PARADOX LOST. By Fredric Brown. Random House. 210 Pages. $5.95.

The death last year of Fredric Brown was a punishing blow for science-fiction fans. He was one of the few writers in the genre who wrote light, clear prose that was wonderfully imaginative without getting bogged down in the "hard" sci-fi school that emphasizes science to the point where it takes an engineering degree to understand it.

Brown's plot lines were direct and evolved logically to a satisfying end. The 13 stories on display here amply illustrate this. All are good examples of Brown at his best. If one, or more, must be singled out as better than the others then pick more or less at random. "Puppet Show," a very different take-me-to-your-leader type of tale, and "Ten Percent" — the story of a talent agent who took 10 per cent — of everything.

THE GREAT AMERICAN NOVEL. By Philip Roth. Holt, Rinehart, 282 Pages. $8.95.

Philip Roth's latest book isn't at all what its title says it is. It is, however, a stunning comic tour de force.

A dazzling mélange of irony, satire and just plain nonsense, one can only marvel that Roth was able to sustain his humorous romp over so long a distance without the fragile structure falling in on him at the midway mark. For the narrative line, if it can be called that, during the Depression and World War II years the Communist plot to subvert Democracy by shaming the American national pastime, baseball. The team chosen for infiltration is called the Ruppert Mundy's, of course, the Patriot League. How the Communies go about securing their objective makes for one of the wildest shaggy dog stories in current fiction.

Even better than the main narrative, however, are the numerous asides and digressions made by Roth as the reader wanders through his book.

The prologue, in which Roth takes some healthy swings at "The Great American Novel" mystique, contains an excellent satire of the Ernest Hemingway style. One vignette especially, which is set in a telephone office, sounds as if the dialogue were lifted from Hemingway's story, "The Killers," which Roth, of course, meant it to sound like. A reader doesn't have to know the work of Hemingway, or Melville, Hawthorne, Twain, James, or Joyce, to enjoy this book but it helps.

Nor does it hurt to have knowledge of the ancient gods and goddesses, especially after reading the lineup of the 1943 Ruppert Mundy's. The team boasts such stalwarts as Franchy Astaire at shortstop,

John Baal at first base, Hotdog Plath catching, and Rolled Agni in centerfield. Symbol hunters will have a grand time with the feignably style which characterized many 18th century novels, it is only fitting that Roth should make a bow to the detailed interludes, a la Henry Fielding, that fitted between chapters in those books.

Roth, who disappointed some with his "The Breast" and "Our Gang," tells a horror this time up.

Legislative Leaders View Session Record

By THOMAS KENT
Associated Press Writer

HARTFORD (AP) — Republican and Democratic legislative leaders will begin work from the 1973 General Assembly with very different pictures of what the session has accomplished.

Top Republicans look at the 4½-month session as an unusually orderly one that passed a series of vital bills in record time. They point with particular pride to the one-half per cent sales tax reduction and to the newly authorized solid waste disposal system.

But Senate Minority Leader Charles T. Alfano of Suffield summed up the feelings of many other Democrats when he declared, "I can think of very few bills that the 1973 session will go down in history for."

Alfano and his colleagues say the majority Republicans did very little for the average man and threw away the legislature's independence in their cooperation with Gov. Thomas J. Meskill.

"I'm content with the session," Senate President Pro Tem Peter L. Cushman, R-Lyme, said. "I think our legislature is extremely responsive to the wants and needs of the people."

The new commissions established to control hospital costs and fight crime were high on Cushman's list of accomplishments, along with the passage of a budget free from deficit spending. He said the legislature is ready to conclude most of its work this week, well ahead of the June 6 adjournment date fixed by the state constitution.

In the House, Speaker Francis J. Collins of Brookfield and Majority Leader Gerald F. Stevens of Milford are also citing the sales tax cut and the elimination of the dividends tax as among the legislature's greatest accomplishments.

"There is just as much concern for human needs in this session as there has been in the past," Collins said.

But House Minority Leader Carl Ajello of Ansonia said the tax reductions were no mark of Republican ability or imagination because they were "partly mechanical and a response to the state of the economy in Connecticut."

Collins countered Alfano's remark with the comment: "Whether it's mechanical or not, it has been achieved. If that's mechanical, I'd like to see it."

Kissinger-Tho Talks Renewed

By SOL R. COHEN
(Herald Reporter)

PARIS (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger and Le Duc Tho met today for the first time in three months to discuss how to enforce the Vietnam cease-fire agreement they negotiated last winter.

Kissinger was host at the session in an American-owned villa on a golf course at St. Nomla-Bretteche, 15 miles southwest of Paris. Neither he nor Tho made any statement but they shook hands smilingly at the door and waved cheerfully to the newsmen in front of the house.

Their chief advisers also attended the opening session.

Kissinger on his arrival from Washington Wednesday night said he would do everything possible to improve implementation of the cease-fire agreement.

"If our colleagues from North Vietnam approach these meetings with the same attitude," he said, "then I am confident we will make major progress toward this objective and speed the normalization of relations between the United States and North Vietnam."

President Nixon's national security adviser and the former North Vietnamese Foreign Minister Nguyen Co Thuan laid the groundwork with a meeting in Paris late last month to establish a list of each side's grievances against the other. Informants said they settled none of the issues but helped clarify each government's understanding of the other's position at that time.

Some diplomats believe that Hanoi may feel its bargaining position has been strengthened since then by the Watergate scandal and by congressional moves to end all U.S. military action in Indochina.

Nixon warned Hanoi in his state of the World message May 2 that continued infiltration of North Vietnamese troops and arms into South Vietnam would risk a "renewed confrontation" with the United States. The diplomats said there are signs that Hanoi thinks Nixon would have difficulty carrying out his threat, and there has been no report of a decline in Communist infiltration.

The usually mild-mannered Hanoi raised his voice angrily when he arrived from Hanoi Monday, denouncing alleged American bombing raids on areas of South Vietnam controlled by the Viet Cong. He ignored U.S. denials of the attacks and said if they were repeated, he would walk out on Kissinger.

It was the first time Tho had issued such an ultimatum publicly in four years of talks with Kissinger.

Senators Begin Watergate Inquiry

By SOL R. COHEN
(Herald Reporter)

WASHINGTON (AP) — A tribunal of seven senators opposed today historic hearings into the Watergate scandals of President Nixon's re-election campaign with a pledge to determine whether America's political and judicial systems have been undermined by subversion.

On Tuesday, Manchester's political party chairmen were asked to do so. The effect do you think the Watergate Affair and the disclosure of allegedly improper voter enrollment practices will have on Manchester's election in November?

GOP chairman A. Paul Berte said he had "no comment." He said he was waiting to see what comment Democratic chairmen would make.

Cummings' reply to the question was, "We'll win on our own merits. We'll win on our own merits. We'll win on our own merits."

He said he deplores the recent disclosures in Washington and in Hartford.

"The whole picture makes it tough for an honest politician to continue," he said. "It's the honest people who make the system tick, and now even they are suspect, how wrongly?"

Noting the Democratic lead in registrations in Manchester, he said, "The Republicans are playing catch-up, and I don't think they'll ever catch up."

Wednesday night Berte read the following statement at a meeting of the Republican Town Committee and then distributed it to the press:

"I would like to comment briefly on the statements made Tuesday in the Manchester Evening Herald by the Manchester Democratic town chairman, concerning Watergate and the disclosure of allegedly improper voter enrollment practices, as stated in the Hartford Courant."

Berte, on behalf of the town committee, expressed surprise and disappointment in such commentary. Unfortunately, there are always some people who want to turn any breath of scandal into a political weapon.

The appointment of Libassi and the recommended merger of the staffs of these two strong community development organizations marks a logical evolution in the Greater Hartford process.

"As we combine social development with the actual physical development, the integration of social, cultural, economic and physical planning, and all our efforts, it now timely. It is a sign of progress for the process that we are combining staffs of the two organizations to undertake all phases of community development as a single thrust."

Established in 1969, the business-owned Process has created a 20-year regionwide program for the physical renewal of the city of Hartford, and is now planning to undertake all phases of community development as a single thrust.

The renewal of Hartford calls for the development and renewal of a series of neighborhoods. One program is already under way in the South Arden area, and others, including the Watergate, but in the acts of men who almost stole America."

Process, DevCo May Merge

By HOLLY GANTNER
Correspondent

The merger of the staffs of the Greater Hartford Process Inc. and its subsidiary, The Greater Hartford Community Development Corp. (DevCo) is being recommended to the boards of directors of both organizations by Olcott D. Smith, chairman of Process, and Roger C. Wilkin, chairman of DevCo, according to an announcement by Wilson C. Jansen, chairman of the Greater Hartford Corp.

In addition, the recommendation will be made that F. Peter Libassi, president of Process, and Patrick J. Cusick Jr., president of DevCo, be named also to the presidency of DevCo, whose president, Patrick J. Cusick Jr., has resigned effective May 31.

Cusick will remain as a consultant during the transition period.

The appointment of Libassi and the recommended merger of the staffs will become effective upon approval of the boards of Process and DevCo, which will continue to serve as controlling bodies for their respective organizations.

According to Jansen, "The merger of the staffs of these two strong community development organizations marks a logical evolution in the Greater Hartford process."

"As we combine social development with the actual physical development, the integration of social, cultural, economic and physical planning, and all our efforts, it now timely. It is a sign of progress for the process that we are combining staffs of the two organizations to undertake all phases of community development as a single thrust."

Revitalization Apparently Top Chamber Concern

By SOL R. COHEN
(Herald Reporter)

Revitalization of Downtown Manchester appears to be the number one priority goal of the Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce as the result of two breakfast sessions for Chamber members which concluded this morning.

The various projects submitted by the members, which in essence is the Chamber's program of work for 1973, will be tabulated by computer at Manchester Community College to establish project priority.

The top five projects will be selected by the Chamber's Goal and Priorities Committee at a meeting Monday evening. The projects, in turn, will be submitted to the Board of Directors for action.

Everett J. Livesey, Chamber vice president in charge of urban affairs, told the group this morning that planning is fine but "we will need your time and resources in carrying the priority projects to reality."

In addition to downtown development, other high priority projects on the basis of the two sessions are:

- Seek solutions to Manchester's problems in crime including vandalism, shoplifting and drug abuse;
- Seek responsible cooperation between citizens groups, the Chamber, in development of a workable action plan for the orderly growth of Manchester;
- Seek an over-all action plan for the development of Manchester's youth in recreational areas.

Certificates of appreciation were presented to Ken Hankinson and Richard Lawrence, co-chairmen of the Goals and Priorities Committee, who arranged the Chamber program entitled "Commitment to the Challenge of Tomorrow."

Also receiving certificates were Manchester Community College students Thomas J. Hill, Richard W. Erzell, Jacqueline A. Beaulieu, Linda Lee Sienkiewicz and Albert Carmelie. They attended each breakfast session and tabulated project data.

Registration Reform

The disclosure last weekend of alleged Republican efforts to use "political spoils" as an inducement to get Democrats to change party affiliations and to "recruit" Democrats to re-register as Republicans raises several questions about the Connecticut "voter making" system.

First, however, there should be no question that those engaged in the practice and violated existing state laws concerning the registration process should be given their day in court and if found guilty punished.

Second, we think the present process of "voter making" should be examined on a non-partisan basis. In a day and age when the trend is toward a more accessible and easier method of registering voters the Connecticut system seems cumbersome by comparison. For example, the state requires voters to sign in the presence of a notary public, and yet the Congress is giving serious consideration and debate to a postcard method of voter registration for national elections.

Second, the concept of registration by party with the option of remaining unaffiliated, leaves in our mind a legal question that those choosing, for whatever reason, to be listed as unaffiliated are disenfranchised in those instances where challenges require party elections.

Many states permit voter registration without party designation. In primary elections, they can vote either party but not both, in the secrecy of the polling booth. Party affiliation becomes a matter of participation and involvement, open and above board, rather than a numbers game at which party has the most "registered" voters.

The lack of party affiliation on the voter registration card in such states eliminates to a large degree political job discrimination from this source. We agree the person, who by choice and action, takes an active partisan role in a campaign will by tradition be rewarded if his party wins and will gain nothing if his party loses. This is all part of the game.

The issue raised in the Connecticut situation is that alleged changes of party affiliation were encouraged with illegal offer of rewards for doing so and it has been further alleged some of these illegal commitments have been fulfilled.

Unaffiliated registration would eliminate this evil and force the major political parties to address their campaigns to the entire electorate and if they win they should be representing all voters instead of those carrying the proper party card.

The issue before us in the registration matter is, not, and should not be, a sampling ground for political philosophy. The registration process should be a safeguard against fraudulent voting by those not eligible, orderly and just conduct of elections, and an attempt to insure every legally eligible voter an opportunity to register easily and simply and have his right to expression of political choice to remain secret, if it is his choice, from registration to the polling booth.

It will be tough on the political parties in one sense in that they will have only one way of knowing their strength, the votes that are cast in elections; but this is really the statistic that counts, not the number of "registered" Democrats, Republicans, or Mugwumps.

If and when Connecticut steps out of the dark ages of "voter making" by eliminating political party designation, it might also consider experimenting with direct primaries, allowing the whole electorate a voice in selection of candidates and then we could really stop playing politics all the time and begin practicing democracy.

Good Help Hard to Find

President Nixon, who can offer more inducements than any other employer, is discovering that good help is hard to find.

His good friend, John Connally, who served his as Treasury secretary, is enjoying his private wheeling and dealing and was willing to accept appointment as a special advisor on foreign and domestic affairs only on an unpaid, part-time basis. Nevertheless, the handsome profile of the Texas Democrat turned Republican, is by no means a low one.

David Packard, the industrialist who served as deputy secretary of Defense, was Nixon's first choice as defense secretary, but he preferred private life to returning to Washington.

That post went to James R. Schlesinger, whose experience appeared to fit him admirably for the tough job of managing the huge Defense Department and its manifold problems. He left the directorship of the Central Intelligence Agency to be filled by his career assistant, William Colby. Prior to heading CIA, Schlesinger served as assistant director of the Office of Management and Budget and as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission.

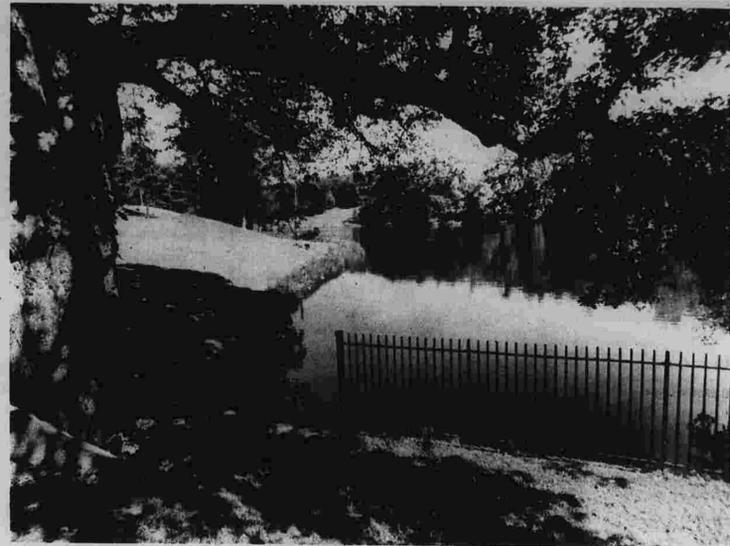

House cleaning of the White House staff in the aftermath of the Watergate scandal has moved swiftly and the new appointees appear to be meeting with general approval.

There remains the task of finding a permanent director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. William Ruckelshaus accepted it only on an acting basis after the resignation of L. Patrick Gray.

The essence of the task is to find a man who can command respect on the order of J. Edgar Hoover, who served with distinction under four Presidents. Haves of criticism came and went but Hoover remained unmoved. Unfortunately, Hoover did not relish rivals and cultivated anonymity for his men as much as he sought favorable publicity for himself. Promotion from the ranks, therefore, is an improbable solution.

The director of the FBI must be a man of recognized stature and integrity, who is independent, and who can win Senate confirmation. Above all, he must avoid even the appearance of giving or receiving political favors.

There are such men. May the President find exactly the right man and soon.

Castro Tries To Surrender

It isn't generally known, but for the past two weeks Fidel Castro has been trying to surrender.
For some reason, Mr. Castro gained the impression the White House was littered with safes, satchels, cartons and shoe boxes stuffed with $100 bills. "We can no longer resist a nation," he sadly told his people, "as wealthy as that."
So he placed a dramatic call to the White House. "Connect, connect," he said grandly, "to whomsoever is in charge."
"I'm sorry, sir," said the switchboard operator, "but that position is out of service at this time."
"Then give me the President. I will speak directly to the President."
"I'm sorry, sir, the President is temporarily disconnected. But we all hope he'll pull himself together soon."
"Look, this is a matter of top importance. I will speak to a member of his General Staff—Haldeman, Ehrlichman, Kissinger."
"Those numbers have been permanently disconnected, sir. If you call Directory Assistance."
"You mean the entire General Staff has resigned? Who's taken sole command, Admiral Doerritz?"
"No, sir, General Haig. But he's very busy."
"Reading 'Seven Days in May'? All right, I suppose it's a legal matter. Give me the President's trusted counsel, John Dean III."
"I'm sure the President would love to give him to you sir—if he could lay his hands on him. Would you care to be connected with Martha Mitchell. I have her number."
"I called to talk, not listen. I suppose I'll have to settle for a subordinate. Give me Mr. Chapin, Mr. Magruder, Mr. Krogh, Mr. Young, Mr."
"I'm sorry, sir, they can no longer be reached at this number. They've resigned."
"I'm getting that way myself. Put me through, then, to The White House press secretary's office. I wish to make a dramatic announcement."
"I'm afraid all you'll get is

Watergate's Foreign Shadow

WASHINGTON—A public attack on Greek exile leader Elias Demetropoulos as "an obscure, Greek Communist journalist" at the height of the presidential campaign last fall has now been linked to an anti-McGovern letterwriting campaign inspired by John B. Connally's Democrats-for-Nixon organization.

Federal investigators digging into the black propaganda primary campaign attacks on Sens. Edmund Muskie, Hubert H. Humphrey and Henry M. Jackson in Florida, New Hampshire and elsewhere last year have now uncovered evidence linking the attack on Demetropoulos to Democrats-for-Nixon.

Shortly after his nomination last summer, Sen. George McGovern gave a statement to Demetropoulos, a Greek exile leader, pledging to cut off all U.S. military aid to Greece if elected. On Aug. 18, Mayor John P. Rousakis of Savannah, Ga., wrote McGovern that he was "shocked and appalled" both by this policy and by McGovern's "irresponsibility" in choosing "an obscure Greek Communist journalist" as his mouthpiece.

That "obscure Greek Communist journalist" could only be Demetropoulos, a respected editor and writer in pre-1967 Greece who has been lobbying against Greek stoneman George Papadopoulos and Mr. Nixon's support for him ever since.

The attack on Demetropoulos via Mayor Rousakis's private letter to McGovern was then published throughout the U.S. in the Greek-American press—not at the time it was written but just three weeks before the election.

On Nov. 28, lawyers for Demetropoulos formally asked the mayor to retract what looked like an "intention to defame" the exile Greek leader.

But it was not until Jan. 3 that the mayor found time to reply, and his reply stated that he had been wrong. It also stated that his original use of the word "Communist" to describe Demetropoulos "was based on a report that was given to me."

When we called the mayor to ask the source of this "report," he was evasive but finally said he had "read it" in a newspaper column. When we asked him to quote from that column, he said the column had reported that Demetropoulos, upon leaving Greece after the coup d'etat in 1967, stopped off in Poland for a few days.

This was the entire basis for his labeling Demetropoulos "Communist," he insisted to us. "No one prompted me on this," the mayor said. But according to federal investigators, the essence of the mayor's letter to McGovern

For the first time in his career, Republican national chairman George Bush is seriously considering a race for governor of Texas in the 1974 Texas election.

Bush is under growing pressure from such old-line Republicans as Texas state former national committeeman and state chairman Peter O'Donnell and such new party grandees as John B. Connally.

Moreover, some top Connally-style Democrats have let it be known that if Bush runs for governor they will follow Connally into the Republican party.

But perhaps more important than these pressures on Bush is the fact, known to political intimates, that the Washington scene as viewed from GOP headquarters holds few charms for him. He feels each new Watergate revelation further damages his party even through the scandal was caused not by traditional party regulars but by what one party leader calls the White House "carpet-baggers."

Bush could easily beat conservative Republican Henry (Hank) Grover in the primary, might go into the election as a 50-50 even shot for governor, far better odds than he faced in his two losing attempts for the Senate.

Tea With Alice

A fund-raising tea party in the attractive Georgetown house of Mrs. Dean C. Acheson should raise several thousand dollars for the infant Committee for a Democratic Majority (CDM).

Waterberg, an intellectual out of Lyndon Johnson's White House and co-author of the bestselling "The Real Majority" (with Richard Scammon), has arranged for Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey and Henry M. Jackson to be honor guests at the May 21, 8:30-a.m. party, with 250 invitations ready for mailing.

The symbolism of the Acheson house is stark. A key principle behind CDM is to keep the U.S. strong and active as a world power and to battle the new isolationism now rising on the Democratic left. The home of the late Dean Acheson, Secretary of State for Harry S. Truman who molded the Democratic party's whole postwar foreign policy, is the ideal place to advertise the similar foreign policies of CDM.

Heralding Politics

Gov. Thomas Meskill has his own special formula for dealing with top Republicans who make waves against his tight-fisted control of every aspect of his administration.

When the governor felt the lack of criticism getting hotter from Lt. Gov. T. Clark Hull and State Treasurer Robert Berdon, he was handed a way out by the General Assembly. It added five Superior Court judges to the bench.

New Learning Program Meets With Approval

HOLLY GANTNER Correspondent Tel. 742-8795

At the end of its first year, Phase I of the Sequential Learning Program appears to be well on the way to success, if the reaction of staff, parents and children is any indication. An evaluation of Phase I, which covers only kindergarten so far, has been promised for this year, when the program was in the planning stages.

Other strengths include more individual instruction for the children; availability of more interest centers and activities than one teacher could provide; additional reinforcement of teaching through activity centers; greater opportunity for self expression; better opportunity for the development of the whole child; increased exposure to a variety of adult personalities and ideas; improved report card; and finally, increased enthusiasm and interest on the part of students and their parents.

The concerns, or weaknesses, cited by the teachers include lack of private space for certain activities; the academic load of certified teachers; academic expectations; scheduling; the complexity of the skill charts by which each child's progress is measured; the scheduling of math; and student help.

It was pointed out during open discussion that, last year, it had appeared necessary to knock down walls in the kindergarten wing in order to accommodate the open classroom concept, but now that teachers were complaining about lack of privacy, Mrs. Bollinger explained that this is not a serious concern of the teachers, and that they have learned to live with it. She pointed out that if the teachers were given the choice between the self-contained classroom and the present open wing, they would choose the open classroom situation.

One of the greatest strengths of the program, mentioned many times during the discussion, was the fact that the open classroom allows for a much greater variety of interest and learning centers, rather than the duplication that is necessary from classroom to classroom in a more traditional situation.

Dr. Donald Hardy, superintendent of schools, reported on test results, stating that the Sequential Learning Program continues on schedule. Grades 2 and 3 will be brought in September of 1974, Grades 4 and 5 in October, and Grades 6 and 7 in November. A graduate of Brown University, Reich received his master's in special education at Rhode Island College and a Ph.D. in special education from the University of Connecticut.

IOH Seminar Speakers

Three area experts on special education are scheduled as speakers for the Instructors of the Handicapped (IOH) seminar, "To Gain A Proper Perspective," Saturday at East Catholic High School auditorium.

Registration for the event is at 1:30 p.m., followed by a welcome and introductory note by Karen Magnuson, IOH vice president.

Dr. Melvyn L. Reich, assistant professor of education at the University of Connecticut (UConn) will speak at 2 p.m. on the emotional needs of the retarded.

Coordinator of the New England Regional Leadership Conference on the Education of Emotionally Disturbed Children, Reich has been a consultant at the Hartford Psychiatric Clinic for Children, the Rhode Island State Department of Education and the Hampton Public Schools. Prior to his professorship at UConn, he was assistant professor for a training program for teachers of disturbed children at Rhode Island College in Providence. He has contributed to numerous publications dealing with exceptional children.

Dr. David A. Sorensen, area program director for the Springfield Mass. Department of Mental Health, speaking at 4 p.m. on community responsibility for the retarded.

He was director of training and a rehabilitation counselor at Goodwill Industries in Springfield, a counselor at the Springfield Hospital Outpatient Psychiatric Unit and has served on several statewide committees involved in planning the future of state mental hospitals in Massachusetts. A graduate of Springfield College, Sorensen received his M.A. in education from Springfield College and his Ph.D. in philosophy at the University of Connecticut.

The Orchard Hill School will hold its annual school fair, June 2 from noon to 5 p.m., rain or shine. The fair will feature about 25 booths with each classroom responsible for a booth under the direction of room mothers and teachers. The teachers are building the booths and will man the hamburgers and hot dog grills during the fair.

O-chairmen of the event are Mrs. Maureen Schaffner and

Career Choices Topic of Seminars

Manchester High School's COEP (Cooperative Educational Program) staff will conduct a series of four information seminars, open to the public, to offer area residents an opportunity to explore career choices.

The first seminar is 'TODAY IN HISTORY.' By The Associated Press. Today is Thursday, May 17, the 17th day of 1973. There are 228 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1854, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that racial segregation in American public schools was unconstitutional.

In 1796, Britain declared war on France. In 1792, the New York Stock Exchange was founded. In 1803, the first patent for a reaper was granted to Richard French and John Hawkins of New Jersey.

In 1875, the first Kentucky Derby was run at Louisville, Ky. In 1967, Egypt barred Israeli merchant ships from the Suez canal.

In 1961, Prime Minister Fidel Castro of Cuba offered to exchange prisoners captured in the Bay of Pigs invasion for American heavy tractors. Ten years ago: It was announced that President John F. Kennedy would have an audience with Pope John XXIII when the president visited Italy late in June.

Five years ago: Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin flew to Prague, Czechoslovakia in the midst of a mounting dispute with Czechoslovakia.

The sessions will be free. Seminar registration information is available at the high school's career education office, tel. 646-3854, extension 368.

MANCHESTER PARKADE TAKE I-86 TO EXIT #2

From Your Neighbor's Kitchen
By Vivian F. Ferguson

On Memorial Day weekend, the Massey family of Bolton will hold their traditional family picnic. About 172 people are expected — 94 adults and 78 children.

Martha Massey and her late husband, Clifford, started the custom many years ago. At first it was strictly a family gathering. Then, neighbors and close friends were included. Each family brings a casserole or a dessert. If the meal doesn't balance out just right, Martha will take care of it.

"Grandma never makes just one pie ever," said her daughter-in-law Bonnie. "It's always 10 or 12. Her desserts are very well known in this neighborhood." Martha always has something on hand to treat her many friends. "What you see today is what goes on here all the time," said her daughter, Beverly Webb, with whom she makes her home. "As we chatted, young people dropped in for a visit with their small children."

Martha and Clifford Massey owned about 35 acres of land in Bolton. As each of their five children married, they were given an acre of land or its equivalent. Beverly is the oldest of the four girls. Next comes Lois Barrett, then Jean Doonan and Roberta Simon. Clifford is the only son. All make their home in Bolton or the land where they grew up. There are 14 grandchildren.

"When their family was young, the Masseys raised Jersey cows, cauliflower, strawberries and tomatoes which were brought to market. Clifford was a physical education instructor in the Hartford elementary schools as well. Martha arose every morning about 5:30. We had to lug pails of water down to the animals. The children helped and I helped my husband until it was time for him to shower to leave for school."

Martha's days usually ended about 12 midnight. "To this day, I still get up early in the morning," she says. At one time, the Masseys bred pointers, Irish setters and beagles. In 1962, Martha operated an antique shop in her home where Roberta now lives. "In 1964, we started raising Morgan horses under the name Fernwood Farm, which Roberta and her husband now run. There have been two grand national champions in the pleasure-riding class from this stable."

What will all her many activities, Martha always did the cooking first. "That was my most important thing." She still does the cooking in the Webb-Massey household. Beverly does the gardening and they share the housework.

The Masseys live in an area where neighbors help one another in an old-fashioned tradition. If someone is building a barn, everyone pitches in to help. "Whatever the project is, you can be sure you'll have volunteers," commented Bonnie, the only daughter-in-law.

"My family is the only organization I belong to. It takes up all my time," Martha states happily. "That doesn't mean I stay home all the time though. I get out alone and Beverly and I go regularly to a health club. I go out to lunch and dinner often."

The backdoor opened and another young woman came in with a baby and a small child. Martha served out her pineapple squares and the little girl ate an ice cream cone. "I have company just about every day."

Martha Massey is a lady who will never grow old. She loves people and it is obvious they love her as much as her goodies. Her apricot-prune pie is her own recipe. She suggests if you are making an apple pie and you expect the apples to be especially juicy, take four Ritz crackers and crush them with a rolling pin. Sprinkle on the bottom crust before cutting in the apples. It will keep the crust from getting soggy.

JUMPING-JACKS GET BABY ON HIS FEET... AND KEEP HIM THERE.

You know how it is. Even after you've roughened the sole of that new baby shoe, baby still seems to slip and tumble. That's why Jumping-Jacks makes Non-Skid with the unique ribbed plug in the sole that helps prevent baby's skidding and slipping. It's a softer, lighter, more flexible shoe too, so baby's foot develops naturally.

Jumping-Jacks.
Most feet are born perfect. They should stay that way.

You're never too old to yearn.

When you retire, you'll still want to take vacations. When you retire, you'll still want to buy new clothes, have an occasional night out, drive a newer car, buy gifts, and be independent.

Will you be able to? If you have your health there's only one thing that's going to keep you from living the way you want to. Lack of money.

That's where U.S. Savings Bonds come in. You can join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work right now. That way an amount you specify will be set aside from your paycheck and used to buy Bonds. It's an almost painless way to save, and before you know it, you'll have a sizeable nest egg built up for your retirement years.

U.S. Savings Bonds. Because you want to retire from work, not from living.

Pilot Program Helps Handicapped

BY BETTY RYDER
Women's Editor

A unique pilot program geared to train the handicapped, who are 10 years or older, in food service industry occupations, will be initiated June 25 through Aug. 17 at Manchester Community College.

Funding for the program will be financed by a grant of $19,107 in federal and state funds, from the Bureau of Vocational Services of the state Board of Education.

Sponsored by the business careers division of the college, HELP (Handicapped Earning and Living Project) will be expedited through the cooperative efforts of the college, Manchester Training Center, and special education programs at public schools in Manchester, East Hartford, Windsor, Rockville and Colchester.

Under the grant, the term handicapped includes those who are physically handicapped, emotionally disturbed, mentally retarded, and those with learning disabilities.

Edward Mongeau will be the instructor for the summer program. Mongeau is from Britain and has had over 20 years experience in the food industry. Assistant instructors will be John Hoff, a graduate student in home economics at the University of Connecticut in Storrs, and Dan Swinicki and Dennis Lewis, consultant for the National Food Service Program.

Another phase of the program which the students hope will receive community participation is a daily lunch service.

"We will be serving lunch five days a week at the college's student center and it will include soup, a sandwich, beverage and a dessert," Ramey said.

"Eventually, depending on our trainees' progress, we may even serve a 'Fro'nesian luncheon," he added.

"Lunches will be $1 per person and we are hopeful of attracting local organizations such as ladies groups, church societies, etc., who will call ahead and reserve space. We'd like to limit the lunches to from 30 to 35 people a day and would prefer to handle them in groups," he continued.

"This would be added incentive for the trainees to know that the community is backing the program and I'm sure would be great encouragement to them," he concluded.

Reservations for the lunches may be made by contacting either Ramey or Vizard at the college.

"We are looking for full-time employment for these students who, upon graduation, will be qualified in many phases of food preparation and service," Vizard said.

Anyone in the food service industry occupations who would be interested in employing one of the graduates may contact them at the college.

Scandia Lodge, Vasa Order of America, will observe its 73rd anniversary May 26 at the Manchester Country Club. Reservations for the banquet at 7 p.m. may be made by Tuesday with Frank Morasco, chairman of the lodge, by telephoning 649-0491, or with Mrs. Clara Stowell, general chairman of the event, 643-4347.

Receiving 50-year service pins are: Mrs. Ellen Modson, G. Ivar Carlson, Miss Ruth I. Benson, Miss Norma V. Johnson and Ivar Scott.

Receiving 40-year pins are: Edwin A. Johnson and Oscar S. Anderson.

Erlend Johnson will be master of ceremonies.

Looking over plans for HELP (Handicapped Earning and Living Project), which will be initiated at Manchester Community College in June are from left, Norman Fendell, director of special education for the Town of Manchester; Dr. Frederick W. Lowe Jr., president of MCC; and Fred A. Ramey Jr., director of the business careers division at MCC and project director of HELP. (Herald photo by Ofiana)

Ramey cited the many members of the Project HELP Advisory Committee who have been instrumental in piloting the program and obtaining the needed funds, including Dr. Evelyn Lewis, consultant for programs for the handicapped, Vocational Education Division,

State Department of Education, and Jack Valk, program coordinator of the Vocational Educational Division, SDE.

Three Girls Share Honors at SWHS

Three girls share top scholastic honors in this year's graduating class at South Windsor High School. Miss Kim Shavel stands alone as valedictorian and the honors of salutatorian are shared by Miss Michele Dubiel and Miss Patricia Foster.

This is the second year the honors have been divided among more than two students. Last year's class had two boys sharing the top position of valedictorian and a boy and a girl, that of salutatorian.

Miss Shavel is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley E. Shavel of 88 Orchard Hill Dr. Her school activities range from involvement in various high school clubs to national recognition for her academic achievements.

During her high school years she received a Certificate of National Education Development and a letter of commendation for the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying test. She was named a Connecticut Scholar and a State of Connecticut Scholar.

Miss Dubiel plans to continue her education at the University of Connecticut where she will take a pre-law course. Miss Foster is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Foster of 90 Foster St. She is a member of the National Honor Society and has achieved high honors throughout the four years.

She has been awarded a Certificate of National Educational Development and is a State of Connecticut Scholar. Her activities include all seasonal sports, the holding of class office and work with the Red Cross and American Field Service.

Miss Foster plans to continue her education at Southern Connecticut State College as a special education major.

She received a certificate for high performance in the National Education Development Test, was elected to the National Honor Society, a National Merit Commended Scholar and a State of Connecticut Scholar.

Rockville Police Rename Sweeney

Patrolman James Sweeney was re-elected president of the Manchester Police Union, Local 1465, at the union's annual meeting Wednesday. Sweeney will start his second term June 1.

Other officers elected Wednesday were Patrolman James Taylor, vice president; Sgt. Robert Giuliano, secretary-treasurer; and Patrolman Jon Hawburn, recording secretary.

Directors elected were Patrolmen Samuel Maltempo and Gary Wood, and Sgt. Eli Tumbull.

Sweeney, 26, has been with the Manchester Police Department for nearly five years. A native of East Hartford, he now lives at 8 Church St. with his wife and two children. He is attending Manchester Community College's law enforcement program.

MPOA Issues Statement In Support of Its Aid

Two officers of the Manchester Property Owners Association (MPOA) have issued a statement supporting their paid advertisement concerning education...

Our figures are based on published facts from Board of Education documents. What do Dr. Kennedy and Mr. Thomas base their figures on?

Now, on Wednesday, May 9, Dr. James Kennedy, superintendent of schools, and Mr. Allan Thomas, chairman of the Manchester Board of Education, have shown that they just might deserve this lack of confidence by their attempt to discredit the facts shown in a recent MPOA advertisement...

From page 67, 1973-74 Board of Education budget document: October 1972 enrollment 10,004; projected 1973-74 enrollment, 9,873.

From page two, 1973-74 budget document: Amount appropriated 1972-73, $10,200,000; amount requested 1973-74, $11,370,000.

Therefore: School year 1972-73 — $10,200,000 divided by 10,004 pupils equals $1,020.58 cost per pupil. School year 1973-74 — $11,370,000 divided by 9,873 pupils equals $1,152.68 cost per pupil.

Students and adults will unite Saturday to participate in the American Field Service 16-mile walk to benefit the Penobscot Indian tribe in Maine and the Tolland High School student exchange program.

Of the $3,000 goal set, 60% would be donated to the tribe and 40% to the student exchange program. Further information may be obtained from Dana Mahin, 675-2553; Mary McNally, 873-3083; or Anna Bonk, 873-1107.

Let me be glad the kettle gently sings. Let me be thankful just for little things: Thankful for simple food and supper spread. Thankful for shelter and a warm, clean bed; Thankful for friends who share my joy or mirth; Glad for the warm, sweet fragrance of the earth; For golden pools or sunshine on the floor. For love that sheds its peace about my door. For little friendly days that slip away. With only meals and bed and work and play.

Power Display Wins for East

By Dick Ledbetter

Sparked by the power-hitting of Pete Hornat and John McDonald, East Catholic won on first and second. A wild pitch moved the runners up and ground ball to short by Bill Concannon brought in a run. Hickey ended the game by striking out John Faulkner for his 10th whiff.

Northwest broke out on top, 1-0, in the second. With one out, Pete Hornat led off with a run, got over Ron Soucier's head for a double. Hickey struck out the next batter, but then surrendered a RBI single to John Kelly.

East came right back in the bottom of the inning to take a 3-1 lead. Soucier led off with a single to left. Using the hit-and-run, Dan Smacchetti followed with another single. Hornat then stepped up and cleared the bases with a triple to deep centerfield. A bloop single by Bob Love drove Hornat to make the count 5-1.

East continued its hitting in the third inning by hitting off with an infield single. McKee followed with a tremendous triple to deep centerfield. Hornat followed with a grand slam. McKee's ground ball brought McKee home with East's final run.

Terry Hickey pitched strong ball until he experienced a little trouble in the seventh. He walked the leadoff batter and an error by Joe Banning put men on first and second. A wild pitch moved the runners up and ground ball to short by Bill Concannon brought in a run.

CHARTER OAK
Five runs in the fifth inning lifted Army Tavern to an 8-7 win over Puller's last night at Fitzgerald Field. Roger Talbot and Brian Sullivan each poked two hits for the winners.

SILK CITY
Grona's Sport Shop Shop battered Fogarty Brothers, 20-10, at Fitzgerald. Randy Smith and Bob Kowalski each stroked four hits while Roger Macaione and Dave White had three bingles apiece.

FELINE
Crispino's toppled WINF, 16-7, at lilling Field. Mary Gracybal had five singles while Carol Brown had a homer and two singles apiece.

COACHES NEEDED
The Recreational Department is in need of coaches for the Alumni and Alumni Junior Baseball Leagues. These leagues are for boys 13-17 years of age.

DUSTY
Allied Building Systems edged the Savings Bank, 12-11 at Robertson Park. Pete Ignatowich had two singles for Allied followed by Phil Chak, Al Pierce, Russ Billings and Dave Kilburn with two singles each.

CANDLELIGHT
A late rally by WINF left short as Dick's Amateurs hung on to an early lead to win, 7-4, in a tightly fought game at Nebo. Hard-hitting Rich Laliberte hammered, tripled and singled for Dick's while Walt Bavier, Jeff Maxwell and Bob Carr had two hits each.

REC
A five-run sixth inning proved rewarding for CB&T as it routed North Methodist, 10-7, at Nebo. Jerry Wilson had three hits.

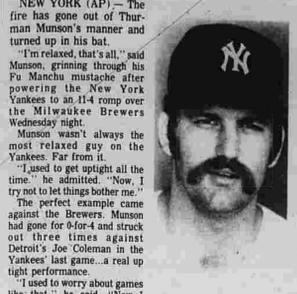

KANSAS CITY (AP)
What causes a pitcher who had a 12-12 record last year get off to a 6-1 start this season? "Consistency," says Paul Splittorff of the Kansas City Royals, who has done just that.

Consistency the Answer
The 28-year-old left-hander said he has confidence in his ability to get his pitches over the plate "whether I'm ahead of the hitter or behind."

Consistency is reflected in Splittorff's showing this year. Through games of Tuesday, he had walked only 17 in 62 innings, struck out 26 and allowed 13 hits in compiling a 2.61 earned run average.

Pittsburgh Needs Good Swift Kick

PHILADELPHIA
A throwing error charged to Pittsburgh right fielder Manny Sanguillen opened the gates for Philadelphia in the first inning.

PHILADELPHIA
The Phils loaded the bases on an error by Pirate second baseman Dave Cash, a single by Del Unser and a walk. All three runners scored when Greg Luzinski singled to right and Sanguillen's throw to the infield skipped all the way into the Phils' dugout.

PHILADELPHIA
It was Pittsburgh's seventh loss in its last eight games, and lowered the Bucs' season record to 13-16.

ROYALS LEARN HOW TO LOSE
MONTREAL (AP) — Jim Gosger, a former Montreal Expo currently with the New York Mets on a temporary basis, was the difference Wednesday night as the Mets beat Montreal 8-3 in a National League baseball game.

ROYALS LEARN HOW TO LOSE
Gosger kept up his hitting in the fourth when he made that catch in center field, said Mets Manager Yogi Berra.

ROYALS LEARN HOW TO LOSE
They had two wins on one out, and if the ball drops, they've got two runs in what was probably a very different ball game, Berra added.

ROYALS LEARN HOW TO LOSE
They told me it would be a hard day to do it, but I'm trying my hardest to make it difficult for them to step me back down. I want to step up here real bad."

Not Surprised
HOUSTON (AP) — Spec Richardson, general manager of the Houston Astros, says he's not surprised that he was fined $300 for ordering a message on the Astrozone scoreboard which criticized two umpires.

Eagle Trackmen 'Double' in Loss
Despite double victories by Mark Budarz and Henry Schoebel East Catholic High's track team didn't have enough firepower to overtake East Hartford and lost, 85-57, on the Hornet cinders.

Tennis
LAS VEGAS, Nev. — Roscoe Tanner, lookout Mountain, Tenn., upset Australian Ken Rosewall 2-6, 6-3, 6-3 in the second round of the $150,000 Alan King-Caesars Palace Tennis Classic.

Bowling
SYRACUSE, N.Y. — Dave Soutar of Kansas City, Mo., defeated Dick Ritger of Hartford, Wis., 849-718 and took the top spot in the Masters Tournament of the American Bowling Congress.

Oilers vs. Anasid's — Verplanck
Police vs. A&N — Waddell
Bonanza vs. Nassiff — Buckley

National League
Moriarty's needed a rally in the last inning to snap a 2-1 tie and whip the Medics, 8-1, last night at Buckley.

Brian Jones' grand slam homer in the sixth highlighted a six-run uprising. It was one of his three hits.

Mike Copeland homered for the losers. It was one of only two bingles Mike Mumford allowed.

Each side scored twice in the first inning and this score stood until the sixth.

Moriarty's 200 006 8-3 Medics — 200 000 2-1

International League
Downs 5-2 after inning, the Lawry's put together two three-run innings — the fourth and sixth — to tack a 9-4 defeat on the Barbers at Verplanck.

Jim Haslett homered as the winners came up with only four hits. Brian Dugle slugged two roundtrippers and a single for the Barbers but it wasn't enough. Brian Matre added a double.

The Eagles trailed Norwich Free Academy and Waterford High.

Competing for East were Pete Petrone, Gene Pietroniro, Alex Mikolowicz, Mike Cooney and Bob Sullivan.

Memorial Day is one of the most rewarding days at New York thoroughbred tracks.

Fourteen of the 30 largest crowds in New York have been registered on that holiday.

Winning nine of the 13 track events, Manchester High's girls' track team scored a double victory yesterday over Weaver High, 75-50, and East Hartford, 92-17.

The sweep upped the Indians' record to 5-3 overall. Two more meets remain on the schedule against Avon and a tri-meet with Coventry and South Windsor.

Saturday at Hall High in West Hartford the girls will compete in a regional meet.

Wendy Comp and Kim McCardie captured two firsts each in leading the Tribe to the twin victories.

Results: hurdles — Finnegan (M), D. Walters (M), R. Hamlet (W), 12.8
100 — P. Maher (M), Abram (W), Brewer (M), 12.5
mile — McArdie (M), Najiemska (M), Shanley (M), 2:45.2
220 — D. Walters (M), Finnegan (M), R. Hamlet (W), 2:32

discus — Comp (M), Bonnelly (EH), Crockett (M), 43.3
javelin — Comp (M), DeVenger (EH), Potter (EH), 90.3
high jump — Hamlet (W), Graycay (M), C. Maber (M), 4.5
long jump — Abram (W), Hughes (W), Graycay (M), 15

National Farm
The Medics trounced Moriarty's last night at Bowers, 19-9, as Dave Timbrell collected three hits. John McNary added a single and double for the winners with Leo Diana best in defeat.

Jess Sweetner will be non-playing captain of the U.S. Walker Cup team.

Prize money for the U.S. Open golf championship will be $25,000 this time. That's an increase of $5,000.

The distance from the finish line to the first turn at Aqueduct racetrack is 330 feet. At Belmont Park it is 843 feet.

Golf History Made In Tribe Triumph

Golf history was made yesterday afternoon at the Manchester Country Club as East Catholic and Manchester High competed for the first time on the links. The Tribe, dominating play, tripped up East 4-1 and then stopped South Catholic, 4-1, to raise its record to 13-10 over-all.

Currently Manchester leads the CCCL by a half game over Maloney High which played a tie match yesterday.

Manchester's standout performer Scott Leone, carded a brilliant 38-35-73 to cop medalist honors again.

"We got a tough two weeks ahead, but we're playing them one at a time," commented Coach Tom Kelley. "Leone played another great round and was one over until both matches were over."

Other Tribe scores were Brad Downey 42-39-81, Lon Annulli 42-38-80 and Jim Thomas 65-34-79.

Results: Manchester vs. East Catholic — Leone (M) def. Pietrone (EC), 6-5; Pietroniro (EC) def. Downey (M) 2-1; Annulli (M) def. Mikolowicz (EC) 3-2; Thomas (M) def. Cooney (EC) one up.

Trackmen Cop Eighth Success

"It was a most gratifying win, at the most beautiful facility of any school I've seen," commented Manchester High's Coach Dick Williams as his charges defeated Hall High in West Hartford, 88-87. Overall the Six Towners sport an 8-4 record and are 6-2 in CCCL competition.

Once again the locals were paced by standout performances from harder Al Wood and mile and two mile runner Phil Stoneman. Mike Lombardo took a first in the high jump; second in the triple jump and third in the long jump.

Results:
120 HH — Wood (M), Weinberg (H), Armentano (M), 16.5
100 — Walker (H), Cooke (M), Soltz (H), 11.0

Watergate Panel Grilling McCord

WASHINGTON (AP) — Watergate burglar James W. McCord Jr. testified today he was told President Nixon was aware of offers of clemency made to him.

McCord said the offer was conveyed to him in 1973 by John N. Mitchell, presidential counsel and chief of staff. McCord said he was told the offer was made to him by Mitchell and was aware of offers of clemency made to him.

McCord said he was told the offer was made to him by Mitchell and was aware of offers of clemency made to him. He said he was told the offer was made to him by Mitchell and was aware of offers of clemency made to him.

McCord Appears Before Committee
