde, builder of world famous ocean liners like the Queen Elizabeth 2, thus became the second major British firm and long-time household name to go on the skids this year. The first one, Rolls-Royce, had been refused the massive government help it said it needed.
The firm now is in receivership.

"NAPOLEON" AT GETTYSBURG. Nature Study by Sylvia Ottara

To Love A Flag

A nation's flag is the symbol of a voluntary compact under which the people of that nation are happy and proud to live together.

Whenever a nation has to worry about whether or not its own people are giving proper respect and loyalty to that flag, as a symbol of that compact, the compact itself is in trouble.

One of the specific statements in the Burger opinion, with regard to tests, held that such tests, to be guaranteed legal, "must measure the person for the job, not the person in the abstract."

Such cures, if resorted to, merely increase the trouble and make it even more dangerous because they try to drive it out of the public sight.

Such cures, when attempted, give to some people the dangerous and illusory satisfaction of seeming to order and push their fellow countrymen around.

When a nation's flag is in trouble because the compact it symbolizes is in trouble, the kind of action one can support and cheer is the action which seeks to promote conscientious and unceasing examination of the compact itself, and of the vital question every generation of citizens must ask itself, the question of whether or not their nation is living up to its own solemn pledges to itself.

Today it is not only legitimate but highly desirable that those who want to honor the American flag should themselves be the ones who question whether the flag is honoring itself and its own purposes in Vietnam.

And great lovers of the flag will not shrink from asking themselves whether there is anything in American life today which might possibly mean that the actual working terms of the American compact are better for people whose skin is one color than they are for others.

Best lovers of the flag know, from their own feelings and from their own endeavors, that the best loyalty is that which is voluntary, not specified and required by law or order, and which issues itself not only on peak words and glory and accomplishment, but on hope and zeal for a future which will continue to bring additional life and meaning to the original principles of the original compact.

It is a beautiful flag, most beautiful of all when it has the life and hope of ever perfecting promise rippling through its stars and along its bars. Let us love it, let us love it, let us love it, let us love it, let us love it.

This page has for sometime been waging a rather timid, half-disguised campaign to abolish compulsory education.

Our main objective has been to improve education itself, but above all to improve what the individual gets out of it.

We would, to try to put it all in one sentence, abolish education altogether, and then open it up, the next day, on a purely voluntary basis, in which any body who wanted it could come and get it.

We do not think attendance would vary greatly from what it is now, except that everyone coming to school would be coming for something he or she wanted, and would be inclined to leave after having obtained it.

Project Concern Extended

It is welcome news that Project Concern, a program through which inner-city children are bused to suburban schools, has been extended for another year in Waterbury. The program had been threatened with cancellation due to a lack of funds.

The Board of Education has been able to approve a year's extension of the project because the state will meet all costs of the program which takes approximately 50 children to Middlebury, Southbury and Litchfield schools.

The only cost to be borne by the city is that of two resource teachers who travel with the children and work in the suburban classrooms. It should be noted that two teachers would doubtless be required to teach the 50 children who were retained in the city.

Children participating in the Project Concern program have shown marked improvement in learning abilities. Host school systems have reported that local children have benefited from contact with the inner-city children.

Civic groups which have battled for the extension of the Project Concern program are to be commended for their efforts. Their interest and concern have contributed in large measure to the extension of this worthwhile project.

WATERBURY REPUBLICAN.

Inside Report

The Vetted Padre

By Rowland Evans Jr. and Robert D. Novak

WASHINGTON — Combined pressure from the Republican right, Capitol Hill Democrats, and even the White House itself has just about killed a unique scheme to install a left-of-center Roman Catholic priest as Presidential speechwriter.

A few weeks ago, it was all but determined that Father John McLaughlin, 48-year-old Jesuit who was the antiwar Republican nominee for the Senate from Rhode Island last year, would join President Nixon's writing staff. A former editor of America, the World Journal, he was committed to live up Mr. Nixon's generally ill-drawn press style.

When came the anti-McLaughlin campaign. Some conservatives in the White House, eschewing ideological purity or exotic ideas from the outside, argued that McLaughlin's philosophy was much too far to the left of the President's. The right-wing weekly, Human Events, picked up the theme by painting him as a wild-eyed leftist.

On top of this, Sen. John Pastore of Rhode Island, the senior Democrat whom McLaughlin tried to unseat in 1970, protested bitterly to the White House. Although Pastore picked up 67.5 per cent of the vote, McLaughlin waged a vigorous, interesting campaign which enraged the hot-tempered Pastore. Since Pastore is occasionally helpful to the Administration on key questions, his opposition severely hurt the priest's chances.

Nevertheless, McLaughlin still had a fairly good chance to get the job until immensely powerful Presidential assistant H. R. (Bob) Haldeman decided he was becoming more trouble than he was worth. Always suspicious of outsiders, Haldeman believed in the idea of a controversial, leftist priest. Thus, although McLaughlin has received no final word, his chances of getting the job are remote.

To many thoughtful Presidential aides, that will be a pity. Acknowledging ideological differences between Nixon and McLaughlin, they feel he would have come on board as a loyal Nixon man possessed of special talents. Raymond Price, a liberal-leaning speechwriter, was McLaughlin's leading sponsor inside the White House. But he also had backing from such conservatives as speechwriter Pat Buchanan and political aide Charles Colson.

McLaughlin's New Yorker colleague, the Byantine Democratic politician of New York for Sen. Edmund S. Muskie's Presidential campaign will go to Lester S. Hyman, once top Kennedy man in Massachusetts.

Hyman, 39, now a Washington lawyer, will begin immediately as the Muskie coordinator from outside the state—conducting campaign techniques originated during the 1960 John F. Kennedy campaign on the premise that an outsider with nothing to gain or lose can best work together with the party functionaries such as New York and California.

A Thought for Today

Sponsored by the Manchester Council of Churches

By Ralph Waldo Emerson

The soul of God is poured into the world through the thoughts of men.

The face interprets the person. The face is the image. It is the image, the plastic impression of man.

In the face is focused the whole body; its lines, its textures, its look. For many the eyes are the key to the interpretation. The eyes say for the whole body.

I believe God interprets the person. I believe God can do anything, and anything He does is very, very good.

Submit to Him. Believe, and even if your eyes cannot see it, Faith is evident in the child, and certifies in its eyes.

Rham District District 8 Names Group To Study New Vacancy

The Regional District 8 Board of Education last week voted to form a committee of three to study a vacancy in the position of principal for Rham High School.

Serving on this committee, which will also work with the Rham Education Association, will be Mrs. Imogene Richards, Andover; Walter Fitzpatrick, Marlborough; and Harry Meyson, Hebron.

The decision to include the teachers to work with the committee came upon the request of Henry Graber, spokesman for the committee.

Graber presented to the board three resolutions recently voted upon by the RSEA.

The first resolution was in reference to a statement made recently by the newly formed Citizens For a Better Education to the effect that the group would be a sounding board for any problems or grievances teachers at Rham might have.

The RSEA resolved that any teacher who goes through the CPBE "would be in direct violation of the Association's Code of Ethics."

Three Teachers

The board approved the appointment of three teachers: Peter Heasterly of Lebanon; Mrs. Linda Newman of Hebron; and J. Stephen Flanagan Jr. of Storrs.

Heasterly, who did student teaching at Rham last fall, will teach in the Industrial Arts Department. He is a 1970 graduate of Central Connecticut State College.

Mrs. Newman, who did student teaching at Rham last fall, will teach in the Physical Education Department. She is a 1970 graduate of the University of Connecticut.

Flanagan also did student teaching at Rham last fall, will teach in the Physical Education Department. He received his BS in physical education last January from the University of Connecticut.

The board also accepted the resignation of home economics teacher Linda Whitney, who is moving out of town, and of William Young, physical education teacher.

Requests by Mrs. Edna Jones, audio visual, and Mrs. Louise Sage, library, for 800 reimbursements for tuition for special needs media program courses they had taken were rejected by the board.

It was felt that any course

Army Oscar Beverly Hills, Calif. (AP) — Bob Hope has been given a special U.S. Army Oscar for "appreciation of 30 years of worldwide men's clothing."

The Army presented Hope a golden globe with the figure of a soldier at its side during the annual Army Ball Saturday. Vice President Spiro T. Agnew was guest of honor.

In accepting the award, Hope, who has entertained GIs from World War II to Vietnam, called it the high point of his career.

In Milford, Richard Cavallaro, 17, of Ansonia drowned in a pond at Ettenhower Park while swimming, police said.

The three men killed in the Waterbury accident were identified as Edward Chapin, 24, of Waterbury, and Lewis Cameron, 29, and Mark Crocker, 26, both of Waterbury.

Police said a car traveling south on Watertown Avenue failed to negotiate a curve and crashed head-on into a passenger truck. They said Chapin drove the car and Cameron was a passenger while Crocker drove the truck.

In Newington, Michael Jacobowitz, 26, of East Hartford, died Saturday afternoon when his car struck another at an intersection.

Sharon Dupuis, 16, of Cheshire Falls, Mass., died Sunday after a car in which she was riding struck a motorcycle in Marlborough, police said. Six other people were injured in the accident.

Timothy Lynch, 12, of New Milford died Sunday in New Milford after being struck by a car while he was riding his bicycle, police said.

The driver of the car was identified as Stuart R. Daniels, 19, also of New Milford. Police said they were investigating the accident.

While Mr. and Mrs. Hewitt Wilson of Jacksonville, Tex., look on, John Hedlund points out a member of the Manchester High School Class of 1931 and adds a few embellishing recollections. Mrs. Wilson is the former Maude England. Hedlund was chairman of the class's 40th reunion anniversary, held Saturday night at Fiano's Restaurant in Bolton and attended by 110 alumni, husbands, and wives.

Former faculty members who were guests were:

Mrs. A. L. Davidson, the former Mary McGuire, teacher of mathematics, who retired in 1969 as principal of North Arlington, N. J. High School; and Frank (Pop) Lee, commercial teacher, now dean at Stonehill College, Easton, Mass. Among prizes awarded were those for the class member traveling the longest distance, married longest, married most recently greatest number of children, and greatest number of grandchildren.

The error had been called to meeting, said today it is "Cummings' attention by John Sullivan, a veteran committee

Your St. Bernard Is 'En Return'

The ladies in the Town Clerk's Office are worried and why shouldn't they be. As of last week only about 300 dog licenses had been returned.

One might say that the ladies are afraid of being hounded by codes of puppies at the end of the month.

All dogs over six months old must be licensed by July 1. Fees are $2.00 for males and spayed females; $1.75 for females; and $1.00 for female housing not more than 10 dogs.

So part with some of your St. Bernards for the sake of your wallet. Make your collie July 1st, your spaniel cooler, your pointer merrier, your setter better, and your beagle legal; or give your boxer some salvation, your chihuahua some pawing and last but not least, get your mutt out of a rut—BUY A LICENSE.

Perhaps this question has been on your mind:
Q. My husband and I are in our late 80's and want to make a will. Can we do this ourselves or must we see a lawyer?
A. See your lawyer. Do not attempt to make a will without legal assistance. It is the very best way to make sure your wishes are carried out as you want them to be.
