Battered Farm Bill Before The Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — A battered farm bill, the Alaska pipeline, a minimum wage increase and historic legislation to curb presidential war powers are up for action in Congress this week.

First up was another try in the House to put out a farm bill called off the floor last week because it appeared headed for President Nixon's veto.

Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz huddled with House leaders Friday to try to work out a compromise.

The administration's main objection to the bill was a cost-of-production target price escalator that it said would add more than $12 billion to the cost of the farm program.

The Senate scheduled a vote Tuesday on authorizing construction of the controversial 789-mile Alaska pipeline—after rejecting environmentalists' efforts last week to block or delay the project.

The pipeline would carry oil from the new Prudhoe Bay fields on Alaska's North Slope south to the port of Valdez.

One amendment offered to the pipeline measure was designed to break up the major oil companies.

Sponsored by Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, it would forbid a company from engaging in more than one key operation—producing, refining, transporting and marketing petroleum products.

The Senate rejected 61 to 29 Friday an effort to delay construction of the pipeline for a study on routing it instead through Canada.

Canadians Tell Of Treatment By VC Captors

SAIGON (AP) — Two Canadian officers released by the Viet Cong after 17 days in captivity said today that they were marched through a jungle bound hand and neck.

They said that at times they were interrogated without sleep in efforts to force from them a confession of spying.

Capt. Ian Patten of Toronto and Capt. Fletcher Thomson of Ottawa told a news conference they successfully resisted. The two members of the International Commission of Control and Supervision were released Sunday in the Xuan Loc area 45 miles east of Saigon, where they fell into Viet Cong hands June 28.

"On the whole we were treated humanely, with respect," said Patten. "But there were certain personalities...that did at times make life uncomfortable."

"We were bound on a number of occasions, particularly on the march. And on the occasions we did without a great deal of sleep in other words we had no sleep. After an eight-hour march on one occasion we spent over five hours going through what I will call a conversation."

"I was rifle-butted on a couple of occasions. I was pushed around a little bit. That's basically the thing. Mentally, I was hurt more with the treatment that was given to the Vietnamese people that were with us. I don't mean physical treatment; I just mean the whole harassment they were getting. That bothered me more than anything."

The two Vietnamese, an interpreter and a driver, were released with Patten and Thomson. All four were with the ICCS at Xuan Loc.

Patten said they were asked repeatedly to sign a document stating they had entered the Viet Cong area "illegally, without prior notice, without a liaison officer, without the other three members of the commission," and that they entered the area with "articles of war"—their jeep, two radios provided by the ICCS, a compass and cameras. Patten said their captors provided them with whatever they had in the way of food and other essentials.

"We lived in very uncomfortable conditions on numerous occasions, but so did they," he said. "In the jungle we were on occasion under a thatch style roof and no walls, of course. But on the whole we were beneath a sheet of plastic about 4 feet by 12 feet in a hammock."

'Trailer' Session Begins

HARTFORD (AP) — Six bills vetoed during the regular 1973 legislative session are to be reconsidered today when the General Assembly meets to hold the "trailer session" required by state law.

But it's unlikely Republican majorities in the House and Senate will give any of the vetoed measures the two-thirds vote need for passage.

One of six bills rejected by Gov. Thomas J. Yeakill would allow Connecticut residents 65 and older who earn less than $2,000 annually to defer up to $2,000 a year in local property taxes. The deferred taxes would be collected when the homeowner died, in effect giving towns a lien against the property.

Meskill said he vetoed the bill because it discriminated against homeowners who weren't 65 years old. The Connecticut Conference of Mayors opposed the measure saying it would create more red tape for community tax collectors.

A second measure turned down by Meskill would allow utilities to raise rates while court appeals were pending. Increases now granted by the Public Utilities Commission (PUC) cannot be implemented until the appeal process is complete.

PUC procedures "already seem to favor the utilities over the public and I do not favor any additional tipping of the scales in that direction," Meskill said in vetoing the bill.

The governor recently has been fighting rate increases requested by Connecticut Light & Power Co. and Hartford Electric Light.

Democratic lawmakers had urged Meskill to call a special session to run concurrently with the trailer session. They wanted to amend state election laws. And the Democrats wanted to reduce the state sales tax on utility bills.

Kalmbach Admits Raising Funds For Defendants

WASHINGTON (AP) — Herbert W. Kalmbach, President Nixon's former personal lawyer, acknowledged today he raised funds to pay the original seven Watergate defendants but denied any prior knowledge of the Watergate break-in or its later cover-up.

Kalmbach's prepared testimony was made public while White House aide Richard A. Moore faced continued questioning at the Senate's televised Watergate investigation. Kalmbach was to follow him to the witness stand.

"My actions in the period immediately following the break-in which involved the raising of funds to provide for the legal defense of the Watergate defendants and for the support of their families were prompted in the belief that it was proper and necessary to discharge what I assumed to be a moral obligation that had arisen in some manner unknown to me by reason of earlier events," Kalmbach said.

"The fact that I had been directed to undertake these ac-

Max Now Safely At Home

SUE KLEMENS (Herald Reporter)

Picked on by birds, rained on by heavy thundershowers, Max managed to survive his five day ordeal lodged in the crotch of a towering tree.

Max, a white cat owned by Jody Stratton of 87 Seaman Circle, had climbed up a tree in a neighbor's backyard Wednesday night, and was unable to climb down.

And for five nights and five days, Max squaled, screamed and starved about 75 feet from the ground.

Jerry Hollis, a neighbor, failed to bring Max down to earth. "Look at the scratches on my arm," Hollis said. He had scrambled up the tree to a height of about 50 feet, but was unable to reach the frightened animal.

Despite attempts by the local fire department and the Hartford Electric Light Co. (HELCO), Max seemed to prefer the security of a tree to the risk of retrieval.

The Strattons finally contacted the Connecticut Humane Society at Newington. Following their attempts to retrieve Max, the Carrier Brothers Tree Service of Newington was called in.

Young Mike Carrier mounted a rope weighted with a hook (he had forgotten to bring a chair seat) and was tied to the weight.

"He's got him!" young Jody yelled, as Mike grabbed Max by the scruff of his neck and snuggled him in his arms.

As neighbors and friends craned their necks upward, Max and Mike were lowered to the ground.

And the first one to get to Max was Jody, who seemed to think that Max preferred a more worldly life right here on earth.

The bill for the tree company will be paid by the Connecticut Humane Society, according to Officer Greg Facer of the society.

U.S. Urged To Discipline Its Economy

TOKYO (AP) — Reflecting mounting Japanese bitterness over American trade restrictions, Foreign Minister Masayoshi Ohira today called on the United States to "exercise an increasing degree of discipline in managing its own economy."

Ohira told the opening session of the ninth U.S.-Japan Joint Cabinet Meeting on Trade and Economic Affairs that Japan is greatly embarrassed by American attempts to limit the exports of logs, scrap iron and soybeans.

He said it was of "imperative importance" to maintain the smooth flow of these and other products. And he urged the United States "to continue its efforts to maintain a stable supply to Japan."

He also criticized American "clamors for import restrictions, imposition of surcharges or exercise of export restraint."

U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers responded with a promise, inserted into a prepared speech, that the United States will continue to be a source of dependable supply for Japan.

He added that controls on soybeans, the source of much of the protein in the Japanese diet, "will not last a day longer than is necessary."

Ohira said Japan regrets controls "which seek short term solutions at the border."

He said, "In view of the predominant role and responsibility of the United States in the world economy, it is our strong wish that the United States would cope with and find solutions to these questions on the basis of a long-term perspective."

Rogers endorsed Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka's proposal for a general Asian-Pacific peace conference and listed several ways in which such major oil-consuming nations as Japan and the United States should cooperate. This call for cooperation appeared to be a substitute for Henry A. Kissinger's proposal last May for a consortium of oil-buying nations, a proposal Japan has been hesitant about for fear of alienating its Arab oil suppliers.

Rogers recommended oil sharing arrangements when critical shortages develop, sharing of information on negotiations with the producing nations; Japanese-American cooperation in developing Siberian oil and joint research and development projects.

Ohira agreed that the two countries should cooperate to resolve the energy crisis.

President Continues Recovery

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, in his fourth day at Bethesda Naval Medical Center for treatment of viral pneumonia, is showing "considerable improvement," his doctors reported today.

They said the chief executive's chest congestion had lessened and he had a minimum of pain.

The President slept soundly Sunday night, the doctors reported in their early morning medical bulletin.

Nixon has been making slow but steady progress since he was hospitalized Thursday night.

His four-day chest therapy treatments have produced the improvement in the lung congestion and chest discomfort, doctors said.

However, they said the treatments result in fatigue "to the point that he has been given mild analgesics for relief."

Nixon was reported to have had "a good day on Sunday," during which he had a minimum of business to conduct and enjoyed a visit from his family.

Sunday dinner for the hospitalized President featured seafood.

The four presidential doctors reported Sunday that Nixon was showing "good improvement," with less chest pain and lower fever.

Capitol Region Seminar Tonight

SOL R. COHEN (Herald Reporter)

An informal public seminar, to explain the merger of the Capitol Region Council of Governments (CRCOG) and the Capitol Region Planning Agency (CRPA), is scheduled for 7:30 tonight in the student lounge of Manchester Community College, off Bidwell St.

As of today, 17 of the 29 towns in the Capitol Region have approved the merger — just one short of the number required to make the merger fact. The 17th town was East Hartford, where the approval action took only five minutes last Wednesday.

Mayor Richard Blackstone of East Hartford is chairman of the merged organization, which will retain the name, Capitol Region Council of Governments.

A local ordinance approving the merger and Manchester's membership became effective July 7. Manchester had been a member of CRCOG and CRPA since they were created.

Mayor John Thompson, who arranged tonight's seminar, explained, "It became apparent during the town's approval of joining the merged organizations that there was a lack of understanding by the public of the role that both the Council of Governments and the Regional Planning Agency were playing in the area. This informal session should answer most of the questions being asked."

Under the merger, each of 28 towns in the region, should they decide to join, will have one voting member on the new council of governments. The City of Hartford, the 29th town in the region, will have four voting members.

The council will have a planning sub-agency, which will assume the role of the present regional planning agency.

In addition, there will be a mechanism for citizen input into the operations of the regional council and of the planning sub-agency.

Expected at the seminar tonight, in addition to Blackstone and Thompson, are: Dana Hanson, executive director of CRCOG; David Soule, its assistant director; Val Lubans, criminal justice planer for CRCOG; and Leonard Tolisano, chief regional planner for CRCOG and assigned to CRPA as its chief staff planner.

Sheinwold on Bridge

REMEMBER BIDDING TO LOCATE CARDS By Alfred Sheinwold There is so much suffering from overburdened memories that psychologists are at work on a reliable, inexpensive forgettery. Many bridge players have worked on this project by hastening to forget all about the bidding of a hand as soon as the play begins. This may be wonderful for science, but it doesn't do much for their bridge game.

Bixby Sought New Image As Actor

By JERRY BUCK Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sooner or later every actor feels his selection of roles being limited and years for a new image.

What happens is that at a casting session the name of an actor comes up and someone says, "Now, he can't do drama. He's a comedy actor."

Bill Bixby figured that was happening to him. When his name would come up, all anyone could remember were his comedy roles in "My Favorite Martian" and "The Courtship of Eddie's Father."

But how about Bill Bixby, the star of "Steamboat" who performed admirably for "The Hollywood Television Theater" at that scorching drama about the dead.

"I didn't do 'Steamboat' to shape up my image as Eddie's Father," he said. "I did it to remind people I'm an actor."

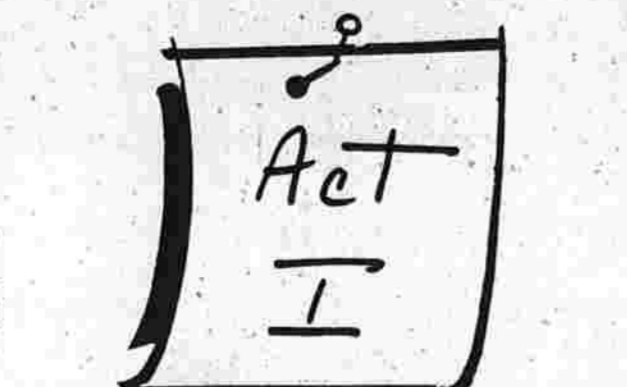

It was a mature work responsibly approached and it attracted their not-so-average television viewer.

After drawing triumph, South should lead a trump, intending to finesse with dummy's lack of a trump and win two tricks.

On the basis of this wishful thinking, South got to dummy with a trump and returned a low diamond. He hopefully put up the queen of diamonds from his hand and lost to the king.

West returned a diamond, and the defenders were now sure to get two diamonds, one trump, one club and one spade.

There was no need for guessing or for wishful thinking. South should have

They Score With 'Luv'

June B. Tompkins Theatre III, came into its own last night with the opening of the second show of a summer theater series.

After a sluggish opening a couple of weeks ago, Manchester's summer theater program blossomed out with "Luv," a comedy that played right into the audience's hands.

The Murray Schisgal comedy is a favorite with theater groups and with audiences, too. With a new cast, and under new direction, it is still an enjoyable entertainment for its review.

James Quinn, the quite racy Harry Berlin of the three-member cast, was in one of his most becoming roles. He appeared as a man who is a little bit of a playboy, but at no time did Quinn lose control.

Pat Eller's portrayal of Ellen Manville was rather conservative, but in sharp contrast, nevertheless to the erratic character of Harry Berlin.

Mill Manville, the third member of the comedy and the husband of Ellen, was played by James Mays. He played a good time with his role, but his interpretation of Mill ordered on the Connecticut Inters Program in Washington. Steely and Fish attended the program with 45 following a public hearing last week, has taken action on two appeals.

William Sanborn of Willimantic was granted an exception to the zoning regulations allowing him year around occupancy of his premises on Caladort Dr. and Berry Rd.

George Jacques of Flanders Rd. was granted a variance to allow construction of an addition to an existing building.

The town council has scheduled a public hearing for tonight at 7 o'clock at the Town Hall to discuss the priority of road improvements. The regular council meeting.

Over the years, the town has, through town meetings, set a priority of road improvements which now includes, in order, North School Rd., Wrights Hill Rd., from Case Hill to South St., Hop River Rd. to the Welles property, and Brigham Tavern Rd. from the currently improved section into Eastview Acres.

The improvements referred to involve mainly widening and paving. The council has come up with a list of additional dirt roads that need improvement including Babcock Hill Ext., Bishop Lane, Merrow Hill, Folly Lane, Merrow Rd., Nathan Hale Rd., South St. Ext. and Times Farm Rd.

Tonight's session will give townspeople the opportunity to express feelings on how the improvement of roads is a priority in terms of redistributing priorities.

Michael Pasce, superintendent of streets, had told the council that he recommends that roads be improved according to specifications now required of developers. Cost of upgrading the roads and engineering studies required to obtain cost of reconstruction would be high, Pasce said, and he recommended that no major improvements be made on Babcock Hill, the remainder of Hop River, Nathan Hale Rd. and North School Rd. He suggested also that Times Farm Rd. be closed to general traffic.

ZBA Action — The Zoning Board of Appeals, Alexander Lindsay, 43 of 540 Garden Dr., was charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor in connection with an accident early Sunday morning in which the car he was driving struck a parked vehicle on Garden Dr. Police said that no injuries were reported in the accident. He was released on his written promise to appear in court July 30.

Police Report

Police say that the boy, Stephen Feinter of 109 Buckland Rd., was charged in an incident in which he used "obscene and abusive" language towards a police officer. The youth reportedly struggled with police at the time of his arrest and continued to curse the arresting officer, police said.

Police was released on his written promise to appear in court July 30.

Intern Scholarships

Craig Steely, center, of 39 Trebbe Dr. and Douglas Fish of Bolton received certificates of scholarship from U.S. Sen. Lowell Weicker Jr. at the Connecticut Intern Program in Washington. Steely and Fish attended the program with 45 other students from Connecticut to study government proceedings through the efforts of Sen. Weicker, U.S. Reps. Stewart McKinney, Robert Steele, Ronald Sarasin, and various Connecticut Republican Town Committees.

Tax Assessment Basis Of Suit Against Town

until the updating of the comprehensive plan of development and new zoning and subdivision regulations which are in the process of being revised.

Robinson questioned "the legality of this method of approach" and took further action resulting in the first pending lawsuit.

He subsequently withdrew this request in November 1972 after the commission twice tabled action on it. Then December 1972, just prior to the moratorium, Robinson presented to the PZC informational sketches on his proposed subdivision for two family dwellings.

At the time of the suspension, Robinson questioned "the legality of this method of approach" and took further action resulting in the first pending lawsuit.

Regardless of whether Robinson wins his lawsuit relative to the alleged illegal taxation, he still is unable to use his land until a court decision is reached on the question of two-family dwellings, town officials said.

Robinson contends that since the subdivision was filed following the Oct. 1 deadline for taxable property, he is being illegally taxed.

The selectmen have met with town council and the assessor and according to selectman Robert Craig, the assessment stands as is.

Robinson already has a pending lawsuit against the town which is seeking issuance of building permits for two family dwellings on the same property, known as Prestige Park.

Although the property is approved for subdivision, the PZC in January 1972 suspended all zoning regulations pertaining to two-family dwellings in town

White and Rose Wines Add Zest to Summer

By TOM HOGE

AP Newsfeatures Writer

More and more Americans are discovering that white and rose wines provide a cooling refreshment and give a lift to dishes they prepare at summer picnics, barbecues and clam-bakes.

Well-chilled, these sprightly wines give added zest to weekend outings. If you really want to cool it, try a spritzer, a couple of inches of wine or rose in a tall glass with some ice and a twist of lemon or lime. The French add a dollop of Cassis, a liqueur made from currants, to white Burgundy and call it Kir.

I had a chat the other day with Andre Crispin of Houston, Tex., head of a large wine importing company and he offered these suggestions for summer wines.

Crispin agreed that both roses and whites are good candidates for most summer festivities because they are light and refreshing. An added plus for roses is that they go so well with red meats as well poultry and seafood. A rose is a handy thing to have at a picnic that features a variety of beef, chicken and shellfish sandwiches.

"Rose D'Alsace, a very original tasting wine, is great with barbecued," Crispin said. "And there is Travel from Cotes du Rhone, one of the most famous of France."

"If you're at a seashore, outing, try a rose from Cotes du Provence," Crispin went on. "It's as much at home at Cape Cod as it is in Cannes. Another perfect seaside wine is Entre-Deux-Mers, a dry white Bordeaux that goes well with shellfish. Or try a fruity white chablis."

Also recommended was a Macon Blanc, an elegant white Burgundy which comes from

Traditional Weddings Still Count For Parents

By MITSUO KIMURA TOKYO (AP) — Kiyoko Sato, 23, wasn't as happy as a bride-to-be should be as her wedding day approached. The reason: parental insistence that she and Keiichi Nishijima, her 24-year-old fiance, don formal kimono and go through a traditional Shinto wedding ceremony. But many of them find themselves going through the age-old ceremonies on their wedding day. "It will take a long time for this country to institute wedding ceremonies free of traditional bonds which the youth of today dislike," Ioki said. "Last year, 75 per cent of all married couples had to choose a Shinto wedding ritual because their parents insisted on tradition." Hughes Reported To Be Walking About In Disguise

LONDON (AP) — Billionaire reclusive Howard Hughes reportedly has learned the art of disguise and has walked out of his hotel several times recently without being recognized by waiting photographers. Leonard Poulney, an expert in hair transplants and master of disguises, told the London Daily Express in an interview published Saturday that he had instructed Hughes on how to disguise himself so "he can look like several different people." The 66-year-old Poulney refused to give details of Hughes' actual appearance, pending publication of his book this fall. Hughes, 66, has not left his hotel only once since his arrival here. That was last month to make a night flight to Belgium and back to renew his residence permit.

An AP News Analysis Peron Takeover May Benefit Investors

By BARRY SCHWEID Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — American and other foreign investors are likely to benefit from the prospective return to power in Argentina of former dictator Juan D. Peron. The former president may succeed in curbing the kidnappers and other terrorists who have hampered business operations. He also is thought to be opposed to legislation to raise taxes and limit credits for foreign investors. But some American banks, principally Chase Manhattan, Morgan Guaranty Trust and First National City, still may lose their holdings in Argentine banks. A pending law would buy out their interests and those of two Spanish banks and a German one—with compensation. Peron is not expected to object. U.S. officials never doubted that Campora was simply a stand-in for Peron. But they did not think the overtime dentist would resign so swiftly, on his 50th day in office. Secretary of State William P. Rogers found Campora to be a forceful figure in his own right.

The Pickin' Aren't Easy, but...

There's Gold in Them Hills

NEW PASS MINE, Nev. (NEA) - Listen, Hear it? When the air is quiet you can almost feel the days of gold...

DONALD JUNG has invested hard money and hard work in reopening New Pass mine.

It was late in the 1800s. Gold Rush. Timbers and burdy-gardies. And this mine, on the slopes of the Desatoya Mountains, sizzling in the sun...

Gold, gold, gold. Bright and yellow, hard and cold. Gold, gold, gold. Good and evil, meek and bold.

Today much of the frontier flavor of New Pass is long gone. The population has been reduced to one small family - Donald Jung, his wife, two children and three dogs...

But the gold? Ah, the gold. It's still here as before.

And how, says Donald Jung. As present owner of the New Pass mine he believes millions of dollars in gold is still locked in the rocks of these hills. He believes a couple of men, working steady, can haul out $100,000 worth of ore a day...

But he did have a feeling about New Pass. During college he had studied some rocks from the mine and thought them to be "promising." So, as he explains it, when the price of gold began to climb, he decided to take the plunge. He leased hundreds of acres of New Pass and talked the government out of a $50,000 prospecting loan...

The price rise, to be sure, is the motivation behind Jung's mining operation. No romantic he, no dreamer either, he was until recently a comfortable member of the routine middle class. A mining engineer, working for a Nevada mercury mining corporation, he had no intention of grabbing a pick and shovel of his own. Prospecting, he says, was too risky.

Indeed, there is considerable activity. The U. S. Bureau of Mines estimates there are at least 80 million ounces of gold left in American soil. No wonder then that gold panning clinics have started in some Western states. Sales of metal and mining equipment is brisk. Applications for government prospecting loans have increased dramatically. Says Paul Gemmill, executive secretary of the Nevada Mining Association: "The bills are crawling with weekenders looking for fortunes."

The fortunes are not likely to be found, for weekenders anyway. Notwithstanding the California man who last year found a 28-ounce nugget in the High Sierras, gold days are simply not living around for the taking. Don Jung's operation at New Pass, for example, is a combination of hard money, hard work and intelligence. Anything less is a waste of time.

Optimism is of course both the cause and the curse of mining operations. No romantic he, no dreamer either, he

Few Generic Drugs In Common Use

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) - Consumers would save little if physicians were forced to prescribe drugs by their generic rather than brand names.

Only 16 of the 200 top-selling drugs listed in this year's National Prescription Audit are what the public thinks of as generic drugs, Dr. Lowell M. Wiesse, state public health director, reports.

He said the others still are protected by patent laws, which allow only one "specified" manufacturer to produce a drug he invents exclusively for the first 17 years.

There are some cases of a second manufacturer buying the rights to produce a drug and compete with the first company, but a spot check of drugists indicated that this is the exception.

"These 200 (top-selling drugs) constitute 67.5 per cent of all new and refill prescriptions," Wiesse said. The 16 generic drugs in the top 200, he said, "were 8.9 per cent of all new and refill prescriptions."

Wiesse said he made the discovery in preparing for a new state law on prescription drugs which goes into effect Aug. 27.

Required by the law to prepare the list of the top-selling drugs, Wiesse said the only practical way to do so was to consult the prescription audit.

"New Hampshire's prescription habits are no different from anyone else's," Wiesse said. "No national audit is a pretty good guide for us."

On June 29, the state Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) ordered the lines taken down. The order reaffirmed a 1968 state Water Resources Commission order.

Sillis said Northeast believes the DEP does not have the authority to direct the specific type of construction and location of the terminal points for the lines, as it did in the order. Relocation of the lines would cost $1 million, Sillis said.

American Clinic Aids in Turkey

By EMEIL ANIL. TALAS, Turkey (AP) - "In the village of Korkukoy there was a woman in a cave, paralyzed from her waist down by a viral disease. For a year and a half she had not moved from the cave. Now she was eight months pregnant and had pneumonia. She is with the animals, two donkeys, five goats and nine sheep. Her husband sleeps upstairs in a room."

The woman was a typical patient of the American clinic here, the last of what was once a network of 12 medical establishments around Turkey. In 1968, there was the clinic of the American doctors in the center of the Anatolian plateau.

Close to a century, American doctors have worked at the clinic here with similar success, treating an average of 2,000 patients a year. When Dr. William Dodd started the clinic in 1908, there was the clinic of the American doctors in the center of the Anatolian plateau.

Obviously, it's no weekend chore. Obviously, too, the days of the "cave" are over with the hardy, rugged Jung is currently working sunny in sundown, seven days a week, in temperatures as high as 105 degrees, in the mere hope of one day squeezing a half ounce of gold from each ton of rock.

"It's not easy," he says. "Still, there's no discouraging anyone in this space age gold rush. Think of it, says Jung, even the dirt on my face is worth something."

The earlier doctors, who left behind journals and log notes, skied, rode horseback or used jeeps to reach patients in remote villages, peasants have come to the clinic as a last resort after such "cures" as drinking rooster sperm for fertility, driving hot spikes through their legs for rheumatism, putting chewing gum on hernias and foot sores on diabetic ulcers, drinking gasoline to get rid of worms, or swallowing worms so they will eat growths in the body.

The clinic charges patients $1.50 for a full examination. Poor patients are charged half and the poorest are taken care of free. Even with bargain-basement prices, the clinic is self-supporting except for the doctor's salary, which comes out of funds provided by the American Board Mission in New York.

It May Be Just a Small Town, but It's All His

LOTTS CREEK, Iowa (AP) - Realtor Oliver Carlson has bought himself the near-greatest town of Lotts Creek for $4,000 and plans to pump some life into it and into his pocketbook.

The decision came when the Algona, Iowa, man was having coffee with a fellow realtor who suggested, "Why don't you buy Lotts Creek?"

That was in August 1971. Carlson bought one side of the street then and recently completed purchase of the other side of the block-long "downtown" area of this town near the Minnesota border.

His six buildings include a former general store, hardware store, locker plant, ice creamery turned into a cheese factory, and what once was a buttermilk's residence.

Carlson, who allows that some folks "think I'm a little eccentric," says he also owns four other persons. It's a 100-acre sports oasis for snowmobiling and skiing if you like being loved, and "minor league" fishermen can get out on the lake.

Carlson, a talkative 49-year-old, would like to restore buildings on both sides of the streets much like they were in the 1890s. He has a photograph to show the old landmarks or there won't be any left to preserve," said Carlson, who says he has his eyes on a couple of upcoming developments with which to coordinate his ideas for rural restoration.

One is the centennial of Lotts Creek Lutheran Church in 1975. The other is the U.S. Bicentennial in 1976, and Carlson is convinced the itch for antique furnishings, school buildings, and other old buildings is strong.

Wall Street Continues To Show Signs Of Bad Times For Brokers

STEPHEN H. MILLER, AP Business News Editor - NEW YORK (AP) - There were more signs this past week of continued bad times on Wall Street, where brokers and exchanges are struggling against a profit squeeze and a sluggish bond market.

Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, Inc., the country's biggest brokerage house, announced a plan which might bring its sagging profits at the expense of the American Stock Exchange, where times have been particularly tough.

Merrill Lynch, like virtually all other brokers, has been trying to cut costs to compensate for profit declines brought on by slow trading. The giant firm reported profits of $12 million for the first quarter this year, down from $23.25 million a year before. Its second-quarter figures are due next week and aren't expected to show major gains.

The pay cuts extended from Chairman Donald T. Regan down to regional directors and all executives moving more than $50,000 a year. The firm said the action was required by "continuous lowering of profits."

The New York Stock Exchange, in an effort to increase its own sagging volume of trading, proposed a loosening of listing standards for warrants - certificates which give holders the right to buy common stock at a set price within a set period. Only 13 warrants are now traded on the NYSE, but about 80 are listed on the American Stock Exchange. The NYSE proposal could draw some of those issues away from the Amex.

Chairman Paul Kolton of the Amex described the NYSE proposal as "ill conceived" and hinted that the move threatened the viability of his exchange. Big Board profits for the first quarter were only $47,000, down from $5.29 million a year earlier. Trading volume at the end of June came to $4 billion, down from 2.18 billion a year before. Of that, 23.16 million was in warrants, down 25 per cent from a year before. The American Stock Exchange is traditionally more of a haven for small investors. Those investors, however, have been doing little trading and the Amex has suffered. It lost $107,000 in the first quarter, compared with a profit of $96,000 a year earlier.

Volume on the Amex totaled $95.9 million shares, down from 662.62 million for 1972's first half. Eleven per cent of that was in warrants, up from 8.4 per cent a year before. The proposal still has to be cleared by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The Nixon administration said Thursday that his business apparently obeyed the rules of Phase 3, not boosting prices as such as it would have. General Manager George Waddell wins a Studebaker at the Rockville Lodge of Elks rate.

Florida officials this past week filed an antitrust suit against 15 major oil producers, dealing with the price increase to create a monopoly which made it hard for the state to buy gasoline and drove independent dealers out of business.

When those leisurely summer days seem to lose their magic for school-free youngsters, and parents seem to lose minds over amusements for the kids, the Lutz Junior Museum of Cedar St. provides the break for children and parents whose summer days are becoming just a too long.

'Super Stuff' Pitching by Ryan Highlights, Fifth to Hurl Two No-Hitters in Same Year

DETROIT (AP) — "Super stuff...super stuff...super stuff!"
"There were a few descriptions of Nolan Ryan's pitching Sunday as there were strikeouts by the California flamethrower against Detroit.
But despite firing his second no-hitter of the year and striking out 17 batters, the 26-year-old right-hander insisted he has to work on his pitching.
"I needed this because I wasn't pitching well," Ryan said after hurling the Angels to a 6-0, no-hit victory over the Tigers before a Capay crowd of 41,411 at Tiger Stadium.
Ryan became only the fifth man in major league baseball history to pitch two no-hitters in one season. Two months ago he did the no-hit Royals.
No one has ever had three no-hit games in a single season.
It was the third no-hitter in the American League this year. The other was against Detroit, a 3-0 victory for Steve Busby of the Royals on April 27.

Vada Pinson gave Ryan all the support he needed with a sacrifice fly in the third off loser Jim Perry, 8-9. Pinch-hitter Winston Llanas and Alan Gallagher each singled in two runs in the eighth and Bob Oliver drove in the other with a single.
Around the rest of the American League Sunday, the Minnesota Twins topped the Cleveland Indians 7-6 in 10 innings, the Baltimore Orioles edged the Chicago White Sox 3-2, the New York Yankees blanked the Kansas City Royals 2-0, the Oakland A's beat the Milwaukee Brewers 8-5 and the Boston Red Sox defeated the Texas Rangers in a game halted by rain after 5 1/2 innings.
Twins 7, Indians 6
First the pitchers wiped themselves off with towels. Then the batters wiped up the pitchers with homers. And finally, Minnesota's Danny Thompson and Mike Adams managed to wipe out Cleveland.

In the sixth inning, plate umpire Art Frantz "frisked" Gaylord Perry, looking for illegal goodies the Indians pitcher might be using to doctor the baseball. Then, at Minnesota Manager Frank Quilley's behest, a towel was produced and Perry obligingly wiped his face.
In the seventh, Cleveland Manager Ken Aspromonte retaliated. He came running out with a towel of his own and demanded equal rubbing. "If they can pull that stuff," he snorted, "we'll pull it, too." Minnesota pitcher Bert Blyleven resisted for a few moments, then snatched the towel and gave his face a few brisk wipes. Then the game resumed.
In the eighth inning George Hendrick boomed a three-run homer to give Cleveland a 5-3 lead.
But in the bottom of the eighth, George Mitterwald hit a home run.
Then Joe Lis hit a home run.
Then Jim Holt hit a home run...and the Twins led 6-5. But in the top of the ninth, Buddy Bell singled for the tying run.

And in the 10th, after three walks loaded the bases, Thompson lofted a fly ball to short left field. Mike Adams, running for Tony Oliva at third base, decided to gamble and took off after the catch. He gamblined right. Charlie Spikes' throw home was wide.
Orioles 3, White Sox 2
Mike Cuellar, who'd been felled earlier this year, got himself together and pitched a nine-strikeout, seven-hit performance for Baltimore.
The Orioles got all three of their runs in the sixth inning on Mark Belanger's double and singles by Al Dumbray, Tommy Davis and Earl Williams.
A's & Brewers 5
Bill North whipped a two-run double down the left field line and Reggie Jackson followed with a two-run homer, his 20th of the season, to catapult Oakland past the Brewers. The four runs offset Milwaukee's four-run third-inning triple by George Scott and a two-run homer by Draper Porter.

McDowell at Best In Yankee Uniform

NEW YORK (AP) — The Yankees acquired free agent Sam McDowell from the Giants June 7. But that wasn't the end of trade.
On Sunday the Yankees learned that a pitcher also had been thrown in on the deal — Sam McDowell.
"That's the best I've seen him pitch," said Ralph Houk, relieving the "pitch" after McDowell went eight strong innings in New York's 2-0 victory over the Kansas City Royals.
"He's a better pitcher now than I when he threw against us with Cleveland. It used to be he'd pop...pop...pop...but if we waited till he changed up or went offspeed, we could get him. Now he mixes his pitches better."
McDowell agrees that the days when he had three speeds and one pitch — a fastball, a faster ball and, yes, a fastest ball — are over. But the learning process came — pick one — slowly, very slowly, not at all.
"I learned by getting my brains beat out," he said. "The days when I just reared back and threw are over. I lost too many times."
"I really didn't throw that hard," McDowell added. "In fact, Jerry Moses knew early that I didn't have a good fastball so we went to the breaking stuff. I had real good control of the curve ball and slider."
But some things never change. Despite McDowell's new role as a pitcher, he still gives American League umpires plenty of chances to count to four. "I don't think he'll ever be a control pitcher," concedes Houk.
McDowell walked seven and struck out the same number, throwing 134 pitches in eight innings before Sparky Lyle took his Sunday afternoon drive in the bullpen car to nail down his 24th save.

"That's a normal five-inning game for me," said McDowell, who once played catch with his catcher 207 times in the course of a nine-inning game. "Of course we won the game. I wouldn't have been around if I was losing."
"I'd like to be a finesse pitcher like Mel Stottlemyre, but I guess I'll never be."
McDowell, pitching for the first time since July 3 when he injured his ankle on an escalator, pleased Houk by going eight innings. "I was hoping for six or seven," Houk said.
Asked if he was tempted to let McDowell start the ninth, Houk answered: "No sir. When he got through eight he was done."
McDowell didn't argue. Reason one and two are Sparky and Lyle. Let McDowell explain the other one. "Although I would have liked to have gone the distance, I was feeling tired in the eighth. When you're going for the pennant, each game becomes most important so you have to downplay personal triumphs."
McDowell gained his fourth victory against one defeat when Roy White belted a two-run single in the eighth. Ken Wright, who matched scoreless innings with McDowell through seven, gave up a walk to Horace Clarke, leading off the eighth.
Matty Alon sacrificed and when Wright heaved the ball over John Mayberry's head, the Yanks had runners on second and third. White then ripped a single to right, scoring both New York runs.
So the Yankees' part of the McDowell deal has doubled in value. But that will never happen to the Giants.
All they got was money.

Things Go Sox Way In Welcomed Win

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox can look back on many tough-take losses this season, so it was only natural that they welcomed a victory in a game that things went their way.
"You lose tough ones so when everything is going your way you take it," veteran right-hander Luis Tiant said Sunday after earning the victory as Boston edged the Texas Rangers 3-1 in a game delayed nearly three hours by rain and called after 5 1/2 innings.
Tiant wasn't at his best in the muddy going after the long wait to start the game. He gave up five hits and walked three. However, he earned his 12th victory after eight losses.
Things started going in Boston's favor in the first inning. Luis Aparicio grounded a hit off third baseman Jim Fregosi's glove and got a double when the ball bounced off the umpire. Aparicio moved to third on an infield out and scored as Orlando Cepeda was credited with a hit on a grounder into the hole between first and second.
The Rangers tied the score on three consecutive singles in the second, but Tiant was helped by catcher Carlton Fisk and first baseman Carl Yastrzemski on a successful pickoff. Dwight Evans broke the deadlock with his fifth homer, a shot high into the left field screen in the second inning.
"I got a piece of the ball with the good part of the bat, but I didn't think I hit it that good," Evans said. "I was surprised when I saw my home run sign. I've had a couple of real big homers this year, but this has to rank as a real good one."
After waiting around all afternoon, we really wanted to win this game. It was a good one to win. It may prove even bigger later on in the season."
Evans played a key role as the Red Sox protected their lead in the third inning and went on to remain one run behind the New York Yankees in the American League East.
With two out in the Texas third, Jim Mason broke from second base as Alex Johnson lined a single to right center. Mason was a cinch to score, until he slipped on the wet grass about 40 feet from the plate. He was an easy out on Evans' throw to Fisk.
"I saw him fall down after he rounded third and bolted to Yaz to let the throw come to the plate," Fisk said. "Yaz, who was the cutoff fan, heard me, and let the ball through. I had to do as was the guy out."
Second baseman Doug Griffin accounted for an insurance run in the fifth. Back in the lineup after being sidelined with a broken left hand, Griffin lined a triple to right center and scored on Rick Miller's long sacrifice fly. Miller was a late replacement in center for Reggie Smith, whose return to the lineup was canceled by the wet field. Smith has been out by a week knee.

No-Hit Pitching Form Multi-Circuits' Dave Castagna became the first known local slow-pitch softball pitcher to toss a no-hit, no-run game. Castagna's accomplishment came July 3 against Amillil Congro at Mt. Nebo by a score of 17-0.

Mays Settled Grimsley's Curiosity

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati's Ross Grimsley had everything under control Sunday. Everything but his curiosity.
Willie Mays cured that with one swing.
"I wanted to show him my changeup," smiled Grimsley, after firing a four-hit 3-1 victory over the New York Mets.
Mays wasn't the only one surprised to see the pitcher. "I couldn't believe my eyes when I saw him throw it," said Reds' Manager Sparky Anderson. "I told him never to throw Mays a changeup."
That call upset me. I didn't think it was a hit. I was just some of my concentration after that," said Grimsley.
The victory was Grimsley's ninth against five losses for the Memphis, Tenn. native who seems on the verge of becoming one of the top lefties in the National League.
It was the third time this season he went the route without walking anyone and the effort lowered his earned run average to 2.61 — best on the club.
"I doubt if I'll ever throw a no-hitter. My game is to make 'em hit the ball to the fourth. Johnny Bench drove in his 70th run — tops in the league — with a single and Bobby Tolan's sacrifice fly scored another."
Larry Stahl offered Mays' homer by singling in Dave Conner in the eighth.

time before his luck turns. "I'm 9-5-7 this year. That's seven wins. And in six of them, I allowed only two runs in seven innings. I could have 13 or 14 wins right now with some breaks."
"Right now I'd have to say 20 victories looks slim, but that's my goal," said Grimsley, who was the Reds' No. 1 draft choice in 1969.
The Reds broke up the pitching duel with two runs off Jon Matlack, 7-11, in the fourth. Johnny Bench drove in his 70th run — tops in the league — with a single and Bobby Tolan's sacrifice fly scored another.
Larry Stahl offered Mays' homer by singling in Dave Conner in the eighth.

U.S. Holds Slim Edge

TEL AVIV (AP) — With two days of competition left, the United States has taken a 125 to 120 lead over Israel in the number of medals won at the 9th Maccabiah Games.
However, with swimming competition ending Sunday, America's lead may not be large enough to stand up the re-emerging Israeli team.
That lead was built up during swimming events when U.S. competitors contributed 48 medals and made strong showings in the pool's 29 events.
The American men's track team has continued to make a strong showing, but the lack of competitors in the women's track events may be critical.
Milton Bresler of Birmingham, Ala. broke his own 1969 record in the 400-meter Sunday, winning in 52.7 while Dov Djersari of New York set a Games record in the hammer throw. The discus was won by Gary Wolf of San Francisco who broke a 12-year-old record with a throw of 159 feet, 4 inches.
Israel continued to dominate women's track, with the United States only competing for Lorraine Abramson of Bayshore N.Y., finishing second in the 200-meter.
In swimming, attention was focused on Sweden's Anita Zarnowski who raced to her seventh gold medal. But only 15 minutes after winning the women's 200-meter individual medley, Miss Zarnowski finished second to Wendy Weinberg of Baltimore in the 800-meter freestyle.

Two games are scheduled for Monday Brothers this week in the Hartford Twilight League. The Eastern Division leaders will host the Vernon Orioles Tuesday at Mt. Nebo. Wednesday at St. Thomas Seminary, the Comets will oppose the Suring New Britain Pizza. Both games are scheduled for 6 o'clock.
Moriarty's Jim Balsano and Hartford Insurance's Bob Lavigne share home run honors with four each. Rich Riordan has two catagoras. He has 10 hits and has knocked in 15 RBIs. Pitcher John Serafini is tied with East Hartford's Mike Sussars for the most strikeouts with 41.
Dave Chion of Bristol is the league top batter with a .881 average respectively round out the MB's top hitters.
In team batting, Herb's Sport Shop tops with a .287 mark. Moriarty's are second with a .270 average.
On the hill, Serafini is second with 48. Serafini's ERA is 2.17 and he sports a 5-3 won-loss record.

Bonanza Topples A&N Losers Face Ansaldi's

Tonight at the Wadwell Field one of the three Little League championship clubs competing for the town title will be eliminated. Ansaldi's, losers in the first contest will go against Army & Navy Club in the double elimination play. Surging Bonanza Steak House, behind the hitting and five-hit pitching of Chris DeCiantis, defeated Army & Navy, 3-1, Saturday night at Wadwell. DeCiantis, as a hitter, ripped two of his club's three safeties off Bob LeRoux. On the mound, he retired the first 11 men he faced, allowed Ken Hill to single, then settled down to retire the next four. DeCiantis, with perfect control, didn't yield a walk. The losers tallied their only run in the sixth. With one

Weiskopf Equals Mark

TRON, Scotland (AP) - Tom Weiskopf, the world's newest golf hero, continues to be puzzled by the Tron links, even after winning the British Open Golf Championship over the tricky seaside course along Scotland's western shore. Following his record-tying 12-under-par 276 Saturday, Weiskopf said quizzically: "I don't understand this course at all." Prior to the tournament over the 7,064-yard, par-72 course, Weiskopf voiced his displeasure with the layout. But his attitude melted with a constant stream of birdies. Despite his original hostility, Weiskopf managed to win convincingly, equalling the best-ever score for the 113-year-old event, set on these same Tron links by Arnold Palmer the last time the tourney was played here in 1962. Weiskopf, who never had a major tourney before arriving here, had been red-hot this year, taking three events on the U.S. circuit in two months. The prize money for the British Open winner was a modest $14,300. But victory in the prestige-level event carries a host of endorsements and other fringe benefits which should lift Weiskopf, who a few years ago couldn't afford to play as an amateur, into the select million dollar class. He began the final round with a one-stroke lead over Johnny Miller, 26-year-old winner of the U.S. Open. Miller made a strong bid. So did Britain's Neil Coles and favored Jack Nicklaus. Miller and Coles shared second place at 279, three shots back. Nicklaus was fourth at 280.

Namath Passes Physical Revolt Brewing In Cowboy Camp

NEW YORK (AP) - Quarterback Joe Namath paid the New York Jets a brief visit on Sunday. But Sunday night Namath, along with Duane Thomas, Craig Morton and Bob DeMarco, was among the missing at various pro football training camps as a hint of a revolt brewing in the Dallas Cowboy camp surfaced. Broadway Joe had permission to be absent from the Jets' camp while Thomas, reportedly, was expected soon by the San Diego Chargers. Manders said he expected linebacker Lee Roy Jordan and veteran cornerback Jethro Pugh, and possibly others, to join him in not reporting tonight. DeMarco failed to appear at the Jets' camp at Hiram, Ohio, saying he won't practice until the 19th of this salary thing settled. Namath checked into the Hofstra University training camp of the National Football League Jets Sunday, weighed in at 206 pounds and said his old injury does not limit him. The star quarterback passed his physical examination and then checked out for California, with the permission of Coach Weeb Ewbank. Namath will be absent for a week and is scheduled to tape appearances on three television shows—Johnny Carson's, "The Tonight Show," and "The Ed Bradley Show." Sid Gilman, general manager of the Houston Oilers, said there is no doubt that Billy Parks, the wide receiver, will be with the Cowboys in an off-season trade, will report with the team's veterans today. "Billy may retire," said Gilman. "I just don't know for sure, we need him, but we can play without him."

Palmer the last time the tourney was played here in 1962. Weiskopf, who never had a major tourney before arriving here, had been red-hot this year, taking three events on the U.S. circuit in two months. The prize money for the British Open winner was a modest $14,300. But victory in the prestige-level event carries a host of endorsements and other fringe benefits which should lift Weiskopf, who a few years ago couldn't afford to play as an amateur, into the select million dollar class. He began the final round with a one-stroke lead over Johnny Miller, 26-year-old winner of the U.S. Open. Miller made a strong bid. So did Britain's Neil Coles and favored Jack Nicklaus. Miller and Coles shared second place at 279, three shots back. Nicklaus was fourth at 280.

Senate Showdown Near On Pipeline

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate today faced a showdown on whether to permit environmentalists to continue their lawsuit blocking construction of the proposed Alaskan oil pipeline.

The confrontation was over an amendment declaring the federal government has adequately reviewed the project and that it complies with the provisions of the National Environmental Policy Act.

Environmentalists, still smarting from a defeat last week on a move to delay construction of the pipeline for a year, have been lobbying intensively against the proposal.

Asked whether the measure would pass, Sen. Ted Stevens, Alaska, a co-sponsor, said, "We were fairly confident last week it would pass. I don't know. I feel it was something I should not have been involved in."

Kalmbach said he did not recall it that way. "My recollection of that conversation was that I'm not so sure," he indicated that he wished he, he used the word again "we," I was being asked to raise funds for the legal defense of the pipeline.

Kalmbach also said he saw no sign of any effort to raise at the time. But he said

ZBA Rejects GOP Request For Fair Variance

The Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA) Monday night denied by a vote of 4 to 1 a variance request for the Manchester Republican Town Committee, Edgar H. Clarke and Charles S. Burr, to conduct a one-day fair on property surrounding the Antique Auto Museum on Slater St.

The board cited as reasons for denial the failure of the applicants to show any hardship pertaining to the land and the lack of specifics in the presentation of the application. It is necessary for an applicant requesting a variance to show a hardship other than financial as defined in zoning regulations.

Those in opposition to the variance, which would allow the Republican Town Committee to conduct a fair including the sale of food, crafts items and some "limited entertainment," cited traffic problems as a major concern.

It was said that traffic on Tollard Tpke. would be greatly increased by such activity and create an "extremely hazardous situation."

Charles W. Chambers of 83 Tollard Tpke. said that commercial facilities were being used to lure into the rural residence zone, slowly

Kalmbach's Account Differs With Dean's

WASHINGTON (AP) - Herbert W. Kalmbach testified today that in enlisting him to raise money for the seven original Watergate defendants, former White House counsel John W. Dean III did not tell him that the case could lead to the President's resignation.

Kalmbach returned to the Senate's televised Watergate hearings brightly on an investigating committee preparing to ask for tape recordings of Nixon's conversations with key figures in the scandal.

Kalmbach, Nixon's former personal lawyer, differed with Dean's account of the way he raised money to raise money for the Watergate defendants.

Sen. Joseph M. Montoya, D-N.M., read Dean's earlier testimony in which the former White House lawyer said he had told Kalmbach on June 29, 1972, virtually everything he knew about the Watergate scandal.

Kalmbach said he did not recall it that way. "My recollection of that conversation was that I'm not so sure," he indicated that he wished he, he used the word again "we," I was being asked to raise funds for the legal defense of the pipeline.

Capitol Region Council Functions Discussed

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Capitol Region Council of Governments (CROCG) and the Capitol Region Planning Agency (CRPA) are the subject of a report by a study group on citizen participation in the council was questioned by 27 Massachusetts residents at Monday night's informal session explaining the operation of the merger of the councils.

Most present representatives of the council said that a panel of four representatives of CROCG (the name Capitol Region Council of Governments has been retained) answered probes by citizens concerning the autonomy of Manchester and the regional power of an advisory branch of the council.

Chairing the panel was Dana Butterfield's "official" director of CROCG, who briefed those present on the merger of the councils.

Town Manager Robert Weiss initiated the question and answer portion by asking Hanson: "Only their expertise" is called upon by the council.

Hanson replied that the majority of activity from the council is to be done by the various subgroups. He stated that the merger was merely a "pivot city," he stated.

"Because of the way one man votes, does the whole town have to go through it?" Mrs. V. via Ferguson, a member of the Board of Directors, inquired.

Economists Cheered By New Statistics

WASHINGTON (AP) - Administration economists are cheered by new government statistics showing that the economy may be out of the U.S. business boom, which could make it easier to slow inflation.

The latest case of optimism was the three-percentage point increase in the nation's industrial production in June, down from a seven-month program lacked only final details of the month.

Shultz said the second quarter report on the country's Gross National Product, due Thursday, should show a decline in real economic growth has started.

The first quarter GNP—the nation's total output of goods and services—showed the economy increased at a real rate of about 8 percent in the first quarter, which brought inflation program, expected to be announced later this week.
