Meat Boycott Test Begins Today

Sunday Reports Conflicting

Meatless Recipes Offered Supermarket Patrons

conducted throughout the nation this week. JWC members visited eight local supermarkets distributing menus and recipes to area shoppers. (Herald photo by Ofiara)

By The Associated Press

The boycott of meat gets its first real test today, and the action will be at the meat counter.

The first day of the boycott, a rain drenched Sunday, proved little or nothing in Connecticut, where some restaurants and most groceries were closed.

Most of the 10 restaurants contacted in the Hartford area reported business as usual, and in Waterbury 13 of 20 restaurants polled said sales were average or better.

The few meat markets open Sunday gave conflicting reports. A Southington bulk meat dealer said sales were "very good," but in New Britain, a meat market reported "no action at all."

In New Haven, a supermarket said meat sales were about normal.

Three hamburger diners in New Britain said Sunday was a slow day, but they added that the steady downpour of rain could have drowned out normal business.

Mrs. Barbara Shuttleworth of Vernon, a state coordinator and early organizer of the boycott, said she didn't expect to get definite results until Tuesday or Wednesday.

The boycott is important, she said, because President Nixon's ceiling on meat prices doesn't go far enough.

"The President reacted to our voice, and that was our main reason for starting this to get him to do something," she said. "I won't be happy until he gets some sort of task force to solve the problem (of inflation) rather than just fighting the problem."

Mrs. Shuttleworth said organizers of the boycott were depending on good will and common sense to make the effort successful.

"We're discouraging picketing (of supermarkets)," she said. "Many of us are going to be handing out recipes inside or outside, but with the supermarkets' permission."

Mrs. Shuttleworth said a number of the reports she received Sunday were conflicting.

"I heard of one steak house where people were still buying steak, but some hamburger places cut back on hamburger sales and were selling a lot of fish sandwiches," she said.

"One interesting report I got," she said, "was from my 17-year old sister who returned from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., to New Jersey this morning. It was a breakfast flight with eggs and steak, and nobody ate the steak."

Ribicoff Hits At Farm Lobby

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Congress hasn't had the guts to face up to the farm lobby," says Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., who plans to give his fellow legislators another chance this week.

President Nixon's ceiling on meat prices is "inadequate" and "isn't going to work until we put a lid on the prices of all agricultural products," Ribicoff said Sunday.

Ribicoff said he would challenge his fellow Congressmen to "put up or shut up" by enacting a rollback of all agricultural prices to their Jan. 1 levels.

Ribicoff said he would introduce the rollback proposal today as an amendment to a meat inspection bill coming up for Senate consideration. But, he said, he doesn't have high hopes for the amendment.

"I'm very pessimistic," he said, adding that he's had senators come up to him and say, "Abe, you're right, but I just can't vote your way."

Town Budget Hearing Set For 8 Tonight

SOL R. COHEN
(Herald Reporter)

Manchester's annual public hearing on the town manager's recommended budgets and tax rates is scheduled for tonight at 8 in the auditorium of Waddell School, Broad St.

Town Manager Robert Weiss is recommending a 2-mill increase in the General Fund tax rate and a 0.29-mill increase in the Town Fire District tax rate.

Thompson announced today he will recommend to the board a schedule of three budget workshops with Weiss, to hear his justification for his recommendations. The workshop sessions would be April 10 at 7 p.m., April 11 at 8 p.m. and April 12 at 8 p.m. Additional workshops, if needed, would be completed by April 14, Thompson said, giving the board more than three weeks to prepare its budgets and tax rates.

Mayor John Thompson has said it is his goal, and that of the entire Board of Directors, "to hold the taxline in 1973-74." The directors have until May 7 to adopt budgets and set the tax rates. If they fail to do so by then, Weiss' proposals will become law.

News Capsules

Meets With Nixon

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu is expected to receive assurances of continued American aid when he meets with President Nixon today.

Although U.S. officials often have briefed newsmen prior to such conferences, White House sources were reluctant to discuss topics for the meetings before Thieu's arrival at the Western White House.

However, observers expect discussion of Nixon's repeated warnings that Communist violations of the cease-fire agreement could produce American military reprisals.

Many POWs Killed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A survivor of North Vietnamese captivity says he believes more than 100 U.S. airmen were killed by angry militiamen and civilians after their planes were shot down.

"Well over 100 men were seen on the ground alive but never reached the prison system," Air Force Col. James H. Kasler said in an interview.

"We know that in the bombed areas an awful lot of men were killed by the militia. The North Vietnamese civilians were pretty irate."

Last POW Freed

In the Philippines, the last known American prisoner of war was suffering from a slight case of malaria today that may delay his return to home soil by a day.

Army Capt. Robert T. White, the last American to be released by the Communists, was limping when he arrived Sunday at Clark Air Base in the Philippines for processing.

Doctors at Clark today described his condition after his first sleep in freedom since 1969 as satisfactory.

Talks To Continue

WOUNDED KNEE, S.D. (AP) — Activist Indians and the federal government have reached a provisional agreement that could lead to an end of the 34-day occupation of Wounded Knee.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Gen. Kent Frizzell, the government's chief negotiator, told a news conference Sunday that "a consensus" had been reached at that day's session on more than half of 10 Indian demands.

High Court Denies Review Of Alaska Pipeline Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today let stand a lower court decision blocking construction of the controversial trans-Alaska oil pipeline.

The high court refused without comment or dissent an urgent government plea to overturn the lower court. Thus, the justices left the future of the pipeline from Alaska's North Slope up to Congress.

The government, the State of Alaska, and a consortium of oil companies had urged the court to overturn a decision issued in February by the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals here. The circuit court said the government could not issue permits for construction of the pipeline on U.S.-owned land because the right-of-way needed exceeds the 54-foot width allowed by the federal Mineral Leasing Act of 1920.

Flash Floods Anticipated

By The Associated Press

Flash flood warnings were issued in New England today as a spring storm dropped more than four inches of rain and threatened unusually high tides.

The National Weather Service issued the flood warnings this morning for the southern Maine counties of York, Cumberland, Sagadahoc, Lincoln and Knox, as well as Rockingham and Strafford in New Hampshire.

The service warned of flash flooding in small streams and brooks.

During the night, heavy rains pounded New England, and tides were running 2 1/2 feet above normal, the weather service said.

The 24-hour period ending at 7 a.m. today, 4.65 inches of rain fell at Portsmouth, N.H. Other rainfalls included Boston, 2.16 inches; Worcester, Mass., 2.01; Chatham, Mass., 2.51; Quonset Point, R.I., 2.10; Bridgeport, Conn., 2.18, and Portland, Maine, 1.64.

The weather service said that high tide in Boston is normally 10 feet at 10 a.m., and when tides reach 12 feet there is minor flooding.

A flash flood watch over southern New England was also issued by the weather service but was later withdrawn. It said the rains caused some small streams to run full in Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island, and there were some minor overflows. However, the threat of serious small stream flooding has passed.

The storm was accompanied by high winds. Gusts exceeded 150 miles an hour atop Cannon Mountain in New Hampshire and hit 86 m.p.h. at Mt. Washington.

One lane of Route 113 in West Newbury, Mass., was closed today after the road's rain-softened shoulder caved in. The Massachusetts Department of Public Works also reported several fallen trees blocking the road in the area.

Weicker Says Haldeman Knew About Watergate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., today rejected as unacceptable President Nixon's offer to produce White House aides for informal testimony in secret sessions of the special committee investigating the Watergate bugging case.

Ervin, the committee's chairman, said the Senate is fully empowered by law to subpoena any witness it wishes on its own terms and to mete out punishment for refusing to appear as a witness.

"I am not willing to elevate a White House aide above the great masses of the American people," Ervin told a news conference.

Ervin also rejected the White House claim that presidential counsel John W. Dean III is exempted from appearing because of his lawyer-client relationship with the President and White House aides.

Dean, Ervin said, was appointed by Nixon to find out whether any of those aides were guilty of misconduct in the events surrounding the bugging of Democratic National Committee Headquarters in Washington's Watergate office complex last June.

"Now he claims he was acting as their attorney," Ervin said, and accused Dean of "conflict of interest."

He said it is "absurd" to hold that the Senate is impotent to deal with the White House in the Watergate case and recommended Nixon take a "refresher course" in the laws of evidence at Duke University, his alma mater.

Sunday a Republican member of the special Senate investigating committee said two GOP senators were among targets of spies working for President Nixon's re-election last year.

That and other statements alleging political espionage by the Committee for the Re-election of the President were made Sunday by Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn., and denounced by a spokesman for the Nixon committee as "absolutely, categorically, undeniably" false.

Weicker said also he believes White House Chief of Staff H.R. Haldeman was so closely involved with the Committee for the Re-election of the President that he "had to know what was going on" in the way of political espionage.

He said Republican campaign aides were "almost competitive as to who could do the dirtiest deed." Weicker said he had been told by Alfred C. Baldwin that office activities of Sens. Charles Percy, R-Ill., and Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., and Rep. Charles McCloskey, R-Calif., were among those marked for surveillance.

Baldwin, a former FBI agent, has testified he was hired to wiretap Democratic telephone calls.

Weicker said Baldwin told him he had been ordered by convicted Watergate burglar James W. McCord to stake out those offices and several others on Capitol Hill.

Baldwin, he said, had been told to watch the comings and goings from the offices of Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.; Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine; William Proxmire, D-Wis.; Mike Gravel, D-Alaska; and Rep. Shirley Chisholm, D-N.Y.

Sen. Lowell P. Weicker

"THE WAY I HEARD IT" by John Gruber

Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro" will be offered by the Connecticut Opera Association in about three weeks time. Many people consider it the composer's greatest work. Personally I rank it second to his "Don Giovanni", not from a musical standpoint, but as a stage work.

It is a rather long opera and people are forever getting it confused with "The Barber of Seville" by Rossini which represents Volume I of a three-volume story by Beaumarchais, while "Marriage" is based on Volume II. I remember hearing a course in music history that Volume III has also been set by somebody, but it was a success and is never produced today.

Long Wharf Production Coming

On Sunday, April 8, the Lutz Junior Museum will bring to Manchester the Long Wharf Children's Theater and its production of "Jason and the Argonauts," a theatrical musical adventure. There will be two performances, 3:30 and 7 p.m., both at Bailey Auditorium, Manchester High School.

NBC-TV Revamps Programming For Children

The NBC-TV 1973-1974 Saturday morning program schedule will feature seven new series aimed at children, the network has announced. The new shows are:

- A pioneering series - "GO!" which will involve young TV viewers in a variety of adventures, videotaped on location. An animated version of NBC's nighttime series, "Emergency!" to be titled "Emergency Plus Four." A live-action comedy series, tentatively titled "Sigman," produced by puppeteers Sid and Marty Krofft. "The Addams Family," which will bring creations of Charlie Addams to TV as they appeared in his cartoons. The introduction of a new rock singing group - "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kids" - which will have a real-life counterpart to go with the animated group. The latest in a long line of Hanna-Barbera comedy creations, "Inch High Private Eye."

Susan Brown has joined the cast of NBC-TV's "Return to Peyton Place," weekdays at 3:30 p.m., in the key role of Constance Karson.

Marriage Mill At the state-owned Palace of Weddings in Leningrad, U.S.S.R., marriages are performed ten hours a day, seven days a week. The charge is $1.65 for the eight-minute ceremony. Flowers, photographs and champagne reception are optional and cost extra.

DECEPTIVE PLAY FRIGHTENS DECLARER BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

If you were properly brought up, your mother taught you not to frighten other people, especially if they were friends of yours. Since only a cad would try to undo your mother's lessons I wouldn't dream of praising East's unusual play in today's hand. I merely report it as the sort of thing that sometimes happens when bridge players forget their mothers.

South dealer North-South vulnerable Opening lead - Ten of Diamonds West opened the ten of diamonds, and East took the king and ace. He needed two more tricks to defeat the contract. How was he to get them? Before we go on to what East actually did, let's see what would happen if he made a routine lead, such as a small trump. Declarer would win with the ace of spades and would then lead a club to dummy's king in order to return a trump. East would play low, but South would finesse with the ten as a safety play.

Safety Play This safety play is the right way to handle the trumps when declarer has no problem in the other suits. Declarer takes one high trump and later leads the next trump toward his hand, with the intention of finessing unless the jack or queen appears. If the finesse wins, well and good; if it loses, only one trump will be left, and that can be picked up by the remaining top trump.

Asphalt Machine New Tokyo - A machine for spreading an asphalt layer 0.12 inch thick and 98 feet wide to a depth of 24 to 36 inches under ground at 0.5-foot-per-second has been developed in Japan. The purpose of such a layer is to make effective, efficient use of irrigation water in desert areas and prevent damage to crops because of salt in the desert sand.

Vernon Many Using Services Of Community Center

More than 110 families have utilized the services of the Hockanum Valley Community Service Center since its opening six months ago.

A research committee of the Hockanum Valley Community Services Council, Inc. conducted a survey in 1969 and this survey determined the need for an agency which would serve "people problems." A nucleus committee of Mrs. Helen Abaza, Mrs. Michael Atkins and the Rev. Donald Miller instituted plans for the center which is now located in the Professional Building, Vernon Circle.

The center provides counseling services to individuals as well as families and groups through the cooperation of other agencies and individuals. Representatives of Manchester Child and Family Services and the County Child Guidance Clinic keep weekly appointments at the center and are now inaugurating group therapy sessions for young people.

George Merrill, director of the Consultation Center for Marriage and the Family, spends a day and an evening keeping appointments with couples experiencing marital problems. David Harvey of the Guidance Center for Adults at the University of Connecticut's Continuing Education Center does vocational testing and counseling for recent graduates and for adults anticipating a second career.

Today's Thought

Dag Hammarskjold once wrote: "When the morning's freshness has been replaced by the weariness of midday, when the leg muscles quiver under the strain, the climb seems endless, and suddenly nothing will go as you wish - it then comes that you must not berate." The difference between successes and failures is far more a matter of perseverance than of ability.

PINEHURST... TUESDAY

What Will We Do?

Our customers ask us what we are going to do about the boycott. What can we do? Only go along with you and try to bring meat prices lower. But we don't want to give up smoking. ... you cannot give up buying meat for a week. We will buy from day to day, plan to operate the Meat Dept. as best we can this week and the rest is up to you. If you can see and hear the difference between the past ten weeks, you will know that the retailer, last in line on the meat chain, has been in real trouble trying to keep prices down. We do hope that the President's order will work back to the farmer, but he has to work back from you to the retailer, then the wholesaler, then the packer, then the farmer. ... who is first in the line... can only be affected when we all say "we won't buy today."

Message Clear: Cut Tax Rate

SOL R. COHEN (Herald Reporter) The message last night was loud and clear - "Cut the tax rate," said the Manchester Board of Directors conducted its annual public hearing on the town budget.

Weiss is recommending an $18,404,865 budget and 50.66 mill tax rate for the General Fund - up $1,846,865 and 2 mills over the current fiscal year; and a $1,261,719 budget and 5.35 mill tax rate for the Town Fire District - up $134,788 and 0.29 mill.

Waterman, who said he spoke on behalf of all the students of Manchester, said he hoped the school board would coordinate all the supplies, maintenance and equipment, if the school board request is cut.

Richard Waterman: "...lack of funds."

Charles Pillard: "...becoming slaves."

A Working Boat, And Beautiful

Silhouetted against dawn's light, the sailboat is a ghostly galleon, sleek and graceful.

Members of the crew work to bring in the sails.

When the captain feels the dredges are full, he signals them up.

Workers unload the catch — oysters from Chesapeake Bay.

Piles of oyster shells remain after the shucking.

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL

TILGHMAN, Md. (AP) — The skipjack and the men who sail her already are in place as the first spatters of red from the morning sun play on the gentle swells of Chesapeake Bay.

Silhouetted against dawn's light, the sailboat is a ghostly galleon, sleek and graceful, her sails reefed against the cold blustery winds.

Her crew notes the beauty—the combination of sky and sun and water that has always awed man—then turns to the task at hand, dredging up oysters.

The skipjack is a working boat, a breed from another time when man harvested the waters with the same uncaring greed that he ravaged herds of buffalo and the century-old giants of the forest.

Now sailboats only are permitted to ply the bay to seize the treasures from the oyster beds. She can take only 150 bushels of oysters in a day that begins at sunrise and ends at 3.

In the dawn, she looks like a masterpiece from a glassblower's pipeher hallmarks the familiar raking mast, clipper bow and carved trailboard.

Once there were more than a thousand skipjacks on the Chesapeake, now there are just 36.

She is a native of the Eastern Shore, born in the early 1800s. The name is a mystery. Many believe she is named after the lively game fish, Chesapeake fishermen like those sprightly fish, calling them "Blues" or "Bluefish."

Her work begins when the skipper thinks he is over the beds. Heavy iron triangular frames with sharp teeth on the lower edge are lowered. When the captain feels the dredges are full—an art in itself—he signals them up.

The crew quickly culls them—taking only oysters three inches or longer. The rest are thrown back into the salt waters for another season, another dawn on the cold Chesapeake.

Totalphone Now Available

Southern New England Telephone announces it is making Totalphone available in Manchester for business customers whose telephone numbers start with 646, 647 or 649. Business and residence customers whose telephone numbers start with 646 are also eligible for Totalphone.

According to Lem Hoops, local telephone manager, Totalphone can forward calls to another phone when you are away from home or office and bring a third party into a conversation. Totalphone also gives a tone signal when you're on the phone talking and someone is trying to reach you. Another special feature—speed calling—allows the phone user to press only two or three buttons to reach local or long distance numbers frequently called including emergency numbers.

Push-button phones in a choice colors are included when a customer chooses Totalphone service.

The new series is available to those customers served by electronic equipment in the telephone building at 52 E. Center St. in Manchester. This building contains equipment known as an Electronic Switching System (ESS)—a computer-like switching system which makes the special Totalphone service possible.

Hoops said anyone interested in more information should call the Manchester telephone office which served this area.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sirloin steak out of sight these days? It's rough all over, according to U.S. emissaries who checked supermarket prices in Bonn, London, Tokyo, Rome and other foreign capitals.

Beef roasts sold for $2.08 per pound in the West German capital in mid-March, about the same as in Washington. And if misery truly loves company Japan's finest—Kobe beef—was selling to a limited clientele in Tokyo for $17.40 per pound. The foreign meat prices were reported today by the Agriculture Department in its weekly publication, "Foreign Agriculture." Officials said spot checks were made of prices in 11 cities by U.S. agricultural attaches. T-bone steak was reported at 45 cents per pound in Brasilia and veal cutlets at 67 cents. In Washington, the report said, sirloin was $1.69 and veal $2.29. Parisian shoppers saw top round of beef at $2.57 per pound

Job Outlook Good For 1973 Grads

NEW YORK (AP) — Job prospects for students who graduate from college this spring are the best in four years, but the future may continue to present problems, the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education said today. "Although the short-term crisis is phasing out, the long-run situation still deserves careful study," the commission said in releasing a new report on college graduates and the job market. The report said the job market for college graduates in both 1972 and 1973 made it clear that the poor employment prospects facing college graduates in 1970 and 1971 were in large part associated with the economic recession of those years. But the impact of economic recovery could be blunted during the remainder of the decade by a surplus of college-educated persons, if adjustments are not made, the commission said. "The realistic problem for the 1970s may be the necessity for the absorption of some college-educated persons into jobs which have not been traditionally filled by persons with a college education," the commission said. Assessing individual occupations in the 1970s, the commission said prospects for teachers and college faculty members were dim, while employment prospects were bright for health care personnel and managers generally. It also said employment opportunities for computer operators, office machine operators and recreation workers would go up steadily, and that prospects for engineers would go up and down. The commission said that while job prospects for women would be reduced because of fewer teaching opportunities than in the past, they would be enhanced by more opportunities in health care.

Brandeis Students Bow To Superior Court Order

WALTHAM, Mass. (AP) — Fifty students, who said they were members of the Third World Coalition, ended a nine-hour occupation of the administration building at Brandeis University Monday after the school secured a court order against them. A restraining order against the occupation was issued during the day by Middlesex County Superior Court at the request of the university. The students said they took over the building to demand higher levels of financial aid to students from low income families, especially those of Puerto Rican and Mexican-American descent. Dr. Marver Bernstein, Brandeis president, said the university would not negotiate students demands so long as the building occupation continued. He said that the students would be forcibly evicted but that if they left peacefully, he would take that action into account with considering disciplinary action against them. The students said student financial aid at Brandeis had dropped to 82 per cent of need from 96 per cent of need in two years. They said they wanted financial aid at 100 per cent of need. Black Students paraded in front of the building, the Bernstein-Marcus Building, in support of the occupation during the day.

Committee Okays Escrow Interest Bill

HARTFORD (AP) — A bill that would require Connecticut banks to pay two per cent interest on escrow accounts won approval Monday from the legislature's Bank Committee. The bill would apply to money withheld by banks from monthly mortgage payments to cover property taxes. Under the bill, interest would be paid only to homeowners, not to the owners of commercial buildings. The measure also would require apartment house and other commercial building owners to pay their tenants four per cent annual interest on security deposits, which usually amount to one month's rent. The bill has been opposed by spokesmen for savings banks and by the Hartford Property Owners Association. Other bills approved by the committee Monday would prohibit banks from making a service charge on "open end" credit card plans. Prohibit banks and savings and loan associations from offering or selling articles of value as inducements to individuals to open new accounts or add to existing ones.

Muskie Fears 'One-Man-Rule'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, giving the Democrats' response to President Nixon's Thursday night television address, says Congress fears the implications of what he called the President's "one-man rule." "The President has asked for a free hand—a blank check—so that he can decide, and decide alone," the issues of ending the war, national spending priorities and halting inflation," Muskie said Monday night. "We in the Congress fear, as all Americans fear, the threat of one-man rule," he said, and "distrust any president who would suggest that only he knows what is best for America." The Maine Democrat said the President lifted Phase 2 controls on the economy too soon and then clamped a ceiling on meat prices at their highest level in history. Muskie said also the Presi-

Divorce Reform Loses Bar Support

HARTFORD (AP) — The Connecticut Bar Association Monday withdrew its support of a divorce reform bill already approved by the state House of Representatives and awaiting action in the Senate. Originally, the bill would have eliminated all existing grounds for divorce and replaced them with the sole reason of irretrievable breakdown. It also would have eliminated the taking of evidence in uncontested cases. The bill, as amended, retains the present grounds and adds irretrievable breakdown and 18-month separation to the list.
