Spy Planes Over Chin nes, manned or drones, over Commu-China, and, until President Nixon s completed his visit at least, we will depending upon the surveillance of our spy satellites for our basic information about what the Chinese are doing in the way of nuclear plants or installations, new planes and bases, troop maneuvers, and new industrial construc-

This is locking, beforehand, the door we did not lock, in our dealings with Russia, until the U-2 incident had broken up a proposed summit meeting between Eisenhower and Khrushchev. Eventually, we discontinued the U-2 flights over Russia. But, when the Russians shot down and thus established the existence of the first U-2, we behaved erratically. At first, President Eisenhower, following his own instincts, which were usually sound, admitted it was our plane, regretted that such spying was practiced be tween great nations, and seemed on the verge of turning the incident into a positive gain for the diplomacy of peace. Then, within a matter of hours, Eisennower yielded to more conventions pressures of more ordinary minds in his own administration and in Congress and was even asserting our right to continue with such missions, and denying Khrushchev any right to complain about them, and this swift change in Eisenhower's stand made the collapse of the proposed summit meeting with Khrushchev inev-

President Nixon doesn't want to run any risk of having the Chinese shoot down one of our planes and demanding an apology just before his visit is scheduled to begin, so he is taking the gamble that a possible imperfection in our aerial surveillance of mainland Asia is something worth risking in his quest for a world of enough understanding and responsible diplomacy to make such mutual spying dwindle in importance.

We can all, of course, picture Mr. Buckley and those other conservatives who are regretfully washing their hands of Mr. Nixon, as they read this latest

Their idea of a proper preface to a visit to Peking would be a sample explosion, after, of course, humane advance warning, of a hydrogen bomb on the outskirts of the Forbidden City.

That, at least, is our guess. Their own stated reasons for deserting President Nixon, as they themselves gave them the other day, included not only displeasure with his overtures to Communist China, but a rebuke for not having chased the Soviet fleet out of the Mediterranean, for not having spanked Chancellor Brandt for his efforts to achieve "rapproachement" between West Germany and Eastern Europe, and for the "deteriorated military position" in which they find the United States at the moment.

The arch-conservatives who voted for Nixon are feeling just as much disenfranchised, today, as were those Americans who voted for Lyndon Johnson in 1964 for the precise reason that he was not going to bomb North Vietnam.

Anyway, President Nixon has called off our spy planes over Chika. Conceivably, since we will still get reports from our spy satellites, and since the Nationalist Chinese on Formosa will still be sending over the spy planes we have furnished them, no one will miss our spy planes very much, except, possibly, the Chinese Communists, who have made some 500 complaints about them in the past, and, of course, the Buckleyites who would never stop doing anything that annoys Communists.

Love That Lockheed

It is surprising how much we are all inding out about ourselves in the case of the Lockheed loan.

We can remember when, just a few days ago, the automatic Connecticut reaction to the proposal for a government guarantee of a rescue loan for the West Coast aircraft manufacturer was based on the idea that Lockheed was a rival to a Connecticut aircraft giant, and that bad news for such a rival was likely to be good news for the Connecticut air. craft industry.

On top of that competitive angle, there was the lively ideological question of whether the proposal to rescue Lockheed wasn't "socialism for the rich," and for possibly incompetent management, to

We now have on our desk as we write a statement from the Connecticut State Labor Council, AFL-CIO, urging the state's Congressional delegation to support a bill creating a new corporation to extend loans to prevent the failure of American' corporations which would lead to serious unemployment.

"Bankruptcy for Lockheed," said John Driscoll, president of the State Labor Council, "would have the same impact for Connecticut as the closing of 67 state firms each grossing a million dollars a

According to Driscoll, there are Lockheed subcontracts in Connecticut which total $66,753,000 in the estimate of the ational Association of Machinists Aerospace Workers, bargaining agent for Lockheed employes. But this figure may be considerably higher, Driscoll says, because the United Aircraft Corporation estimates that the subcontracts Lockheed has with UAC's Hamilton Division actually totaled $78 million instead of the $43,000,000 used in the union estimate. Still another Lockheed subcontract, for $15,996,000, is with Norden, another UAC division, in Norwalk.

So, it now appears, Connecticut has some prosperity interest in the positive side of Lockheed's future fortunes. Furthermore, all this erstwhile liberal attack on "socialism for the rich," or the rescue of possibly incompetent capitalisic management seems to have subsided into a gentle purring approval of any overnment expenditure which protects the honest working people by keeping solvent the corporate giants which can employ them.

So, as of now, we all love that Lock-

Sharing The Burden

When Africa was making its own culwas at least peace and order within individual tribe.

Now the Dark Continent grows more civilized. It loosens its tribal compacts in order to form itself into nations. It congregates itself out of the foliage into cities. It sustains itself not by barter, but by commerce in which coin and currency are used and come to have value in themselves.

The blurring of tribal sanctities, and the development of new values and goals leads on toward other symptoms of civilization -the streets that are unsafe at night, the muggings, the crimes of household robbery, even the bank holdup, now becoming almost as popular in Kenya as it is in Connecticut. Suddenly, crime has become a problem in Africa. Once again, the white man has shared his burden.

SPACE CENTER, Hous ton (AP)-Apollo 15 explorers David R. Scot and James B. Irwin stepped onto the moon at Had ley Base today and prepared to make man's first driving expedition on the lunar surface, a moon buggy ride to a deep canyon and an ancient mountain.

With a color television camera relaying remarkably clear pictures, Scott backed down a nine-rung ladder and planted his boot in the dusty soil at 9:30 a.m. EDT. Irwin followed seven minutes later.

"As I stand here in the wor ders of the unknown Hadley, sort of realized there's fundamental truth to nature, Mar must explore. This is exploration at its greatest," Scott said as he stepped on the surface, becoming the seventh man to do so.

Their first major task was to remove their moon car, Rover 1, from a compartment in the side of the lunar lander Falcon They had some difficulty doing this when part of the runabout, became hung up. But, using lanyards and cables they worked it free and lowered it to the surface.

Scott reported there was no voltage on one of the battery systems, which meant the cart would have no front wheel drive. But each wheel has an Senate Panel Individual motor, and the Rover can operate effectively on the two rear wheels.
