Astronauts Frolic On The Moon

Scientific Camp Set Up After Perfect Landing

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — In the valley of Taurus-Littrow, a gray gloomy wonder dotted with auto-sized boulders, two Americans rested on the moon today.

Astronauts Eugene A. Cernan and Harrison H. Schmitt slept late in their craft, Challenger. They were bone-tired from a near-perfect lunar landing and nearly seven hours setting up a sophisticated scientific camp and scouting the surrounding terrain.

Tonight, the 11th and 12th — and perhaps last — men to visit the moon in this century, will drive their electric-powered car, Rover, to a mountain side on the South Massif which spined rock debris across the valley in some ancient time.

There, they hope to find rocks created in the process by which the moon was formed and shaped, material dating perhaps to lunar beginnings 4.5 billion years ago.

Overhead, one aboard the command ship America, the Apollo 17, will observe the lunar surface. E. Evans, also rested. Tonight he will operate an array of science instruments and camera which study the moon from orbit.

In one of the most accurate measurements ever achieved, Cernan and Schmitt brought Challenger to rest only 300 feet from their aiming point.

A few hours later, Cernan, then Schmitt, climbed down a ladder to start the first of three lunar surface excursions.

Cernan and Schmitt will stay on the moon until Thursday, when they will return to the upper stage of Challenger to rejoin Evans.

They will make a third surface excursion on Wednesday, Dec. 15, and then return to the Apollo 17 to begin their 11th and 12th lunar day on the moon.

Peace Talk Tempo Quickens

PARIS (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger and North Vietnam's Le Duc Tho opened the 14th meeting of their secret peace talks today in a villa in suburban Gif sur Yvette where they acted as hosts.

Kissinger earlier unexpectedly dropped in on a subcommittee of the top negotiators' deputies discussing details of a preliminary agreement. Tho was not present.

At the end of the subcommittee meeting, Kissinger and the other participants drove the 12 miles to Gif sur Yvette.

It was the first time in four years of secret negotiations that Kissinger and Tho set up a subcommittee to discuss details of a possible accord immediately before a plenary meeting. The quickened pace suggested that the talks were approaching a climax, but both sides maintained their bank of secrecy.

Truman's Night 'Unstable'

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Harry S. Truman's reputation, pulse and temperature were unstable overnight, the former president's doctors reported today.

A spokesman at Research Hospital and Medical Center said Truman's blood pressure, pulse and temperature were unstable during the night. Respiration, pulse and temperature in the past few days had been stable.

Before coming to Manchester, Chesterton was supervising principal and teacher of mathematics, science, and social studies at the Rosier-Haffey School in Machias from 1966 to 1971.

MHS Graduation Standards Increased By Board

Under the second, a student who completes graduation requirements at the end of the junior year will receive his diploma upon completion of a normal load with a C or better grade in each course of his freshman year in college.

A number of high school students were present at the meeting. The discussion was rather lengthy, but calm, among high school teaching and administrative personnel, student representatives on the board, and board members. All of it dealt with the pros and cons of the first proposal. Dr. Kennedy was originally scheduled to present his recommendation at the Nov. 27 meeting but requested that action be clarified at that time, pending clarification of some points that had been raised in reply to a letter from Arthur Glaeser, Manchester Education Association president.

Mrs. Eleanor Collman, educational policies committee co-chairman, reviewed that meeting and then spoke in favor of board adoption of the new graduation requirements proposal.

Sheinwold on Bridge

EXPERTS SEE WAY TO DEFEAT EXPERTS BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD
When today's hand was played as part of a match between four professional athletes and the Dallas Aces, bridge team champions of the world in 1970 and 1971, the athletes were allowed to inspect each other's cards for 15 seconds before the bidding and again for five seconds before the play (if they were defenders). The results were often more hilarious than instructive, as today's hand demonstrates.

Opening lead - King of Clubs
Tim McCarver, star catcher of the St. Louis Cardinals, had seen his partner's cards and therefore saw no reason to bid less than six spades at his first turn.

West opened the king of clubs to dummy's ace, and McCarver wasted no time in leading dummy's king of spades and then continuing with a spade for a finesse with the jack. West won with the queen of spades, but McCarver easily had the rest.

We expected fireworks at the other table of the match because Los Angeles expert Eddie Kantar had constructed the hand in such a way as to trap the experts.

At the other table of the match, the Aces were going to hold the North-South cards. They would bid six spades, Kantar expected, but declarer would take the ace of clubs and would then lead a spade back to the ace and a low spade to the ace.

toward dummy for a safety play
Unsafe Safety Play
When West plays low on the second round of spades, declarer should finesse with dummy's nine to guard against Q-10-x-x in the West hand. If the finesse happens to lose to the ten (as it would in this case), only one trump remains out; and declarer can later draw that trump with dummy's king.

In this case, however, the athlete who held the East cards would know that his partner was void of hearts. After winning the safety finesse with the ten of spades West would return a heart to defeat the slam.
The fiendish trap didn't work since at the second table the Aces failed to bid the slam. The athletes won the six-hand match much to the amusement of all who watched or participated - including the very sporting Dallas Aces.

Musician Recalls Television Entry

By VICTOR STANTON
TORONTO (AP) - Gordon Robinson found his "niche in the world of music" 20 years ago.
It came about while the Toronto-born musician was watching the 1952 New Year's Day Rose Bowl game on television at his Los Angeles home.

"I'll never forget it," Robinson said.
"The phone rings and it's a friend of mine calling to say he had played a dance the previous night and met a man who was looking for an arranger for a piano player who was going to start a television show."

"He told me the piano player's name and I didn't even know him."
"A couple days later we met and framed and built that first television show."
"He was given four shows to make it in Los Angeles without a sponsor. After the second show, the biggest bank chain in Los Angeles bought it and I sat on the sidelines and watched this thing develop over the years from absolutely nothing to a storybook showbiz story and I've been part of it ever since and it's been marvelous."

As well as arranging music for the orchestra that plays behind Liberace, Robinson has conducted the orchestra for all of the pianist's television and personal appearance shows for the last two decades.

Words An Author Hates

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) - Remarks an author gets tired of hearing:
"Why don't you write a cook book?"
"Why don't you write a novel about astrology, Willoughby? Nobody can write a book on astrology that won't make a profit."
"He went to the book store for an autographing session, and all the people who had bought his book showed up and demanded their money back."
"Whoever gave Willoughby a typewriter didn't do literature, much of a favor, did he?"
"Why don't you write a book on ecology? Ecology's big right now."
"I wish my wife were here to meet you. She's the one in the family who's gaga over literary lingo."
"Willoughby, this one really would have knocked them dead 20 years ago when the Saturday Evening Post was going strong. What do you plan to do with it now - bury it?"
"I told you before you started the book I didn't like the idea in the first place. Now that you've written the book, I don't like the idea in the second place."
"Hack writers are a dime a dozen, but when they're as bad as Willoughby they're a dime a baker's dozen."
"We'll be glad to send you your royalties, Willoughby, as soon as they amount to more than the postage it would take to mail the letter."
"Why don't you write a book on Abraham Lincoln and the women's liberation movement, Willoughby? No one else has."
"Why don't you spend your winters on the French Riviera like most successful writers do?"
"I'm afraid you'll have to go back to driving a cab for the Christmas season. Willoughby, or else Santa Claus won't come to our house this year."
"Willoughby can be something of a nuisance if we send back one of his novels the same day he submits it. Keep it a week and spill some coffee on the manuscript. Then he'll at least think we read it."
"If that guy is a literary lion, then I must have forgotten what a mouse looks like."
"No, I didn't invite

A Bit of Comfort In Our Inflation

Although it has been kept down to about 3 per cent over the past 12 months, the dismal fact remains that the cost of living index (CPI) has soared by 28 per cent since 1967, and only the most unregenerate optimist expects anything but continued inflation.

The situation, fortunately, is not necessarily as dismal as the figures. The reason, points out F. Lee Moore Jr. in Money magazine, is that the CPI, the government's basic "market basket" of certain goods and services, measures changes in prices but seldom takes into account changes in the quality of the goods and services to keep track of.

Consider one simple example, he says. Motor oil is up 70 per cent on the CPI since 1956. But because of technological advances in both oil and automobile engines, one quart of oil now goes up to three times as far as it did in the mid-1950s.

Most of today's cars require oil changes only every 4,000 to 6,000 miles, compared with the 1,000- to 2,000-mile intervals recommended 15 years ago. Thus the per-mile cost of oil is actually down by more than 40 per cent.

House paint prices, for another example, are 24 per cent higher than they were in 1964. But the usual purchase today is an acrylic latex paint that lasts 25 to 40 per cent longer than the typical oil-base paint of the early 1960s. It also covers better and is more convenient to use, since brushes or rollers can now be washed in water.

According to the CPI, sheets have gone up by 20 per cent since 1964. In fact, most buyers have switched to polyester-cotton combinations that cost about 50 per cent more than all-cotton sheets but last at least twice as long and require no ironing.

On the CPI, daily hospital service charges are about six times as much as they were in 1960. But in many cases, new antibiotics and vaccines have reduced or eliminated the need for hospitalization.

For instance, mastoiditis, a painful ear infection, was once dangerous and often required major surgery. In 1940, treatment cost about $338. Today it is under $35.

The moral, says Moore, is that consumers should avoid the easy but mistaken assumption that price rises always threaten living standards. They should take headlines about the rising consumer price index with a grain of salt—a commodity, incidentally, that still costs just about what it did in 1960.

Western Republicans Seek New Leadership

By Lee Roderick
WASHINGTON - The GOP National Committee viewed a golden opportunity to have both a Republican President and a Republican Congress.

His disillusionment with the way the party operated—or failed to operate—in the election was unmistakable.

"Some arm-around-the-shoulder help for some of our Congressional candidates certainly would have helped," said Washington State GOP Chairman Earl Davenport. His state gave 57 per cent of its votes to the Nixon-Agnew team, yet elected six Democratic Congressmen while only narrowly retaining the one Republican House seat from Washington. The GOP also lost control of the State House of Representatives.

Davenport continued: "In the Fourth District, for example, 22,000 fewer persons voted in the Congressional race than in the Presidential race. Vice President Agnew touched down in the state once and the President never did come here during the campaign. Had he done so, we might well have won in the Fourth District at least."

Wyoming's GOP National Committeeman, Bob Gosman, echoed Davenport's disappointment with GOP losses in his state, including the narrow loss by Bill Kidd to Democratic incumbent Congressman Teno Roncalico.

"Our party in the state wasn't helped a whole lot in the election," said Gosman. "However, I don't think it's feasible for the national committee to come to our state and do our job. In my opinion, the biggest problem is that we're in an era of 'personality politics' where the party means less and less to most people. This is why it's easy to vote for a Republican President on one hand and a Democratic Congressman on the other."

Trim White House Problems? No Way

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

When President Nixon talks now of trimming back his White House staff and giving his department heads greater voice and authority, it is not unfair to remind the country that he said the very same thing in 1968, before he took office. This is not said to question his sincerity either then or now.

But it is a simple fact that he did not bring it off when he assumed the office in 1969, and a good guess is that he will find it extremely difficult to do so this time, though his intent seems earnest enough. In the first instance, in late November of 1968, I wrote that what Mr. Nixon was promising would not work out, and the reasoning offered then strikes me as still applying.

What intervenes here are the hard facts of life—the steadily mounting difficulties attached to managing a huge government in an ever more populous country.

Scholars who might be called basically White House-watchers, and there are quite a few, generally note that the White House as an establishment has grown steadily in size, function and power since the days of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

In times of crisis, the call from the country is for action. As the one great representative of all the people, the president is looked to as the initiator, the innovator, and the man who can make the change.

From Roosevelt's time on, we have lived on an almost continuous diet of crisis. For him it was both domestic and foreign, with the Great Depression and World War II. Then it was that the White House made its great leap forward.

But the troubles and the tense days did not end when Roosevelt died and the big war ended. Since then we have had two more wars, innumerable economic recessions, flare-ups all over the globe, often at a time. So it ran through the presidencies of Harry Truman, Dwight Eisenhower (whose years are mistakenly remembered as "placid"),

Need Their Heads Examined

WASHINGTON - In the case of the parents of the United States vs. Hell City, I confess to dark place, alone. In any event, testimony revealed that both girls were hysterical when they reported the attacks and a physician said she found at least 10 sinistral bruises on the body of one of the coeds.

To get down to specifics, a 17-year-old black youth named Santonia C. Butler was acquitted the other day of charges that he raped a George Washington University coed and forced her and another coed to commit sodomy. After the verdict was read, the judge told the jury that a police officer had testified out of the jury's presence that Butler had "confessed to the charge," but that the confession was inadmissible because the police had not read Butler his full rights.

Just so that's the law, and, like it or not, we're stuck with it. But it was interesting, in a horrifying way, to read what one member of the all-black jury had to say about why Butler was acquitted.

According to Wendell L. Martin, the general feeling of the jury was that "not enough resistance was put up by the girls involved." The eight women on the jury, said Martin, were "women speaking as women," who felt the two white coeds could have used their teeth, fingernails and feet to resist "violence of this type."

Vernon Alternative Suggested To Double Sessions

A large group of parents attended the Board of Education meeting last night, asked questions about a plan to institute double sessions at the high school at an estimated cost of $119,500, and suggested that the four-day week be investigated before a decision is made.

At the Nov. 27 meeting of the board it was voted to accept, in principle, a plan to implement double sessions next year, to return the freshman class to the high school building, and open up the Sykes School now used for freshman as an annex to the Middle School.

This plan was discussed more fully last night and the board had just agreed to go along with it when Mrs. Turza Perry asked if it would be possible for the legislature in session to have a special law enacted which would allow a four-day week, with schools operating five days, as an interim solution to the town's space problem.

Dr. Raymond Ramsdell, superintendent of schools, said he had just received information, a short while before the meeting, that it may be possible to go to the four-day week, but it would then be necessary to extend the school year. He added that it would make amending the school year mandatory if the school year were extended into the summer months.

A report presented by Dr. Robert Linstone, assistant superintendent of schools, last night outlined plans for the double session program offering two plans, one for a five-period day and one for a six-period day.

For the six-period day, the juniors and seniors would start their first period at 7:30 a.m. and end their last period at 11:45 a.m. From 11:45 to 12:25 there would be an open period. For the freshmen and sophomores the afternoon session would start at 12:25 and end at 4:15.

The five-period day would start for the morning session, at 7:30 and end at 11:30 with the open period until 12:10. The second session would start at 12:15 and end at 4:15.

The board feels it would not be necessary to serve lunches but it would be necessary to bus all students due to the early morning hours and late afternoon hours. The board previously agreed that a six-period day would be the minimum number in order to maintain quality education in the system.

Rockville High School serves as a regional Vo-Ag School, but the institution of double sessions will have no effect on it. Most of the students attending Vo-Ag classes are tuition students from other towns.

These students, the board said, would bridge the two sessions and utilize the open period for luncheon and their school day would end at 2:30 p.m.

Business manager Charles Brisson has estimated that the extra cost for busing all students to the high school would run to about $38,000 under the present contract stipulations.

Board members expressed concern about allowing double periods for such classes as biology and chemistry for lab periods and were assured that a six-period day would allow for these. The six-period day would also allow students to take basic subject matter plus electives. Every student would be scheduled in five subjects plus physical education. All staff members would be present during the open period for pupil-teacher conferences, make-up tests, retesting, parent-teacher conferences, faculty meetings and such.

Head librarian, William Laying proposes to keep the library open from 7:10 a.m. to 9 p.m. in the afternoon and additional cost. The six-period day would also provide time for band and choir practice and the board's Chairman Joseph Powers conceded it would be possible to go on another year but such a program would compound problems at the Middle School. Another board member, John Kendall explained that many possibilities had been discussed, they said they do not anticipate any curtailment of any of the athletic programs. Present plans call for about 1,000 students to be in attendance at the morning session and about 1,200 in the afternoon session.

Throughout the discussion board members emphasized that double sessions are not being considered as a solution forever to the space problem, and while agreeing to meet again on Dec. 21 to further iron out disagreements, the board also agreed it will immediately institute proceedings to ask the townspeople to approve a plan for expansion of the high school. Two requests for expansion have been turned down at referendums.

If the high school does go to double sessions and the Sykes School becomes an arm of the Middle School then the board will have another problem, that of trying to please everyone concerning selection as to which students will attend double sessions. The board has proposed to house about 400 students in Grades 6, 7 and 8 at Sykes. This program, Dr. Linstone said, would reduce the population at the overcrowded Middle School and return nine sixth grade classes to the Middle School concept. These nine classes have been housed at one of the elementary schools for the past year.

Dr. Linstone offered two options for selecting students to attend Sykes building. One plan would have the school house a broad community population and this would be accomplished by a plan whereby the school district lines "fan out" from the building to reach the desired number of students. If the school is to be operated as a "neighborhood" area school, the 360-400 students in closest proximity to the school would be selected up to the capacity number.

Dr. Linstone explained that as much as possible, programs offered at the Middle School would be offered at Sykes, and a shuttle bus would be provided for activities that lend themselves to the facilities of each school. The course offerings would be the same at both schools; competitive athletic teams would still represent the entire Middle School, including Sykes House. He added that a telephone inter-communication system should be installed between schools to provide for cohesiveness in the program. This could be installed at an estimated cost of $750.

Lester Baum questioned why the board was considering double sessions... "I've been listening to you talk about double sessions for a couple of hours and I haven't heard anything good," he said. Baum asked if the board had considered other solutions and specifically if it had considered continuing for another year, without double sessions.

MPOA Says CRC Denies Voter Right to Decide Government

The executive board of the Manchester Property Owners Association has charged that the Manchester Charter Revision Commission, by voting to support the present council-manager form of government and by rejecting a proposed change to a strong mayor government, "has denied the voter the right to make the choice."

MPOA President Charles Pillard said that the association "has fought for several years to have a Charter Revision Commission created for the purpose of changing our form of government."

Noting that the CRC rejected a change by a 10 to 3 vote last month, Pillard said the association is proud of the stand taken by the three who were for placing the question before the public at a townwide referendum — State Comptroller Nathan Agostinelli, State Sen. David Odegar and John Sullivan.

"It proves that some honesty do understand the public," said Pillard. "We only wish there were more like them. Maybe that's why they are always winners."

Pillard expressed the hope that the Board of Directors, "who have it in their power, will consider the wishes of the public and put the question to referendum."

Pillard acknowledged as true a statement by CRC member John Shea that the request for a change in Manchester's government was based on wanting certain town officials removed from office and that the Board of Directors has that power.

"But what do you do," asked Pillard, "when the board refuses to listen to the public, and there is no provision for recall, to remove board members who do not represent the people as promised? What do you do then? The boards, both Republican and Democratic, have had problems with town administration, yet they do nothing about it."

Commenting on a statement by CRC member John Rotter, that the town has very efficient, good government, "and we don't need to change it," Pillard remarked, "Of course, Mr. Rotter was chairman of the Board of Education that ignored the vote of the people on the referendum for Project Concern, so naturally wouldn't worry about what the people want."

Pillard said his executive board had doubts "of the concern of party leaders for the good of Manchester," when his organization was asked to submit a name for a representative on the 15-member CRC, and, he says, when the name they submitted was rejected.

Another check for the same amount is expected in January and will give Manchester $474,882 for the calendar year, Jan. 1 to Dec. 31, 1972. It is about $200,000 less than the $677,125 originally estimated for Manchester. A change in the formulas used by the Treasury Department resulted in the decrease.

However, Manchester will receive about $100,000 more in each of the first two quarters of calendar year 1973. As a consequence, Manchester will wind up with about $493,000 in revenue-sharing funds, if its fiscal year, July 1, 1972 to June 30, 1973, is considered. The Treasury Department has indicated that future payments will be by fiscal year, and not by calendar year.

Ed and Lorraine Warren, nationally famous speakers on "presences" in old houses and buildings will be the guests of the Hebron Historical Society tomorrow evening at 8 in the Rham High School auditorium.

Originally, the society had scheduled this meeting for Brink Mill, but due to the great interest shown by society members in the Warrens, the meeting was moved to Rham and is open to the public.

Many residents in the area have heard the Warrens, who over the past 25 years have investigated haunted houses and their "presences."

They have acquired 300 case histories on hauntings in the New England area which they are now lecturing in colleges throughout the country.

Although both are professional artists, teachers and authors, their second common interest is in pursuing the restless backgrounds of these "presences."

In this connection, they will give and inspect the 200-year old home of Fred and Barbara Wythe on Burrows Hill Rd.

This action was taken by Mrs. Everett Graham of Rt. 85, Hebron, through the Hebron Board of Selectmen.

The board had planned to call the meeting itself but because of legal technicalities was unable to do so.

The new agreement reflects an increase in teachers' salaries in the vicinity of 5 per cent including increments with all increases retroactive to Sept. 1.

The Women's Fellowship of the United Congregational Church will meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday and each member is asked to bring a gift suitable for a patient in a convalescent home.

The program will feature a slide presentation by Charlotte Motyka on the Scandinavian countries. Scandinavian Christmas decorations will also be on display.

Members of the Hebron Art League will instead attend the art showing Sunday at the Daggett House, featuring James Foran of Andover.

Anyone interested in joining the league can contact any of the members or attend the showing Sunday at which the league officials will be present.

Second in Taxes

Although Scotland enjoys the highest mill rate, its rate of assessment is 50 per cent, thus bringing its actual tax dollars to less than those paid in Andover.

Andover still is property tax dollars paid. The town's second highest tax rate, according to a statement by Chapin, with an assessment of 65 per cent, and a mill rate of 84, pays the highest amount of tax dollars.

Tax Rate Stable

Andover has managed for the past few years at least to maintain the same tax rate and not increase the mill rate, as many towns have found it necessary to do.

In fact, the town has in the past three years amassed a surplus from some $200,000 three years ago, to well over $125,000 reported at the annual fall town meeting. If the same $25,000 figure were kept in an operating capital, the remaining surplus funds would amount to a decrease of 17 mills in the tax rate.

Current Budget

The current fiscal year seems to be operating well within the budget, also. The school's needs have been anticipated well and no drastic increases appear to be looming in the future.

The town overbudgeted on its expected payment to the regional high school and it is anticipated there will be a surplus here.

Town expenses are running at the same level as the past year, according to the town's First Selectman, Robert Post. Assuming that this does not prove to be an exceptionally difficult snow year, creating high expenses for road clearing, that portion of the budget for roads should prove adequate.

Bowling Prize Winners

Students at the Andover Elementary School who participated in the summer bowling program were recently awarded trophies.

The recipients included John Ledford, Douglas Barrill, Mike Sharp, Dana Weber, David Copps, Jim Hillman, Bobbie Hillman, Mona Hillman and Kathy Kaufman.

Art League

The regular monthly meeting of the Andover Art League has been canceled for this month.

Members of the league will instead attend the art showing Sunday at the Daggett House, featuring James Foran of Andover.

Anyone interested in joining the league can contact any of the members or attend the showing Sunday at which the league officials will be present.

Town Gets Rev-Share Check

A check for $237,431, as the first installment on federal revenue-sharing funds for Manchester, was received late yesterday afternoon in the town manager's office and was deposited in the bank by the town treasurer this morning.

Another check for the same amount is expected in January and will give Manchester $474,882 for the calendar year, Jan. 1 to Dec. 31, 1972. It is about $200,000 less than the $677,125 originally estimated for Manchester. A change in the

Ed and Lorraine Warren, nationally famous speakers on "presences" in old houses and buildings will be the guests of the Hebron Historical Society tomorrow evening at 8 in the Rham High School auditorium.

Originally, the society had scheduled this meeting for Brink Mill, but due to the great interest shown by society members in the Warrens, the meeting was moved to Rham and is open to the public.

Many residents in the area have heard the Warrens, who over the past 25 years have investigated haunted houses and their "presences."

They have acquired 300 case histories on hauntings in the New England area which they are now lecturing in colleges throughout the country.

Although both are professional artists, teachers and authors, their second common interest is in pursuing the restless backgrounds of these "presences."

In this connection, they will give and inspect the 200-year old home of Fred and Barbara Wythe on Burrows Hill Rd.

This action was taken by Mrs. Everett Graham of Rt. 85, Hebron, through the Hebron Board of Selectmen.

The board had planned to call the meeting itself but because of legal technicalities was unable to do so.

The new agreement reflects an increase in teachers' salaries in the vicinity of 5 per cent including increments with all increases retroactive to Sept. 1.

The Women's Fellowship of the United Congregational Church will meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday and each member is asked to bring a gift suitable for a patient in a convalescent home.

The program will feature a slide presentation by Charlotte Motyka on the Scandinavian countries. Scandinavian Christmas decorations will also be on display.

Members of the Hebron Art League will instead attend the art showing Sunday at the Daggett House, featuring James Foran of Andover.

Anyone interested in joining the league can contact any of the members or attend the showing Sunday at which the league officials will be present.

Second in Taxes

Although Scotland enjoys the highest mill rate, its rate of assessment is 50 per cent, thus bringing its actual tax dollars to less than those paid in Andover.

Andover still is property tax dollars paid. The town's second highest tax rate, according to a statement by Chapin, with an assessment of 65 per cent, and a mill rate of 84, pays the highest amount of tax dollars.

Tax Rate Stable

Andover has managed for the past few years at least to maintain the same tax rate and not increase the mill rate, as many towns have found it necessary to do.

In fact, the town has in the past three years amassed a surplus from some $200,000 three years ago, to well over $125,000 reported at the annual fall town meeting. If the same $25,000 figure were kept in an operating capital, the remaining surplus funds would amount to a decrease of 17 mills in the tax rate.

Current Budget

The current fiscal year seems to be operating well within the budget, also. The school's needs have been anticipated well and no drastic increases appear to be looming in the future.

The town overbudgeted on its expected payment to the regional high school and it is anticipated there will be a surplus here.

Town expenses are running at the same level as the past year, according to the town's First Selectman, Robert Post. Assuming that this does not prove to be an exceptionally difficult snow year, creating high expenses for road clearing, that portion of the budget for roads should prove adequate.

Bowling Prize Winners

Students at the Andover Elementary School who participated in the summer bowling program were recently awarded trophies.

The recipients included John Ledford, Douglas Barrill, Mike Sharp, Dana Weber, David Copps, Jim Hillman, Bobbie Hillman, Mona Hillman and Kathy Kaufman.

Art League

The regular monthly meeting of the Andover Art League has been canceled for this month.

Members of the league will instead attend the art showing Sunday at the Daggett House, featuring James Foran of Andover.

Anyone interested in joining the league can contact any of the members or attend the showing Sunday at which the league officials will be present.

UAC To Award 'Turkey' Gifts

"Turkey payments" totaling more than $5,000 will be distributed by United States Aircraft Corporation to its employees this holiday season.

The payments continue a tradition that dates to the founding year of Pratt & Whitney Aircraft.

Each of the original 26 employees was given a turkey after the first War aircraft engine had been assembled and prepared for its initial test run late on Christmas-Eve in 1925. The tradition is carried on today with the distribution of cash payments instead of holiday birds.

The payments, based on length of service, will go this month to employees of Pratt & Whitney Aircraft, Hamilton Standard, Sikorsky Aircraft, Norden, United Technology Center, United Aircraft Research Laboratories, United Aircraft International, Turbo Power & Marine Systems, Inc., and United Aircraft of West Virginia.

The program will feature a slide presentation by Charlotte Motyka on the Scandinavian countries. Scandinavian Christmas decorations will also be on display.

Russian Toys On Exhibit

A timely exhibit of hand-carved Russian toys, some of them animated, is currently being shown in a display case at Mary Cheney Library. It also includes hand-painted bowls, vases, and mugs.

The articles are on loan from the private collection of Pedro A. Cheney of 49 Brookside Lane, Vernon, and will remain on view at the entrance to the Junior Room through December.

Prominent among the animals are the Russian bear. Figures in the carvings move by pulling a string, rotating a ball, or pushing a pin. Some are carved in natural, fine-grained wood, and others are colorfully painted. A peasant woman and an egg can be opened. In turn, smaller carvings of children and eggs can be opened and each placed inside the next larger one.

Christmas Story Gets New Warmth In Book

By JOY STILLEY
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Marjorie Holmes doesn't claim to have created a new plot for her latest novel. The story is, in fact, nearly two thousand years old.

"My objective was to take the principals of the Christmas story off the holiday cards I have made them into stereotypes and turn them into human beings with whom today's people can relate," explains the author of "Two From Galilee."

"It's the greatest love story of all time — the love of two young people under those trying circumstances," she says of her tale of Mary and Joseph facing scandal, family conflict and an awesome responsibility as a result of Mary's pregnancy.

Admitting that such a book might have been considered sacrilegious up until a few years ago, she adds, "Now the world is ready for it."

"The petite Miss Holmes, whose numerous reviews include the words 'inspired' and 'brilliant,' 'I've Got To Talk To Somebody, God,' got the inspiration for 'Two From Galilee' privately enough on a Christmas Eve."

"I had gone to church with my teen-age daughter," she recalls, "and the fragrance of the hay in the manger suddenly gave me a great sense of the reality of the event. It hit me that it really happened, and that Mary was a girl, any older than my daughter sitting beside me that night."

"My wife, who is a woman responded to the idea," she continues. "Birth is a miracle, whether a child is born in a delivery room, a ghetto or a stable."

Miss Holmes began to study the history of the Jewish people and to absorb the political and social flavor of the times. She made a trip to Israel, "confirming and enlarging on my own understanding."

"I could smell the odors and hear the sounds and see the sights that people saw then," she says with a note of awe. "It was a moving experience to be in Galilee because I had been so intimately on a Christmas Eve."

Once the research was complete, she began to write. "I could smell the odors and hear the sounds and see the sights that people saw then," she says with a note of awe. "It was a moving experience to be in Galilee because I had been so intimately on a Christmas Eve."

When it comes to Christmas trees, our kids are perfectionists. To satisfy them a tree must be tall enough to touch the living room ceiling, a symmetrical enough to be beautiful from every side, and full enough to hold our collection of ornaments, the red and colored lights.

Frankly, I think that's too much to expect from any one tree. Especially when you consider that the tree was cut down six weeks ago in Canada and had to travel all the way to Manchester jammed in the back of a truck.

Last year our kids did so much shopping around I thought they'd never find the perfect tree. While my husband stayed home to get the strings of lights organized, I took the kids out to pick the tree. We stopped at a stand that must have had 600 trees on display. It was bitter cold and after about 10 minutes of tramping around I went back to the car and left the decision up to the kids. Finally they returned.

"We want to try another place," they begged. "You wouldn't believe these trees," continued Kate.

"They're all shiny and crooked!" explained John. "I rolled down the car window to be sure I was hearing correctly. 'Do you mean to say that with all these trees, not one of them suits you? What am I going to say to that poor salesman?'"

"Just one more place Ma," the kids pleaded.

"Oh, come on!" I cried impatiently. "But either you find a tree at the next place or I'm warning you I'll pick the tree and I like skinny crooked trees. They're challenging."

At the next stand they found the tree, and all four kids were satisfied (a miracle in itself). The boys put the tree in the back of the station wagon and the fragrance of balsam filled the car and surrounded us. By the time we drove into our yard I was humming Jingle Bells along with the car radio.

We found my husband in the living room wrestling with the lights.

"$9.61!" he cried. "They're all tangled up. If they'd been put away properly in the first place, I wouldn't be having this trouble!"

"Daddy," said Kate, who is an expert at pacifying her whines. "This tree is so gorgeous! It doesn't even need lights."

CSC Discuss Center, Plan Meeting

Mrs. Astrid Hanzlek, chairman of the State Commission on Human Resources, will be guest speaker at the Jan. 18 meeting of the Manchester Community Services Council, at noon at the Manchester Country Club.

The Rev. Ronald Fournier has also invited members of the legislature to discuss current social issues such as the proposed Department of Human Resources, the situation of the 18-year-old students and the problems in their face, now that the legal age has been lowered.

The council, since its inception early last summer, has made much progress in its efforts to improve communications and cooperation among its member agencies and organizations, to meet community needs more effectively.

At the November meeting, some 27 persons attending the luncheon at the country club, heard Mrs. Dorothy Allen, social services director of Enfield, cite the many complexities of developing a social services program in that town.

In her efforts to bring such a program about, Mrs. Allen literally waged a "one-woman" campaign. Mrs. Allen discussed the $750,000 Multi-Service Center, with some $500,000 from HUD Community Facilities Act. The center includes a swimming pool and other neighborhood recreational facilities.

Mrs. Allen has also instigated many other programs. Among these are a mini-bus transportation service and a feeding program for senior citizens; day care for children; sensitivity-training course for neighborhood workers.

The council members were especially interested in a juvenile review board, which is supervised by the chief of police in Enfield, but which is comprised of lay and professional people.

Dr. Archibald Stuart, receiving president, asked Mrs. Allen what were the qualifications for providing federal aid for such programs as she initiated in Enfield, and if she thought

Trumbull Catholic Schools Plan To Regionalize Next Fall

TRUMBULL (AP) — Four Roman Catholic elementary schools and one high school in Trumbull and neighboring Monroe plan to join forces to fortify themselves against the threat of closings.

The school regionalization plan best fall will unite St. Stephen's, St. Catherine and Most Precious Blood elementary schools and St. Joseph's high school in Trumbull and St. Stephen elementary school in Monroe.

The Bridgeport diocese's school division and the newly formed Trumbull Catholic Cooperative School Board drew up the plan during the past several months because of signs that dividing finances might force some of the schools to close.

The grouping of the schools under one administration is designed to permit further sharing of staff and materials among schools. It also will mean reorganization of teaching duties assigned to the School Sisters of Notre Dame in Trumbull and the Sisters of the Holy Family of Nazareth in Monroe.

A statement describing the expected effects of the change was read at Sunday morning Masses by pastors of the four parishes involved in the plan. It stated:

"We are no longer fearing the possibility that eventually the schools of the Trumbull-Monroe region would have to suffer their own individual demise as sisters left, funds diminished and insurmountable costs closed their doors."

Charles Probert, treasurer for the Democrats, funded an income of $892. The funds were from receipts of a town committee sponsored dance Sept. 23, amounting to $200 and a cocktail party Oct. 23 which brought in $774.

Most of the expenses reported went to materials for the two affairs, the largest single amount, $151, going to the Columbia Package Store for cocktail party beverages.

The Democrats allocated $75 to postage; $110 to the McGovern for President Committee in Washington, D.D.; $44 to Hillman for Congress; $22 for Citizens for Murphy and $22 for Wilson for Assembly.

The Democrats' total expenditures were $659, leaving a balance of $33.

GOP Donations on the Republicans' report, filed by the party treasurer, Mrs. Rita Cloutier, show $200 from William Brand of Rt. 87; $10 from Mable Cox of Chesbro Village Road; $125 from regulars and donations for a total of $338.

Republicans have donated $50 each to State Representative Dorothy Miller and Edna Gilman on the campaign for the telephone at campaign headquarters.

Only $8 was spent on postage and $69 was reported as reimbursement to Town Chairman Richard Dunn for the Edna Gilman campaign.

The Republicans reported receipts of $288 and expenditures of the same amount.

Andover Objections Voiced To Cluster Housing

ANNA FRISINA
Correspondent
Tel. 743-9347

Last night's public hearing on subdivision regulations in Andover drew approximately 60 persons, most of them concerned with the proposed new section of regulations called "Cluster Housing."

The hearing, which was conducted by the Planning and Zoning Commission, was a quiet one in most respects except for the obvious dislike to these portions of the regulations.

The proposed Cluster Housing section offered builders and developers an alternative to the cutting up land into one or two-acre lots, each with a structure, well and septic tank. The Cluster Housing provision would permit a higher density of homes to be built on a portion of the tract of land while still maintaining the same overall ratio of population density; that is, there would still be one home per every acre or two acres depending on the zone in that area.

Those persons objecting to the cluster housing proposal seemed to indicate that it would make it easier for developers to come in and build units in quantity. As the evening progressed, a great number of objectors began to discuss all the possibilities and some came to the conclusion that it might be a better mode of building.

Critics Discussed

The general feeling of the hearing after considerable discussion on the subject was that people were automatically resentful of the words "cluster housing," and that the concept itself was perhaps not so bad. Suggestions were made that the Planning and Zoning Commission establish more definitive criteria for this type of housing, so as not to give either commission members or the builder so much leeway.

It was generally agreed that with a cluster housing plan some general standards of height should be adopted; the people at the meeting spoke out vocally against high-rise construction of any kind for Andover.

Another guideline asked for at the hearing was that the commission pinpoint the location of such housing on the parcel of land. Here, people were concerned with building such units right next to a property line and felt they could be shielded through some sort of buffer zones.

"Low Density Town"

One of the points brought up a number of times in discussing cluster housing was that the people who came to Andover to live came seeking the "open spaces" and were not interested in living in proximity to each other.

This point was advanced as an argument against providing cluster housing units at all.

John Covi, who lives on Andover Lake, pointed out that there were some 200 families in the town, in a considerable proximity to one another, on 40 or 50 foot lots. These people also moved to Andover obviously seeking a different type of housing of a sort, he said.

Of the about 400 families in town, besides the 200 lake families, there are another 40 in the Pine Ridge Area, another 30 or 40 in the Hickory Hill area, perhaps another 30 families concentrated in the apartment section on Water Road, and approximately 60 families concentrated in the Center Rd. area of town.

Improvement Fund

The other point to come up for discussion was the establishment of an improvement fund where a developer has to place a certain amount of money into a fund for use by the town for future capital improvements.

Some residents questioned whether this was legal, and were assured that the point would again be checked. If it were not legal, it would not be included in the regulations.

Tighter Regulations

The attitude of the hearing in general was that the town did not wish to permit widespread building and development.

Chairman Mrs. Anna Frisina said that while the commission, in rewriting the regulations, tried to standardize, simplify the living area procedures, and clearly many items, the net result was a set of regulations that were considerably stricter for a developer and of con-

Government Tallying Miners Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government agents begin counting votes today in the court-ordered union election that pitted United Mine Workers President W.A. "Tony" Boyle against Miners for Democracy candidate Arnold Miller.

The Labor Department said it will take several days to count the ballots from nearly 300,000 working and retired coal miners in 25 states. The ballots were cast Dec. 1-8 and the boxes sealed by federal agents before being shipped to the Labor Department.

Aides of the 70-year-old Boyle, whose 1968 opponent was murdered after that election, predicted he will win again in the election that U.S. District Court Judge William B. Bryant ordered after finding widespread voting violations in the contest three years ago.

The 48-year-old Miller, retired miner from Ohley, W.Va., who suffers the disabling black-lung disease, is the heir of the movement started by insurgent union official Joseph A. "Jack" Yablonski.

Several union officials have confessed or been indicted in the slayings of Yablonski, his wife and daughter. They were found shot to death in their Clarksville, Pa., home several weeks after the union declared Boyle the winner over Yablonski in the December 1969 election.

Boyle has repeatedly denied any knowledge of the slayings.

The only faint straw in the wind on how the election went was a union district election in Ohio, held at the same time as the election for national officers. Miners for Democracy candidates swept out most pro-Boyle incumbents in the District 6 voting.

"We expected to lose that district," said a spokesman for Boyle. He said the Boyle camp lost the Ohio district election by a 68 per cent margin, compared with 63 per cent in 1969.

Namath on Target All Night But Raiders Kill Jets' Hopes

Athletes in for Treat
Athletes at East Catholic High are in for a treat tonight when Rick Forzano, head football coach at the U.S. Naval Academy, appears in the role of guest speaker at the annual Fall Sports Awards' Night.

CLIFF DEMERS RICK FORZANO

Forzano made a host of friends here when he served as head grid mentor at the University of Connecticut for two seasons, 1964 and 1965. It was Forzano who guided the UConn's to their first and only win ever over a Yale football team, in his second year at the Storrs campus.

Forzano is one of the funniest speakers I've ever heard on the sports beat. He's a natural comedian, although he perhaps wasn't in the best of moods this season when Navy slipped under 1000 and then lost the finale to Army.

Rick's been at Annapolis since 1969 as head coach. During Wayne Hardin's regime at Navy, Forzano was an assistant for five years.

"The three most important things in Rick Forzano's life are God, his family, and the Naval Academy. His faith is strong, his love for his family great, and his addiction to the Academy secure." This is a paragraph about this man in the Navy press guide.

"Rick Forzano, more than any other man, helped shape my life," Cliff Demers said of tonight's speaker. Demers, director of athletics and football coach at East for the past six years, played under Forzano at UConn.

"I'll never forget some of the things that Rick taught me in college," Demers said. It should be a big night for the East athletes, and for the parents lucky enough to have reserved the night.

Penalties Occur Early
Have you ever noticed that most penalties in hockey games occur during the first period? There are fewer penalties, as a rule, in the second period and even less in the final... In an unprecedented move, Yonkers Raceway has announced that the night admission price to the clubhouse starting opening night, Jan. 3, will be reduced from $4.50 to $2.25. The reason is due to a drop of almost 10 per cent in paid attendance last year. Admission to the grandstand will remain at $2.25... David Pierce was a fullback with the Proctor Academy varsity football team this fall in Andover, N.H. The annual Southern New England Hockey League's All-Star game will be played Dec. 26 at the Hartford Arena in South Windsor... National Hockey League telecasts will start Friday night, Dec. 29 when the Boston Bruins meet the Minnesota North Stars on Channel 30. Marty Cavanaugh, at 74, the oldest runner in the 1972 Five Mile Road Race in Manchester, is a former truck driver who is now employed as a security guard at the Walworth, Mass., hospital... Competing in road races minus track shoes is old hat for Charlie Robbins. "I've been running barefooted for nearly 40 years. I started when I was in high school and I like it," the former national marathon champion said... Tonight's UConn-Umass Yankee Conference Basketball game will be telecast by Channel 3 starting at 8. Channel 3 will also carry the UConn games with Harvard (Dec. 22), Rhode Island (Jan. 20) and Boston University (March 3). George Ehrlich and Arnold Dean will handle the telecasting duties.

End of the Line
Just wondering if schoolboy basketball players point more towards a berth in the post-season tournaments than regular season championships? Orders for Gold Key Dinner tickets are now being accepted at The Herald's Sports Department. The dinner Jan. 29 at the Hartford Hilton will honor Tom Kelley, retired Manchester High coach and official, pro football star Floyd Little, and the Rev. Robert Keating, long-time sports figure and after-dinner speaker... Mark Harrington paced the Manchester Community College soccer team in scoring with 11 points on 10 goals and one assist. Bob Campbell netted six goals and three assists and Mike Halliday came up with three goals and six assists as the team won six of 12 start with one tie.

Courageous Award To Redlegs' Tolan
CINCINNATI (AP) — One of sports' most remarkable comebacks has earned the 1972 Hutch Award for Cincinnati Red's outfielder Bobby Tolan. The 27-year-old speedster overcame two 1971 operations for a torn Achilles' tendon to hit 293 and steal 42 bases for the National League pennant winners this season.

The award is named in honor of Fred Hutchinson, former major league pitcher and manager who died of cancer in November 1964. It goes to a player annually who best exemplifies Hutchinson's fighting spirit.

An organization of major-league broadcasters and sports writers makes the selection. Dayton, Ohio, Journal Herald Sports Editor Ritter Collett, secretary-treasurer of the organization, says Tolan was a runaway winner.

Next in line in the 1972 voting, in order, were Billy Williams of the Chicago Cubs, Gay Perry of the Cleveland Indians, Ron Santo of the Cubs and Carlos May of the Chicago White Sox.

"Tolan, who helped the Reds win the 1970 NL flag, missed the entire 1971 season with the ankle injuries that required surgery in January and May of 1971.

"Tolan's durability was a surprise to most baseball people even though Bobby predicted he would get his old job back after a winter of rigorous off-season exercises.

Stadium Plans
KANSAS CITY (AP) — A plan to build an all-purpose arena at the Union Station site was announced Monday and it drew immediate support from Edwin Thompson, principal owner of Kansas City's National Hockey League franchise.

Under the merger agreement, the NBA is forced to merge if Congress passes "reasonable and appropriate" legislation authorizing the merger," he said.

Carlson spoke on the first of a two-day meeting of ABA owners agreed on proposed merger legislation to be introduced when Congress convenes in January, Carlson said.

Carlson also predicted the bill would have the support of the players' associations of both leagues.

Perhaps the biggest part of the merger is the ABA's playing the key role in the Giants' old-man defense was his patience through the preseason games. Most of the opposing quarterbacks took to calling audibles (play changes) as soon as Jack anchored himself across the scrimmage line and the other Giant linemen and linebackers adjusted.

"Now we're using our old-man defense (Rover) of almost every play without audibles being called," Gregory points out. "Our system is working more smoothly in every game. And being a New Yorker has proved every bit as exciting as Jack expected it to be. He's going to miss it when he goes back to his cattle and the Oklahoma range during the off-seasons.

OAKLAND (AP) — Even in defeat, New York Jets' quarterback Joe Namath has a knack for upstaging other football players.

"Joe was on target all night," Jets' Coach Weeb Ewbank said Monday night after Namath passed for 403 yards in a 24-16 loss to the Oakland Raiders that killed the Jets' hopes of making the National Football League playoffs.

"He has these kind of games," admitted Raiders Coach John Madden, "but I feel our guy was pretty good too."

Oakland quarterback Daryle Lamonica, throwing a lot less than Namath, passed for 202 yards and two touchdowns in the nationally televised game.

Raiders fullback Marv Hubbard and Jets receiver Don Maynard were two other players whose feats were overshadowed by Namath's passing show.

Hubbard gained 118 yards to become the ninth NFL rusher to hit the 1,000-yard mark this season. The 35-year-old Maynard caught seven Namath passes for 131 yards and reached an all-time NFL high of 632 career receptions.

"Nothing takes the place of winning," Maynard said later.

The loss left the Jets at 7-6 and eliminated their chance of winning the American Conference's wild card playoff berth. The Raiders, as champions of the AFC West, are 9-3-1 and heading toward a playoff opener on the road against Pittsburgh, or possibly Cleveland, on Dec. 23.

The Raiders kept the Jets out of the end zone after Namath hit tight end Rich Caster on a touchdown pass play covering 49 yards in the first quarter. That score put the Jets ahead 7-3.

Two interceptions near the goal line helped the Raiders. "He had good success against our zone. Then we used a three-man rush and he had pretty good success against that, too," said Madden.

"Still, he didn't put it into the end zone a lot." Lamonica put the ball into the end zone on a perfect 39-yard scoring toss to Fred Biletnikoff as the Raiders took a 10-7 lead in the second quarter, and a pass to Ray Chester in the fourth quarter produced a 68-yard touchdown play and the final 24-16 margin.

The Oakland quarterback also called on Hubbard and other running backs for 169 yards. The Jets' touchdown pass to Chester was the biggest Oakland offensive blow of the night. It came right after Bobby Howfield's third field goal had cut Oakland's lead to 17-16.

Lamonica went to Chester, who was all alone behind the New York secondary, after faking a handoff to running back Charlie Smith on a third down and half-yard situation.

"It was nothing new," Ewbank said of the call. "We yelled to the club to be ready."

After Chester's touchdown, Namath moved his team downfield quickly, but free safety Jack Tatum intercepted a long pass in the end zone and returned the ball 56 yards to the Jets' 46, where he fumbled with a teammate being credited with the recovery.

"The official on the play called it for the Jets. The other guy 30 yards down the field called it for the Raiders," Ewbank said later.

As the Jets left the field, Ewbank yelled at the back of one of the striped shirts, "Did they give you the game ball?"

—UCLA Leads Associated Press College Basketball Poll.

Those headlines carry almost equal surprise value as the incredible, unbeaten, unretreated Bruins again are unanimously No. 1 today among major undergraduate roundballers.

Florida State and Maryland remained UCLA's distant 2-3 challengers while Marquette jumped one notch to fourth, exchanging places with Big Ten powerhouse Minnesota.

North Carolina State and Long Beach State remained sixth and seventh, respectively. Southwestern Louisiana rose from 10th to eighth, Pennsylvania stayed ninth and Oral Roberts moved up two places to No. 10.

UCLA was idle last week and Coach John Wooden's West Coast wonders have a 3-0 record along with Florida State, Maryland, Marquette and Minnesota.

Playoff Picture Clearer

NEW YORK (AP) — ... And then there were two. With the New York Jets out of the way, the National Football League playoff picture is a bit clearer — but not much.

The Jets, eliminated from American Conference "wild card" contention by their losing 24-16 to Oakland Monday night, have left the two remaining playoff berths to Pittsburgh and Cleveland — although New York can still have a hand in determining whether the Steelers or Browns win the Central Division title. Miami has clinched the East and Oakland owns the West. In the National Conference, only the West remains unclaimed, and regardless of which team wins that title, the playoff sites are set. The first round will be Dec. 23-24.

The Steelers, 10-3, having already locked up a playoff position but not a title, close every game we play makes us a better team."

In his four-years as a regular defensive end with the Cleveland Browns, the 27-year-old, 6-5, 250-pounder's best season during the opposing quarterback was 1967 with 17. He hit that number in his first 10 games this year while his teammates chipped in with 12 more for a team total of 29.

Gregory, although he played out his renewal option as a defensive player, never had a nickname in his four years of college ball at Chattanooga University and Delta State or in his five seasons with the Browns.

"I couldn't care less what the fans call me as long as I'm playing on a winning football team," Jack claims. "I knew I was going to like it here in New York with the Giants from my dealings with the manage-

The Whalers edged Hull's team 43 Monday night. Mike Hyndman and Kevin Ahearn scored third period goals within three minutes of each other to snap a 2-2 deadlock.

It was the Whalers' sixth consecutive triumph and extended their Eastern Division lead to four points over idle Cleveland. It was also New England's 14th straight win on home ice.

In the night's only other WHA contest, the New York Raiders beat the Chicago Cougars 8-3. There were no National Hockey League games.

"They (the Whalers) were really skating in the third period and that told a big part of the game," Hull said. "If we had a little bit more staying power in the third period, things might have been different."

"The Whalers have a good experienced defense, I'd say more experienced than any other team in the league. That's where I'd start building a hockey team."

Winnipeg's goals were scored by Mill Black in the second period and Norm Beaudin and Chris Boredeau in the third period. The other Whalers' tallies were by Tom Webster and Jim Dorey.

New York's Ron Ward, pro hockey's leading marksman, snapped a 3-3 tie late in the second period with his 27th goal of the season as the Raiders trimmed Chicago.

New York then salted it away on third-period goals by Wayne Rivers—his second of the game—Craig Reichmuth, Hal Willis and Bob Jones.

Norm Ferguson and Mike Laughton also scored for the Raiders while Bob Whittick, Butch Barber and Reg Fleming tallied for Chicago.

"We were pretty bad," said Chicago Coach Marcel Pronovost, "and our main problem was we showed up."

Under the merger agreement, the NBA is forced to merge if Congress passes "reasonable and appropriate" legislation authorizing the merger," he said.

Carlson spoke on the first of a two-day meeting of ABA owners agreed on proposed merger legislation to be introduced when Congress convenes in January, Carlson said.

Bench on Mend After Surgery

CINCINNATI (AP) — Surgery performed on Cincinnati Reds' catcher Johnny Bench should result in "no impairment at all in his ability," the team's physician says.

Dr. George Ballou, speaking after the operation at Christ Hospital Monday, said Bench should be ready to play by the Reds' 1973 opening game.

Bench, the National League's Most Valuable Player in 1970 and 1972, underwent surgery for removal of a spot on one lung.

"Examination of the lesion revealed no existence of a malignant tumor," Ballou said. "Tests are being run to this to determine the cause."

All of these things, barring complications, would indicate a quick and complete recovery."

Bench was recovering today in the intensive care unit at the hospital. His condition was listed as good.

Ballou said Bench should be hospitalized for seven to 10 days, and should make complete recovery within about eight weeks.

Bench had been injected and figured he would be unconscious. But he wasn't.

"What'd you do, give me the wrong kind of juice?" he asked doctors.

Bench said it was necessary to remove "a small amount of lung tissue." But it added it was so small it couldn't be measured in percentages and wouldn't affect Bench's vital capacity in any way.

Bench's mother, Katie, said that before going into the operating room "he was nervous, but he wasn't going to let it show."

MCC Winds Up Loser In Incredible Contest

By Dean Yost

Incredible. Unheard of. Impossible. Well it happened last night at the Kaiser Gym in New Britain where Central Connecticut State College sub-varsity defeated Manchester Community College, 76-54. In the contest, MCC didn't attempt one foul shot. The new foul ruling can be credited to this court oddity.

"We played poorly on defense," noted Cougar coach Pat Mistretta. "We committed too many mistakes and fouls."

MCC entered play sporting a two-game winning streak which now stands at 2-1. CSC in three games is also 2-1. Manchester's scheduled contest with Middlesex C.C. has been postponed to a later date. They were to have played Wednesday in Middletown.

The strong, talented Central crew pulled away from the visitors at the 13:27 mark of the first period behind the potent shooting of C.C. McDonough. MCC led briefly in the early going, but turnovers were capitalized on by the Blue Devils.

At the end of the first 20 minutes of play, Central held a commanding 37-24 advantage with 19 first-half points by McDonough.

Manchester closed the gap to 45-38 midway through the final 20 minutes, but Central's Larry Butler took over the scoring duties from McDonough to help the hosts pull steadily away.

"I feel personally that we have to improve our defense, plus show a better offense in order to have a good season," Mistretta said. "We have great personnel, but we have to start working as a team in order to win."

Central playing a close defense, committed only eight personal fouls, three of which came in the first half. Manchester committed 16.

Butler was the game's top point-maker with 21 while McDonough added 19 and Skip Riccitelli netted 10 markers. As a team, Central hit on 10 of 16 foul attempts.

Manchester's Lamont Freeman and Stan Alexander tallied 12 points apiece while Ellie Grant tossed in 10 and 7 rebounds respectively.

Central (76) - Watkins 1-0-2, Garrity 3-1-7, Morse 1-2-4, Scheibel 3-0-6, Butler 9-3-21, Schmidt 0-0-0, Salnecki 1-1-3, Manchester (54) - Freeman 6-0-12, Cortese 1-0-2, Kelly 4-0-8, Alexander 6-0-12, Peoples 3-0-4, Guerin 0-0-0, Moore 2-0-4, Grant 5-0-10.

Manchester High's Coach Jim Moriarty Diagrams Play Tom Tucker (44) and Rich Habern as Doug Pearson Looks On

Indians Open Tonight Home Against Maloney

By Dean Yost

"We have a great attitude," commented Manchester High's varsity basketball coach Jim Moriarty, as his Indians went through their final workout before tonight's season opener with Maloney High at the Clark Arena at 8 o'clock.

The CCIL contest will be the debut for both clubs.

"We lack experience, but make it up in hustle," Moriarty continued. Rich Habern, a senior, is the only returnee from last year's 8-11 squad. Other players seeing limited varsity action were Karl Carlson, Tom Tucker and Connie McCurry.

Among the veterans, Habern tossed in a season total of 152 points in 19 games for an eight-point per game average. Tucker netted 63 season markers while Carlson, in seven outings, tossed in 49 and McCurry added on 11 markers.

"Our pre-season scrimmages didn't really tell us much because of injuries and sickness to some of our players," Moriarty added. "Against Prince Tech we looked good for awhile. Against Rockville we were down. With Ellington we played alright. South Windsor trounced us and against Glastonbury we showed some bright spots," he noted.

Before game time tonight Moriarty will have to make a decision but his tentative starting six include Habern and Tucker in the forward positions with Larry Perry holding down the center berth. Carlson will be assisted by either Phil Stoneman or McCurry in the backcourt. Other players include, John Peasey, Bill Davis, Joe Staniewicz, Jim Juras and Mike Maloney.

"We will be depending upon Habern Carlson and Tucker to do the bulk of our scoring. Perry is developing into a good shooter and with experience he should help us a lot in the scoring department," Moriarty continued.

Hockey Players Cleared

BUFFALO (AP) - Harold Fox and Dick Garrett of the Buffalo Braves were ready for action against the Houston Rockets tonight after being cleared of drug-related charges in a suburban court.

The two guards of the National Basketball Association team appeared in the Town of Amherst Court Monday night to face charges that developed from their arrest in Fox's apartment Sunday.

But Justice Sherwood M. Betsy, acting on a motion from the Erie County district attorney's office, dismissed the misdemeanor counts "for insufficient evidence and in the interest of justice."

Fox, 23, had been charged with maintaining a criminal nuisance, while Garrett, 25, was accused of torturing for the purpose of obtaining drugs.

Besides the two players, four other men were arrested at Fox's residence. Police claimed that two of the other men were in possession of marijuana at the time.

Bruins to Use Rookie Goalie

BOSTON (AP) - The Boston Bruins, within reach of first place in the National Hockey League's East Division, will use rookie John Adams in goal at Buffalo Wednesday.

"It will be Adams Wednesday, but I haven't gone further than that," Coach Tom Johnson said.

The Bruins at one point were 14 points off the pace but now they trail first place Montreal by two points with one game in hand. The current aim is to keep alive an unbeaten string of 12 games - 11 victories and one tie.

"We just kept chipping away at them and now we're up there," Johnson said.

Thursday night the Bruins will be back in Boston to play the New York Rangers, with whom they are in a second place tie in the NHL East.

Covens Ailing

BOSTON (AP) - The Boston Celtics had one major concern - Dave Cowens sprained right ankle - as the National Basketball Association headed west on a seven-game swing beginning in Phoenix Wednesday night.

Cowens injured the ankle in practice Monday but it was not considered a major sprain though it could slow his play.

Trailing Frank Chelant and prescribed whirlpool treatment for Cowens today before the Wednesday night.

MHS (Continued from page 1) The last two years, students have been consigned to take additional courses in anticipation of an increase in requirements for graduation. His statement was confirmed by Miss Anne Beecher, guidance director.

Emerging continued by pointing out that in an effort to facilitate earning more credits, the English department was established, the English curriculum revised, and semester credits instituted.

A canvass of Hartford area school systems revealed, he said, that they are also thinking and acting along the lines of upping graduation requirements. In addition, the proposal adopted by the board last night was a recommendation made in 1969 by the evaluation team of the New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

"I am appalled," H. Blaine Miller, MHS vice principal in charge of programming, said, "by some of the statements that I consider wild." He was referring to rumors that increasing required credits would result in 160 more classes and a 15 per cent increase to the high school faculty. "This is not true," he added. If true, Wilson E. Deakin Jr., assistant superintendent of schools, commented, it would mean quarter of a million dollar jump in the budget.

Colonial Road Residents Suggest Alternatives

Residents of the Colonial Rd. area, fighting a proposal to close a portion of Parker St. and to re-route its traffic via Colonial Rd., have come up with several alternative proposals.

Their spokesmen offered those proposals to the Board of Directors last night, at a 7 o'clock meeting, and asked that they be explored thoroughly before the board rules on the 10-year-old proposal to abandon Parker St. between Colonial Rd. and Mitchell Dr.

They received that assurance from Mayor John Thompson. The alternative proposals, presented by spokesmen Arthur Guinness and Eugene Cleary, were:

a) To petition the PUC (Public Utilities Commission) for a reversal of its ruling that the former railroad crossing be relocated from Parker St. to Colonial Rd., and for a reversal of its subsequent ruling that Lydall Inc. use the Parker St. crossing as the periphery of the Lydall buildings and to run on a line approximately half-way between where Parker St. meets Colonial Rd. on the west, and where it meets Colonial Rd. on the east.

b) To construct an alternate road around the periphery of Lydall Inc. buildings and to run on a line approximately half-way between where Parker St. meets Colonial Rd. on the west, and where it meets Colonial Rd. on the east.

c) To make improvements to Parker St. and Colonial Rd. by straightening the roads and eliminating curves, and to reconstruct the intersection of Parker St. with Sheldon Rd.

The original proposal for abandoning that portion of Parker St. which passes Lydall Inc. and for re-routing traffic through Colonial Rd. appears to have been made during a vague time in town history.

Even the list of participants has changed. In those 10 years, the town has had a new manager, Lydall & Foulds and Colonial Board, which were promised private use of the abandoned section of Parker St., have changed controlling ownership twice; the Board of Directors is entirely new; the Colonial Rd. area has grown from only a few homes to about 200; a new Industrial Park has opened off Colonial Rd. with its influx of new industry; and Sheldon Rd. (the Parker-Oakland Connector) was opened.

The problem the directors must decide is, as one Colonial Rd. resident expressed it last night, "The economic advantages versus human concerns."

Thompson, in assuring Colonial Rd. residents that their concerns will be considered in studies of traffic alternatives for the area, said no decision will be made until further meetings are held with all parties involved - Lydall Inc., Green Manor, and Colonial Rd. spokesmen.

Managers of the Lydall buildings, Lydall Inc., and Green Manor, Inc., said they would estimate the potential cost.

Zone Change Key To Sale Of Laurel Lake Land

By SOL R. COHEN (Herald Writer) If the owners of the 110-acre Laurel Lake remove one stumbling block from the option to purchase they've given the Town of Manchester, it appears they have themselves a deal. Wells C. Dennison and Robert C. Dennison have given the town a six-monthly option to acquire the acreage at a $450,000 price, with 29 per cent to be paid July 1, 1973 and the balance Jan. 1, 1974, and subject to state approval of the proposed sanitary landfill operation there and a change to Industrial Zone for the property.

The stumbling block, as far as the Manchester Board of Directors is concerned, is the change to Industrial Zone.

The Dennisons want to see the zone change granted BEFORE the town conducts a referendum on the proposed purchase. The directors are just as adamant that the zone change should be granted AFTER the referendum is conducted, and even then only if the referendum carries.

The board last month rejected a proposal for purchasing the acreage for $462,000, with payment in five yearly installments and also subject to state approval and to a zone change prior to purchase.

They instructed Town Manager Robert Weiss to negotiate a new contract and indicated that an purchase of the property would have to be by referendum.

Last night, by a unanimous 8 to 0 vote (Director William FitzGerald was not present), they approved "in principle" the re-negotiated option, provided the requirement for a referendum is removed from it.

They directed Weiss to resume talks with the Dennisons. (See Page Twenty)

Vernon Insurance Problem Resolved

A special meeting of town officials, held at the office of the State Insurance Commissioner, Tuesday, negated a notice sent by the Travelers Insurance Co. that the town's insurance coverage would be dropped as of this coming Monday.

The problem stems back several months when the town was sent a bill of $49,000, by Travelers, for a retro payment based on the number of claims upon the policy and funds for the unexpected bill were not available in the budget.

Nuisance Storm Slows Traffic

A light snow and freezing drizzle skidded into the Manchester area Tuesday afternoon, keeping town highway department crews busy sanding roads until about 11 p.m.

Manchester Police reported about a dozen minor accidents from noon to midnight. There were no serious injuries.

The Manchester Highway Department dispatched sanders at about 1:30 p.m. Most of the crews completed operations by 8 p.m., and the last crew went home shortly after 11 p.m.

Highway Superintendent John Baruch said there were no major problems involving roads with a sand-salt mixture. "Traffic moved fairly well," Baruch said, although it was moving slower than normal.

The nuisance storm started shortly before noon in Manchester with light snowfall. The snow let up later in the afternoon, and changed to freezing rain during the night much of the Manchester area was covered by a freezing drizzle.

The storm didn't cause any power outages in the Manchester area, according to the Hartford Electric Light Co. A Southern New England spokesman said the weather forecast calls for cold weather tonight, with only a 10 per cent chance of precipitation. Tomorrow is expected to be sunny, with high temperatures in the 40s. Outlook for Friday - A chance of snow.

Truman 'Holding His Own'

KANSAS CITY (AP) - Harry S. Truman's doctor said today the 88-year-old former president was "holding his own" as he remains in serious condition with heart and respiratory problems.

Truman's vital signs of blood pressure, pulse and temperature continued to fluctuate and were elevated overnight, a spokesman for Research Hospital and Medical Center said. But his pulse was 98, blood pressure 114-56 and temperature 101 - all within normal limits - at 10 a.m. EST.

The hospital spokesman said Truman's heart condition remained unchanged from Tuesday when it was noted as stronger than earlier in the week. His kidney function was described as adequate.

LBJ Advises Black Leaders To Use Facts Not Demands

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Former President Lyndon B. Johnson says black leaders should approach the Nixon administration with facts and not with demands.

"It's mighty easy for any group that has suffered as long and as cruelly as you have to feel a sense of injustices," Johnson said.

"But he (Nixon) doesn't want to leave the presidency feeling he's been unjust. It's important that you talk to the President, his Cabinet and to Congress. But don't go in there demanding or threatening."

Johnson's advice came Tuesday after the Rev. A. Kenneth Smith, an unscheduled speaker, pushed his way to the podium at a civil rights symposium and listed several demands. The Rev. Mr. Smith, a New York minister, had asked Johnson for permission to give the benediction.

"We demand the extension of today's agenda," Smith told the closing session of the two-day symposium.

"To adjourn today makes this symposium no more than an empty ritual honoring one man. For this symposium not to expand and deal with a new definition of equality is to refuse the sun of a new day and prevents a rendezvous with the future."

Johnson, who already had given the closing address, returned to the podium after Smith's remarks were answered by Clarence Mitchell, director of the Washington bureau of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

"Da Moon Is Like Pizza Pie..." ROME (AP) - Astronaut Harrison Schmitt's "mama mia" made big news in Italy Tuesday.

"Italian is spoken on the moon," trumpeted newspapers in front-page headlines.

Italyans use the phrase - seemingly after every sentence - to denote surprise or exasperation. Schmitt, 38, answered by Clarence Mitchell, director of the Washington bureau of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Snow Flurry Piles Up Traffic

Yesterday snow came to Manchester at mid-day creating temporary hazardous driving conditions until town road crews could get main thoroughfares and arterials sanded. This is a line-up of cars on Middle Tpk. West. The snow was followed by rain. (Herald photo by Pinto)
