Erected in 1883, St. Mary's Episcopal Church is seen in the upper photo as it fronted on Church St. In the horse and buggy days about 1905, when the rector was the Rev. Manning B. Bennett. With its steeple removed, the original building has since been stuccoed; and what was its nave, now without pews, is used for church school classes. The new church, dedicated in 1966 and consecrated last year, is joined to the older structure and has its main entrance on Park St. (Herald photo by Buccivichius)

Nixon Acts To Ease Economic Controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today abolished mandatory wage-price controls except for the food and health industries and established a new system of government economic standards.

The surprise move—far more sweeping than had been expected—came as Nixon asked Congress for a one-year extension of his authority to control wages and prices.

The President abolished the Pay Board and the Price Commission but retained the Cost of Living Council to manage his Phase 3 economic system.

The new program, which immediately replaces the Phase 2 system established in November 1971, is self-administering and based on voluntary compliance.

Under Phase 3, a new labor-management advisory committee with members including top industrialists and such labor leaders as the AFL-CIO's George Meany will decide whether the current 5.5 per cent ceiling on wages increases should be modified.

That standard remains in effect until the panel meets and the Cost of Living Council decides whether to accept its recommendations.

As a general guide for Phase 3, the White House said price increases should not exceed 5.5 per cent. "Even where costs have increased," a White House summary said, "prices should not be increased if the firm's profit margin exceeds the firm's base-period profit margin."

The commission approved the acceptance, subject to town meeting action, of Yorkshire Dr., Pub Circle and Brighton Rd., all in London Barrie Estates.

The selectmen recommended the acceptance of the roads subject to the developer filing a $10,000 bond guaranteeing that repairs to the roads and other required improvements be done.

Parents interested in a program to develop the talents of the exceptional child will have to make another try during budget deliberations of the Board of Education to be a prime goal for the school system - funded in the 1973-74 budget.

The program, designed to develop the talents of high achieving students by supplementing regular classes with special instructions geared to individual interests was introduced by Richard Hoffmann, principal of Ellsworth Elementary School, Monday night. It called for setting up a center, possibly one classroom, in which screened students would be based twice weekly.

Two teachers would work with the children and assist classroom teachers in identifying the talents of the youngsters. The gifted would take part in field trips and would have access to additional instructional materials.

The proposal was presented to the board at a cost of $15,000 for a four-month period, with approximately two-thirds of the amount to be state reimbursed this year.

The board's main objection was that the money, outlook is bleak.

Some 35 parents were in the audience and many argued for implementation. They also received support from the administration. Assistant School Superintendent William Perry favored implementation and said it was the duty of the board and the administration to "help every child realize his maximum potential."

Mrs. Ann Conde, a member of the development program committee, added that the towns of Ellington, Avon, West Hartford and others have had similar formal programs working in schools with 54-

Funds Lack For Gifted Students

Because the board is on a "tight budget," it was requested by the committee to present the proposal to the Town Council. However, Mrs. Margaret Rossi moved that the board reject the request and consider it, along with Family Life Education and other requests, in the upcoming budget talks.

Board Chairman James Arnold said the board is not receiving the request for the current budget year but to allow it to take its chances with other programs presented to the board for consideration during budget meetings when cuts are made.

Voting for rejection for the current year was David Cohen, Mrs. Gile Decker, Fred DeGiacoia, Robert DeFossa and Mrs. Rossi. Berghuis favored it while Vernon Peterson chose to abstain. Richard Kupchunas was absent.

Town Gets Second U. S. Check

The town has received its second federal revenue sharing check in the amount of $43,369, boosting the total received to date to $88,652.

A five per cent portion of the amount due the town was held in reserve by the federal government, as it is doing for all towns and cities. The withheld portion will be used to facilitate further adjustments according to the U. S. Treasury Department.

The federal funds have been placed in a special account in the Savings Bank of Tolland and will be distributed in four equal payments, five standbys and three rescue calls, during December.

The town has approved the purchase of a $60,000 fire truck to be paid for with federal revenue sharing funds, but the

Kindergarten Aim Explained

Structure
Mrs. Banks explained that each child is screened in June before attending kindergarten and that the most important result from the screening is to detect children who might not be ready for kindergarten.

Superintendent of Schools, Dr. David Cattancha stated that the individualization of the program, in which teacher works in the open classroom type of education, makes it "workable regardless of the ability of the child."

Parents who wished more of a structured type of classroom makes the transition to first grade would be difficult. However, principal Donald H. Libby explained that by trying to do more in the way of individualization as well as using some structured programs makes the transition a "free-flowing type."

Mrs. Phelps felt that the first few months of kindergarten are difficult, but that now the "children are settling in and are finding things to do themselves that are worthwhile."

Executive Session
In executive session following its regular meeting, the board voted to grant the request of St. Columba's Church in Columbia for additional rooms one day a week for religious instructions.

School principal Donald H. Libby reports that the school has received a U.S. flag which has been flown over the Capitol building in Washington. Certification was received from George M. White, Architect of the Capitol, that the flag was flown over the building.

Libby is planning to have a formal flag raising ceremony in the spring and hopes to make arrangements with Congressman Robert Stoebe, who sent the flag, to attend the flag raising.

Social Worker
The board received a request from Mrs. Nancy Richards and Mrs. Chris Dreyer, representatives of a parent's group, for the services of a social worker, a position that was dropped at

From Your

Neighbor's Kitchen

By Vivian F. Ferguson

Just before Christmas, I received a visit from Horace and Tony Learned. Until last May, they were my neighbors at Forest St. where Jay Stager now lives. Horace is a retired loan officer for Hartford National Bank. The couple now live in Avon.

Mrs. Learned's given name is Eileen but everyone calls her Tony. When she was a little girl of two-years-old, she was madly in love with the furnace man. She would follow him about getting rather soiled in the process.

Her family teasingly told her she would look like Tony, the furnace man, if she didn't wash so they called her "Little Tony." She didn't care a bit because if she could look like Tony, that kind and wonderful man whom she followed about endlessly, she would be delighted. She grew up to look like Eileen but to this day she carries the name of her first love.

Tony came to see me as a result of my interest in old cookbooks. She brought me three which had come to her from members of the Cheney family. (Horace is the son of Anne Cheney Learned.) An ordinary looseleaf notebook is printed in gold lettering, "Notes for Recipes." In the lower right corner the name "Susan Jarvis Cheney" was the mother of Frank Cheney, Jr. who lives in a household of servants in the house now called Susannah Wesley Hall, owned by the South United Methodist Church. Her maiden name was Cushing but, in the custom of the day, she continued using her middle name of Jarvis after marrying. Her husband, Frank, was one of the original eight Cheney brothers of whom several founded and operated the Cheney silk mills. She was born in Providence, R.I. on May 9, 1827. She married Frank Cheney June 8, 1853.

Susan and Frank Cheney had five children of which, Frank, Jr. was the fourth. He had one younger brother Paul and three older sisters, Katherine Sedgwick Cheney, Mary who was known as Miss Polly, and, Alice Barrett Cheney.

Frances Cheney Platt who issued the cookbook as a gift for her friends was the only child of Frank Cheney, Jr. The first cookbook in America that was truly our own, that is, one not reprinted from England, appeared in 1792. One of the very first cooking schools opened in 1876. It was a common practice for housewives and also ladies with servants to keep cookbooks containing "receipts." Most often, these were hand-lettered or kept in the owner's own handwriting.

Tony has also loaned me a composition book kept by her, as the first page states: "Issued for the friends of Frances Cheney Platt, Christmas, 1887." Susan Jarvis Cheney was the

Lamb
This requires much attention in the roasting. All young meats should be well cooked. For a sauce, wash clean a handful of fresh green mint, remove the leaves from the stems—rinse it very fine, and put it into a sauce boat, and stir in one teaspoonful of brown sugar and four table-spoonful of good wine vinegar. Green peas is the vegetable eaten with lamb.

From Anne W. Cheney's collection:

Cottage Cheese
Put a panful of milk which has been soured enough to become thick (overnight in summer, two or three days in winter), over a pan of hot water. Let it heat slowly until the whey is separated from the curds. Do not let it boil or the curds will curdle. Strain it through a clean cloth and press out the whey. Stir into the dry curds, cream and salt to make it a little moist—it should be perfectly dry after you have squeezed it and should be made moist of cream—some people put in a little butter also. Work it well with a spoon until the curds are well mixed.

It can be served in many ways, and is to be colored with a very faint green and serve it in little balls on a bed of young lettuce which has been cut into shreds with a pair of scissors.

Midwifery Though Illegal Is Booming In California

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP)—Despite a California law barring the practice, seven local women operate a midwifery service for expectant mothers who want to give birth at home "no matter what."

"We want to help people who want to have babies at home like me," Don Gruber said in an interview Monday. "It used to be that people were scared to do it because there was no one to help them. Now they realize they can have what they want."

Mrs. Gruber, 27, said she "doesn't feel like a criminal" although she knows midwifery is illegal in California.

"The authorities have left us alone," the doctors hails us but leave us alone," she said. "We're not hurting anyone. It's a satisfying experience for me and for the people I'm doing it for."

Santa Cruz County Dist. Atty. Peter Chung said officials are concerned about the practice but it is hard to prove a case since most people who use midwives will not take them to court.

The midwives educate the woman and her husband about pregnancy and give training in natural childbirth, Mrs. Gruber said.

"We're not one sided," said Mrs. Gruber, who runs a local word store with her husband. "We tell some women they'd be better off in a hospital. But some women are going to have them at home no matter what. While I feel it is in a sense unsafe, I'd rather have me there with a little bit of knowledge that have them do it without any."

She said since the group founded Birth Center 1 1/2 years ago, its midwives have delivered more than 100 babies. She said only one infant was stillborn, and seven women needing medical attention were taken to hospital emergency wards and recovered fully.

However, she said only one of the midwives is a registered nurse, and local doctors will not come to a woman's home to assist if there is a complication.

"For doctors it's just a job," said Mrs. Gruber. "Most of the women here have had children and can empathize with women in labor better. We don't feel a woman should have to fight to have her baby the way she wants."

Mrs. Gruber characterized the woman who seeks a midwife as a young person usually between 19 and 24 "who is into earthy things" and is often poor.

While hospital deliveries cost several hundred dollars, Birth Center midwives charge $30. The fee, Mrs. Gruber said, covers the cost of sterile gloves, umbilical clamps, scissors and other equipment used during home delivery.

"Having your baby at home makes it a whole family thing," she said. "There's nothing like your own bed and what a thrill for a husband to help deliver his own child."

Rosemary Mann, who helped organize the Northern California chapter of the American College of Nurse-Midwives in San Francisco, urged a study of lay midwives. "I can't say nurse midwives are better than the other, but I think we should see what lay midwives know," she said.

"The important thing is the demand they represent on the part of the public for more personalized and humanized maternity care."

She said nurse midwifery is licensed and commonly practiced in many states, but since a 1960 law still prohibits it in California her organization is working to get the law changed.

"In a home birth, a woman is in a familiar atmosphere and can have emotional support from her mate. No one is discounting the problems of infection, but that's not the whole picture. You have to look at why women want it and see how hospital care can be changed to better suit the woman of today's needs and not the needs of doctors and nurses."

Shutterbugs and girl watchers are expected by the hundreds this weekend as Caldor, Inc. launches a photo jamboree at its Manchester store.

Beginning Friday, at 11 a.m. and continuing until 9:30 p.m. closing time, and again on Saturday, from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m., a score of major photographic manufacturers will display the latest in equipment, supplies and techniques.

On hand to welcome visitors will be Miss Connecticut 1972, brown-haired beauty Linda Lee Krapal. Joining Miss Krapal will be a number of special Caldemodels who will pose for amateur photographers.

A number of special arrangements have been made for the event. A special hot line has been installed to major photographic concerns in New York City so a customer may obtain an "instant quote" on the trade-in value of his old equipment.

A special camera check-up service will be offered from 7:30 p.m. Friday evening, and again all day on Saturday, for persons wishing to have their camera "tuned up."

Once upon a time a papa bear needed a station wagon that was big and roomy and had lots of luxury. So he bought a big Ford Custom 500 Ranch wagon.

Now, a mama bear needed a wagon that also had room and luxury. But she didn't have such a large family. So she bought a mid-sized Ford Torino wagon. It made her very happy.

But, a little baby bear was just starting out and he needed a wagon that was compact in size and price. So, he bought a little Pinto wagon. And it made him very happy, too.

...And they all drove happily ever after.

Good Things Go Into This Salad

By CECILY BROWNSTONE, Associated Press Food Editor

All bean salads are so popular nowadays that when the following recipe came across our desk we were tempted to try it in our test kitchen. We found it very good. We used thin strips cut from a giant-size sweet Spanish onion in this salad. Because the whole onion wasn't needed we covered the remainder with plastic wrap and stored it in the salad-crisper pan of our refrigerator; it kept well this way.

GREEN BEAN AND ONION SALAD
2 packages (each 9 or 10 ounces) frozen cut green beans
1/2 cup thin strips sweet Spanish onion
1 tablespoon sugar
1/2 cup olive oil
2 tablespoons white wine vinegar
1/4 teaspoon crushed dried basil
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
Dash of cayenne
4 slices bacon, fried crisp and crumbled
1 cup thin strips Swiss cheese

the oil, vinegar, basil, salt, mustard and cayenne; set aside.

At serving time turn the beans and onion into a salad bowl; add the oil-vinegar mixture and toss well. Add the bacon and cheese and toss again. Serve at once.

Makes 9 servings.

Cook the green beans according to package directions and drain; cover lightly and chill. Sprinkle the onion with the sugar, cover lightly and chill. In a small jar shake together

Old Barn Takes On A New Look

By BETTY RYDER

A Manchester land developer with a lot of know-how and determination, has completed an almost impossible task, that of restoring a huge barn, parts of which are over 75 years old, into a fashionable restaurant in Mansfield.

Albert V. Lindsay Jr. of 111 Plymouth Lane, and of Land Planning Associates of Manchester, acquired a 32-acre parcel of land on Rt. 32 in Mansfield a few years ago.

Located high atop a hill, the barn, complete with silo, offered an extensive view of the surrounding countryside, as well as a challenge to Lindsay.

"Envisioning the restoration of the barn, we strived to retain it as close to its original state as possible," he said.

"We sandblasted the inside thoroughly so that the beams and walls remained as they had been, and insulated on the outside before redoing the exterior of the building," Lindsay added.

Much of the inside restoration was done with the original beams and where replacements were needed they used railroad ties. No modern countertops show in the restaurant—textures and wood grains remain as they had been years ago.

Lindsay, who has been in the land developing business over 10 years, felt conversion of the barn was "quite a challenge."

"Bob Agnew, formerly of Manchester and now of Hebron, who did the structural design, would sit with me and discuss just how we wanted the finished product to look—then we'd try to figure out how to attain it."

"The old windows, many with broken panes, were replaced with thermopane windows in the same six over six design, in keeping with the decor of the original building," Lindsay said.

"The fieldstones used in the huge fireplace in the lounge all come from the property. Everything was made right here including the trestle dining tables," he commented.

The 8,000 square foot facility, now leased to Chuck's Steak House, one of seven Hawaii-based restaurants in Connecticut, with 23 other restaurants in California and Hawaii, is built on three levels.

"When we agreed to lease it to Chuck's," Lindsay said, "we naturally had to make a few changes to accommodate a restaurant, but all in all, our original design and ideas held true."

Entrance is gained through a "corner" which opens into a fieldstone foyer decorated with huge barrels of colorful strawflowers. The lower level has swinging doors leading to the "saloon" an enormous lounge with a 40-foot bar, kerosene lanterns hanging from old barn beams, a huge fieldstone fireplace, and cozy benches cushioned with gingham, patchwork, and red neckerchief pillows.

"A sliding door leads to the silo, which is used for dancing, and in keeping by bygone days, we also have a five-cent juke box," Lindsay said.

The second level, or main dining room has shuttered windows, trestle tables with old "general store" chairs and cushioned benches covered in blue denim material.

"It was quite a search to find blue denim, especially in the heavyweight we needed," Lindsay commented.

"It seems the blue jean market has been well-served by the younger set, but we finally found a manufacturer in Boston, who could supply the quality we were looking for," he said.

Red napkins, candles flickering in red containers, amber glasses and a large brick fireplace with mantle topped with brass candlesticks, copper kettles and pans, complete the dining room picture.

The 40-foot high barn is complete with hayloft, which is the third level or second dining level.

This area is arranged in booths accommodating perhaps six to eight people. Copper kettles brimming with strawflowers are tucked attractively alongside the rail from which one can look down to the main dining room.

Funnels, pierced with holes, let through just enough light to dine by, but still lend an intimate atmosphere.

Managed by "Gus" Abuda, the restaurant menu is imprinted on a Lancer's wine bottle and offers such repeat as sirloin, filet mignon, lobster tails, etc., and baked potatoes, with sour cream and bacon bits, or butter.

"Gus," who has been in the restaurant business over 10 years, 5 1/2 of which were spent with Chuck's, has seen to it that all the 30 employees were trained for a full month before the facility opened to the public.

"We are especially proud of our meat and its quality," Gus said. "We have a gentleman who does our purchasing for us and will settle for only the best grade of beef. We age it for 28 days, and it is cut fresh daily," he added.

Patrons help themselves at the salad bar to the variety of dressings, homemade bread, relishes, cherry tomatoes, etc., return to their table, and are served their main course cooked to order. The restaurant can accommodate approximately 130 diners.

"We have to get zoning approval, but we hope to complete an antique and gift shop adjoining the restaurant in late summer, and also in the future build a motel on the property," Lindsay said.

The challenge has been met, the restoration is completed, the restaurant business is booming but plans for Lindsay's hilltop continue on the drawing boards.

Gourmet Corner

By TOM HOGE

AP Newfeatures Writer

The cooks of Britain don't go in much for gourmet specialties like their French neighbors across the Channel, but the best English kitchens produce robust dishes that are excellent and geared to the island's bone-chilling winters.

Some tourists have complained about the lack of flavor in English cooking, but anyone who has sampled the savory delights of a hearty beefsteak and kidney pie like they serve at London's Hotel Churchill should find the seasoning ample.

Here is a recipe for Beef-

English Cookery Can Be Superb

steak and Kidney Pie given to me during a recent vacation stay in London by G.G.R. Franklin, banquet manager of the Churchill Hotel. I have changed the recipe to call for a little longer cooking time for the meat to adapt to American tastes.

- 1 1/2 pounds beef round cut into small cubes
- 1 6 ounce ox kidney, diced after removing outer membrane
- 2 large onions
- 2 cups of beef stock or water
- flour
- 1 egg beaten
- Worcestershire Sauce
- salt and pepper
- 8 ounces pastry mix

Dredge the meat in flour and sear quickly in frying pan to seal in juices. Place in a 2 quart pot. Peel and chop onions adding to meat. Cover with stock of water and simmer one hour. Add a few drops Worcestershire sauce and place mixture in a 2 quart casserole. Roll out pastry about 1/2 half inches thick and cover the pie. Brush crust with beaten egg. Place in a hot oven (about 450 degrees) until pastry sets. Then reduce heat and bake about 30 minutes.

Sewing for Men Made Easy

By JOANNE SCHREIBER

You'll never guess what the with-it gals are sewing now! After taking on all the standard sewing challenges, such as complicated designer patterns, slacks, lingerie, bathing suits and coats, they are looking for new worlds to conquer. What's left but menswear—and that's what everyone is sewing this winter!

I don't mean sports shirts, either. I mean tailored jackets, slacks, and a new breed of menswear called, variously, a patio suit, a shirt suit, a weekend suit, a safari suit or a blazer suit.

Five years ago, sewing and tailoring a man's jacket would have been practically impossible for the average gal-who-sews. Today, it's a different story. There are products on the market which simplify the assignment considerably. One of the best is a Jacket-Packet by Armo, which contains pre-cut layered chest pieces, smoothly curved sleeve heads, and shaped shoulder pads, all packed with a clear set of instructions.

Armo also offers new iron-on fusible interfacings which give a terrific crisp look, and eliminate all that padding which takes so much time in classic tailoring. Armo is the lighter-weight fusible, used in jacket fronts, lapels and collars; the stiffer Formite is used to shape flat detail areas such as pocket flaps, hems.

Is sewing for men terribly different from sewing women's clothing? Not really.

the garment after all the rest of the collar construction is finished; interfacing replaces underlining, and machine buttonholes are preferred. Good fit is all-important, and careful measuring and pattern alteration are essential. As in all tailoring, meticulous pressing is part of the job.

Vernon Reports Laud Program For Gifted Students

By BARBARA RICHMOND (Herald Reporter)

A self-evaluation by students, comments of parents and opinions of teachers and administrators, all point to the fact that the program for the "gifted" students, a pilot one in the Vernon School system this year, is working out well.

The report on the program, entering its fifth month, involving 25 students at the Vernon Center Middle School and 25 at the Center Middle School and Elementary School, was made to the Board of Education Monday night.

Tolland Accreditation Summary Delivered to MacKenzie

BETTE QUATRALE Correspondent Tel. 875-2945

The summary report prepared by the Tolland High School accreditation committee was handed at the lack of financial support given by the school to the accreditation committee's recommendation for acceptance to the school as an accredited institution.

Dr. MacKenzie read the summary report to the board of education members at night, but stopped short of going into the detailed report at this time.

The accreditation team viewed the "lack of equipment" at the school "with dismay," noting it even affected basic instructional supplies.

First priority should be given to waging a vigorous campaign by the school board to make the community aware of the

Tolland Town To Buy Payloader

BETTE QUATRALE Correspondent Tel. 875-2945

The Board of Finance has authorized First Selectman Erwin Stoetzer to go ahead and obtain bids for the purchase of a new payloader, estimated to cost between $28,000 and $30,000.

The item was included in the budget last year, but was eliminated after the results of the second budget referendum. The finance board had planned to put the item in the upcoming budget for the 1973-74 fiscal year, but is now moving the purchase up about five months.

worked well and closely together on the creation of the town plan and are now jointly working on zoning regulations to implement the plan.

The board had a lengthy explanation of the science program at the high school, particularly the chemistry course as presented by Victor O'Connell, science department chairman.

Vernon $500,000 Grant Given for Sewer

A $500,000 grant which will extend sewer lines from the Rt. 30 end of Merline Rd. and through the Thrall Rd. and Skinner Rd. areas, has been awarded to the town by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

Voters have already approved the sewer project which is part of a $5.5 million package program which will eventually lead to sewer installations throughout the entire town.

According to Mayor Frank McCoy, the grant is the largest amount any town can get under the program. He said that the award may bring the front foot installation charge, to some extent, down to the $20 mark if bids come in as anticipated.

The town has also been notified that the $139,000 due as the final payment on the redevelopment project, has been released by HUD with the caution that funding of future renewal projects could be in jeopardy as HUD "may not be satisfied with the way the town has handled one phase of the first project."

The payment of the $139,000 was held up because HUD was not satisfied with the way the town handled a request for a variance to open a package store in the renewal project.

Board Chairman James Cornejo noted the evaluation report will be reviewed by the board, adding it would be as objective a report, as any group of colleagues.

In other actions, the Board of Education ratified the appointment of Louis Zwingsel as maintenance supervisor, replacing retiring Alexander Toibassen; and tabled action on a policy governing travel reimbursement for teachers, membership in the National School Board's Association, and discussion of the CABE Statewide meeting.

School enrollment remained the same during the month of December, although five students in the third grade left the school, while six new fourth graders were added.

The report does not just talk money, according to Dr. MacKenzie, but delves deeply into each department at the school.

CONNECTICUT
TOWN AND COUNTY LINES

To celebrate our first anniversary, we're letting you turn in your losing Lottery tickets for a second chance. On one of 32 brand new 1973 automobiles — and 32 new cars represents quite a lot of added value! These 32 cars are in addition to the normal Lottery cash prizes — the big $75,000 win and the thousands of other cash prizes given out every week. Our 32 brand new cars are for those of you who don't win a cash prize. We took unclaimed prize money (which we figured belonged to you loyal Lottery players anyway) and bought these cars for you. To give you a second chance to win.

- So here are the rules of our Anniversary Special Losers Take All Lottery, which gets under way with losing tickets dated January 4, 1973.
- The Rules, or how to win.
1. Beginning with the January 4 drawing, if your Lottery Ticket doesn't put you in the money, don't throw it away! Our Anniversary Special Losers Take All Lottery gives you a second chance.
 2. Print your name and address on your losing Lottery Ticket. Then deposit them in the drums displayed for this purpose by your Lottery Agency. To be eligible you must deposit tickets in a drum in the area in which you live. See map above to determine your area. People from out of state can deposit tickets in any of the eight areas. Tickets must be deposited by the deadline given in item #4.
 3. To Give You a Better Chance to Win the State has been divided into eight areas, as shown on this map. Each area is roughly equal in population, like a voting district, to make the Anniversary Special Losers Take All Lottery fair. And to make sure that you have an equal chance of winning no matter where you live.
 4. The contents of these Lottery retail outlet drums will be taken and deposited in one of eight giant drums. A giant drum will be located in a prominent location in your area. On the dates given in item #4 each drum will be spun and tickets taken from it — to find out which Losers are Winners.
 5. Drawings will be supervised by the Commission on Special Revenue, Lottery Division, and winners will be notified by telegram. Prizes will be claimed on February 22, 1973, at a place and time to be determined by the Lottery Division.

Lincoln Continental. Plymouth Fury Sport Suburban. Pontiac Grand Am. American Motors "X-Package" Gremlin.

Losers Take All

Next Week's Drawing will be held at the Bristol Centre Mall, Thursday, 10:30 A.M.

CONN. SALVAGE Co., Inc. offers The GLORIOUS EMPORIUM

CORNER OF HARTFORD ROAD & PINE ST., MANCHESTER - 649-7782

Hi Neighbor!

Thought you might be interested in some of the changes taking place at the Emporium: Freddy has been added to the crew and is in charge of the warehouse and stockroom;

Mabel is our new checkout cashier and my wife has been promoted to Head Teller (same old thing) and now has the privilege of telling other people what she's been telling me for years — "Get to work!" With the 300% increase in efficiency around here, it takes three people to do the work that one used to do. That's a real sign of progress and comes down on the unemployment problem. Now as an executive I can do what I've always wanted to do — a very little.

Remember Our Exhausting Hours: Thurs. Eve (Up) 8 to 9, Fridays 10 to 9 and Saturdays 10 to 5. We're Resting Less.
