Lunar Pools Detected By Space Gear

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) - A Rice University scientist says water vapor has been detected in the moon's atmosphere by instruments left by Apollo as-Dr. John W. Freeman told a news conference Friday that the vapor may come from pools of water deep beneath the lunar sugafec and crupt in geysers which could supply water and energy for colonies on the A space agency official said the announcement was a "pos-sibly important new discovery about the moon." "I look at it as a very interesting observation about the moon which nobody had anticipated," said Dr. Paul Gast, chief of planetary and earth sciences at the Manned Spacecraft Center.

Freeman said the water vapor was detected by instruments left by the Apollo 12 and Apollo 14 astronauts. He said the instruments, called suprathermal ion detection experiments (SIDE), are able to sense and identify ionized gases in the near-vacuum of the

On March 7, 1971, Freeman said, the instrument reported three groups of readings which indicated the presence of water vapor clouds which quickly dissipated into space. The scientist said each reading came about two hours after a seismograph had detected a series of small quakes, which he said may have triggered a geyser. A long analysis of the date, Freeman said, has eliminated all but natural sources for the cloud of water vapor. Freeman's data goes against most current theories. Many geochemists have said that 1 nar rocks examined so far i dicate the moon has been dry They note that the presence of water changes the chemistry of rocks cooling from lava. However, Gast said the find ings are not mutually ex

Agostinelli Gets Award Tonight

State Comptroller Nathan Agostinelli of Manchester is one of three persons who will receive the Italian-American Gold Medal Award tonight, at a banquet at the Hartford Hilton Hotel. The other two recipients are Renato Ricciutti of Waterbury, former state labor commissioner; and Angelo Roncari of East Granby, businessman and builder.

About 500 people are expected to attend the awards banquet, sponsored by the Italian-American Home of Hartford and being held for the 13th consecutive

The awards are given to individuals of Italian origin who have distinguished themselves in service to the community and to the state.

New Bennet Field for Soccer and Football

This new Bennet combination soccer-football field at Main and Charter Oak Sts. was sodded this summer. The Board of Directors allocated a total of $10,000 for the project after originally setting aside $6,000 for seeding the field. School officials argued for sodding the field so it would be ready this fall. Play on the field began about a week ago. It was orginally estimated that the work would cost $12,000. It was done for $8,148 by B and P Turf Nursery Co. of Collinsville. (Herald photo by Buceivicius)

100th Laugh-In Show

On Nov. 1 "Rowan and Mar-Channel 24 in Hartford. tin's Laugh-In" will present its 100th colorcast on the NBC Television Network. What would the American scene be like if there had never been a "Laugh-In?" For one thing, American speech would be lacking such popular expressions as: "Sock it to me," "here comes de judge," "ver-r-ry interesting and "you bet your sweet bippy." And what about TV variety shows?

The fast-paced "Laugh-In" revolutionized the musical-variety program. Most of today's variety shows utilize some facet of the "Laugh-In" techniquesthe quick blackout, machine-gun firing of one-liners and sight gags, and abbreviated production numbers.

Can we ignore the ingenious use of the star as cameo guest? "Laugh-In" added a new dimension to TV comedy by consistently using notables performing out-of-character. This is perhaps best typified by President Nixon, who, as a presidential candidate, asked the classic question: "Sock it to

The trail of the big-name star as cameo guest was blazed by John Wayne when he became the first celebrity to do a cameo role on "Laugh-In." He will be on hand to celebrate the series' 100th show.

"Laugh-In" has made a significant contribution to the careers of relatively unknown performers, who captured the fancy of millions of television viewers as a result of their weekly exposure in the zany company of Dan Rowan and Dick Martin. The program earned 105 Emmy nominations and won 25. Would Goldie Hawn have been given the opportunity to win an

Goldie, perhaps the most fam-ous "Laugh-In" alumnus, left the series to pursue a motion picture career and won an Academy Award for her performance in "Cactus Flower." Also endearing to "Laugh-In" fans are such graduates as: Judy Carne, the "sock it to me girl;" Arte Johnson, the "ver-rinteresting" man of many characterizations; the bigvoiced Jo Anne Worley; poet-ical Henry Gibson; and the droll doll, Teresa Graves (now of NBC-TV's "The Funny Side)". All became famous because of their association with "Laugh-In."

"Civilisation" turns its attention to the Middle Ages when "Romance and Reality," third segment of the series, explores the ideas, people, places and things of the 13th Century, Sunday, at 7 p.m. on Connecticut Public Television, Kenneth Clark is host-narrator for the hour-long color program.

plify the age's great thrust toward ro-mance and the idealization of love, while Giotto, architect as well as painter and sculptor, is part of the thrust toward reality and the beginning of cities.

Clark terms St. Francis "perfect" in his worship of a divine being and the heavenly spirits, and Dante's poetry as expressing "above all a vision of heavenly radiance."

Giotto is "the supreme dramatist of life" belonging to "the new world of solid realities, the world created by the bankers and wool merchants for whom he worked."

"Civilisation" is a BBC production, presented for a second season of broad-cast by NET on PBS, the Public Broadcasting Service.

Music from Yale on Monday

On Monday evening Connecticut Public Television will present Music from Yale as its special of the week.

Produced by the university, Music from Yale will feature Aaron Copland in rehearsal with the Yale Collegium Musicum Orchestra. This segment of the program combines an interview with one of and a rehearsal of "Sonnet for Strings." Rounding out the program will be rehearsals and performances by outstand-ing music students at the Yale Summer School of Music and Art at Norfolk.

Leonore Overture No. 3 is featured, Also included are excerpts from Bloom's Requiem for Oboe and Strings, and Bela Bartok's Contrests.

FRIDAY

Maine Locale For Disney

A Boston widow and her family decide to make a new life in a little town in Maine after they discover they have been left penniless in "Summer Magic," a two-part musical comedy to be presented on NBC Tele-vision Network's "The Wonder-ful World of Disney." Part one will be colorcast Sunday.

When they get to Maine, Mrs. Carey (Dorothy McGuire) discovers that her teen-age daughter Nancy (Hayley Mills) has stretched the truth somewhat to get a local businessman, Osh Popham (Burl Ives), to rent them a house at a bargain price.

"Summer Magic," a 1963 feature film based on Kate Douglas Wiggin's novel, "Mother Carey's Chickens," was written by Sally Benson.

Margaret Markov is guest on segment of "Jimmy Stewart Show" Sunday.

The magic-spirit of Halloween again bewitches Charles M. Schulz's spunky little parcel of Peanuts on "It's the Great Pumpkin, Charlie Brown," animated special to be rebroadcast Oct. 28 on the CBS Television Network.

The witching time of autumn affects each Peanut personality in a different way. Charlie Brown just turns the other round cheek when he gets rocks in his trick-or-treat bag, Snoopy gets a bit moonstruck. Lucy gets motherly—yes, motherly. And Linus gets a lot of good grief as he takes up his annual vigil in Peanutland's "most sincere" pumpkin patch to await an appearance by the world's most elusive, sincerityloving jack-o-lantern.
