Military Base Cuts Hit New England Area Hard

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon officials said today that 224 military installations will be closed and 21,172 civilian and 16,640 military jobs will be terminated, a reliable Senate source reported.

Miss Manchester Tapped By Jaycees

Betty Ryder
(Herald Reporter)

A petite, light brown haired, bundle of exuberance, Diane Elizabeth Del Gaudio, 19, was named "Miss Manchester 1973" at the Jaycee-sponsored pageant Saturday night at Bailey Auditorium in Manchester High School.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Del Gaudio of Simsbury, she is presently in her second year at the University of Connecticut.

The first runner-up was Sharon Burr of Rockville; second, Nancy Jensen of East Hartford; third, Diane Kozlovich of Manchester; and fourth, Rose Marie LeBlanc of Bolton.

The Miss Congeniality award, which is presented to the girl voted most congenial by her fellow contestants and is considered a distinguished award, went to Karen Petrowich of Stafford Springs.

Each of the nine young ladies competing for the coveted title, appeared relaxed and confident, although a sharp eye could detect fidgeting fingers, and a few heavy sighs as they awaited their turn to appear on stage.

The event, emceed by W. Robert De Prospero, formerly of Manchester, a soloist for the Hartford Chamber Choir and the Worcester Chorus, and Miss Sally Middleton of Manchester, a former Miss Connecticut and currently one of the top fashion and photography models in the state, went off with all the aplomb of a national televised pageant. Both De Prospero and Miss Middleton added touches of humor, as well as nostalgia, as the evening proceeded.

congressional delegations on Capitol Hill.

Among those which will be closed are Hunter's Point Naval Yard at San Francisco and the Boston Naval Yard.

The Pentagon officials said a total of 274 bases will be affected in some way by the reductions.

The hospital and brig will definitely be shut down in Portsmouth, N.H., but there are some conflicting reports on whether or not the rest of the installation will remain.

There are approximately 480 military installations in the United States. They employ 2.3 million members of the Armed Forces and about 1.1 million civilians hired directly by the government.

The full list of bases was not immediately available. However, Sen. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., said one of the biggest bases, Ft. Dix in New Jersey, will remain open. He had just attended an Appropriations Committee meeting with Pentagon officials on Capitol Hill.

He said the New England states seem to be the hardest hit by the military actions.

The Boston Naval Shipyard and the hospital and brig at Portsmouth, N.H. Naval Shipyard will be closed, said Schweiker.

Cut back will be Lakehurst and Ft. Monmouth, N.J. in Pennsylvania the Navy Air Engineering Center is scheduled for closure.

The Philadelphia Navy Yard will remain open and several hundred jobs from yards closed in New England will be transferred there.

Informed sources said Westover Air Force Base in Massachusetts also will be closed.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., refused to name any bases but said after the meeting with the Pentagon officials that "There were no surprises. It was everything we expected."

The Boston Navy Yard and Westover, a B52 base, have been the subject of persistent reports in recent weeks that they might be closed.

Rhode Island Closures Reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy plans to close its base at Quonset Point, R.I. and most of its facilities at Newport, R.I. by July 1, 1974, an assistant Navy secretary said today.

Charles L. III 2nd disclosed the plans during a briefing with members of Congress this morning. The plans are to be announced officially Tuesday. The Davisville Seabee Base is the only Rhode Island installation not slated for cutbacks or closing.

The Navy plans to completely close the Quonset Point installation and remove the cruiser-destroyer complex from Newport, a source quoted III as saying.

The sharp cutbacks are expected to result in the loss of almost 4,000 Navy civilian jobs and more than 17,000 uniformed men. Most of the civilian jobs being lost are at Quonset, with only 700 of them now at Newport.

Under the plans disclosed today, the navy training schools, which include the War College and the Officer Candidate School, and underwater weapons facility would be retained at Newport.

Tornadoes Hit Texas

Three Texas communities were struck by tornadoes, and eight persons were killed. Two other lives were lost in flash floods.

Property loss in nature's rampage Sunday was estimated at several millions of dollars. Thunderstorms, hail and strong winds hit almost every section of the state.

World's Three Major Faiths Mark Rites

By The Associated Press

The calendar today linked observances of three of the world's major faiths as Christians were in the second day of their pre-Easter Holy Week, Jews prepared to begin celebration of Passover at sundown and Moslems observed the anniversary of the birth of the Prophet Mohammed.

Roman Catholics carried olive branches and palms on Sunday as they commemorated Christ's triumphal entry into Jerusalem five days before his crucifixion.

In Jerusalem, more than 5,000 pilgrims—including poor Arab villagers, high prelates in scarlet and monks in simple robes—retraced Christ's path into the Holy City in the sixth Palm Sunday under Israeli rule.

A busy highway and a mountain-side stairway now cover the path Christ took. Boy Scouts kept back crowds of onlookers as the devout walked, singing in half a dozen languages, into the old walled city of Jerusalem. A group of American Baptists clapped as they sang "Michael, Row the Boat Ashore."

Israeli police on horseback kept close watch on the pilgrimage, which passed without incident despite increased tension between Arabs and Jews in the Middle East.

Pope Paul VI celebrated mass before more than 15,000 persons who crowded into St. Peter's Basilica in Rome for the beginning of Holy Week. Millions more watched the two-hour service on television.

In a 15-minute homily, the Pope said the world's youth should look to Jesus Christ if they seek to transform society. "Contest and rebellion" are not ways to bring about change, he said.

The Pope blessed and distributed olive branches and palms—symbols of the branches spread before Christ on his entrance to Jerusalem—to scores of cardinals, prelates and youths.

After mass, the Pope delivered his noon blessing from his balcony as thousands of Easter Week tourists packed St. Peter's Square in the warm sunshine.

President and Mrs. Nixon observed Palm Sunday at a service at the White House conducted by the Rev. Edward Victor Hill of the Mount Zion Missionary Baptist Church in Los Angeles.

The Jewish celebration of Passover lasts eight days and was expected to be extra joyful this year because Israel is celebrating its 25th anniversary as a nation.

Thousands of Israelis flocked to the countryside and to the beaches. Many families gave their homes a thorough spring cleaning. Devout families burned all their leavened bread, replacing it for Passover with the unleavened matzah eaten by the Israelites during their flight from Egypt through the desert 3,000 years ago.

Security precautions were extremely tight throughout Israel. Particular emphasis was placed on Lod International Airport, where some 20,000 visitors were expected in the next 24 hours.

In Moscow, daily Passover services were scheduled morning and evening in the Soviet capital's only active synagogue. Many Jews also planned private services in their homes.

State Abortion Law Review Turned Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court refused without comment today to reconsider its disposition of an appeal on Connecticut's abortion law.

On Feb. 26, the high court remanded the Connecticut appeal to the U.S. District Court after vacating the lower court's decision declaring the anti-abortion law unconstitutional.

The high court at that time instructed the district court to dispense with the case in light of its earlier decisions in cases attacking abortion laws in Georgia and Texas.

Commuter Bus Service May Be Expanded

DOUG BEVINS
(Herald Reporter)

Possibility of additional commuter bus service from South Manchester to Hartford was discussed this morning at the ribbon-cutting ceremony for a new 250-car parking lot and bus terminal at Buckland.

State Comptroller Nathan Agostinelli of Manchester, Mayor John Thompson, and State Sen. David Odegard all mentioned the possibility and agreed that express bus service from the south end of town would probably be successful.

Agostinelli, noting the success of the bus service from Burr Corners in Buckland, said he will ask the state Department of Transportation to conduct a survey to determine whether commuter buses from South Manchester would be used.

All three officials mentioned that there is more of a population concentration in the south end, and there are several possible sites for a bus terminal-parking lot.

Commuter bus service, which started as a mass transit experiment subsidized by the state transportation department, already serves Manchester and West Hartford. Commuter buses have been proposed for two other Capitol Region towns.

The Manchester bus service, which operated from Burr Corners Shopping Plaza until today, when its base officially moved just east of Interstate 86 (the Wilbur Cross Highway), started last July.

By November, when a transit union strike stopped Connecticut Co. bus service, the Burr Corners buses were carrying nearly 300 passengers a day, and the state was "breaking even" on the service.

The buses started rolling again March 26, when the strike ended, and ridership counts at Burr Corners have been increasing almost to the former level. The buses carried 263 persons this morning.

Deputy State Transportation Commissioner Edmund Mickiewicz, speaking at this morning's ribbon-cutting, noted the state's pleasure with the success of the Burr Corners bus operation. He thanked Charles Schrier, developer of Burr Corners, and Burr Corners merchants for their cooperation with the bus service.

The bus terminal was moved to state-owned property because of construction of the twin Jerry Lewis theaters at the shopping plaza.

Others attending this morning's ceremony were John Drake, director of planning for the transportation department; Angelo Siccardi, federal highway administrator; Mrs. Gabriel Mudry, a commuter who has assisted the transportation department with the promotion effort; Mrs. Susan Manfred of the Hartford County Tuberculosis-Respiratory Disease Association; and Joseph Perry of the Connecticut Co.

James "Dutch" Fogarty, Manchester's civil defense director, served coffee (provided by the town) to commuters.

New Commuter Bus Terminal Opens

Coventry Town To Ban Open Burning

HOLLY GANTNER
Correspondent
Tel. 748-7068

The burning of leaves and brush will not be allowed in Coventry this year, according to Dr. Robert Bowen, director of health for the town.

Department of Environmental Protection regulations state that when an alternative method of disposal exists, the burning of leaves and brush should be discouraged, Bowen said. He cited the sanitary landfill operation as a suitable alternative method.

All open burning and open burning permits are conditional, depending on atmospheric conditions and the danger that may be inflicted on surrounding vegetation and structures, said Bowen.

Open burning allowed without a permit includes barbecues or other fire for the cooking of food for human consumption. Clean dry wood or charcoal may be burned. Also, campfires in indoor fireplaces, and again, only clean dry firewood or charcoal may be burned.

Also allowed without a permit are fires in salamanders or other devices used by construction or other workers for heating purposes, and small fires kindled by constructors which are essential to street installation or paving activities, the repairing of utilities or similar work.

Also, fires to abate a fire hazard provided that the abatement fire is controlled according to directions of a responsible fire official.

Bowen also listed instances when an open burning permit is required through his office. These include fires for training personnel in methods of lighting fires; fires for the prevention or control of disease or pests; fire for the prevention, control or destruction of agricultural diseases and pests.

"THE WAY I HEARD IT"

by John Gruber

The Hartford Symphony has announced the programs and soloists for next season's series of subscription concerts, and in case you are wondering whether or not to invest in tickets I'll give you a rundown on what you may expect. There are ten concerts and the programs are good, without being very venturesome.

The season opens Oct. 24 with Alicia de Larrocha as piano soloist. I'm a big booster for her and have been known to go down to New York just to hear her. Since I hear plenty of music in the course of a year, you can be sure she has to be out of the ordinary to get me to make that effort.

She will be heard in Chopin's F minor piano concerto, usually listed as his second, but actually his first. He got the second one published first, which accounts for the screwy numbering. Also on the program are Brahms' "Academic Festival Overture," Dvorak's Symphony No. 7, and "Aus Italien" by Richard Strauss, which actually is more German than Italian.

Malcolm Frager, another pianist, will be featured No. 7. He has chosen the Fifth Concerto by Beethoven, dubbed the "Emporer" by one of Napoleon's officers. Also on the program is Haydn's delightful "Clock" Symphony and one movement from Mahler's Tenth Symphony. Mahler didn't live to complete this one although a version completed by someone else is available on records. This "Adagio" is very lovely.

Nov. 28 brings another concert, this time featuring a violinist, Erick Friedmann, about whom I know nothing. He will play the Wieniawski Violin Concerto, once very popular but neglected for a score of years or more. It is an enjoyable work but not one of the world's greatest.

Also on the program are four interludes from the opera "Peter Grimes" by the British composer Benjamin Britten. The opera is one of the few successful works in this form written since 1920. The big number of the evening is Brahms' Third Symphony.

Leslie Farmer will be featured in the Haydn Cello Concerto on Dec. 12. I always like this piece. You can hear it again and again without tiring of it. It isn't pretentious but you develop a very warm friendship for it over the years.

To round out the evening we get Schonberg's "Ode to Napoleon" for an organ and Schubert's Seventh Symphony (sometimes numbered 10). In any event it is the big one in C major, as contrasted to the little one in C major. Personally I find it overly long and something of a bore, but maybe you won't agree with me about this. Schumann loved it, and so did Weingartner, but I'm not alone in my feelings about the work.

Alfred Wallenstein will be guest conductor on Jan. 5. He will have Kishiko Surumi as violin soloist, who has earned very creditable plaudits in this country during the past season. The big number of the evening is the Fourth Symphony by Vaughan Williams. This is another symphony that leaves me rather cold. The violin solo will be the effective Concerto in B minor by Saint-Saens, while the program will be completed with Dohnanyi's Orchestra Variations (really a suite) Opus 19.

Feb. 13 brings Rudolf Firkušny as piano soloist, a rather unusual program. To begin with, we shall get Mozart's "Paris" Symphony which is a big more heavily scored than is his custom. Then we get a Mozart Rondo for Piano and Orchestra. Mr. Firkušny is not the pianist I would choose for this particular composition. He lacks subtlety, so does Mr. Winograd. This number was apparently in-

Andover School Board Cuts Budget

ANNE EMT
Correspondent
Tel. 238371

The Board of Education, at a special meeting Saturday afternoon, reduced its budget request for 1973-74 by $8,000. The board had been requested by the Board of Finance after last week's budget hearing to make cuts in areas such as the part-time resource teacher and lawn care, and to reduce the budget by $8,000.

According to Mrs. Beatrice Kowalski, Board of Education chairman, the $4,500 for the part-time resource teacher has not been cut.

The board felt this to be an essential addition to the staff, and it has also received requests from parents to include this position for the coming school year.

Cuts
The largest cut made was $6,500 from the school bus fund, leaving only $2,000 requested for this year.

The board felt that even with the purchase of new school bus this year, at approximately $8,500, there would still be sufficient funds remaining from the $22,000 in the account to justify reducing this item for this year.

Other cuts made were $300 for one playground aide; $100 for textbooks; $200 for contracted service for operation of the plant; $200 for electricity; $210 for replacement of equipment; $600 for unanticipated needs for contracted services; $450 for food services; and $500 for equipment.

The board felt one playground aide could be cut from the budget because of increased time that the learning disabilities teacher would be spending in the school each day.

The $200 from contracted services is $300 less than the final amount to the staff, and it has also received requests from parents to include this position for the coming school year.

Due to a new industrial rate, it was felt the electricity account under utilities could be cut back $200, and a request under replacement of equipment was reduced to $70 from $200 to purchase one phonograph rather than four. The board hopes to be able to use funds from the Norton Fund for the other three.

The total amount requested for food services, $450, was eliminated on the basis that this could be absorbed in the hot lunch program. The $450 covered salaries and supplies for the bookkeeping, ordering and menu for the program.

The final item reduced was $500 from the $600 requested for equipment. The $100 remaining will be used for two listening centers. Two language masters and four cassette tape recorders have been cut and again the board hopes to be able to use the Norton Fund for the purchase of these items.

Addition
Although the total cuts amounted to $9,020, the board had to add $900 for work that the State Health Department says must be done on the leeching fields at the school before school opens in September.

Following the meeting, Mrs. Kowalski said that anything else the board cuts from the requested budget "will hurt the program."

Unemployment Rate Declines Slightly In State

HARTFORD (AP) — The state Labor Department reported today that Connecticut's insured unemployment rate stood at 3.9 per cent for the two-week period ending April 7, down slightly from the four per cent rate posted at the end of the previous two-week period.

The 3.9 per cent figure compares favorably to a rate of 8.4 per cent during the same period a year ago.

Of the 19 unemployment offices throughout the state, Hartford, New London, Bristol, Willimantic and Enfield posted the largest decreases in unemployment claims during the period, while New Britain, Middletown and Meriden had the largest increases.

A Shrewd Investment

It is a Yankee tradition that when one is investing his money, he should do so with the idea of getting a tangible return, and most of us view our business investments in this light.

Another factor that influences is the amount of return as well as its tangibility. In other words does it show up in more sales, more profit, more net returns.

This is good business and we are constantly cautioned against "gambling" with our capital. As one Yankee adage puts it, "don't dip into your capital, live off the interest."

Each April, we as citizens of Connecticut and every other state in the union, asked to "invest" in the American Cancer Society's Cancer Crusade.

Unlike a business, the returns on this investment are not as tangible or easily seen from one year to the next, but there is a return.

According to the Manchester Unit of the Connecticut Division of ACS, your investment during the past year has provided 109 area families with cancer victims a full range of assistance ranging from dressings, loan of sickroom equipment, financial aid to the needy, therapy, rehabilitation and transportation for out-patient appointments.

Mark Up One For Judge

A New York Criminal Court judge has fined a movie theater $100,000 for showing a movie, "Deep Throat," which he had previously ruled obscene.

Although the ruling and the fine is being appealed, we think the judge is on the right track.

Litigation over what is obscene and not obscene often involves months or years. In fact, in some states the penalty for violation of the law is so low, that violators pay repeated fines and still show a profit.

Obviously by levying the huge fine, the promoters of the film in question will push for an early appeal because

Better Police Protection

To whom it may concern:
Stark terror came to the quiet town of Bolton in the form of the murder and robbery of a quiet, well-liked owner of a local package store.

Terror in lesser forms has visited Bolton the past few years in the form of robbery of the stores at the North and in the form of three major traffic accidents on Bolton Center Road, resulting in at least two deaths.

The time has come for Bolton's citizens to demand better police protection. This does not mean the purchase of a $5,000 cruiser. It does mean better State Police protection and possibly the establishment of a full-time police force. It calls for the constables to be on patrol at appointed times; not only at school dances.

Several speed traps in town have gone unchecked for months. One resident trooper is no longer enough for Bolton. Bolton Center Road has traffic equal in speed to Rt. 64 and residents are afraid to work or relax in their front yards. In the lake area there is a road where every residence except one has been robbed at least once.

Let us not wait for another murder or traffic death to demand better police protection.

Productivity Missionary Finds Proselyting Tough

BY LEO RODERICK
(Special to The Herald)
SAN FRANCISCO—To be a productivity missionary in Washington, D.C., Susan S. Holland is a voice crying in the wilderness, a missionary preaching the gospel of productivity and teaching the local natives how to squeeze more output from an hour's work.

However, Mrs. Holland, 34, who recently was appointed regional productivity representative for the federal government, sees her new job in less adventurous terms. "I'm simply trying to act as a catalyst for change," she said.

Holland is a telephone interviewer. "But I must admit there isn't a whole lot that one person can do compared to the job that needs to be done."

Mrs. Holland, who has been a federal government economist and administrator for 12 years, is attached to the Department of Labor's office in the region which includes California, Arizona, Nevada and Hawaii. Her $7,000 appointment makes Mrs. Holland the second regional representative of the Presidentially-established National Commission on Productivity. (The other is in Chicago.)

Mrs. Holland believes a substantial selling job lies ahead before America's workers will buy the concept of increased productivity at the amount of labor. "Productivity has a connotation of speedup to most workers," she explained. "Unions have usually been opposed to productivity campaigns. They have a mental image of a guy with a stopwatch leaning over the shoulder of a factory worker."

Raw data from a recent Louis Harris survey bear out Mrs. Holland's view of the negative connotations that the productivity concept has for many Americans. According to the poll, 67 per cent of Americans agree that "for productivity to increase, machines replace workers and a lot of people lose their jobs."

More than half of those surveyed were convinced that "increased productivity means higher unemployment," and only 42 per cent agreed that it means "higher paid workers."

However, Mrs. Holland insists there is another side to the productivity coin. "As productivity increases, there should be a bigger pie to split between management and workers. We are exploring the concept of 'productivity bargaining' for example, where workers get a share of the increase in productivity through the collective bargaining process."

She continued: "If we are going to provide the kind of living standard most Americans demand, and compete in world markets, there is no question we are going to have to increase our productivity." From 1965 to 1970, Europe's overall productivity rose 40 to 50 per cent and Japan's rose 90 per cent. During the same time, U.S. productivity rose 10 per cent.

Armed with such statistics and an apparent zeal for the challenge, Mrs. Holland, after several weeks on the job, is concerned but not outwardly discouraged by what she sees as a lack of acceptance of or concern about the productivity issue.

Tax Reform

WASHINGTON — On the issue of tax reform, the White House's John Erlichman seems ruddy lucky he doesn't have to run for office because any candidate who sponsored tax reform legislation aimed at the average family would find himself naturally attired in tans and feathers and backed out of town on a rail.

As I understand him, Erlichman dismissed as a myth current tax loopholes that benefit the wealthy. Well, it is unnecessary to remind him that some millionaires and even some billionaires so arrange their affairs that they don't pay any taxes at all. That situation should have been dealt with long ago. But in fact there are a number of revisions in the tax laws that would produce more revenue by in Erlichman's words "simply readjusting corporate income tax exemptions."

Indeed, such revisions would raise more than the $2-billion estimated cost of appropriations favored by the wild spenders on Capitol Hill. Let us see what could be done: There are those capital gains. By treating them as ordinary income, the Treasury would be enriched by a cool $6.5-billion a year. There is the Accelerated Depreciation Allowance, a tax reduction for business enacted in 1971. Next year, this law will cost the Treasury $2.7-billion. The business investment credit represents a saving to corporations of nearly $2-billion a year.

Sen. George McGovern, among others, has suggested the government's tax experts take a look at estate taxation, levied when a rich man dies, and deposing that the only real tax is subject to an estate tax, but if it were taxed as a capital gain the Treasury would reap another $2-billion.

Very well, it may be that any Treasury raids of this kind "would be so drastic as to adversely affect the economy. Let that pass for a moment. The idea of a tax system is that it be fair, that the ordinary citizen be persuaded that he is not being taken. Today, most working stiffs who do not make $1-million a year are not so persuaded. To take Erlichman seriously, which I find difficult, and deprive the average taxpayer of his patetically few "loopholes" would send hordes of revolutionaries marching on Washington with torches in hand.

Perhaps John Erlichman is merely enjoying a colossal put-on. But I don't know. Asked about the high price of food, he remarked that "Everybody seems to have a little richer tastes..." John Erlichman, meet Marie Antoinette.

Mr. Nixon Is No Small Talker

White House observers report that Mr. Nixon is emerging from the "splendid isolation" of his first Administration to mingle with his beloved people, making small talk as he goes. Some recent examples of his small talk they cite include: (1) "I've always admired your courage, manly stand on the issues, Miss Steinem."

"Golly, Mrs. Oassiss, I've certainly seen a lot of you in the magazines."
"Where have they been keeping you lately, Senator Eagleton?"
"I hope you're having a gay time, Mr. Libereac."
"That was a great song, Mr. Ray. Charles, I hope we see each other again soon."
"Don't I know you from somewhere, Secretary Rogers?"
"So you own the Washington Post, Mrs. Abraham. Hot enough for you?"
"Spiro! Where have you been lately!"

An AP News Analysis

Tax Reform Remains At Issue Stage

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Income taxpaying time is at hand, federal tax reformers in view of the energy crisis.

An issue during the 1972 presidential campaign, tax reform is still in the issue stage, although Congress has taken an initial step toward shaping legislation.

There is, however, no likelihood that the product will be the kind of overhaul of upper-middle and corporate tax provisions advocated by some Democrats.

President Nixon has said he will recommend property-tax relief for the elderly and a tax credit for parents on tuition paid to private elementary and secondary schools.

The administration has not yet presented detailed proposals, but is expected to recommend little more than that.

Nixon is concentrating on another aspect of the tax question, contending that if Congress undoes the economies in his budget, "it would take a 15 per cent increase in income taxes to pay for the additional expenditures."

Would-be reformers have talked of raising vast new revenues by undoing what they consider loopholes in the tax code, but the administration says that can't be done.

John D. Erlichman, Nixon's domestic-affairs chief, contends it would not be possible to raise substantial amounts of new money through tax reform "unless you start digging into the average taxpayer's exemptions" such as charitable contributions for donations to charity, mortgage interest and the like.

And Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, says Congress never has managed to gain revenue through tax reform.

Mills' supports Nixon's proposed tax break for tuition-paying parents.

What may emerge eventually is a bill embracing that; property tax relief and revenue-boosting changes in the capital gains tax and the minimum tax on high-income taxpayers.

Whatever happens, it won't happen soon. Mills said his House Ways and Means Committee, which initiates tax legislation, will act first on Nixon's request for broad new trade-negotiating powers.

Waiting in the Senate are such reform advocates as Sen. George McGovern who, in his losing Democratic presidential campaign, said he would seek changes to add $20 billion a year to revenues by 1975.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine has introduced legislation he said would produce $18 billion in new revenues by closing "upper-income and corporate loopholes" without affecting middle and lower-income taxpayers.

But other omens are more likely to foretell the outcome. Nixon, during his re-election campaign, said he favors plant depreciation provisions that benefit industry at tax time, as a way to promote improved

Buildings With Sound Absorbers Suggested

By WARREN E. LEARY
AP Science Writer
BOSTON (AP) — A UCLA study says that much urban traffic noise can be eliminated if the soundscapes placed on the sidewalks and building fronts.

The study found that the sounds of a busy boulevard behind high buildings could be reduced to those of a tree-lined residential avenue if the sidewalks and ground cover in front of the big buildings were covered with outdoor carpeting or artificial turf.

And further sound reduction is possible if the buildings themselves are covered with absorbing material or designed in such a way that they reflect the sound upward and not backward-forth between one another.

Dr. Vern O. Knudsen and Vern C. Plante, of the UCLA Physical Department, presented the results of their study at the 85th meeting of the Acoustical Society of America held in Boston.

Dr. Knudsen said he and his colleagues started the study last year using large one-tenth to one-fifth building models in his laboratory's sound chamber.

"We felt for a long time that too little work was being done on the effect of buildings on noise," Dr. Knudsen said.

It has long been known, he said, that sounds on or above street level increase in intensity, and therefore loudness, because of the acoustical characteristics of the facing buildings.

These building reflections are commonly called "canyon effect," but Dr. Knudsen said he uses the more general term "boundary effect" to include the significant noise contribution of cars on the road.

Dr. Knudsen said most automobile noise comes from the engine running, the tires on the road and other sources like gear-shifting. Artificial sound sources supplemented the noise of a small gas engine to duplicate auto noise in the laboratory.

The closer the buildings facing across a street, the more noise, the researchers found, and alley openings had only a small effect in reducing low frequency noise.

Tiling the building walls at an angle away from the street sends noise upward and reduces the sound bounce between facing buildings, the study showed. The best building shape, it said, was parabolic with the front surface curved inward and tilted back.

"Parabolic facings have potential merit for the reduction of the reverberation effect (sound bounce) for high rise buildings with minimal setback," Dr. Knudsen said, "and they are more aesthetically than typical buildings resembling shoe boxes standing on end."

Military Doctoring Disabling

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top-ranking Army and Air Force doctors are either a lot sicker than their patients or they're getting preferential treatment by the medical boards which decide disability ratings, according to a new survey by the Armed Forces Journal.

The study found that Army and Air Force doctors who are generalists retire with higher disability ratings than almost any other group in the armed services.

A high disability rating entitles the retiring serviceman to a sizeable tax-free income. The rating is supposed to measure the degree of physical or mental disability.

The Journal survey showed that 88 per cent of Army doctors who are generalists retire on disability and 68 per cent of Air Force doctor-generalists do so. One-fourth of the army's admirals who are doctors claim disability. The publication reported.

Today's Thought

INTERCESSION
The effectiveness of intercession is not a mechanical process of making God's power a tool for man's using, but the complex spiritual one of bringing man into the peace that is only theirs within the will of God. It is not the submission of God's power into the power of man, but the submission of man's purposes into the leading of His will and the healing of His love. For the Divine power is no magic lamp from which we may, by the rubbing of prayer, produce a genie to work wonders for us; rather it is the wonders of vision and warmth and healing. Intercession is the bringing of others into that light.

Third Graders Ask For Help

A letter received by The Herald expressing the thoughts of members of Waddell School, Grade 3, room 8 students, seeks the assistance of Manchester residents in helping to clean up the playground and baseball diamond areas. The letter is as follows:

"We the children of Grade 3, room 8, have been studying about pollution. We learned much about pollution; water, air, land and noise are kinds of pollution. After studying about pollution we decided we wanted to do something about pollution. We talked about ways we could get people in Manchester to keep our playground around the baseball diamond clean. We got in touch with the Manchester Chamber of Commerce and asked for help.

Mr. Richard Clark, director of the Chamber of Commerce, visited us in school. We told him people, wind and places of business around Waddell School are some of the causes of our playground being littered. Mr. Clark told us the Chamber of Commerce would supply trash containers for the grounds. The Chamber of Commerce supplied signs we put up on the baseball field fence, and WINF planned a recording of our pollution mottoes to be broadcast.

"Thank you Manchester Chamber of Commerce. Citizens of Manchester, please help us to keep our grounds around the baseball diamond free of litter."

Water Firm To Host Regional Association

Vernon
The Rockville Water and Aqueduct Company will host the members of the New England Water Works Association at a regional meeting Thursday at the Steak Out Restaurant in Talcottville.

Members and guests will meet at the Steak Out and then will be transported by bus to the company's new, modern treatment plant at Lake Shenepit.

Following an inspection tour of the treatment facility the group will return to the restaurant for a luncheon meeting.

Invited guests will include members of the State Public Utilities Commission, elected officials from Vernon, Tolland, Ellington and South Windsor, representatives of the major contracting firms and consulting engineers who helped build the plant as well as directors, officers and employees of the water company.

W. Neal MacKenzie, president of Rockville Water and Aqueduct, will explain the new $2.25 million facility which incorporates the most modern design available for water treatment and filtration. The water company celebrated its 100th anniversary in 1970 and now provides over 1.2 billion gallons a year to more than 4,000 customers.

Shriners To Offer 41st Annual Circus

Shrine Circus time is here again, and the Shriners of Sphinx Temple will sponsor their 41st annual circus at the Hartford State Armory April 20 through April 29. Nineteen performances will be offered.

Some 100 Manchester-area youngsters will go to the special Children's Show Saturday morning, April 21, courtesy of the Omar Shrine Club of Manchester and the Manchester Kiwanis Club.

Serving as general chairman for Omar is Ian Wright of 75 Main St. He succeeds York Strangfeld, who was chairman for more than 10 years but has now retired and moved to Florida. Serving as cochairmen are Roger Chadwick and Harold Barsley; the latter has been involved in the circus show planning for Omar for some 20 years.

Funds for the buses are annual subscribed by the Kiwanis Club, Omar Shriners and their ladies serve as chaperones, and selection of the children is handled by Mrs. Jean Campbell, senior school social worker, and her staff.

Chaperones this year are Hoy Stilson, Joan Lane, Carl and Stella Maszta, Edgar and Doris Coughlin, Sue Charoux, Fred and Elsie Gual, Stanley Baldwin, Wilbur Chadwick, Robert A. Haugb, Richard Pietras, Thomas Tracy, George and Margaret Wates, and Omar President David R. Nichols.

The 23-act circus will feature some performers returning by popular demand. Tarzan Zerbin brings his lions and tigers back to the center ring this year. And Jane makes one of her first appearances with her horseback riding tiger.

There will be aerial acrobats, Hollywood stunt man the "Great Hubert" performing his walkup to the rafters and then the "slide for life."

There is a motor sports act, Burger's animal revue featuring Afghan hounds, the Unrideable Male, the Jungleland Revue with Bobby Berosini and his chimps, orangutan and gorillas, Walt King's prancing elephants; and clowns, more clowns, and more clowns!

The finale is Hugo Zaccchini, the Human Cannonball, who will be shot out of the mouth of a cannon clear across the armory floor.

Friday night is Shrine Night, opening night, and showtime is at 7:45. At 10 o'clock, the Sphinx Temple Shrine Band will play a concert.

Matinee performances are at 2:30 weekdays and 2 o'clock Sunday. All evening shows start at 7:45.

Tickets are now on sale at the Shrine Circus box office in the armory, open daily from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. in Room 100.

NEW YORK (AP) — Since some of the darkest aspects of our economy are also the most glaring, the eyes of many people today are transfixed upon the negative rather than the positive, on what is wrong rather than on what is right.

Consumers are outraged about inflation, although the 4.3 per cent rate for the latest calendar year was only two-thirds that of many other large industrial nations.

Achievement of a 5 per cent jobs rate is considered a failure when the goal is 4.5 per cent, but this doesn't negate the fact that it is the lowest rate in 2 1/2 years and that more people, $3.9 million, have jobs than ever before.

It is an understandable attitude for Americans who despite criticisms of their way of life, believe more strongly than most nations that continual improvement is possible and are frustrated with anything less.

Nothing, however, quite compares with the mentality and peculiarities of the property-liability insurance industry, which, when economic times are good over-all, becomes depressed, apprehensive, and consumed by anxiety.

Some might call it paranoia, but those in the insurance industry know it is a realistic reaction to events. Here is how George McDonnell, president of Zurich-American Insurance Companies, describes it.

"Good times are sometimes hard on us," McDonnell begins, continuing:

"More goods are in transit — that means more opportunity for theft and damage. Indistinct miles are traveled by cars and trucks and people, and that means more accidents.

"As the boom expands, more marginal equipment is brought into use. We can expect that the increasing utilization of old and obsolescent equipment is going to result in increasing claims.

"Workers will be putting in increasing amounts of overtime as the economy continues to expand rapidly, since inflation can be expected, and that puts a heavy playing catch-up on dollars we get in premiums are worth less and less in paying for claims."

Oh, that isn't the end of the woe. Prosperity has made many insurance salesmen careless, he claims, and they are accepting risks at rates

Setting Record Straight

By BOB MONROE
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Footnote to history: Department of bra burning.

Question: Did any feminist ever burn a bra in protest?

Answer: The record shows at least one bra burned and another slightly smoked.

Why the question? Well, leaders of women's liberation say no bra was ever burned in anger, that it has become a symbol meant to demean a movement with a serious purpose.

"It never happened," declared an editor at Ms., the feminist magazine.

"Nobody ever burned a bra that I know of," said Betty Friedan, a leader of the National Organization of Women, adding that she thinks the whole thing is a product of the media's imagination.

The common assumption is that bra burning began with demonstrators outside the Convention Hall in Atlantic City during the 1968 Miss America contest. That apparently is false.

Women's Lib pickets protesting the pageant talked of a "symbolic bra burning." But reporters who covered the event say the demonstrators ended up throwing bras, girdles and hair curlers in a "freedom trash can."

One newspaper recalls a picket preparing to burn a bra by lighting newspapers in a wastebasket. But the papers never really caught fire before police put out the smoky flames. The bra was slightly smoked.

The one authenticated bra burning took place in Oklahoma City during a demonstration in conjunction with the 1970 National Women's Liberation Day.

"that just won't stand the test of time."
Don't laugh at the incongruity of it all, nor should you pour out your compassion for the insurers. Reserve some for yourself. You, the customer, might end up paying for some of the careless work of underwriters.

"They and their customers are in for a rude awakening," says McDonnell.

"I include the customers," he explains, "because they are going to find themselves facing jumbo rate increases, and perhaps difficulty in finding any coverage at all when the situation turns."

Industrial companies, for example, know that the more marginal workers they employ the lower their output per man and the lower their profit percentage. It is part of the economic cycle that we haven't learned to tame.

P&W To Participate In Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Navy and the United Kingdom have agreed to undertake an eight-month study of an advanced vertical and short takeoff Harrier aircraft.

The Navy said the study of a "derivative" of the British-made aircraft now used by the U.S. Marine Corps will involve two firms each from the United States and Britain.

They are Pratt and Whitney Aircraft, East Hartford, Conn. and McDonnell Douglas of St. Louis on the American side and Rolls-Royce and Hawker-Siddeley of Britain.

The study will include design work on the Pegasus 15 engine, specifications for the new power plant, projected costs, identification of modifications to the airframe required to install the improved engine and an advanced design wing, plus other factors.

The study will lead to a decision on whether to move toward joint development.

Workshop, Rodeo Planned By JWC

The Manchester Junior Women's Club April meeting Wednesday at 8:15 p.m. at the KoC Home, will include an informal workshop with members working on the club's sequencial float. A sketch of the float will be presented to the membership. The club's float is being sponsored by the First Hartford Corporation of Manchester. A platform wagon, which will carry the float, is being loaned by the Hartman Tobacco Company of Buckland, and the tractor is being loaned and driven by Calvin Taggart of Manchester. Mrs. Lawrence Moon and Mrs. John Papa, are co-chairmen of the float committee. Plans will also be discussed for the bicycle rodeo, which the club is sponsoring for Manchester children from kindergarten through sixth grade. The rodeo will include a bicycle inspection and skill course with prizes being given. The event will be held May 5 at the Martin School and Verplanck School and on May 11 at Manchester High School. The membership will also elect officers for 1973-74 and the "Clubwoman of the Year."

Revenue Sharing - Just What Is It

SOL R. COHEN (Herald Reporter)

With federal revenue-sharing very much in the news, and elected officials and taxpayers unsure what may or may not be done with the funds, the following list of questions and answers is offered for eliminating much of the confusion.

QUESTION - What is general revenue sharing?

ANSWER - It is a program to share some of the federal government's collected tax revenue with the states, counties (where county government exists), cities and towns.

QUESTION - Why do we have revenue sharing?

ANSWER - In recent years, costs to provide local services, because of inflation, increased population and increased demands for services, have exceeded local tax revenues. In addition, it is an effort to give local and state officials increased opportunity to decide how to spend federally collected taxes.

QUESTION - How are revenue sharing funds distributed?

ANSWER - One-third of the funds go to state governments. Two-thirds go directly to the towns, cities and counties, based on the needs of each.

QUESTION - How will the state use its funds?

ANSWER - The states are not restricted to special categories. States are not permitted to reduce their existing level of state aid to communities just because the towns and cities are receiving revenue sharing funds.

QUESTION - What factors are used to distribute the money?

ANSWER - Population is one factor. Also considered is how much of a community's total personal income is spent on taxes, and the ratio of the community's wealth to the total wealth of the county in which it is located.

QUESTION - How much has Manchester received in the current fiscal year?

ANSWER - Manchester received $690,053 this fiscal year, or about $13.90 per capita.

733 Main St. Manchester, Ct.

It can expect about $800,000 in the 1973-74 fiscal year.

QUESTION - How much is this revenue sharing money compared to Manchester's General Fund?

ANSWER - It represents just over 4 per cent of the current budget.

QUESTION - How long do we have to spend the money?

ANSWER - Each agency has two years in which to appropriate the money officially.

QUESTION - How must we account for the funds?

ANSWER - Towns must submit a form on how they plan to spend the money, make an assurance they will comply with the federal act, and later submit a report on how they actually spent the money. This information must be published in a local newspaper.

QUESTION - What are the restrictions against spending revenue sharing funds?

ANSWER - They may not be used as matching money for other federal grants, for operating or maintaining schools, or for spending on programs that practice discrimination or pay improper wages.

QUESTION - For what can revenue sharing funds be used?

ANSWER - They may be used for maintenance and operating expenses and capital expenditures in the following categories:

... Public Safety, to include such things as fire protection, police, rescue squads, and the enforcement of building codes.

... Environmental Protection, to include all aspects of sanitation, drainage, beautification programs, open space land purchase, and the like.

... Transportation, to include work on roads, bridges, new traffic control devices, public transportation systems, and other transportation-related problems.

... Health, to include clinics in and out of schools, health information centers, ambulances, and any program that would alleviate a public health hazard.

... Recreation, to include athletic or recreation programs, new park facilities, equipment, and the like.

... Libraries, to include any expenses incurred in the operation of public libraries or special library programs.

... Social Services for the Poor and Aged, to include senior citizen centers, day care centers, social workers, counselors, and the like.

... Financial Administration, to include financial technical assistance, calculating and accounting equipment, property tax mapping, purchase of computer services, and reassessment of real estate.

... Capital Expenditures, to include such things as utilities, commercial facilities, school construction and the like - basically, for any capital expenditures on any project for which a community might spend local taxes.

QUESTION - Who in the city is to spend the money in a municipality?

ANSWER - The voters and taxpayers decide. The federal legislation specifies that revenue sharing funds be appropriated in the same manner as locally raised taxes.

QUESTION - How long do we have to spend the money?

ANSWER - Each agency has two years in which to appropriate the money officially.

QUESTION - How must we account for the funds?

ANSWER - Towns must submit a form on how they plan to spend the money, make an assurance they will comply with the federal act, and later submit a report on how they actually spent the money. This information must be published in a local newspaper.

Chiang Kai-shek To Ill To Meet Thieu

TAIPEI (AP) - President Chiang Kai-shek's failure to meet with President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam during Thieu's three-day visit to Taiwan may be the clearest clue yet to the nature of the illness of the aging Nationalist Chinese leader.

Thieu's party had clearly been under the impression he would meet with the 80-year-old Chiang. There were indications when Thieu arrived Thursday that such a meeting was being considered. Nationalist officials did not begin discounting the possibility of a meeting between the two heads of state until Friday night, after Thieu had been in Taiwan for 24 hours.

Thieu's schedule in Taiwan was not announced and there appeared to be some confusion about his itinerary at several points. In Chiang's absence, Thieu was hosted by Madame Chiang and Vice President Yen Chia-kun. Always close at hand was Premier Chiang Ching-kuo, President Chiang's son and clearly the man running the Nationalist government now.

These three increasingly have taken over many of the public functions the president once performed. The elder Chiang has not been seen in public since last July 16, almost two months after he took office for his fifth term as president. Reports abroad last September and again this February had Chiang seriously ill and hospitalized.

Government spokesmen have repeatedly issued blanket denials of such reports, while some persons close to the president have said that though Chiang is suffering the infirmities of his advanced age he is in no serious danger.

Willard Dies, Owned Laundry

George H. Willard of 2730 Snook Dr., Naples, Fla., formerly of a Naples hospital, died Saturday at a Naples hospital. He owned the Willard Building on Main St., Manchester, and was the owner and operator of the former Manchester Coat, Apron and Towel Co. on Summit St. He also formerly owned and operated the Fisher Dry Cleaners in Manchester. He was the husband of Mrs. Jean Tivnan Willard, and the son of Mrs. Marian Stairs of Manchester and the late George H. Willard Sr.

Born Nov. 1, 1919, in Northampton, Mass., he lived in Manchester most of his life, moving to Naples two years ago, where he worked as a sales representative for the City Linen Service of Ft. Myers, Fla.

He was an Air Force veteran of World War II, and a charter member and past president of the Manchester Lion's Club. He was also a member of the Hartford County Laundry Association, the Manchester Knights of Columbus and the Rockville Lodge of Elks.

Survivors besides his wife and mother, are two sons, George H. Willard III, and Matthew V. Willard, both of Naples; three daughters, Audrey A. Willard of Chicago, and Mrs. Mary Gagne and Margaret Willard, both of Hartford; two brothers, John E. Willard of Manchester and Arthur F. Willard of Lebanon; a sister, Mrs. Bruno Moske of Bolton, and two grandchildren.

The funeral will be Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. at the Resurrection at St. James Church at 9 a.m. Burial will be in St. James Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home tonight from 7 to 9 p.m.

Mrs. John Frodel, Mrs. Edith Frodel, 89, of Hamden, died April 12 at her home. She was the wife of John Frodel.

Survivors, besides her husband, are two sons, John P. Woodard Jr. of Manchester and Richard N. Woodard of Bridgeport; and a grandson.

Funeral services will be Wednesday at 1 p.m. at Holmes Funeral Home, 400 Main St., Manchester. Burial will be in Enfield Street Cemetery, Enfield.

Friends may call at the funeral home Tuesday from 7 to 9 p.m.

Shirley J. Rollins, Mrs. Shirley J. Rollins, 84, of 291 Rachel Rd., died Saturday in an area convalescent hospital. She was the widow of Gershom B. Rollins.

Born in North Seaport, Maine, she lived in Rockland, Maine, most of her life before moving to Manchester a year ago.

She worked as a bookkeeper for 30 years with the St. Clair and Allen Candy Co. of Rockland, retiring in 1958. She was a lifetime member of the Pratt Memorial and the United Methodist Church, both in Rockland.

She belonged to the Senior Citizens Club, Women's Educational Club and Business and Ladies Aid Society, all of Rockland.

Survivors are a daughter, Mrs. Harold W. Payson of Manchester; a sister in Maine, two grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral services are Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the Latic Funeral Home, 9 Mountain St., Camden, Maine. Burial will be in Mountain View Cemetery, Camden.

The Leclerc Funeral Home, 32 Main St., is in charge of local arrangements.

Guggenheim Grants Give 15 Scholars

HARTFORD (AP) - Fifteen Connecticut scholars, including poet James Scully, an associate professor at the University of Connecticut, have won Guggenheim Fellowship awards.

Eleven of the recipients are on the Yale University faculty. The John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Foundation of New York made the awards.

The winners are political science Prof. Frederick C. Barghoorn, Associate French Prof. Peter P. Brooks, Assistant Economics Prof. Donald J. Brown, Anthropology Prof. Harold C. Conklin, Assistant French Prof. Shoshana Felman.

Also, Psychology Prof. Irving L. Janis, Assistant History Prof. Arthur B. Miller, Assistant Biology Prof. Leo Nicholas Ortolano, History Prof. Robert R. Palmer, Chemistry Prof. John O. Rasmussen Jr. and Geology Prof. John Rodgers.

The other recipients are History Prof. F. Edward Cranz of Connecticut College, English History Prof. Robert R. Palmer, Chemistry Prof. John O. Rasmussen Jr. and Geology Prof. John Rodgers.

The average award, which will be used for study by the 339 recipients across the country, is about $11,300.

Washington (AP) - U.S. Rep. Ronald Sarasin, R-Conn., has added his name to a bill exempting state lotteries from federal income tax, saying the measure will make the lotteries more credible and undercut illegal gambling.

Similar legislation has been introduced by Sarasin's Republican colleague, Connecticut Congressman Stewart McKinnon.

It certainly does nothing for official credibility when a state promotes a $50,000 or more grand prize and the federal government then comes along and takes half of it," Sarasin said in a statement released Saturday.

Miss Manchester

The gracious, former Miss Manchester, Miss Osgood, presented a heart-warming farewell message, thanking her parents, her brother, the Jaycees, and her boyfriend, for all their patience on her behalf.

Other contestants were: Karen Lorraine Petrovich of Stafford Springs; Candia Marie Conway of Manchester; Leslie Susan Cordery of Manchester; and Deborah Lee Fortune of East Hartford.

In explaining the wide area covered by the pageant, Lawrence explained that the Manchester Jaycees have the franchise for the pageant, and being located further east, area town residents are eligible to compete.

For those of you who missed this year's pageant, put it on your "must see" list for next year.

Judges for the pageant were: Mary Ellen Dority, Miss Maine 1964; Joseph Zangary, state field director of Miss Connecticut; Pageant; Linda Malah, former director of Miss Bristol; James Lauber, business manager, Miss Cheshire; and Richard Landino, business manager for Miss Connecticut 1972.

The scholarship winners, who may attend any accredited college or university, are: Edward P. Manning of Watrous Rd., Bolton, a senior at Bolton High School. His father, Ernest B. Manning, is a lead technician in the engineering operations department at United Aircraft Research Laboratories, East Hartford.

Christopher S. Saunders of 80 Frances Dr., Manchester, a senior at Manchester High School. His father, David A. Saunders, is a senior analytical engineer at Pratt & Whitney Aircraft, East Hartford.

Karen M. Magnuson of 71 Benton St., Manchester, a senior at MHS. Her father, Erik H. Magnuson, is a group leader in the office services department at Pratt & Whitney.

Kim G. Shavel of 85 Orchard Hill Dr., South Windsor, a senior at South Windsor High School. Her father, Stanley E. Shavel, is a senior analytical engineer at Pratt & Whitney.

Diane E. Treadwell of 124 Hackmatack St., Manchester, a junior at MHS. Her father, Cecil H. Treadwell, is a group leader in the engineering department at Pratt & Whitney, South Windsor.

The scholarship winners were selected by a three-member board which is not connected with United Aircraft Corp. The girls' scholarships were awarded in memory of Donald L. Brown, the late president of the corporation and his wife, the late Mrs. Faye B. Renschler.

The late wife of corporation founder Frederick B. Renschler.

The corporation's scholarship program was started in 1963. At the start of the current academic year, there were 44 United Aircraft Corp. scholarship holders in colleges and universities. There have been 118 corporate scholarship recipients who have graduated with bachelor's degrees.

Chrysler Rebutts Criticism. WASHINGTON (AP) - The Chrysler Corp. says Environmental Protection Agency criticism of its antipollution efforts was an improper attack on the automaker's business decisions. The company issued a five-page rebuttal Friday to remarks made by William D. Ruckelshaus, EPA administrator. Ruckelshaus said he was unsure whether Chrysler had made a "good faith" effort to meet the government control standards, which the agency has now moved back one year.

Helping People To Help Each Other

$1,284,300 Distributed in Grants during 1972

The Hartford Foundation for Public Giving distributed a record $1,284,300 to the charitable organizations and institutions listed on this page during its 47th year ending September 30, 1972. Grants paid during the year went to support numerous agencies serving the Greater Hartford-Manchester area to help people literally from infants through senior citizens. Take for example a grant to the Community Child Guidance Clinic in Manchester where a $15,000 Foundation challenge grant was successfully matched to provide a 13-room addition to serve more local youngsters (photo on left) and a $5,300 grant from the Foundation's Newton C. and Elsie B. Brainard Fund to Manchester Memorial Hospital (photo at right) to help pay bills of medically indigent patients.

Annually the Foundation disburses the income it receives from several trusts which have been given or bequeathed to it by individuals. These trusts are managed by trustee banks under the direction of a Trustees Committee (named below) and the disbursement of income as grants is made by an unpaid Distribution Committee (named below).

For more information on how you can help Greater Hartford in the years ahead through your community foundation consult the Foundation's 1973 Yearbook. Copies are on file at public libraries, bank trust departments, attorneys, or are available by writing or calling the Foundation office, (233-4443).

Ahearn Says Town Should Follow Wage Guidelines

DONNA HOLLAND
Correspondent
Tel. 64-875

Because a resident questioned the legality of recommended wage increases of more than 1% per cent for town employees, Aloysius Ahearn, chairman of the Board of Finance, called the office of Economic Stabilization which controls wage guidelines.

He said he learned that all governments, state and local, are considered employee groups and are subject to the guidelines. At this time the 1 1/2 per cent wage control guideline should be voluntary.

Ahearn said, "Local government should have more of an obligation to follow the wage guidelines than the ordinary business, primarily because they set the standards. If government bodies don't follow them, then you can't expect business to."

Ahearn urged all townpeople to come to the budget hearings this week to make their feelings known. This is the only way the board can be truly responsive to the feelings of townpeople when it needs to make final adjustments in the budgets.

The town general fund budget for fiscal 1973-74 will be presented at a public hearing Wednesday at 8 p.m. at Community Hall.

Hebron

Revenue Share Higher This Year

ANNE EMT
Correspondent
Tel. 228-3971

The town has received its first quarterly payment of revenue sharing funds for 1973 in the amount of $6,534, and if all four payments are equal, the town will realize $26,136 or almost $13,000 more than last year.

A total of $37,315,968 has been earmarked for the state for the first six months of 1973, reflecting in most cases an over-11 per cent increase in funds for the state as compared with 1972 payments.

Some towns, like Hebron, may receive considerably more this year because of defects in previous school tax effort data, while others may receive less.

Also, the Treasury Department's revenue sharing office has stated that Connecticut's 11 per cent increase was the result of using more recent population data and the use of actual rather than estimated state tax collections.

Both of these factors seem to have worked in favor of the town, which, through its board of selectmen, questioned the Treasury Department as to why Hebron should have received only $1,289 in 1972, a sum considerably lower than that received by several surrounding towns of comparable size.

Also, the Treasury Department has stated, according to a letter addressed to Aaron Reid, first selectman, from Congressman William B. Cotto, that is an adjustment required as a result of either an overpayment or an underpayment in the first two entitlement periods (last year), this adjustment will be made in the July check.

Therefore, the possibility that

Rham Board To Explain Its Budget

ANNE EMT
Correspondent
Tel. 228-3971

The Regional District Board of Education has called a district meeting tonight at 8 at Rham High School to present its 1973-74 proposed budget of $1,899,558.

This budget represents an increase of $255,322 over the present budget appropriation of $1,644,236. The appropriation however, is $12,018 higher than originally approved last May due to the late signing of teachers' contracts and the additional money needed to cover these contracts.

Each town in the district can expect a considerable increase over its present levy if the proposed budget is approved.

Hebron's share of the increase ($255,322) will amount to $5,717 per cent or an additional $103,088. Andover's share will be 23.84 per cent or an increase of $33,784; Marlborough's share will be 30.45 per cent or an increase of $69,671.

Increases

Large increases appear in salary items, employee insurance and equipment. These increases alone amount to approximately $200,000 and absorb any decreases projected in the proposed budget.

Besides the normal 3 1/2 per cent increase for teachers' salaries, the large increase also reflects the addition of eleven new teachers.

According to the administration, six of these teachers are needed for the additional enrollment at the school, three are needed to maintain the present program level, and two have been added to the learning disabilities program.

An additional guidance teacher is proposed on a half-time basis, and the hiring of another assistant principal at a salary of $15,500 is recommended.

The administration is also recommending one more full-time secretary for the elementary office, increasing the part-time clerk in guidance to full time, adding an additional library aide, and adding one more custodian position of custodial foreman.

An increase in employee insurance amounting to $28,329 reflects Blue Cross, CMS Connecticut Health and Marlborough's coverage for the additional staff.

For replacement of equipment, a $7,005 increase is proposed to purchase desk chairs, tables, electric typewriters, food, fire extinguishers and a snowblower.

"And This, Dear Lee, Is My Flower To Thee"

By HAL BOYLE
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A war ends but once, but it dies 10,000 times — millions of times.

It dies with the death of anyone who was a part of it.

A portion of World War II called the Battle of the Bulge came to a kind of an end here last week in a flower-haunted room during funeral services for Lee Carson Reeves, a war correspondent.

It seemed an irony that among the mourners at the brief and formal Episcopal ceremony only two of her legion of wartime comrades were present — the recently retired NBC newsmen, Gordon J. Fraser and myself.

The casket was closed and covered with ferns and multicolored blooms. We would like to have had a final glimpse of her, but each of us could close his eyes and see Lee's vibrant face again and hear her laughing through the mazes in the ceremony.

The passage of nearly 30 years has dimmed Lee Carson's memory perhaps, but the memory of her flaming, boisterous, exuberant spirit cannot be erased from the mind of anyone who ever knew her.

It can be argued whether Lee, a reporter for the International News Service, was the greatest woman war correspondent of World War II. But there is no question that she was the best female reporter to a story — or the best seat in the jeep.

Miss Carson was built like a movie star, had great eyes that ranged from green to brown, and a mass of long brown hair. She had a face as mobile as that of a rubber doll. She had the kind of a belly laugh that upsets kings. She had the mind of an imp. She had the soul of a tomboy.

She also had a quality men like in women but are usually surprised to find — human gallantry. And she had enough gally to fill an army's quota.

Lee covered the war from Normandy to its close at the link with the Russians on the Elbe River. Her motto was "Never let the Articles of War or maidenly modesty stand in the way of the news."

Dictionary 100 Words Fatter

BOSTON (AP) — The new edition of the American Heritage Dictionary is 100 words fatter, and its publisher, Houghton Mifflin Co., is promoting it as a valuable reference book for returned POWs from Vietnam "to help them adjust to a greatly changed society."

Alma Graham, associate editor of the 1973 edition, contrasted the additions to a word list given POWs by the Pentagon.

"The Pentagon list dealt almost exclusively with changes brought about by young people," she said. "Our dictionary covers many other important things the POWs need to know about—words and concepts like Middle America, consumerism,
