Laird May Be Nixon 'No' Man

By SAUL PETT AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new man in the White House is said to believe that Richard Nixon at times has to be "protected from his own impulses" and told no even though he "reacts strongly."

This is the view of Melvin R. Laird, a deceptively affable politician with a tough sense of realism, who is now in the delicate position of practicing what he, on occasion, has preached.

Laird came out of retirement Wednesday to accept appointment as counselor to the President for domestic affairs, with Cabinet rank. Thus he becomes the domestic Henry A. Kissinger and replaces John D. Ehrlichman, a casualty of Watergate.

He now has a chance to do what he has said privately that Ehrlichman and others failed to do: say no to the President of the United States.

A few weeks before his appointment, sources close to Laird made known his view of the "White House mentality" that may have led to Watergate. He was said to feel that Nixon's top aides were too inexperienced to "protect the President from his own impulses."

"They got so carried away," Laird was quoted as saying. "They could easily have misinterpreted the President in their zeal and showed incredibly bad judgment in carrying out what they thought were his desires."

These sources said that Laird felt the President was solid and deliberate in his conduct of foreign affairs but sometimes impulsive on domestic matters.

As secretary of defense, these sources said, Laird several times was ordered by the President to fire someone, and didn't.

"In each case, the secretary thought the President was wrong and just sat it out, doing nothing about the firing, until the matter blew over."

On another occasion, these sources said, Laird was "told by the White House" to give the ailing Penn Central railroad a direct $300-million loan using the Defense Production Act as a "subterfuge." Laird refused and said the matter should be taken to Congress.

"Do you mean," a top White House assistant asked the secretary of defense, "that you are refusing to carry out a direct order of the President of the United States?"

"Yes."

Wholesale Costs Rise By 2.1%

WASHINGTON (AP) — The wholesale price index, a measure of inflation in the economy, took another enormous jump in May, rising 2.1 per cent over April, the Labor Department reported today.

The index showed wholesale prices increasing at an annual rate of 25.2 per cent.

The biggest increases were in farm products which were up 6.1 per cent over April. The general increase in farm prices followed a decline of 2 per cent in April.

The report was more bad economic news for the Nixon administration since it showed prices were not making the mid-year decline that economists had predicted.

Much of the increase in wholesale prices later shows up in retail prices to consumers. Inflation at the retail level already has been increasing at an annual rate of 8.4 per cent.

The seasonally adjusted increase in the wholesale price index in May was 2 per cent, which means wholesale prices were increasing at 24 per cent annual rate after seasonal changes had been taken into account.

Industrial commodities in the index increased 1.2 per cent on a seasonally adjusted basis, showing that industrial costs also are continuing their unusually high rate of increase.

One government economist termed the increase in the May index "horrendous." The administration has been predicting since the first of the year that prices would begin to level off after the big increases of the first four months.

But the May increase in the wholesale index of 2.1 per cent on an unadjusted basis and 2 per cent on an adjusted basis was the biggest monthly increase in years except for an increase of 2.3 per cent in March this year.

The Labor Department said the May increase in price of farm products resulted largely from higher prices for oil seeds, grains, livestock, fresh and dried vegetables, cotton and milk.

Those increases more than offset decreased prices for eggs, live poultry and fresh fruits.

Wholesale prices for processed foods and feeds were up 3.7 per cent in May, almost entirely because of large increases for manufactured animal feeds. That compared with a decline of .6 per cent for processed foods and feeds in April.

Increased prices for fuels were blamed for much of the rise in the commodity index and refined petroleum products accounted for a major part of the increase in fuels.

Prices for metals, lumber and wood products also increased.

The over-all increase in the wholesale price index showed that wholesale prices have increased by 22.8 per cent during the first four months of the administration's Phase 2 anti-inflation program, compared to a 6.9 per cent increase during the 14 months of the Phase 1 program which provided for stricter controls.

Would Aid Firemen

HARTFORD (AP) — Former Sen. Peter L. Castman says he favors legislation that would provide state financial assistance to Connecticut's 250 volunteer fire companies.

Castman, who was scheduled to be sworn in Thursday as the new lieutenant governor, said state support might consist of matching funds for money that the firefighters raise themselves.

Sikorsky Airport BRIDGEPORT (AP) — Bridgeport Municipal Airport will be named the Igor I. Sikorsky Memorial Airport at ceremonies June 24, Mayor Nicholas A. Panzino has announced.

Sikorsky, the builder of the first practical helicopter, died Oct. 27 at the age of 85. He flew his first helicopter at the Bridgeport airport, which is located in the town of Stratford.

Bread Tax HARTFORD (AP) — U.S. Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., R-Conn., said Tuesday that the Senate had approved his amendment to accelerate the repeal of the "bread tax" on wheat.

The bread tax is 75 cents per bushel of wheat refined for human consumption. The Weicker amendment to the farm bill would repeal the tax the day the bill was signed into law.

Weicker said the bread tax added two cents to the cost of a loaf of bread. He said the repeal would not mean a reduction in bread prices but would reduce pressure for higher prices.

those who recommended Kelley to the city's police board.

Among the programs Kelley is credited with introducing are Sky Alert, a 24-hour-a-day helicopter patrol; Metro Squad, a joint city-suburban investigation team; Operation Barrier, designed to prevent criminal suspects from escaping across the Missouri-Kansas border, and the use of computers to speed police response.

The Dick Tracy comparison was a product of a police department press release which boasted: "Even with two-way wrist radios and space cars, Dick Tracy doesn't have much over the technology-wise Kansas City police department and its chief."

Kelley apparently came to administration attention last year when he took a leave of absence to head the five-man board supervising security arrangements for the Democratic and Republican national conventions.

His supporters credit him with reducing crime in Kansas City by 25 per cent since 1969, but black community leaders were demanding his resignation following 1968 riots that left six persons dead. Critics accused him of condoning indiscriminate use of tear gas.

Kelley last year assigned 160 officers to full-time recruiting in the black community. The 1,300-man force now includes 80 black officers.

Kelley was in charge of the Memphis FBI office when he took over his hometown Kansas City police force after a shakeup in which the previous chief and other officers were indicted for corruption.

South Vietnam Won't Sign Truce

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government served notice today it will not sign any new truce agreement worked out in Paris by Henry A. Kissinger and North Vietnam's Le Duc Tho.

There was no particular reason, Kissinger said, "We just needed more time to prepare something."

Leading up to these developments were outbreaks of fighting in South Vietnam and in Cambodia.

The South Vietnamese military command reported that Communist forces attacked for the fourth day in a row Wednesday in the Mekong Delta south of Saigon but were repelled.

The South Vietnamese announcement that it will not sign any new truce agreements was viewed in some quarters here as an indication the Saigon government is concerned that the United States may be making concessions to the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong.

Kissinger and Tho are working on ways to implement the original cease-fire agreement signed in Paris on Jan. 27.

President Nguyen Van Thieu met in Saigon earlier in the day with his National Security Council. This was followed by a statement read by the government spokesman, Bai Bao Truc. It said, in part:

"During the past few days, there has been some speculation among the local press as well as the foreign press in Saigon that the Republic of Vietnam is going to sign some agreement in Paris."

"I would like to take this opportunity to say that these were purely speculations without any grain of truth."

Sloan said he sought the White House meeting with Haldeman after the Watergate trial last January because he was seeking private employment. He said there seemed to be a full in the case, that it seemed Watergate "had been gotten away with, that it had stopped with the seven men" who were convicted or pleaded guilty at the trial.

Sloan said people then involved in the Nixon political campaign.

He said he got such assurances from H. R. Haldeman, former White House chief of staff, at a meeting in late January.

Sloan said he told Haldeman: "I want you to know that I feel that I did not leave the team as far as I'm concerned, the team left me."

Sloan also told the Senate's televised Watergate hearings that he does not believe Maurice H. Stans, the Nixon campaign finance chairman, was involved in any illegal activities. Stans has been indicted by a federal grand jury in New York and has pleaded innocent to conspiracy charges in a fundraising case.

"I did not and do not believe that Secretary Stans was in any way involved in the criminal activities," Sloan said in discussing the Watergate case. "I thought he had been left holding the bag."

Forrest Williams, 28, of 61 Hemlock St., struck it rich again today when he added $10,000 to the $5,000 he won in last week's Connecticut lottery drawing.

Williams, the father of two children, David, 3, and Lynn, 2, said last week that he only buys one ticket a week and he never won anything before in his life.

Williams and his wife Lucille, live in an apartment and said they will use the winnings for a down payment on a house and to start a bank account for their children.

A 50-year-old widow from Meriden, Mrs. Stella H. Player, said she also plans to use a portion of her $75,000 winnings to buy a home of her own. She now lives on Social Security, in a rented apartment. She also plans to do some traveling.

Peter P. Urban, 51, of Monroe, who owns a meat market where lottery tickets are sold, also won $15,000. He has six children and said he will invest the winnings in Connecticut real estate.

Sloan Testifies He Was Assured On Retribution

WASHINGTON (AP) —

Former campaign treasurer Hugh W. Sloan Jr. testified today that after refusing to lie or be silent about the money that paid for the Watergate wiretapping, he went to the White House seeking assurances that the administration wouldn't try "to make things difficult for me" in seeking a private job.

He said he got such assurances from H. R. Haldeman, former White House chief of staff, at a meeting in late January.

Sloan said he told Haldeman: "I want you to know that I feel that I did not leave the team as far as I'm concerned, the team left me."

Purnell Pl. Work Sought

DOUG BEVINS (Herald Reporter)

The Mayor's Downtown Action Committee this morning voted to present a recommendation for limited improvement of Purnell Pl. to the Manchester Board of Directors next month.

The recommendation, not yet formulated, will be made by downtown planning consultants Brown, Donald & Donald, according to Assistant Town Manager John Harkins.

Harkins said the planning consultant has been asked to make a recommendation which will not be contrary to an overall plan for downtown revitalization, which will be developed in the coming year.

Tentative proposals for improvement of Purnell Pl. include drainage system and plans for relocation of sidewalks on the west side of the street.

Improvements to Purnell Pl. are considered a high priority such a project.

Innovator Considered To Head FBI

WASHINGTON (AP) —

Clarence M. Kelley, the Kansas City police chief, is credited with introducing a number of technological innovations to the police force.

Administration sources said Nixon has decided on Kelley, and the White House was expected to announce the nomination today.

Kelley, who served 21 years with the FBI before taking over as police chief in 1961, would become the second permanent director in the investigative agency's history.

J. Edgar Hoover died 13 months ago after running the FBI for 47 years.

Kelley, a 51-year-old attorney with a keen interest in computerized law enforcement, has spent three days consulting with administration aides here.

Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson and a White House liaison officer were introducing him to congressional leaders Wednesday.

The Senate Judiciary Committee is expected to schedule confirmation hearings soon.

Kelley was in charge of the Memphis FBI office when he took over his hometown Kansas City police force after a shakeup in which the previous chief and other officers were indicted for corruption.

Robert F. Kennedy, then the attorney general, was one of those who recommended Kelley to the city's police board.

Educators Consultants

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The CBS Television network says it has hired two noted educators, Drs. Gordon Berry and Roger Fransecky, as consultants on children's programming.

The duo, described by CBS as specialists in educational planning for children, say they'll advise CBS in all aspects, from concepts to commercial content.

However, their appointment draws only a cool wait-and-see attitude from the highly vocal Massachusetts-based citizens' organization.

The group recently asked the Federal Communications Commission to ban all commercials from kid shows on television.

"I see it (the Berry-Fransecky appointment) as an interesting sign," said ACT's executive director, Mrs. Evelyn Sarson. That was her only comment.

Fransecky, of the University of Cincinnati, said he felt it was not feasible for a commercial network to air children's shows without advertising because of the cost of the shows.

CBS says the average cost of each half-hour animated program — it has nine in its Saturday morning lineup next fall — is $90,000.

Berry, of UCLA, declined to say if he thought commercials less kid shows feasible because "I really do not feel competent at this point to deal with the economic question."

Last season Berry headed a panel of educators that advised on comedian Bill Cosby's "Fat Albert" cartoon series on CBS.

Fransecky said he feels that he and Berry, as CBS consultants, must study the "total package" of children's programming, including "how we cluster commercials, how we plan them, where they fit."

"I think it transcends the issue of commercials yes, commercials no," and it gets at the issue that in one sense is a fact of life of the medium," he said.

Both educators say their work would include conferring with producers and writers of children's programs, looking at their scripts and proposals, and sending critiques and suggestions to CBS.

And, as Fransecky put it, neither of them intends to be the type of consultant "who blows in, blows off and blows out."

USE SAFETY PLAY FOR BAD BREAKS

By Alfred Sheinwold

Unless you are the proud owner of the dependable crystal ball, you can't tell when the trumps are going to break bad. Your best course is to make allowance for bad breaks whenever you can afford to do so.

Both sides vulnerable

Opening lead — Six of Spades

West opens the six of spades, and you win. Since you must eventually lose two diamond tricks, you can afford to lose only one trump.

Your first step is to lead out the ace of trumps. Both opponents follow suit, and the contact lines on your next trump play.

The best play is a low trump from your own hand.

If both opponents follow suit, you can regain the lead and clear up the last trump by leading the king.

If only West follows suit on the second round of trumps, you are doomed to defeat. You can do nothing about the worst possible trump break, except perhaps resolve to live a cleaner life in the future.

You can cope with the bad trump break only if East happens to have four trumps. West will then discard on the second trump, disclosing the trump situation. You play the nine of trumps from the dummy, forcing East to win with the jack.

Finest Through East

AS SOON as possible thereafter, you will get to dummy with the ace of diamonds in order to lead a trump through East. Since you have the king behind East's queen-eight, you will be able to take the marked finesse and avoid further trump loss.

The best feature of this safety play is that it costs you nothing. You are sure to lose at least one trump trick after your ace captures only small cards. By giving up that trump trick at once, you find out whatever you need to know about the trumps while the knowledge can still do you some good.

He said the FCC has regulations protecting the right of commercial television stations to broadcast certain sports events and first-run movies.

Prompted by that concern the public utilities subcommittee is considering legislation that virtually would prohibit pay TV in Connecticut.

Matthew T. Jenetopoulos, president of Systems TV, which owns a cable franchise in the New Haven area, said public outcry and Federal Communications Commission (FCC) regulations would keep events like the World Series or Super Bowl from ever being shown exclusively over pay TV.

"Cable TV (whereby a signal is transmitted over a cable at a set cost rather than free through the air) and pay TV don't necessarily go hand-in-hand," he said.

Oliver Wendell Holmes is well known as an author but probably few people know as a physician. He recognized the contagion of child-bed fever and advocated antiseptic measures to control it in 1843.

Firm Countersues UAC

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — McClain International Inc. has filed a $34.2-million countersuit against United Aircraft Corp. accusing United of attempting to monopolize the manufacture of aircraft engine replacement parts.

McClain, a College Park, Ga., firm, filed the countersuit in answer to a January suit by United in U.S. District Court here.

United accused McClain of using United drawings and specifications to make a seal for jet engines. United claimed the drawings were a trade secret but McClain's countersuit argued that the specifications were in the public domain and not protected by a patent or copyright.

The McClain petition, filed May 30, said a favorable judgment for United would violate the public policy favoring "free and unfettered competition" as set down in federal antitrust laws.

McClain's petition also argues that United's complaint has been pre-empted by federal laws requiring all manufacturers to submit substantially identical drawings on engine parts.

United's Pratt and Whitney Aircraft division of Hartford, Conn., accounts for the sale of more than 90 per cent of aircraft engine replacement parts to commercial airlines in the U.S. and also sells about 85 per cent of all engines going to commercial lines.

McClain's countersuit argues that Pratt and Whitney has monopolized the repair market by requiring that repair facilities buy Pratt and Whitney parts or parts approved by them.

Lack Of Curiosity Arousing Curiosity

By LEE BYRD Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — The stain of Watergate has left many a man in various shades of embarrassment, shock or outrage, but few, it seems, got curious. Time and again, witnesses have acknowledged their access to information of innermost intrigue—only to claim they didn't sneak a peek or ask any questions. And that lack of curiosity is getting curiousest and curiousest. The hottest of the nationally televised Senate hearings was occupied Wednesday, for example, by Hugh W. Sloan, former treasurer of President Nixon's re-election campaign. Sloan has admitted paying $199,000 to convicted conspirator G. Gordon Liddy without ever asking what the money was for. Then there is the case of Sally Harmony, the secretary who worked for Liddy at the campaign headquarters. According to her testimony Tuesday, she kept her nose not only out of her boss' business, but somewhat out of her own as well. It didn't bother her, she said, that Liddy had told her some of the work was clandestine because "clandestine does not

Coventry Artist Opens Studio

HOLLY GANTNER Correspondent Richard Upton, local artist who is currently professor of fine arts at Biddeford College in New York, will formally open his studio, at the Erebus Press on Upton Dr. this Sunday. The invitational opening, sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Goodin of High St., will feature paintings, prints and relief sculpture, particularly work done in the past year. Upton originated the International Exhibition, "Contemporary Prints, USA" with over 90 works by 53 printmakers and printers. His Erebus Press workshop at the studio will be devoted to production and publication of fine, limited-edition original prints. The workshop will include facilities for woodcut, intaglio and lithographic processes. In addition to work by other artists produced so far at the workshop, Upton has published four limited-edition portfolios and books since his first European stay. The first was executed in Paris. These works became the focus of a large, one-man exhibition at the Palace of Fine Arts in Mexico City, and in Syracuse, N.Y. Upton's work is included in numerous public and private collections, including the Museum of Modern Art, the Bibliotheque Nationale in Paris, Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D.C. and others in Montreal and in Mexico. His new works will be shown later in the year in one-man exhibitions both in this country and abroad. His work will also be represented in the British International Biennial, where fewer than 40 international artists' efforts have been selected to tour England. Upton originated the International Exhibition, "Contemporary Prints, USA" with over 90 works by 53 printmakers and printers. He has received numerous awards and grants for his work.

Second Thoughts On China Trade

The vast majority of Americans favor more trade and diplomatic contacts with China, if a recent survey can be projected to the population at large.

According to David J. Mahoney, president and chairman of Norton Simon, Inc., a public opinion survey covering all 50 states, commissioned by his company, disclosed that:

—About 84 per cent of all those questioned favor increased diplomatic relations with the Chinese government.

—Some 72 per cent favor increased trade with the Chinese, and more than half favor legislation removing obstacles from Chinese imports.

The latter numbers, Mahoney told a Commonwealth Club of California audience in San Francisco, are surprising in view of rising protectionist sentiment in America. But we should not, he cautioned, expect a sudden wave of trade with the mainland regime.

Even if we do business with China, it will be fairly modest. U.S. trade with China went from $5 million in 1971 to $92 million in 1972 and may get past the $350 million mark this year, making us China's second largest trading partner after Japan.

"But that isn't a lot," Mahoney points out. "China's total external trade last year was only $2.5 billion, which is small for a major country."
Mahoney visited China last year to conduct negotiations to import ginger root, edible oils and Mao-Tai, a Chinese ceremonial drink. Based on his observations, he foresees increasing demand from China for American equipment and technology.

"The best markets seem to be in items which will help China move ahead — film processing equipment, Geiger counters, food processing equipment, computer technology, petrochemicals, fertilizer." Also, if rumors that China has great oil reserves prove true, drilling equipment, pipelines and refineries.

On the negative side, says Mahoney, there doesn't seem to be much of a market among the Chinese for cosmetics, fashions or luxury items like cars and jewelry. As for clothing, Chinese garb "is almost uniform, with slight variations in tone and color."

The long-term prospects for increased trade with China will be greatly influenced by a number of things, including the political future of Taiwan and the attitudes of the aging Mao Tse-tung's successors.

But the United States will do business with China, says Mahoney, because "we cannot afford to concede to our competitors a market that represents almost a quarter of the world's population."

"While this potentially significant market will take time to mature, and in spite of recent indications of rising prices in China, I am very enthusiastic about our initial prospects for trade."

Computers, petrochemicals, high technology for ginger root, edible oils and Mao-Tai. Is there really that much cause for enthusiasm?

Teapot Doom:

Some Lessons for Watergate

By Lee Roderick
(Special to The Herald)
WASHINGTON — For weeks our newspapers have been filled with rants of the nauseating obscenities of commercialized politics. We rightfully demand that the auction block from which public servants are bought as slaves, be taken out of American politics. We are determined that the money changers shall be driven from the temple of government.

Although the "nauseating obscenities" may seem familiar, this passionate quote is not from a current editorial and its target is not Watergate. It appeared nearly 50 years ago in Century Magazine and its subject was Teapot Dome, the great scandal of the Harding Administration to which Watergate has been frequently compared.

May 18, for example, James McCord testified before the Senate Watergate Committee that John J. Caulfield, in urging him to go to jail rather than talk, told him, "The President's ability to govern is at stake. Another Teapot Dome scandal is possible and the government may fall."

Some digging at the Library of Congress unearthed timeworn documents and articles from the Teapot Dome era that indeed prove the maxim: "Plus ça change, est la merve chose," or the more things change the more they remain the same.

However, in 1922, Harding's Secretary of the Interior, Albert B. Fall of New Mexico, secretly awarded leases on Teapot Dome and the reserve at Elk Hills, Calif., to private interests. He was later convicted of taking a bribe and became the first cabinet member to be indicted for committing a felony while in office. Teapot Dome came to symbolize the other government scandals of the early 1920's.

To be fair, any comparison between Watergate and Teapot Dome should be prefaced by the comment that, although Richard Nixon, like Warren G. Harding before him, was a Republican politician before becoming President, other important personal similarities are difficult to find.

President Nixon, a man of great capability, has already made contributions of historic dimensions, particularly in foreign affairs. Harding, on the other hand, was a small man in a big office, he neither understood nor cared to manage. Both men, however, vested enormous faith and power in a few key aides, and both were poorly served. Although the men surrounding Harding sought personal gain while those around President Nixon apparently had other motives, the end results were tragically similar.

In light of the troubles now facing the Nixon men, it is interesting to contemplate the fate of those close associates of Harding who used to join him for all-night poker games at the two famous "little houses" in Northwest Washington.
Fall, old and ailing, went to prison in 1931.

President Harding himself apparently was personally innocent of participating in the widespread scandals of his administration though history has judged harshly his dereliction of duty. He died in 1923, during his first term of office, before the full fury of the scandals was "public knowledge."
Years later, in dedicating a memorial to Harding, President Herbert Hoover said, "These men have betrayed not alone the friendship and trust of their staunch and loyal friends, but they have betrayed their country. That was the tragedy in the life of Warren Harding."
The fate of Harding and his place in history must weigh heavily on Richard Nixon.

Open Forum

Angrier

Dear editor: It is our opinion that Mrs. Ruth Lloyd, her husband, and friends should be highly commended for contacting the Open Forum with reference to a problem similar to ours on Colonial Road and Scott Drive.

It is our hope that she and those concerned were reflecting their own personal grievances and views rather than to feel that this concern of theirs has been directed from other sources both high in industry and possible politics.

It is true that the city directory indicates two families on Colonial Road but that does not include the homes intersecting Colonial Road which bear a different address. I would believe a sighting trip might be beneficial for anyone disputing our cause. Please wear your ear plugs, we are rather noisy on Colonial Road.

It is most regretful that representatives of First Hartford Realty informed you that the tracking conditions would be terminated within two weeks as the same type of informative procrastination has been enduring since last June.

In answer to the question of those in the Lydall Street area, may we say our variances lie only in one pattern, such pattern be no better but far more angrier.

Recollections
To the editor: My compliments to Sal R. Cohen for his article on the Cheney's impact on Manchester's growth which I read with great interest.

One small item in that May 25th issue, referring to a "public bath facility erected on Main Street," gave the cause to search my memory.
In my teens I live on the "West Side" in the early 1900s and there was first a public bath on Cooper Hill Street and later a new building went up for this purpose on Pleasant Street near the then new "Ribbon Mill," at the corner of Pine.

Inside Report

Rowland Evans and Robert Novak
The Mitchell Mystery

John Mitchell, now becomes a dangerous unknown.

WASHINGTON — John Mitchell denied to federal investigators three weeks ago that he had any role in the 1967-70 national security wiretaps despite documentary evidence that he approved them, piling new riddles on top of the mystery over his past and future role in the Watergate scandal.

Mitchell's denial lacks all plausible explanation. Nor is it the first time that Mitchell's denials of Watergate-connected events have been contradicted by facts which had to be known to him. Thus, investigators in both the Justice Department and the Senate wonder about the value of his future testimony, a growing doubt that could play into President Nixon's hands if Mitchell attacks him.

In private conversations, Mitchell gives the impression both of confusion and of a desire to tell all. Combined with the questions of his credibility, Mitchell — once the strongman of the Nixon administration —

now becomes a dangerous unknown. That was shown by his strange conduct in the FBI's routine investigation of the 17 or so national security wiretaps. Attempting to find the then missing wiretap files, FBI agents interviewed Mitchell in New York in mid-May. He not only denied any knowledge of the taps but said flatly he had not approved them.

But when the files shortly thereafter were located in a White House safe, the FBI noted that John Mitchell's signature was on a straight talker who certainly did remember what he said from one day to the next and readily preferred him to President Nixon's haughty personal aides.

Indeed, one high-level Republican who has known Mitchell well for years feels he has changed tremendously in recent weeks. While Mitchell has been losing his grip, he says, his wife Martha has been playing a cool and long-headed game against the White House.

Despite Mitchell's own public statements professing the President's innocence, Mrs. Mitchell has subtly warned Republican sources as a straight talker who certainly did remember what he said from one day to the next and readily preferred him to President Nixon's haughty personal aides.

Current Quote

The history of American journalism suggests that any newspaper which is not most of the time being threatened, harassed and at least verbally assaulted by government simply isn't doing its job.
—Rep. Edward Meznar, D-Iowa.

Washington Post
WASHINGTON — John Mitchell denied to federal investigators three weeks ago that he had any role in the 1967-70 national security wiretaps despite documentary evidence that he approved them, piling new riddles on top of the mystery over his past and future role in the Watergate scandal.

Mitchell's denial lacks all plausible explanation. Nor is it the first time that Mitchell's denials of Watergate-connected events have been contradicted by facts which had to be known to him. Thus, investigators in both the Justice Department and the Senate wonder about the value of his future testimony, a growing doubt that could play into President Nixon's hands if Mitchell attacks him.

In private conversations, Mitchell gives the impression both of confusion and of a desire to tell all. Combined with the questions of his credibility, Mitchell — once the strongman of the Nixon administration —

now becomes a dangerous unknown. That was shown by his strange conduct in the FBI's routine investigation of the 17 or so national security wiretaps. Attempting to find the then missing wiretap files, FBI agents interviewed Mitchell in New York in mid-May. He not only denied any knowledge of the taps but said flatly he had not approved them.

But when the files shortly thereafter were located in a White House safe, the FBI noted that John Mitchell's signature was on a straight talker who certainly did remember what he said from one day to the next and readily preferred him to President Nixon's haughty personal aides.

Indeed, one high-level Republican who has known Mitchell well for years feels he has changed tremendously in recent weeks. While Mitchell has been losing his grip, he says, his wife Martha has been playing a cool and long-headed game against the White House.

Despite Mitchell's own public statements professing the President's innocence, Mrs. Mitchell has subtly warned Republican sources as a straight talker who certainly did remember what he said from one day to the next and readily preferred him to President Nixon's haughty personal aides.

Vernon Notes

"Indians of America" will be the theme of the summer reading program to be held at the Rockville Junior Library starting July 2.

The program will continue for six weeks. Children may register any time now at the library. Any area cardholder entering Grades 3-7 next fall, may join the club. There will be a special program for children who will be entering Grade 1 or 2.

In keeping with the theme, Indian villages will be set up and the young readers may choose a tribe to "join." For each book read, an item is earned and placed on the youngsters' village property. Some of the objects will include a fire, water jug, canoe and Indian. Depending on the tribe the child chooses to join, his Indian may live in a teepee, a dome house or wigwam. As an added reading incentive the boys and girls may earn a genuine Indian arrowhead.

A new wrinkle has been added to this year's program in that the students may not only earn the items but may also help to make them. Book reports will be required of the Grade 3 through 6 students and second graders will be asked to write very brief reports. First graders do not have to write reports. Only six may be submitted, per week, by an individual. Book reports will be available at the library after school closes in June.

The reading club activities will end Aug. 11 with a party to be held for the readers. At that time prizes will be awarded, a movie will be shown and refreshments will be served.

Head Start
The Vernon public school system will again be funded to conduct the Head Start Program this year. It will be held June 25 through Aug. 3, at the Maple Street School.

The program is to help children who will be entering kindergarten in the fall or those who are presently enrolled in kindergarten and who need strengthen and enrich their background so they can better relate themselves to the school curriculum.

The program, federally sponsored, is set up for children from economically deprived homes, on the theory that they will not have the background that many other children get at home before they enter school. Although the emphasis will be on basic academics, a large portion of the program will deal in the area of music, art, field trips and other activities related to academics.

Parents interested in registering their children may do so at any of the elementary schools in town or by contacting Ronald Korsch in the Office of Continuing Education, Rockville High School.

School Lunches
The following lunches will be served in the Vernon schools next week:

Monday: Sloppy Joes on roll, green beans, vanilla pudding with sliced peach.

Tuesday: Veal cutlet with sauce, buttered noodles, carrots, bread and butter, fruit jello with topping.

Wednesday: Juice, grinders, potato chips, brownie.

Thursday: Hamburg on roll, potato puffs, sweet pickled beets, frosted cake.

Friday: Baked macaroni and cheese, broccoli, peanut butter sandwich, mixed fruit. Milk is served with all meals.

Kinder-Camp
If more interest is not shown, the Kinder-Camp program will be eliminated.

LWV Promotes Voter Registration

Indian Valley YMCA planned to hold this summer may not become a reality. The camp was to be for 5 and 6 year-olds and was to be conducted at the Creative Playtime Nursery School, Rt. 88, Vernon and three competent teachers were assigned to teach.

Arthur Theroux, executive director of the "Y" said due to the steep cost of a program of this nature and the high calibre of the staff needed to conduct it, the "Y" must have at least 20 campers per session.

The league members designated Wednesday as "Senior-18 Registration Day." During a voter-making session held at Rockville High School last year 82 students were registered.

The registrars feel that interest in registering will probably be less enthusiastic in a non-presidential election year. The league is presently conducting a survey of the high school seniors to determine what number has registered and what percentage knew where to register.

League members said they feel a lack of information about time and place of registration is an obstacle to voter registration.

Anyone who is 18 years of age, a U.S. citizen and a bona-fide resident of Vernon, may register at the Town Hall, Park Place on Mondays from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Tuesday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Members of the Vernon League of Women Voters brought voter information to Rockville High School Wednesday and urged all high school students who have reached the eligible age of 18 to register for voting privileges at the Memorial Building, Park Place.

Parents interested should call the "Y" office for further information as a decision must be reached within the next week. The phone number of the office is 675-4718.

HELCO Rate Hearing Set

HARTFORD (AP)—The state Public Utilities Commission has set June 12 as the starting date for its hearings on rate increases requested by the Hartford Electric Light Company.

Gov. Thomas J. Meskill has said he will appear before the PUC to argue against the increases.

HELCO and its sister Northeast Utilities subsidiary, the Connecticut Light & Power Co., have claimed the additional revenue from the rate hikes would offset rising costs and what they consider to be an uncertain financial future.

Meskill claims the utility rate increases would place an unfair burden on consumers already under heavy inflationary pressure.

The CL&P hearings wound up last month. No PUC decision on that rate request has been announced.

Troopers To Use Recorders

HARTFORD (AP) — A system aimed at relieving state troopers of clerical duties so they can spend more time on the road will be instituted in Hartford next week. The Central Report Transcription Unit consists of 15 recording machines, nine telephone lines, a central control panel and a staff of typists, three to begin with and 11 to be added later. Under the new system, troopers no longer will have to spend hours in front of a typewriter making out lengthy reports after they return to the barracks on a day on duty. By simply calling one of the special recording units from any telephone in the state, the officer puts his report vocally on tape. The tapes are transcribed by the typists with copies forwarded to the appropriate files. At the start, the unit will handle only the reports of troopers from Troop H in Hartford. Eventually it will be expanded to process reports from troopers throughout the state. The new unit will be headed by Capt. Leo LeBlanc and is being financed with state funds and a grant from the federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration.

Hi Neighbor!

O.K. — So I goofed. We ran a Grand Opening Sale last week after being in our present location for over a year. Nobody's perfect. I told my wife it was better than not running the party at all. I hope you came and enjoyed the champagne and refreshments as much as I enjoyed taking the money. And I even had a couple of bottles of bubble juice to take home that were charged off as a business expense.

Anyway, the bargain list continues with more goodies. Here are a few examples of what we hope to peddle this weekend and I expect that there'll be more from the stocks already rolling in:

- Disposable Daytime Diapers, 30 lb. bulk (375 to 390 diapers) 7.50

New Haven Bus Service Discussed

NEW HAVEN (AP) — The state Department of Transportation and New Haven officials remain at odds over the responsibility of boosting bus service on Connecticut Co. lines. Deputy Transportation Commissioner Collis Pease has accused city officials of not cooperating in efforts to improve the service. The bus routes were restored in late March after being idle for four months in and around Hartford, New Haven and Stamford. Pease said during an exchange with local officials at a public hearing that "we have not had the cooperation we should have" from the Greater New Haven Transportation District in finding ways to attract riders back to the buses. He said ridership in the Hartford and New Haven areas is averaging about 82 per cent of pre-strike levels. Stamford lags behind that level. City Traffic Director John Cavallero, speaking for the district, said that local officials believed when the agreement was reached for public operation of the bus lines that the district would act only in an advisory role during the first two years of operation by the state. "Apparently the transportation department is imparting a more functional role, and if that is so, we should like to know about it," he said. Cavallero said the district, which includes New Haven, West Haven, East Haven and Hamden, has offered a number of suggestions for improving service, including Sunday runs to recreational areas. "The audience should not get the impression we're sitting on our heels," he said. The hearing was called by the Connecticut Transportation Authority for discussion of proposed summer cutbacks, but only a handful of officials, bus drivers and others attended.

Grocery Shopping Iron Curtain Style

EDITOR'S NOTE: American housewives are not the only ones bargaining with their grocery lists. In Poland, the lines are misjudged, positions are lost. People try to claim their places anyway, and others accuse them of cutting ahead. However, shoppers who have the line switching system down to a fine art claim they can get positions in four lines at the same time. The few who play it safe and take one at a time may find that, instead of approaching the counter, they're getting farther away because of line jumpers. Eating out can be taxing, too. Some restaurants have armchairs arranged on one side of the room for those waiting their turn for a table. There is a bright side of sorts. Since coming to power on a wave of bloody, economic rioting nearly three years ago, Edward Gierki's Communist leadership has expanded considerably the choice of consumer goods in Poland. Once rarities, items like oranges, bananas, Western chocolates, toiletries and even sought-after Western clothes are becoming available. The only problem is reaching the counter to get them.

Missing Meat
By Iva Drapalova
PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — Housewives here are not happy with the meat situation even though prices have remained fairly stable the past 13 years. The problem is a scarcity of choice cuts. By world standards, prices in Czechoslovakia are not more than a few cents above what they were before. They lead all Communist countries in some West European countries in meat consumption. In 1970, they consumed 188 pounds per capita, compared with 150 in the United States. In the United States, sirloin and round steak approximate equivalents to rump steak are approaching $2 a pound at a number of stores; pork chops average $1.50; and veal cutlets run about $4 a pound. With prices constant for so long, Czechoslovaks are eating more meat than ever before. They lead all Communist countries in some West European countries in meat consumption. In 1970, they consumed 188 pounds per capita, compared with 150 in the United States.

Tornado Outbreak Blamed On Jet Stream

By FRANK CAREY AP Science Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — That sometimes capricious river of high-speed air above the Northern Hemisphere, the jet stream, has been a major culprit in the record rash of tornadoes and other unusual weather across the nation in recent months. Government meteorologists report the jet stream has been unusually strong for several months. — Causing more than 700 tornadoes since Jan. 1, mostly in the Southern states. — Dumping heavy rains from the Appalachians to the Midwest and down into the South. — Causing drought conditions in the Pacific Northwest. The weathermen say the jet stream appears to be weakening now, possibly lessening tornado activity in Southern states. They also said their June outlook shows a shift in the heavy rain picture from the Midwest and South to the Middle Atlantic, South Atlantic and Gulf Coast. Like its sister, the "polar jet," flowing above northern areas of the earth, the subtropical jet stream is hundreds of miles wide and 20,000 feet high.

Directors will vote Tuesday on the proposal to refer the school to the Town Building Committee. Kennedy said Tuesday night, "The problems, as we see them, are housing problems for our secondary school population as it exists, and not for any increased school population."

He and Kennedy both said that three-grade junior high schools should have three grades, and not three in one and bring the 8th graders back there from the high school. We, thus, would provide needed space for our high school students at the referendum," said Kennedy.

He and Kennedy asked the directors to instruct the Town Building Committee to participate in reviewing the proposals, prior to making its recommendations. The directors must act by early August, if the referendum question is to appear on the November voting machine.

SOL R. COHEN (Herald Reporter)

The Manchester Board of Directors has an official request to schedule a Nov. 6 referendum on proposed additions and renovations to Bennett and Filling Junior High Schools.

Presenting the request Tuesday night was School Superintendent James Kennedy, and Paul Greenberg, chairman of the school board's building and site committee.

The request stems from the school board's acceptance of a Citizens Advisory Committee report. The committee's report proposes additional space at both schools and rules out the possibility of a third junior high school.

Greenberg estimated Tuesday night the Bennett project would cost about $2.9 million and said the school would be amenable to reductions to that amount. He didn't have an estimate for the cost of the Filling project. However, Kennedy estimated it would be about the same as Bennett.

A proposal for a $6.8 million building project ($3.4 million for each of the two schools) was defeated in referendum last November. A proposal for construction of a new junior high off Keeney St. and a new elementary school in the Forest Hills area was defeated in referendum in November 1971.

Greenberg said the school board is recommending a one-question referendum in November - to include both schools. He said additional funds for architects' fees aren't needed, because there is sufficient material from last year's plans to proceed.

He and Kennedy asked the directors to instruct the Town Building Committee to participate in reviewing the proposals, prior to making its recommendations. The directors must act by early August, if the referendum question is to appear on the November voting machine.

He and Kennedy asked the directors to instruct the Town Building Committee to participate in reviewing the proposals, prior to making its recommendations. The directors must act by early August, if the referendum question is to appear on the November voting machine.

The directors will vote Tuesday on the proposal to refer the school to the Town Building Committee. Kennedy said Tuesday night, "The problems, as we see them, are housing problems for our secondary school population as it exists, and not for any increased school population."

He and Kennedy both said that three-grade junior high schools should have three grades, and not three in one and bring the 8th graders back there from the high school. We, thus, would provide needed space for our high school students at the referendum," said Kennedy.

Group Gets Go-Ahead For Colchester Track

SOL R. COHEN (Herald Reporter)

A $5 million dog-racing facility in Colchester, proposed by three Manchester men, was given the go-ahead Wednesday night by that town's Planning and Zoning Commission.

The next step in the proposal is to seek a license for the facility from the Connecticut Commission on Special Revenue, which oversees all betting, racing, and off-track betting operations.

Colchester Selectman David Forman confirmed reports that the Colchester commission, by an 8 to 0 vote with one abstention, approved the site for the facility, based on formal plans presented to it.

The approval specifies that the commission's action includes, but is not limited to, all testimony heard by it at all hearings. In April, it had approved an amendment to its zoning regulations which cleared the way for a May 16 hearing on site approval.

The three Manchester men planning the facility are: Richard P. Hayes, real estate broker and land developer; Stephen J. Cavagnaro, owner of Cavey's Restaurant; and Raymond F. Damato, building contractor and developer.

Ecological Concern

Earth and water combine to create a living moment of ecological concern as Dianne Hampton from Browne Troop 811 helps to plant a pine tree while Edward Timbrell, principal of Keeney St. School, steadies the young pine. The troop chose this particular activity to fill a space where a negligent driver had mowed down six trees, and to extend appreciation to the school, the site of the troop's frequent meetings and activities. Lunch Program Shows Gain

ANNE EMT Correspondent
Tel. 228-971

Mrs. June Birdsell, cafeteria manager, reported to the Board of Education Tuesday that the hot lunch program at the elementary school is showing a net gain of $37.77.

Although she does not anticipate that the gain will hold because salaries for the last half of May plus the lunch program's share of social security taxes still have to be paid in June, she does expect to end the year at least even.

In addition to the cash on hand, Mrs. Birdsell reported that through the Federated Donated Foods program, the school has on hand, to start next year, approximately 200 pounds of beef, 110 pounds of pork, 460 pounds of sausage and 3 cases of canned poultry. She also has on hand considerable quantity of beef bought at much lower prices than those that now prevail.

The cafeteria staff, as has not been the case in the past, is planning to serve a picnic lunch on the last day of school.

Mrs. Birdsell also requested several repairs for equipment to be made during the summer in order to operate more efficiently and safely.

Kindergarten
The board is faced with a decision at its July meeting about whether to operate more than one kindergarten class next year with only 24 children anticipated.

Dr. David Cattanch, superintendent of schools, informed the board of the low anticipated enrollment (40 children are enrolled in kindergarten this year) and suggested the board consider several possibilities.

These included one class with a full-time teacher and a full-time teacher aide for one session, or two sessions with two full-time teachers.

Although there are presently two kindergarten teachers, one of these, if the board should decide to go to just one session, would be moved up to fill the vacancy of a second grade teacher.

Title I Program
Donald H. Libby, principal, reported on the progress of the Title I program which was in operation this year through $1,110 of state funds and $2,360 of Federal funds.

The theme of the program was communications and each month the children explored different areas such as radio, television, telephone, communication through art and music and newspapers with a visit to The Herald.

Dr. Richard Zanni, assistant superintendent of schools, reported that all but $21.68 of the funds had been expended and it is expected that this amount will be carried over through to next year.

A full evaluation of the program will be made and submitted to the State Board of Education by the end of this month.

Maintenance
Libby presented an outline of summer maintenance planned at the school. He stated that large maintenance jobs will be taken care of first up until a cut-off date established with the custodians. After that date, routine classroom work will be handled.

Nurse
The board approved a procedure submitted by the Public Health Nursing Agency reducing the hours of the public health nurse and increasing the hours of the nurses aide.

The agency requested the change because of minor staff problems, but the school will still be receiving basically the same amount of coverage.

Whereas this year the nurse worked three hours a day, and the aide four hours a day, next year the nurse will be on duty two and a half to three hours on three days and one and a half to two hours on the other days.

The nurse aide next year will be working four hours on three days and six hours on the other two days instead of the four hours a day worked this year.

The board approved a request from the Conservation Commission to remove several trees in one area of the school property to form a "quiet time area" for students for outdoor classes.

Assessor
The assessor has announced that he will not hold office hours on June 9, 11 and 16.

Little League
In Little League action last week the Giants defeated the Tigers 9-7 and the Yankees defeated the Mets 10-6.

Winning pitcher for the Giants was David Jeannotte and Timmy Tiemann received the win for the Yankees. Three Yankee players, Bob Heon, Ricky Tracinski and Kevin Champ, contributed to their team's win with home runs.

In Pony League action, Andover's team recorded its first win of the season with a 3-2 victory over Bolton with Tim Fisher getting credit for the win.

Dog Licenses
Mrs. Ruth Munson, town clerk, reminds residents that all dogs six months or older must be licensed by June 30.

The fee is $7.70 for a female or $5.50 for a male or spayed female, and after the first of July there will be a pro-rated fine.

State Scientist Proposes Culture Via Satellite

STAMFORD (AP)—The use of a communication satellite to carry important cultural and civic events to theaters in many U.S. cities and towns is being considered by federal officials, according to a leading scientist.

The project could be started as part of the U.S. bicentennial celebration in 1976 and later expanded into a commercial program, said Peter C. Goldmark, developer of the long-playing record and color-television broadcasting.

"It would be more than just a celebration skyrocket or sideshow that will be forgotten in 10 years," he said in an interview.

Goldmark, one of the chief formulators of the plan, presented it to White House officials in February at the invitation of Sen. Charles McC Mathias, R-Md.

The transmissions would begin at the site of a specific event and be beamed to a domestic satellite scheduled for launching next year, Goldmark said. The satellite would direct the signals to receivers at or near theaters in at least 40 contiguous states for screen presentation.

The first, year's satellite broadcasts could focus on bicentennial celebrations but also could include performances by leading artists and top-rate shows which now are usually limited to an audience which can attend in person, he said.

An admission price of $5 was considered during the discussions, he added.

Federal officials have asked for more information about the plan but have not taken any action on it.

The plan dovetails into a larger project Goldmark is conducting with federal funds. It involves the use of communication equipment to link rural areas with cities, thereby stimulating development of the smaller towns while easing urban crowding and its accompanying problems.

Goldmark says the cultural attraction of the city is one reason that about 30 million persons have moved from rural areas to cities since 1940.

The nationwide network of theaters presenting top entertainment should be less than that attraction, he said.

"It's not in flesh and blood but it's better than nothing," he said.

This is a test pattern to determine The Herald's printing quality.

MPOA Opposes Town Joining in Merger Of CRCOG and CRPA

SOL R. COHEN
(Herald Reporter)
The Manchester Property Owners Association is opposing a proposed ordinance for Manchester membership in a Capitol Region Council of Governments merged with the Capitol Region Planning Agency.

Board of Directors. She like other opponents of the ordinance and merger, claimed that Hartford Process would be a "motivating force" in the new council.

Mayor John Thompson denied the charge. "The merger in no way includes Hartford Process," he said. "In no way is it a party to it."

Also warning Tuesday night that Hartford Process would serve an important role in the merged agency was Mrs. Virginia Butterfield of Bolton, who is a Manchester taxpayer as well as Frank Lupien.

Lupien called for a townwide referendum, "to give the people a chance to vote on joining or not joining."

Herman Schendel, an MPOA official, charged, "The proposal is a direct violation of government by the people. It would take away all their rights to govern themselves."

He, too, called for a referendum. "The ordinance should have no further consideration unless the people vote on it," he insisted.

The proposed merger, in the talking stage for four years and authorized by enabling legislation passed by the 1971 General Assembly, must be approved by 80 per cent (18 of the 20 towns in the Capitol Region before it becomes effective.

Record Industry Shaken By Reports of Payola

By TERRY RYAN
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The record industry is shuddering as reports surface of payola, drugs, an organized crime connection and misuse of funds.

A federal grand jury and offices of district attorneys in Manhattan and Los Angeles are looking into the music business. One recording industry figure has fallen, and people in the field see troubled days ahead.

"The reports say all record companies are being quietly investigated. It is going to happen," said Herb Heliand, head of public relations for RCA Records. "At this point, I think every company should take a very low profile."

The payola scandals of the late 1950s rocked the music world with public revelation that record company promotion men used money, liquor, and free vacations to convince disk jockeys to play their records.

Such exposure can increase sales. The record companies and broadcasters insist such practices have ceased. But some reports indicate they persist with a new twist: cocaine and marijuana are sometimes the inducement now.

How widespread such activities are cannot be stated. But payola on a grander scale was reported this week by sources close to a federal grand jury meeting in Newark, N.J.

Those sources said David Wynshaw until two months ago director of artist relations for Columbia Records, told members of a federal Organized Crime Strike Force that the company budgeted $250,000 a year for payoffs to promote Columbia's stable of black pop and rock singers.

Wynshaw said part of the money went to bribe the publishers of weekly tip sheets that supposedly kept radio stations informed of the latest "hot" records and part of it went to black disk jockeys, the sources said.

Top Court Gets State Line Dispute

CONCORD, N.H. (AP)—New Hampshire's marine boundary dispute with Maine now has reached the U.S. Supreme Court.

State Atty Gen. Warren Rudman filed suit against Maine in the high court Wednesday.

Maine Atty Gen. Jon A. Land said he would have no comment until he had a chance to study the papers.

New Hampshire took the issue directly to the high court, implementing a constitutional provision that gives the justices original jurisdiction in disputes between the states.

If the Supreme Court agrees to decide the issue, a special master will be appointed to receive evidence and make recommendations.

Rudman said New Hampshire claims 2,400 acres of disputed lobstering waters and bases the claim on a boundary line established in 1740.

The suit also asked the court to order Maine wardens to refrain from interfering with New Hampshire lobstermen in the area in dispute.

The New Hampshire attorney general said he filed the suit at the request of Gov. Meldrim Thomson Jr. Thomson is attending the National Governors Conference at Stateline, Nev.

Horse Show Set On Father's Day

The Hedding Rock Riding Club will have its fifth annual open horse show on Father's Day, June 17, at the Tolland Agricultural Center grounds (TAC) on Rt. 30 in Vernon at 9 a.m.

There will be five championships: English, Western, Hunter, Gymkhana and Pony division; also a pleasure stake class and a driving class.

The Western judge will be Ernest Keene from Rhode Island and the English judge will be Edward Strain of Deep River. For further information, call 646-1887 or 648-3222.

Maine's "precipitous and overzealous enforcement attempts convinced us that they had no intention of negotiating the boundary difference in good faith," he said.

"They were primarily interested in using the boundary question as leverage in forcing our officials and lobstermen to comply with their length requirement for lobsters."

Rudman said New Hampshire's claim to jurisdiction of the area is based on a 1640 order of King Charles I of England. He said the suit asserts that there is no known legal basis for the more southerly line claimed by Maine despite the fact that the southerly line does appear on certain geological maps.

State Workers To Get Bonuses

HARTFORD (AP)—Connecticut state employees will receive their recently approved $300 bonuses June 28, State Comptroller Nathan G. Agostinelli announced Wednesday.

Full-time employees in the executive, judicial and legislative branches will receive the entire $300 while part-time workers will receive $150.

Summer and seasonal workers, elected officials, commissioners and deputies who received salary increases this year and anyone who receives merely per diem expenses are ineligible for bonuses.

Gov. Thomas J. Meskill announced last week that the bonuses would be paid out of the state's anticipated surplus for the fiscal year ending June 30. The total cost of the bonuses will be approximately $11 million.

Evans Pleases Self, Loses in Decathlon

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Defending champion Ron Evans finished a distant third in the NCAA Decathlon competition Wednesday night, but still came out a winner, both with himself and with the crowd. Hidden Ball Trick Gives Kline Boost ARLINGTON, TEX. (AP)—Shortstop Gene Michael stepped away from the bag and Michael turned for the third out. (The second base) umpire (Bill Deegan) knew I had the ball," Michael said. "I've tried a couple of times this year and it hasn't worked. In fact, it was the first time it has worked in three years. It couldn't have come at a better time—the third out in the inning, getting Steve out of a jam." ...

Elsewhere, the California Angels downed the Detroit Tigers 7-4, the Boston Red Sox edged the Kansas City Royals 5-4 on Bob Montgomery's second home run of the game in the 10th inning and the Oakland A's battered the Milwaukee Brewers 11-1. ...

NL Roundup

NEW YORK (AP) That's quite a leadoff hitter the San Francisco Giants have—14 home runs, 60 runs scored and a .280 batting average. You'd think that Bobby Bonds would bat third or fifth in the order with that kind of power. So does Bobby Bonds. "I don't want to lead off, but I will if that's what everyone wants," said Bonds after pacing the Giants to a 9-4 decision over the Pittsburgh Pirates Wednesday night. ...

Bolton

Businessmen Sponsor Miner Reward Fund

DONNA HOLLAND
Correspondent
Tel. 646-0375

Bolton businessmen are sponsoring an additional reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of persons responsible for the April 7 murder of Harry T. "Pete" Miner.

Donations may be made at any branch of the Savings Bank of Manchester by giving the account number of the fund, $-2461. You must have the account number to make a donation.

Treasurers of the Bolton branch are Walter M. Cooley and Shirley C. Potter.

As a cut-off date will be set, any person interested in making a donation is urged to act now.

An alternative means of dispersing the funds, possibly in the form of a memorandum to Mr. Miner, will be determined if the fund is not used as a reward.

Miner was the owner and operator of the Rt. 6 and 44A Package Store, Bolton, who was shot by an unknown assailant on April 7.

Krause Letter

At a Board of Selectmen meeting this week copies of correspondence between Bolton resident Ward Krause and the Bureau of Highways of the State Department of Transportation were received and read.

On April 23 Krause wrote the transportation department requesting he be reimbursed $77.82, the cost of a tire that had been damaged by pot-holes on the road leading to his house.

The road in question leads from Rts. 6 and 44A and 144 to Bolton Notch Pond, Krause's home and homes of his neighbors.

On May 24 the State replied that "although a section of the driveway is within the highway right-of-way, maintenance of this state-owned road is the responsibility of the property owners which it serves."

Therefore it refused payment of Krause's claim.

On May 28 Krause sent a letter to the transportation department explaining that the road is the only access the public has to Bolton Notch State Park.

Also in his second letter he said that the road is used by the Bolton Volunteer Fire Department to practice and fill their tanks, and by fishermen from all over who he says illegally use the Notch Pond.

In the May 28 letter Krause said, "This is to advise you that on Saturday June 16, at 10 a.m. I will, with the consent of the property owners involved, install a chain and lock across this state-owned road, with keys to be given to the property owners involved."

Krause has sent copies of all three letters to Gov. Thomas Meskill, State Comptroller Nathan Agostinelli, Atty. Herbert Phelon Jr., Pigot Selectman Richard Morra, and the press.

Krause said the letters are an invitation to be present at the closing of the road.

Bolton selectmen said they will take no action on this matter at this time.

Refreshments will be available, including hot dogs, hamburgers, soft-drinks and desserts.
