Hospital Patient 'Bill Of Rights'

Now hospital patients have a "bill of rights" of their own, and it's about time such ideas were codified in some way.

The 12 point document has been issued by the American Hospital Assn., the nation's leading hospital association with some 7,000 member institutions.

Among other points the Bill of Rights for Patients makes clear: The right of the patient to respectful and considerate care.

The right of the patient to receive from his physician—in language the patient can understand—complete, up-to-date information about his treatment, diagnosis and prognosis.

The right of the patient to refuse treatment to the extent permitted by law, and to be informed of medical consequences of such action.

The right of the patient to expect that all communications and records pertaining to his case should be confidential.

The right of the patient to be advised if the hospital proposes to engage in or perform human experimentation affecting his care or treatment.

These points plus others in the AHA document have been approved by the organization as a national policy statement after AHA trustees and consumer representatives studied them for three years.

Although the AHA says that a hospital will not lose accreditation if it rejects the tenets of the "Bill of Rights," the organization fully expects its 7,000 member institutions to adopt the document and make copies available to patients.

The Innocent Bystander

Captain Heck, Ware Criminal

The Air Force has been investigating Captain Michael Heck, the B-52 pilot who refused to drop any more bombs on Hanoi and Haiphong. The question is why.

Captain Heck is guilty. Everybody knows that. The Captain himself freely admits he refused to obey orders. His only defense is that he felt there had been "enough suffering" in Vietnam.

Never has a guilty man offered a more specious argument. It has never been up to the soldier or airman in the field to determine when the enemy has suffered enough. That decision is made by older and wiser men in Washington—Senators, Cabinet Secretaries and Presidents. Everybody knows that.

Moreover, the Captain implied he felt guilty about killing Vietnamese with his bombs. Here, surely, is guilt bordering on the paranoic. Killing people with bombs is something to be proud of, not ashamed. The pilots in the Dresden fire raids, the crew of the Enola Gay, were decorated as heroes. Everybody knows that.

Furthermore, the Captain was in no way responsible for the people his bombs killed. He was carrying out orders. A soldier who carries out orders is in no way responsible for the people he kills. Everybody knows that.

Presumably, the Captain received his orders from the Major who briefed him on his specific flight plans. But the Major is, of course, not guilty as he was acting under orders.

Thus we see that nobody—not the mission nor can we blame the Colonel for doing what the Generals told him to. And they, in turn, were merely obeying the orders of the President, which is their sworn duty. Everybody knows that.

Some might like to blame the President for the people the Captain's bombs killed. This is grossly unfair. No American President has ever killed a Vietnamese. True, more than a million have died as a result of our Presidents' policies. But our Presidents have simply been trying their best to prevent a bloodbath and protect American lives. That is their sworn duty. Everybody knows that.

You might as well blame every American for the people killed by the Captain's bombs. After all, the Presidents who ordered the bombings were our

Our Manchester

One hundred and fifty years have passed, And history has been made.

For Manchester, once an Indian Land, The White Man bought and paid.

Progress in the ensuing years, Was made with steady growth.

Trading posts and bartering, All came bursting forth.

The Great White Father saw the future, Without the Indian Chiefs.

Now most of all the Indian Land, Has farms and factories.

Railroads and ships supplied Our Town, With produce and fancy goods.

And as the years went passing by, We had growing neighborhoods.

The old stagecoach had used, Middle Turnpike Road.

Real strong horses used to pull, Passengers and their load.

Today it's gone forever, Who can remember when?

But on this 150th year, It surely did expand.

We started out with tobacco farms, Orchards and Potatoes.

The history our town has had, One hundred fifty years ago.

Was made by men of courage, Some we'll never know.

1873, I'm sure will bring, A lot of memories.

From the old gas light we burned, To modern electricity.

Much can be written of our Town, Those many long years ago.

Now we sit and ponder, How much we really know.

Those were the days of men, With strength and ability.

They really made "Our Manchester," A real nice place to be.

Thieu's 'Decent Chance'

WASHINGTON — Whatever the political cost at home, and with U.S. allies abroad, President Nixon's cold-blooded gamble in the bombing of Hanoi and Haiphong has now paid dividends of possibly historical proportions in the postwar settlement of Vietnam.

For what Mr. Nixon and his Vietnam negotiator, Henry Kissinger, have now achieved in the new agreement with Hanoi expected to be initiated in a few days in Paris, is a "decent chance" for South Vietnam to survive as an independent country.

The original October agreement—the Kissinger-Le Duc deal—was a masterpiece of brinkmanship which South Vietnam's President Nguyen Van Thieu refused to accept—contained provisions that sharply reduced the prospect of a "decent chance" for Thieu to survive as head of an independent state.

Instead, Hanoi agreed to supervision in principle but then, in a separate protocol, insisted on a force of less than 25,000 men from the four policing countries, with rigid limitations on their mobility and rights. Even Poland and Hungary were unwilling to go down that obstacle path.

The new agreement, although still secret at this writing, is understood to go far toward the U.S. demand of a 5,000-man force with wide-ranging powers. The force itself will be at least 1,000 strong, four times Hanoi's earlier ceiling, with the right to carry out independent inspections of suspected violations. Likewise, the old agreement was loose and highly imprecise on the question of Hanoi sending new equipment to replace "damaged" and "destroyed" arms into South Vietnam. It left open the strong probability that new arms could be moved south directly over the demilitarized zone.

The new agreement is understood to set up inspection points along the DMZ, at which new arms can be examined and counted. Obviously, the opportunity for clandestine arms shipments down the Ho Chi Minh trail still exists, but lightened language in the new agreement minimizes chances for cheating.

The inspection points along the DMZ also continue the practice that this dividing line between North and South, established in the 1954 Geneva agreements, has a legal significance.

All Decked Out For The Inaugural Ball

Resplendent and regal will be the keynote of ladies' fashions at tonight's presidential inaugural ball in Washington, D.C. Shown above are some of the members of the Manchester group in the gowns they will be wearing.

Mrs. H. John Malone will wear a sleeveless gown of lipstick red peau de soie with Mandarin collar, empire waist and fashioned with a dashing multi-colored silk cummerbund gathered at one side and falling to the floor.

Warm applause greeted President and Mrs. Nixon, daughters Julie and Tricia, and Mamie Eisenhower who first joined hundreds of young people at a youth concert in the Eisenhower Theater.

The Nixons skipped candlelight dinners given for 2,000 holders of the top-priced $500 and $250 concert tickets at the Kennedy Center. The men wore tuxedos, the women gowns.

Friday Night Accented Music

WASHINGTON (AP) — Divergent musical sounds filled the nation's capital on inauguration eve as President Nixon attended three separate concerts. Across town, composer Leonard Bernstein conducted a "concert for peace."

The President, getting into the swing of inauguration weekend, was joined by his family in hopping among concerts of American songs and classical music at the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts.

The Nixons clapped enthusiastically to the popular music although the President was a beat off on "This Land is Your Land."

The pinnacle of the Nixons' musical evening came as Eugene Ormandy led the Philadelphia Orchestra performing Tchaikovsky's "1812 Overture," the only selection the President personally requested.

About 6,000 guests, all specially invited by the inaugural committee, paid to hear the trio of concerts.

The free concert led by Bernstein was timed to start with the Kennedy performances. More than 3,500 persons jammed inside the National Cathedral and an estimated 15,000 listening over loudspeakers outside heard Bernstein perform Haydn's "Mass in Time of War."

The Very Rev. Francis B. Sayre Jr., dean of the cathedral who led a peace march earlier this month, opened with a prayer: "O God, who by the whisper of truth bestirrs each soul to life, quicken our spirit that we may seek afresh the peace in all the world. Mend, Lord, the brokenness of mankind."

Peace Activists Express Dissent

By The Associated Press
In towns from Connecticut to California, at a number of state capitols and in Washington, D.C., peace activists organized demonstrations of dissent today to mark the start of Richard Nixon's second term as president.

Some said they were unconvinced that the war in Vietnam was drawing to an end. Others said their pressure through the years of war was the force that had brought peace near.

Their predictions for the turnout ranged from a few dozen in smaller cities to tens of thousands in Washington, where organizers said 50,000 would take part in a "March Against Death."

Nixon took his oath of office at noon. Marches and rallies also were planned at Miami and Detroit and at state capitols in Atlanta, Ga.; Sacramento, Calif.; Topeka, Kan.; Phoenix, Ariz.; Montgomery, Ala., and St. Paul, Minn.

At the town hall in Westport, Conn., an affluent suburb of New York, a small band of protesters who have met nearly every Saturday for seven years scheduled their regular vigil but said it would have a special meaning today.

The protests began in force Friday and were echoed overseas in Norway and Austria.

In Washington, dissenters presented petitions to the White House and attended a "Concert for Peace." In New York, about 400 heard the Rev. Daniel Berrigan preach against war at a church within sight of United Nations headquarters. And, in downtown Baltimore, Berrigan's brother, the Rev. Philip Berrigan, exhorted about 600 marchers to "keep a church within sight of United Nations headquarters."

While addressed a crowd estimated by police at 4,000. Smaller demonstrations were held in Lansing, Mich., and Cleveland and Cincinnati, Ohio.
The free "Concert for Peace" in Washington, timed to coincide with the official inaugural concert, was attended by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and his wife. It was held at the National Cathedral, with Leonard Bernstein conducting Haydn's "Mass in Time of War" for an estimated 18,000 persons, many listening through loudspeakers outside the cathedral.
In Oslo and Vienna, meanwhile, thousands of demonstrators protested the role of the United States in the Indochina war. Authorities in Paris and Mexico City banned demonstrations planned for today.
The demonstrations scheduled in the United States were for the most part, to be traditional gatherings in public places with marches and speeches. But there were special flourishes — a "peace feast" in Reno, Nev., at St. John's Presbyterian Church, an emphasis on Pentagon Papers defendants Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony Russo in Miami, Fla., in Billings, Mont., demonstrators were to listen to President Nixon's address through a radio hookup and then hear a speaker recite Nixon's past pledges of peace.

This will be followed by three weeks of intensive training with the Manchester Corps before her commissioning and appointment as a Salvation Army officer.

Today's Thought

One of the stories of the Talmud (a book which records the traditions of the Jewish people) tells of an old man who planted carob trees on which grew the popular locust bean, known as the carob tree. He was asked why he planted the carob trees, he replied the old man, "I asked Omias, 'When will you be dead?' 'When I was a boy there were carob trees which my grandfather and father planted,' said the man. 'I, in my turn, must provide for those who come after me.'"

Today in History

By The Associated Press
This is Saturday, Jan. 20, the 20th day of 1973. There are 345 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1808, King George VI of Britain died. The Prince of Wales succeeded to the throne as Edward VIII. On this date:

In 1801, John Marshall was appointed U.S. Chief Justice.

In 1887, the U.S. Senate approved the leasing of Pearl Harbor in Hawaii as a naval base.

In 1941, Franklin D. Roosevelt was first U.S. President to be inaugurated for a third term.

In 1953, General Dwight D. Eisenhower took the oath as the 34th U.S. President.

In 1965, Lyndon B. Johnson was inaugurated by his first full term as U.S. President.

Ten years ago: Turkey agreed to Washington's proposal that the U.S. remove its Jupiter missile bases from Turkey.

Five years ago: Turkey became the first member of NATO to recognize the new military government in Greece.

Emanuel Lutheran Church will have its annual congregational meeting Sunday at 2 p.m. at Luther Hall of the Church.

Officers will be elected, and a proposed budget for 1973 will be acted on. A proposal recommended by the Christian education committee, that young people have the option to receive Holy Communion after completion of Grade 5 curriculum and proper instruction, will be brought before the meeting for action.

After the meeting, refreshments will be served by a committee headed by Mrs. Victor Johnson and Mrs. Harold Reed. Nursery will be provided.

Health Chiefs Plan Proposed

HARTFORD (AP) — Regional directors to head regional mental health offices are called for by legislation proposed by the Connecticut Mental Health Association.

Vernon Zone Task Force Begins Its Work

With its initial report due to be in the hands of Mayor Frank McCoy on March 15, the newly appointed 14-member Zoning Study Task Force met Thursday night for the first time to set up a schedule of future meetings and heard a request from the mayor that special attention be given to the development along Rt. 30 and Rt. 83.

The task force is headed by Atty. Harold Cummings and plans are to hold weekly meetings until the first report is ready. The 14-members were split up into various committees to study various problems with zoning.

Mayor McCoy, who was unable to be present at the initial meeting of the task force, wrote a written message calling for a study of all current zoning regulations in the town, with particular attention to those regulations which pertain to industrial and commercial development and special scrutiny to the development along 30 and 83. These requests were typed out in the resolution adopted by the Town Council.

The resolution also directed that following the initial report, the task force should continue to conduct its studies. The mayor added, "I can advise you now that I will expect the task force to continue its studies beyond its recommendations as to industrial and commercial development in the months ahead."

The mayor further stressed the fact that all committee members have a sincere interest in improving the pattern of town development and all members have the knowledge, background and experience equipping them to make valuable and effective contributions to their task.

The task force was created, basically, because there has been a general feeling among town residents that there is room for change and improvement in the way the town is developing.

"Noting that he has no preconceived notions as to changes in our present regulations," Mayor McCoy urged each committee member to approach the problem with an open mind. "We are all deeply interested in preserving a healthy and aesthetic town environment, while recognizing that commercial, industrial and residential development is necessary to meet human needs and to further a policy of fiscal responsibility, which is the mayor told the committee.

"The mayor also expressed the hope that the committee would be open to suggestions from other local groups and offered the assistance of Joseph Pastore, town planner, Leonard A. Rosenberg, town engineer, and Francis MacNally, building inspector, plus the help of his staff in whatever way possible.

"How sweet it is," when its music played by Armando Ghittalla, left, who is first trumpet with the Boston Symphony Orchestra. Ghittalla also performed at a rehearsal session with the Rockville High School band which will be playing in Boston Monday at the Music Educator's National Conference. Ghittalla will be guest soloist at the conference. (Herald photo by Bucevichis.)

South Windsor AFS Seeking Host Families

BARBARA VARRICK
Correspondent
Tel. 644-8274

The South Windsor Chapter of the American Field Service (AFS), is seeking a host family in town to provide living accommodations for an overseas student for the 1973-74 school year.

The student will live with a resident family and attend classes in town. A sincere interest in other human beings and the ability to be responsive, flexible, curious, open, honest and endowed with a sense of humor are basically the qualifications for a host family, according to Harvey Eisenberg, chairman of the Host Family Selection Committee. The AFS student should be a member of the family sharing equally in the pleasures and duties of the home.

The aim of the program is that, through involvement in a United States family, school and community, a student may gain an understanding of the country, its people, the education system, customs and ideas and spread this understanding among his family and friends when he returns to his own country.

The local community gains by understanding and knowing a foreign student on a personal basis and has the opportunity to acquire a new perspective about the culture, Eisenberg said.

Aside from food costs and incidental expenses, the host family incurs no debt in hosting a student. The local chapter pays $ for each student by various fund raising activities and contributions by local individuals and organizations.

The AFS International in New York extends a monthly allowance directly to the student to cover incidental expenses as well as medical coverage.

Host families may also take monthly deductions according to provisions made by the Internal Revenue Service when filing Income Tax forms with the State of New York.

This year Miss Helena Braga of Sao Paulo, Brazil is living with the Roy Browning family on 40 Graham Rd. She is the seventh student to spend a year in South Windsor under the sponsorship of the AFS program. Students have come from Peru, Brazil, France, Germany, Thailand, and Yugoslavia.

Applications and additional information may be obtained from Eisenberg, 154 Clinton Dr., Mrs. Charles L. Harter, 269 Lawrence Rd., or Mr. and Mrs. David Evans of Main St.

Vernon Bands Win Festival Spot

Oil Saving Asked By Vernon Mayor

Expressing concern for the fuel oil shortage in the state, Mayor Frank McCoy, today called for an immediate move to conserve oil. He said that it is necessary to conserve this oil not only by all town buildings but also by homeowners also.

The mayor said he has asked Andrew Tricario, director of public works, and Dr. Robert Lindstone, director of education, to immediately institute all controls necessary to conserve heating fuel. He has asked that particular attention be given to controls which are not regularly used or which are not used at all during the evenings or on weekends.

The mayor said he does not expect that at the present time that recreation programs or group activities within schools or town buildings will be suspended, but he is asking full cooperation from the recreation and other groups when using public buildings.

In urging all residents who heat with oil to be as conservative as possible in its use, the mayor explained that "unless everyone acts in a responsible manner in the conservation of fuel, many homes may be without oil for heating during the next few weeks."

Mayor McCoy attended a meeting Wednesday of the Connecticut Council of Mayors and that group passed a resolution calling for the removal of imported quotas of oil.

There is no discrimination in the amount of oil that these members or maybe a few more, plan there are male members. The entire file section is made up of girls as is the B-I lat clarinet section. But the girls are not afraid to tackle any of the instruments. Two girls are in the trombone section; one in the French horn group, a few play trumpet and one plays the string bass.

Salesmanship Course Topic

"Automobile Salesmanship Techniques," a non-credit course, will be offered by Manchester Community College for persons interested in becoming automobile salesmen and saleswomen who wish to improve their techniques.

Classes will meet Monday through Friday for two weeks, Feb. 5-16, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. They will be held in the Bidwell St. campus hotel and food service building. A luncheon will be held at the hotel as a laboratory. Further information about costs and application forms may be obtained by calling the extension division, 646-6900.

The course is jointly sponsored by the MCC extension and business careers division and the marketing institute of the Ford Marketing Corp. Course contents have been combined from retail sales techniques and sales solicitation courses developed by the Ford Motor Co. for training its salesmen. Printed materials and the instructor, Daniel Mullane, will be furnished by Ford. Graduates will be able to work for agencies of any car manufacturer.

The cooperative venture between community college and the Ford Motor Co. was suggested by Matthew M. Moriarty. He is the owner of Manchester's Lincoln-Mercury agency and a member of the MCC Regional Council.

Arrangements for the course, which is endorsed by the Manchester Automobile Dealers' Association, were made by Moriarty and Fred A. Ramey Jr., director of the MCC business careers division.

Aussie Strikes Down

Canberra—Australian workers lost $17.8 million in wages because of strikes in the first half of 1972, a decrease of $11.9 million from the year earlier period. There were 1,892 industrial stoppages in the six months, 91 fewer than in 1971.

Turnpike TV

Turnpike TV and Appliance, 273 W. Middle Turnpike, located in the same building as Stop & Shop and Bonanza Sirofin Pit, is now in its second decade at the same location, featuring brand name appliances and TV.

Bill Moszer and Mac McKeever, co-owners and operators of the business since its beginning, have always emphasized service to the customer.

The Home Improvement Division features wall-to-wall carpet installation, air conditioners through the wall, built-in appliances such as dishwashers as well as custom installed aluminum siding, doors and windows.

Competitive pricing with better service and greater satisfaction has been the key to success.

Mac and Bill, Manchester natives, represent over 30 years of experience in this field at the retail, distributor and even the factory level.

Over the years, famous brand names such as Zenith, Kitchen Aid, RCA, Kelvinator, Philco, Westinghouse, Barwick, Norge, Fedders and especially Custom Curtis-Mathes color TV, have been featured.

Thousands of customers have benefited from Turnpike TV's 5-year service protection contract on color, black and white TV, and stereo. This contract provides the customer with a guaranteed rate for service for 5 years which, together with the cost of parts, is discounted 50 per cent during the first year—40 per cent during the second year—30 per cent during the third year, and so on until maturity. This agreement is at no cost to the customer and all of this service is done by Turnpike's own service department, usually the same day as the complaint is received.

The nicest thing about being with Plen's Texaco is that you can be certain that there is no guess work there.

Perhaps some owners have had starting trouble and had the misfortune to fall into the hands of a trial and error mechanic. This "operator" usually starts with a new heavy duty battery, then if that doesn't cure it, a new starter, "mechanic." This operator does not diagnose the trouble such as burnt valves. In this case all of the replaced parts which are unnecessary and represents money down the drain.

Plen's Texaco has the tools, equipment and know-how to properly diagnose any ailment without guessing. When they find the real mechanic, they stand up—Reuben Plen will stand with the best of them. The best mechanic usually is the one that does the most work, trial and error costs the car owner for unnecessary parts and wasted effort. An experienced mechanic such as Reuben Plen can determine the problem positively and experience diagnose the remedy.

Another thing about Plen's Texaco is that Mr. Plen keeps the abreast of the times by purchasing all the newest manuals and trade publications detailing engine changes and the newest innovations by the car manufacturers. Reuben also keeps his tools and equipment replaced so that he can service your new car the way it is supposed to be done. You can bet that Plen's Texaco is as modern as tomorrow, so Plen's Texaco is a complete line of quality doggie and cat toys as well as all kinds of fancy and plain collars and leashes at the salon. Sweaters and coats can be made to order for your pet.

Eagles Roll Over Springfield

Quartet In Twin Figures

Finally, after five consecutive barn-burners, East Catholic High's basketball team had a chance to relax last night in trouncing Springfield Tech at the local gym, 72-41.

It was never any contest as the smooth operating Eagles, paced by the backcourt wizardry of Joe Whitton, completely dominated play against the Bay Staters.

Four players reached double figures, with Bill Gorra and John McKen setting the pace with 16 each. Whitton added 14 and Joe Martens 10. Tech had just one reliable shooter, Pete Johnson who hit nine times from the floor and wound up with 19 points.

The brief "honeymoon" may be over for Coach Stan Ogronik's team which will now take its show on the road for six straight games, including a "home" meeting with South Catholic at the University of Hartford on Tuesday night. Hartford County Conference leader, Xavier, will entertain the locals in Middletown.

With the latest conquest, East now sports an 8-3 won-loss record. One half of the triumphs have come in the last five meetings, the only loss being by three points, 63-60.

Foul shooting was at a minimum last night, the winners hitting six times from the line and Tech netted but three. The starters tallied 60 of East's 72 points but the game allowed several reserves to get in some playing time.

Tech Squares Record By Dumping Somers

With five games to play in the Beavers need to win just two to qualify for the tourney, the aim of all quietists.

Last night the locals avenged a previous 85-81 setback in Somers by tripping up the invaders, 51-45, at the Silk Town gym. It was the sixth win in 12 starts.

Once again late-blooming Mark Vinkinet set the pace with 20 points, an equal share from both the field and line. Ken Maynard gave the tall center plenty of help with a 15-point output. High scoring Tommy Tomko is still sidelined with illness.

At this point, Vinkinet took over, both offensively and off the boards. Bruce Landry and Bob LeCour turned in great floor game down the stretch.

East Catholic's varsity wrestling squad had its most winning night snapped yesterday at the Eagles' Nest as powerful Avon High won them, 42-15.

The loss was the Eagles' fifth in eight matches while Avon upped its mark to 7-1.

Five Avon grapplers won unanimous decisions plus two pins. East Catholic's Tom White won his foe in the 169 class while Glen Gabrielle turned the trick in the unlimited division.

Maloney Bombs Indians by 35

By Dean Yost

Netting only seven of its 32 field goals from outside the key, Maloney High routed Manchester High last night in Meriden, 80-45 in a C.I.C.C. contest.

From the beginning it wasn't even close as Maloney took the lead for good at the 7:06 mark of the first quarter and steadily built it.

Manchester's spotty offense was directed by Rich Haberman's 11 points. Junior varsity standout Kim Busby saw varsity action but failed to get into the scoring column.

Early in the final period, Maloney azzled Manchester with eight quick points and opened a 34 point advantage, 64-30.

Conard High will invade the Clarke Arena Tuesday night in another O.C.L. test. Game time is scheduled for 8:15.

Conard High will invade the Clarke Arena Tuesday night in another O.C.L. test. Game time is scheduled for 8:15.

Tom Tucker, although present, was not in the starting lineup and didn't see any action. Tucker reportedly pulled a leg muscle. His absence from the court was noticeable as Manchester could net only 15 of 52 field goal tries for 32 per cent.

Manchester opened the second quarter with a full-court press but a well organized Maloney club had little trouble with it. When the Spartans put a little pressure on the Tribe's offense, they were able to pull off numerous steals that lifted them to a 34-14 bulge in the second quarter.

Substituting at will, Maloney used the entire 12

During a recent office visit, Waslewski said all he wants is a chance to pitch. "I know that I've got a major league arm and I can pitch in the big league. During the past three years I have pitched very few innings with Montreal, the Yanks and the Dodgers. Following the World Series, Waslewski was assigned to the Oakland farm system.

While determined to pitch his way back onto a major league club roster, Waslewski is fully aware that his chances suffered a setback when the American League adopted the DPH rule for the 1973 campaign.

Looking ahead to his 14th year in pro ball, Waslewski has been drawing big league checks during this span from five clubs, Boston Red Sox, Montreal Expos, Montreal Expos, New York Yankees and Oakland. He got a taste of the World Series with the Red Sox in 1967, starting once, and coming in on relief in another.

"The designated pinch hitting rule should help get people into the parks," said dark-haired righthander said. "It helps club owners really want to get more scoring who don't want to bring the fences in."

Originally signed by the Pittsburgh Pirate organization, Waslewski has been with 13 clubs in his hop-scotching career, from the minors to the World Series.

Having performed in both the American and National Leagues, Waslewski is an advocate of artificial playing surfaces. "I just don't like them. I don't think many pitchers do. Batted balls really take off and if they are not right directly at an infielder, they take off."

The National League has more new parks (and artificial surfaces) and because of this batting averages are higher. The artificial surface make for 'quick' infielders.

With the DPH rule, starting pitchers will not be lifted in situations when their team is trailing by a run or two late in the game as in the past there will be less appearances by relief pitchers in the future.

At action at the Community Y yesterday, Boland Old edged Coventry 22-19. Brian Charlebois netted 14 points for Boland while Bob Kilpatrick and Brian Shea ripped the cords for four points each.

VFW's Chris Bosser and Andy Plepier contributed 10 and five points respectively.

Behind Tom Orlovski and Gary Birmingham's 10 points the Elks defeated Nassitt Arms, 26-19.

Nothing is a come-from-behind victory for the Manchester High girls cagers overcame an 11-point deficit to trip up Hall High in West Hartford yesterday, 36-33.

The win squared the locals' mark at 3-3 and they now have won two straight games. Next outing for the Red and White will be Jan. 30 against Conn. High in West Hartford.

Dropping behind early in the tilt, Manchester rallied near halftime to close the gap to a respectable 10-10 margin. Battling tooth and nail in the third canto, the locals trailed by three, 28-25 with one period left. With five minutes left, Manchester went ahead, 42-28, and then held off a determined Hall bid.

Major league baseball players like Orlando Cepeda are overjoyed with the new designated pinch hitting rule which has given them a new lease on life. Cepeda should be extra happy in that the Boston Red Sox were reported to have signed the former National League slugger, who was released recently by the Oakland A's, for a reported $100,000.

On the other hand, a pitcher in Gary Waslewski's category finds himself on the other side of the fence.

Waslewski, enjoying his off-season position with radio station WHP in Manchester, is on hand this weekend at the Connecticut Sportsman's Show as one of the guests.

The tall, handsome Connecticut native, only 31, has been up and down on the baseball trail since coming out of Berlin High. He's had his ups and downs, mostly the latter.

At the moment, he's in the Oakland farm system. "I feel that the designated pinch-hitter will eliminate at least two pitchers from each club," Waslewski noted.

"The way I figure it, with 24 major league teams, 48 pitchers will eventually be without jobs," he added.

There are probably only two or three centers in pro basketball who could stay with him.

UCLA's big red-headed junior center, Bill Walton, dominated the game with 23 points, 12 in the first half, and 22 rebounded for the Bruins continually kept the pressure on San Francisco.

Using full court and zone presses, the Bruins harassed USF into numerous turnovers as they took a fast 6-0 lead to start the game, then started the second half with a 16-4 rip.

With still a fourth of the game to go, Walton pulled all of his registers. At that point UCLA was out to its biggest lead of the night, 79-40.

Larry Farmer had 15 points and Keith Wilkes 13 for UCLA while Kevin Restani scored 19 for the Dons who were kept to the outside most of the night by a tenacious Bruin defense and Walton's intimidating presence in the middle.

In other games Friday night, Oral Roberts defeated Los Angeles State 96-86; Butler beat Indiana State 81-76; California-Riverside beat California-Davis 56-50; Northeastern ripped Rider 84-68; Valparaiso won 78-76; Colgate tripped Bucknell 60-56; Wake Forest beat Wake Forest 89-81; New Mexico State 71-68 and UC-Irvine stopped UC-San Diego 69-63.

Unfortunately the Pacers played against the Virginia Squires, the team Bianchi coached during the 1969-70 season.

Bianchi also stated that he was the weakest he has seen his Squires play this season. "We were flatter than hell before halftime, but I was very pleased with their play in the second half. Indiana shot well, very well!"

Bill Keller led the scoring parade with 26 points followed by George McGinnis with 27, Mel Daniels with 20 and Dennis Freeman had 21.

In other ABA action Friday night, the Carolina Cougars edged the Denver Rockets, 117-113, the New York Nets nipped the Memphis Tams, 107-106, and the San Antonio Spurs edged the Utah Stars, 122-116 in overtime.

The Cougars won their 10th game in a row at home thanks to Billy Cunningham's 31-point effort. The Cougars have now won six of their last 10 games.

The New York Nets rode a 33-point, 17-rebound performance by Billy Paulitz to defeat the Memphis Tams, 107-106. It took a layup by 37-point scorer Paulitz to insure the victory for the Nets.

All-Star guard George Thompson paced the Tams with 21 assists by Johnny Newman with 19.

The San Diego Conquistadors scored seven straight points in overtime to stop the Stars. The loss was only the third for the Stars in their last 24 games.

Celts Turn on Power And Overcome Seattle

Boston Coach Tom Heinsohn said of the Seattle SuperSonics. "They are one of the best defensive clubs in the league," Golden State's Nate Thurmond said of the Chicago Bulls.

John Havlicek, held to 10 points through three quarters, scored 18 in the first six minutes of the final period as the Celtics pulled away from Seattle 124-104 for their eighth consecutive National Basketball Association victory.

Thurmond not only scored 17 points and pulled down 27 rebounds but also coached the Warriors in the absence of fib-ridden Al Attles as they trounced Chicago 115-80.

Elsewhere, Los Angeles downed New York 95-88; Milwaukee, minus Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and Oscar Robertson, shaded Portland 108-105; Baltimore traped Philadelphia 110-94; Buffalo topped Detroit 108-88 and Cleveland edged Houston 108-104.

Wast prompted Heinsohn's comments about Seattle's sharpshooting was a first-quarter barrage that gave the Sonics connect on 14 of their first 19 shots. However, the Celtics were not on 60-51 at halftime.

Havlicek finished with 28 points but surrendered scoring honors to Jo Jo White, who had 33. Spencer Haywood topped the Sonics with 25.

The win enabled the Celtics to take a 1½ game lead over New York in the Atlantic Division when the Knicks had their 11-game winning streak snapped by Los Angeles.

Jerry West, who finished with 32 points, and Gail Goodrich, who had 26, sparked the Lakers to a 19-point lead in the second period. The Knicks got it down to five entering the final period and pulled within two before West popped in several clutch baskets.

Walt Frazier topped New York with 24 points.

There are probably only two or three centers in pro basketball who could stay with him.

Rangers Ring Up V Sign

NEW YORK (AP) — The streaking New York Rangers chalked up another V sign Friday night... V for victory, Vickers and Villeneuve.

Rookie Steve Vickers scored twice and goalie Gilles Villeneuve recorded his first shutout of the National Hockey League season as the Rangers ran their unbeaten streak to six games with a 6-0 rout of the California Golden Seals.

Seattle's top scorer, Mike Villeneuve, scored twice and goalie Gilles Villeneuve recorded his first shutout of the National Hockey League season as the Rangers ran their unbeaten streak to six games with a 6-0 rout of the California Golden Seals.

Wants Full Shot

During a recent office visit, Waslewski said all he wants is a chance to pitch. "I know that I've got a major league arm and I can pitch in the big league. During the past three years I have pitched very few innings with Montreal, the Yanks and the Dodgers.

Following the World Series, Waslewski was assigned to the Oakland farm system.

While determined to pitch his way back onto a major league club roster, Waslewski is fully aware that his chances suffered a setback when the American League adopted the DPH rule for the 1973 campaign.

Looking ahead to his 14th year in pro ball, Waslewski has been drawing big league checks during this span from five clubs, Boston Red Sox, Montreal Expos, Montreal Expos, New York Yankees and Oakland.

He got a taste of the World Series with the Red Sox in 1967, starting once, and coming in on relief in another.

"The designated pinch hitting rule should help get people into the parks," said dark-haired righthander said. "It helps club owners really want to get more scoring who don't want to bring the fences in."

Originally signed by the Pittsburgh Pirate organization, Waslewski has been with 13 clubs in his hop-scotching career, from the minors to the World Series.

Having performed in both the American and National Leagues, Waslewski is an advocate of artificial playing surfaces. "I just don't like them. I don't think many pitchers do. Batted balls really take off and if they are not right directly at an infielder, they take off."

The National League has more new parks (and artificial surfaces) and because of this batting averages are higher. The artificial surface make for 'quick' infielders.

With the DPH rule, starting pitchers will not be lifted in situations when their team is trailing by a run or two late in the game as in the past there will be less appearances by relief pitchers in the future.

At action at the Community Y yesterday, Boland Old edged Coventry 22-19. Brian Charlebois netted 14 points for Boland while Bob Kilpatrick and Brian Shea ripped the cords for four points each.

VFW's Chris Bosser and Andy Plepier contributed 10 and five points respectively.

Behind Tom Orlovski and Gary Birmingham's 10 points the Elks defeated Nassitt Arms, 26-19.

Nothing is a come-from-behind victory for the Manchester High girls cagers overcame an 11-point deficit to trip up Hall High in West Hartford yesterday, 36-33.

The win squared the locals' mark at 3-3 and they now have won two straight games. Next outing for the Red and White will be Jan. 30 against Conn. High in West Hartford.

Dropping behind early in the tilt, Manchester rallied near halftime to close the gap to a respectable 10-10 margin. Battling tooth and nail in the third canto, the locals trailed by three, 28-25 with one period left. With five minutes left, Manchester went ahead, 42-28, and then held off a determined Hall bid.

South Windsor Berrio Says Fitts Harassing Council

Barbara Varrick Correspondent TEL. 644-8274 Councilman Richard Berrio (D) this week criticized former Mayor Howard Fitts (R) for "continual harassment of the Town Council"...

Fitts called for action by new office holders who he believed would "have fresh ideas," Berrio said, but argued otherwise. "As a new town official, I feel that finalization of the CDAP report and the experienced gained since elected" puts the governing body "in a better position to assist in putting together a responsible program for the future needs of the town at this time"...

Berrio also attacked Fitts' past record as mayor and councilman in which he said he (Berrio) was unsuccessful in locating priority goals or long range plans made during Fitts' term. "Ever since he and his council were so badly defeated last election, Fitts has been elected to do and stop playing politics," Berrio said.

Director of Public Works William O'Neill, in reviewing recent suspensions of dumping privileges at Manchester's refuse disposal area, has expressed confidence the activity "has had a favorable impact," and will reduce subsequent violations...

In the past three months, three private refuse contractors were suspended for varying periods for dumping out-of-town refuse in the sanitary landfill area. The violations were discovered by checking mailing addresses on some of the refuse.

Private contractors are issued permits at no cost - provided they discard only refuse picked up in Manchester at the landfill area. Violators are subject to a $100 fine for each violation and suspension of permit...

Miscellaneous permits were given to Peter Durnais, Sugar Hill, two-car garage, $2,000; Bryan Peffer, Peter Green Rd., recreation room, $2,000; Francis Duronio, Sprague Lake Rd., garage, $2,500; S and A Builders, Partridge Lane, repair fire damage, $6,000; Gene Pebehek, Ridge Road, ceiling, $150; John Rogers, Buff Cap Rd., bathroom, $350; Greenway Electric, Rt. 150, change letters on sign, $2,000; and C.J. Cervens, Old Stafford Rd., repair fire damage, $1,800.

Luncheon and study, in connection with his services as a consultant, were made possible by a grant from the Council on Library Resources. The one outstanding negative factor in most of the new libraries, he said, is the sameness about their interior layouts, as if all had been designed by one architect...

On the positive side, he added, when it comes to selecting the site for a new library in England, there is no compromise, "a condition that doesn't always exist in the United States. Without exception, he emphasized, in England they are centrally located in the busiest shopping areas. Public transportation over there is excellent, he said. Even without it, he added, the English are inclined to walk more than we, and they do not consider an automobile an absolute necessity.

In England, the town council is also the library board. Lushington showed a slide of a very large library that was converted from a department store that went into bankruptcy before it opened. It is not unusual, he said, to find libraries on the upper floors of "Manchester - Then and Now", the location is the same and the colonial look marks both of Manchester's centers of government offices, dating back to 1689, when the town purchased the original house of worship from the First Society, later Center Congregational Church. It was built in 1826. With its steeple removed, it became the Town Hall.

England's Libraries Active, Accessible

Public libraries in England are active, vital institutions, and the newer ones have been constructed in the most accessible areas for the greatest number of potential patrons. The speaker was Nolan Lushington, who heads the Greenwich Public Library, in the other hand, he said, has up-to-date systems for charging out materials. On the other hand, he said, when a patron takes out books or other library holdings, he is given a token, a great many of which are returned to him by mail. Lushington said that book collections in English libraries tend to be low per capita, averaging about one subject catalogue card are almost nonexistent; there are almost no systems to enable patrons to reserve books; there is comparatively little depth in holdings and a great many duplicate purchases in current materials; and natural lighting dominates almost every library interior.

In connection with his comments on spare collections, Lushington added that inter-library lending is very extensive, and libraries specialize by subject matter. The best paid public librarian in England, he said, receives less than $10,000 annually, and the average is less than $5,000.

Woodsy Owl Wishes You a Happier and a Cleaner New Year

Woodsy Owl is the nation's new anti-pollution symbol. You might have met him when he was first introduced in the fall of 1971. You will be seeing lots more of him in years to come. Woodsy is sponsored by the Forest Service and the Public Service Council. He will remind boys, girls, and adults, too of what they can do to fight pollution. Woodsy will try to control noise, air, water, and soil pollution. He will teach us how to make the world around us prettier. Let's help make this a Happy New Year for Woodsy, too.

Anti-pollution fighter Woodsy Owl and fire fighter Smokey Bear like to visit schools. Inside the costumes are members of the Forest Service.

When Woodsy blows his whistle, it goes "Hoot!" A hoot is a pollution stopper. Here are some "Hoots!" Woodsy's slogan is: "Give a Hoot! Don't Pollute!"	Collect cans, bottles, and papers and take them to the nearest recycling pick-up center.	Don't throw away clothes or furniture. Give them to somebody.
Start an ecology cupboard where you can put strings and paper you can use again.	When possible, ride a bike to school or through the neighborhood.	Put metal tabs from drink cans in the trash. They litter and can harm animals.
Organize a Hooter patrol and, with the help of friends, pick up litter.	Gather unused coat hangers and carry them back to the cleaners for reuse.	Turn water faucets off firmly to stop leaking and to save water.
		Try to make your world prettier and quieter. Plant a tree or something else green.

These children are being very quiet while their teacher is out of the room. They give a HOOT about NOISE POLLUTION.

Give a Hoot about Pollution at School

- Give a HOOT about LITTER. Be on the lookout for messy desks, paper, books, and crayons on the floor, and trash around the trashcans. Keep your bathrooms, cafeteria, and playground clean.
- Give a HOOT about WATER POLLUTION. Use the water fountains just for drinking. Don't put your mouth on the faucets. Don't put paper towels in the toilets.
- Give a HOOT about NOISE POLLUTION. Be very quiet when the teacher is out of the room. Don't make noise in the halls or on the bus.
- Give a HOOT about WASTE. Don't throw away books or write in them. Pass them on to a friend. Use only one paper towel to dry your hands. Write on both sides of the paper. Eat all your lunch.
- Give a HOOT about BEAUTY. Don't mark on the walls or on your desk. Try to stay off the grass. Perhaps your class would like to plant a tree or plant and watch it grow!

Did you know that:

- An acre of young growing trees produces enough oxygen to keep 18 people alive and healthy for one year.
- During the last 30 years the average community's sound level has jumped eight times. Trees can fight noise pollution. When planted in the proper place, they can reduce noise by as much as 50 percent.
- A half billion dollars in wood is lost yearly due to pollutants. These pollutants do more crop damage than bad weather or insects.

Animal of the Week: The Owl

The owl has very big eyes that make him look very smart and wise. Although there are smarter birds, this bird has long been the symbol of wisdom. There are more than 500 different kinds of owls. They are very helpful because they kill rats, mice, and moles. The owl usually lives alone and goes hunting for food at night.

A Mini Page "How Do You Do?"

How do you take a Woodsy soap bath?

1. Save the small bits of soap in a container.
2. Put them into the toe of a nylon hose that Mom no longer wears.
3. Knot the hose very tightly and cut off the extra part.
4. Now you have a Woodsy soap pad.

- You have recycled the hose
- Used bits of soap
- And become spanking clean!
