Shocks came swiftly to shatter these hopes. Eleven days after recognition, Chou En-lai said China would be ready "to negotiate" establishment of diplomatic relations. It emerged that Peking would not exchange ambassadors with London before Britain withdrew its last consulate from Nationalist China and before Britain began voting unreservedly for Peking's tenancy of China's seat in the United Nations.

Chou also demanded the return of all Chinese state property in British territory.

To Resurrect The United Nations ented and argued in a piece in the New York Times by Lincoln P. Bloomfield, professor of political science

"In a period of history dominated by angerous conflicts ranging from the division of Europe to the war in Southeast Asia," writes the professor, "the United Nations as a political-security in strument is morshind.

"The chief danger is not that the Inited Nations will die, but that it will settle into a condition of permanent in validism. With the important exceptions of the Middle East, the Congo and Cyprus, it has focused obsessively on a handful of racial and cotonial questions in southern Africa on which it has been sentially impotent. "It has comforted some Americans to elieve that the United Nations' decline was chiefly the fault of the Soviet Union At one time I believed this was so. But increasingly the United States, while giving lip-service to multilateralism, has itself acted unilaterally, often in disregard of majority opinions. This policy has been thoroughly bipartisan. While argung that the United Nations was unable to handle vital questions, we have given it fewer important things to do. The effect is to create a self-fulfilling proph What? Some irreverent characte ecy, helping to produce a United Nations increasingly incapable of dealing with anything very important." That is Professor Bloomfield's cogent ndictment, which states something these columns have frequently tried to express in different words and terms.

We find a similar sympathy with Professor Bloomfield's idea of possible remedy and cure.

He makes three suggestions, The first is that we turn over to the United Nations "a really major probem," like, for instance, the problem of the "future status of the Indo-China successor states" after the United States has pulled out.

Professor Bloomfield's second sugges ion is that, to end a situation in which everybody is willing to use the United Nations against somebody else, but unwilling to accept UN jurisdiction over its own interests, the United States organize a new coalition within the membership of the United Nations. This would be a "coalition of the law-abiding," and those nations who joined it would, by that act, give pledge of their willingness to accept, even in affairs where they themselves might be concerned, verdicts reached through the established procedures of the United Na-

Professor Bloomfield's third suggestion is that the United States pioneer by deciding unilaterally it will accept all judgments and recommendations of the United Nations General Assembly if such judgments and recommendations are voted by "a meaningful majority in terms of strength, population, power, and so forth." In other words, Professor Bloomfield proposes an informal way out of and round the dilemma posed by the fact that a numerical majority in the General Assembly, as of now, could represent only a small fraction of the world's power, population, terrain, or resource. The professor would have us do this in a "gamble that others would gradually come to see the common stimulus to the state's economy. cause in our action, and the promise it holds of actually moving away from words toward a working world order."

We believe it not unfair to Professor Bloomfield's position to say that he sees it as a tragedy that the United States, the prime founder of the United Nations, does not see fit to use it or honor it, and that the cure he proposes is to have the

THEY ALWAYS WHISTLE AT THE GIRLS I DATE

When the weather's warm and everything's coming up colorful, just about the most pleasant place to be is in your own back yard. Dining out in the open is one of summer's delights, and entertaining even a crowd can be a breeze. It's easy to play it cool in the sociable outdoors where family, friends, food and fun all come together naturally.

"compatibles") or offer a choice of quick-to-fix complementary sauces — one sweet-sour and fruity,

To be successful, patio party fare should be simple, good tasting, attractive and hearty (because fresh air heightens appetites). This is neither the time nor the place for elaborate dishes.

Highly appropriate and meeting all these requirements are the flavorful menu companions - ham, potato salad and iced tea. These favorite foods take beautifully to a variety of festive garnishes. The menu has another important asset - it's easy to prepare. The shaped, boneless smoked ham is fully cooked and can be sliced cold or heated on a rotisserie. Since there's no waste, every bite of this appressive roast provides delicious eating. If a whole ham exceeds your needs, broil one or more ham slices on the outdoor grill. Serve the ham with zesty prepared yellow mustard (tried and true flavor the other smooth and hot. The pretty potato salad mold can also be whipped up in minutes. It's made with instant mashed octato granules so there's no cooking, peeling and dicing. With instant tea or handy packages of pre-flavored, pre-sweetened iced tea mixes, a refreshing thirst-quencher is a snap to concoct.

These are the basic components of an appealing and appetizing alfresco menu. Add a tossed green or fresh fruit salad, sliced cucumbers and a favorite ice cream dessert and it's a party meal that will be greeted with enthusiasm and eaten with appreciation.

Smoked Ham - Rotisserie-Style

7 to 10-pound boneless, smoked "fully-cooked" ham Insert rotisserie rod lengthwise through center of ham. Balance ham and tighten spit forks. Insert thermometer, angling it so bulb is centered in thickest part of ham. Place on rotisserie and cook at low to moderate temperature to 140 °F. Allow 15 to 18 minutes per pound; 2-1/2 to 3 hours.

Tips for Rotisserie Roasts

- · Insert rod, lengthwise, through center of roast.
- . Test for balance by rotating in palm of hands. · Fasten meat to rod securely with spit forks.
- · Insert roast meat thermometer at slight angle so bulb is centered in thickest part of roast but not resting in fat or on rotisserie rod.
- · Thermometer must clear cooking unit and drip pan while meat is turning.
- Use low to moderate temperatures for best results. · Remove rod and let roast set for 15 to 20 minutes for easy carving.

Creamy Potato Salad Ring

3 cups water 1 tablespoon prepared 1/4 cup instant minced onion mustard 2 cups thinly sliced celery 2 teaspoons salt 1/2 teaspoon black pepper 1/2 cup diced green pepper 2 envelopes (5 servings each) 1/4 cup drained pickle relish French's instant mashed 1/4 cup chopped pimiento potato granules 4 hard-cooked eggs, cut

1 cup mayonnaise Bring water, onion, salt and pepper to a boil. Remove from heat and add instant potato, whipping briskly. Chill. Blend in mayonnaise and mustard; stir in remaining ingredients until evenly distributed. Pack in 1-1/2-quart greased ring mold or other mold. Chill. Turn out on lettuce leaves. 8 to 10 servings.

Grilled Ham Slices

2 to 3 smoked ham slices, cut 3/4 to 1 inch thick Place ham slices on grill. Broil at low to moderate temperature, turning occasionally, for 20 to 25 minutes, or until done. Serve with mustard or a sweet-sour sauce.

Mustard Horseradish Whip

2 to 3 tablespoons prepared 1 cup heavy cream horseradish 3 tablespoons French's prepared yellow mustard Whip cream; blend in mustard and horseradish. Chill until ready to serve. Yield: 1-3/4 cups sauce.

Sweet-Sour Sauce

3 tablespoons French's 1 tablespoon butter prepared yellow mustard 1 teaspoon flour 1/3 cup light brown sugar, 1/3 cup cider vinegar firmly packed 1/4 cup drained, crushed 1 egg, beaten pineapple

Melt butter; blend in flour. Add sugar, egg, mustard and vinegar. Beat with rotary beater or wire whip until blended. Stir in pineapple. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Serve hot or cold with baked ham or broiled ham slices. Yield: 1-1/4 cups sauce.

Mini-Stocks Popular at Riverside Park
Another interesting type of automobile racing has caught on like wildfire in the North and that is the new division at Riverside Park, called the mini-stocks. Although they have been running down South consistently and intrequently up North, numerous tracks have added the mini's to their regular show.

Summer Basketball on the volkswagen coupe or Karmann Ghia lines. Remaining stock in appearance, work can be done on engines and suspension, with roll cages mandatory in all cars.
