Officials Will Explain Shanti School Program

The Shanti School, an alternative non-graded high school housed at the Hartford railroad station, will be the subject of a Wednesday night meeting open to all interested students and parents. The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Manchester High School cafeteria.

Shanti School officials will explain the programs at the so-called "school without walls" and answer questions, and will make available applications to the school. The Manchester Board of Education has approved an allocation of funds for tuition for two students at the Shanti School next year.

Acceptance of the two Manchester students will be determined by a lottery conducted by Shanti officials, according to the Manchester High School guidance department. Previous academic level of performance is not a criterion for admission to the Shanti School.

The school, which in the current school year had 72 students enrolled, focuses on community-centered education and provides an opportunity for flexibility and individualization to their interests and goals.

Although the school is housed in the Hartford railroad station, many student activities and studies take place in other areas of the city.

"Shanti" is a Hindu word meaning "peace that surpasses all understanding."

Times Purchase Debate Continues

NEW HAVEN (AP) — The publisher of two New Haven newspapers testified Friday he fully explored the background of the Hartford Times and decided that its purchase could be profitable.

Lionel S. Jackson, president of the Register Publishing Co. and publisher of its two newspapers, was questioned during the fourth day of a hearing on a Superior Court motion designed to block the purchase.

The motion was filed by Richard S. Jackson, Lionel's brother, and other family members who claim the transaction would devalue their holding in the Register company.

Record Heat Wave Plagues Nutmeggers

Road-buckling, oppressive heat is expected to continue plaguing Connecticut through tonight and into Wednesday, say experts at the National Weather Service at Bradley International Airport in Windsor Locks.

There's a chance of thunderstorms for some sections of the state today and tonight, but the weathermen say they won't bring much relief from the heat.

Highway maintenance crews have temporarily repaired at least four highways in the state where pavement expanded and buckled because of intense heat. The same ninety-degree temperatures that caused those problems Monday are forecast for this afternoon.

So far, Connecticut utilities said they haven't been forced to reduce electrical voltage. And a spokesman for Connecticut Light and Power said regional power companies thought they could get through the heat wave without problems.

State police at the Bethany barracks said a steel drainage grate in the southbound lane of the West Rock tunnel on the Wilbur Cross Parkway expanded so much because of the heat that it caused the surrounding pavement to rise and buckle. Authorities said the southbound lane of the tunnel was closed for three hours Monday at the peak of the New Haven rush hour.

Troopers said the buckling caused "a monumental traffic jam" that stretched for 12 miles from the tunnel to North Haven. Several minor rear-end collisions were reported and tempers and radiators boiled over, officers said.

The problem of rising and cracking pavement also plagued travelers on route 9 in Middletown, Interstate 86 in Union, Conn. and Route 80 near the North Branford-East Haven town line, transportation department officials said.

The increased load of air conditioners and fans during the heat wave wasn't expected to cause power shortages, a utility spokesman reported.

Hearing Delay Denied; Dean Granted Immunity

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate's televised Watergate hearings resumed today as a federal judge cleared the way for the appearance of two key witnesses, John W. Dean III and Jeb Stuart Magruder.

Today's star witness was scheduled to be former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans. He was scheduled to testify before the committee finished its second round of questions for Herbert L. Porter, the Nixon campaign scheduler who testified last week that he lied at the Watergate burglary trial.

In federal court, U.S. Dist. Judge John J. Sirica granted immunity to Dean and former House counsel Dean and former Nixon campaign scheduler Magruder. The Senate had asked that the two be granted protection from being prosecuted under the law. The immunity won't necessarily prevent prosecutors from building a case against them on the basis of other evidence, however.

Sirica also ordered Dean to appear at the Watergate grand jury without immunity. His lawyer said Dean would decline to answer questions on grand jury to prevent live radio and television coverage of testimony by Dean, Magruder and others facing indictments in the case.

Sirica ruled that he had no power to issue such an order.

As outlined at a Senate Watergate committee executive session this morning, the schedule called for questioning a March 13 referendum on a $1,391,000 appropriation, prior to appropriating the sum — passage by the voters, permit approval for the sale of land in the United States, and approval of the State Department of Environmental Protection, and the Capitol Region Planning Agency appoint a new member to the new Building Committee and a new member to the Human Relations Commission, and consider rules for the appointment of a Blue Ribbon committee to study different forms of government.

Dean has actively been seeking immunity from prosecution and the letter, sent by U. S. Atty. Harold Titus, rejected that request.

Instead it offered to permit Dean to plead guilty to a single count of obstruction of justice, an offer that has since been rescinded by special prosecutor Cox.

Dean's lawyer, Charles Shaffer, said Dean has been cooperating with the investigating committee and the belief they would grant him full immunity. He said his client would invoke the 5th Amendment against self-incrimination if called to testify without such immunity.

Dean reportedly is prepared to offer evidence against former White House aides H.R. Haldeman, John D. Worchel, Magruder and former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell.

Town Directors To Meet Tonight

Although the Manchester Board of Directors is being asked by Town Manager Robert Weiss to give its formal approval tonight to the purchase of the 110-acre Laurel Lake, it appears it will table the action until its July meeting.

The reason for the delay is because the Manchester Planning and Zoning Commission will act June 25 on a town request for a change to Industrial Zone for the property. When the directors authorized a March 13 referendum on a $1,391,000 appropriation, prior to appropriating the sum — passage by the voters, permit approval for the sale of land in the United States, and approval of the State Department of Environmental Protection, and the Capitol Region Planning Agency appoint a new member to the new Building Committee and a new member to the Human Relations Commission, and consider rules for the appointment of a Blue Ribbon committee to study different forms of government.

From Robert and Wells Denison, and $941,500 for improvements to the existing and enlarged sanitary landfill area.

In other action tonight, the board is expected to approve a new salary plan for additions and renovations to Hilling and Bennett Junior High Schools, adopt a compromise set of rules for town cemeteries, approve the merger of the Capitol Region Council of Governments and the Capitol Region Planning Agency, and a new member to the zone change approval is expected.

The $1,391,000 appropriation is in two parts — $495,500 purchasing the 110-acre parcel from Robert and Wells Denison, and $941,500 for improvements to the existing and enlarged sanitary landfill area.

In other action tonight, the board is expected to approve a new salary plan for additions and renovations to Hilling and Bennett Junior High Schools, adopt a compromise set of rules for town cemeteries, approve the merger of the Capitol Region Council of Governments and the Capitol Region Planning Agency, and a new member to the zone change approval is expected.

Local Utility Reports Adequate Power Supply

A construction worker beats the heat in Manchester today by shedding all clothing that he has with him. The worker is employed at the Squire Village complex being built on Spencer St. (Herald photo by Olfara).

Normen noted that the company has received a number of scattered complaints today about service disruptions due to transformer overloads. He said that increases in the use air conditioners weren't provided for in the transformer installation, and when an overload occurs, the power company will increase capacity of the affected transformers.

Normen said he wasn't sure that the heat wave caused this morning's outage, but he said the heat may have been a contributing factor to the problems.

Despite the overloads and two outages, Normen said the Manchester area is in "very good shape" as far as power supply is concerned.

School Lunch Deficit Explained To Board

DOUG BEVINS (Herald Reporter)

Unspent funds in the current (1972-1973) budget, held back from maintenance programs, could be transferred to the cafeteria budget, Kennedy said Monday night. He said the school system has been notified it will receive $9,000 in federal funds — in lieu of undelivered commodities — which could also be applied to reducing the deficit.

Dr. James P. Kennedy, superintendent of schools, told the board that unspent funds in the current school operating budget could be added to federal money to wipe out the deficit. Kennedy said the school board was asked to approve a transfer of funds soon.

In other business Monday night, the Board of Education accepted the resignations of Mrs. Deborah Cole (now on leave of absence), William Heller (an English-Social Studies teacher at Bennett Junior High School), and Mrs. Mary Ann Gann (a sixth grade teacher at Bowers School).

Approved leave of absence request by Mrs. Rosemarie Syme (a home economics teacher at Hilling Junior High School) and Mrs. Margaret Jones (an English and reading teacher at Bennett). Both leaves are for the 1973-1974 school year.

Authorized an application, to the State Department of Education, for funds for conversion of basement space at Bowers School to a media center. The project, estimated to cost a total of $6,500, is being done by school personnel.

Approved a $330 without account — with funds coming from the State Department of Education's division of vocational rehabilitation — for a program to work with retarded girls who have emotional problems.

Reaffirmed a two-year contract, starting July 1, with the Manchester Association of Educational Secretaries. The new 1973-1975 contract, which provides for a six per cent salary increase but no changes in fringe benefits, contained a few minor policy changes, according to Wilson E. Deakin Jr., assistant superintendent of schools.

Set summer meeting dates of July 23 and Aug. 27. Meetings originally scheduled for July 9 and Aug. 13 were canceled.

Looking on is Dr. Nicholas Marzallo, Manchester director of health. Dr. Olmsted received a purse of money, a plaque and several fun gifts, in addition to a resolution by the town Board of Health. He will retire June 30 after almost 31 years as sanitarian. He was named to the post Aug. 7, 1942. Dr. Olmsted is a veterinarian, with facilities on Woodbridge St. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Education Board Given Recognition

The Manchester Board of Education has been selected to receive a special award from the alumni association of Hartford's Oak Hill School for the Blind.

The award, a plaque, is given annually to an employer which the alumni association deems deserving, according to Ralph Adams of the association.

Adams, in a letter to Dr. James P. Kennedy, superintendent of schools, said the Manchester Board of Education was selected because of its attitude in keeping a teacher who lost his right sight after being employed.

The teacher, Mrs. Kathy Borel, went totally blind last fall. She adjusted to her blindness and is still teaching sixth grade at Bowers School.

The special award will be presented at the annual banquet of the alumni association's annual banquet June 23.

Children At Play

It hardly seems that it was about nine months ago when The Herald was publishing warnings to motorists to be on the alert for children going to and from school.

Now with the end of school near, the admonition has to be revised. With vacation time on their hands, the youngsters won't be concentrated on the streets during the times just before and after school, but will be on almost any street at any time during daylight hours.

There will be those on bikes ranging in skill from novices to near-pros. There will be many wandering from their homes to nearby playground. There will be many others taking to the streets for baseball, tag football, and other sports.

But most important of all will be those younger brothers, sisters, who like to follow older sisters and brothers. Many parents will put the older children in charge of the younger ones and up to a point this is a way to teach responsibility. But, we as motorists should be constantly wary since there can be lapses on the part of children no matter how well supervised or trained.

Let us all hope and pray this summer season will not be marred by any tragedy involving children playing. Let's all drive extra carefully everywhere and particularly in residential neighborhoods.

Truth Will Out The Press and Watergate

(Beloit, Wis., Daily News)

These are not the best of days for the United States of America.

The country is beset with a hundred different troubles, including such highly visible and debilitating matters as the Watergate scandal, inflation and the shaky half-peace in Southeast Asia.

Figuring prominently in the unhappy picture are the news media — newspapers, television and radio. The American public is literally bombarded with headlines and newscasts that raise questions concerning officialdom's conduct and fuel an atmosphere of recrimination.

It is not an uncommon conviction that the nation's press had generated this near-hysteria unnecessarily; that disclosures which threaten to bring dishonor to those in high office are somehow a disservice.

Such thinking is deficient on several counts, not the least of which is a perspective. It ignores the fundamental fact that the American system of laws and government simply could not function without an informed public, or with office holders who regard themselves above being accountable to those who elected them.

The diligence, courage and completeness that has characterized press performance in the unfortunate Washington episode is in fact shining example of the real quality of the American system.

It cannot be denied that there is a headiness apparent in the manner of the more liberal practitioners of the journalistic art. It is quite obvious, for example, that some writers and commentators are taking vicarious delight in kicking the President of the United States when he is down.

Richard Nixon has earned the enmity of many in the news media. His otherwise brilliant performance in the presidency is badly tarnished by his gratuitous and frequently hostile treatment of the press. He and his administration are paying dearly for their refusal to communicate, for their arrogance and for their now-apparent efforts to deceive and mislead.

This is no attempt to equivocate or justify the press handling of Watergate, et al, in those instances where gossip has been presented to the public as gospel; where there has been no visible effort made to give perspective to situations which, viewed out of context, point a damning finger at the White House.

Rather, this is to suggest that, on balance, the performance of the press in recent months has been in the best tradition — and in the best interests — of the country.

We share the concern of many, that serious and unnecessary harm can be done by overzealous pursuit of culprits, as may be occurring in the current scandal. But we reject the notion that irreparable harm has been, or will be, done.

There has been set in motion a discovery process which has every prospect of exposing the whole truth. It is a process that has the President's endorsement. But it is a process that does not command the full confidence of many in Congress, in the news media, and in the public at large.

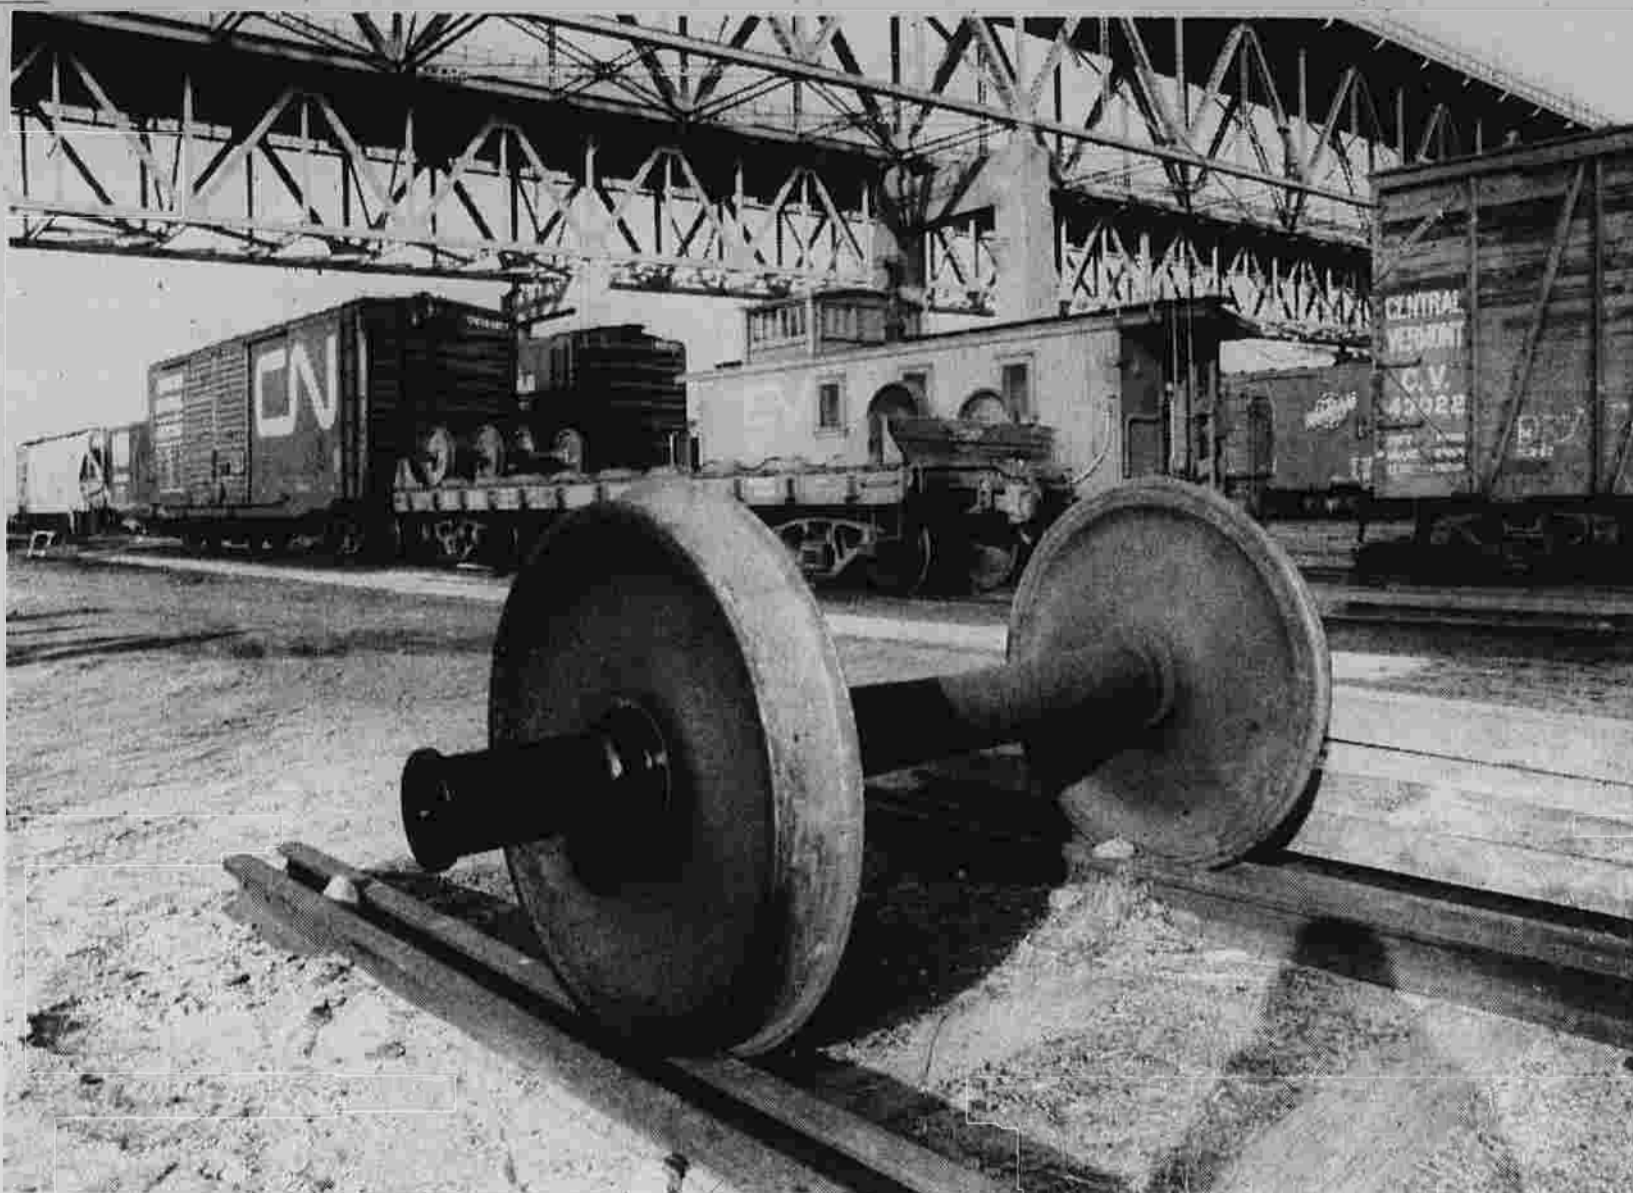

There is now, for example, the suggestion that by refusing to be summoned before a congressional panel or grand jury, President Nixon is seeking to avoid personal implication in the Watergate coverup attempt. These doubters conveniently forget that the system of checks and balances was established for the precise purpose of avoiding situations where any branch — executive, legislative, or judicial — could bend another branch to its will.

The truth will out. Whatever the eventual outcome of the Watergate mess, not everyone will be pleased. Grievous damage has indeed been done, and things could get much worse before they get better. But all is not lost and all will not be lost so long as the nation's free press works as hard at being fair, as it has at being free.

Today In History

Today is Tuesday, June 12, the 153rd day of 1973. There are 202 days left in the year.
Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1865, New York City was incorporated under English law.

In 1940, Japanese planes bombed Chungking, China.
In 1943, the Trans-Canadian highway was opened to traffic.
In 1944, the Germans launched flying-bomb attacks against Britain.

A Suggestion

To the editor:
I attended the meeting of the town directors which drew a large crowd of people to the public hearings on the proposed abandonment of Parker Street in the vicinity of the Lydall Inc. mills.

It reminded me of a state DOT hearing I sat in on in September, 1971, on the $40 million job of widening the Wilbur Cross Highway for 1.6 miles in the Buckland area and a connection with I-291. The first DOT speaker informed the crowd right off the bat that "we have examined all the alternatives to this plan we are presenting, and they are not acceptable." In short, the DOT had its mind all made up and the public hearing was held merely to conform to the law which requires it.

June 5, after listening more than an hour to a lot of hot and humid oratory, the directors promptly decided not to consider any alternative highway plans but voted to abandon the part of Parker Street between Colonial Road and Mitchell Drive. The manner in which this was done seems to indicate that this public hearing, too, was unnecessary because a majority of the directors had their minds made up before the hearing began. I suspect, also, that it shows that Lydall Inc. has a lot of clout, as they say in Chicago.

Several other things attracted my attention at the meeting. On the meeting agenda, action was proposed on many allocations of revenue sharing received from Washington.

I think the term revenue sharing is a misnomer. The federal government operated for years on a series of whopping deficits which are one of the causes of our galloping inflation. The annual deficits are the result of appropriations and expenditures which exceed income. What the President and Congress are really doing is doing out to states, counties and towns, money that isn't there in fact, and has to be borrowed by one method or another, thus increasing the national deficit and debt.

Deficit sharing is more accurate term to apply. At the municipal building, I was astonished at the way hallways, corners, nooks and crannies are being taken up by expanding office space. It has reached the point where it is beginning to look rather ridiculous. There has been talk for years of making an addition to the municipal building and I recall that perhaps there is a committee which is supposed to be working on it. If so, may we call for a report and plans for some rapid action on acquiring more municipal office space by one method or another? If any of the wealthiest towns in the state has such an overcrowded headquarters, it doesn't make for good advertising.

It was hot and muggy in the hearing room June 5, all of 80 degrees. Most people in the

Max Lerner Comments The Europe Connection

NEW YORK, N. Y. — A decade ago, in Paris, I lived where I could keep a close watch on Charles de Gaulle nearby in his Elysee Palace, ringed around by a wall of spikes and guns. I was one of a number of Americans at that time who saw themselves as De Gaulle-watchers and Europe-watchers.

It was the time of blossoming hope in the White House, when a young President had proclaimed an era of Western interdependence, when eager intellectuals talked of a Grand Design for a united Europe linked with America. But De Gaulle was, for Americans, the wicked monster immured in his cave, who had devoured Harold MacMillan and the British and was waiting for the fat meal of affluent America.

I was writing a book on De Gaulle and Europe. I attended De Gaulle's press conferences religiously, made my rounds of all the experts, talked with Jean Monnet, from whose teeming brain the idea of a Common Market and an integrated Europe had sprung. I recall especially a luncheon meeting of the Correspondents' Club where De Gaulle's chief nuclear expert, Gen. Andre Beaufre, held forth on the French deterrent and the sins of American policy just as much.

The years have peeled away. I recall especially a luncheon meeting of the Correspondents' Club where De Gaulle's chief nuclear expert, Gen. Andre Beaufre, held forth on the French deterrent and the sins of American policy just as much.

Board May Allocate Rev-Sharing Funds

When the Manchester Board of Directors adopted an $18,184,076 General Fund budget for the fiscal year starting July 1, it estimated that about 60 per cent of it would be financed from property taxes, 21 per cent from state and federal aid (including state education related grants), 2 per cent from surplus still available from the 1971-72 fiscal year, 4 per cent from miscellaneous sources, and 4 per cent from revenue-sharing funds.

The 4 per cent from revenue-sharing funds comes to $722,000 and the board, at its meeting tonight, is expected to allocate it as follows:

- Sanitation Division, $346,000;
- Street Lighting, $188,456;
- Police Department, $117,569;
- Public Health Nursing, $60,000;
- Child Guidance Clinic, $36,400;
- Manchester Drug Advisory Council, $10,000;
- East Catholic High School Nursing Care, $7,075;
- Sheltered Workshop, $7,000.

The $722,000 would come from funds anticipated in the 1973-74 fiscal year - about $223,000 in July, $222,000 in October, $222,000 next January, and $222,000 next April.

To date, Manchester has received $690,053 in revenue sharing funds and has allocated $451,000 of it - $250,000 for sidewalks and $201,000 for reconstruction of Hilliard St.

A balance of $290,053 exists in the revenue sharing account and the directors may take action Tuesday night on allocating all but $2,053 of it ($287,900), as follows:

- Develop Manchester Recreation Center in accordance with the approved development plan, $20,000.
- Original estimates for the development came to about $300,000. Assistant Town Director John Harms now estimates the cost at about $100,000.
- Refresh and develop Center Springs Park, under a plan still to be finalized, $50,000.
- Install fence at Globe Hollow Swimming Pool, $4,500.
- Install burglar alarm systems in three schools, $5,000.
- Install fuel dispensing system at town garages, $15,000. The estimated cost may be lowered to $8,000.
- Repair Globe Hollow Dam Spillway, $6,000. This item may be tabled.
- Resurface football and soccer fields at Manchester High School, $25,000.

Today's Thought

Read Mark 8: 34, 35

As the saying appears in the Gospel it is said to Mark, Jesus is engaged in recruiting an army. There is no question that he desires a cadre of men and women who will join him in attacking the world's evils. Jesus is intent on overcoming powers that prevent him from entering into their full humanity. He proposes to do this by enlisting commitment, and he does not propose to do the job alone.

"We can see his little army taking shape as Jesus looks over his acquaintances, calls Andrew, Simon, James and John and instructs them. The Sermon on the Mount is given to these four disciples. Later this nucleus is enlarged to 12, and then to 70. Jesus sends them on a mission. Their purpose is to attack evil forces in the world wherever they find them, and their posture is that of offense, not defense.

Here is the picture of the church, this company of committed ones using the cross as a battering ram to break through the gates of evil so that the Kingdom might be proclaimed. Viewed in this light, the invitation to carry a cross is not so strange as many would have us suppose. Jesus was realistic about what lay ahead for those who would go with him. He did not pull any punches.

He was honest and clear in what he had to offer - not high salaries but deep scars, not cushions but crosses. "If any man would come after me, let him take up his cross and follow me."

Dr. George W. Webb, South United Methodist Church

of Consumer Concern

Connecticut Department of Consumer Protection
Barbara B. Dunn, Commissioner
Terry Higgins, Director of Consumer Education

If you're concerned about exactly what you're eating when you eat a "meat patty," take heart, so is the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The USDA is also interested in various vegetable and soybean derivatives that can be textured, colored and flavored to closely resemble meat, complete with pleasing taste and appearance.

The Department of Agriculture has proposed new, stricter standards for the composition and labeling of meat patty-type products. The new proposal includes - for the first time in meat and poultry product standards - requirements governing the protein content of a food product, and percentage labeling of ingredients.

This proposal would set standards for two types of patty products - those to be labeled as a "meat patty" and those to be labeled as "chili con carne" containing more than 3 per cent large-particle TVP would have to be labeled "chili con carne with textured vegetable product." Smaller TVP particles could be used in any amount without changing the product name. Specific TVP ingredients would have to be listed in the product's ingredient statement in either case.

Any coloring added to be indicated in the name of products which exceed the standard.

The Department of Agriculture stresses that the products made with TVP under the proposed standards will meet the current minimum meat content standards. Chili con carne made with TVP, for example, would still have to contain at least 40 per cent meat, cereal, starches, soyproducts and seasonings.

Most importantly, all "patty" products would have to list the percentage of all ingredients. Also, these "patty with meat" products would have to contain 50 per cent as much protein as "meat patties."

The minimum protein quantity and quality provisions for "patty with meat" products would prevent nutritional deficiencies from being sold to you in restaurants or institutions, for example, where you usually don't have access to labels or ingredients information.

Rhode Island Abortion Law Stay Denied

WASHINGTON (AP) - Supreme Court Justice William J. Brennan Jr. Monday refused to give force to a newly enacted Rhode Island anti-abortion law unconstitutional.

A U.S. District Court judge in Providence, R.I., declared the law unconstitutional.

State Atty. Gen. Richard J. Israel asked Brennan to block the effect of that judgment until the state can appeal to the U.S. Circuit Court in Boston.

Had Brennan issued the stay, it would have meant the reinstatement of the abortion law. The case is now pending before the Circuit Court.

Brennan's action came without comment.

Earlier this year, the high court ruled that the states may not materially interfere in a decision reached by a woman and her physician to have an abortion during the first six months of pregnancy.

My Secret Life

I don't harbor many deep dark secrets from my husband. For the most part we have an honest relationship. However, there are a few things that I think it is wise to keep to myself, like the overdue library books I get from the library.

Overdue library books are something my husband simply couldn't understand. He feels that when you take out a library book, you should come home and immediately record on your calendar the number of books you've taken out and the exact date they must be returned.

But I find it very difficult to handle my library books in this efficient manner. On a good day at the library the children and I can take out as many as 20 books. Some are 4-week renewables, some are 1-week non-renewables. Some are from the adult section, some from the children's section.

I do try and so do the kids, but every month we end up with at least one overdue library book. Sometimes, I blush to admit, it is a very overdue book. And because it is embarrassing to return these books, occasionally I put it off till it becomes so overdue it has collected three or even four notices!

Now in all the years I've been returning overdue library books, a librarian has never said anything reproachful to me, certainly not "Tak, Tak" or "Shame on you!" But, my knees never fail to quake a little as I approach the librarian's desk and I am eternally grateful when the woman says to me in her business-like voice, "That will be two dollars and forty nine cents please."

I figured that my overdue fines were being used to buy new books and to build new library wings. So I soothed my conscience with the thought that in my own small way I was contributing to the literary world. Just recently I was agghast to discover that library fines go into the town fund and could be used to patch roads or build sewers.

The other day my husband found some overdue library notices under my desk blotter. "Aha," he questioned. "What have we here?"

LWV Members Attend Convention

Nine members of the Manchester League of Women Voters are attending the 5th Convention of the LWV of Connecticut to be held today and Wednesday at Quinnipiac College in Hamden.

Over 400 delegates and nine delegates and alternates include Mrs. Rockwell Potter, Mrs. Thomas Donovan, Mrs. Frederick Burr, Mrs. Walter Schardt, Mrs. George Lawrence, Mrs. Laurence Handley, Mrs. John Fitzgerald, Mrs. Robert Heins, and Mrs. Harold Clendaniel.

Tonight there will be a punch party and banquet. Msgr. Sarconi, president of the National Center for Urban Ethnic Affairs, will speak on "Communicating Group Concerns for Common Goals". The public is invited to attend to hear the speaker.

An information session on the Shanti School, an alternative high school at Hartford, will be conducted Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Manchester High School cafeteria. Shanti School officials will explain the program and accept applications. Interested parents and students are invited to attend.

All singles in their twenties are invited to a trip to New York City sponsored by the "Twenties Club" Saturday. The bus will depart from Manchester Municipal Building at 7:30 a.m. and will return at approximately 11 p.m. For additional information, call 642-8688.

Actually, my husband was very big about the whole thing. He seemed much more upset by my need for secrecy than by the overdue notices. My husband made just one suggestion, which was to keep a record of my library books on my calendar, then he closed the issue by patting me fondly. "No more need for secrets!" he said.

"No more need for secrets!" I agreed. And I mean it, at least about most things. I still think it's probably wise not to show my husband the telephone bill on a month when I've called my sister in Texas long distance.

25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Priddy of Norton, Mass., formerly of Vernon, were guests of honor at a 25th wedding anniversary celebration recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Bittner in Vernon.

About 150 friends and relatives from New York, Massachusetts and Connecticut attended the surprise party. Among the guests were three members of the wedding party, Howard McKee of Chester, best man; Mrs. George Holbrook of Cornwall, N.Y., matron of honor and Mrs. Priddy's sister; Mrs. Bittner, sister of Mr. Priddy; Mrs. Mick DePasquale of Wethersfield, and Mrs. Arthur Plucker of Saybrook.

Mr. and Mrs. Priddy were married May 29, 1948 at the Methodist Church in Wethersfield and have three children, Glenn Robert, Karen Beth, and Sally Robin, all at home. The Priddys are members of the Norton, Mass., Congregational Church. Mr. Priddy is general manager of Harco Farms in South Easton, Mass.

Guests included Mayor John Thompson, State Sen. David Osgard, Robert Montel and Dominic Romano, past state department commanders; Michael Scricca, state senior vice commander; and Eddie Edwards, past Grand Cote commander. The newly installed commander, a native of San Antonio, Tex., has lived in Manchester for the past five years. He served as a combat medic with the 25th Division during the Korean Conflict. # Matthews' Catch Life-Saver For 10-Game Winner Bryant

NEW YORK (AP)—To pitcher Ron Bryant, it was sensational. To left fielder Gary Matthews, it was business as usual. And to beleaguered Manager Yogi Berra, it was just one of those things. It was Matthews' brilliant, leaping catch that robbed Felix Milian of what seemed to be a sure two-run homer. And, as it turned out, it preserved the San Francisco Giants' 2-1 victory over the New York Mets Monday night.

Winning More Important Than Strikeouts—Gibson

NEW YORK (AP)—Strikeout records are okay, says Bob Gibson, but they don't beat winning games. "The No. 1 thing as far as I'm concerned is still victories this year," the St. Louis Cardinal ace said Monday night after blazing into second place on the all-time strikeout list during a 12-4 triumph over the Cincinnati Reds.

Finds Pitching No Different

To the surprise of no one, John McKeon moved right up from the high school (East Catholic) ranks into the Hartford Twilight League with Vernon and found enemy pitching to his liking. The husky, bespectacled southpaw hitting youngster is one of the most natural young hitters on the local scene in years. Look for Stan Hillinski to be upended in his quest to the Club Championship Fight at the Hartford Twilight League with Vernon and found enemy pitching to his liking.

First Win in Finals

Second best twice previously in the past three years, Moe Morhardt's Gilbert High baseball team walked home with all the marbles in the Class M Division by whipping St. Paul of Bristol, 6-3. The Saints beat Gilbert a year ago in the finals. The former Manchester High, UConn and Chicago Cub player has never encountered a losing season since taking over the coaching reins at Gilbert. Glad to welcome Ollie Minney back in town after a seven-year absence, Minney was long associated with the local Little League baseball program. Death last week took Manny Solomon, for many years active in the Little League baseball program. Few worked harder with the small fry than the likable Manny. What qualifies a man, or woman, for a position on any of the advisory town commissions? The answer is the political party in control which is absurd.

Secretariat Trainer Opposes Race

MONTREAL (AP)—If Montreal's Jean-Louis Levesque has his way, Secretariat will enter the world's richest thoroughbred race, the famed Arc de Triomphe at Longchamp in France. Levesque owns one of the 22 shares in the $6,000,000 syndication of Secretariat, whose trainer, Lucien Laurin, opposes entering the horse in the race. After Secretariat won the Belmont Saturday, Levesque cornered Mrs. Penny Tweedy in the Meadow Stables cottage and made his pitch for Paris.

Spencer to Hurl Tonight at Nebo

Veteran Lew Spencer, the workhorse of the Moriarty Brothers' pitching staff for several seasons, will get the starting nod tonight when the MB's host Herb's Sport Shop at Mt. Nebo. Game time for the Hartford Twilight League will be 6 p.m.

The aggressive right-hander, not as hard a thrower as John Serafini, continues to baffle the younger players with an assortment of off-speed pitches. The crafty hurler is still one of the toughest pitchers to hit.

The pitching of Serafini and newly-acquired Jay Tyler has lifted Moriarty's to the front of the league standings with a 9-0 record. Brad Steurer and Jim Balesano will be inserted in tonight's lineup. Steurer, who played for Keene State College in New Hampshire this spring, will be at first base. Balesano, active with the Trinity College nine, will handle the hot corner. Player-coach Gene Johnson will miss the contest.

Rich Riordan and Frank DiMauro continue to be the hot sticks. Moriarty's have tallied 16 runs while the opposition has scored only once. To date Moriarty's have two shutouts. Two young players, both products of Manchester High, Brad Steurer and Jim Balesano will be inserted in tonight's lineup.
