Rham Teacher Asks Hearing on His Job

MANCHESTER, CONN., SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1973 - VOL. XCII, No. 123

By BARTON REPPERT
Associated Press Writer
Returned American prisoners of war, some voicing sharp criticism of amnesty for draft evaders, have refrained from discussing Indochina prison camp conditions in detail.

What I said was what I had thought and what I thought most of the POWs thought. "All the people I know supporting anyone, I wasn't told to say anything for anyone."

Democrats May Take Bus Issue Back To Court

HARTFORD (AP) - The Democrats are considering another lawsuit to force the administration of Gov. Thomas J. Meskill to solve the bus crisis, House Minority Leader Carl Ajello said Friday.

Without some such drastic action, said Ajello, "the administration will simply continue to protest its good intentions while, in fact, mass transit is dead in Connecticut."

He said he had been informed of the plane's intrusion over one of the most sensitive military areas in the Sinai a few minutes after it crossed into Israeli air space.

INDIRECT EVIDENCE MAY BE IMPORTANT

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

When you want to play a side suit accurately, you can often draw trumps and play the other suits to gather evidence. It's dangerous to use this method unless you have to play the side suits to find out how to play the trumps, but you must sometimes take this risk.

We Find Some Heroes

Americans who have found little to admire in the Vietnam war discovered heroes in the returning prisoners of war and their sober, proud and dignified expressions of faith in God and their country.

Old-fashioned patriotism, apparently out of style in some quarters, should get a rebirth from the quiet eloquence of men like Capt. J. A. Denton of Virginia, proud to have served their country in difficult circumstances and profoundly grateful to their country and their Commander in Chief President Nixon, for "hanging in there until peace with honor was won."

A grateful President responded "my time is yours on that point." So, in good time, returning heroes will visit the White House.

Their faith and trust kept their morale strong. Their discipline and regimen of exercise kept them fit and whistling "California, here I come," kept up their hope of freedom. And as Navy Capt. James B. Stockdale of Illinois said, they lived on loyalty, "loyalty to each other, loyalty to the military ethics, loyalty to our Commander in Chief."

Soberly happy, they relished their freedom as only men who have lost it can, and they eagerly assuaged their hunger for home, family, hot showers and remembered favorite foods.

Let the country honor the POW's who stand as an example to us all, but let us not forget those who gave their lives for the country who served their turn and escaped capture. Let us now renew our faith in God and our country and strive for the mutual respect and reconciliation essential to our national well being.

returning servicemen, the POW's met a pent-up outpouring of sentiment expressed in gifts from ice cream to automobiles.

The comparatively good physical and mental condition of the men released by the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong came as a pleasant surprise to American medical teams ready for anything. None needed emergency treatment and those on stretchers and crutches will get the attention they need at home.

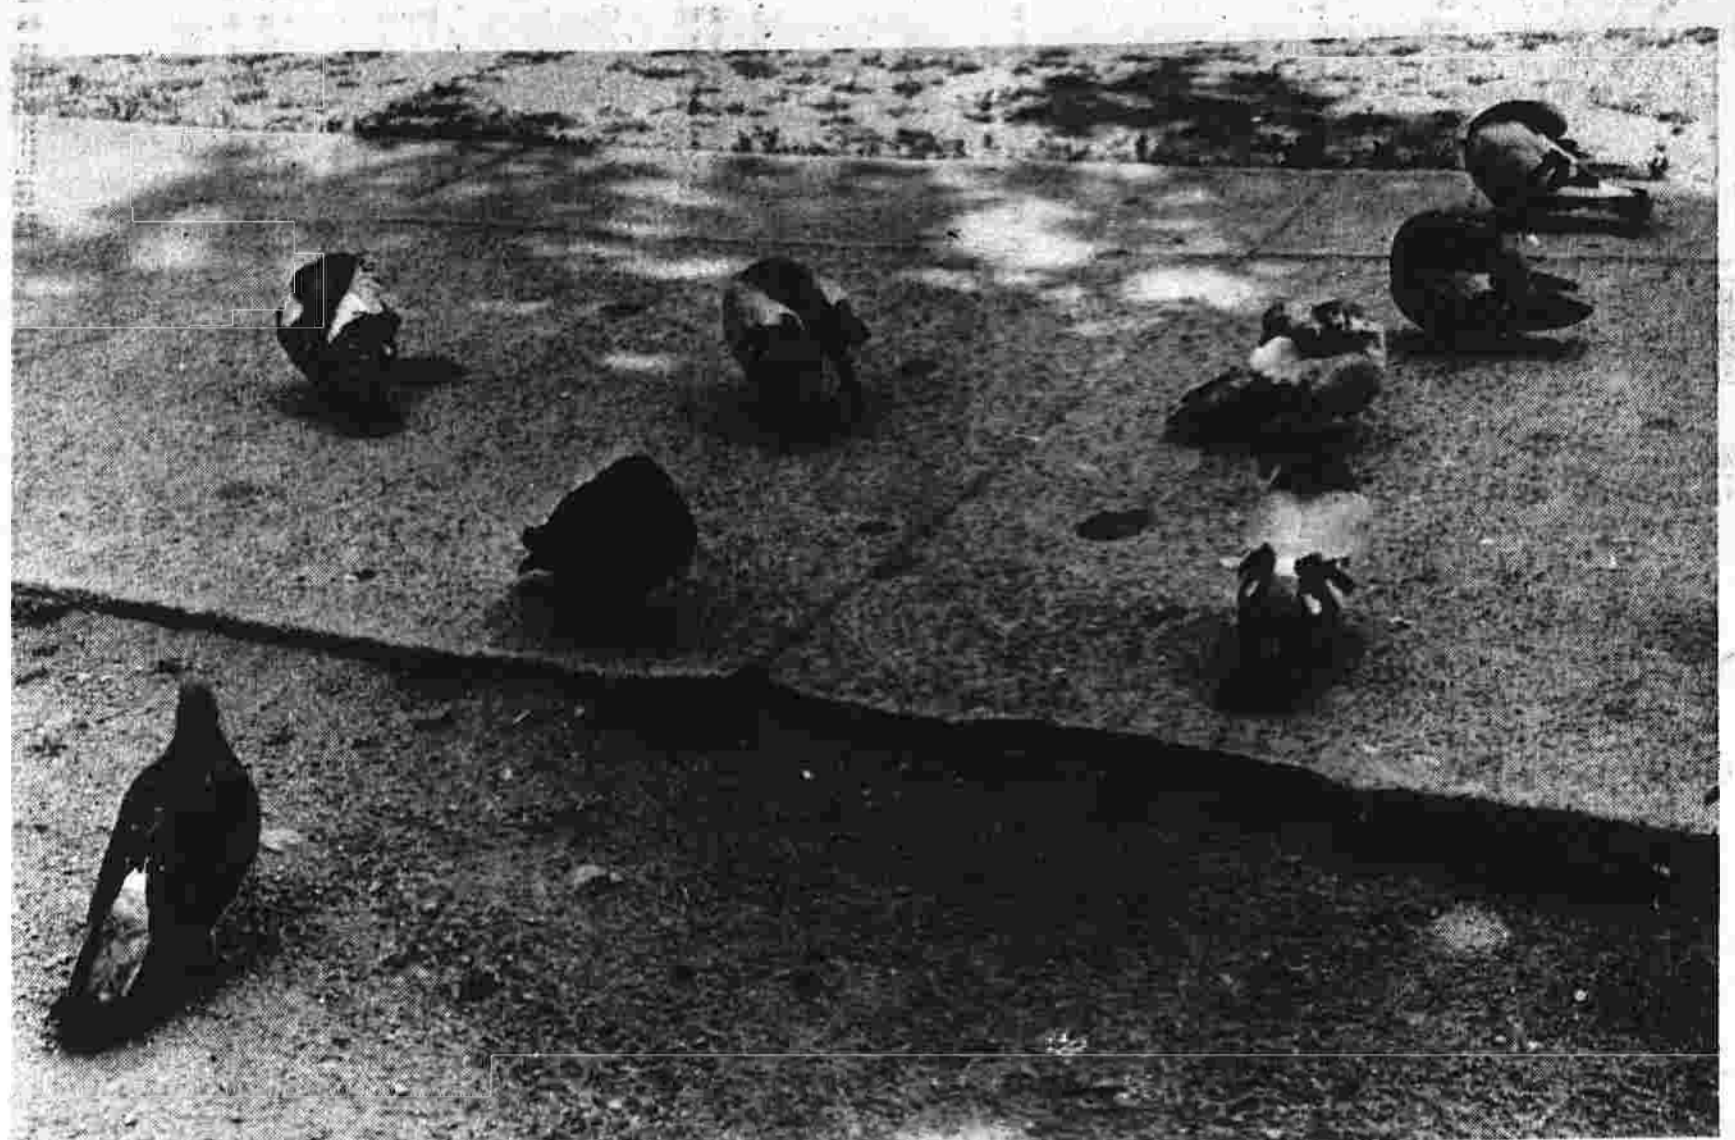

These men are truly heroic, toughened by hardships, and will make with honor and dignity the transition from captivity to freedom and the adjustment to a changed world and changed family circumstances.

For most, an accumulation of non-taxable back pay with interest will ease the return to the ordinary world. For some, the amount will exceed $100,000.00.

More than two million veterans of the fighting in Vietnam have come back without stirring much of a ripple in the public consciousness, too much aware of their own dissidents. But when the Veterans Administration planned to cut Vietnam veterans disability benefits, President Nixon acted quickly to put a stop to that kind of callous economy and the bureaucrat responsible was booted out of office.

Let the country honor the POW's who stand as an example to us all, but let us not forget those who gave their lives for the country who served their turn and escaped capture. Let us now renew our faith in God and our country and strive for the mutual respect and reconciliation essential to our national well being.

Let the country honor the POW's who stand as an example to us all, but let us not forget those who gave their lives for the country who served their turn and escaped capture. Let us now renew our faith in God and our country and strive for the mutual respect and reconciliation essential to our national well being.

Current Quotes

"This is not a local problem. It is a national problem, and the United States must accept its responsibility." — Sen. Howard Cannon, D-Nev., on legislation which would require the federal government to provide anti-nuclear security personnel at the nation's airports.

"The attempt to substitute general revenue-sharing funds for categorical aid programs represents a gigantic double-cross of the rural poor and the city poor of America." — Mayor Henry W. Maier of Milwaukee, Wis., in Senate testimony opposing spending cuts proposed by President Nixon.

"We were saddened today to learn of the shooting down of the Libyan airliner resulting in the loss of some 70 lives. We extend the sympathies of the U.S. government to the families of those who lost their lives in this tragedy." — Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

"I shall recommend a tax program that builds further reforms on those we achieved in 1969 and 1971." — Mr. Nixon, in his State of the Union economic message to Congress.

"No matter what your position never gives you the right to command. It only imposes on you the duty of living your life that others can receive your orders without being humiliated." — Dag Hammarskjöld.

Taxes or Trade?

WASHINGTON — While President Nixon was making an off-hand—but unmistakable—promise that a reform program would be submitted to Congress "sooner than you think," the Treasury was working behind the scenes to sidetrack all tax reform and compel Congress to work on foreign trade legislation.

Contrary to Mr. Nixon's promise to submit a tax reform program to Congress, the Treasury is nowhere near ready with a program. That's because new tariff-cutting and raising authority is the President's top legislative priority while tax reform rates dead last.

Even that did not regenerate administration interest in tax reform. Under Secretary Edward Cohen, the Treasury's top tax reform expert, will postpone drafting the tax bill as long as possible.

Mr. Nixon made clear he was interested in no tax reform bill of any kind. Mills replied he was going to have one passed, like it or not. Mills then said he would like to see a tax "simplification" — excusing from all federal income taxes any family of four earning less than $8,000 and lowering the maximum effective rate on undergoing brain surgery. And a case might be made for the man who tunes in the opening ceremonies on his car radio while in the center lane of Pasadena Freeway.

And there will be those, as always, who take advantage of the law. Some scoundrel will inevitably whistle "The Star Spangled Banner" on a crowded subway merely to grab a seat from an elderly lady.

Not can we overlook the minor inconveniences. When the man next to you on the bus says, "Oh, say, can you see...," you will be forced to rise until he completes his sentence: "...what the next stop is?"

But inconveniences, hardships and dangers are small price to pay for patriotism. "Patriotism," as the great Samuel Johnson put it so well, "is the last refuge of patriots."

The question of what penalties for crime should carry is a difficult one. Let us keep in mind that our Star Spangled Banner is the very symbol of our cherished heritage of individual freedom.

This is a man who fails to stand at attention to prove he believes in our cherished freedom should, at the very least, be kicked to death by those around him who do.

News for Senior Citizens

Hello, folks! Well isn't the weather something just what you need, as the changes in temperature can not only fool you but can also open the door to colds. Take last Friday, for instance. All day we had flurries that weren't going to amount to much, and in fact was going to stop snowing, so I didn't call off the setback games. As a result we had ten brave members come out to the games. We stayed around until nine o'clock playing cards, and had some coffee to go along with our cupcake. We didn't keep any official scores, but from all reports I guess the two top players were Frances Fike and Ed Wilson.

Heralding Homes

The House That Mary Built

Nestled unsuspectingly in the midst of woods at the end of a dirt road in Coventry is a redwood and pine A-frame type home. Rustic in appearance on the outside — to blend in with the natural landscape — this contemporary dwelling becomes a barefoot luxury pad on the other side of the sliding glass window-door.

Mary Ziegler not only lives here on Riley Mountain Rd., she designed and, with the help of her father, built her home. This young woman, in her twenties, became almost as adept at pounding a nail in a shingle and handling a pipe wrench as her father, who is a building contractor.

The glass front and rear of the A-frame are propped supporting six sides to the structure.

The combination of redwood interior and ruby red shag carpeting throughout provides a rich warm setting for Mary's choice of interior decor. She has chosen three massive pieces of furniture in the form of gold velvet and braided sectional sofas set in carved redwood frames. Two are set in the living room area to frame the massive natural stone fireplace. The other sofa, the longest of the three, dominates the lounge, as Mary calls it, which is the balcony area. Other furnishings are complementary. The large coffee table with ornately carved base, features bright neon colors in orange, blue, turquoise and green in an Aztec design on the black surface.

Mary stuccoed the interior walls herself, and she gave the adz effect to the redwood and pine rails and spindles on the stairway and balcony. The dining set is simple, yet in keeping with the rich interior. The circular table and chairs, of a medieval design, are in distressed pecan.

Separating the dining area from a well designed kitchen is a planter divider. Dark wood cabinets and a bamboo bead window drape are natural hemp and orange straw from Jamaica.

The guest room features the bowed rear window of the lower level, and the glass window.

The bathroom decor is a combination of stone and barn boards. The tub is set in the same field stone used for the fireplace. Barn board, which came from an old barn in South Windsor, was used for a small cupboard. A mirror frame and vanity base are also barn wood.

Off the balcony is a studio which has full advantage of the bowed rear window. Here Mary pursues her artistic hobbies. Easels, brushes and tools on the table reveal her interests in painting and silver craft.

Barn board is used for doors throughout the interior.

Decorative accessories include a few well chosen primitive type artifacts. As you turn to go upstairs, a Philippine mahogany mask glares empty-eyed from the wall, an Aztec calendar hammered in bronze shines from a dimly lit wall; a wooden Ho-tai, the Chinese god of happiness, who grants good will when his turmy is rubbed, stands on a stone ledge by the fireplace. Wrought iron hanging electric candelabra and red glass based reading lamps create a soft glow after dark.

Hospitals' Role Explained In Emergency Treatment

VIVIAN V. KENNESON

There had and good emergency rooms, and Manchester Hospital falls in the latter category, according to Dr. Robert Butterfield.

Dr. Butterfield, of the Manchester Hospital Emergency Department, was a featured speaker at the second annual safety program sponsored by the Tolland Junior Woman's Club Wednesday evening.

Uses and abuses of the emergency room were explained by Dr. Butterfield, Dr. Paul Gramling of Rockville Emergency Department and Helen Brissette, president of the Emergency Department of Nurses of Connecticut (EDNAC).

Dr. Butterfield showed X-rays of fractured bones, spoke about burns, nose bleeds, sprains and punctures. He stressed the importance of adults obtaining tetanus boosters at least every ten years, and more often if around horses frequently.

Speaking of the emergency room crises featured in last Sunday's Parade magazine, Dr. Butterfield agreed that the use of ex-military medical corpsmen and nurses would lessen the load of doctors.

Dr. Gramling stated he is the only full-time physician on staff at Rockville Hospital Emergency Department. His talk concentrated on poisoning and drug overdose, both accidental and otherwise.

According to the Poison Control Center, there were 142 fatalities from approximately barbiturates, in 1970. Of these 78 were suicidal, half from carbon monoxide and a third from medication drug overdose.

Of the 2,500 calls received, 85% were regarding children under five years. However, only 45% of the 187 persons actually treated in 1970 were under five, many of whom involved aspirin.

Dr. Gramling stressed the importance of staying calm, getting help quickly and bringing the poison container to the hospital with the patient.

Prevention is still the best cure, and Dr. Gramling warned that all medicines and poisons must be kept out of children's reach.

Dr. Gramling also reported the rising problem of alcohol abuse, describing typical person's appearance and behavior upon arrival at the emergency room with a case of alcohol poisoning.

Manchester Hospital's new Emergency Department was added in December 1971 and has six full-time physicians on staff. Dr. Gramling notes that Rockville Hospital is a small facility that can handle almost every emergency, but not the volume of Manchester.

Both doctors agree persons should call their own physicians first; however, in a true emergency situation one shouldn't wait for a return call.

Mrs. Brissette, on staff at Manchester Emergency Department, explained that the patient is evaluated by the nurse as to the degree of urgency and sent to the appropriate area for treatment.

EDNAC advocates the use of R.N.'s, trained in emergency procedures, to treat certain types of cases freeing the doctors for true emergencies, such as cardiac arrest.

Mrs. Brissette stated that Manchester's Emergency Department saw 33,000 patients in 1971, compared to 6,000 in 1959. Projected figures for this year are 40,000, many of which are not true emergencies and which could easily be treated by trained nurses if it were allowed under state statutes.

She explained that the high percentage of abuse of emergency facilities is creating increases in insurance rates and hospital costs.

Both the Tolland Volunteer Ambulance Association (TVAA) and the Tolland Volunteer Fire Department. A manned displays and exhibited equipment. Over fifty persons attended the program and were encouraged to practice on the TVAA's "resuscitation Annie," a lifelike dummy.

Pamphlets were distributed including information on home safety, poisons, artificial respiration, heart trouble signs, fire prevention and a first-aid summary.

Mrs. Brissette displayed a chart of Manchester's emergency cases from 1959 through 1972. She pointed out that Rockville Hospital Emergency Department is presently at the stage Manchester was in 1965. She stated the EDNAC is looking forward to Rockville's continued growth, both to serve their immediate area and to alleviate the situation at Manchester.

Brainard Lauds Transit Solution

HOLLY GANTNER

State Rep. Jesse Brainard of Coventry, representing the 53rd Assembly District (Coventry, Tolland and Willington), says that he supported the recently signed bill permitting communities to establish regional transit districts because it is "the most realistic way of dealing with the present impasse between a few large city bus companies and their employees."

"My constituents came through loud and clear," said Brainard, "that they would not tolerate a one cent, statewide tax on gasoline to bail out a handful of city busline operators, who despite legal monopolies under PUC regulations, have demonstrated that they still can't handle it. The new law not only provides a means of picking up current and future deficits through a legally imposed levy on one cent in taxes on gas sold within a transit system, it also sets new incentives and opportunities for local busline operators to operate profitably."

"The Democrats," said Brainard, "are attempting to mix oil and water by claiming that mass transit and localized bus transportation are one and the same, and the state's responsibility."

"Put in its simplest terms," Brainard concluded, "this new law enables a board of local elected officials to levy the one cent tax whenever in its joint meeting operating costs fall into the red. If the franchised operator can operate profitably, then no regional tax is necessary or justified. If he can't, the local agency can look around for another operator who can."

Selectmen Decline Schedule Change

VIRGINIA CARLSON

The Board of Selectmen has voted to continue to meet the first and third Tuesdays of each month as they have in the past, despite a recommendation from the Democratic Town Committee.

The Board of Education had changed its meeting nights to the first and third Tuesdays because Superintendent Arno Damjanin cannot meet with the board on Mondays because of other commitments.

The Democratic Town Committee suggested the selectmen change their meeting night so townpeople would have the opportunity to attend all meetings.

First Selectman Howard Bates said he could not understand why the school board changed its meeting nights to Tuesday when they had the entire month to change to.

He added, "The Board of Education has been meeting about two years on one of our Tuesday meeting nights. Apparently there was no conflict at that time."

According to Bates, the change to Tuesday evenings is only temporary and could be settled before July. He said the school superintendent has indicated to him that it isn't necessary for him to attend school board meetings since Clarence Edmondson has been appointed assistant superintendent.

Complaints of Ley Roads
The selectmen also heard complaints from four residents of Oakwood Lane about a "dangerous ice condition" at the end of Oakwood Lane on Rt. 6.

Complaints of Ley Roads
The selectmen also heard complaints from four residents of Oakwood Lane about a "dangerous ice condition" at the end of Oakwood Lane on Rt. 6.

Bates said both ends of the property are wet, but the town proposed the middle high land for the disposal area.

He said the state has jurisdiction over such a matter and there must be an engineered layout for the area. He said state officials are fully aware of what is going on and so far agree this is the best place in town for a disposal area.

Bates added that the area to be used for disposal is not close enough to the Hop River to affect it.

The Democratic Town Committee had also asked the selectmen to look into better snow removal.

Bates said he didn't know there had been any deterioration in snow removal this winter from past years.

He said there are any unusual or unsatisfactory conditions he would like to know about them. He added that the same man is doing it with the same equipment as before.

Mrs. Jeanne Bender of Cherry Valley Rd. the board of assessor's clerk, was appointed to do the rate book for a fee of $2.75 an hour.

The selectmen will set a date to meet with John Luhrs Jr., engineer, to discuss alterations at Columbia Lake Dam.

Three-Mile Record For Ex-Policeman

NEW YORK (AP) - Tracy Smith chased convicts for two years. Now he's chasing track records—and getting them. Smith, a Los Angeles policeman for two years before resigning last August, tracked down the world indoor three-mile mark Friday night with a blazing clocking of 13 minutes 7.2 seconds at the National AAU Championships before a roaring crowd of 15,943 at Madison Square Garden. His time shot down the old mark of 13:09.8 set by schoolteacher George Young in 1962. Another world record was smashed by 30-year-old George Woods, a 6-foot-2, 300-pound giant who now is an admissions counselor at his alma mater, Southern Illinois University. Woods, using a borrowed shot from rival Bruce Wilhelm of the New York Athletic Club, heaved the 16-pound ball 89 feet 9 3/4 inches at the Columbia Air dome, where three afternoon finals were held. But he had to wait before his record time was certified. Following Woods' throw, which bettered the mark of 69.5 by Al Feuerbach earlier this year, Wilhelm said: "I know that the shot is underweight and illegal. Don't bother weighing it," he told chief field judge Dr. Charles Blanford. The ball was weighed anyway—and found to be legal. Meanwhile, Marty Liquori won what he said would be his final indoor race, capturing the mile in 4:33.5, edging dogged Reggie McAfee, who had the same time.

Whalers Deserve Rest After Exhausting Slate

BOSTON (AP) - Coach Jack Kelly figures his New England Whalers deserve a little vacation after playing with no more than one day's rest since mid-January in the World Hockey Association. "This was a good way to end our long busy stretch," Kelly said Friday night after the Whalers defeated the Alberta Oilers 4-2 in the only game in the WHA schedule. Miller Optimistic In Baseball Dispute

NEW YORK (AP) - A "reasonably optimistic" Marvin Miller, fresh from briefing a number of players in Los Angeles, was back in New York today for another round of negotiations aimed at reaching a settlement of the dispute that has prevented major league baseball teams from opening spring training camps. "We have been meeting daily," said Miller, executive director of the Major League Baseball Players Association. "We will meet Saturday. Also Sunday, if necessary. Based on the last few days we are reasonably optimistic." Asked if a settlement could be reached within 48 hours, Miller replied, "I hope so."

"The players are solidly behind the Players Association," Miller reported. "They are more united than ever. The purpose of the meeting was carried out—to provide players with an up-to-date report of negotiations in New York." Friday's meeting was the first of seven scheduled around the country during the next two weeks if no settlement is reached. Spring training officially begins March 1—pitchers and catchers usually report before that—and Miller has said there will be a meeting of all player representatives in New York March 1 if the owners refuse to open the camps by that date. The key issues in the dispute are the reserve clause, which binds a player to his team unless he is traded, sold or released, and salary arbitration.

O'Connell Heads South

BOSTON (AP) - General Manager Dick O'Connell took off for Florida Friday amid optimistic reports that a settlement is near in the contract dispute between the players' association and major league club owners. O'Connell flew south while other front office help remained home awaiting word from negotiators. They're ready to take off on short notice. "We're trying to keep busy, but it's pretty difficult to work because our records and record books were shipped to Florida early this month," a Red Sox spokesman said. Several Boston players are in Winter Haven, working out on their own although barred from the Red Sox' camp at Chain O'Lakes Park. They include Carl Yastrzemski, Carlton Fisk, Doug Griffin, John Kennedy, Rico Petrocelli, Craig Skok and Vic Correll. O'Connell probably will meet with some unsigned players during the weekend. They include Fisk and Griffin.

Goalie Learns Painful Lesson

Goalie Bob Sneddon of the Springfield Kings learned a painful lesson. A net-minder just can't wander too far against the high-powered Cincinnati Swords. Sneddon wandered to far from his post in an attempt to retrieve a loose puck and Cincinnati's Jake Rathwell scored into an open net Friday night. That was all the spark needed as the Swords rallied from a 3-0 deficit for a 5-3 American Hockey League victory. In the only other action, the lowly Baltimore Clippers upset the Boston Braves 4-1, and the New Haven Nighthawks played their third consecutive tie in a 5-5 standoff with the Richmond Robins.

Sign Draft Pick

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - The New Orleans Saints announced Friday they have signed their 12th round draft choice—Paul Orndorff, a 6-foot-1, 210-pound running back from Tampa, La. However, Rathwell got the Swords rolling with his goal at 5:15 of the second period. Rathwell tallied again and Steve Richardson and Ron Busnik followed with goals before the end of the session. Don Brennan, added an insurance goal in the finale.

Temperamental Nastase Fined for Not Trying

SALISBURY, Md. (AP) - Ilie Nastase, of Romania, a stormy tennis talent frequently embroiled in controversy, has been fined $500 by fellow players for not trying to win his quarterfinal match in the U.S. National Indoor Open Tennis Championships. The fine was imposed by the Independent Players Association while the $500 tournament was still in progress Friday night, along with a reprimand and the threat of suspension should the action be repeated. Nastase, the top-seeded foreign player who was favored to win the $9,000 first prize, played only in spurts after objecting to some early line calls in his match with Brian Gottfried, the No. 4 American seed. Most of the time, however, the world's second-ranked player obviously was deliberately trying to lose points, and before the match ended he had quarreled with four line-men. Nastase faulted on services while aiming the ball at line-man Tom McDermott, hit balls far past the baseline or well short of the net and stood motionless as shots bounced well within his range. In addition to the fine by the IPA's Management Committee, Nastase faces possible disciplinary action by the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association. Veteran tennis official Mike Blanchard, judge of the match, said of the display by Nastase: "I've never seen anything worse." Gottfried, the tenth-ranked American player who was easily defeated by Nastase in the Clean Air Tournament last year, said the performance by Nastase, "wasn't fair to me, or to anyone else." Gottfried's opponent in this afternoon's semi-finals will be Karl Meiler of West Germany, the No. 4 foreign seed who defeated Sandy Mayer of Wayne, N.J., the second-seeded American, 6-3, 6-2. In a night match, Jimmy Connors, the top-seeded American from Miami, Fla., will play Frank Froehling of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., the only unseeded player to reach the semi-finals. Connors defeated Juan Gilbert of Spain, the No. 3 foreign seed, 6-2, 6-7, 6-4. Froehling split two tiebreaker games while edging unseeded Jeff Austin of Rolling Hills, Calif., 6-7, 7-6, 6-3.

Tour Sophomore Forrest Fezler Twists Too Much

...as He Falls But Sinks Putt for Bird on 17th Hole

Young Golfing Leader Can't Explain Position

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) - Forrest Fezler, a youthful tour sophomore, had no real explanation for his lofty position atop the standings in the rich Jackie Gleason golf classic and said he had no idea how he'd headed the pressure of the fight for a $52,000 first prize. The mustached 23-year-old Californian found his three-under-par 69 Friday left him with a two-stroke lead over challenging Lee Trevino going into today's third round. Fezler had a two-round total of 136, eight under par on the 7,128 yard Inverrary Golf Club course, and was two in front of Trevino. Trevino, the British Open champ who didn't really threaten in the seven-week western swing, had a 69 despite a missed 3 1/2-foot putt on the final hole. Gibby Gilbert took over third place with a 70-139 and Jack Nicklaus birdied three of his last four holes to move into position with a 69-142. "Well," said Nicklaus, the pre-tourney favorite, "at least I'm back in the tournament."

Yale Springs Upset in Ivy Over Harvard

NEW HAVEN (AP) - Mike Baskauskas led Yale to his biggest victory of the season Friday night, upsetting Princeton 63-61 in an Ivy League basketball game. Baskauskas, Yale captain, made nine of 13 field goal attempts and took game scoring honors with 22 points. The Tigers, who had a 9-1 league record going into the contest, remained tied for the Ivy lead despite the loss, because the Quakers lost to Brown at Providence, 53-51. Tim Kearns made a pair of foul shots for the Elis to offset another Manassas jumper with only ten seconds remaining, and Scott Ferguson clinched the victory for the Elis with just three seconds left to account for the final margin. Kearns finished with 14 points and Ferguson added 13 points and a game-high 11 rebounds.

Havlicek Knee Question Mark

BOSTON (AP) - John Havlicek, the Boston Celtics' nagging knees, has enjoyed a little rest, but he's listed as a doubtful starter for a National Basketball Association game Sunday night. "There's no way of telling until I test my right knee before a game," Havlicek said Friday after sitting out another practice. "It's a game-to-game thing." Despite his ailments, including a bruised ankle, Havlicek has remained in action, playing key roles in the Celtics' seven-game winning streak. "John is a very courageous person and I know he'll play if at all possible," Heinsohn said.

RICHMOND, Va. The last 20 spots for the 500-race around the 3.43-mile track were filled by 20 other drivers.

Sunday's rolling will be the first in the finals for Simmons, one of the best young small pinners in town. Women's play will be on a handicap basis. Mrs. Colby has a 19-pin handicap and Miss Nocke, a high school senior, 20 pins. Competing for third and fourth places will be Howie Hampton and Burt Claughey with Nancy Belsky meeting Mary Arcand. Bulls Come on Strong And Turn Back Knicks

NEW YORK (AP) - The way the Chicago Bulls were talking, it sounded as if they hadn't done a thing right—and for the first half of the game, that's about how things were. But they were talking about the final 12 seconds, when everything they did worked out just fine. The Bulls appeared out of Friday night's National Basketball Association game against New York by halftime as the Knicks blew away to a 57-33 lead. Cleveland clobbered Portland 121-102, Houston humbled Philadelphia 138-116, Phoenix beat Buffalo 125-106, Seattle defeated Atlanta 124-120 and Golden State downed Los Angeles 111-106. In the American Basketball Association it was Carolina 107, New York 93 and Denver 129, Memphis 103. What the Bulls did in the second half was get hot. In one stretch they outscored New York 26-6. By the start of the fourth quarter the Bulls trailed by only four points. And they went ahead 74-73 midway in the period. Detroit did a comeback thing of its own against the Bullets. The Pistons trailed by six points midway in the final period and scrambled back to tie it 106-106 with 45 seconds left. Bob Lanier's 10-foot hook shot at the buzzer gave the Pistons the game. Austin Carr and Gen Wilkens, who teamed for 49 Cleveland points, led a third-quarter surge in which the Cavaliers took a 55-48 halftime lead and turned it into a 94-68 bulge over the Trail Blazers. The Piers, who had the league buzzing with their sudden winning ways, returned to midseason form. They were out of their game against Houston by the end of the first period, when they trailed 43-25. Dennis Layton came off the bench to score 10 points late in the second period, then Charlie Scott scored 12 of his 29 early in the fourth to carry the Suns past Buffalo. Rick Barry bruised his back and was carried off the court in the second period. Then he came back and helped carry the Warriors past Los Angeles. He scored 12 points in the second half, five of them in a burst as Golden State outscored the Lakers 13-2 to lock it up. Dick Snyder and rookie Bud Stallworth clicked for six points apiece as the SuperSonics rallied from a 114-108 deficit against the Hawks to a 122-116 advantage with 39 seconds to go.

College Basketball Roundup

Long Beach State Upset, Losses in Own Backyard

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The only place third-ranked Long Beach State seems to find basketball trouble is in its own backyard. The 49ers, going for their fourth straight Pacific Coast Athletic Association championship and a trip to the NCAA regional playoffs, were upset Friday night 107-104 by Los Angeles State in double overtime for their second loss of the season—both in conference play. Long Beach is now 22-2 with the earlier loss a 68-61 split with San Jose State last month, also in PCAA action, and is now 8-2 in the league. Raymond Lewis, a sophomore scoring machine, hit 53 points for Los Angeles including eight of the 20 points in the second half, three minutes left when New Mexico went to work. Led by Darryl Minniefield, the Lobos chopped the deficit to one point and seconds left but couldn't jump. Eddie Morris' 15-foot jump shot with two seconds left enabled Brown to beat Penn 53-51 after a seasaw second half. However, the Quakers retained their share of the Ivy League lead at 9-2 when Yale, only 9-13 over-all, upset Princeton 63-61. Reggie Royals scored 30 points and Otis Cole 24 to lead Florida State to an 86-69 triumph over South Alabama. And Sam Houston State, the nation's top-ranked small college team with a 24-0 record, wrapped up an undisputed Lone Star Conference championship with an 80-63 win over Texas.

Defensive, Alertness Key Win

By The Associated Press Billy Cunningham says the reason he is leading the American Basketball Association in steals is defense and alertness. Cunningham and his Carolina Cougar teammates used defense and alertness to steal New York, bind on their way to a 107-80 victory over the injury-plagued Nets Friday night. Billy C added four steals to his league-leading total of 175 and added 19 points to the Cougar cause. "We kept the fastbreak tempo going, and our defense led to many layups." In the only other game in the ABA, the Denver Rockets blasted the Memphis Tams 129-103.

Tennis

COLOGNE, Germany - Jan Kodes, Czechoslovakia, beat top-seeded Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill. 6-1, 7-5 and moved into the semifinals in the Cologne World Championship Tennis Tournament. Pats Ordered to Pay Garrett Back Money

NEW YORK (AP) - Commissioner Pete Rozelle of the National Football League has directed the New England Patriots to pay Carl Garrett back pay for their suspension of the running back during the 1972 season. The decision was made earlier this week, Jim Kensil, executive director of the NFL, said Friday. Garrett was suspended on Nov. 16 without pay for missing a team practice while he said he was ill. Rozelle ordered Garrett reinstated for the last two regular season games, but delayed ruling on back pay until now. In the meantime, Garrett has been traded to the Chicago Bears. In addition to checks for three games which Garrett missed, the Patriots were ordered to pay $5,200 more money to Garrett. The total amount is more than $12,000. Other performance bonus money was denied by Rozelle as was any penalty to the Patriots as requested by the National Football League Players Association, which had filed a grievance to have Garrett reinstated after his suspension. Bethel Police Arrest 11 In Big Raid

BETHEL (AP)—Eleven people were arrested late Friday night on a variety of drug-and liquor-related charges, Bethel police said today. Acting on a warrant issued by the Third Circuit Court in Danbury, Bethel police and an agent from the Southwestern Regional Crime Squad raided Angelo's Bar and Grill in Bethel and charged permittee Angelo Prodote, 51, of Bethel with five counts of unauthorized sale of liquor and eight counts of selling liquor to minors, police said.

Swerdloff Out of Post, Claims Policy Conflict

Mark Swerdloff, coordinator for the past three years of the Drug Advisory Council's "Crossroads" Center on Park St., has severed relations with the Council, following a conflict over program policies. However, the parties involved have expressed differing views about the methods by which the coordinator's services were terminated. Swerdloff stated that he received a letter from the DAC, telling him his services would no longer be required. A press release from Paul Moss, DAC president, said that Swerdloff "will resign as of March 2 in order to devote full time to his law studies at the University of Hartford, in which he has been enrolled since last September." Moss further noted that "Swerdloff was honored at a recent DAC meeting and presented with a plaque as a token of appreciation for his devoted service in trying to contain the spread of drug abuse in Manchester." According to Swerdloff, the DAC and he are in disagreement on the programs offered and policies adhered to at "Crossroads," and as a result, the DAC did not renew his employment contract. Swerdloff said he felt "the more casual programs were more effective at the Center, while the DAC was trying to present more formal programs."

Dr. Balzano May Head Up ACTION

HARTFORD (AP)—A man who worked his way up from collecting garbage in New Haven to become a member of President Nixon's staff soon will be appointed director of ACTION, the agency that combines the Peace Corps, VISTA and other volunteer programs, according to published reports. Dr. Michael Pasquale Balzano's appointment is "imminent," according to the Hartford Courant, which quotes administration sources in Washington. Balzano, 37, a native of New Haven who dropped out of high school and went to work as a city garbage collector, was appointed to Nixon's staff in the spring of 1972. Since then, Balzano has been working on projects concerning blue collar workers and the restoration of what he calls the "achievement or work ethic." He also serves as Nixon's liaison with ethnic groups. While working for New Haven, Balzano earned his high school diploma from night school. In 1966 he was graduated with high honors from the University of Bridgeport. After graduation, Balzano became a licensed optician in Connecticut and in 1971 received a Ph.D. in political philosophy from Georgetown University in Washington, D.C. Nixon first became aware of Balzano when he criticized the VISTA program in his doctoral dissertation, saying the anti-poverty agency was more interested in politicizing the poor than in helping them. With the merger of VISTA and the other agencies into ACTION, Balzano became a consultant to Joseph Blatchford, the new agency's director.

Rham Teacher Asks Hearing, His Contract Not Renewed

A hearing with the Regional District 8 Board of Education has been requested by a teacher at Rham High School in Hebron who was informed by the board that his contract for next year will not be renewed. According to Atty. Karl Fleischmann of the firm of Satter, Fleischmann and Scherback of Hartford, who is representing Bernard Hartshorn, a non-tenure teacher in the music department at Rham, Hartshorn has requested the hearing and "intends to question the propriety of the board's action." Fleischmann stated yesterday that Hartshorn "believes that upon a full hearing the board will have adequate reasons to reconsider its decision." This decision, not to renew Hartshorn's contract, has been confirmed by Dr. David Cattanch, superintendent of schools, who stated the board reached the decision during an executive session held the evening of Feb. 15. Cattanch would make no further statement other than he "could give no comment as to reasons for not renewing the contract." Hartshorn's attorney also did not wish to reveal the reasons at this time. Board of Education members also are not committing themselves at this time. Several reached by telephone yesterday preferred to make no comment mainly on the basis that the issue is a personnel matter. Sentiment The board's decision appears to have aroused public sentiment in favor of Hartshorn in the three district towns of Hebron, Andover and Marlborough. At least two student petitions are being circulated—one requesting students to sign "If you don't want Mr. Bernard Hartshorn to be fired" and the other supporting the "renewal" of his contract. Almost 100 signatures have already been placed on these two petitions and many more are expected next week when school reopens following a week's vacation. Adult groups and individuals are also seeking Hartshorn's reinstatement through letters to the board. The Andover Rural Music Committee, as a result of a unanimous vote by members attending its Feb. 19 meeting, has written a certified letter to each board member, to the superintendent and assistant superintendent of schools, to the principal and assistant principal at Rham and to the music director at Rham expressing concern with the board's decision. Concern has also been expressed by several individuals that the board's action might be the result of administrative difficulties.

Girl Scouts Start Drive For Members

The Connecticut Valley Girl Scout Council's first Sustaining Membership Enrollment Drive opens today and will continue through March 10. Funds raised during the drive will be used to help maintain Camp Merrie-Wood, other day camps as well as a resident camp and to provide camperships for needy girls and meet rising operating expenses. Other volunteers will be making personal calls in their areas. Those wishing more information about the membership enrollment drive may contact the Connecticut Valley Girl Scout Council offices, 74 Forest St., Hartford.

Town Cutting Trees Close To Reservoir

Wood from the trees which the town is cutting down is now being used for firewood in the warming huts at town skating areas and at Northview Ski Slope, but O'Neill said there is a proposal that the town sell it as firewood, with the profit going toward some conservation project endorsed by the Board of Directors. The watershed work is one of several undertakings that have been possible because the light snowfall so far this winter has freed town crews for other work, O'Neill said. Another is clearing the dirt road now used as an exit from Globe Hollow swimming pool. The open winter has permitted Park Department crews to remove more dead trees from parks and along streets than would normally be possible, O'Neill said.

East Hartford Man Dies In Crash at Ellington

An East Hartford man is dead as a result of a one-car collision on Jobs Hill Rd., Ellington at 2 a.m. today. Dead is George E. Griffin, 25, of 33 Mathew Rd., East Hartford. A passenger in the vehicle. Gary T. Thayer, 26, of Wallingford was taken to Rockville General Hospital with head injuries. Hospital authorities said he was admitted for observation of possible internal injuries and added that his condition was satisfactory. The Griffin vehicle was northbound on Jobs Hill Rd. when it went off the left side of the road, striking a pole and snapping it in two, police said. The accident is still under investigation, police said. The Callahan Funeral Home, 1602 Main St., East Hartford, is in charge of arrangements, which are incomplete.

Georgia Votes To Restore Death Penalty

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Gov. Jimmy Carter says he will sign a bill restoring the death penalty in Georgia despite predictions the federal courts will strike it down. "I'm not going to predetermine my decision on what a court might do if a challenge is filed," Carter said Friday. The new law makes murder, rape, armed robbery and kidnapping by death when aggravating circumstances are involved such as lasting physical or mental damage to law victims or the slaying of a police officer acting in the line of duty. Opponents of the measure argued that only poor people and blacks have been executed in the past. The new law received final legislative approval Thursday on a 47-7 vote in the Senate.

Man Killed In Collision

DERBY (AP)—James Fletcher, 21, of Seymour was killed about midnight Friday when the car in which he was riding struck a parked auto, police said. Another passenger, Janet Kruga, 15, of Seymour was listed in fair condition at Griffin Hospital in Derby, officers reported. The driver of the car, Donald Sadlem, also of Seymour has been charged with negligent homicide and freed on $1,000 bond, according to police. Sadlem was treated at the hospital and released.

Dr. Niles To Address Junior High Faculties

Dr. Olive Niles will be the luncheon keynote speaker at the first released time in-service training session for junior high school teachers, which will be held Tuesday afternoon at Iling Junior High School. Luncheon will be served at 12:30 p.m. with workshops to follow. Bennett and Iling students will be dismissed at 12:45. The theme is "Reading Across the Curriculum." Dr. Niles is reading consultant for the state Department of Education. As some junior high students are not good readers, which makes learning difficult in all areas, subject matter workshops will be held to assist the teachers. The following are the workshop leaders by subject areas: Dr. Niles, social studies; Mrs. Frances Klein, director of reading for the East Hartford school system, English and foreign languages; Raymond Zanotelli, reading consultant at the John Wallace Middle School in Newington, mathematics. Also, Dr. James Skiffington, professor of reading at Eastern Connecticut State College, science; Dr. Mary Greene, department of home economics at the University of Connecticut, home economics; and Herbert Sheppard, principal of the John Wallace Middle School, unified arts program (art, industrial arts, physical education, music). During the released afternoon time, special education staff members will visit the Stonegate School in Durham, a private school for mentally retarded teen-agers.

Morrissey, 230-A New State Rd. is chairman of the bake sale.

Woman Charged With Death Of Daughter

ENFIELD (AP)—Police charged Suzanne T. Healy, 40, Friday with first-degree manslaughter in the stabbing death of her 13-year-old daughter. Mrs. Healy was arrested at her home about 5:30 a.m. after Gwyneth Ann Healy, 13, was stabbed twice in the chest with a kitchen knife, police said. They said the girl's father, James, told them he was awakened about 5 a.m. by a noise in the kitchen of the home and came downstairs to find his daughter's body lying on the kitchen floor. Healy said his wife "appeared to be in shock." Police said Mrs. Healy was taken to Norwich State Hospital for observation and she was scheduled for arraignment on the manslaughter charge Saturday. Detectives declined to give any motive for the slaying. The Healys have another daughter, age 3½.

Stamp Collecting For Beginners

A beginning stamp collector's kit could include (A) a book form album, (B) or a loose-leaf album, (C) stamp hinges, (D) and a stamp packet.

This stamp collector uses a catalog to help identify a stamp.

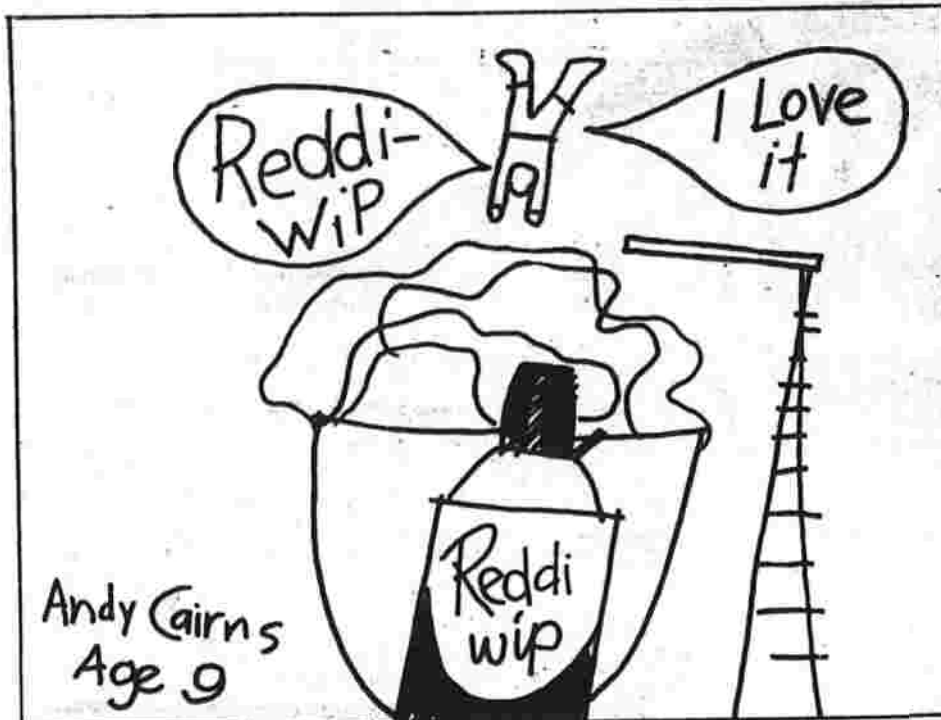

For children, beginning a stamp collection is educational fun that can lead to the discovery of a lifetime hobby. Experts say that it is important to keep your beginning stamp collection materials very simple, so you don't become discouraged and so you can get a basic understanding of the hobby before you invest a lot of money. The beginner might want to start with an album, a packet of stamps and a pack of stamp hinges.

Albums
Albums come in many sizes and prices. Though it is best that you have an album that is loose-leaf type so you can add to it, beginners might want to start with a less expensive one in book form. You will want the printed type that has pictures and spaces for the stamps. Young collectors might want to start with a world wide album and later specialize in U.S. stamps, or subject stamps or stamps from one special country.

Stamp Packets
A stamp packet is a collection of stamps put together by dealers. The packets vary in size and can hold as many as 2,000 stamps or more. You might want to start with a packet of 500 stamps. You can buy these packets at stamp stores and also at some hobby shops.

Stamp Hinges
The simplest stamp hinge is a piece of thin but strong paper that is gummed on one side. Since you should never use glue on a stamp, it's best to use hinges to fasten stamps in your album.

Stamp Collecting Book
You might also want to get a very simple book on stamp collecting. (Next week's Mini Page will be about collecting U.S. Stamps)

For the Serious Stamp Collector

If you find that you are really interested in stamp collecting, you can add stamp tongs, a magnifying glass, a perforation gauge and a watermark detector and stamp catalogue.

Stamp tongs

You can use these to pick up stamps when you identify them. They are also helpful when mounting (or putting) stamps in your album. Stamp tongs have rounded edges, so Mom's tweezers won't do.

Perforation gauge

A perforation gauge is helpful in identifying certain stamps, especially the U.S. ones. Perforations are the holes between the rows of stamps. They make the stamps easier to separate.

Watermark detector

A watermark is a pattern that is made into paper while it is being manufactured. An example of a watermark is "bond" stationery that carries the trademark of the manufacturer. You can see it when you hold it up to the light. To use your watermark detector, put your stamp face down in a special fluid in a small black tray. Don't use the fluid unless an adult is around to help. Keep it out of reach of younger children.

Stamp catalog

Stamp catalogs serve as guides. They list stamps by number and also give the price. This helps in swapping and buying stamps. Pictures and a brief description of the size, color, perforation and watermarks are also given. You can find catalogs at most libraries or you can buy them.

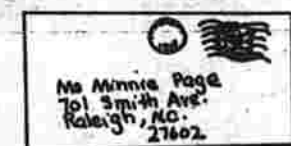

Stamp Words You Should Know

Cancellation—This is the mark the Postal Service stamps over stamps.

Killer bars—The wave-like bars that go over the stamp to make it no longer valid.

Coil stamps—Stamps in a roll.

Mint—A stamp is a "mint" stamp when it has not been canceled, is in good condition and looks as if it has just been issued. In most cases these are considered the most valuable. An "unused" stamp is one that has never been canceled, but the gum is no longer on it. New stamps are also called "unused" when they have been hinged into an album.

Super Sport: Jack Nicklaus

Jack Nicklaus is the first player in golfing history to win $300,000 in a single year. This year he won a total of $320,542 in 19 tournaments for an average of $16,871 per tournament. He also is the only golfer ever to complete what is known as the "double grand-slam." He is the only player to win the four top tournaments in the world at least twice. He has won four Augusta Masters, three U.S. Opens, two British Opens and two PGA Championships. Nicklaus is known as "The Golden Bear." He also enjoys fishing. He travels in his own jet.

A Mini Page Quiz-a-roo!

How do you get stamps off a letter?

- Cut the stamp away from the envelope and then soak the stuck stamp in cold water. Never use warm or hot water. The stamp will float when it becomes unstuck. Don't soak too many at one time. Soak stamps from colored envelopes separately so they won't bleed.
- Lay your stamp face down on a newspaper or on a paper towel to dry.
- Press the stamp between the pages of a book if it has become wrinkled.

Animal of the Week: The Koala

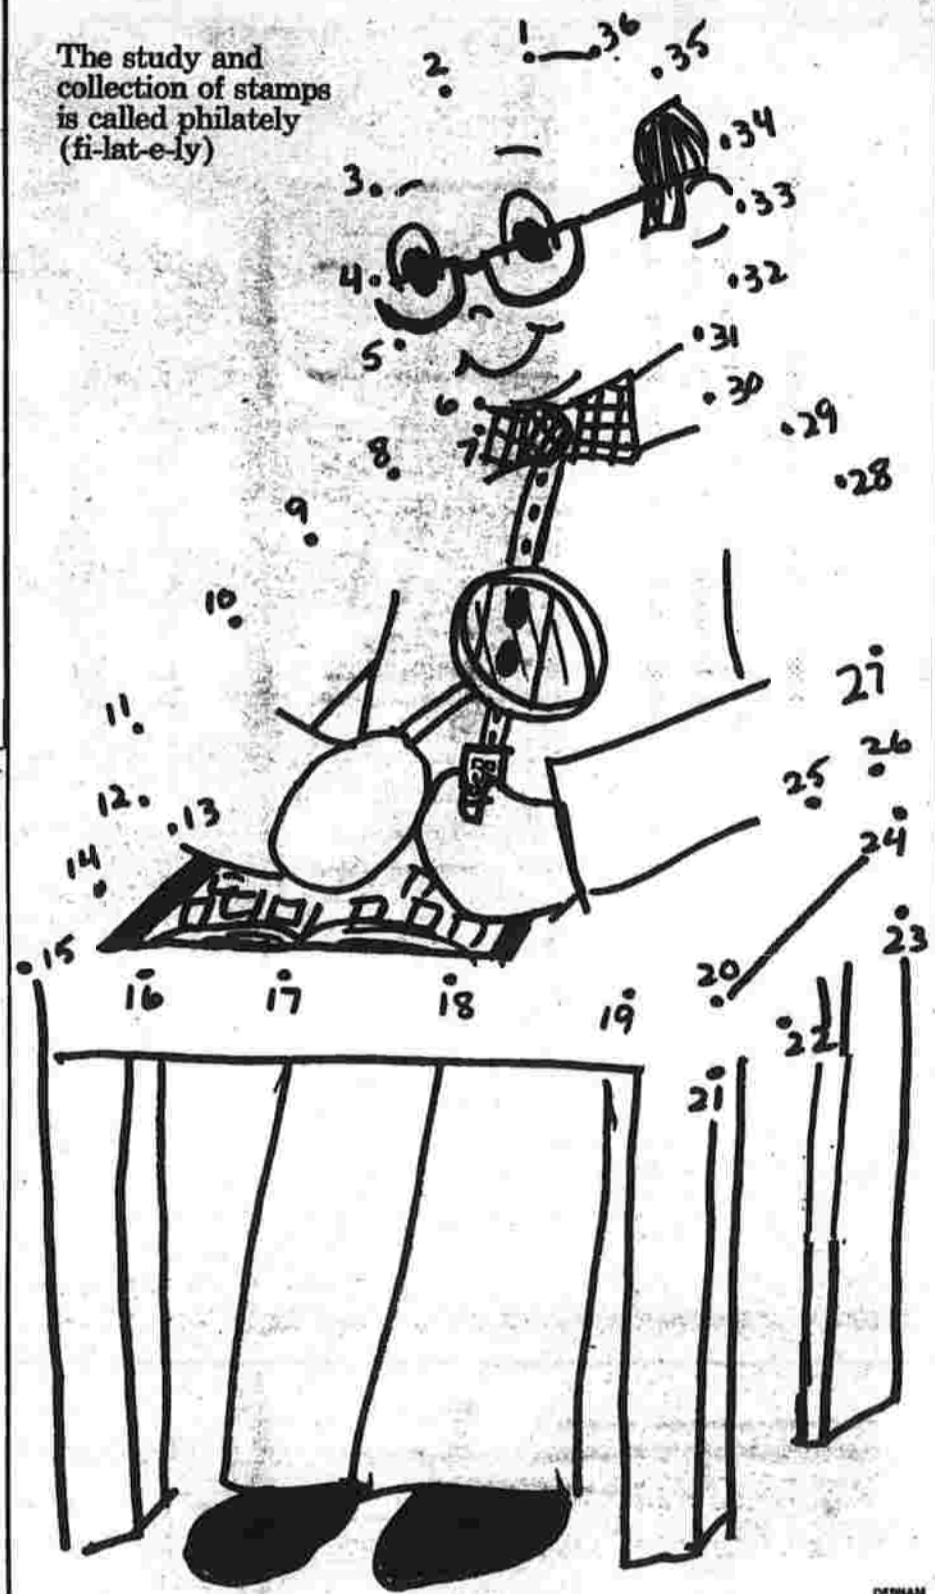

Koalas look very much like cute little bears. These unusual animals live in eucalyptus trees in Australia. They eat only the leaves of these trees. Koalas never drink water. They get the liquid they need from these leaves. Their name means "never drink." Koalas are nocturnal which means they eat and stir around at night and sleep during the day. The mother carries her baby in her pouch until he is about 6 months old. Then he rides around "piggy-back", hanging on to his mother's neck for another six months. At one time the koalas were nearly extinct. The Australian government protects them now.

A Mini Page "How Do You Do?"

How do you make a stamp decorated pencil holder?

1. Cover an orange juice can with felt. Fasten ends with a strong glue.

2. Glue on stamps. Be careful what stamps you use. Use damaged ones or ones that you know are of no value.

You can decorate a glass ashtray by pasting stamps face up on the bottom. Paste felt on as the background.

You can also cover a lamp shade or an ice cream container.
