Buses May Roll Soon

HARTFORD (AP)—Connecticut Co. buses could be rolling Tuesday night in Hartford, New Haven and Stamford, the first time in 116 days, according to ConnCo President E. Clayton Gengras.

Gengras emphasized Sunday that some crucial pieces still need to fall into place before the bus strike puzzle can be solved. But he predicted the necessary steps would be taken quickly and that ConnCo buses would be on the road this week. Gengras and officials of the Amalgamated Transit Union (ATU) spoke at the conclusion of nine hours of weekend negotiations over a new contract for ATU drivers and mechanics. The ATU struck at the end of November after the company said it couldn't afford to provide the contract the union was demanding.

Gengras, state mediator Harry B. Pursell and ATU spokesman John Thompson invited reporters Sunday afternoon into the paneled suite at the Hartford Hilton where the negotiations have been taking place and made these points:

—ConnCo and the ATU had just settled on a new, two-year contract, Thompson indicated the contract provided for a 6.2 per cent increase in wages and benefits in each of the next two years. The ATU leadership will recommend that its members adopt the contract at meetings set for Tuesday at 10 a.m.

—Upon ratification of the contract, the company will try to restore partial service by Tuesday night and full service by a week from today if the state and the company can settle on some form of contract to provide subsidies to the bus company.

—Gengras anticipates that the state and the company will reach agreement early this week. He declined to speculate on what subsidy arrangement might be provided for in the contract and administration spokesmen were unavailable for comment.

Gengras' announcement followed a flurry of weekend reports that Gov. Thomas J. Meskill had proposed direct state operating subsidies to ConnCo for a substantial period of time if transit districts could be formed in all ConnCo cities.

Meskill has long held that ConnCo's divisions eventually must be taken over by local transit districts. Much of the controversy during the state's marathon bus crisis has revolved around how such districts might be funded.

Gengras declined to comment on Meskill's reported proposal. After the press conference, however, he said the signing of a contract with the state will depend on the formation of transit districts in Stamford and New Haven. He predicted those two cities would form districts in the next three or four days and expressed hope that his company would eventually be taken over by the districts.

Hartford already has a transit district. Stamford Mayor Julius Wilensky said Meskill had telephoned him Sunday afternoon offering state subsidies for Stamford bus service for "a good long time" if a district is formed. Wilensky said he would ask the Board of Representatives to form a district, but noted the board had already refused to do so on three occasions for fear such a move would bring intolerable financial burdens.

Whatever happens in Hartford, though, can in no way get the buses back on the roads in Stamford by Tuesday night, Wilensky said today. He said he planned to meet tonight with Democratic and Republican leaders of the Board of Representatives to determine if there's a willingness on their part to set up a time table for rapid action on the matter.

If they're unwilling, "I'm not going to go through it again," Wilensky said.

A spokesman for New Haven Mayor Bartholomew F. Guida said the mayor would have no comment until he gave the situation further study.

Gengras said that the buses would resume running on the same schedules on which they operated prior to the strike. After 30 days, however, the company would study ridership patterns and could recommend changes.

Gengras said he hoped the bus runs would not have to be "drastically" altered.

Thompson said the union had received assurance that all of its employees would be able to go back to work for ConnCo.

MIA Search Agreement Reported Near Ready

SAIGON (AP)—The United States, North and South Vietnam and the Viet Cong were reported near agreement today on a combined search for Americans and American bodies missing in Vietnam. A U.S. spokesman said the operation is expected to take years.

The problems holding up final agreement include security arrangements and liaison between local authorities and the searchers, officials said.

A task force based at Nakhon Phanom air base in Thailand is to take up the search in Cambodia and Laos. There are 1,300 U.S. servicemen listed as missing in Indochina.

The proposal for the Vietnam search calls for a 56-member team made up of nine officers and five enlisted men from each of the four parties. It was discussed today at a meeting of the Joint Military Commission.

Also at the meeting, the U.S. asked the Communists again for the list of the last group of American POWs to be released and the date they will be freed. The U.S. spokesman said the Communists did not immediately respond.

The Communists have released 439 Americans since the Jan. 28 cease-fire and hold 147 others. They have said repeatedly that all the POWs will be released by the March 28 deadline.

The delegation chiefs also ratified a decision by a subcommittee to complete the exchange of Vietnamese prisoners on Sunday, three days before the March 28 deadline. South Vietnam will have

Tentative Settlement Announced

NEW HAVEN (AP)—City officials and the New Haven Federation of Teachers announced tentative agreement today on a contract to replace one which expired last September.

NHFT President Ronald A. O'Brien, said the proposal would be presented for ratification by the teachers at a mass meeting Tuesday night with "my strongest personal recommendation."

The announcement capped four days of negotiating under court supervision and was made by Mayor Bartholomew F. Guida.

Guida said he would have "no comment" on terms of the pact.

Winter Wallops Much Of Nation

By The Associated Press
High winds, angry Great Lakes and a punishing snowfall in the East, intensive flooding in the South, rain and snow in the West—winter isn't through with the United States just yet.

A storm walloped the Great Lakes region, leaving as much as 21 inches of snow in lower Michigan, and flooded towns on the Ohio shores of Lake Erie and Lake Ontario.

The cleanup continued today as snows lingered in the East and winds from 35 to 75 miles per hour lashed 20-foot waves on the Great Lakes and 10-foot snow drifts ashore.

Gale warnings were posted for Lakes Huron, Erie and Ontario and for the Atlantic coast from New Jersey to Maine as the storm moved out of the U.S.

About 5,000 persons were stranded on highways in Lower Michigan and many roads remained closed early today. Interstate 94 was closed west of Marshall, Mich.

Michigan State Police reported at least 80 school districts closed today after the storm dumped from nine to 21 inches across most of the state's Lower Peninsula. Most main roads were reopened today— one day before the official arrival of spring.

Flood waters swept as much as five miles inland along portions of Saginaw Bay during the weekend. Bay and Tuscola Counties at the southern end of Saginaw Bay were hit hardest. Damage in Bay County alone, where nearly 60,000 acres of farmland were flooded, was expected to reach at least $12 million, civil defense authorities said.

Dozens of families in the Rochester, N.Y., suburb of Greece, one of the hardest hit by lake waves, remained with friends and relatives Sunday night. Lake Ontario is at its highest level since 1952.

Flood waters continue to pound areas of the lower Mississippi Valley, Mississippi, Alabama and Tennessee. Property damage is estimated at $5 million and more than 1,000 families have been forced from their homes in Chattanooga, Tenn. Tennessee's governor has asked President Nixon to declare 39 counties a disaster area.

In Mississippi, Gov. Bill Waller estimated flood damage at $25 million, and said the Delta sheet of water. Nearly 1,000 persons were forced out of their homes at Columbus, and 400 at Greenwood.

Wage-Price Debate Opens

WASHINGTON (AP)—Opening debate on renewing presidential authority for wage-price controls, the Senate is considering a range of amendments that would give Congress a voice in managing the economy.

The key issue under debate today was extension of the Economic Stabilization Act for another year past its April 30 expiration. President Nixon used the act as authority for the 1971 wage-price freeze, the mandatory Phase 2 controls and the largely voluntary Phase 3 program.

But the Senate has a variety of proposals that would give the President more than he asked. Most of these were pushed by Democrats during Banking Committee consideration of the bill.

Proposed amendments would:

—Restore federal controls on rent for one year in most metropolitan areas with low vacancy rates. There are no rent controls under Phase 3, and many tenant organizations are protesting that landlords imposed big rent increases when Phase 2 expired in January.

—Restore the required federal approval of wage settlements hammered out by big unions and corporations, as well as price increases. This requirement was a major part of mandatory controls under Phase 2.

While the government has not spelled out exactly what is required under the new program, the Phase 3 regulations are mandatory only for the health, food and construction industries.

—Limit the amount of a wage hike a large business can pass on in price increases.

—Put a $265-billion spending limit on the fiscal year starting July 1.

And, if these efforts to toughen up Phase 3 fail, says Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., he will move to freeze wages, prices, rents and interest for six months, retroactive to March 15.

Banks Up Prime Rates

NEW YORK (AP)—Two New York banks, including the nation's fourth largest, said today they were raising their prime lending rates from 6 1/4 to 6 3/4 per cent, effective immediately.

The moves marked the second boost in the prime since Feb. 28, when Philadelphia's First Pennsylvania Banking and Trust Co. led an industry-wide move from 6 to 6 1/4 per cent.

Hikes were announced today by Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co., the nation's fourth largest bank, and Marine Midland Bank. Manufacturers Hanover said the move was partly intended to stem a rising business demand for bank loans, which recently have been cheaper sources of loan money than commercial paper, a form of loan from one corporation to another.

Increase Budget

DOUG BEVINS
(Herald Reporter)

Town Manager Robert Weiss today said he will add $50,000 to his recommended $10,907,400 budget for operating Manchester schools in fiscal year 1973-1974.

In a letter to Atty. Allan Thomas, chairman of the Board of Education, Weiss said his decision to recommend a school budget of $10,957,400 was made after careful review of "the overall town fiscal status."

"I know that this still falls short of your request," Weiss' letter stated, "but hopefully, (it) will make it possible for you (the Board of Education) to meet your minimum objectives."

Weiss' reconsideration of the school budget results in a figure which is $667,400 higher than the current 1972-1973 school operating budget.

However, the new recommendation by Weiss is $413,091 less than the $11,370,491 1973-1974 budget adopted by the Board of Education.

It is somewhat unusual for the town manager to change his recommendation on the school budget. Traditionally, the manager has cut the Board of Education's budget and has stood firm on his recommendation.

The town's Board of Directors, who have the final say on the budget, still have the power to revise, up or down, the manager's recommended allocation.

The school operating budget, as well as budgets for other town departments, will be the subject of a public hearing April 2 (8 p.m.) at Waddell School.

Weiss' action to add $50,000 to his recommended budget for schools apparently resulted from last week's joint meeting of the Boards of Directors and Education.

The Board of Education, defending its budget request at that meeting, told Weiss that his recommended budget would not cover needs beyond contractual obligations.

Funds needed to maintain the present level of services in Manchester schools total $639,380, according to the school board's budget proposal.

Weiss' letter to Thomas, dated today, was as follows: "I want to thank the Board of Education for the carefully prepared presentation of your budget needs at both recent budget sessions. The new budget format represents a radical departure from the past and should, as we become more familiar with it, provide better information for evaluation of educational budget needs and performance. Dr. Kennedy (Superintendent of Schools Dr. James P. Kennedy) and the administrative staff deserve special praise for accomplishing this change in such a brief period of time."

"I have carefully reviewed the overall town fiscal status and budget needs along with your presentation. After carefully weighing all needs and resources, I have decided to add $50,000 to the previously approved allocation of $10,907,400, to give you a total of $10,957,400. I know that this still falls short of your request but hopefully, will make it possible for you to meet your minimum objectives."

handed over more than 26,000 prisoners and will have received nearly 5,000 from the Viet Cong.

The Saigon military command, meanwhile, threatened to launch military operations in the next few days to relieve two bases north of Saigon if the International Commission of Control and Supervision fails to investigate alleged cease-fire violations.

Canadian Foreign Secretary Mitchell Sharp returned to Ottawa early today after a week's visit to Saigon, Hanoi and Vientiane and said his government would decide "very quickly" whether it would carry out its threat to quit the International Commission of Control and Supervision because it is not effective.

Airliner Crash Kills 58

SAIGON (AP)—An Air Vietnam airliner crashed in flames today while coming in to land at the Ban Me Thout airport in the central highlands, killing at least 58 persons.

Among the victims were three Americans—the pilot, copilot and one passenger—and two Japanese. The rest were Vietnamese.

A government spokesman said the DC4 carried 62 persons, but the Air Vietnam manifest listed 53 passengers and five crew members.

The crash occurred about six miles southwest of Ban Me Thout as the plane was making its final landing approach on a flight from Saigon.

Agencies To Consider Joint Study Of Mass Transit Programs

The top three agencies in the 29-town Capitol Region are proposing a combined effort "to develop transportation programs in the area in concert with regional needs and constraints."

The Capitol Region Council of Governments (CRCOG), the Capitol Region Planning Agency (CRPA), and the Greater Hartford Transit District are considering a resolution which, "recognizing that the Urban Mass Transportation Administration of the U.S. Department of Transportation has expressed its preference of supporting capital and study programs on a regional basis," recommends that any transportation planning for the Capitol Region "will be mutually developed by the joint regional planning group and the Connecticut Department of Transportation."

The resolution emphasizes that no request will be made for a federal grant or federal technical study concerning transportation in the Capitol Region without the active participation of the three regional agencies.

The joint resolution will be the main item of business March 28, when the Capitol Region Council of Governments holds its next meeting, in the Seminar Room of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Windsor St., Hartford. The 8 p.m. meeting will be preceded by a social hour at 7.

Representatives of the Capitol Region Planning Agency and Greater Hartford Transit District have been invited to attend. A general discussion will be held of the various transit and transportation programs, proposals and problems currently under consideration in the Capitol Region.

Also to be discussed is the status of the proposed merger of the CRCOG and CRPA.

THE WAY I HEARD IT
by John Gruber

This time I'm going to talk about the conductor's job. I recently took a student to a symphony concert and it became apparent that she hadn't the slightest idea of what the conductor was doing (the wasn't very good, by the way) but was quite impressed with the way he did it. She was no worse off than most of the people in the audience so here is some enlightenment on the subject.

In the early days, say in the time of Bach and Handel, whoever was in charge of the orchestra ran it from a seat at the harpsichord. This was true until about the beginning of the 19th century, although Lully (who died in 1687) had conducted with a baton a full century earlier.

Orchestra were small, in those days and more easily controlled. Moreover, the concertmaster, or principal violinist, usually indicated the beat to the players when the maestro had both hands busy at the keyboard. More often than not the maestro was also the composer of the music in hand, so it was in charge of the musicians and was hired to fill both jobs.

As a matter of fact, my grandfather's grandfather held this sort of post for Napoleon's younger brother, Jerome, in the early 19th century. He didn't hold the job too long, since Napoleon didn't hold his too long, either.

After Napoleon, music became something for the middle class instead of something for the nobility. Auditors became larger as well as the orchestra. Bach's orchestra was about 20. Mozart's about 30, but in order to make enough sound to fill a large hall orchestra now had 50 or 60 musicians, and the conductor came into his own.

Cigarette Lottery?

A lot of potential Connecticut tax dollars are going up in smoke.

At least, Tax Commissioner F. George Brown thinks so, for he recently reported that smuggled cigarettes are coming into the Nutmeg State at an annual rate of 87 million packs and he estimates the revenue loss at $21 million.

It seems the state tax of 21 cents gives cigarette bootleggers an incentive to buy out of state, especially in North Carolina, where the present tax is two cents and they are even thinking of dropping that.

The problem apparently has no easy solution since a stepped-up crackdown on smugglers since last November has only snared about 36,000 packs.

While the Connecticut loss is substantial by any standard, Brown reports that New York with its 23 cent tax, loses about $85 million a year.

It would appear that many smokers in both states are taking advantage of the cheaper (taxless) fags and those who engage in large scale smuggling are apparently cashing in on this willingness to evade state taxes much the same as their brethren of the twenties ignored prohibition.

Our only suggestion for Mr. Brown and the Tax Commission is that they might try exploiting the citizenry's natural appeal for certain vices by pitting one vice against the other.

The gambling vice has been turned into a profit for the state with the lottery. People continue to smoke, and vice, despite health warnings and those who are hooked are the buyers of the smuggled and untaxed weed.

So why not have a state cigarette lottery? The lure of a few million bucks in cash prizes might just be the stimulus needed to get those penny-pinching Nutmeggers now smoking illegal fags to switch to the legal ones and the state could recoup the $21 million now being lost.

There you have it, Mr. Brown, the solution to your problem. It may take a few packs and a few hours in a smoke-filled room to work out the details. We'd be glad to help but we're having a nicotine fix and will be out-of-state for a few days.

Need Bodyguard

WASHINGTON — Planning a little trip to your nation's capital this spring to show the kids all those beautiful marble symbols of a government established to outlaw fear? Bring bulletproof vests and at least one bodyguard for each person in your party.

Dr. Luke offers a curious reason for this grisly happenstance. He says it's "because New York has more suburban-like areas within the city." Yet Hell City has long been notable for the suburban areas of most of its residential areas.

Why?

To the editor: I am curious to know why A&P, even though the largest grocery chain, is singled out as a purveyor of non-Vietnam merchandise? Namely lettuce. Why, if we are to boycott them, do we not also boycott the sellers of foreign import cars, (non-union made), the discount houses whose stock in trade consists of merchandise manufactured in Hong Kong, Japan, Communist occupied countries and many others, all manufactured by definitely non-union slaves?

Let these people who picket and picket and ask for signatures of those in sympathy with them do the same to those who purchase foreign made goods. This would be impossible, as some of those who picket would find their own names being picked.

I do not deny that anyone in the country deserves a living wage but if they are so concerned with farm workers, also remember the thousands of textile workers, the closing of nearly every shoe plant in the United States, the in-roads made on the sale of American made cars, radios, television, and so on and so on. To quote, "let he (or she) who is without sin, cast the first stone." All these things happened because people purchased non-union goods.

Just Who Is Jesus Christ Anyway??
THE CREATOR OF ALL
Before anything else existed, there was Christ, with God. He has always been alive and is Himself God.

He created everything there is — nothing exists that He didn't make.

Eternal life is in Him, and this life gives light, to all mankind.

His life is the light that shines through the darkness — and the darkness can never extinguish His light.

God sent John (the Baptist) as a witness so that everyone would know Jesus Christ is the true Light.

But although He made the world, the world didn't recognize Him when He came. Even in His own land among His own people, the Jews, He was not accepted. Only a few would welcome and receive Him.

Hanoi's Dangerous Game

WASHINGTON — The Nixon administration's attempt to supply depots near the Ho Chi Minh Trail, possibly inside Hanoi itself.

No decisions have yet been taken for this reason: President Nixon's advisers are not certain whether some 30,000 North Vietnamese troops and an estimated 300 tanks and other military equipment now moving south, in direct violation of article 7 of the peace agreement, really mean what they seem to mean.

That is hard evidence is still lacking that the Hanoi politburo is setting the stage for a major offensive against South Vietnam.

of horsehead, she now has on of the huskiest baritones in Greenwich Village."

Another interesting story is that of Playboy Bunny Cupcakes de Light, who lost her job two weeks on horsehead she got her job back and is now called "the only bunny with authentic red eyes."

Dr. Pettibone then gets into the fun chapters: "Very Your Diet" (eat red horsehead one day, while the next); "101 Exciting Ways of Preparing Horsehead"; and "How to Analyze the Gooquis Excreted by Your Lacrimal Glands" (a simple test than anyone with only a master's degree in biochemistry can perform).

He brings in a dazzling description of how much better you'll breathe with clean sinus passages and concludes, as do all such books, with: "Remember! All you have to do is stick to it!"

He's right, of course. For the miraculous thing about any diet is that all you have to do is stick to it. Then you're bound to lose lots and lots of pounds.

Not to mention lots and lots of friends at cocktail parties.

GOP To Study Facilities For Expansion at Rham

ANNE EMT

Being concerned with the overcrowded situation projected for Rham High School next year, the Republican Town Committee has set up a committee of two to investigate the original core facilities at the school.

Several members of the committee are under the impression that the original building plus the addition should handle a capacity of 1,200 students, and that this was the projection approved by the State Department of Education at the time the school was constructed.

The two town committee members serving on the special committee are H. Clay Osborn, who was a member of the original Board of Education, and Jeff Odell.

Candidates

The committee also appointed a candidates selection committee for the town elections. Members of this committee are Pete Dallaire, Robert Dixon, Gerald Cross, Mrs. Marion Foote and William Borst.

The committee will ascertain whether these Republicans

Hearing Wednesday On Charter Change

HOLLY GANTNER

The Charter Revision Commission will hold a public hearing on Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Coventry High School auditorium to discuss proposed changes to the current charter, under which the town has been operating since 1969.

Highlights of the changes proposed include two-year terms for board and commission members, and a change in the date of the annual budget meeting from the third Monday in May to the first Friday in May.

There are also changes being proposed in financial areas, including rights of transfer of funds by the Town Council. Under one proposal, unencumbered cash funds could not be transferred from one department to another during the last three months of the fiscal year.

Also, additional appropriations from unencumbered cash funds could not be made without town meeting approval. If the cumulative amount of such approval reaches one per cent of the current tax levy, this provision would not be applied.

Members of the CRC are Harold Grant, Chairman, and Alva Phillips, Ronald Edmondson, Alma Hecker, Margaret Jacobson, David Rappe, and Stephen Loytin.

Junior Women's Club
The Junior Women's Club March 21 meeting, slated for 8 p.m. at St. Mary's Church Hall, will be devoted to crafts and sewing. Members will model clothes which they have made, and arts and crafts items will be on display. All items will be judged by local professional in these fields. Winners will compete at the district level next month.

Speakers for this month's meeting will be Patrolman Anthony Caccese of the Coventry Police Department, who will speak on problem relating to police protection in the town.

The club has announced its participation in a new national project, the sale of plates commemorating the bicentennial of the nation. The plates, handmade by the Fenton Glass Co., are available in white or Colonial blue and have an unglazed finish. There will be a complete set of four plates, with one more available each year until 1976.

On July 4, 1976, the mills will be destroyed in a ceremony at Independence Hall, therefore making the value of the plates go up each year thereafter. Those wishing further information on this project should call Judy Adamic.

First Budget Draft Shows $118,172 Hike

ANNE EMT Correspondent Tel. 232-3971 The Board of Education, following receipt last week of the first draft of the 1973-74 budget, requested the administration to cut at least $50,000 from the proposed budget of $722,943 before submitting a second draft.

of the building and swings and extending the north parking lot to the east bank, and the extension of the chain link fence 100 feet along Rt. 85. Under contracted services, the total increase amounts to $5,706 over the $8,400 budgeted this year.

Special education transportation is being estimated at $8,400, a $4,470 increase over the present budget. This item is also mandatory by the state and covers transportation expenses of the five students attending private schools.

The board is scheduled to meet again Thursday evening to continue work on the budget, which must be ready for presentation to the Board of Finance on April 12.

Large items here are $5,000 and $1,200, respectively, for replacing the intermediate wing roof and repairing drains on the primary wing roof at the Hebron Elementary School.

Not including increases for teachers' salaries, which can only be estimated at this time because negotiations are still underway, major increases occur in the transportation, private school tuition, site, contracted services and special education transportation line items.

For transportation next year, not including any additional transportation that might be necessary if Rham High School goes on double sessions, there is a $10,486 increase over this year. The total proposed for transportation amounts to $90,994. Broken down, this represents the basic bus contract of $70,500 as paid in 1972-1973 with a 5 per cent escalation clause for an additional $3,525.40.

Added to this is $7,500 for a new bus and an additional $600 to change from a noon travel to a 30-passenger minibus. However, deducted from the total is $2,800 in state gas tax savings. Private school tuition is being estimated to increase $7,250 from the present $13,500 budgeted. The total of $20,750 projected includes one child at the Stonewall School in Durham, $8,200; one to the Congreg Center in West Hartford, $1,900; one to Newington Hospital, $2,600; one to East Hartford, $2,000; one still not placed, $4,000; and an additional $4,000 for unknown placements that might occur during the year.

Anti-Bikini Priest Stops Production

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy (AP) — A priest who complained about a bikini-clad woman on the doorstep of his church has interrupted the shooting of a movie starring Elizabeth Taylor and Henry Fonda.

The movie, "Ash Wednesday," is being made in this alpine resort. In one scene a few days ago, an actress in the movie walked up the steps of Cortina's parish church, then dropped the far she wore and stood in a white bikini and high, black boots. An actor playing a fashion photographer was taking pictures of the actress while Miss Taylor came forward to meet him.

Shooting was still going on when Magr. Fulvio Dapunt, the parish priest, walked up and protested to the director, Larry Pearce. Pearce said he would ask the producer to cut the scene out of the film.

Companies Collecting Own Stock

By JOHN CUNIFF AP Business Analyst NEW YORK (AP) — Collecting has become the American collector's hobby, as you probably have observed in the homes of your stamp-collecting, coin-collecting, silver-collecting, and art-collecting friends and neighbors.

So great is the demand that a relatively new industry has developed to supply the market. It is the collecting of shares in public companies, and it is almost every medium imaginable, with the implied promise of future rarity and value.

Psychologists and economists agree that one of the basic impulses of the collector is the need for something of substance and value in an age made insecure by monetary and political upheavals.

But does this explain the latest behavioral oddity on Wall Street, the collecting by companies of their own shares? Some of the biggest, most prosperous blue chips are seeking millions of dollars of their own shares.

Gulf Oil has announced a reacquisition goal of 10 million shares. United Aircraft is planning to buy back 1 million. So does Bethlehem Steel, Sperry & Hutchinson, the Green Stamp company and an authority on collecting, wants 500,000.

So far this year the dollar value of repurchases appears to be well over $1 billion, a sum far greater than for the entire year 1972, and there is little evidence that the fever is fading.

Customarily, companies seek their own stock in order to service their stock options and employ purchase plans and to have a supply available for possible acquisitions.

By scientific calculation spring arrived early this afternoon, but our feathered friends, the robins above as snapped by Herald photographer, Sylvian Orlara, and the sparrow who provide caution light recess for nest, it is not news. The nest has been removed since Tony Gentilomo to the shot at left. Other signs to make man optimistic include budding trees, and emerging spring flowers and even a few days recently where boys with bats and balls invaded playgrounds after school hours.

There will be a story hour Tuesday morning from 10 to 10:45 in the junior room of the Mary Cheney Library. Children, ages 9 to 15, are invited. The following members of the Manchester Junior Women's Club will be readers: Mrs. Joseph Purdy, Mrs. Alexander Eigner, and Mrs. E. Thomas McKinney.

8th District Fire Chief Pinpoints Needs

SOL R. COHEN (Herald Reporter)

For the past several years, 8th District Fire Chief Granville Lingard has expressed considerable concern over inadequate flow of water for fire protection. He has noted in many reports to the District board of directors, "There are many areas in the District that do not have even minimum volumes available."

Last night, he gave the board a list of five of those areas, plus his proposals for solving the problems. The board instructed him to meet with officials of the Manchester Water Co., in an effort to institute the proposed solutions.

Prior to listing the five trouble areas, Lingard explained that the water flow should be 500 gallons per minute (g.p.m.) in residential areas where dwellings are fairly far apart; 1,500 g.p.m. where the dwellings are close together; and 3,000 g.p.m. in apartment areas and at school locations.

Lingard's report reads:

1. On Main St., beyond the K of C, many old buildings and several new apartments and offices are protected by 200 g.p.m. and less.
2. Hollister St. School has two hydrants, one capable of 600 g.p.m. and one with 150 g.p.m. If the school should catch fire, 3,000 g.p.m. would be required to control it.
3. On Hilliard St., the Co-op provision was made at the corner of Oakland and Apel for an 8-inch main to go into Apel Pl. and feed a new hydrant and the Co-op sprinkler system.
4. On N. Elm St., three old hydrants on a 4-inch line give a maximum flow of about 200 g.p.m. A 10-inch main runs parallel to the 4-inch main, with no hydrants on it to Henry St.
5. On Hilliard St., 500 feet west

Almanac Admits Error

DUBLIN, N.H. (AP)—The Old Farmer's Almanac, which predicted a lot of snow for the New England mountains this winter, has decided to admit it was wrong.

After all, daffodils are popping out in the Massachusetts South Shore, and the prospects for some really fine blizzards are growing dim.

"Sometimes we are right for the wrong reasons," the Almanac editors said.

It said it had "correctly predicted that this would be an unusually warm and wet winter because the weather pattern would bring an influx of moist, warm air up from the Gulf of Mexico along the Eastern seaboard."

"Such air would then ordinarily meet the cold Arctic air carried by the polar jetstream somewhere over the mountains of New England and huge snowfalls should result."

"Everything went well until Christmas when the polar jetstream decided to retreat to a more northerly direction so that when the rains came up from the south, they remained rain all the way."

The Almanac said it appeared "Mother Nature intervened to save New England. Maybe she knew about the energy crisis and took pity on us."

Welcome Delayed

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The city's "Welcome to Spring" has been delayed because of nearly five inches of snow and freezing temperatures over the weekend.

Commission Extension Suggested

SAIGON (AP)—The United States may ask that the four-party Joint Military Commission be extended in an effort to improve chances for a true cease-fire, U.S. sources disclosed today.

The commission, set up by the Jan. 27 cease-fire agreement, is due to be dissolved March 28. The sources said the United States is considering proposing an extension of the body which includes North Vietnam, South Vietnam and the Viet Cong's Provisional Revolutionary Government of South Vietnam, as well as the United States.

The South Vietnamese delegation to the military peacekeeping commission has been filled in on the American considerations.

Monday Target For Hartford Area Bus Service Resumption

HARTFORD (AP)—Connecticut Co. buses in the Hartford area could be on the road by Monday if an agreement worked out by company, union and state officials goes according to plan, says a company spokesman.

The agreement would end a union strike that began Nov. 25 in the Hartford area affecting some 100,000 daily passengers.

The conditions are ratification by the membership of the Amalgamated Transit Union-union officials are urging approval and final agreement by the state. The contract could be signed on Wednesday.

It could then call the mechanics in on Thursday, Friday and Saturday and the buses would run on Monday morning, said Charles Abell, ConCo vice president.

Abell said no buses in the New Haven and Stamford areas would be affected. The district in Hartford has been in operation for a number of years, but officials in New Haven and Stamford have refused to form districts.

Neither Abell nor John Thompson, head of the ATU, would discuss details of the agreement until after the union membership votes today.

The tentative agreement, announced Monday by Gov.

Thomas J. Meskill, calls for state subsidies to cover the formation of transit districts was a necessary first step toward a long-range solution.

"It is not a perfect solution," Meskill said in a broadcast statement. "It is not the solution I like."

Previously, Meskill had insisted that localities pay the major part of bus deficits except during a short interim period.

The settlement was immediately blasted by Democratic legislative leaders. They said the governor could have taken the same action last fall and prevented the strike.

The strike was called after ConCo officials said they couldn't sign a new contract—the old one expired Oct. 1 without some form of subsidies.

"Now, at long last, Gov. Meskill concedes that the future of mass transportation is a state responsibility that must be met with state funds and state leadership," said a statement by Senate Minority Leader Charles Alfano and House Minority Leader Carl Ajello.

A condition of Meskill's subsidy offer was that transit districts be formed, even though the subsidies will be taken from the state Public Service Tax Fund and administered by the state Transportation Department.

The local districts would serve in a purely advisory capacity.

Officials in New Haven began Tuesday night to gear up toward reconsidering the transit district issue. New Haven Mayor Bartholomew Guida has maintained the state should assume full responsibility for the bus service.

The Board of Aldermen scheduled a public meeting for Tuesday night to gear up toward reconsidering the transit district issue. New Haven Mayor Bartholomew Guida has maintained the state should assume full responsibility for the bus service.

Zoning Variance Denied By ZBA

DOUG BEVINS (Herald Reporter)

The Manchester Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA) Monday night denied a variance which would have allowed grocery and beer sales at a self-service gasoline station on Center St.

After an unusually short public hearing session, the ZBA voted unanimously to deny the variance sought by Nycrest Corp. of Cold Spring, N.Y.

Nycrest had planned to operate an existing Arc station at 488 Center St., to a convenience food store, and change the gasoline pumps to self-service.

ZBA members, in discussion before their vote, agreed that the applicant had not proven a legal hardship relating to the land. Wilbur Hoyt, vice president of Nycrest, mentioned at the public hearing that already been approved for a mainly on economic reasons.

In Frankfurt, however, the dollar dropped to 2.816 marks at the opening of the market, below both Monday's closing of 2.8275 and Friday's 2.82.

State Neglects 'Little Brothers'

NEW HAVEN (AP)—The resourceful state government has been meeting its own rising costs but neglecting its struggling "little brothers" in recent years, the Connecticut Conference of Mayors and Municipalities (CCM) said today.

The CCM said that the state's General Fund budget, for example, is expected to increase three times the rate of its aid to cities and towns between 1971 and its next state budget period.

"This is a terrible situation, one which is very unfair and burdensome to the people," said CCM President John J. Sullivan, the first selectman of Fairfield.

The conference has been appealing to the state administration and legislature to increase local assistance in the next budget.

Sullivan said General Fund official proposals for the future of Northern Ireland in which the province will remain part of the United Kingdom and the Roman Catholic minority will be guaranteed full civil rights. Northern Ireland is also to get a new, 80-member legislative assembly. Elections will be held there in 1973.

The new assembly to be elected will replace the old Protestant-dominated Parliament at Stormont, which was suspended a year ago when Britain imposed direct rule. Elections will be by proportional representation.

Sullivan said the state has been able to balance cost increases with the lottery and a wide tax base while in municipalities "property taxes have had to rise steeply in order to cover escalating costs." (AP photo)
