Miss Goslee Dies, Honored by Church

Miss Ethel Goslee of Vernon Rd., Bolton, who was recently honored for her years of devotion and service to South United Methodist Church and its Women's Society, died last night at Manchester Memorial Hospital.

Miss Goslee, a Manchester native, was the principal of the South Orange (N.J.) Junior High School before she retired in 1947 and returned to the Manchester area.

The board of trustees of South United Methodist Church recently voted to name the living room of the Sumner Wesley House "The Ethel Goslee Room" in her honor, and the room was dedicated on June 14. A bronze plaque will soon be placed in the foyer of the house, and a portrait of Miss Goslee will be hung over the fireplace in the room. She served as a member of the church's board of trustees, being responsible for the Sumner Wesley House; and also as a member of the committee on missions and evangelism, the nominating committee, the Christian Education committee, the Christian Social Service committee, and the Christian Women's Society of N.H.

She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Clara Alton of Hartford; a nephew, Kenneth Alton of Hartford; and two nieces, Mrs. George Kraft of Danbury and Mrs. Melvin Haas of Concord.

In the Women's Society of N.H. she has served as vice president, day at 1 p.m. at South United membership secretary, and on Methodist Church. The Rev. Dr. Robert J. Moseley, pastor of the church, officiated at her funeral service, which was held at 11 a.m. at South United Methodist Church. Burial will be in East Ferris level, she was supply secretary in the Watkins Funeral Home, nominating and Christian social relations committees, and on the executive committee of the Christian Women's Society of N.H.

There are no calling hours. The family suggests that in relation to the funeral, contributions may be made to the Professional Women's Club of Manchester, the National Retired Teachers Association, the South United Methodist Church.

'Litter Image' Irritates Governor

Republicans Nominate Candidates

HARTFORD (AP)—An anti-litter demonstration that wound up in the Capitol grounds Friday, produced repercussions Friday, as Gov. Thomas J. Meskill accused litterbugs of trying to improve their image through a public relations gimmick.

The governor also criticized the Hartford Council for not publishing an account of an incident in which Aetna Life & Casualty employees dropped litter on the ground and then picked it up again while a photographer took pictures.

One of the leaders of the rally, Aetna President Elliott D. Smith, said he also directed the Council studied at Columbia University, the New York University, and the University of New York. She also attended Rutgers University and the University of Connecticut.

She taught at the East Orange (N.J.) elementary schools and was principal of the East Orange Junior High School before she became principal of the school.

Retiring as Army Nurse, She Gets Legion of Merit

Bolton Republicans Nominate Candidates

Col. Alma Birch Anderson, ANC, was awarded the Legion of Merit on June 15 when she retired from the Army Nurse Corps after serving with the Army since 1945.

Anderson received her R.N. from the Hartford Hospital School of Nursing in 1945 and volunteered her services to the Army Nurse Corps. She was on duty in Panama during World War II and was relieved from active duty in early 1946.

Before returning to military nursing, she attended Columbia University and earned her BS degree in 1951, and her MA in Nursing Administration in 1952.

Since 1953 she has been on continuous active duty, serving as an administrative nurse at the U.S. Army Hospital, Ft. McChesney, Ala.; Army Nurse Corps Counselor in Chicago; Special Projects Officer, Medical Field Service School, Brooks Army Medical Center, Ft. Sam Houston, Tex.; and assistant chief, nursing service and educational coordinator at the 100th Station Hospital in Germany.

Since 1958 she has been on staff as a personal officer of the Army Nurse Corps Branch, directed by Mrs. Henry Birch of Bolton, and Mrs. Henry Birch of Bolton, and the vice president of the Bolton Chapter of the American Legion.

Anderson's husband, Francis, retired from the Judge Advocate General's Office as a lieutenant colonel some time ago.

Way Cleared For Airport To Expand

Recommendations Made For Health Instruction

HARTFORD (AP)—A federal judge Friday turned back arguments of East Haven residents who sought to delay the expansion of Tweed-New Haven airport.

Airport manager James Murphy held the federal government which had sued to have the expansion delayed.

He ordered the construction within 10 days, clearing the way for use of the full runway by large commercial jets.

On June 7, an Allegheny Airlines plane crashed and burned on a landing approach to the 10,000-foot runway, killing 28 of the 31 aboard.

The expansion would increase the number of low density multi-family dwelling units from 600 to 776 and the number of non-residential units from 100 to 150.

The property in question covers 50 acres between Bunker Hill and Todd Rd. Itigo Thompson, a member of the Town Council, said the town is so close to the airport that it is a poor location for a new development.

The petition, submitted by James Murphy, was rejected by the court.

HARTFORD (AP)—A federal judge Friday turned back arguments of East Haven residents who sought to delay the expansion of Tweed-New Haven airport.

Airport manager James Murphy held the federal government which had sued to have the expansion delayed.

He ordered the construction within 10 days, clearing the way for use of the full runway by large commercial jets.

Gardening

With Frank Atwood

An inconspicuous, narrow dirt road leads off the north shore of W. Middle Tpk. in Manchester's busiest streets, and in seconds a visitor moves to the country, almost to the wilderness. It is an extraordinary change.

Here is the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Fogarty and six children. The house is a "more or less" of woodland, open glades, birds, rabbits, lady's slippers, anemones, rhododendrons and mountain laurel. The address, shown on an RFD mailbox, is 615 W. Middle Tpk. It had been told about the flowers and called the Fogarty on the phone. They said I had missed the best part of the show but to "come on over" and see the laurel. The anemone and the rhododendron blooms were fading and almost gone.

That is exactly what I found when the Fogarty took me on a walk through their woodland paths, but meeting Harry and Gertrude Fogarty and seeing the laurel at its beautiful best made it a memorable day.

Mr. and Mrs. Fogarty, both over 80, tend their flowers, walk every day through their woods and watch the birds. They keep the paths well cleared "for the children" who know about this area and run through it frequently. If there are paths, the children are less likely to trample on a lady's slipper or break down a rhododendron branch.

Once Fedded Milk

A farmer's son, Harry Fogarty, helps his father milk cows and grow tobacco on a 40-acre farm along Adams St. north of the Hooksum River. The farm was sold in 1915 and it was back before that year that Harry peddled milk with a horse and wagon all the way from Center St. to Backland. Tobacco is still being grown on part of the old farm. Some of the land is used by the Jarvis Construction Co. for handling sand and gravel and for equipment storage. There is a telephone station also on the property and the state road from Hilliard St. to Backland also through the old farm.

The old "Cooper place," where the Fogarty family was purchased by Harry's parents in 1868 at about the time he went into Army service for the First World War, going to France and later to Germany where he worked at an automobile service station before he came to the assembly floor at Pratt Whitney, helping to make airplane engines.

Growing shrubs is a hobby that Harry developed during his years at the aircraft plant and has since expanded. There used to be a big vegetable garden but rabbits, woodchucks and raccoons were too numerous and too hungry. The old garden is now a patch of open grassland and the mountain laurel has its finest bloom at the edge of the woods here. Rhododendron and anemone, Harry says, do best in "despotic sunlight." It has been the big English statice, it has been the state flower of Connecticut considered a piece of pioneer brass for help.

ings are made late in May and rhododendron cuttings will be made in July. Both are "stuck" in a rooting medium of peat moss and perlite. Underneath there are heating cables to maintain proper temperature in cold weather.

In the fall, new plants will be set in a hotbed, which has heating cable underneath and above the top. They will stay there until spring when they will be set in the ground. It takes another two years to reach the size needed for final transplanting. Rhododendrons may need four or five years. Mr. Fogarty raises these plants primarily for his own use but sometimes, if asked, will sell some of them. He also makes cuttings of year, which do not take as long nor need as much care. He has never tried rooting mountain laurel, which the experts consider difficult for anyone to do.

Mr. Fogarty grew up in Manchester and worked for many years at Cheney Bros., going back and forth from Olivet St. on a bicycle. The Fogarty's have been married 37 years.

Native American Plant

Mountain laurel is a native American shrub which grows wild in the mountains and the lower elevations in the Middle Atlantic and the southern New England states. It has been the state flower of Connecticut since 1897, a date I found when I recalled an edition of the State Register and Manual which had a color picture and a story on the mountain laurel and Miss Eleanor Harrington, and Miss Librarian, had the event of the "Nine Days of May" first try, ascribing her success to "the luck of the Irish." ## South Windsor Activities For Teens Discussed

Activities for teenagers in the town have become the subject of much discussion by the administrators, and solving the problem has become a full-time project for the Recreation Department.

At this week's Board of Education meeting, Mrs. Paul Kushin of Tallwood Dr. asked the Board for permission to use the high school cafeteria as a drop-in teen center and to install other facilities for arts and crafts geared to the teenagers.

The Board, which is made up of high school and middle school students showed at least as many youngsters interested in a theater workshop, many in arts and crafts, specifically stated was the desire to learn the batik process, and pottery making.

But first, "we must have a place and then we will need interested people to supervise the kids," she said.

Mrs. Kushin was told she did not need the Board's permission for the use of school facilities but that she should apply to the Superintendent of schools.

Mrs. Kushin feels, if given a chance, the program could be a success. She said she might be able to display their accomplishments at the Wapping Fair. Also, plans for the township could be performed by the theater group to help improve the center financially for the coming year.

Through the questionnaire the Recreation Department and the service information service in the town have set up a volunteer and job placement center for teenagers for summer work.

Town and Paper Square Off In News Blackout

WALLINGFORD (AP)—Town officials and a local newspaper are at loggerheads over a recent revaluation and the resulting property-tax increases levied against residents and businesses.

The Wallingford Post, a weekly paper, claims the officials have given a 10 percent increase to local industries. It further maintains the town has denied the newspaper access to tax records because of a related survey it printed.

Town Attorney Robert Billings and Assessor Robert Kemp, on the other hand, say the figures printed by the Post are misleading and that the revaluation was done fairly.

The newspaper claimed that business assessments showed an average increase of 66.6 percent, resulting in an actual tax hike from industrial sources of 11.4 percent. The average residential increase was 78.1 percent, bringing an average jump of 20.6 percent, the paper said.

Gilbert Keiman, editor of the paper, said Thursday his reporters had been refused access to the town's tax files. He added that he was expecting help in his fight from Donald Ross, an attorney who has worked with the paper's editor in the past.

Another defendant in the case, Attorney Timothy Mopahan, has filed a $1.5 million lawsuit against McDonald and two other state's attorneys on grounds the state withheld information that would have proven his innocence.

Charges against Mopahan were dropped after his criminal proceedings against him ended in a trial.

Growing Old

WATERBURY (AP) Sen. Robert C. Byrd is nearly two months older than he has been saying he is.

The West Virginia Democrat was explained at 80 months and has been giving his birth date as Jan. 25, 1918.

But Byrd's older brother, Clyde Sale, questioned the senator's birth certificate in North Wilkesboro, N.C. It shows Byrd's birthday as Nov. 30, 1917.

Byrd was reared by an aunt, Mrs. T. D. Byrd, and he assumed her last name.

Court Dismisses Conspiracy Cases At Waterbury

WATERBURY (AP) — Lawyer Charles Conaghan has announced that three Waterbury police officers suspended in connection with a cheating probe were dismissed Thursday in Superior Court.

Valentina Boichicchio, a sergeant before his suspension said later in an interview he expected to be reinstated.

Joseph and Anthony R. Boichicchio, another brother, both sergeants, were reinstated Friday morning, ending a two-year suspension after criminal charges of larceny between $15 and $20.

"They said there was a $100,000 ring involving police officers and politicians but it turned out to be 'a big bang with no damage,'" the suspended sergeant said.

Boichicchio and defense lawyers were completed by the state of Connecticut or State's Atty. Francis M. McDonald, who said he did not prosecute, the charges of larceny and conspiracy to commit larceny against three police officers. One of their attorneys, Elaine S. Amendola, objected on grounds the charges could be re-instituted within one year.

Judge Douglas B. Wright imposed $200 fines of Joseph and Anthony Boichicchio in connection with their alleged possession of stolen items.

The dismissal of charges came exactly two years after the four men and a number of other local area were arrested on the basis of a grand jury indictment.

Another defendant in the case, Attorney Timothy Mopahan, has filed a $1.5 million lawsuit against McDonald and two other state's attorneys on grounds the state withheld information that would have proven his innocence.

Charges against Mopahan were dropped after his criminal proceedings against him ended in a trial.

Tip To Police Brings Arrests On Drug Counts

Acting on information supplied by a Hartford informant, Manchester police arrested two youths on Center St. last night, charged them with possession of narcotic drugs, and possession of controlled drugs.

Dennis C. Wind, 21, of 151 Glenwood St. and Roger E. Brindley, 17, of East Hartford, were stopped in a 1967 Buick Wildcat on Center St. at 8:30 p.m. near Friendly Ice Cream. According to police the car, which was registered to Wind, had been under surveillance for several days.

Wind and Brindley were released on $1,000 non-surety bond, and are scheduled for court July 2.

The informant called police about 7 yesterday evening and told them he saw two males, riding in a car, purchase heroin in Hartford. They drove away. A stake-out was immediately set up on Center St.

Police say they stopped a car answering the description given by the informant, searched it, and found a net of narcotics under the front seat, a small amount of heroin, and green, plant-like material. Wind, the driver, and Brindley were arrested and taken to headquarters.

Meskill Asks Safeguards At All State Airports

HARTFORD (AP) — Gov. Thomas J. Meskill has appealed to Washington for more sophisticated landing guidance equipment of an Instrument Landing System (ILS) at the airport.

OLD CODGER'S CODGITIONS

Picking up some little omitted or related facts that might later be known as the South Manchester High School.

(April 24, 1970) Codgitation. The O.C.A.C. made their upper barn into a gymnasium. By boring holes in rafters and inserting pieces of broom handles like ladder rungs, the members could go up one side of the roof and down the other hanging by their hands. This was supposed to develop good shoulders for football.

When the old South Methodist Church got new cushions for their pews, the O.C.A.C. acquired all the old ones. Fastened together, they became a big green tumbling or wrestling mat that nearly covered the whole floor. The club also had some other equipment such as weights, punching bag, boxing gloves and for outdoors jumping standards and 10 ft. poles.

Not to be outdone by their seniors some of the kids of the neighborhood organized a club that met in the cellars and was named the U.C.A.C. Very secret Under Ground Athletic Club. Later when they were allowed to meet in a barn the name was changed to O.C.A.C. (What do you suppose that could mean?)

(May 1st, 1970) On Co. G's field day Pvt. Jerry Leggett (or Lovett) took an idea to a core in the pasture. State of Connecticut had to pay for it.

(May 1st, 1970) The Cheney families owned the large pasture that extended from S. Main St. about opposite Macmillan Court to Spring St. at Globe Hollow and included practically all of the Globe Hollow pasture where we could spear some suckers but never found any trout.

There were many cows that gave a surplus of milk for their owners. Numerous families organized a club that met in the cellars and was named the U.C.A.C. Very secret Under Ground Athletic Club. Later when they were allowed to meet in a barn the name was changed to O.C.A.C. (What do you suppose that could mean?)

son, Solomon, died within hours of each other and there was a double funeral. They lived on the upper part of Maple St. Mr. McInerney had a brother who lived in Westchester and was an official of the New England Brewery in Hartford. It was through this brother that Mr. McInerney bought out the interest of Solomon Anderson and became a partner of Alfred Johnson.

It was about that time that they started to build the houses on Cottage St. They built the one next to the Ferris place first. This was supposed to be the cellar for the second house but had not been put in the foundation. It seemed that Bill Price and Jim McInerney had some words, and we all went down in the hole riding a bike, so that they could fight it out. It must have been about 1902 or 1903 when Daniel Beebe was killed. He worked for the New England Tea Co. They had a store on N. Main St., later in Back School St. where he sold stores and supplies.

There were very few telephones in Manchester at that time. Mr. Wright had a phone in his home as well as his shop. It was in their home that I first talked over the phone. It was on the trolley tracks. The tracks ran along the west side of Main St. It was another going on the tracks so every one would use that side when riding a bike. The George Wright family lived on the west side of the house occupied by the Beebe. He was in plumbing contractor and had a store, and shop, on N. Main St., later in Back School St. where he sold stores and supplies.

Firemen Fear Mishaps on 4th

BOSTON (AP) — The National Fire Protection Association predicts there will be more than 10,000 firework casualties over the July 4th weekend unless the illegal traffic in these explosives is suppressed.

Charles S. Morgan, the association's general manager, made the estimate Thursday and said children would be the chief victims.

He called for a crackdown by state and local authorities on the illegal sale of fireworks.

Wapping Man Presented On Gun Charge

Robert Cole Johnson, 75 Lewis Dr., Wapping was presented in U.S. District Court yesterday and charged with the illegal possession of a firearm, a 12-gauge single shot shotgun having a barrel of less than 18 inches. He was also charged with illegally transferring the same gun without filing or paying the tax as required by law.

He was released on a non-surety bond of $2,000 reduced by Senior U.S. District Judge Thomas P. Murphy from a similar bond with surety. His case was continued for plea.

Bowers Students Receive Awards

Principal Ray E. Gardner, at a ceremony held at the Bowers School, awarded merit certificates to 17 Bowers School sixth grade pupils for their service as Teachers Aide Corps leaders.

The recipients are Maria Meyer, Holly Miller, Jane Dewey, Alexa Burger, Lida Gambino, Dale Landy, Laura Nelson, Todd Custer, Chris Paredi, David Harvey, Debra Bayles, Jeff Sumner, Cindy Lant, Christine DeCandia, Laurie Hubbard, Ricardo Quental, and Suzanne Thomas.

TAC is a teacher's assistance club organized last year by Mrs. Mabel Silver, first grade teacher, and Mrs. Cassie Hoar, sixth grade teacher. The sixth graders helped the younger children with their reading. The corps enrollment was double that of the first year and will become a permanent part of the Bowers School program.

Coroner Finds Drive Negligent

The Manchester Police have charged Mary Marquard of 4 Downey Dr. with negligent homicide in the automobile death May 24 of Mrs. Gail Carson, 27, late of 180 Cooper St.

A recently released coroner's report had found Mrs. Marquard, the driver of a car which struck a utility pole on W. Main St., criminally responsible in that she failed to watch where she was driving.

Mrs. Marquard and two small children riding in the car, were not seriously hurt in the accident which took place near the Parade. Authorities say Mrs. Carson died instantaneously.

July 19 is the scheduled court date for Mrs. Marquard.

About Town

Wednesday's meeting of the embryonic Manchester Exchange Club will be at 8:30 p.m. at the home of Atty. Thomas O'Marra, 20 Schaller Rd.

The Rev. Kenneth Steere, chaplain at Mansfield State Training School, will conduct a service Sunday at 8:15 a.m. on radio station WMPY. The program is sponsored by the Manchester Area Council of Churches and the Clergy Association of Manchester.

Campbell Council, KofC, will install officers Sunday at 4 p.m. at the KofC Home. The ceremonies are open to members and their guests. Refreshments will be served after the installation.

The Quoka Club of Hartford will sponsor a bazaar tomorrow from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at 449 Middle Tpke. The bazaar is open to the public free of charge.

The Perennial Planters Garden Club will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the Elizabeth Park Pond House in Hartford for a view of the park grounds. Ladies of the group will go to the home of Mrs. Robert Connolly, 18 Sunrise Hill Dr., West Hartford, for a business meeting, social hour. Co-hostesses are Mrs. Dorothy Stark and Mrs. Paul Gospi.

Anderson, Miller Appeals Before PZC

The Planning and Zoning Commission will consider two requests for zone changes at next Monday's meeting in the Municipal Building hearing room at 7:30 p.m.

A. A. Anderson of West Hartford has applied for a change from Rural Residence to a Residence A zone on two parcels of Woodside St. and Hilltown Rd. totaling 46 acres; and Maxwell Miller, owner of Miller's Pharmacy at 209 Green Rd., is seeking a variance for a beer permit, which was later expanded to include hard liquor; but neighbors' respective areas. And both were fought by some 100 residents, including the PZC without discussion, due to the extended length of the public hearings.

Anderson's zone change application, for land owned by Frank J. and Albert C. Bellows, if granted, would allow apartments or single-family dwellings with 12,000 square foot minimum lots. Under the present rural classification the minimum lot size is 50,000 square feet.

Though the use that would be made of the land was not stated by the applicant, opinion by the opposition was that the acreage is earmarked for apartments, and no use of the land until water and sewer utilities were brought to the site, or until specific plans were presented by a developer and approved by a group called

Wogman To Be Ordained At Emanuel Tuesday Night

Lawrence N. Wogman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence G. Wogman of 28 Fairview St., will be ordained into the holy ministry Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at Emanuel Lutheran Church. The ordination service, the first to be held at Emanuel Church, is open to the public.

Participating in the service will be the Rev. Eugene Brodeen, president of the New England group of the Lutheran Church in America; preacher; the Rev. C. Henry Anderson, pastor of Emanuel, sponsor and officiant; and the Rev. Ronald Bagradi, brother-in-law of Wogman and associate pastor of Holy Comfort Lutheran Church in the Bronx, N.Y., lecturer. Perry Dodson and Gary Baunabe will serve as acolytes. Special music will be presented by the Emanuel Men's Chorus under the direction of Miss Jean Conklin.

In reception honoring Wogman and his wife, the former Nancy Johnson of Lynn, Mass., will be between 6 a.m. and 9 p.m. The church after the service. Priscilla Circle, under the direction of Mrs. Fort Strangford, is in charge of refreshments, assisted by members of the Emanuel Church Women.

Wogman has accepted a call to Ebenezer Lutheran Church in Williamette and will assume his duties there on July 1. He is a lifetime member of Emanuel Church and was confirmed in the church on May 15, 1960.

A 1967 graduate of Manchester High School, he received a BA degree in 1967 from Upsala College, East Orange, N. J., and a master of divinity degree from the Lutheran School of Theology in Chicago on May 30. He served his intern year at the First Lutheran Church of Bradenton, Minn., and received his clinical training at Danvers to Ebenezer Lutheran Church in (Mass.) State Hospital.

Immediate Ban Declared On Outside Use of Water

The Town Water Department out of business. Commercial air-conditioners, he explained, use more water than car washes. If the town were to ban the outdoor use of water on between 6 a.m. and 9 p.m., the ban applies specifically to lawn care, sprinkling and home car washing. A spokesman of the water company explained that the ban, which is to be in effect until further notice, is because of pressure problems and not because of shortage of water. The hours between 6 a.m. and 9 p.m., he said, are the busiest in the day for water use.

A spokesman for the privately owned Manchester Water Co., which services most of the area north of Middle Tpke., said the company has no plans for a water ban.

Whenever a town's water department, many calls and letters are received, asking why the ban is not placed against commercial car washes.

The department's spokesman explained that it is not the town's intention to drive anyone

Norwalk Man Dies in Crash

NORWALK (AP) — A Norwalk man was killed Thursday when his truck in which he was riding struck a utility pole on Interstate 90 here and turned over.

Police identified the victim as 37-year-old Lee W. Weatherford. The department's spokesman said he was thrown from the truck and was dead on arrival at Norwalk Hospital.

Major Changes

The major changes proposed by the PZC May 24 include eliminating industry entirely; limiting the business section to serve only residents of the tract; removing the planned golf course; constructing additional feeder roads at the north and south ends of the site; and decreasing the planned population by constructing more single-family dwellings.

Several years ago the Miller Pharmacy was granted a zoning variance for a beer permit, which was later expanded to include hard liquor; but neighbors' respective areas. And both were fought by some 100 residents, including the PZC without discussion, due to the extended length of the public hearings.

Reapportionment Group Seen Nearing Agreement

By DON MEKLE
 HARTFORD (AP) — Unofficial reports from the Reapportionment Commission are that an agreement on a new legislative map of Connecticut may be reached on a July 1 deadline.

The four House members of the commission are reportedly optimistic now, and it is just possible that bipartisan agreement may be reached on a new legislative map of Connecticut before the commission's present July 1 deadline.

One of the reasons for the optimism is the fact that the House and Senate have agreed to accept the commission's present map of the state. The House vote was 100-0, and the Senate vote was 100-0.

Although no judge must be a citizen, some of whom are born Republicans and the other a Democrat, legislators fear that a local party man on the bench will not be as sensitive to the needs of the people as a judge who is a citizen.

Top Grads Silent In Protest Over Platt High Gag

MERIDEN (AP) — Graduation ceremonies at Platt High School had no valedictorian or salutatorian speeches Thursday night, thanks in part to post-Lawrence Perlinghetti. Gayle F. Gifford, the valedictorian, and Jill Platak, runner-up for academic honors, had chosen to depart from the conventional 10-minute speeches and work their joint presentation around a Perlinghetti poem entitled "I Am Waiting."

When Principal Anthony Francis forbade them from using the poem — they claimed he called it "highly provocative, vulgar, obscene, immoral and in bad taste" — they decided not to speak at all.

The two girls said they had come across the poem in class while reading a book containing the West Coast poet's work.

Extended Forecast

Forecasters predicted a fair Sunday, partly sunny with a high of 80 and a low of 60. Monday and Tuesday will be placed in the hands of scattered afternoon showers and thunderstorms. They are expected to be in the area through the weekend with high temperatures in the 70s and overnight lows in the 50s.

Tollard Fund Drive Is Launched For Teacher's Education

A group of Tollard residents are trying to raise between $500 and $700 which could eventually provide the first physical education program for the children of Ceylon.

The funds will be used to finance one year of training in physical education at the University of Connecticut for teacher Miss Margaret Wilson.

Under her present job she is prohibited from doing any work which does not deal with children.

Applications for work in summer recreational programs for children or in state hospitals which care for children have been reduced because she is not a resident of the town seeking help or a citizen of the United States.

Once she has earned enough money to pay for her tuition and course fees, a local friend has promised to give Miss Wilson a room, board and daily transportation to Storrs, so she will have no further expenses.

Miss Loretta Kavan and Mrs. Ernest Sullivan, two of her local sponsors explain, "In this age when American money is being sent all over the world to assist other governments and people in need, it seems that the people of Tollard and vicinity could make this project their own. The goal of $500 to $700 is a small sum which will eventually benefit many Ceylonese children," they added.

A donation will be requested of those attending Tuesday night's program.

Historical Hostesses Serving as hostesses at the Tollard Historical Society's Old Jail museum Sunday will be Mrs. Bertha Platak, Mrs. Francis Bushnell, Mrs. Dorothy McBurnia and Mrs. Ruth Lojain.

Hostesses at the "Bentley Homestead" museum on Meadowcroft Rd. will be Miss Madeline Sullivan, Mrs. Evelyn Leen and Miss Bernice Hall.

Both museums will be open to the public Sunday afternoon from 1 until 4.

Donations Received

The Tollard Welcome Wagon Newcomers Club has donated $150 to the town school.

Hostesses at the Middle School Library for the purchase of books and the Experiment for Meadowcroft School for the purchase of books and supplies.

NATO Aide On Malta Is Expelled

LONDON (AP) — Malta's new neutralist prime minister has expelled NATO's special commander for the Mediterranean, an informed source confirmed today, but he said the action was due to personal animosity toward the admiral and his native Italy, not toward the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The prime minister is Don Mintoff, the commander of the island's police force. He was elected last week. He reportedly ordered Adm. Gen. Brindelli, the commander of NATO's Mediterranean command, to leave Malta. He said he would negotiate the departure of the admiral and his staff, but he said he would not sign any agreement that would give the admiral's staff more facilities than they had before.

In Rome, the Italian Defense Ministry said it had no information on Brindelli's expulsion.

Bill Delays Date On Environment Control Group

HARTFORD (AP) — A bill extending the effective date of the new Department of Environmental Protection to Oct. 1 was given final approval by the Senate Thursday and sent to the governor for signing.

The department was originally supposed to come into existence on July 1, but in view of the reshuffling of state agencies in 1970, it was decided to extend the effective date by three months.

The change had the approval of Gov. Thomas J. Mesadieu.

Valedictory: Come Young Braves

Graduates and Friends: Somewhat or other, here we are, tonight, graduating from high school. We aren't sure how, but obviously the computer has digested the record of the years of our work, and after verifiable seconds of contracted deliberation, has selected us to be the graduates.

294 Will Attend Colleges

- Alabama: James Wood, Arizona State University School of Architecture; Colorado: Phil Romanowicz, U of T; Connecticut: Susan Ackley, Manchester College; Florida: Peter Amali, Hydroponic Institute; Georgia: Thomas Quinn, St. Gregory's College; Illinois: Doreen McLaughlin, Illinois Wesleyan University; Maine: Paul Blomster, Bates College; Massachusetts: Lynn Auletto, Chamberlayne Junior College; Michigan: Robert Ewing, UConn; Minnesota: Tom Perlaso, ECHO; Missouri: Tom Perlaso, ECHO; New Jersey: John Szymanski, University of Bridgeport; New Hampshire: Jan Hansen, Keene State College; New York: Steve Smith, UConn; North Carolina: Rick Soltanik, COCC; Ohio: Erin Stated, UConn; Oklahoma: Brian Stinson, UConn; Oregon: Brian Sweney, MCC; Pennsylvania: Charles Sweney, Culinary Institute of America; Rhode Island: Bernard Sweney, UConn; South Carolina: Alan Pat Taylor, UConn; Texas: Alan Pat Taylor, UConn; Virginia: Alan Pat Taylor, UConn; Washington: Alan Pat Taylor, UConn; Wisconsin: Alan Pat Taylor, UConn; Wyoming: Alan Pat Taylor, UConn.

means to relinquish whatever small measure of control we have over our own lives. It means to succumb to the direction of others, or worse, to the impersonal forces of our industrialized technology. It also means to deprive humanity of someone which lies within each of us.

Class Picnic: Absurd Or Enjoyable?

Monday marked Principal George Emmert's 26th and last Class Picnic. Absurd Or Enjoyable? reaction of some while enjoying the picnic was that it was an experience that everyone who attended will remember.

Senior Reception: After strolling down a driveway into the old-fashioned cafeteria last Friday, it was no wonder that many students were seen glancing over their shoulders, looking back at the building that had been their home for the past four years.

19 Will Enter Armed Forces

- Graduates who will be entering the Army are: Steve Donahue, Richard Szymanski, George Quinn, and Patrick Andrews, and Bill Potto. Richard Magowan, Ron Lusier, Ronald Reid, Fred Edwards, and James Anagnostis have chosen to serve in the Air Force. Ray Marty will serve in the Marine.

'71's Prize-Winning Poet

Following are excerpts from the collection of poetry submitted by David Juran to the Beth David German Memorial Poetry Contest:

Salutatory: We Have to Regain Control of Ourselves

Good evening. We tonight, on an occasion which traditionally calls for review and contemplation, must observe our particular positions in a particular America. And we must also face the fact that for us ultimate creation will be a new and enduring wholeness and beauty - a renewed relationship to man, to society, to nature and to the land.

Plaudits: Senior Girls Will Study For Careers

The High School World staff wishes to thank Denise Chabot for her photographs used along the border and the Somnath staff for their moral support that it has given us throughout this year.

Graduates Enter Business

Graduates who will begin business careers shortly as Edward Miles, mechanic at Trudon Ford; Peter Nelson, system corporation structures; Dennis Shaker, telephone operators; and mechanics are: Sean, and Patrick Feacock, at Burt's Car Wash.

Movie Battles: The Drugs War

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) - The state Department of Mental Health is trying a new approach to turn youth on to the problems of drug use.

Who's Who in '71

- Most Likely to Succeed: Cheryl Cohen, Carl Oster; Most Likely to Make It: Dale Warkentin, Dale Ramon; Done the Most for MHS: Tom Pantalo, Toby Welch; Most Changed Since Sophomore Year: Steve Warkentin; Best Scholar: Carl Oster; Friendliest: Mike Kelly, Tom Pantalo; Without: Mike Kelly, Bob Carter; Most Athletic: Jim Shalomon, Jim Duffy; The Office Residence Award: Steve Farnell, Walt Perrett; The Booz Vasanth Memorial Parking Award: Dale Ramon, Ron Zaverella; Highest Spirit Award: Jaro Ordik, Jack Holik.

Quadrangle Party

From many sides till dusk, several hundreds crowded into the quadrangle Tuesday to enjoy the quadrangle party. Five hundred pieces of pizza and graders were dished in less than an hour as the voracious appetite of MHS became obvious.

World Almanac Facts

The House of Burgesses was the first representative legislature in the New World, and became a model for other colonial governments. The world almanac facts recall that the assembly was elected by popular vote in Jamestown, Va., in 1619.

Enemy Destroys Three Key Teams Led by Americans

SAIGON (AP)—Three intelligence gathering teams led by Americans have been wiped out behind enemy lines in South Vietnam and Laos, field informants reported today.
The informants told Associated Press correspondents that the teams were operating across the Laos border and the third were observing North Vietnamese movements and training equipment on a mountain outpost one mile north of the abandoned combat base at Ede Sane.
There were no details of what happened to the two teams in Laos nor how many Americans were killed. But Putzel learned that two Americans and 28 to 30 Montagnard hill tribesmen were killed June 8 at the outpost in Laos.
The informants told Putzel that the teams were destroyed two days before the mountain-top was overrun.
They said a Huey helicopter of the U.S. 101st Division was shot down when it tried to lift out some of Hickory's defenses, and that helicopter gunships conducted a four-day reconnaissance operation before abandoning hope for the four-man crew.
There was no official confirmation of the field reports because the U.S. Command does not comment on intelligence gathering activities.
Putzel identified the victims as command and control north of the Central Intelligence Agency and Green Berets of the 8th Special Forces Group and now fall under the direct control of the U.S. Command.
Team members are either Montagnards or Vietnamese led by one or two Americans.
All wear North Vietnamese uniforms and carry North Vietnamese weapons. The Americans sometimes dye their skin and wear eye putty to look like Orientals.
Putzel also reported heavy bombing and gunship raids on the area around abandoned Fire Base Fuller, 15 miles north of the Ede Sane and four miles below the demilitarized zone. Fuller was the westernmost South Vietnamese fire base in Quang Tri Province before it was overrun by enemy forces Wednesday night.
Ground fighting in that area subsided today, but North Vietnamese identified the victims.

Israelis Fire On Arab Jets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Israelis anti-aircraft guns opened fire today on two Egyptian jets that flew over Israeli military positions on the Suez Canal, the military command in Tel Aviv reported.
The aircraft, Soviet-built Sukhoi 847 fighter-bombers, were shot at, spokeswoman said.
It was the sixth such incident since the cease-fire began last August and, as in the past, Israel lodged a complaint with the U.N. Truce Supervision Organization charging a violation of the standstill.
On the political front, King Faisal of Saudi Arabia and President Anwar Sadat of Egypt said no peace can prevail in the Middle East unless all war-conquered Arab regions, including Jerusalem, are returned from Israeli occupation.
The two rulers said in a joint communique the restoration of the rights of the Palestinian people is also a prerequisite for peace.

Debate on Pentagon Papers Set to Begin in Top Court

Firefighters hurry to keep Bush Hill Rd. fire from destroying entire dwelling. (Herald photo by Ofiana)

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Supreme Court hears arguments today on the government's claim that the national security is threatened by publication of classified Pentagon documents by the New York Times and the Washington Post.
As the court extended temporary publication bans Friday on the documents, a federal probe of how they were leaked resulted in a warrant for the arrest of the former Times and State Department analyst Daniel Ellsberg.
Ellsberg had been identified by a former Times reporter as the person who gave that newspaper the secret study of U.S. involvement in the Indochina war, portions of which were published by six other news organizations after a Times series on the documents was published in a great court order.
The high court agreed to hear the case in a 5 to 4 vote in which the dissenting justices favored allowing both newspapers to print the documents without a hearing. Both papers were allowed to publish parts of the study today but decided not to do so until the court ruled.
However, the Los Angeles Times continued today a series on the Pentagon papers it began Thursday and The St. Louis Post-Dispatch on Friday became the most recent paper to report on the secret study.
The government's week-old forecast that publication of the study would damage U.S. public relations with friendly powers appeared Friday to have been strictly limited, with only Britain expressing official concern. Other governments were reportedly disturbed but not to the point of formal protest.
Debate over publication of the study in this country now, with

Drug Picture Made Clear For Senators

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. Harold D. Hughes, D-Iowa, and three of his colleagues, who were charged out of a heroin narcotics shooting gallery, are the possessors of five electronic tracking devices never obtained despite efforts of the FBI.
Hughes got a graphic introduction to the operation of the heroin drug situation Friday when he was threatened by an addict whom he had interrupted while apparently in the act of "hooking up."
The incident occurred when Hughes led a procession of senators, aides and newsmen into a tenement cellar where half a dozen addicts were in various stages of preparing heroin doses.
When a television crew turned a bright light on the surprised addict, one shouted at Hughes, "Get the hell out of here. I'm gonna break this knife up your..."
Although nobody actually saw a knife, Hughes said the addict had a hairy retreat.
"I knew I was in a dangerous situation," Hughes said after emerging from the basement.
Hughes, chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on Alcoholism and Narcotics, spent the day studying the drug problem in New York. He was accompanied by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, of New York.

Mine Blast Potential Undetected

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A spokesman for the builder of a giant tunnel in which a natural gas explosion trapped 20 workers says sophisticated electronic sensing devices never detected a potentially dangerous situation.
Only one worker survived the explosion and the tunnel roared through the Metropolitan Water District tunnel Thursday.
The tunnel, under construction, is 200 feet underground runs 6.5 miles through an area of earthquake faults and petroleum fields 25 miles northwest of Los Angeles.
A spokesman for Lockheed Subcontracting and Construction Co., builder of the tunnel to help transport water from Northern California to Southern California, said Friday continuous use of sensing equipment did not indicate unsafe conditions before the blast occurred.
He said the state set a maximum allowable level in the tunnel of 2 percent methane gas in the tunnel.
The explosion exploded and injured four workers a day earlier.
"I locked arbitrarily set its own maximum limit at one percent to provide a 100 per cent margin of safety," he said.
"Work was stopped a number of times during the shift when the blast occurred when the level approached one per cent, but

Space Confab Concluded By U.S., Soviets

By PAUL REGER
AP Aerospace Writer
"SPACE CENTER," Houston (AP)—U.S. and Soviet experts have completed a series of conferences which see the start of the first serious study of the possible joint American-Russian space flight.
The 19 Soviet experts met with a group of U.S. space officials for five days of discussion on a common docking system. They announced that a serious study of the possibility of American and Russian linking up in space.
In a joint statement Friday, they said a study on how to link a common docking system "would be based on the premise that the first such experiment might be the docking of an Apollo space craft with a manned orbital scientific station of the Soviet type."
They added: "A subsequent experiment might be docking of a manned spacecraft of the Soviet type with an orbital scientific station of the Apollo command ship now used in the U.S. moon program and the Skylab science station scheduled for launch in 1972. Skylab is a Soviet space

Owner Found Dead in Driveway As Fire Destroys Garage, Shed

By GENE DUSEAU
(Herald Reporter)
Edward Sacawa, 66, was found dead in the driveway at his 24 Bush Hill Rd. home this morning, a bullet wound in his head and a 36 caliber handgun nearby.
The Sacawa garage and an attached shed formerly used for tobacco sorting were ablaze, and were destroyed despite efforts of firemen from Manchester and Gloucesterbury.
Police say fire officials this morning were unable to establish a connection between the death and the fire.
Sacawa was an unemployed machinist who reportedly last worked at New Trend Machine Products in Gloucesterbury. His wife, Anna, was in the kitchen of the two-story living quarters in the three-story shed preparing food. A nephew, Joseph, of East Hartford, was doing some plumbing work for his uncle in the cellar.
Mrs. Sacawa heard a shot and ran out to find the body. She said she saw a man running from the house and she did not see the body. While Mrs. Sacawa called the fire department, her nephew went outside and found his uncle's body.
Det. Lt. John Krnjak was among several policemen who were also on duty, said it was "extremely fortunate" the pond behind the garage and shed were completely emptied by flames when firemen arrived, said Deputy Fire Chief William Stratton of the Town Fire Department.
Both the garage and shed were completely engulfed by flames when firemen arrived, said Deputy Fire Chief William Stratton of the Town Fire Department.
When it received the call about 7:40, four trucks were sent from

Theft Via Computer Is Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Permanent Investigations Subcommittee has been told that not even computerized bookkeeping or light bank security can prevent multimillion-dollar thefts on Wall Street.
"After 30 years in this business, I'm absolutely sure there will be ways found to steal via computer. In fact, there may be losses of that type in existence today," John F. Beardsley, vice president of the Hartford Insurance Group, said Friday.
A banker, who reported recovery from a $1 million in negotiable securities stolen in 1969, said the same problem exists in financial institutions.
"A bold and determined thief will try to beat any system," said Henry J. Robb, executive vice president of Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York.
"If one who is intent on getting rich quick or who is subject to pressure unknown to us declines to take a Treasury securities package is required to be put in a lock or his I.D. card is always checked or because his briefcase is required to be packed are carefully inspected."
Replacement of stocks and bonds by an electronic bookkeeping system has been suggested to the committee as one way of reducing thefts. Robb said his bank still has no idea who took the securities.
The committee also heard from a doctor who was arrested in connection with $50 million in stolen securities, and from a doctor who was arrested in connection with $50 million in stolen securities, and from a doctor who was arrested in connection with $50 million in stolen securities.
The Times printed the New York article in its Friday edition. Both papers are owned by the Times Mirror Co.
The Los Angeles court took no immediate action to restrain The Times.
The only issue involved in this matter is protection of the common law copyright in the unpublished works of private persons," the book publisher, Rinehart, said.
The Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc., said it was a buyer of securities and other valuable stolen from registered mail shipments.

State Talks Signs of Compromise On Budget Seen by Bailey

HARTFORD (AP)—Leaders of the General Assembly, two weeks into a special session and rushing toward a July 1 deadline for agreeing on a budget, are in an attempt to fashion a state budget that Gov. Thomas J. Meskall will accept.
When Friday's starting session of a third round of negotiations broke up after 11 hours, there were signs of compromise but also indications of the stubborn disagreement that has blocked progress since the regular session ended June 9.
"I think a great deal of progress was made," Meskall would say on his demand that at least $7 million be paid off in the first year.
"The Democrats, who control the legislature, have agreed to pay up to $7 million in the next fiscal year, instead of their earlier offer of $27 million. There has been no sign that Meskall would ease up on his demand that at least $7 million be paid off in the first year.
