Vietnam Conference Opens In Paris

Simple Peace Keeping Machinery Requested

PARIS (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers called on an international conference on Vietnam to set up simple machinery to make certain peace there does not fall into jeopardy. Canada expressed its displeasure at the present system and threatened to pull out of the peacekeeping commission in South Vietnam.

Canada officially informed the conference that it will quit the four-nation peace supervisory commission in Vietnam by April 30 unless an international authority is established to deal with cease-fire violations.

This is both a joint and individual responsibility, he said, which means all participants should consult with each other on a regular basis concerning the agreement. Rogers said there should be some link between the conference members and the four parties manning the International Commission of Control and Supervision — Poland, Hungary, Indonesia and Canada.

Such a relationship would permit the conference to keep track of important developments, Rogers added. Sharp told the 13-party conference Canada might also withdraw from the commission if it is unable to function effectively in the field. He introduced a resolution calling for U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim to receive commission reports. In addition, Waldheim, a conference participant, could reconvene the sessions if necessary.

The conference settled on morning sessions to allow the delegations to work on the details of a final document. U.S. and North Vietnamese officials scheduled an afternoon meeting to prepare a working draft of such a statement. It will be presented to the formal drafting committee at its first formal session Tuesday morning. U.S. officials said, however, the U.S.-Hanoi presentation would not automatically be accepted.

Transit District Gas Tax Alternate Called Daydream

HARTFORD (AP) — A proposal to allow transit districts to dip into the state gasoline tax without having to impose a local surcharge amounts to little more than "daydreaming," says House Speaker Francis Collins.

The man who holds the veto power, Gov. Thomas J. Meskill, returns to work today after a week's vacation. Under the new proposal, transit districts would be able to tap the state gasoline tax for one penny of every gallon sold in the district.

It was proposed by state Rep. George C. Ritter, D-Hartford, and is supported by Senate Majority Leader Lewis B. Rome, R-Bloomfield, and the Senate chairman of the Finance Committee, Lawrence J. DeNardis, R-Hamden.

Ritter, who is also a member of the Greater Hartford Transit District (GHTD), said he was urging the plan because the surcharge tax law, enacted only two weeks ago, has "a disincentive instead of an incentive to the towns."

Officials from several of the nine towns in the GHTD have expressed dissatisfaction at the current law because it would mean an additional tax in their towns. Robert Zwirner, chairman of the GHTD, said that regardless of the fate of the proposal the district would meet Thursday to vote on the penny surcharge on gasoline sales.

Pool Very Briefly Integrated

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Six young women, at least three of them made, briefly integrated a University of Wisconsin swimming pool which has traditionally been reserved for males. University police said that by the time they got to the scene Sunday, the women were already out of the water and toweling themselves dry. The women were asked to leave and did.

The other three panelists will be Mayor John Thompson; William O'Neill, until last Friday Manchester's director of public works and now employed by Griswold and Fuss, consulting engineers; and Dr. David R. Miller of the University of Connecticut. Dr. Miller is assistant professor of natural resources and conservation and conducts courses on the environment in UConn's extension program. State Comptroller Nathan G. Agostinelli, who was Manchester mayor from 1966 to 1971, will be moderator of the forum. Two Teachers Will Retire

At tonight's meeting in the Administrative Annex, 45 School St., at the home of Mrs. Florence Woods...

Mrs. Woods has been a member of the system for 29 years. A Manchester native, she joined the system in 1945 and taught in four elementary schools until her appointment in 1955 as teaching principal at Robertson School...

The board will also act on a request for leave of absence for Mrs. Kennedy, superintendent of schools, who will include curriculum projects, a grant proposal relative to the New England Program in Teacher Education, physical education requirements in connection with new high school graduation requirements, Project Concern funding, and the report and recommendations of the Governor's Commission on Public Employment Relations...

There will be reports from Beldon Schaffer and Mrs. Eleanor Colman, chairman and co-chairman of the personal and finance and the educational policies and communications committees, respectively. Robert Spillane, representative to the Capitol Region Education Council, and Paul Greenberg, building and sites committee chairman, are an architect for the proposed Regional Occupational Training Center on the Manchester Community College campus, renovation of the original Robertson School for central administration offices; and the Citizens' Advisory Committee on secondary school space problems.

With a terrible cry he opens his eyes and sees the bright light of her lover as the curtain falls.

That's so far as the plot is concerned, but it is not the opera. The music is Puccini at his best. It is one of three operas Puccini wrote and staged them all to be given one after the other. You may have heard "Gianni Schicchi" last season, which is one of the others, and you may have heard "Suor Angelica" at Hartt a couple of seasons back. They are the other two.

Puccini was 60 when he wrote these works and by the very height of his powers. He handles the orchestra merrily well, and for my money the music is better than that in either "Cavalleria" or "Pagliacci" which are far more popular. This is not to belittle those operas, but to give you an idea of what a fine work "Tabarro" really is.

The cast will include Placido Domingo, just about the finest tenor around today. The soprano will be Maria Galvany, noted for a big voice and fine acting ability. She will be making her first appearance in Hartford. Rita de Carlo, my favorite here, for the numerous roles she has sung will be the soprano. Three weeks have been spent auditioning and selecting the performers to organize a group of entertainers.

The show will be a variety revue with music furnished by the senior citizens' own band, many of whom are former professional musicians. The various acts will include vocalists, instrumentalists, dancers, a magician, and comedians.

Hector LaGace of 166 Bissell St. is directing the show. Tickets will go on sale March 3 for one dollar per person, and may be purchased from LaGace.

The same artists will also be heard in "Cavalleria" which comes first on the double bill, I believe. It usually comes first when "Cav" and "Pag" are done together, in any event, and it appears on the bill and have from Connecticut Opera.

So better get your tickets if you are not a season subscriber. It looks like a fine evening of opera with a cast that has box-office appeal.

NO BELL RINGS AT BRIDGE TABLE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

When you look at a bridge column, you have the advantage of knowing that somebody is supposed to do something bright. If you were playing the same hand at the table, you might think it was a routine hand and would miss the point. Nobody rang a bell to wake East up when today's hand was played, and he eventually discovered that the bell had tolled for him.

South dealer Both sides vulnerable Opening lead — King of Spades

West opened the king of spades, and South shrewdly played a low spade from dummy. He feared a six-card spade suit in the West hand and was no sense in playing the ace of spades from dummy, thus forcing East to ruff.

No matter how West continued, South was sure to gain the lead to draw a sum of trump and then ruff his losers in dummy. If West hadn't taken the ace of clubs, South would have discarded both clubs from dummy on high diamonds, and then declarer would have made an extra trick. As it was, South made game and rubber.

Due to a typographical error in Friday's Herald, the government study committee and its chairman, Atty. Harold Laws, might have been unjustly accused of undermining the town government. It was something just short of a revolution.

The article said the committee's chief executive officer and all other town officials be denied.

The committee was not advocating anything so drastic, as the last word in the quote

A Lesson Of History

President Nixon has warned against the danger of growing isolationism as the nation turns once again from war to peace. The record shows past wars were followed by the desire to turn inward and leave the world to its own devices, a record as dismal as it is plain.

Like an ostrich with its head in the sand, the United States has blithely ignored the ultimate reckoning of years of deficit spending, both at home and abroad. At long last foreign markets taking in more dollars than they want to spend, sought to put their dollars into stronger currency, notably the yen and the mark.

Devaluation of the dollar twice within 15 months has eased the crisis but hasn't solved the problem of stable international exchange or the continuing habit of allowing outgo to exceed income.

The United States has too much at stake in the world to try to retreat behind tariff walls, certain to cause resentment and retaliation. Our late enemies, the industrious Japanese and Germans, were enabled by America's postwar help to become our most potent trade rivals.

Now, in a mistaken effort to redress the balance we have failed to achieve for ourselves, Rep. Wilbur Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, has suggested a 15 per cent surcharge on all foreign goods brought into the United States. This would be on top of the devaluation of the dollar and would serve to reduce American purchases of foreign commodities by making them cost still more.

Such a barrier might improve the balance of trade situation but not if other nations reacted with high tariff restrictions of their own as they would be apt to do. An approximate balance in international trade is the goal, not a decline that could lead to worldwide stagnation.

Treasury Secretary George Schultz, opposing a rigid tariff, said the administration had considered a surcharge but rejected it in favor of a flexible policy, which would give the U.S. the maximum bargaining power in working to ease trade restrictions, while being able to reward nations with liberal trade policies and to penalize those which seek to stifle competition from American goods.

Reciprocity in trade has worked well and played an important role in relieving the economic chaos of the 1930's depression.

If those gains appear to have been lost, it is because of the inflationary policies of the U.S. government.

Reversal of those policies is our country's greatest need.

Our Fiendish Plot
In East Whinnig

It was in the 43rd year of our lighting campaign to wipe out the dread Viet-Namian guerrillas out of West Vhning.

And while we hadn't precisely wiped them out, we'd finally ended the war on a unanimous note of victory. In fact, all four sides claimed it.

As our custom after victories, we immediately dispatched our ace negotiator, Hughes Kissinger, to the enemy camp in East Vhning with a basket of money to repair the damage our bombers had done.

His meeting there with his East Vhning counterpart, the recalcitrant Kris Ma Phut, resulted in some of the toughest bargaining of his career.

As Kissinger worked his way through the rubble of the People's Proletarian Ping Pong Parlor & Meeting Place for the historic session, he put on a brave smile.

"Hi, there, Phut, old buddy," he said. "My, you really ought to get a cleaning lady in to straighten up this mess."

"We're always glad to see an American drop in," replied Phut, "but usually they do so by parachute."

"I hope you're not going to be a sorehead just because we bombed the jabbers out of you for 43 years," said Kissinger. "Let's let bygones be bygones, we say ha-ha. Here, have a couple billion dollars for your troubles."

"What's for?" asked Phut, suspiciously drawing back. "Why, to rebuild all those bridges, houses and hospitals we accidentally blew up," said Kissinger. "Having spent a $100 billion to level your nice little country, our President feels the least we can do is put it back in shape again."

"Just as I thought," said Phut triumphantly. "You've run out

Today's Thought

"We cannot build our individual leaders to heaven and leave the total human enterprise unredeemed of its excesses and corruptions. For the Church and individuals to urge kindness to our brothers, one by one; while ignoring social structures that damn them all in all, is to be irrelevant to our society, and unfaithful to the fullness of the Gospel." Rhinold Neuhar

It cannot be an either/or situation in our churches and individual lives, but both.

Personal goodness always runs the risk of being irrelevant. If we are decent and nice to someone whose life at the same time, is twisted by the system in which he lives (and which we know and/or unknowingly help to maintain), then our personal goodness, decency, love, and justice does not matter very much.

We Thank You, Mr. President

Let's doff our hats to Mr. Nixon, President of the U.S.A.

For the notable promise he made and kept on his first Inaugural Day.

To halt the war was his chief concern and he took the task in stride.

To bring a lasting peace with honor Where four hundred thousand died.

T'was a difficult undertaking I think most will admit.

So many problems to iron out, Resolving patience, time, and grit.

So forever may we be grateful For the Honorable Richard M. For abating the terrible conflict In the swamps of Vietnam.

Let's all sing Hip, Hip, Horray, And a dozen "Ship Ahoy's"

As we welcome home our fighting men And all the P.O.W. boys.

Hats Off To Rec Department

This writer was present at the Manchester High School swimming pool the night of Feb. 14 enjoying the family swim night along with some 20 children and 20 adults.

At approximately 7:10 p.m., the entire swimming pool area was plunged into complete darkness. Temporary confusion and loud shouting followed.

The tense situation was quickly controlled and the pool emptied thanks to the quick action of the life guards on duty that evening.

Fortunately, there were no injuries or serious consequences from what could have been a very tragic situation. The cause would have been attributed to the fact that the emergency lights did not function until 30 minutes after the initial power failure.

One can't help but wonder where the responsibility rests for ensuring the safety of our children in such places of public assembly. I do hope it is not the intent of those responsible for the proper maintenance of our town's educational buildings to sacrifice the safety of our children while letting the maintenance standards slip to such new lows.

It is comforting to know that the Recreation Department has not lowered their standards in being able to provide competent lifeguards that can react to this type of emergency in the manner in which they did.

Three's a Crowd

Sam watching from the mountain and waiting to pick up the pieces.

In fact, however, that Soviet line grossly underestimates the Nixon-Kissinger team's own acute awareness that the game of triangular world politics now being played with Moscow and Peking is extremely dangerous to all three parties.

Sitting in the cabined seat rapidly warming his relations with both Moscow and Peking, the U.S. is in a position to play one off against the other—"to divide the commies," as one high official puts it, to Washington's own advantage.

Thus, any sudden indication that Mr. Nixon is playing games with one of the Communist powers at the expense of the other could act immediately to "de-stabilize" the delicate relations with the suspicious power.

It is precisely such "de-stabilization"—a possible byproduct of Kissinger's warring visit to Peking with no parallel visit to Moscow—that now worries top policymakers here.

Even without "de-stabilizing" the new harmony between Washington and Moscow, some experts here have been saying privately for months that the odds are at least 50-50 in favor of a Soviet strike against the growing Chinese nuclear arsenal.

If the Kremlin has actually pondered such a military strike against the growing Chinese nuclear arsenal, it would obviously make it more likely.

The analogy used here takes the form of a question: How likely is it that Washington policymakers react if Mexico were about to reach a second-strick nuclear capability against the U.S.?

That is precisely the chilling prospect in China which now confronts Moscow.

Library Succeeds With Coffeehouse

The Coffeehouse sponsored by the Rockville Public Library has survived its trial period, has proved very successful and will be continued as long as possible, according to the library staff.

The Coffeehouse, started about two months ago on a trial basis, has had attendance pick up substantially over this period. Attendance is now divided into two separate groups, one for students in Grades 7 and 8 and the other for Grades 9-12.

Attendance for the Junior Library staff said attendance has picked up in an embarrassing low of five to the late night of 40 students.

Poison Information Center Reports On 1972 Operations

HARTFORD (AP) — The state Poison Information Center received 2,822 poisoning inquiries during 1972, 83 per cent of them concerning children under five years of age, the state Department of Health reported.

The largest proportion of the inquiries, 30 per cent, involved medications, said Health Commissioner Franklin M. Foote.

"These figures show how great a problem accidental poisoning accidents in homes where there are young children," Foote said.

"Children do not discriminate their sense of taste for three days for treatment of illness caused when they are given large numbers of a non-prescription diuretic tablet recently."

The children took the "water pills" without their parents' knowledge, and developed nausea and peristaltic vomiting, becoming dehydrated, Foote said.

"Children often swallow prescription drugs that are even more potent than the over-the-counter diuretic that the two young girls took," Foote said.

Constables May Attend Rham Class

ANNE EMT Correspondent Tel. 228-3971

First Selectman Aaron Reid reported to the Board of Selectmen that there is a possibility of a constables' training class being conducted at Rham High School.

The town had participated, through state funds, in a study concerning police protection along with Andover, Bolton, Columbia and Marlborough.

According to Reid, there are funds still available following the study performed by a tri-county study committee and these funds could be used for the constables' class.

Ambulance Study The board discussed again the formation of an ambulance study committee, as requested by Harvey Desruisseaux, and postponed any action until its next meeting.

Recreation Selectman Robert Craig presented a request from residents in the Forest Park area concerning the possibility of a hockey rink being cleared in that area.

Reid estimated it would cost approximately $1,000 for equipment alone, but will try to get some estimates as to total cost.

The town has received the new outdoor cooking grills which are to be installed at Grayville Falls. Craig will inspect them before payment is made.

Constable Acting on a recommendation from the Republican Town Committee, the board appointed Roger Crosby as constable to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Adolph Simons.

Environmental Series "Oil Spills and Their Impact" will be the topic of the film to be presented Friday evening at 8 at the Town Office Building by the Hebron Ecology Club in connection with its winter environmental series.

This film, by Dr. Robert Hildebrand, is specifically in reference to the recent problems encountered in Long Island Sound as a result of oil spills.

Export Embargo Sought

HARTFORD (AP) - U.S. Rep. William R. Cotter, D-Conn., is urging President Nixon to temporarily embargo exports of American grain in order to bring down the price of meat and baked goods for American consumers.

In a letter to Nixon released Sunday, Cotter also called on the president to "establish a White House-level procedure for allocation of grain supplies whose primary goal will be assuring adequate supplies to domestic markets at reasonable prices."

"Because the federal government waited until last month to allow farmers to increase the acreage under grain cultivation, Cotter said, there has been only a one per cent increase in the amount of winter wheat planted this season compared to the 1971-72 season.

"U.S. grain supplies will not be large enough this spring and summer to meet both the domestic and mushrooming foreign demands," Cotter said.

Vernon Hearing Set On School Liquor Ban

Prior to the regular meeting of the Town Council tonight, the council will hold a public hearing on a proposed ordinance concerning prohibiting possession, consumption, sale or distribution of alcoholic beverages on school grounds or in school buildings.

The ordinance will provide the proper vehicle for police action against violators.

The council will also discuss several requests made by the council meeting as to whether acceptance of the plan school grounds, particularly at Rockville High School. The ordinance will provide the proper vehicle for police action against violators.

South Windsor Petition for Hearing Filed with Clerk

BARBARA VARRICK Correspondent Tel. 644-8274

More than the required one per cent of registered voters in South Windsor signed a petition, circulated by members of the South Windsor Association of Citizens (SWAC) this weekend, calling for a public hearing to air advantages and disadvantages of a 6-3-3 school structured plan.

The Board of Education named three prospective 6-3-3 plans at the means of solving the student overcrowding problem, which has existed in the high school for several years, and continues to grow while elementary school population declines.

All three plans call for placement of students from Grades K-6 into elementary schools, Grades 7-9 in a middle school and Grades 10-12 in the high school. Modularity purchased for high school use will be installed at the elementary and middle school levels and additional classrooms will have to be purchased. The high school population will then decrease to 1,150 students in a building which currently has a capacity of more than 1,450, with installed modular classroom use.

According to SWAC President Allen Ober, the group worked to obtain a little more than the required 80 voter signatures necessary to petition for a public hearing. The petition calls for a "full and complete disclosure of specific details of a 6-3-3 plan adopted upon the recommendation of a subcommittee of the Board of Education, including the effects of the plan's implementation on the total school system."

Ober said Sunday night that the petition was filed with Town Clerk Charles Enes to allow him time to check the names against the voter list, before presenting it to School Superintendent Charles Warner who, in turn, will present it to the board.

A regular board meeting is scheduled for tomorrow, at the Wapping Elementary School, at 7:30 p.m.

Ober said the board presented plans for implementation of a 6-3-3 structure which, in his opinion, "were vague."

Earlier this month, SWAC members said the decision by the board was the same thing that obscure reviews of plans studied in subcommittee were presented without giving time to study the plans fully.

Ober said the decision was made to go a 6-3-3 structured route as opposed to double sessions or a Wapping Annex Plan.

Costs of the plan vary from a high cost "full program" of $164,965, to a "bare bones" curriculum cut plan of $25,500. A modified plan calls for the expenditure of $129,500.

SWAC is holding a meeting at the Society for Savings Bank at 7:30 tomorrow, Ober said, where the membership will have representation at the Board of Education meeting.

The only item appearing for discussion by the Board of Education on the agenda tomorrow is a request by the town of Winchester to be included in the Capitol Region Education Council, at which South Windsor is a voting member. Winchester is outside the Capitol area but has expressed interest in participating in the council.

Kissinger Hopeful Hanoi Will Give Full POW Listing

NEW YORK (AP) - President's adviser Henry A. Kissinger says North Vietnam has promised "a full investigation" into the fates of some 1,300 Americans who are still unaccounted for in Vietnam.

However, he would not discuss his role in last December's resumption of heavy bombing in North Vietnam, saying, "I have one absolute rule which is that I never discuss publicly what I recommend to the President."

Asked if his recent talks in China had led him to believe that the Chinese might be willing to join in arms limitations talks, Kissinger replied, "The Chinese problem is quite different from ours, and from that of other of the major powers. Their nuclear program is in its infancy and any of the limitations that are now being discussed between us and the Soviet Union occur at a level of nuclear armaments that is probably unimaginable for the Chinese."

He also said President Nixon will be spending more of his time and "taking a greater interest" in Middle Eastern affairs now.

3 Lice Prey On Humans Elizabeth, N. J. - Three types of lice prey on humans - head lice, the body louse or "cootie" of World War I fame, and the crab louse. All depend on human blood for survival.

He said the United States was not opposed to unification through peaceful, political means. "If the performance on one part or the other is so clearly superior to that of the other that it tends to achieve moral superiority over the other, that is not an American concern," he said.

The wide ranging interview also touched on Kissinger's working relationship with the President. First, he said reports of a strain in their relationship during the last stages of the peace negotiations were unfounded. Then he provided a glimpse of how he and Nixon work together.

"The President, before I go out on a diplomatic mission, doesn't write down specific points that I am supposed to achieve. What the President does is to write down for himself, on a yellow sheet, four or five or six major issues, and the pros and cons of each issue. Then he will call me in, go over them and over them and if I have any ideas I will present them to him. But he talks much more in general terms of where we want to go, so that I clearly understand what he has in mind."

The wide ranging interview also touched on Kissinger's working relationship with the President. First, he said reports of a strain in their relationship during the last stages of the peace negotiations were unfounded. Then he provided a glimpse of how he and Nixon work together.

"The President, before I go out on a diplomatic mission, doesn't write down specific points that I am supposed to achieve. What the President does is to write down for himself, on a yellow sheet, four or five or six major issues, and the pros and cons of each issue. Then he will call me in, go over them and over them and if I have any ideas I will present them to him. But he talks much more in general terms of where we want to go, so that I clearly understand what he has in mind."

Asked if his recent talks in China had led him to believe that the Chinese might be willing to join in arms limitations talks, Kissinger replied, "The Chinese problem is quite different from ours, and from that of other of the major powers. Their nuclear program is in its infancy and any of the limitations that are now being discussed between us and the Soviet Union occur at a level of nuclear armaments that is probably unimaginable for the Chinese."

He also said President Nixon will be spending more of his time and "taking a greater interest" in Middle Eastern affairs now.

Coventry Dr. Hardy Proposes $2,327,233 Budget

HOLLY GANTNER

A proposed budget of $2,327,233 for the 1973-74 school year, up 16.5 per cent over the current figures, has been presented to the Board of Education by Dr. Donald C. Hardy, superintendent of schools.

Hardy told the board that the new budget has already been cut by about 2 per cent at the administrative level, and that an increase of 9.3 per cent is required in any event to maintain existing programs. Of this increase, 6.6 per cent involves anticipated salary increases for all school staff.

New programs being proposed by the administration include a new language arts program for Grades 4 through 8, since test results over the past two years indicate a need for revision in this area; an experimental seventh grade science program; and adult education program; and an alternative school program at the high school level. New staff members are being proposed for Grades 5 and 9 to avoid an anticipated 20 to 1 pupil-teacher ratio.

Procedure now calls for board review of the proposed budget, followed by submission of the document to the Town Council, all prior to the April budget hearings and May Town meeting.

Meeting late last week, the school board also reviewed the report of the transportation committee, as submitted by Robert Walsh, board member and committee chairman.

The report was accepted without implementation, and the board agreed to indirectly present bus contractor Floyd Monroe, bus manager Lillian Robbins, and another bus contractor to its March 15 meeting, as well as a representative from the School Transportation Scheduling Service.

The present two-year bus contract expires at the end of this school year.

Tolland Seeks Rec Director

VIVIAN V. KENNISON

The Tolland Board of Recreation is seeking a new director of recreation to replace John Campbell, who resigned January 1973. Campbell had held the position since the board's inception four years ago.

William Baker, chairman of the Board of Recreation said applications will be accepted through Feb. 28. The salary is $12,000 to $22,000, depending upon related experience.

The part-time, year-round job is "ideal for a teacher or UConn student," according to Baker. It usually requires less than seven hours per month, except during the summer months when it becomes a full-time job. Accordingly, the salary can be broken up with larger paychecks taken during the summer season.

The director is responsible for care and maintenance of Crandall's Park, the town's summer recreation program, hiring of maintenance men, concession operators, lifeguards and swim instructors.

The applicant chosen would start immediately, as swim registration is due to begin soon. The director need not be certified in water safety, but it would be helpful. The director would attend Board of Recreation meetings and would consult with the board on the hiring of summer help.

Tolland applicants will be given preference but out-of-towners are not excluded by applying for the job.

Improvement Plans
Plans for improving Crandall's Park this year include sealing the tennis courts, setting lights up, and repairing the backstop on the ballfield. Baker stated that the board plans to cooperate fully with the staff of Tolland in the proposed summer craft

Good News Hard To Detect
By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — The public has become accustomed during the past few years to receiving some very distasteful cost-of-living figures sauced over with official comment that things were better than they seemed.

If the news looks bad, it is often so only because of the interpretation given the facts by newsmen without educated tastes. If it is good, well then it is proof that the pudding is delectable.

Thus it was that, last July, newsmen were admonished for using raw cost-of-living figures — figures which do not take into consideration expected seasonal variations in conditions.

"To look at these figures in an unjustified way is like looking out the window at night and saying there is an eclipse," said Dr. Herbert Stein, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

On the same day, Stein was pleased to interpret and extol a sharp increase in economic growth and a fall in the inflation rate as "the best combination of economic news to be released in one day this decade."

Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butts has now done something of the sort again — not that the performance hasn't been repeated before. What makes Butts' commentary unique is that he has served the cause before the public.

Some bad news is due this week. The Cost of Living Index, prepared by the Labor Department, will be released and will show, Butts says, a rise of "2 to 3 per cent or something like that."

That would be, by his own calculation, the biggest monthly rise in 20 or 25 years. It is a rate that by any intelligent interpretation is a cause for serious concern in a nation fighting for its economic stability.

But the news media have been prewarned. The public already has been told by the secretary that the figures may be interpreted by the big city and urban press in a grossly unfair manner.

"During the last two months, we had seasonal winter-time rises in farm prices, largely due to weather and transportation shortages," he said. "The increase therefore shouldn't be interpreted as an annual basis."

On such a basis, which the government uses for taxation, jobs, housing starts, balance of payments, budget surpluses and deficits and the like, food prices in January rose at a 24 to 26 per cent annual rate.

But, said Butts, "that use of statistics is like saying if you have a cold this week it is an annual rate of 52 colds a year. That kind of arithmetic is preposterous, and the urban papers ought to know better."

Yes, preposterous. So also is the rate on a monthly basis. And it is the intimation that it is acceptable or that the problem is not only with the rate, but with incorrect interpretations or lack of understanding.

And who can say the nation doesn't have a very bad cold? For two straight months, farm prices have risen 5 per cent, and that's a mighty fever.

'Crossroads' Coordinator Is Relieved Of Duties

The discussion between the Manchester Drug Advisory Council and its "Crossroads" Center coordinator, Mark Swerdloff, took a new twist today, when, according to Swerdloff, he was "relieved of his duties" effective immediately.

According to a news release Saturday from Paul Moss, DAC president, Swerdloff was resigning as of March 2 in order to devote full time to his law studies at the University of Hartford, in which he has been enrolled since last September.

In counteracting this statement, Swerdloff cited a letter from the DAC dated Jan. 23, 1973, stating that his contract was not going to be renewed.

According to Swerdloff, he severed relations with the DAC following a conflict over program policies; the DAC in its statement said he resigned.

Swerdloff, who believes this latest action by the DAC is to his news release to the newspapers, said Moss approached him today, asked for the keys to the Center, and relieved him of any further duties.

He further stated that his blue work termination slip was issued.

But, if you are not already sick, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss. Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Hair loss caused by sebum can also run in your family, and many other conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are sick and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair... now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, TEXAS — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss... and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women that is not only stopping hair loss... but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. They invite you to try the treatment and see for yourself!

Naturally they would not offer this opportunity unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

Prisoner Release Delay Protested

SAIGON (AP)—The United States called for the release of U.S. prisoners of war. North Vietnam announced earlier today that it was suspending the release of American POWs until the United States particularly wanted the release of civilian prisoners held by the South Vietnamese and an end to harassment of the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong members of the Joint Military Commission.

The U.S. delegation to the commission said the North Vietnamese had told it "the obstacle to the release of POWs on time is a technical one—related to the availability of liaison flights between Saigon and Hanoi."

A U.S. spokesman said North Vietnam "has declined to accept a U.S. offer of a C130 as an interim solution to the immediate liaison problem."

The North Vietnamese and Viet Cong have released 163 American prisoners, but 422 others are still captives in North and South Vietnam and Laos. The United States had expected about 140 to be released today, the halfway point between the cease-fire Jan. 28 and the March 25 deadline for release of all

One Of Our Night People
We are all accustomed and expect the Manchester Street Department crews to get out in full force to plow snow at night so we can get to work in the morning with a minimum of hazard and disruption. The big trucks and sanders are visible to us but the crew which plows off the sidewalks is rarely seen as their work is done while we still sleep. (Herald photo by Reginald Pinto)

Gas Station Zoning Exception Denied

DOUG BEVINS (Herald Reporter)
Citing traffic and safety reasons, the Manchester Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA) Monday night denied a zoning exception sought for a self-service gasoline station at the southwest corner of the K-Mart shopping center site on Spencer St.

The ZBA, in closed session after public hearings, voted 4-1 to deny the request. Member John Cagnello cast the dissenting vote.

The special exception, as well as location approval, was being sought by Goodrich Realty Group of Connecticut, Ltd. Planned was a Mobil service station.

The applicant's attorney, Leon Podvora, said during the public hearing that "the plan was developed with the greatest care to meet all requirements of the regulations." Podvora mentioned that ZBA approval would be just the first step in a series of actions by other agencies which are needed for generalizability.

Podvora presented testimony from real estate appraiser Herbert McKinney and traffic engineer Harvey Boyce. McKinney said the proposed station would have no adverse effect on the area. Boyce concluded that the station would not create a traffic hazard and would not imperil the public.

Only one town resident spoke at the hearing. David Shepleigh of 19 Westwood St. said a number of commercial establishments existing in the area already create a traffic hazard, and there have been several accidents in the area.

In the closed session, ZBA members seemed to agree with Shepleigh, disputing Boyce's testimony. Alternate member Rudolph Pietro noted that there are already several gas stations on Spencer St. ZBA Chairman Bernard Johnson criticized the testimony of Boyce, which was taken on a Wednesday—a slow day, according to Johnson.

The one-acre subject site is in a Business 3 Zone. New zoning regulations, which were created in 1968, prohibit gas stations, have been challenged in court and the town is operating under old regulations while the court action is pending.

In other action Monday night, the ZBA:

- Unanimously approved a variance which will allow construction of a commercial dog kennel on Industrial Zone land on the south side of Sheldon Rd.

The facility, proposed by William McKinney, would include facilities for grooming and bathing of dogs.

Atty. Jerome Walsh, representing the applicant, said such a kennel would be the first in Manchester. Walsh said the location was good because there were no homes within parking distance.

Architect Richard Lawrence showed plans for a T-shaped concrete structure, with pens and runs for 64 dogs. The plan showed natural screening on the side yards, which would act as a visual and sound buffer to adjacent properties.

Granted a side yard variance to Leslie I. Dowd of 36 Packard St., to allow him to build an attached carport at his home, in a Residential B Zone. A similar variance was denied by the ZBA last October, but the ZBA Monday night admitted it didn't have all the information.

Granted a variance to the Manchester Community College to allow a three-day fair (May 5-7) in conjunction with the school's tenth anniversary. Atty. Donald Garvey, representing the applicant, said the fair would be a fund-raiser for MCC's development fund.

The fair would include rides; stands for display and sale of goods; stands for games of skill; sale of food and beer; and other carnival-type uses.

Town Agencies Report To Board Of Directors

BURL L. LYONS (Herald Publisher)
The Town Board of Directors last night heard reports from the chairmen of town boards and commissions following a dinner meeting at the Manchester Country Club.

Mayor John Thompson, in his introductory remarks, urged support of the Laurel Lake retirement home which will appear on the ballot March 13 and also called attention to the open forum entitled, "Landfill, Yes or No," scheduled for Wednesday evening at Waddell School.

In regard to the bus crisis, Mayor Thompson said Manchester has four choices:

- (1) Become a part of the Greater Hartford Transit District, (2) contract to the district, (3) form our own district, or (4) shut off bus service.

He said Manchester ridership total 1,800 to 2,000 people per day and the Manchester operation has shown a good profit in the past. He commented that when the same type as in effect May 19, 1972, and Manchester has one year to reach a decision regarding future operations.

Introduced town staff members.

Some of the highlights in the reports by board chairmen are:

Allan Thomas, Board of Education: There is need for more space at the high school and junior high level. The cafeteria operation is running a deficit of somewhere between $17,000 to $18,000 which is minor compared to other communities. In regard to financing of schools, the state and federal governments are going to have to pick up more of the tab.

ZBA Grants Bus Firm Variance For Parking

DOUG BEVINS (Herald Reporter)
George Negro's variance request to allow parking of buses on Rural Residence Zone land at 775 Vernon St. was granted Monday night by the Manchester Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA).

ZBA members voted 4-1, in closed session after public hearings, to grant a temporary, one-year variance. John Cagnello, who said he failed to see a legal hardship, cast the dissenting vote.

The variance will allow Negro to park up to 18 of his buses on the site. Atty. Josiah Lesser, representing Negro at the public hearing, stressed that the site would be used only for parking buses—no lighting, no utilities, no housing, and no dispatching facility is contemplated for the site.

There would be minimal improvements to the land. Lesser said—Gravel would be brought in, and there would be a "small amount" of bulldozing. Lesser, presenting several pictures of the area, said the proposed parking lot is surrounded by several acres of wooded land, and is not visible from the street.

Negro's buses are now parked on a lot at the corner of Brainerd Pl. and Johnson Tr., as a nonconforming use in conjunction with the old Silver Lane Bus Co. garage on Brainerd Pl. which predates the adoption of zoning in 1958, according to Lesser.

Lesser said the parking of buses there has been the source of many problems—Area residents have long complained to town officials. Lesser said Negro wants to move the buses from the Brainerd St. lot, but "he has no place to go in Manchester," as zoning regulations prohibit the parking of buses on that lot.
